49 LISTEN, EVERYONE! HIGH and low, rich and poor, all around the world—listen to my words,<sup>1</sup> for they are wise and filled with insight.

<sup>2</sup> I will tell in song accompanied by harps the answer to one of life's most perplexing problems: <sup>3</sup> There is no need to fear when times of trouble come, even though surrounded by enemies! <sup>4</sup> They trust in their wealth and boast about how rich they are, <sup>5</sup> yet not one of them, though rich as kings, can ransom his own brother from the penalty of sin! For God's forgiveness does not come that way.<sup>a</sup> <sup>6,7</sup> For a soul is far too precious to be ransomed by mere earthly wealth. There is not enough of it in all the earth to buy eternal life for just one soul, to keep it out of hell.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>12</sup> Death is the shepherd of all mankind. And "in the morning" those who are evil will be the slaves of those who are good. For the power of their wealth<sup>c</sup> is gone when they die; they cannot take it with them.

<sup>13</sup> But as for me, God will redeem my soul from the power of death, for he will receive me. <sup>14</sup> So do not be dismayed when evil men grow rich and build their lovely homes. <sup>15</sup> For when they die they carry nothing with them! Their honors will not follow them. <sup>16</sup> Though a man calls himself happy all through his life—and the world loudly applauds success—<sup>17</sup> yet in the end he dies like everyone else, and enters eternal darkness.

50 THE MIGHTY GOD, the Lord, has summoned all mankind from east to west!

<sup>6</sup> O my people, listen! For I am your God. Listen! Here are my charges against you: <sup>7</sup> I have no complaint about the sacrifices you bring to my altar, for you bring them regularly. <sup>9</sup> But it isn't sacrificial bullocks and goats that I really want from you. <sup>10,11</sup> For all the animals of field and forest are mine! The cattle on a thousand hills! And all the birds upon the mountains! <sup>11</sup> If I were hungry, I would not mention it to you—for all the world is mine, and everything in it. <sup>12</sup> No, I don't need your sacrifices of flesh and blood. <sup>14,15</sup> What I want from you is your true thanks; I want your promises fulfilled. I want you to trust me in your times of trouble, so I can rescue you, and you can give me glory.

51 O LOVING AND kind God, have mercy. Have pity upon me and take away the awful stain of my transgressions. <sup>2</sup> Oh, wash me, cleanse me from this guilt. Let me be pure again. <sup>3</sup> For I admit my shameful deed—it haunts me day and night. <sup>4</sup> It is against you and you alone I sinned, and did this terrible thing. You saw it all, and your sentence against me is just. <sup>5</sup> But I was born a sinner, yes, from the moment my mother conceived me. <sup>6</sup> You deserve honesty from the heart; yes, utter sincerity and truthfulness. Oh, give me this wisdom.

burned before you on the altar. <sup>17</sup> It is a broken spirit you want—remorse and penitence. A broken and a contrite heart, O God, you will not ignore.

<sup>18</sup> And Lord, don't punish Israel for my sins—help your people and protect Jerusalem.<sup>d</sup>

52 YOU CALL YOURSELF a hero, do you? You boast about this evil deed of yours against God's people.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> You are sharp as a tack in plotting your evil tricks. <sup>3</sup> How you love wickedness—far more than good! And lying more than truth! <sup>4</sup> You love to slander—you love to say anything that will do harm, O man with the lying tongue.

<sup>5</sup> But God will strike you down and pull you from your home, and drag you away from the land of the living. <sup>6</sup> The followers of God will see it happen. They will watch in awe. Then they will laugh and say, <sup>7</sup> "See what happens to those who despise God and trust in their wealth, and become ever more bold in their wickedness."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>8</sup> But I am like a sheltered olive tree protected by the Lord himself. I trust in the mercy of God forever and ever. <sup>9</sup> O Lord, I will praise you forever and ever for your punishment.<sup>c</sup> And I will wait for your mercies—for everyone knows what a merciful God you are.

53 ONLY A FOOL would say to himself, "There is no God." And why does he say it?<sup>a</sup> Because of his wicked heart, his dark and evil deeds. His life is corroded with sin.

<sup>2</sup> God looks down from heaven, searching among all mankind to see if there is a single one who does right and really seeks for God. <sup>3</sup> But all have turned their backs on him; they are filthy with sin—corrupt and rotten through and through. Not one is good, not one! <sup>4</sup> How can this be? Can't they understand anything? For they devour my people like bread and refuse to come to God. <sup>5</sup> But soon unheard-of terror will fall on them. God will scatter the bones of these, your enemies. They are doomed, for God has rejected them.

who care nothing for God are seeking my life.

<sup>4</sup> But God is my helper. He is a friend of mine!<sup>b</sup> <sup>5</sup> He will cause the evil deeds of my enemies to boomerang upon them. Do as you promised and put an end to these wicked men, O God. <sup>6</sup> Gladly I bring my sacrifices to you; I will praise your name, O Lord, for it is good.

<sup>7</sup> God has rescued me from all my trouble, and triumphed over my enemies.

55 LISTEN TO MY prayer, O God; don't hide yourself when I cry to you. <sup>2</sup> Hear me, Lord! Listen to me! For I groan and weep beneath my burden of woe.

<sup>12</sup> It was not an enemy who taunted me—then I could have borne it; I could have hidden and escaped. <sup>13</sup> But it was you, a man like myself, my companion and my friend. <sup>14</sup> What fellowship we had, what wonderful discussions as we walked together to the Temple of the Lord on holy days.

<sup>15</sup> Let death seize them and cut them down in their prime, for there is sin in their homes, and they are polluted to the depths of their souls.

<sup>16</sup> But I will call upon the Lord to save me—and he will. <sup>17</sup> I will pray morning, noon, and night, pleading aloud with God; and he will hear and answer. <sup>18</sup> Though the tide of battle runs strongly against me, for so many are fighting me, yet he will rescue me.

<sup>19</sup> God himself—God from everlasting ages past—will answer them! For they refuse to fear him or even honor his commands.

<sup>20</sup> This friend of mine betrayed me—I who was at peace with him. He broke his promises. <sup>21</sup> His words were oily smooth, but in his heart was war. His words were sweet, but underneath were daggers.

<sup>22</sup> Give your burdens to the Lord. He will carry them. He will not permit the godly to slip or fall. <sup>23</sup> He will send my enemies to the pit of destruction. Murderers and liars will not live out half their days. But I am trusting you to save me.

And since I am trusting him, what can mere man do to me? <sup>3</sup> They are always twisting what I say. All their thoughts are how to harm me. <sup>6</sup> They meet together to perfect their plans; they hide beside the trail, listening for my steps, waiting to kill me. <sup>7</sup> They expect to get away with it. Don't let them, Lord. In anger cast them to the ground.

<sup>4</sup> You have seen me tossing and turning through the night. You have collected all my tears and preserved them in your bottle! You have recorded every one in your book.

<sup>9</sup> The very day I call for help, the tide of battle turns. My enemies flee! This one thing I know: God is for me! <sup>10,11</sup> I am trusting God—oh, praise his promises! I am not afraid of anything mere man can do to me! Yes, praise his promises. <sup>12</sup> I will surely do what I have promised, Lord, and thank you for your help. <sup>13</sup> For you have saved me from death and my feet from slipping, so that I can walk before the Lord in the land of the living.

57 O GOD, HAVE pity, for I am trusting you! I will hide beneath the shadow of your wings until this storm is past. <sup>2</sup> I will cry to the God of heaven who does such wonders for me. <sup>3</sup> He will send down help from heaven to save me, because of his love and his faithfulness. He will rescue me from these liars who are so intent upon destroying me. <sup>4</sup> I am surrounded by fierce lions—hotheads whose teeth are sharp as spears and arrows. Their tongues are like swords. <sup>5</sup> Lord, be exalted above the highest heavens! Show your glory high above the earth.

<sup>6</sup> My enemies have set a trap for me. Frantic fear grips me. They have dug a pitfall in my path. But look! They themselves have fallen into it!

<sup>7</sup> O God, my heart is quiet and confident. No wonder I can sing your praises! <sup>8</sup> Rouse yourself, my soul! Arise, O harp and lyre! Let us greet the dawn with song! <sup>9</sup> I will thank you publicly throughout the land. I will sing your praises among the nations. <sup>10</sup> Your kindness and love are as vast as the heavens. Your faithfulness is higher than the skies.

All your dealings are crooked: you give "justice" in exchange for bribes.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup> These men are born sinners, lying from their earliest words! <sup>4</sup> They are poisonous as deadly snakes, cobras that close their ears to the most expert of charmers.

hands.<sup>b</sup> <sup>8</sup> Let them be as snails that dissolve into slime; and as those who die at birth, who never see the sun. <sup>9</sup> God will sweep away both old and young. He will destroy them more quickly than a cooking pot can feel the blazing fire of thorns beneath it.

Protect me from these who have come to destroy me. <sup>2</sup> Preserve me from these criminals, these murderers. <sup>3</sup> They lurk in ambush for my life. Strong men are out there waiting. And not, O Lord, because I've done them wrong. <sup>4</sup> Yet they prepare to kill me. Lord, waken! See what is happening! Help me! <sup>5</sup> (And O Jehovah, God of heaven's armies, God of Israel, arise and punish the heathen nations surrounding us.) Do not spare these evil, treacherous men. <sup>6</sup> At evening they come to spy, slinking around like dogs that prowl the city. <sup>7</sup> I hear them shouting insults and cursing God, for "No one will hear us," they think. <sup>8</sup> Lord, laugh at them! (And scoff at these surrounding nations too.)

of safety. <sup>10</sup> My God is changeless in his love for me and he will come and help me. He will let me see my wish come true upon my enemies.

<sup>11</sup> Don't kill them—for my people soon forget such lessons—but stagger them with your power and bring them to their knees. Bring them to the dust, O Lord our shield.

<sup>12,13</sup> They are proud, cursing liars. Angrily destroy them. Wipe them out. (And let the nations find out too that God rules in Israel and will reign throughout the world.)

<sup>14,15</sup> Let these evil men slink back at evening, and prowl the city all night before they are satisfied, howling like dogs and searching for food.

<sup>16</sup> But as for me, I will sing each morning about your power and mercy. For you have been my high tower of refuge, a place of safety in the day of my distress. <sup>17</sup> O my Strength, to you I sing my praises; for you are my high tower of safety, my God of mercy.

61 O GOD, LISTEN to me! Hear my prayer! <sup>2</sup> For wherever I am, though far away at the ends of the earth, I will cry to you for help. When my heart is faint and overwhelmed, lead me to the mighty, towering Rock of safety. <sup>3</sup> For you are my refuge, a high tower where my enemies can never reach me. <sup>4</sup> I shall live forever in your tabernacle; oh, to be safe beneath the shelter of your wings! <sup>5</sup> For you have heard my vows, O God, to praise<sup>a</sup> you every day, and you have given me the blessings you reserve for those who reverence your name.

62 I STAND SILENTLY before the Lord, waiting for him to rescue me. For salvation comes from him alone. <sup>2</sup> Yes, he alone is my Rock, my rescuer, defense and fortress. Why then should I be tense with fear when troubles come?

<sup>3,4</sup> But what is this? They pick on me at a time when my throne<sup>a</sup> is tottering; they plot my death and use lies and deceit to try to force me from the throne.<sup>a</sup> They are so friendly to my face while cursing in their hearts! <sup>5</sup> But I stand silently before the Lord, waiting for him to rescue me. For salvation comes from him alone. <sup>6</sup> Yes, he alone is my Rock, my rescuer, defense and fortress—why then should I be tense with fear when troubles come?

63 O GOD, MY GOD! How I search for you! How I thirst for you in this parched and weary land where there is no water. How I long to find you! How I wish I could go into your sanctuary to see your strength and glory, for your love and kindness are better to me than life itself. How I praise you! I will bless you as long as I live, lifting up my hands to you in prayer. At last I shall be fully satisfied; I will praise you with great joy.

I lie awake at night thinking of you— of how much you have helped me—and how I rejoice through the night beneath the protecting shadow of your wings. I follow close behind you, protected by your strong right arm. But those plotting to destroy me shall go down to the depths of hell. They are doomed to die by the sword, to become the food of jackals. But I will rejoice in God. All who trust in him exult, while liars shall be silenced.

64 LORD, LISTEN TO my complaint: Oh, preserve my life from the conspiracy of these wicked men, these gangs of criminals. They cut me down with sharpened tongues; they aim their bitter words like arrows straight at my heart. They shoot from ambush at the innocent. Suddenly the deed is done, yet they are not afraid. They encourage each other to do evil. They meet in secret to set their traps. "He will never notice them here," they say. They keep a sharp lookout for opportunities of crime. They spend long hours with all their endless evil thoughts and plans.

But God himself will shoot them down. Suddenly his arrow will pierce them. They will stagger backward, destroyed by those they spoke against. All who see it happening will scoff at them. Then everyone shall stand in awe and confess the greatness of the miracles of God; at last they will realize what amazing things he does. And the godly shall rejoice in the Lord, and trust and praise him.

65 O GOD IN Zion, we wait before you in silent praise, and thus fulfill our vow. And because you answer prayer, all mankind will come to you with their requests. Though sins fill our hearts, you forgive them all. How greatly to be envied are those you have chosen to come and live with you within the holy tabernacle courts! What joys await us among all the good things there. With dread deeds and awesome power you will defend us from our enemies. O God who saves us. You are the only hope of all mankind throughout the world and far away upon the sea.

shall startle everyone. The dawn and sunset shout for joy! <sup>9</sup> He waters the earth to make it fertile. The rivers of God will not run dry! He prepares the earth for his people and sends them rich harvests of grain. <sup>10</sup> He waters the furrows with abundant rain. Showers soften the earth, melting the clods and causing seeds to sprout across the land. <sup>11,12</sup> Then he crowns it all with green, lush pastures in the wilderness; hillsides blossom with joy. <sup>13</sup> The pastures are filled with flocks of sheep, and the valleys are carpeted with grain. All the world shouts with joy, and sings.

66 SING TO THE Lord, all the earth! <sup>2</sup> Sing of his glorious name! Tell the world how wonderful he is.

a crucible. <sup>11</sup> You captured us in your net and laid great burdens on our backs. <sup>12</sup> You sent troops to ride across our broken bodies. <sup>b</sup> We went through fire and flood. But in the end, you brought us into wealth and great abundance.

<sup>13</sup> Now I have come to your Temple with burnt-offerings to pay my vows. <sup>14</sup> For when I was in trouble I promised you many offerings. <sup>15</sup> That is why I am bringing you these fat he-goats, rams and calves. The smoke of their sacrifice shall rise before you.

<sup>16</sup> Come and hear, all of you who reverence the Lord, and I will tell you what he did for me: <sup>17</sup> For I cried to him for help, with praises ready on my tongue. <sup>18</sup> He would not have listened if I had not confessed my sins. <sup>19</sup> But he listened! He heard my prayer! He paid attention to it!

67 O GOD, IN mercy bless us; let your face beam with joy as you look down at us.

abundant harvests. God, even our own God, will bless us. And peoples from remotest lands will worship him.

68 ARISE, O GOD, and scatter all your enemies! Chase them away! <sup>2</sup> Drive them off like smoke before the wind; melt them like wax in fire! So let the wicked perish at the presence of God.

<sup>7</sup> O God, when you led your people through the wilderness, <sup>8</sup> the earth trembled and the heavens shook. Mount Sinai quailed before you—the God of Israel. <sup>9,10</sup> You sent abundant rain upon your land, O God, to refresh it in its weariness! There your people lived, for you gave them this home when they were destitute.

enemies like snowflakes melting in the forests of Zalmon.

<sup>15,16</sup> O mighty mountains in Bashan! O splendid many-peaked ranges! Well may you look with envy at Mount Zion, the mount where God has chosen to live forever. <sup>17</sup> Surrounded by unnumbered chariots, the Lord moves on from Mount Sinai and comes to his holy temple high upon Mount Zion. <sup>18</sup> He ascends the heights, leading many captives in his train. He receives gifts for<sup>d</sup> men, even those who once were rebels. God will live among us here.

<sup>34</sup> Power belongs to God! His majesty shines down on Israel; his strength is mighty in the heavens. <sup>35</sup> What awe we feel, kneeling here before him in the sanctuary. The God of Israel gives strength and mighty power to his people. Blessed be God!

69 SAVE ME, O my God. The floods have risen. Deeper and deeper I sink in the mire; the waters rise around me. <sup>2</sup> I have wept until I am exhausted; my throat is dry and hoarse; my eyes are swollen with weeping, waiting for my God to act. <sup>3</sup> I cannot even count all those who hate me without cause. They are influential men, these who plot to kill me though I am innocent. They demand that I be punished for what I didn't do.

<sup>4</sup> O God, you know so well how stupid I am, and you know all my sins. <sup>5</sup> O Lord God of the armies of heaven, don't let me be a stumbling block to those who trust in you. O God of Israel, don't let me cause them to be confused, <sup>7</sup> though I am mocked and cursed and shamed for your sake. <sup>8</sup> Even my own brothers pretend they don't know me! <sup>9</sup> My zeal for God and his work<sup>a</sup> burns hot within me. And because I advocate your cause, your enemies insult me even as they insult you. <sup>10</sup> How they scoff and mock me when I mourn and fast before the Lord! <sup>11</sup> How they talk about me when I wear sackcloth to show my humiliation and sorrow for my sins! <sup>12</sup> I am the talk of the town and the song of the drunkards. <sup>13</sup> But I keep right on praying to you, Lord. For now is the time—you are bending down to hear! You are ready with a plentiful supply of love and kindness. Now answer my prayer and rescue me as you promised.<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> Pull me out of this mire. Don't let me sink in. Rescue me from those who hate me, and from these deep waters I am in.

<sup>15</sup> Don't let the floods overwhelm me, or the ocean swallow me; save me from the pit that threatens me. <sup>16</sup> O Jehovah, answer my prayers, for your lovingkindness is wonderful; your mercy is so plentiful, so tender and so kind. <sup>17</sup> Don't hide from me,<sup>c</sup> for I am in deep trouble. Quick! Come and save me. <sup>18</sup> Come, Lord, and rescue me. Ransom me from all my enemies. <sup>19</sup> You know how they talk about me, and how they so shamefully dishonor me. You see them all and know what each has said.

<sup>20</sup> Their contempt has broken my heart; my spirit is heavy within me. If even one would show some pity, if even one would comfort me! <sup>21</sup> For food they gave me poison; for my awful thirst they offered me vinegar. <sup>22</sup> Let their joys<sup>d</sup> turn to ashes and their peace disappear; <sup>23</sup> let darkness, blindness and great feebleness be theirs. <sup>24</sup> Pour out your fury upon them; consume them with the fierceness of your anger. <sup>25</sup> Let their homes be desolate and abandoned. <sup>26</sup> For they persecute the one you have smitten, and scoff at the pain of the one you have pierced. <sup>27</sup> Pile their sins high and do not overlook them. <sup>28</sup> Let these men be blotted from the list<sup>e</sup> of the living; do not give them the joys of life with the righteous.

<sup>29</sup> But rescue me, O God, from my poverty and pain. <sup>30</sup> Then I will praise God with my singing! My thanks will be his praise— <sup>31</sup> that will please him more than sacrificing a bullock or an ox. <sup>32</sup> The humble shall see their God at work for them. No wonder they will be so glad! All who seek for God shall live in joy. <sup>33</sup> For Jehovah hears the cries of his needy ones, and does not look the other way.

live there safely.

70 RESCUE ME, O God! Lord, hurry to my aid! <sup>2,3</sup> They are after my life, and delight in hurting me. Confuse them! Shame them! Stop them! Don't let them keep on mocking me! <sup>4</sup> But fill the followers of God with joy. Let those who love your salvation exclaim, "What a wonderful God he is!" <sup>5</sup> But I am in deep trouble. Rush to my aid, for only you can help and save me. O Lord, don't delay.

71 LORD, YOU ARE my refuge! Don't let me down! <sup>2</sup> Save me from my enemies, for you are just! Rescue me! Bend down your ear and listen to my plea and save me. <sup>3</sup> Be to me a great protecting Rock, where I am always welcome, safe from all attacks. For you have issued the order to save me. <sup>4</sup> Rescue me, O God, from these unjust and cruel men. <sup>5</sup> O Lord, you alone are my hope; I've trusted you from childhood. <sup>6</sup> Yes, you have been with me from birth and have helped me constantly—no wonder I am always praising you! <sup>7</sup> My success—at which so many stand amazed—is because you are my mighty protector. <sup>8</sup> All day long I'll praise and honor you, O God, for all that you have done for me.

<sup>9</sup> And now, in my old age, don't set me aside. Don't forsake me now when my strength is failing. <sup>10</sup> My enemies are whispering, "God has forsaken him! Now we can get him. There is no one to help him now!" <sup>11</sup> O God, don't stay away!

Come quickly! Help! <sup>13</sup> Destroy them! Cover them with failure and disgrace—these enemies of mine. <sup>14</sup> I will keep on expecting you to help me. I praise you more and more. <sup>15</sup> I cannot count the times when you have faithfully rescued me from danger. I will tell everyone how good you are, and of your constant, daily care. <sup>16</sup> I walk in the strength of the Lord God. I tell everyone that you alone are just and good. <sup>17</sup> O God, you have helped me from my earliest childhood—and I have constantly testified to others of the wonderful things you do. <sup>18</sup> And now that I am old and gray, don't forsake me. Give me time to tell this new generation (and their children too) about all your mighty miracles. <sup>19</sup> Your power and goodness, Lord, reach to the highest heavens. You have done such wonderful things. Where is there another God like you? <sup>20</sup> You have let me sink down deep in desperate problems. But you will bring me back to life again, up from the depths of the earth. <sup>21</sup> You will give me greater honor than before, and turn again and comfort me.

<sup>22</sup> I will praise you with music, telling of your faithfulness to all your promises, O Holy One of Israel. <sup>23</sup> I will shout and sing your praises for redeeming me. <sup>24</sup> I will talk to others all day long about your justice and your goodness. For all who tried to hurt me have been disgraced and dishonored.

72 O GOD, HELP the king to judge as you would, and help his son to walk in godliness. <sup>2</sup> Help him to give justice to your people, even to the poor. <sup>3</sup> May the mountains and hills flourish in prosperity because of his good reign. <sup>4</sup> Help him to defend the poor and needy and to crush their oppressors. <sup>5</sup> May the poor and needy revere you constantly, as long as sun and moon continue in the skies! Yes, forever!

<sup>6</sup> May the reign of this son<sup>a</sup> of mine be as gentle and fruitful as the springtime rains upon the grass—like showers that water the earth! <sup>7</sup> May all good men flourish in his reign, with abundance of peace to the end of time. <sup>8</sup> Let him reign from sea to sea, and from the Euphrates River to the ends of the earth. <sup>9</sup> The desert nomads shall bow before him; his enemies shall fall face downward in the dust. <sup>10</sup> Kings along the Mediterranean coast—the kings of Tarsish and the islands—and those from Sheba and from Seba—all will bring their gifts. <sup>11</sup> Yes, kings from everywhere! All will bow before him! All will serve him!

<sup>12</sup> He will take care of the helpless and poor when they cry to him; for they have no one else to defend them. <sup>13</sup> He feels pity for the weak and needy, and will rescue them. <sup>14</sup> He will save them from oppression and from violence, for their lives are precious to him.

<sup>15</sup> And he shall live; and to him will be given the gold of Sheba, and there will be constant praise<sup>b</sup> for him. His people<sup>c</sup> will bless him all day long. <sup>16</sup> Bless us with abundant crops throughout the land, even on the highland plains; may there be fruit like that of Lebanon; may the cities be as full of people as the fields are of grass. <sup>17</sup> His name will be honored forever; it will continue as the sun; and all will be blessed in him; all nations will praise him.

73 HOW GOOD GOD is to Israel—to those whose hearts are pure. <sup>2</sup> But as for me, I came so close to the edge of the cliff! My feet were slipping and I was almost gone. <sup>3</sup> For I was envious of the prosperity of the proud and wicked. <sup>4</sup> Yes, all through life their road is smooth! <sup>5</sup> They grow sleek and fat. <sup>6</sup> They aren't always in trouble and plagued with problems like everyone else, <sup>7</sup> so their pride sparkles like a jeweled necklace, and their clothing is woven of cruelty! <sup>8</sup> These fat cats have everything their hearts could ever wish for! <sup>9</sup> They scoff at God and threaten his people. How proudly they speak! <sup>10</sup> They boast against the very heavens, and their words strut through the earth.

<sup>11</sup> And so God's people are dismayed and confused, and drink it all in. <sup>12</sup> "Does God realize what is going on?" they ask. <sup>13</sup> "Look at these men of arrogance; they never have to lift a finger—theirs is a life of ease; and all the time their riches multiply."

<sup>14</sup> Have I been wasting my time? Why take the trouble to be pure? <sup>15</sup> All I get out of it is trouble and woe—every day and all day long! <sup>16</sup> If I had really said that, I would have been a traitor to your people. <sup>17</sup> Yet it is so hard to explain it—this prosperity of those who hate the Lord.

<sup>18</sup> Then one day I went into God's sanctuary to meditate, and thought about the future of these evil men. <sup>19</sup> What a slippery path they are on—suddenly God will send them sliding over the edge of the cliff and down to their destruction: <sup>20</sup> an instant end to all their happiness, an eternity of terror. <sup>21</sup> Their present life is only a dream! They will awaken to the truth as one awakens from a dream of things that never really were!

<sup>22</sup> When I saw this, what turmoil filled my heart! <sup>23</sup> I saw myself so stupid and so ignorant; I must seem like an animal to you, O God. <sup>24</sup> But even so, you love me! You are holding my right hand! <sup>25</sup> You will keep on guiding me all my life with your wisdom and counsel; and afterwards receive me into the glories of heaven! <sup>26</sup> Whom have I in heaven but you? And I desire no one on earth as much as you! <sup>27</sup> My health fails; my spirits droop, yet God remains! He is the strength of my heart; he is mine forever!

<sup>28</sup> But those refusing to worship God will perish, for he destroys those serving other gods.

<sup>29</sup> But as for me, I get as close to him as I can! I have chosen him and I will tell everyone about the wonderful ways he rescues me.

a Or, "they never have any pains."

b Or, "you will bring me unto honor."

74 O GOD, WHY have you cast us away forever? Why is your anger hot against us—the sheep of your own pasture?<sup>2</sup> Remember that we are your people—the ones you chose in ancient times from slavery and made the choicest of your possessions. You chose Jerusalem<sup>a</sup> as your home on earth!

<sup>9,10</sup> There is nothing left to show that we are your people. The prophets are gone, and who can say when it all will end? How long, O God, will you allow our enemies to dishonor your name? Will you let them get away with this forever? <sup>11</sup> Why do you delay? Why hold back your power? Unleash your fist and give them a final blow.

<sup>12</sup> God is my King from ages past; you have been actively helping me everywhere throughout the land. <sup>13,14</sup> You divided the Red Sea with your strength; you crushed the sea-god’s heads! You gave him to the desert tribes to eat! <sup>15</sup> At your command the springs burst forth to give your people water; and then you dried a path for them across the ever-flowing Jordan. <sup>16</sup> Day and night alike belong to you; you made the starlight and the sun. <sup>17</sup> All nature is within your hands; you make the summer and the winter too. <sup>18</sup> Lord, see how these enemies scoff at you. O Jehovah, an arrogant nation has blasphemed your name.

75 HOW WE THANK you, Lord! Your mighty miracles give proof that you care.

<sup>2</sup> “Yes,” the Lord replies, “and when I am ready, I will punish the wicked! <sup>3</sup> Though the earth shakes and all its people live in turmoil, yet its pillars are firm, for I have set them in place!”

from God. He promotes one and deposes another. <sup>a</sup>In Jehovah's hand there is a cup of pale and sparkling wine. It is his judgment, poured out upon the wicked of the earth. They must drain that cup to the dregs.

<sup>b</sup>But as for me, I shall forever declare the praises of the God of Jacob. <sup>10</sup>"I will cut off the strength of evil men," says the Lord,<sup>b</sup> "and increase the power of good men in their place."

76 GOD'S REPUTATION IS very great in Judah and in Israel.

<sup>10</sup>Fulfill all your vows that you have made to Jehovah your God. Let everyone bring him presents. He should be revered and feared, <sup>11</sup>for he cuts down princes and does awesome things to the kings of the earth.

77 I CRY TO the Lord; I call and call to him. Oh, that he would listen. <sup>2</sup>I am in deep trouble and I need his help so badly. All night long I pray, lifting my hands to heaven, pleading. There can be no joy for me until he acts. <sup>3</sup>I think of God and moan, overwhelmed with longing for his help. <sup>4</sup>I cannot sleep until you act. I am too distressed even to pray!

<sup>7</sup>Has the Lord rejected me forever? Will he never again be favorable? <sup>8</sup>Is his lovingkindness gone forever? Has his promise failed?

<sup>9</sup>Has he forgotten to be kind to one so undeserving? Has he slammed the door in anger on his love?

<sup>10</sup>And I said: This is my fate, that the blessings of God have changed to hate.<sup>a</sup> <sup>11</sup>I recall the many miracles he did for me so long ago.

<sup>12</sup>Those wonderful deeds are constantly in my thoughts. I cannot stop thinking about them.

<sup>13</sup>O God, your ways are holy. Where is there any other as mighty as you? <sup>14</sup>You are the God of miracles and wonders! You still demonstrate your awesome power.

lighted up the world! The earth trembled and shook.

78 O MY PEOPLE, listen to my teaching. Open your ears to what I am saying. <sup>23</sup> For I will show you lessons from our history, stories handed down to us from former generations. <sup>4</sup> I will reveal these truths to you so that you can describe these glorious deeds of Jehovah to your children, and tell them about the mighty miracles he did. <sup>5</sup> For he gave his laws to Israel, and commanded our fathers to teach them to their children, <sup>6</sup> so that they in turn could teach their children too. Thus his laws pass down from generation to generation. <sup>7</sup> In this way each generation has been able to obey his laws and to set its hope anew on God and not forget his glorious miracles. <sup>8</sup> Thus they did not need to be as their fathers were—stubborn, rebellious, unfaithful, refusing to give their hearts to God.

the rocks in the wilderness to give them plenty of water, as though gushing from a spring. <sup>16</sup> Streams poured from the rock, flowing like a river! <sup>17</sup> Yet they kept on with their rebellion, sinning against the God who is above all gods. <sup>18</sup> They murmured and complained, demanding other food than God was giving them. <sup>19,20</sup> They even spoke against God himself. "Why can't he give us decent food as well as water?" they grumbled. <sup>21</sup> Jehovah heard them and was angry; the fire of his wrath burned against Israel, <sup>22</sup> because they didn't believe in God or trust in him to care for them, <sup>23</sup> even though he commanded the skies to open—he opened the windows of heaven—<sup>24</sup> and rained down manna for their food. He gave them bread from heaven! <sup>25</sup> They ate angel's food! He gave them all that they could hold.

handed them over to plagues and sickness. <sup>51</sup> Then he killed the eldest son<sup>b</sup> in each Egyptian family—he who was the beginning of its strength and joy.

Lord rose up as though awakening from sleep, and like a mighty man aroused by wine, <sup>66</sup> he routed his enemies and drove them back and sent them to eternal shame. <sup>67</sup> But he rejected Joseph's family, the tribe of Ephraim, <sup>68</sup> and chose the tribe of Judah—and Mount Zion which he loved. <sup>69</sup> There he built his towering temple, solid and enduring as the heavens and the earth. <sup>70</sup> He chose his servant David, taking him from feeding sheep, <sup>71,72</sup> and from following the ewes with lambs; God presented David to his people as their shepherd and he cared for them with a true heart and skillful hands.

79 O GOD, YOUR land has been conquered by the heathen nations. Your Temple is defiled and Jerusalem is a heap of ruins. <sup>2</sup> The bodies of your people lie exposed—food for birds and animals. <sup>3</sup> The enemy has butchered the entire population of Jerusalem; blood has flowed like water. No one is left even to bury them. <sup>4</sup> The nations all around us scoff. They heap contempt on us.

<sup>5</sup> O Jehovah, how long will you be angry with us? Forever? Will your jealousy burn till every hope is gone? <sup>6</sup> Pour out your wrath upon the godless nations, not on us! And on kingdoms that refuse to pray, that will not call upon your name! <sup>7</sup> For they have destroyed your people Israel, invading every home. <sup>8</sup> Oh, do not hold us guilty for our former sins! Let your tenderhearted mercies meet our needs, for we are brought low to the dust. <sup>9</sup> Help us, God of our salvation! Help us for the honor of your name. Oh, save us and forgive our sins. <sup>10</sup> Why should the heathen nations be allowed to scoff, "Where is their God?" Publicly avenge this slaughter of your people! <sup>11</sup> Listen to the sighing of the prisoners and those condemned to die. Demonstrate the greatness of your power by saving them. <sup>12</sup> O Lord, take sevenfold vengeance on these nations scorning you.

<sup>13</sup> Then we your people, the sheep of your pasture, will thank you forever and forever, praising your greatness from generation to generation.

80 O SHEPHERD OF Israel who leads Israel like a flock; O God enthroned above the cherubim, bend down your ear and listen as I plead. Display your power and radiant glory. <sup>2</sup> Let Ephraim, Benjamin and Manasseh see you rouse yourself and use your mighty power to rescue us.

<sup>3</sup> Turn us again to yourself, O God. Look down on us in joy and love;<sup>a</sup> only then shall we be saved. <sup>4</sup> O Jehovah, God of heaven's armies, how long will you be angry and reject our prayers? <sup>5</sup> You have fed us with sorrow and tears, <sup>6</sup> and have made us the scorn of the neighboring nations. They laugh among themselves.

<sup>7</sup> Turn us again to yourself, O God of Hosts. Look down on us in joy and love;<sup>a</sup> only then shall we be saved. <sup>8</sup> You brought us from Egypt as though we were a tender vine and drove away the heathen from your land and planted us. <sup>9</sup> You cleared the ground and tilled the soil and we took root and filled the land. <sup>10</sup> The mountains were covered with our shadow; we were like the mighty cedar trees, <sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup> covering the entire land from the Mediterranean Sea to the Euphrates River. <sup>12</sup> But now you have broken down our walls, leaving us without protection. <sup>13</sup> The boar from the forest roots around us, and the wild animals feed on us.

<sup>14</sup> Come back, we beg of you, O God of the armies of heaven, and bless us. Look down from heaven and see our plight and care for this your vine! <sup>15</sup> Protect what you yourself have planted, this son you have raised for yourself. <sup>16</sup> For we are chopped and burned by our enemies. May they perish at your frown. <sup>17</sup> Strengthen the man you love, <sup>c</sup> the son of your choice, <sup>d</sup> <sup>18</sup> and we will never forsake you again. Revive us to trust in you.

<sup>19</sup> Turn us again to yourself, O God of the armies of heaven. Look down on us, your face aglow with joy and love—only then shall we be saved.

81 THE LORD MAKES us strong!
Sing praises! Sing to Israel's God!

times of joy; they are scheduled in the laws of Israel. <sup>5</sup> He gave them as reminders of his war against Egypt where we were slaves on foreign soil.

I heard an unknown voice that said, <sup>6</sup> "Now I will relieve your shoulder of its burden; I will free your hands from their heavy tasks." <sup>7</sup> He said, "You cried to me in trouble and I saved you; I answered from Mount Sinai<sup>a</sup> where the thunder hides. I tested your faith at Meribah, when you complained there was no water. <sup>8</sup> Listen to me, O my people, while I give you stern warnings. O Israel, if you will only listen! <sup>9</sup> You must never worship any other god, nor ever have an idol in your home. <sup>b</sup> <sup>10</sup> For it was I, Jehovah your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt. Only test me! <sup>c</sup> Open your mouth wide and see if I won't fill it. You will receive every blessing you can use! <sup>11</sup> But no, my people won't listen. Israel doesn't want me around. <sup>12</sup> So I am letting them go their blind and stubborn way, living according to their own desires.

<sup>8</sup> Stand up, O God, and judge the earth. For all of it belongs to you. All nations are in your hands.

83 O GOD, DON'T sit idly by, silent and inactive when we pray. Answer us! Deliver us!

<sup>2</sup> Don't you hear the tumult and commotion of your enemies? Don't you see what they are doing, these proud men who hate the Lord?

Moabites and Hagrites; <sup>7</sup> people from the lands of Gebal, Ammon, Amalek, Philistia and Tyre; <sup>8</sup> Assyria has joined them too, and is allied with the descendants of Lot.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> I long, yes, faint with longing to be able to enter your courtyard and come near to the Living God. <sup>3</sup> Even the sparrows and swallows are welcome to come and nest among your altars and there have their young, O Lord of heaven's armies, my King and my God! <sup>4</sup> How happy are those who can live in your Temple, singing your praises.

<sup>4</sup>O Jehovah, God of the heavenly armies, hear my prayer! Listen, God of Israel. <sup>5</sup>O God, our Defender and our Shield, have mercy on the one you have anointed as your king.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>10</sup>A single day spent in your Temple is better than a thousand anywhere else! I would rather be a doorman of the Temple of my God than live in palaces<sup>b</sup> of wickedness. <sup>11</sup>For Jehovah God is our Light and our Protector. He gives us grace and glory. No good thing will he withhold from those who walk along his paths.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>12</sup>O Lord of the armies of heaven, blessed are those who trust in you.

85 LORD, YOU HAVE poured out amazing blessings on this land! You have restored the fortunes<sup>a</sup> of Israel, <sup>2</sup>and forgiven the sins of your people—yes, covered over each one, <sup>3</sup>so that all your wrath, your blazing anger, is now ended.

will never need rise against us again. <sup>5</sup>(Or will you be always angry—on and on to distant generations?) <sup>6</sup>Oh, revive us! Then your people can rejoice in you again. <sup>7</sup>Pour out your love and kindness on us, Lord, and grant us your salvation.

<sup>8</sup>I am listening carefully to all the Lord is saying—for he speaks peace to his people, his saints, if they will only stop their sinning. <sup>9</sup>Surely his salvation is near to those who reverence him; our land will be filled with his glory.

strikes, and you will help me.

<sup>8</sup> Where among the heathen gods is there a god like you? Where are their miracles? <sup>9</sup> All the nations—and you made each one—will come and bow before you, Lord, and praise your great and holy name. <sup>10</sup> For you are great, and do great miracles. You alone are God.

<sup>11</sup> Tell me where you want me to go and I will go there. May every fiber of my being unite in reverence to your name. <sup>12</sup> With all my heart I will praise you. I will give glory to your name forever, <sup>13</sup> for you love me so much! You are constantly so kind! You have rescued me from deepest hell.

<sup>14</sup> O God, proud and insolent men defy me; violent, godless men are trying to kill me. <sup>15</sup> But you are merciful and gentle, Lord, slow in getting angry, full of constant lovingkindness and of truth; <sup>16</sup> so look down in pity and grant strength to your servant and save me. <sup>17</sup> Send me a sign of your favor. When those who hate me see it they will lose face because you help and comfort me.

87 HIGH ON HIS holy mountain stands Jerusalem,<sup>a</sup> the city of God, the city he loves more than any other!

<sup>1</sup> O city of God, what wondrous tales are told of you! <sup>2</sup> Nowadays when I mention among my friends the names of Egypt and Babylonia, Philistia and Tyre, or even distant Ethiopia, someone boasts that he was born in one or another of those countries. <sup>3</sup> But someday the highest honor will be to be a native of Jerusalem! For the God above all gods will personally bless this city. <sup>6</sup> When he registers her citizens he will place a checkmark beside the names of those who were born here. <sup>7</sup> And in the festivals they'll sing, "All my heart is in Jerusalem."

88 O JEHOVAH, GOD of my salvation, I have wept before you day and night. <sup>2</sup> Now hear my prayers; oh, listen to my cry, <sup>3</sup> for my life is full of troubles, and death draws near. <sup>4</sup> They say my life is ebbing out—a hopeless case. <sup>5</sup> They have left me here to die, like those slain on battlefields, from whom your mercies are removed.

<sup>6</sup> You have thrust me down to the darkest depths. <sup>7</sup> Your wrath lies heavy on me; wave after wave engulfs me. <sup>8</sup> You have made my friends to loathe me, and they have gone away. I am in a trap with no way out. <sup>9</sup> My eyes grow dim with weeping. Each day I beg your help; O Lord, I reach my pleading hands to you for mercy.

<sup>13</sup> O Lord, I plead for my life and will keep on pleading day by day. <sup>14</sup> O Jehovah, why have you thrown my life away? Why are you turning your face from me, and looking the other way? <sup>15</sup> From my youth I have been sickly and ready to die. I stand helpless before your terrors. <sup>16</sup> Your fierce wrath has overwhelmed me. Your terrors have cut me off. <sup>17</sup> They flow around me all day long. <sup>18</sup> Lover, friend, acquaintance—all are gone. There is only darkness everywhere.

89 FOREVER AND EVER I will sing about the tender kindness of the Lord! Young and old shall hear about your blessings. <sup>2</sup> Your love and kindness are forever; your truth is as enduring as the heavens.

yours, the world, everything—for you created them all. <sup>12</sup> You created north and south! Mount Tabor and Mount Hermon rejoice to be signed by your name as their maker! <sup>13</sup> Strong is your arm! Strong is your hand! Your right hand is lifted high in glorious strength.

<sup>14,15</sup> Your throne is founded on two strong pillars—the one is Justice and the other Righteousness. Mercy and Truth walk before you as your attendants. Blessed are those who hear the joyful blast of the trumpet, for they shall walk in the light of your presence. <sup>16</sup> They rejoice all day long in your wonderful reputation and in your perfect righteousness. <sup>17</sup> You are their strength. What glory! Our power is based on your favor! <sup>18</sup> Yes, our protection is from the Lord himself and he, the Holy One of Israel, has given us our king.

my God, and my Rock of Salvation.'

<sup>27</sup> "I will treat him as my first-born son, and make him the mightiest king in all the earth. <sup>28</sup> I will love him forever, and be kind to him always; my covenant with him will never end. <sup>29</sup> He will always have an heir; his throne will be as endless as the days of heaven. <sup>30,31,32</sup> If his children forsake my laws and don't obey them, then I will punish them, <sup>31</sup> but I will never completely take away my lovingkindness from them, nor let my promise fail. <sup>34</sup> No, I will not break my covenant; I will not take back one word of what I said. <sup>35,36</sup> For I have sworn to David (and a holy God can never lie), that his dynasty will go on forever, and his throne will continue to the end of time.<sup>f</sup> <sup>37</sup> It shall be eternal as the moon, my faithful witness in the sky!"

go on? Will you hide yourself from me forever? How long will your wrath burn like fire? <sup>47</sup> Oh, remember how short you have made man's lifespan. Is it an empty, futile life you give the sons of men? <sup>48</sup> No man can live forever. All will die. Who can rescue his life from the power of the grave?

90 LORD, THROUGH ALL the generations you have been our home! <sup>2</sup> Before the mountains were created, before the earth was formed, you are God without beginning or end.

And some may even live to eighty. But even the best of these years are often emptiness and pain; soon they disappear, and we are gone. <sup>11</sup> Who can realize the terrors of your anger? Which of us can fear you as he should?

<sup>12</sup> Teach us to number our days and recognize how few they are; help us to spend them as we should.

91 WE LIVE WITHIN the shadow of the Almighty, sheltered by the God who is above all gods.

<sup>2</sup> This I declare, that he alone is my refuge, my place of safety; he is my God, and I am trusting him. <sup>3</sup> For he rescues you from every trap, and protects you from the fatal plague. <sup>4</sup> He will shield you with his wings! They will shelter you. His faithful promises are your armor. <sup>5</sup> Now you don't need to be afraid of the dark any more, nor fear the dangers of the day; <sup>6</sup> nor dread the plagues of darkness, nor disasters in the morning.<sup>a</sup> me. <sup>8</sup> I will see how the wicked are punished but I will not share it. <sup>9</sup> For Jehovah is my refuge! I choose the God above all gods to shelter me. <sup>10</sup> How then can evil overtake me or any plague come near? <sup>11</sup> For he orders his angels to protect you wherever you go. <sup>12</sup> They will steady you with their hands to keep you from stumbling against the rocks on the trail. <sup>13</sup> You can safely meet a lion or step on poisonous snakes, yes, even trample them beneath your feet!

<sup>14</sup> For the Lord says, "Because he loves me, I will rescue him; I will make him great because he trusts in my name. <sup>15</sup> When he calls on me I will answer; I will be with him in trouble, and rescue him and honor him. <sup>16</sup> I will satisfy him with a full life<sup>b</sup> and give him my salvation."

92 IT IS GOOD to say, "Thank you" to the Lord, to sing praises to the God who is above all gods.

O Lord, you have reigned from prehistoric times, from the everlasting past. <sup>1</sup> The mighty oceans thunder your praise. <sup>2</sup> You are mightier than all the breakers pounding on the seashores of the world! <sup>3</sup> Your royal decrees cannot be changed. Holiness is forever the keynote of your reign.

oppressing your people, O Lord, afflicting those you love. <sup>6,7</sup> They murder widows, immigrants, and orphans, for "The Lord isn't looking," they say, "and besides, he<sup>a</sup> doesn't care."

<sup>8</sup> Fools! <sup>9</sup> Is God deaf and blind—he who makes ears and eyes? <sup>10</sup> He punishes the nations—won't he also punish you? He knows everything—doesn't he also know what you are doing?

<sup>11</sup> The Lord is fully aware of how limited and futile the thoughts of mankind are, <sup>12,13</sup> so he helps us by punishing us. This makes us follow his paths, and gives us respite from our enemies while God traps them and destroys them. <sup>14</sup> The Lord will not forsake his people, for they are his prize. <sup>15</sup> Judgment will again be just and all the upright will rejoice.

<sup>16</sup> Who will protect me from the wicked? Who will be my shield? <sup>17</sup> I would have died unless the Lord had helped me. <sup>18</sup> I screamed, "I'm slipping, Lord!" and he was kind and saved me.

scription, and greatly to be praised. Worship only him among the gods! <sup>5</sup> For the gods of other nations are merely idols, but our God made the heavens! <sup>6</sup> Honor and majesty surround him; strength and beauty are in his Temple.

97 JEHOVAH IS KING! Let all the earth rejoice! Tell the farthest islands to be glad.

disgraced—all who brag about their worthless gods—for every god must bow to him!<sup>8,9</sup> Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah have heard of your justice, Lord, and are glad that you reign in majesty over the entire earth and are far greater than these other gods.

98 SING A NEW song to the Lord telling about his mighty deeds! For he has won a mighty victory by his power and holiness. <sup>2,3</sup> He has announced this victory and revealed it to every nation by fulfilling his promise to be kind to Israel. The whole earth has seen God's salvation of his people. <sup>4</sup> That is why the earth breaks out in praise to God, and sings for utter joy!

99 JEHOVAH IS KING! Let the nations tremble! He is enthroned upon the cherubim. Let the whole earth shake.

<sup>6</sup> When Moses and Aaron and Samuel, his prophet, cried to him for help, he answered them. <sup>7</sup> He spoke to them from the pillar of cloud and they followed his instructions. <sup>8</sup> O Jehovah our God! You answered them and forgave their sins, yet punished them when they went wrong.

100 SHOUT WITH JOY before the Lord, O earth! <sup>2</sup> Obey him gladly; come before him, singing with joy.

tice, Lord. I will sing your praises!

<sup>2</sup> I will try to walk a blameless path, but how I need your help, especially in my own home, where I long to act as I should.

<sup>3</sup> Help me to refuse the low and vulgar things; help me to abhor all crooked deals of every kind, to have no part in them. <sup>4</sup> I will reject all selfishness and stay away from every evil. <sup>5</sup> I will not tolerate anyone who secretly slanders his neighbors; I will not permit conceit and pride. <sup>6</sup> I will make the godly of the land my heroes; and invite them to my home. Only those who are truly good shall be my servants. <sup>7</sup> But I will not allow those who deceive and lie to stay in my house. <sup>8</sup> My daily task will be to ferret out criminals and free the city of God from their grip.

102 LORD, HEAR MY prayer!
Listen to my plea!

<sup>2</sup> Don't turn away from me in this time of my distress. Bend down your ear and give me speedy answers, <sup>3,4</sup> for my days disappear like smoke. My health is broken and my heart is sick; it is trampled like grass and is withered. My food is tasteless, and I have lost my appetite. <sup>5</sup> I am reduced to skin and bones because of all my groaning and despair. <sup>6</sup> I am like a vulture in a far-off wilderness, or like an owl alone in the desert. <sup>7</sup> I lie awake, lonely as a solitary sparrow on the roof.

<sup>8</sup> My enemies taunt me day after day and curse at me. <sup>9,10</sup> I eat ashes instead of bread. My tears run down into my drink because of your anger against me, because of your wrath. For you have rejected me and thrown me out. <sup>11</sup> My life is passing swiftly as the evening shadows. I am withering like grass, <sup>12</sup> while you, Lord, are a famous King forever. Your fame will endure to every generation.

<sup>13</sup> I know that you will come and have mercy on Jerusalem—and now is the time to pity her—the time you promised help. <sup>14</sup> For your people love every stone in her walls and feel sympathy for every grain of dust in her streets. <sup>15</sup> Now let the nations and their rulers tremble before the Lord, before his glory. <sup>16</sup> For Jehovah will rebuild Jerusalem! He will appear in his glory!

<sup>17</sup> He will listen to the prayers of the destitute, for he is never too busy to heed their requests. <sup>18</sup> I am recording this so that future generations will also praise the Lord for all that he has done. And a people that shall be created shall praise the Lord. <sup>19</sup> Tell them that God looked down from his temple in heaven, <sup>20</sup> and heard the groans of his people in slavery—they were children of death—and released them, <sup>21,22</sup> so that multitudes would stream to the Temple in Jerusalem to praise him, and his praises were sung throughout the city; and many rulers throughout the earth came to worship him.

<sup>23</sup> He has cut me down in middle life, shortening my days. <sup>24</sup> But I cried to him, "O God, you live forever and forever! Don't let me die half through my years!" <sup>25</sup> In ages past you laid the foundations of the earth, and made the heavens with your hands! <sup>26</sup> They shall perish, but you go on forever. They will grow old, like worn-out clothing, and you will change them like a man putting on a new shirt and throwing away the old one! <sup>27</sup> But you yourself never grow old. You are forever, and your years never end.

<sup>28</sup> But our families will continue; generation after generation will be preserved by your protection.

103 I BLESS THE holy name of God with all my heart. <sup>2</sup> Yes, I will bless the Lord and not forget the glorious things he does for me.

<sup>8</sup> He is merciful and tender toward those who don't deserve it; he is slow to get angry and full of kindness and love. <sup>9</sup> He never bears a grudge, nor remains angry forever.

<sup>10</sup> He has not punished us as we deserve for all our sins, <sup>11</sup> for his mercy toward those who fear and honor him is as great as the height of the heavens above the earth.

<sup>12</sup> He has removed our sins as far away from us as the east is from the west. <sup>13</sup> He is like a father to us, tender and sympathetic to those who reverence him. <sup>14</sup> For he knows we are but dust, <sup>15</sup> and that our days are few and brief, like grass, like flowers, <sup>16</sup> blown by the wind and gone forever.

104 I BLESS THE Lord: O Lord my God, how great you are! You are robed with honor and with majesty and light! You stretched out the starry curtain of the heavens, <sup>3</sup> and hollowed out the surface of the earth to form the seas. The clouds are his chariots. He rides upon the wings of the wind. <sup>4</sup> The angels<sup>a</sup> are his messengers—his servants of fire!

mountains. <sup>11</sup> They give water for all the animals to drink. There the wild donkeys quench their thirst, <sup>12</sup> and the birds nest beside the streams and sing among the branches of the trees. <sup>13</sup> He sends rain upon the mountains and fills the earth with fruit. <sup>14</sup> The tender grass grows up at his command to feed the cattle, and there are fruit trees, vegetables and grain for man to cultivate, <sup>15</sup> and wine to make him glad, and olive oil as lotion for his skin, and bread to give him strength. <sup>16</sup> The Lord planted the cedars of Lebanon. They are tall and flourishing. <sup>17</sup> There the birds make their nests, the storks in the firs. <sup>18</sup> High in the mountains are pastures for the wild goats, and rock-badgers burrow in among the rocks and find protection there.

gather it. You open wide your hand to feed them and they are satisfied with all your bountiful provision.

<sup>33</sup> I will sing to the Lord as long as I live. I will praise God to my last breath! <sup>34</sup> May he be pleased by all these thoughts about him, for he is the source of all my joy. <sup>35</sup> Let all sinners perish—all who refuse to praise him. But I will praise him. Hallelujah!

105 THANK THE LORD for all the glorious things he does; proclaim them to the nations. <sup>2</sup> Sing his praises and tell everyone about his miracles. <sup>3</sup> Glory in the Lord; O worshipers of God, rejoice.

Israel: "I will give you the land of Canaan as your inheritance."<sup>12</sup> He said this when they were but few in number, very few, and were only visitors in Canaan. <sup>13</sup> Later they were dispersed among the nations, and were driven from one kingdom to another; <sup>14</sup> but through it all he would not let one thing be done to them apart from his decision.<sup>b</sup> He destroyed many a king who tried! <sup>15</sup> "Touch not these chosen ones of mine," he warned, "and do not hurt my prophets."

land, <sup>29</sup> and turned the nation's water into blood, poisoning the fish. <sup>30</sup> Then frogs invaded in enormous numbers; they were found even in the king's private rooms. <sup>31</sup> When Moses spoke, the flies and other insects swarmed in vast clouds from one end of Egypt to the other. <sup>32</sup> Instead of rain he sent down murderous hail, and lightning flashes overwhelmed the nation. <sup>33</sup> Their grape vines and fig trees were ruined; all the trees lay broken on the ground. <sup>34</sup> He spoke, and hordes of locusts came, <sup>35</sup> and ate up everything green, destroying all the crops.

them faithful and obedient to his laws. Hallelujah!

106 HALLELUJAH! THANK YOU, Lord! How good you are! Your love for us continues on forever. <sup>2</sup> Who can ever list the glorious miracles of God? Who can ever praise him half enough?

<sup>4</sup> Remember me too, O Lord, while you are blessing and saving your people. <sup>5</sup> Let me share in your chosen ones' prosperity and rejoice in all their joys, and receive the glory you give to them.

<sup>6</sup> Both we and our fathers have sinned so much. <sup>7</sup> They weren't impressed by the wonder of your miracles in Egypt, and soon forgot your many acts of kindness to them. Instead they rebelled against you at the Red Sea. <sup>8</sup> Even so you saved them—to defend the honor of your name and demonstrate your power to all the world. <sup>9</sup> You commanded the Red Sea to divide, forming a dry road across its bottom. Yes, as dry as any desert! <sup>10</sup> Thus you rescued them from their enemies. <sup>11</sup> Then the water returned and covered the road and drowned their foes; not one survived.

stroy the nations in the land as God had told them to,<sup>35</sup> but mingled in among the heathen and learned their evil ways,<sup>36</sup> sacrificing to their idols, and were led away from God.<sup>37,38</sup> They even sacrificed their little children to the demons—the idols of Canaan—shedding innocent blood and polluting the land with murder.<sup>39</sup> Their evil deeds defiled them, for their love of idols was adultery in the sight of God.<sup>40</sup> That is why Jehovah's anger burned against his people, and he abhorred them.<sup>41,42</sup> That is why he let the heathen nations crush them. They were ruled by those who hated them and oppressed by their enemies.

<sup>47</sup> O Lord God, save us! Regather us from the nations so we can thank your holy name and rejoice and praise you.

107 SAY "THANK YOU" to the Lord for being so good, for always being so loving and kind.<sup>2</sup> Has the Lord redeemed you? Then speak out! Tell others he has saved you from your enemies.

from the farthest corners of the earth.<sup>4</sup> They were wandering homeless in the desert,<sup>5</sup> hungry and thirsty and faint.<sup>6</sup> "Lord, help!" they cried, and he did! <sup>7</sup> He led them straight to safety and a place to live.<sup>8</sup> Oh, that these men would praise the Lord for his lovingkindness, and for all of his wonderful deeds! <sup>9</sup> For he satisfies the thirsty soul and fills the hungry soul with good.

trade routes of the world. <sup>24</sup> They, too, observe the power of God in action. <sup>25</sup> He calls to the storm winds; the waves rise high. <sup>26</sup> Their ships are tossed to the heavens and sink again to the depths; the sailors cringe in terror. <sup>27</sup> They reel and stagger like drunkards and are at their wit's end. <sup>28</sup> Then they cry to the Lord in their trouble, and he saves them. <sup>29</sup> He calms the storm and stills the waves. <sup>30</sup> What a blessing is that stillness, as he brings them safely into harbor! <sup>31</sup> Oh, that these men would praise the Lord for his lovingkindness and for all of his wonderful deeds! <sup>32</sup> Let them praise him publicly before the congregation, and before the leaders of the nation.

<sup>43</sup> Listen, if you are wise, to what I am saying. Think about the lovingkindness of the Lord!

108 O GOD, MY heart is ready to praise you! I will sing and rejoice before you.

<sup>7</sup> God has given sacred promises; no wonder I exult! He has promised to give us all the land of Shechem, and also Succoth Valley. <sup>8</sup> "Gilead is mine to give to you," he says, "and Manasseh as well; the land of Ephraim is the helmet on my head. Judah is my scepter. <sup>9</sup> But Moab and Edom are despised; and I will shout in triumph over the Philistines."

<sup>11</sup> Lord, have you thrown us away? Have you deserted our army? <sup>12</sup> Oh, help us fight against our enemies, for men are useless allies. <sup>13</sup> But with the help of God we shall do mighty acts of valor. For he treads down our foes.

109 O GOD OF my praise, don't stand silent and aloof <sup>2</sup> while the wicked slander me and tell their lies. <sup>3</sup> They have no reason to hate and fight me, yet they do! <sup>4</sup> I love them, but even while I am praying for them, they are trying to destroy me. <sup>3</sup> They return evil for good, and hatred for love.

<sup>16</sup> For he refused all kindness to others, and persecuted those in need, and hounded brokenhearted ones to death. <sup>17</sup> He loved to curse others; now you curse him. He never blessed others; now don't you bless him. <sup>18</sup> Cursing is as much a part of him as his clothing, or as the water he drinks, or the rich food he eats.

<sup>21</sup> But as for me, O Lord, deal with me as your child, as one who bears your name! Because you are so kind, O Lord, deliver me.

<sup>22,23</sup> I am slipping down the hill to death; I am shaken off from life as easily as a man brushes a grasshopper from his arm. <sup>24</sup> My knees are weak from fasting and I am skin and bones. <sup>25</sup> I am a symbol of failure to all mankind; when they see me they shake their heads.

<sup>26</sup> Help me, O Lord my God! Save me because you are loving and kind. <sup>27</sup> Do it publicly, so all will see that you yourself have done it. <sup>28</sup> Then let them curse me if they like—I won't mind that if you are blessing me! For then all their efforts to destroy me will fail, and I shall go right on rejoicing!

110 JEHOVAH SAID TO my Lord the Messiah,<sup>a</sup> "Rule as my regent—I will subdue your enemies and make them bow low before you."

will not rescind his vow, that you are a priest forever like<sup>c</sup> Melchizedek. <sup>3</sup> God stands beside you to protect you. He will strike down many kings in the day of his anger. <sup>6</sup> He will punish the nations, and fill them with their dead. He will crush many heads. <sup>7</sup> But he himself shall be refreshed from springs along the way.

111 HALLELUJAH! I WANT to express publicly before his people my heartfelt thanks to God for his mighty miracles. All who are thankful should ponder them with me. <sup>3</sup> For his miracles demonstrate his honor, majesty, and eternal goodness.

112 PRAISE THE LORD! For all who fear God and trust in him are blessed beyond expression. Yes, happy is the man who delights in doing his commands.

<sup>6</sup> Such a man will not be overthrown by evil circumstances. God's constant care of him will make a deep impression on all who see it. <sup>7</sup> He does not fear bad news, nor live in dread of what may happen. For he is settled in his mind that Jehovah will take care of him. <sup>8</sup> That is why he is not afraid, but can calmly face his foes.

<sup>10</sup> Evil-minded men will be infuriated when they see all this; they will gnash their teeth in anger and slink away, their hopes thwarted.

the poor from the dirt, and the hungry from the garbage dump, <sup>8</sup> and sets them among princes! <sup>9</sup> He gives children to the childless wife, so that she becomes a happy mother.

Hallelujah! Praise the Lord.

114 LONG AGO WHEN the Israelis escaped from Egypt, from that land of foreign tongue, <sup>2</sup> then the lands of Judah and of Israel became God's new home and kingdom.

them are just as foolish as their idols are.

<sup>9</sup> O Israel, trust the Lord! He is your helper. He is your shield. <sup>10</sup> O priests of Aaron, trust the Lord! He is your helper; he is your shield. <sup>11</sup> All of you, his people, trust in him. He is your helper; he is your shield.

<sup>12</sup> Jehovah is constantly thinking about us and he will surely bless us. He will bless the people of Israel and the priests of Aaron, <sup>13</sup> and all, both great and small, who reverence him.

<sup>14</sup> May the Lord richly bless both you and your children. <sup>15</sup> Yes, Jehovah who made heaven and earth will personally bless you! <sup>16</sup> The heavens belong to the Lord, but he has given the earth to all mankind.

116 I LOVE THE Lord because he hears my prayers and answers them. <sup>2</sup> Because he bends down and listens, I will pray as long as I breathe!

Yes, in his presence—here on earth!
<sup>10,11</sup> In my discouragement I thought, "They are lying when they say I will recover."<sup>a</sup> <sup>12</sup> But now what can I offer Jehovah for all he has done for me? <sup>13</sup> I will bring him an offering of wine<sup>b</sup> and praise his name for saving me. <sup>14</sup> I will publicly bring him the sacrifice I vowed I would. <sup>15</sup> His loved ones are very precious to him and he does not lightly let them die.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>16</sup> O Lord, you have freed me from my bonds and I will serve you forever. <sup>17</sup> I will worship you and offer you a sacrifice of thanksgiving. <sup>18,19</sup> Here in the courts of the Temple in Jerusalem, before all the people, I will pay everything I vowed to the Lord. Praise the Lord.

117 PRAISE THE LORD, all nations everywhere. Praise him, all the peoples of the earth. <sup>2</sup> For he loves us very dearly, and his truth endures. Praise the Lord.

118 OH, THANK THE Lord, for he's so good! His loving-kindness is forever.

<sup>6</sup> In my distress I prayed to the Lord and he answered me and rescued me. <sup>7</sup> He is for me! How can I be afraid? What can mere man do to me? <sup>8</sup> The Lord is on my side, he will help me. Let those who hate me beware.

<sup>20</sup> Open the gates of the Temple<sup>a</sup>—I will go in and give him my thanks. <sup>21</sup> Those gates are the way into the presence of the Lord, and the godly enter there. <sup>22</sup> O Lord, thank you so much for answering my prayer and saving me.

made. We will rejoice and be glad in it. <sup>25</sup> O Lord, please help us. Save us. Give us success. <sup>26</sup> Blessed is the one who is coming, the one sent<sup>c</sup> by the Lord. We bless you from the Temple.

<sup>27,28</sup> Jehovah God is our light. I present to him my sacrifice upon the altar, for you are my God, and I shall give you this thanks and this praise. <sup>29</sup> Oh, give thanks to the Lord, for he is so good! For his lovingkindness is forever.

119 HAPPY ARE ALL who perfectly follow the laws of God. <sup>2</sup> Happy are all who search for God, and always do his will, <sup>3</sup> rejecting compromise with evil, and walking only in his paths. <sup>4</sup> You have given us your laws to obey—<sup>5</sup> oh, how I want to follow them consistently. <sup>6</sup> Then I will not be disgraced, for I will have a clean record.

<sup>7</sup> After you have corrected<sup>a</sup> me I will thank you by living as I should! <sup>8</sup> I will obey! Oh, don't forsake me and let me slip back into sin again.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>9</sup> How can a young man stay pure? By reading your Word and following its rules. <sup>10</sup> I have tried my best to find you—don't let me wander off from your instructions. <sup>11</sup> I have thought much about your words, and stored them in my heart so that they would hold me back from sin.

<sup>12</sup> Blessed Lord, teach me your rules. <sup>13</sup> I have recited your laws, <sup>14</sup> and rejoiced in them more than in riches. <sup>15</sup> I will meditate upon them and give them my full respect. <sup>16</sup> I will delight in them and not forget them.

<sup>21</sup> You rebuke those cursed proud ones who refuse your commands—<sup>22</sup> don't let them scorn me for obeying you. <sup>23</sup> For even princes sit and talk against me, but I will continue in your plans. <sup>24</sup> Your laws are both my light and my counselors.

<sup>25</sup> I am completely discouraged—I lie in the dust. Revive me by your Word. <sup>26</sup> I told you my plans and you replied. Now give me your instructions. <sup>27</sup> Make me understand what you want; for then I shall see your miracles.

<sup>28</sup> I weep with grief; my heart is heavy with sorrow; encourage and cheer me with your words. <sup>29,30</sup> Keep me far from every wrong; help me, undeserving as I am, to obey your laws, for I have chosen to do right. <sup>31</sup> I cling to your commands and follow them as closely as I can. Lord, don't let me make a mess of things. <sup>32</sup> If you will only help me to want your will, then I will follow your laws even more closely.

<sup>c</sup> Literally, "deal bountifully that I may live."

I'll wholeheartedly obey. <sup>33</sup> Make me walk along the right paths for I know how delightful they really are.

<sup>34</sup> Help me to prefer obedience to making money! <sup>37</sup> Turn me away from wanting any other<sup>d</sup> plan than yours. Revive my heart toward you. <sup>38</sup> Reassure me that your promises are for me, for I trust and revere you.

<sup>39</sup> How I dread being mocked for obeying, for your laws are right and good. <sup>40,41,42</sup> I long to obey them! Therefore in fairness renew my life, for this was your promise—yes, Lord, to save me! Now spare me by your kindness and your love. Then I will have an answer for those who taunt me, for I trust your promises.

<sup>43</sup> May I never forget your words; for they are my only hope. <sup>44,45,46</sup> Therefore I will keep on obeying you forever and forever, free within the limits of your laws. I will speak to kings about their value, and they will listen with interest and respect.

<sup>47</sup> How I love your laws! How I enjoy your commands! <sup>48</sup> "Come, come to me," I call to them, for I love them and will let them fill my life.

<sup>49,50</sup> Never forget your promises to me your servant, for they are my only hope. They give me strength in all my troubles; how they refresh and revive me! <sup>51</sup> Proud men hold me in contempt for obedience to God, but I stand unmoved. <sup>52</sup> From my earliest youth I have tried to obey you; your Word has been my comfort.

<sup>53</sup> I am very angry with those who spurn your commands. <sup>54</sup> For these laws of yours have been my source of joy and singing through all these years of my earthly pilgrimage. <sup>55</sup> I obey them even at night and keep my thoughts, O Lord, on you. <sup>56</sup> What a blessing this has been to me—to constantly obey.

<sup>57</sup> Jehovah is mine! And I promise to obey! <sup>58</sup> With all my heart I want your blessings. Be merciful just as you promised. <sup>59,60</sup> I thought about the wrong direction in which I was headed, and turned around and came running back to you. <sup>61</sup> Evil men have tried to drag me into sin, but I am firmly anchored to your laws.

<sup>71,72</sup> The punishment you gave me was the best thing that could have happened to me, for it taught me to pay attention to your laws. They are more valuable to me than millions in silver and gold!

<sup>73</sup> You made my body, Lord; now give me sense to heed your laws. <sup>74</sup> All those who fear and trust in you will welcome me because I too am trusting in your Word.

<sup>75,76,77</sup> I know, O Lord, that your decisions are right and that your punishment was right and did me good. Now let your lovingkindness comfort me, just as you promised. Surround me with your tender mercies, that I may live. For your law is my delight.

<sup>78</sup> Let the proud be disgraced, for they have cut me down with all their lies. But I will concentrate my thoughts upon your laws.

<sup>79</sup> Let all others join me, who trust and fear you, and we will discuss your laws. <sup>80</sup> Help me to love your every wish; then I will never have to be ashamed of myself.

<sup>81</sup> I faint for your salvation; but I expect your help, for you have promised it. <sup>82</sup> My eyes are straining to see your promises come true. When will you comfort me with your help? <sup>83</sup> I am shriveled like a wineskin in the smoke, exhausted with waiting. But still I cling to your laws and obey them. <sup>84</sup> How long must I wait before you punish those who persecute me? <sup>85,86</sup> These proud men who hate your truth and laws have dug deep pits for me to fall in. Their lies have brought me into deep trouble. Help me, for you love only truth. <sup>87</sup> They had almost finished me off, yet I refused to yield and disobey your laws. <sup>88</sup> In your kindness, spare my life; then I can continue to obey you.

stands firm in heaven. <sup>90,91</sup> Your faithfulness extends to every generation, like the earth you created; it endures by your decree, for everything serves your plans.

<sup>92</sup> I would have despaired and perished unless your laws had been my deepest delight. <sup>93</sup> I will never lay aside your laws, for you have used them to restore my joy and health. <sup>94</sup> I am yours! Save me! For I have tried to live according to your desires. <sup>95</sup> Though the wicked hide along the way to kill me, I will quietly keep my mind upon your promises.

<sup>105</sup> Your words are a flashlight to light the path ahead of me, and keep me from stumbling. <sup>106</sup> I've said it once and I'll say it again and again: I will obey these wonderful laws of yours.

<sup>107</sup> I am close to death at the hands of my enemies; oh, give me back my life again, just as you promised me. <sup>108</sup> Accept my grateful thanks and teach me your desires. <sup>109</sup> My life hangs in the balance, but I will not give up obedience to your laws. <sup>110</sup> The wicked have set their traps for me along your path, but I will not turn aside. <sup>111</sup> Your laws are my joyous treasure forever. <sup>112</sup> I am determined to obey you until I die.

<sup>113</sup> I hate those who are undecided whether or not to obey you; but my choice is clear—I love your law. <sup>114</sup> You are my refuge and my shield, and your promises are my only source of hope. <sup>115</sup> Begone, you evil-minded men. Don't try to stop me from obeying God's commands. <sup>116</sup> Lord, you promised to let me live! Never let it be said that God failed me. <sup>117</sup> Hold me safe above the heads of all my enemies; then I can continue to obey your laws.

<sup>118</sup> But you have rejected all who reject your laws. They are only fooling themselves. <sup>119</sup> The wicked are the scum you skim off and throw away; no wonder I love to obey your laws! <sup>120</sup> I tremble in fear of you; I fear your punishments.

<sup>132</sup> Come and have mercy on me as is your way with those who love you. <sup>133</sup> Guide me with your laws so that I will not be overcome by evil. <sup>134</sup> Rescue me from the oppression of evil men; then I can obey you. <sup>135</sup> Look down in love upon me and teach me all your laws. <sup>136</sup> I weep because your laws are disobeyed.

<sup>150</sup> Here come these lawless men to attack me; <sup>151</sup> but you are near, O Lord; all your commandments are based on truth. <sup>152</sup> I have known from earliest days that your will never changes. <sup>153</sup> Look down upon my sorrows and rescue me, for I am obeying your commands. <sup>154</sup> Yes, rescue me and give me back my life again just as you have promised. <sup>155</sup> The wicked are far from salvation for they do not care for your laws. <sup>156</sup> Lord, how great is your mercy; oh, give me back my life again.

<sup>161</sup> Great men have persecuted me, though they have no reason to, but I stand in awe of only your words. <sup>162</sup> I rejoice in your laws like one who finds a great treasure. <sup>163</sup> How I hate all falsehood but how I love your laws. <sup>164</sup> I will praise you seven times a day because of your wonderful laws.

<sup>165</sup> Those who love your laws have great peace of heart and mind and do not stumble. <sup>166</sup> I long for your salvation, Lord, and so I have obeyed your laws. <sup>167</sup> I have looked for your commandments and I love them very much; <sup>168</sup> yes, I have searched for them. You know this because everything I do is known to you.

promised. <sup>170</sup> Hear my prayers; rescue me as you said you would. <sup>171</sup> I praise you for letting me learn your laws. <sup>172</sup> I will sing about their wonder, for each of them is just. <sup>173</sup> Stand ready to help me because I have chosen to follow your will. <sup>174</sup> O Lord, I have longed for your salvation, and your law is my delight. <sup>175</sup> If you will let me live, I will praise you; let your laws assist me.

<sup>176</sup> I have wandered away like a lost sheep; come and find me for I have not turned away from your commandments.

120 IN MY TROUBLES I pled with God to help me and he did!

<sup>5,6</sup> My troubles pile high among these haters of the Lord, these men of Meshech and Kedar. I am tired of being here among these men who hate peace. <sup>7</sup> I am for peace, but they are for war, and my voice goes unheeded in their councils.

121 SHALL I LOOK to the mountain gods for help? <sup>2</sup> No! My help is from Jehovah who made the mountains! And the heavens too! <sup>3,4</sup> He will never let me stumble, slip or fall. For he is always watching, never sleeping.

your life. <sup>4</sup> He keeps his eye upon you as you come and go, and always guards you.

122 I WAS GLAD for the suggestion of going to Jerusalem, to the Temple of the Lord. <sup>2,3</sup> Now we are standing here inside the crowded city. <sup>4</sup> All Israel—Jehovah's people—have come to worship as the law requires, to thank and praise the Lord. <sup>5</sup> Look! There are the judges holding court beside the city gates, deciding all the people's arguments.

<sup>6</sup> Pray for the peace of Jerusalem. May all who love this city prosper. <sup>7</sup> O Jerusalem, may there be peace within your walls and prosperity in your palaces. <sup>8</sup> This I ask for the sake of all my brothers and my friends who live here; <sup>9</sup> and may there be peace as a protection to the Temple of the Lord.

123 O GOD ENTHRONED in heaven, I lift my eyes to you.

<sup>3,4</sup> Have mercy on us, Lord, have mercy. For we have had our fill of contempt and of the scoffing of the rich and proud.

124 IF THE LORD had not been on our side (let all Israel admit it), if the Lord had not been on our side, <sup>2,3</sup> we would have been swallowed alive by our enemies, destroyed by their anger. <sup>4,5</sup> We would have drowned beneath the flood of these men's fury and pride.

<sup>6</sup> Blessed be Jehovah who has not let them devour us. <sup>7</sup> We have escaped with our lives as a bird from a hunter's snare. The snare is broken and we are free!

125 THOSE WHO TRUST in the Lord are steady as Mount Zion, unmoved by any circumstance.

127 UNLESS THE LORD builds a house, the builders' work is useless. Unless the Lord protects a city, sentries do no good. <sup>2</sup> It is senseless for you to work so hard from early morning until late at night, fearing you will starve to death; for God wants his loved ones to get their proper rest.

128 BLESSINGS ON ALL who reverence and trust the Lord—on all who obey him!

<sup>2</sup> Their reward shall be prosperity and happiness. <sup>3</sup> Your wife shall be contented in your home. And look at all those children! There they sit around the dinner table as vigorous and healthy as young olive trees. <sup>4</sup> That is God's reward to those who reverence and trust him.

129 PERSECUTED FROM MY earliest youth (Israel is speaking), <sup>2</sup> and faced with never-ending discrimination—but not destroyed! My enemies have never been able to finish me off!

<sup>3,4</sup> Though my back is cut to ribbons with their whips, the Lord is good. For he has snapped the chains that evil men had bound me with.

be brought to ignominious defeat. <sup>6,7</sup> May they be as grass in shallow soil, turning sere and yellow when half grown, ignored by the reaper, despised by the binder. <sup>8</sup> And may those passing by refuse to bless them by saying, "Jehovah's blessings be upon you; we bless you in Jehovah's name."

130 O LORD, FROM the depths of despair I cry for your help: <sup>2</sup> "Hear me! Answer! Help me!"

<sup>3,4</sup> Lord, if you keep in mind our sins then who can ever get an answer to his prayers? But you forgive! What an awesome thing this is! <sup>5</sup> That is why I wait expectantly, trusting God to help, for he has promised. <sup>6</sup> I long for him more than sentinels long for the dawn.

<sup>7</sup> O Israel, hope in the Lord; for he is loving and kind, and comes to us with armloads of salvation. <sup>8</sup> He himself shall ransom Israel from her slavery to sin.

131 LORD, I AM not proud and haughty. I don't think myself better than others. I don't pretend to "know it all."

132 LORD, DO YOU remember that time when my<sup>a</sup> heart was so filled with turmoil? <sup>2-3</sup> I couldn't rest, I couldn't sleep, thinking how I ought to build a permanent home for the Ark<sup>b</sup> of the Lord, a Temple for the mighty one of Israel. Then I vowed that I would do it; I made a solemn promise to the Lord.

<sup>f</sup> We will clothe the priests in white, the symbol of all purity. May our nation shout for joy.

<sup>g</sup> Do not reject your servant David—the king you chose for your people. <sup>h</sup> For you promised me that my son would sit on my throne and succeed me. And surely you will never go back on a promise! <sup>i</sup> You also promised that if my descendants will obey the terms of your contract with me, then the dynasty of David shall never end.

134 OH, BLESS THE Lord, you who serve him as watchmen in the Temple every night. <sup>1</sup> Lift your hands in holiness and bless the Lord.

135 HALLELUJAH! YES, LET his people praise him as they stand in his Temple courts. <sup>1</sup> Praise the Lord because he is so good; sing to his wonderful name. <sup>2</sup> For the Lord has chosen Israel as his personal possession.

<sup>3</sup> I know the greatness of the Lord—that he is greater far than any other god. <sup>4</sup> He does whatever pleases him throughout all of heaven and earth, and in the deepest seas. <sup>5</sup> He makes mists rise throughout the earth and sends the lightning to bring down the rain; and sends the winds from his treasures. <sup>6</sup> He destroyed the eldest child in each Egyptian home, along with the firstborn of the flocks. <sup>7</sup> He did great miracles in Egypt before Pharaoh and all his people. <sup>10</sup> He smote great nations, slaying mighty kings— <sup>11</sup> Sihon, king of Amorites; and Og, the king of Bashan; and the kings of Canaan— <sup>12</sup> and gave their land as an eternal gift to his people Israel.

<sup>7</sup> O Jehovah, do not forget what these Edomites did on that day when the armies of Babylon captured Jerusalem. "Raze her to the ground!" they yelled. <sup>8</sup> O Babylon, evil beast, you shall be destroyed. Blessed is the man who destroys you as you have destroyed us. <sup>9</sup> Blessed is the man who takes your babies and smashes them against the rocks!<sup>a</sup>

138 LORD, WITH ALL my heart I thank you. I will sing your praises before the armies of angels<sup>a</sup> in heaven. <sup>2</sup> I face your Temple as

I worship, giving thanks to you for all your lovingkindness and your faithfulness, for your promises are backed by all the honor of your name.<sup>b</sup> <sup>3</sup> When I pray, you answer me, and encourage me by giving me the strength I need.

<sup>4</sup> Every king in all the earth shall give you thanks, O Lord, for all of them shall hear your voice. <sup>5</sup> Yes, they shall sing about Jehovah's glorious ways, for his glory is very great. <sup>6</sup> Yet though he is so great, he respects the humble, but proud men must keep their distance. <sup>7</sup> Though I am surrounded by troubles, you will bring me safely through them. You will clench your fist against my angry enemies! Your power will save me. <sup>8</sup> The Lord will work out his plans for my life—for your lovingkindness, Lord, continues forever. Don't abandon me—for you made me.

139 O LORD, YOU have examined my heart and know everything about me. <sup>2</sup> You know when I sit or stand. When far away you know my every thought. <sup>3</sup> You chart the path ahead of me, and tell me where to stop and rest. Every moment, you know where I am. <sup>4</sup> You know what I am going to say before I even say it. <sup>5</sup> You both precede and follow me, and place your hand of blessing on my head.

<sup>6</sup> This is too glorious, too wonderful to believe! <sup>7</sup> I can never be lost to your Spirit! I can never get away from my God! <sup>8</sup> If I go up to heaven, you are there; if I go down to the place of the dead, you are there. <sup>9</sup> If I ride the morning winds to the farthest oceans, <sup>10</sup> even there your hand will guide me, your strength will support me. <sup>11</sup> If I try to hide in the darkness, the night becomes light around me. <sup>12</sup> For even darkness cannot hide from God; to you the night shines as bright as day. Darkness and light are both alike to you.

<sup>14</sup> Thank you for making me so wonderfully complex! It is amazing to think about. Your workmanship is marvelous—and how well I know it. <sup>15</sup> You were there while I was being formed in utter seclusion! <sup>16</sup> You saw me before I was born and scheduled each day of my life before I began to breathe. Every day was recorded in your Book!

<sup>17,18</sup> How precious it is, Lord, to realize that you are thinking about me constantly! I can't even count how many times a day your thoughts turn towards me.<sup>a</sup> And when I waken in the morning, you are still thinking of me!

makes you sad, and lead me along the path of everlasting life.

<sup>6,7,8</sup> O Jehovah, my Lord and Savior, my God and my shield—hear me as I pray! Don't let these wicked men succeed; don't let them prosper and be proud. <sup>9</sup> Let their plots boomerang! Let them be destroyed by the very evil they have planned for me. <sup>10</sup> Let burning coals fall down upon their heads, or throw them into the fire, or into deep pits from which they can't escape.

<sup>12</sup> But the Lord will surely help those they persecute; he will maintain the rights of the poor. <sup>13</sup> Surely the godly are thanking you, for they shall live in your presence.

141 QUICK, LORD, ANSWER me—for I have prayed. Listen when I cry to you for help! <sup>2</sup> Regard my prayer as my evening sacrifice and as incense wafting up to you.

<sup>3</sup> Help me, Lord, to keep my mouth shut and my lips sealed.

<sup>1</sup> Take away my lust for evil things; don't let me want to be with sinners, doing what they do, sharing their dainties. <sup>2</sup> Let the godly smite me! It will be a kindness! If they reprove me, it is medicine! Don't let me refuse it. But I am in constant prayer against the wicked and their deeds. <sup>3</sup> When their leaders are condemned, and their bones are strewn across the ground,<sup>a</sup> then these men will finally listen to me and know that I am trying to help them.

142 HOW I PLEAD with God, how I implore his mercy, pouring out my troubles before him. <sup>1</sup> For I am overwhelmed and desperate, and you alone know which way I ought to turn to miss the traps my enemies have set for me. <sup>2</sup> (There's one—just over there to the right!) No one gives me a passing thought. No one will help me; no one cares a bit what happens to me. <sup>3</sup> Then I prayed to Jehovah. "Lord," I pled, "you are my only place of refuge. Only you can keep me safe.

<sup>4</sup> "Hear my cry, for I am very low. Rescue me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me. <sup>5</sup> Bring me out of prison, so that I can thank you.

"The godly will rejoice with me for all your help."

143 HEAR MY PRAYER, O Lord; answer my plea, because you are faithful to your promises.<sup>a</sup> <sup>1</sup> Don't bring me to trial! For as compared with you, no one is perfect.

<sup>2</sup> My enemies chased and caught me. They have knocked me to the ground. They force me to live in the darkness like those in the grave. <sup>3</sup> I am losing all hope; I am paralyzed with fear.

<sup>4</sup> I remember the glorious miracles you did in days of long ago. <sup>5</sup> I reach out for you. I thirst for you as parched land thirsts for rain. <sup>7</sup> Come quickly, Lord, and answer me, for my depression deepens; don't turn away from me or I shall die. <sup>8</sup> Let me see your kindness to me in the morning, for I am trusting you. Show me where to walk, for my prayer is sincere. <sup>9</sup> Save me from my enemies, O Lord, I run to you to hide me. <sup>10</sup> Help me to do your will, for you are my God. Lead me in good paths, for your Spirit is good.

<sup>11</sup> Lord, saving me will bring glory to your name. Bring me out of all this trouble because you are true to your promises. <sup>12</sup> And because you are loving and kind to me, cut off all my enemies and destroy those who are trying to harm me; for I am your servant.

144 BLESS THE LORD who is my immovable Rock. He gives me strength and skill in battle. <sup>2</sup> He is always kind and loving to me; he is my fortress, my tower of strength and safety, my deliverer. He stands before me as a shield. He subdues my people under me.

Sons vigorous and tall as growing plants.

Daughters of graceful beauty like the pillars of a palace wall.

Barns full to the brim with crops of every kind.

Sheep by the thousands out in our fields.

Oxen loaded down with produce.

No enemy attacking the walls, but peace everywhere.

No crime in our streets.

Yes, happy are those whose God is Jehovah.

145 I WILL PRAISE you, my God and King, and bless your name each day and forever.

<sup>8</sup> Jehovah is kind and merciful, slow to get angry, full of love. <sup>9</sup> He is good to everyone; and his compassion is intertwined with everything he does. <sup>10</sup> All living things shall thank you, Lord, and your people will bless you. <sup>11</sup> They will talk together about the glory of your kingdom and mention examples of your power. <sup>12</sup> They will tell about your miracles and about the majesty and glory of your reign. <sup>13</sup> For your kingdom never ends. You rule generation after generation.

those who reverence and trust him; he hears their cries for help and rescues them.<sup>20</sup> He protects all those who love him, but destroys the wicked.

146 PRAISE THE LORD! Yes, really praise him! <sup>2</sup> I will praise him as long as I live, yes, even with my dying breath.

<sup>19</sup> He has made known his laws and ceremonies of worship to Israel— <sup>20</sup> something he has not done with any other nation; they have not known his commands.

Hallelujah! Yes, praise the Lord!

<sup>5</sup> Let everything he has made give praise to him. For he issued his command, and they came into being; <sup>6</sup> he established them forever and forever. His orders will never be revoked.

Hallelujah! Yes, praise the Lord!

He is the glory of his people. Hallelujah! Praise him!

150 HALLELUJAH! YES, PRAISE the Lord!

Praise him in his Temple, and in the heavens he made with mighty power.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> Praise him for his mighty works. Praise his unequaled greatness.

PROVERBS

1 THESE ARE THE proverbs of King Solomon of Israel, David's son:

<sup>2</sup> He wrote them to teach his people how to live—how to act in every circumstance, <sup>3</sup> for he wanted them to be understanding, just and fair in everything they did. <sup>4</sup> “I want to make the simple-minded wise!” he said. <sup>5</sup> “I want to warn young men about some problems they will face.” <sup>6</sup> I want those already wise to become the wiser and become leaders by exploring the depths of meaning in these nuggets of truth.”

Only fools refuse to be taught. Listen to your father and mother. What you learn from them will stand you in good stead; it will gain you many honors.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>20</sup> Wisdom shouts in the streets for a hearing. <sup>21</sup> She calls out to the crowds along Main Street, and to the judges in their courts, and to everyone in all the land: <sup>22</sup> “You simpletons!” she cries. “How long will you go on being fools? How long will you scoff at wisdom and fight the facts?” <sup>23</sup> Come here and listen to me! I’ll pour out the spirit of wisdom upon you; and make you wise.

<sup>29</sup> “For you closed your eyes to the facts and did not choose to reverence and trust the Lord, <sup>30</sup> and you turned your back on me, spurning my advice. <sup>31</sup> That is why you must eat the bitter fruit of having your own way, and experience the full terrors of the pathway you have chosen. <sup>32</sup> For you turned away from me—to death; your own complacency will kill you. Fools! <sup>33</sup> But all who listen to me shall live in peace and safety, unafraid.”

2 EVERY YOUNG MAN who listens to me and obeys my instructions will be given wisdom and good sense.<sup>3,4,5</sup> Yes, if you want better insight and discernment, and are searching for them as you would for lost money or hidden treasure, then wisdom will be given you, and knowledge of God himself; you will soon learn the importance of reverence for the Lord and of trusting him.

3 MY SON, NEVER forget the things I've taught you. If you want a long and satisfying life, closely follow my instructions.<sup>1</sup> Never forget to be truthful and kind. Hold these virtues tightly. Write them deep within your heart.<sup>4,5</sup> If you want favor with both God and man, and a reputation for good judgment and common sense, then trust the Lord completely; don't ever trust yourself.<sup>6</sup> In everything you do, put God first, and he will direct you and crown your efforts with success.

<sup>7,8</sup> Don't be conceited, sure of your own wisdom. Instead, trust and reverence the Lord, and turn your back on evil; when you do that, then you will be given renewed health and vitality.

<sup>9,10</sup> Honor the Lord by giving him the first part of all your income, and he will fill your barns with wheat and barley and overflow your wine vats with the finest wines.

<sup>11,12</sup> Young man, do not resent it when God chastens and corrects you, for his punishment is proof of his love. Just as a father punishes a son he delights in to make him better; so the Lord corrects you.

Nothing else compares with it.

A long, good life

Riches

Honor

Pleasure

Peace

<sup>18</sup> Wisdom is a tree of life to those who eat her fruit; happy is the man who keeps on eating it.

mockers, but helps the humble. <sup>35</sup> The wise are promoted to honor, but fools are promoted to shame!

4 YOUNG MEN, LISTEN to me as you would to your father. Listen, and grow wise, for I speak the truth—don't turn away. <sup>1</sup> For I, too, was once a son, tenderly loved by my mother as an only child, and the companion of my father. <sup>2</sup> He told me never to forget his words. "If you follow them," he said, "you will have a long and happy life. <sup>3</sup> Learn to be wise," he said, "and develop good judgment and common sense! I cannot overemphasize this point."<sup>a</sup> <sup>4</sup> Cling to wisdom—she will protect you. Love her—she will guard you.

<sup>5</sup> Determination to be wise is the first step toward becoming wise! And with your wisdom, develop common sense and good judgment. <sup>6,9</sup> If you exalt wisdom, she will exalt you. Hold her fast and she will lead you to great honor; she will place a beautiful crown upon your head. <sup>10</sup> My son, listen to me and do as I say, and you will have a long, good life.

<sup>11</sup> I would have you learn this great fact: that a life of doing right is the wisest life there is. <sup>12</sup> If you live that kind of life, you'll not limp or stumble as you run. <sup>13</sup> Carry out my instructions; don't forget them, for they will lead you to real living.

rest unless they cause someone to stumble and fall. <sup>17</sup> They eat and drink wickedness and violence!

<sup>22</sup> The wicked man is doomed by his own sins; they are ropes that catch and hold him. <sup>23</sup> He shall die because he will not listen to the truth; he has let himself be led away into incredible folly.

6 SON, IF YOU endorse a note for someone you hardly know, guaranteeing his debt, you are in serious trouble. <sup>2</sup> You may have trapped yourself by your agreement. <sup>1</sup> Quick! Get out of it if you possibly can! Swallow your pride; don't let embarrassment stand in the way. Go and beg to have your name erased. <sup>4</sup> Don't put it off. Do it now. Don't rest until you do. <sup>5</sup> If you can get out of this trap you have saved yourself like a deer that escapes from a hunter, or a bird from the net.

<sup>6</sup> Take a lesson from the ants, you lazy fellow. Learn from their ways and be wise! <sup>7</sup> For though they have no king to make them work, yet they labor hard all summer, gathering food for the winter. <sup>9</sup> But you—all you do is sleep. When will you wake up? <sup>10</sup> "Let me sleep a little longer!" Sure, just a little more! <sup>11</sup> And as you sleep, poverty creeps upon you like a robber and destroys you; want attacks you in full armor.

<sup>12,13</sup> Let me describe for you a worthless and a wicked man; first, he is a constant liar; he signals his true intentions to his friends with eyes and feet and fingers. <sup>14</sup> Next, his heart is full of rebellion. And he spends his time thinking of all the evil he can do, and stirring up discontent. <sup>15</sup> But he will be destroyed suddenly, broken beyond hope of healing.

Haughtiness Lying Murdering Plotting evil
Eagerness to do wrong
A false witness
Sowing discord among brothers

structions around your finger so you won't forget. Take to heart all of their advice. <sup>22</sup> Every day and all night long their counsel will lead you and save you from harm; when you wake up in the morning, let their instructions guide you into the new day. <sup>23</sup> For their advice is a beam of light directed into the dark corners of your mind to warn you of danger and to give you a good life. <sup>24</sup> Their counsel will keep you far away from prostitutes with all their flatteries.

7 FOLLOW MY ADVICE, my son; always keep it in mind and stick to it. <sup>2</sup> Obey me and live! Guard my words as your most precious possession. <sup>3</sup> Write them down,<sup>a</sup> and also keep them deep within your heart. <sup>4</sup> Love wisdom like a sweetheart; make her a beloved member of your family. <sup>5</sup> Let her hold you back from visiting a prostitute, from listening to her flattery.

fate awaiting it there.

8 CAN'T YOU HEAR the voice of wisdom? She is standing at the city gates and at every fork in the road, and at the door of every house. Listen to what she says: <sup>4,5</sup> "Listen, men!" she calls. "How foolish and naive you are! Let me give you understanding. O foolish ones, let me show you common sense!" <sup>6,7</sup> Listen to me! For I have important information for you. Everything I say is right and true, for I hate lies and every kind of deception. <sup>8</sup> My advice is wholesome and good. There is nothing of evil in it. <sup>9</sup> My words are plain and clear to anyone with half a mind—if it is only open! <sup>10</sup> My instruction is far more valuable than silver or gold."

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "Sacrifices of peace offerings were due from me; this day have I paid my vows." If she meant this literally, she was telling him that she had plenty of food on hand, left from her sacrifice at the Temple.

<sup>27,28,29</sup> "I was there when he established the heavens and formed the great springs in the depths of the oceans. I was there when he set the limits of the seas and gave them his instructions not to spread beyond their boundaries. I was there when he made the blueprint for the earth and oceans. <sup>30</sup> I was always at his side like a little child.<sup>a</sup> I was his constant delight, laughing and playing in his presence. <sup>31</sup> And how happy I was with what he created—his wide world and all his family of mankind! <sup>32</sup> And so, young men, listen to me, for how happy are all who follow my instructions.

9 WISDOM HAS BUILT a palace supported on seven pillars, <sup>2</sup> and has prepared a great banquet, and mixed the wines, <sup>3</sup> and sent out her maidens inviting all to come. She calls from the busiest intersections in the city, <sup>4</sup> "Come, you simple ones without good judgment; <sup>5</sup> come to wisdom's banquet and drink the wines that I have mixed. <sup>6</sup> Leave behind your foolishness and begin to live; learn how to be wise."

<sup>7,8</sup> If you rebuke a mocker, you will only get a smart retort; yes, he will snarl at you. So don't bother with him; he will only hate you for trying to help him. But a wise man, when rebuked, will love you all the more. <sup>9</sup> Teach a wise man, and he will be the wiser; teach a good man, and he will learn more. <sup>10</sup> For the reverence and fear of God are basic to all wisdom. Knowing God results in every other kind of understanding. <sup>11</sup> "I, Wisdom, will make the hours of your day more profitable and the years of your life more fruitful." <sup>12</sup> Wisdom is its own reward, and if you scorn her, you hurt only yourself.

and never has enough of lust and shame. <sup>14</sup> She sits at the door of her house or stands at the street corners of the city, <sup>15</sup> whispering to men going by, and to those minding their own business. <sup>16</sup> "Come home with me," she urges simpletons. <sup>17</sup> "Stolen melons<sup>a</sup> are the sweetest; stolen apples<sup>b</sup> taste the best!" <sup>18</sup> But they don't realize that her former guests are now citizens of hell.

These are the proverbs of Solomon:

10 HAPPY IS THE man with a level-headed son; sad the mother of a rebel.

<sup>21</sup> You can be very sure that the evil man will not go unpunished forever. And you can also be very sure that God will rescue the children of the godly.

<sup>31,32</sup> If you profit from constructive criticism you will be elected to the wise men's hall of fame. But to reject criticism is to harm yourself and your own best interests.

<sup>33</sup> Humility and reverence for the Lord will make you both wise and honored.

16 WE CAN MAKE our plans, but the final outcome is in God's

<sup>32</sup> It is better to be slow-tempered than famous; it is better to have self-control than to control an

17 A DRY CRUST eaten in peace is better than steak every day along with argument and strife.

<sup>26</sup> How short-sighted to fine the godly for being good! And to punish nobles for being honest!

<sup>27,28</sup> The man of few words and settled mind is wise; therefore, even a fool is thought to be wise when he is silent. It pays him to keep his mouth shut.

18 THE SELFISH MAN quarrels against every sound principle of conduct by demanding his own way.

<sup>8</sup> He who loves wisdom loves his own best interest and will be a success.

20 WINE GIVES FALSE courage; hard liquor leads to brawls; what fools men are to let it master them, making them reel drunkenly down the street!

<sup>13</sup> If you love sleep, you will end in poverty. Stay awake, work hard, and there will be plenty to eat!

thing that happens along the way?

21 JUST AS WATER is turned into irrigation ditches, so the Lord directs the king's thoughts. He turns them wherever he wants to.

22 IF YOU MUST choose, take a good name rather than great riches; for to be held in loving esteem is better than silver and gold.

you will be rid of tension, fighting and quarrels.

<sup>20,21</sup> In the past, haven't I been right? Then believe what I am telling you now, and share it with others.

man? He shall be successful and stand before kings!

23 WHEN DINING WITH a rich man,<sup>a</sup> be on your guard and don't stuff yourself, though it all tastes so good; for he is trying to bribe you, and no good is going to come of his invitation.

<sup>43</sup> Don't weary yourself trying to get rich. Why waste your time? For riches can disappear as though they had the wings of a bird!

<sup>6,7,8</sup> Don't associate with evil men; don't long for their favors and gifts. Their kindness is a trick; they want to use you as their pawn. The delicious food they serve will turn sour in your stomach and you will vomit it, and have to take back your words of appreciation for their "kindness."

<sup>13,14</sup> Don't fail to correct your children; discipline won't hurt them! They won't die if you use a stick on them! Punishment will keep them out of hell.

<sup>15,16</sup> My son, how I will rejoice if you become a man of common sense. Yes, my heart will thrill to your thoughtful, wise words.

<sup>17,18</sup> Don't envy evil men but continue to reverence the Lord all the time, for surely you have a wonderful future ahead of you. There is hope for you yet!

Like a robber, she waits for her victims as one after another become unfaithful to their wives.

<sup>11,12</sup> Rescue those who are unjustly sentenced to death; don't stand back and let them die. Don't try to disclaim responsibility by saying you didn't know about it. For God, who knows all hearts, knows yours, and he knows you knew! And he will reward everyone according to his deeds.

<sup>13,14</sup> My son, honey whets the appetite, and so does wisdom! When you enjoy becoming wise, there is hope for you! A bright future lies ahead!

<sup>15,16</sup> O evil man, leave the upright man alone, and quit trying to cheat him out of his rights. Don't you know that this good man, though you trip him up seven times; will each time rise again? But one calamity is enough to lay you low.

<sup>21,22</sup> My son, watch your step before the Lord and the king, and don't associate with radicals. For you will go down with them to sudden disaster, and who knows where it all will end?

Here are some additional proverbs:

<sup>28,29</sup> Don't testify spitefully against an innocent neighbor. Why lie about him? Don't say, "Now I can pay him back for all his meanness to me!"

<sup>30,31</sup> I walked by the field of a certain lazy fellow and saw that it was overgrown with thorns, and covered with weeds; and its walls were broken down. <sup>32,33</sup> Then, as I looked, I learned this lesson:

"A little extra sleep,
A little more slumber,
A little folding of the hands to rest"

<sup>34</sup> means that poverty will break in upon you suddenly like a robber, and violently like a bandit.

<sup>2,3</sup> It is God's privilege to conceal things, and the king's privilege to discover and invent. You cannot understand the height of heaven, the size of the earth, or all that goes on in the king's mind!

<sup>4,5</sup> When you remove dross from silver, you have sterling ready for the silversmith. When you remove corrupt men from the king's court, his reign will be just and fair.

<sup>6,7</sup> Don't demand an audience with the king as though you were some powerful prince. It is better to wait for an invitation rather than to be sent back to the end of the line, publicly disgraced!

<sup>8,9,10</sup> Don't be hot-headed and rush to court! You may start something you can't finish and go down before your neighbor in shameful defeat. So discuss the matter with him privately. Don't tell anyone else, lest he accuse you of slander and you can't withdraw what you said.

<sup>21,22</sup> If your enemy is hungry, give him food! If he is thirsty, give him something to drink! This will make him feel ashamed of himself, and God will reward you.

<sup>27</sup> Just as it is harmful to eat too much honey, so also it is bad for men to think about all the honors they deserve!

<sup>9</sup> A rebel will misapply an illustration so that its point will no more be felt than a thorn in the hand of a drunkard.

own opinion he is smarter than seven wise men.

<sup>24,25,26</sup> A man with hate in his heart may sound pleasant enough, but don't believe him; for he is cursing you in his heart. Though he pretends to be so kind, his hatred will finally come to light for all to see.

<sup>27</sup> The man who sets a trap for others will get caught in it himself. Roll a boulder down on someone, and it will roll back and crush you.

<sup>10</sup> Never abandon a friend—either yours or your father's. Then you won't need to go to a distant relative for help in your time of need.

<sup>11</sup> My son, how happy I will be if you turn out to be sensible! It will be a public honor to me.

<sup>14</sup> If you shout a pleasant greeting to a friend too early in the morning, he will count it as a curse!

<sup>27</sup> If you give to the poor, your needs will be supplied! But a curse upon those who close their eyes to poverty.

29 THE MAN WHO is often reproved but refuses to accept criticism will suddenly be broken and never have another chance.

<sup>18</sup> Where there is ignorance of God, the people run wild; but what a wonderful thing it is for a nation to know and keep his laws!

30 These are the messages of Agur, son of Jakeh, from Massa, addressed to Ithiel and Ucal:

<sup>4</sup> Every word of God proves true. He defends all who come to him for protection. <sup>5</sup> Do not add to his words, lest he rebuke you, and you be found a liar.

<sup>6</sup> O God, I beg two favors from you before I die: <sup>7</sup> First, help me never to tell a lie. Second, give me neither poverty nor riches! Give me just enough to satisfy my needs! <sup>8</sup> For if I grow rich, I may become content without God. And if I am too poor, I may steal, and thus insult God's holy name.

dainful. They devour the poor with teeth as sharp as knives!

<sup>15,16</sup> There are two things never satisfied, like a leech forever craving more: no, three things! no, four!

Hell

The barren womb

A barren desert

Fire

<sup>17</sup> A man who mocks his father and despises his mother shall have his eye plucked out by ravens and eaten by vultures.

How an eagle glides through the sky.

How a serpent crawls upon a rock.

How a ship finds its way across the heaving ocean.

The growth of love between a man and a girl.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>20</sup> There is another thing too: how a prostitute can sin and then say, "What's wrong with that?"

<sup>21,22,23</sup> There are three things that make the earth tremble—no, four it cannot stand:

A slave who becomes a king.

A rebel who prospers.

A bitter woman when she finally marries.

A servant girl who marries her mistress' husband.<sup>c</sup>

Ants: they aren't strong, but store up food for the winter.

Cliff badgers: delicate little animals who protect themselves by living among the rocks.

The locusts: though they have no leader, they stay together in swarms.

The lizards: they are easy to catch and kill, yet are found even in king's palaces!

The lion, king of the animals.

He won't turn aside for anyone.

The peacock.

The he-goat.

A king as he leads his army.

<sup>19,20</sup> She sews for the poor, and generously gives to the needy. <sup>21</sup> She has no fear of winter for her household, for she has made warm clothes for all of them. <sup>22</sup> She also uphollsters with finest tapestry; her own clothing is beautifully made—a purple gown of pure linen. <sup>23</sup> Her husband is well known, for he sits in the council chamber with the other civic leaders. <sup>24</sup> She makes belted linen garments to sell to the merchants.

ECCLESIASTES

Generations come and go but it makes no difference.<sup>b</sup> The sun rises and sets and hurries around to rise again. The wind blows south and north, here and there, twisting back and forth, getting nowhere.<sup>c</sup> The rivers run into the sea but the sea is never full, and the water returns again to the rivers, and flows again to the sea . . . <sup>8-11</sup> everything is unutterably weary and tiresome. No matter how much we see, we are never satisfied; no matter how much we hear, we are not content.

History merely repeats itself. Nothing is truly new; it has all been done or said before. What can you point to that is new? How do you know it didn't exist long ages ago? We don't remember what happened in those former times, and in the future generations no one will remember what we have done back here.

<sup>12-13</sup> I, the Preacher, was king of Israel, living in Jerusalem. And I applied myself to search for understanding about everything in the universe. I discovered that the lot of man, which God has dealt to him, is not a happy one. It is all foolishness, chasing the wind. What is wrong cannot be righted; it is water over the dam; and there is no use thinking of what might have been.

<sup>14,17,18</sup> I said to myself, "Look, I am better educated than any of the kings before me in Jerusalem. I have greater wisdom and knowledge."

So I worked hard to be wise instead of foolish<sup>d</sup>—but now I realize that even this was like chasing the wind. For the more my wisdom, the more my grief; to increase knowledge only increases distress.

2 I SAID TO myself, "Come now, be merry; enjoy yourself to the full." But I found that this, too, was futile. For it is silly to be laughing all the time; what good does it do?

<sup>3</sup> So, after a lot of thinking, I decided to try the road of drink, while still holding steadily to my course of seeking wisdom.

Next I changed my course again and followed the path of folly, so that I could experience the only happiness most men have throughout their lives.

<sup>4,5</sup> Then I tried to find fulfillment by inaugurating a great public works program: homes, vineyards, gardens, parks and orchards for myself, and reservoirs to hold the water to irrigate my plantations.

<sup>7,8</sup> Next I bought slaves, both men and women, and others were born within my household. I also bred great herds and flocks, more than any of the kings before me. I collected silver and gold as taxes from many kings and provinces.

In the cultural arts, I organized men's and women's choirs and orchestras.

And then there were my many beautiful concubines.

<sup>9</sup> So I became greater than any of the kings in Jerusalem before me, and with it all I remained clear-eyed, so that I could evaluate all these things. <sup>10</sup> Anything I wanted, I took, and did not restrain myself from any joy. I even found great pleasure in hard work. This pleasure was, indeed, my only reward for all my labors.

<sup>11</sup> But as I looked at everything I had tried, it was all so useless, a chasing of the wind, and there was nothing really worthwhile anywhere. <sup>12</sup> Now I began a study of the comparative virtues of wisdom and folly, and anyone else would come to the same conclusion<sup>a</sup> I did—<sup>11,14</sup> that wisdom is of more value than foolishness, just as light is better than darkness; for the wise man sees, while the fool is blind. And yet I noticed that there was one thing that happened to wise and foolish alike—<sup>13</sup> just as the fool will die, so will I. So of what value is all my wisdom? Then I realized that even wisdom is futile. <sup>16</sup> For the wise and fool both die, and in the days to come both will be long forgotten. <sup>17</sup> So now I hate life because it is all so irrational; all is foolishness, chasing the wind.

<sup>18</sup> And I am disgusted about this, that I must leave the fruits of all my hard work to others. <sup>19</sup> And who can tell whether my son will be a wise man or a fool? And yet all I have will be given to him—how discouraging!

<sup>20-23</sup> So I turned in despair from hard work as the answer to my search for satisfaction. For though I spend my life searching for wisdom, knowledge, and skill, I must leave all of it to someone who hasn't done a day's work in his life; he inherits all my efforts, free of charge. This is not only foolish, but unfair. So what does a man get for all his hard work? Days full of sorrow and grief, and restless, bitter nights. It is all utterly ridiculous.

<sup>24,25,26</sup> So I decided that there was nothing better for a man to do than to enjoy his food and drink, and his job. Then I realized that even this pleasure is from the hand of God.

For who can eat or enjoy apart from him? For God gives those who please him wisdom, knowledge, and joy; but if a sinner becomes wealthy, God takes the wealth away from him and gives it to those who please him. So here, too, we see an example of foolishly chasing the wind.

3 THERE IS A right time for everything:

- <sup>2</sup> A time to be born,
- A time to die;
- A time to plant;
- A time to harvest;
- <sup>3</sup> A time to kill;
- A time to heal;
- A time to destroy;
- A time to rebuild;
- <sup>4</sup> A time to cry;
- A time to laugh;
- A time to grieve;
- A time to dance;
- <sup>5</sup> A time for scattering stones;
- A time for gathering stones;
- A time to hug;
- A time not to hug;
- <sup>6</sup> A time to find;
- A time to lose;
- A time for keeping;
- A time for throwing away;
- <sup>7</sup> A time to tear;
- A time to repair;
- A time to be quiet;
- A time to speak up;
- <sup>8</sup> A time for loving;
- A time for hating;
- A time for war;
- A time for peace.

to mankind. <sup>11</sup> Everything is appropriate in its own time. But though God has planted eternity in the hearts of men, even so, man cannot see the whole scope of God's work from beginning to end. <sup>12</sup> So I conclude that, first, there is nothing better for a man than to be happy and to enjoy himself as long as he can; <sup>13</sup> and second, that he should eat and drink and enjoy the fruits of his labors, for these are gifts from God.

<sup>15</sup> Whatever is, has been long ago; and whatever is going to be has been before; God brings to pass again what was in the distant past and disappeared.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Moreover, I notice that throughout the earth justice is giving way to crime and even the police courts are corrupt. <sup>17</sup> I said to myself, "In due season God will judge everything man does, both good and bad."

<sup>18</sup> And then I realized that God is letting the world go on its sinful way so that he can test mankind, and so that men themselves will see that they are no better than beasts.

<sup>19</sup> For men and animals both breathe the same air, and both die. So mankind has no real advantage over the beasts; what an absurdity!

<sup>20</sup> All go to one place—the dust from which they came and to which they must return. <sup>21</sup> For who can prove that the spirit of man goes upward and the spirit of animals goes downward into dust? <sup>22</sup> So I saw that there is nothing better for men than that they should be happy in their work, for that is what they are here for, and no one can bring them back to life to enjoy what will be in the future, so let them enjoy it now.

4 NEXT I OBSERVED all the oppression and sadness throughout the earth—the tears of the oppressed, and no one helping them, while on the side of their oppressors were powerful allies. <sup>2</sup> So I felt that the dead were better off than the living. <sup>3</sup> And most fortunate of all are those who have never been born, and have never seen all the evil and crime throughout the earth.

<sup>4</sup> Then I observed that the basic motive for success is the driving force of envy and jealousy! But this, too, is foolishness, chasing the wind. <sup>5,6</sup> The fool won't work and almost starves, but feels that it is better to be lazy and barely get by, than to work hard when, in the long run, it is all so futile.

<sup>7</sup> I also observed another piece of foolishness around the earth. <sup>8</sup> This is the case of a man who is quite alone, without a son or brother, yet he works hard to keep gaining more riches, and to whom will he leave it all? And why is he giving up so much now? It is all so pointless and depressing.

<sup>9</sup> Two can accomplish more than twice as much as one, for the results can be much better. <sup>10</sup> If one falls, the other pulls him up; but if a man falls when he is alone, he's in trou-

<sup>11</sup> Also, on a cold night, two under the same blanket gain warmth from each other, but how can one be warm alone? <sup>12</sup> And one standing alone can be attacked and defeated, but two can stand back-to-back and conquer; three is even better, for a triple-braided cord is not easily broken.

5 AS YOU ENTER the Temple, keep your ears open and your mouth shut! Don't be a fool who doesn't even realize it is sinful to make rash promises to God, for he is in heaven and you are only here on earth, so let your words be few. Just as being too busy gives you nightmares, so being a fool makes you a blabbermouth. <sup>4</sup> So when you talk to God and vow to him that you will do something, don't delay in doing it, for God has no pleasure in fools. Keep your promise to him. <sup>5</sup> It is far better not to say you'll do something than to say you will and then not do it. <sup>6,7</sup> In that case, your mouth is making you sin. Don't try to defend yourself by telling the messenger from God that it was all a mistake [to make the vow<sup>a</sup>]. That would make God very angry; and he might<sup>a</sup> destroy your prosperity. Dreaming instead of doing is foolishness, and there is ruin in a flood of empty words; fear God instead.

<sup>8</sup> If you see some poor man being oppressed by the rich, with miscarriage of justice anywhere throughout the land, don't be surprised! For every official is under orders from higher up, and the higher officials look up to their superiors. And so the matter is lost in red tape and bureaucracy.<sup>b</sup> <sup>9</sup> And over them all is the king. Oh, for a king who is devoted to his country! Only he can bring order from this chaos.

rest of his life he is under a cloud—gloomy, discouraged, frustrated, and angry.

<sup>18</sup> Well, one thing, at least, is good: it is for a man to eat well, drink a good glass of wine, accept his position in life, and enjoy his work whatever his job may be, for however long the Lord may let him live. <sup>19,20</sup> And, of course, it is very good if a man has received wealth from the Lord, and the good health to enjoy it. To enjoy your work and to accept your lot in life—that is indeed a gift from God. The person who does that will not need to look back with sorrow on his past, for God gives him joy.

6 YES, BUT THERE is a very serious evil which I have seen everywhere—<sup>2</sup> God has given to some men very great wealth and honor, so that they can have everything they want, but he doesn't give them the health to enjoy it, and they die and others get it all! This is absurd, a hollow mockery, and a serious fault.

spend their lives scratching for food, and never seem to get enough. Both have the same problem, yet the poor man who is wise lives a far better life. <sup>9</sup> A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush; mere dreaming of nice things is foolish; it's chasing the wind.

<sup>11</sup> The more words you speak, the less they mean, so why bother to speak at all?

<sup>12</sup> In these few days of our empty lifetimes, who can say how one's days can best be spent? Who can know what will prove best for the future after he is gone? For who knows the future?

7 A GOOD REPUTATION is more valuable than the most expensive perfume.

The day one dies is better than the day he is born! <sup>2</sup> It is better to spend your time at funerals than at festivals. For you are going to die and it is a good thing to think about it while there is still time. <sup>3</sup> Sorrow is better than laughter, for sadness has a refining influence on us. <sup>4</sup> Yes, a wise man thinks much of death, while the fool thinks only of having a good time now.

ing! Patience is better than pride!<sup>9</sup> Don't be quick-tempered—that is being a fool.

<sup>13</sup> See the way God does things and fall into line. Don't fight the facts of nature. <sup>14</sup> Enjoy prosperity whenever you can, and when hard times strike, realize that God gives one as well as the other—so that everyone will realize that nothing is certain in this life.

<sup>15,16,17</sup> In this silly life I have seen everything, including the fact that some of the good die young and some of the wicked live on and on. So don't be too good or too wise! Why destroy yourself? On the other hand, don't be too wicked either—don't be a fool! Why should you die before your time?

searched everywhere, determined to find wisdom and the reason for things, and to prove to myself the wickedness of folly, and that foolishness is madness.

<sup>27,28</sup> This is my conclusion, says the Preacher. Step by step I came to this result after researching in every direction: One tenth of one per cent of the men I interviewed could be said to be wise, but not one woman!

<sup>29</sup> And I found that though God has made men upright, each has turned away to follow his own downward road.

8 HOW WONDERFUL TO be wise, to understand things, to be able to analyze them and interpret them. Wisdom lights up a man's face, softening its hardness.

power to prevent his day of death, for there is no discharge from that obligation and that dark battle. Certainly a man's wickedness is not going to help him then.

<sup>9,10</sup> I have thought deeply about all that goes on here in the world, where people have the power of injuring each other. I have seen wicked men buried and as their friends returned from the cemetery, having forgotten all the dead man's evil deeds, these men were praised in the very city where they had committed their many crimes! How odd! <sup>11</sup> Because God does not punish sinners instantly, people feel it is safe to do wrong. <sup>12</sup> But though a man sins a hundred times and still lives, I know very well that those who fear God will be better off, <sup>13</sup> unlike the wicked, who will not live long, good lives—their days shall pass away as quickly as shadows because they don't fear God.

<sup>14</sup> There is a strange thing happening here upon the earth: Providence seems to treat some good men as though they were wicked, and some wicked men as though they were good. This is all very vexing and troublesome!

<sup>15</sup> Then I decided to spend my time having fun, because I felt that there was nothing better in all the earth than that a man should eat, drink, and be merry, with the hope that this happiness would stick with him in all the hard work which God gives to mankind everywhere.

<sup>16,17</sup> In my search for wisdom I observed all that was going on everywhere across the earth

Those who fear God are better off

—ceaseless activity, day and night. (Of course, only God can see everything, and even the wisest man who says he knows everything, doesn't!)

9 THIS, TOO, I carefully explored—that godly and wise men are in God's will; no one knows whether he will favor them or not. All is chance! <sup>23</sup> The same providence confronts everyone, whether good or bad, religious or irreligious, profane or godly. It seems so unfair, that one fate comes to all. That is why men are not more careful to be good, but instead choose their own mad course, for they have no hope—there is nothing but death ahead anyway.

son does not always win the race, nor the strongest man the battle, and that wise men are often poor, and skillful men are not necessarily famous; but it is all by chance, by happening to be at the right place at the right time. <sup>12</sup> A man never knows when he is going to run into bad luck. He is like a fish caught in a net, or a bird caught in a snare.

<sup>13</sup> Here is another thing that has made a deep impression on me as I have watched human affairs: <sup>14</sup> There was a small city with only a few people living in it, and a great king came with his army and besieged it. <sup>15</sup> There was in the city a wise man, very poor, and he knew what to do to save the city, and so it was rescued. But afterwards no one thought any more about him. <sup>16</sup> Then I realized that though wisdom is better than strength, nevertheless, if the wise man is poor, he will be despised, and what he says will not be appreciated. <sup>17</sup> But even so, the quiet words of a wise man are better than the shout of a king of fools. <sup>18</sup> Wisdom is better than weapons of war, but one rotten apple can spoil a barrelful.

10 DEAD FLIES WILL cause even a bottle of perfume to stink! Yes, a small mistake can outweigh much wisdom and honor. <sup>2</sup> A wise man's heart leads him to do right, and a fool's heart leads him to do evil. <sup>3</sup> You can identify a fool just by the way he walks down the street!

his bad temper.

<sup>8,9</sup> Dig a well—and fall into it! Demolish an old wall—and be bitten by a snake! When working in a quarry, stones will fall and crush you! There is risk in each stroke of your axe!

<sup>12,13</sup> It is pleasant to listen to wise words, but a fool's speech brings him to ruin. Since he begins with a foolish premise, his conclusion is sheer madness. <sup>14</sup> A fool knows all about the future and tells everyone in detail! But who can really know what is going to happen? <sup>15</sup> A fool is so upset by a little work that he has no strength for the simplest matter.<sup>b</sup>

gives everything! <sup>20</sup> Never curse the king, not even in your thoughts; nor the rich man, either; for a little bird will tell them what you've said.

11 GIVE GENEROUSLY, FOR your gifts will return to you later. <sup>2</sup> Divide your gifts among many,<sup>a</sup> for in the days ahead you yourself may need much help.

<sup>7</sup> It is a wonderful thing to be alive! <sup>8</sup> If a person lives to be very old, let him rejoice in every day of life, but let him also remember that eternity is far longer, and that everything down here is futile in comparison.

<sup>9</sup> Young man, it's wonderful to be young! Enjoy every minute of it! Do all you want to; take in everything, but realize that you must account to God for everything you do. <sup>10</sup> So banish grief and pain, but remember that youth, with a whole life before it, can make serious mistakes.

12 DON'T LET THE excitement of being young cause you to forget about your Creator. Honor him in your youth before the evil years come—when you'll no longer enjoy living. <sup>2</sup> It will be too late then to try to remember him, when the sun and light and moon and stars are dim to your old eyes, and there is no silver lining left among your clouds. <sup>3</sup> For there will come a time when your limbs will tremble with age, and your strong legs will become weak, and your teeth will be too few to do their work, and there will be blindness, too. <sup>4</sup> Then let your lips be tightly closed while eating, when your teeth are gone! And you will waken at dawn with the first note of the birds; but you yourself will be deaf and tuneless, with quavering voice. <sup>5</sup> You will be afraid of heights and of falling—a white-haired, withered old man, dragging himself along: without sexual desire, standing at death's door, and nearing his everlasting home as the mourners go along the streets.

<sup>6</sup> Yes, remember your Creator now while you are young, before the silver cord of life snaps, and the golden bowl is broken, and the pitcher is broken at the fountain, and the wheel is broken at the cistern; <sup>7</sup> and the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to God who gave it. <sup>8</sup> All is futile, says the Preacher; utterly futile.

<sup>9</sup> But then, because the Preacher was wise, he went on teaching the people all he knew; and he collected proverbs and classified them. <sup>10</sup> For the Preacher was not only a wise a Literally, "Give a portion to seven, yes, even to eight."

b Literally, "He that observeth the wind shall not sow and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap."

man, but a good teacher; he not only taught what he knew to the people, but taught them in an interesting manner.

is no end of opinions ready to be expressed. Studying them can go on forever, and become very exhausting!

<sup>13</sup> Here is my final conclusion: fear God and obey his commandments, for this is the entire duty of man. <sup>14</sup> For God will judge us for everything we do, including every hidden thing, good or bad.

THE SONG OF SOLOMON

1 THIS SONG OF songs, more wonderful than any other, was composed by King Solomon:

The Girl: <sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> "Kiss me again and again, for your love is sweeter than wine. <sup>3</sup> How fragrant your cologne, and how great your name! No wonder all the young girls love you! <sup>4</sup> Take me with you; come, let's run!"

The Girl: "The king has brought me into his palace. How happy we will be! Your love is better than wine. No wonder all the young girls love you!"

The Girl: <sup>5</sup> "I am dark but beautiful, O girls of Jerusalem, tanned as the dark tents of Kedar."

King Solomon: "But lovely as the silken tents of Solomon!"

The Girl: <sup>6</sup> "Don't look down on me, you city girls,<sup>b</sup> just because my complexion is so dark—the sun has tanned me. My brothers were angry with me and sent me out into the sun<sup>c</sup> to tend the vineyards, but see what it has done to me!"<sup>d</sup>

The Girl: <sup>7</sup> "Tell me, O one I love, where are you leading your flock today? Where will you be at noon? For I will come and join you there instead of wandering like a vagabond among the flocks of your companions."

King Solomon: <sup>8</sup> "If you don't know, O most beautiful woman in all the world, follow the trail of my flock to the shepherds' tents, and there feed your sheep and their lambs. <sup>9</sup> What a lovely filly<sup>e</sup> you are, my love! <sup>10</sup> How lovely your cheeks are, with your hair<sup>f</sup> falling down upon them! How stately your neck with that long string of jewels. <sup>11</sup> We shall make you golden earrings and silver beads."

The Girl: <sup>12</sup> "The king lies on his bed, enchanted by the fragrance of my perfume. <sup>13</sup> My beloved one is a sachet of myrrh lying between my breasts."

King Solomon: <sup>14</sup> "My beloved is a bouquet of flowers in the gardens of Engedi. <sup>15</sup> How beautiful you are, my love, how beautiful! Your eyes are soft as doves'. <sup>16</sup> What a lovely, pleasant thing you are, lying here upon the grass, <sup>17</sup> shaded by the cedar trees and firs."

King Solomon: <sup>2</sup> "Yes, a lily among thorns, so is my beloved as compared with any other girls."

The Girl: <sup>3</sup> "My lover is an apple tree, the finest in the orchard as compared with any of the other youths. I am seated in his much-desired shade and his fruit is lovely to eat. <sup>4</sup> He brings me to the banquet hall and everyone can see how much he loves me. <sup>5</sup> Oh, feed me with your love—your 'raisins' and your 'apples'—for I am utterly lovesick. <sup>6</sup> His left hand is under my head and with his right hand he embraces me. <sup>7</sup> O girls of Jerusalem, I adjure you by the gazelles and deer in the park, that you do not awaken my lover. Let him sleep!"<sup>a</sup>

The Girl: <sup>8</sup> "Ah, I hear him—my beloved! Here he comes, leaping upon the mountains and bounding over the hills. <sup>9</sup> My beloved is like a gazelle or young deer. Look, there he is behind the wall, now looking in at the windows.

<sup>16</sup> "My beloved is mine and I am his. He is feeding among the lilies! <sup>17</sup> Before the dawn comes and the shadows flee away, come to me, my beloved, and be like a gazelle a Literally, "that you stir not up nor awaken love until it please." The voice of the turtledove is heard in our land."

b Literally, "The fig tree puts forth its

- 3 THE GIRL: "One night my lover was missing from my bed. I got up to look for him but couldn't find him. <sup>2</sup>I went out into the streets of the city and the roads to seek him, but I searched in vain. <sup>3</sup>The police stopped me and I said to them, 'Have you seen him anywhere, this one I love so much?' <sup>4</sup>It was only a little while afterwards that I found him and held him and would not let him go until I had brought him into my childhood home, into my mother's old bedroom. <sup>5</sup>I adjure you, O women of Jerusalem, by the gazelles and deer of the park, not to awake my lover. Let him sleep."

The Young Women of Jerusalem:

posts are silver, its canopy gold, the seat is purple; and the back is inlaid with these words: 'With love from the girls of Jerusalem!'"

- 4 KING SOLOMON: "How beautiful you are, my love, how beautiful! Your eyes are those of doves. Your hair falls across your face like flocks of goats that frisk across the slopes of Gilead. <sup>2</sup>Your teeth are white as sheep's wool, newly shorn and washed; perfectly matched, without one missing. <sup>3</sup>Your lips are like a thread of scarlet—and how beautiful your mouth. Your cheeks are matched loveliness<sup>a</sup> behind your locks.<sup>b</sup> <sup>4</sup>Your neck is stately<sup>c</sup> as the tower of David, jeweled with a thousand heroes' shields. <sup>5</sup>Your breasts are like twin fawns of a gazelle, feeding among the lilies. <sup>6</sup>Until the morning dawns and the shadows flee away, I will go to the mountain of myrrh and to the hill of frankincense. <sup>7</sup>You are so beautiful, my love, in every part of you. <sup>8</sup>"Come with me from Lebanon, my bride. We will look down from the summit of the mountain, from the top of Mount Hermon,<sup>d</sup> where the lions have their dens, and panthers prowl. <sup>9</sup> You have ravished my heart, my lovely one, my bride; I am overcome by one glance of your eyes, by a single bead of your necklace. <sup>10</sup> How sweet is your love, my darling, my bride. How much better it is than mere wine. The perfume of your love is more fragrant than all the richest spices. <sup>11</sup> Your lips, my dear, are made of honey. Yes, honey and cream are under your tongue, and the scent of your garments is like the scent of the mountains and cedars of Lebanon.

<sup>12</sup> "My darling bride is like a private garden, a spring that no one else can have, a fountain of my own. <sup>13,14</sup> You are like a lovely orchard bearing precious fruit,<sup>e</sup> with the rarest of perfumes; nard and saffron, calamus and cinnamon, and perfume from every other incense tree, as well as myrrh and aloes, and every other lovely spice. <sup>15</sup> You are a garden fountain, a well of living water, refreshing as the streams from the Lebanon mountains."

The Girl: <sup>16</sup> "Come, north wind, awaken; come, south wind, blow upon my garden and waft its lovely perfume to my beloved. Let him come into his garden and eat its choicest fruits."

5 KING SOLOMON: "I am here in my garden, my darling, my bride! I gather my myrrh with my spices and eat my honeycomb with my honey. I drink my wine with my milk."

The Young Women of Jerusalem: "Oh, lover and beloved, eat and drink! Yes, drink deeply!"

The Girl: <sup>2</sup> "One night as I was sleeping, my heart awakened in a dream. I heard the voice of my beloved; he was knocking at my bedroom door. 'Open to me, my darling, my lover, my lovely dove,' he said, 'for I have been out in the night and am covered with dew.'"

<sup>3</sup> "But I said, 'I have disrobed. Shall I get dressed again? I have washed my feet, and should I get them soiled?'"

<sup>4</sup> "My beloved tried to unlatch the door and my heart was moved for him. <sup>5</sup> I jumped up to open it and my hands dripped with perfume, my fingers with lovely myrrh as I pulled back the bolt. <sup>6</sup> I opened to my beloved, but he was gone. My heart stopped. I searched for him but couldn't find him anywhere. I called to him, but there was no reply. <sup>7</sup> The guards found me and struck and wounded me. The watchman on the wall tore off my veil. <sup>1</sup> I adjure you, O women of Jerusalem, if you find my beloved one, tell him that I am sick with love."

The Young Women of Jerusalem: <sup>2</sup> "O woman of rare beauty, what is it about your loved one that is better than any other, that you command us this?"

The Girl: <sup>10</sup> "My beloved one is tanned and handsome, better than ten thousand others! <sup>11</sup> His head is purest gold, and he has wavy, raven hair. <sup>12</sup> His eyes are like doves beside the water brooks, deep and quiet. <sup>13</sup> His cheeks are like sweetly scented beds of spices. His lips are perfumed lilies, his breath like myrrh. <sup>14</sup> His arms are round bars of gold set with topaz; his body is bright ivory encrusted with jewels. <sup>15</sup> His legs are as pillars of marble set in sockets of finest gold, like cedars of Lebanon; none can rival him. <sup>16</sup> His mouth is altogether sweet, lovable in every way. Such, O women of Jerusalem, is my beloved, my friend."

6 THE YOUNG WOMEN of Jerusalem: "O rarest of beautiful women, where has your loved one gone? We will help you find him."

The Girl: <sup>2</sup> "He has gone down to his garden, to his spice beds, to pasture his flock and to gather the lilies. <sup>3</sup> I am my beloved's and my beloved is mine. He pastures his flock among the lilies!"

King Solomon: <sup>4</sup> "O my beloved, you are as beautiful as the lovely land of Tirzah, yes, beautiful as Jerusalem, and how you capture my heart.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> Look the other way, for your eyes have overcome me! Your hair, as it falls across your face, is like a flock of goats frisking down the slopes of Gilead. <sup>6</sup> Your teeth are white as freshly washed ewes, perfectly matched and not one missing. <sup>7</sup> Your cheeks are matched loveliness<sup>b</sup> behind your hair. <sup>8</sup> I have sixty other wives, all queens, and eighty concubines, and unnumbered virgins available to me; <sup>9</sup> but you, my dove, my perfect one, are the only one among them all, without an equal! The women of Jerusalem were delighted when they saw you and even the queens and concubines praise you. <sup>10</sup> 'Who is this,' they ask, 'arising as the dawn, fair as the moon, pure as the sun, so utterly captivating?' "<sup>c</sup>

The Girl: <sup>11</sup> "I went down into the orchard of nuts and out to the valley to see the spring-time there, to see whether the grape vines were budding or the pomegranates were blossoming yet. <sup>12</sup> Before I realized it I was stricken with terrible homesickness and wanted to be back among my own people."<sup>d</sup>

The Young Women of Jerusalem:

<sup>13</sup> "Return, return to us, O maid of Shulam. Come back, come back, that we may see you once again."

The Girl: "Why should you seek a mere Shulammit?"

King Solomon: "Because you dance so beautifully."<sup>e</sup>

and slim like a palm tree, and your breasts are like its clusters of dates. <sup>8</sup> I said, I will climb up into the palm tree and take hold of its branches. Now may your breasts be like grape clusters, and the scent of your breath like apples, <sup>9</sup> and your kisses as exciting as the best of wine, smooth and sweet, causing the lips of those who are asleep to speak."

The Girl:<sup>10</sup> "I am my beloved's and I am the one he desires.

<sup>11</sup> Come, my beloved, let us go out into the fields and stay in the villages. <sup>12</sup> Let us get up early and go out to the vineyards and see whether the vines have budded and whether the blossoms have opened and whether the pomegranates are in flower. And there I will give you my love. <sup>13</sup> There the mandrakes give forth their fragrance and the rarest fruits are at our doors, the new as well as old, for I have stored them up for my beloved."

8 THE GIRL: "Oh, if only you were my brother; then I could kiss you no matter who was watching, and no one would laugh at me. <sup>2</sup> I would bring you to my childhood home,<sup>a</sup> and there you would teach me. I would give you spiced wine to drink, sweet pomegranate wine. <sup>3</sup> His left hand would be under my head and his right hand would embrace me. <sup>4</sup> I adjure you, O women of Jerusalem, not to awaken him until he please."

The Young Women of Jerusalem: <sup>5</sup> "Who is this coming up from the desert, leaning on her beloved?"

King Solomon: "Under the apple tree where your mother gave birth to you in her travail, there I awakened your love."

The Girl: <sup>6</sup> "Seal me in your heart with permanent betrothal, for love is strong as death and jealousy is as cruel as Sheol. It flashes fire, the very flame of Jehovah. <sup>7</sup> Many waters cannot quench the flame of love, neither can the floods drown it. If a man tried to buy it with everything he owned, he couldn't do it."

The Girl: <sup>8</sup> "We have a little sister too young for breasts. What shall we do if someone asks to marry her?"

King Solomon: <sup>9</sup> "If she has no breasts<sup>b</sup> we will build upon her a battlement of silver,<sup>c</sup> and if she is a door we will enclose her with cedar boards."<sup>c</sup>

The Girl: <sup>10</sup> "I am slim, tall,<sup>d</sup> and full-breasted<sup>c</sup> and I have found favor in my lover's eyes. <sup>11</sup> Solomon had a vineyard at Baal-hamon which he rented out to some farmers there, the rent being one thousand pieces of silver from each. <sup>12</sup> But as for my own vineyard, you, O Solomon, shall have my thousand pieces of silver and I will give two hundred pieces to those who care for it.

ISAIAH

1 These are the messages that came to Isaiah, son of Amoz, in the visions he saw during the reigns of King Uziah, King Jotham, King Ahaz and King Hezekiah—all kings of Judah. In these messages God showed him what was going to happen to Judah and Jerusalem in the days ahead.

The children I raised and cared

for so long and tenderly have turned against me. <sup>1</sup> Even the animals—the donkey and the ox—know their owner and appreciate his care for them, but not my people Israel. No matter what I do for them, they still don't care. <sup>4</sup> Oh, what a sinful nation they are! They walk bent-backed beneath their load of guilt. Their fathers before them were evil too. Born to be bad, they have turned their backs upon the Lord, and have despised the Holy One of Israel. They have cut themselves off from my help.

<sup>5,6</sup> Oh, my people, haven't you had enough of punishment? Why will you force me to whip you again and again? Must you forever rebel? From head to foot you are sick and weak and faint, covered with bruises and welts and infected wounds, unanointed and unbound. <sup>7</sup> Your country lies in ruins; your cities are burned; while you watch, foreigners are destroying and plundering everything they see. <sup>8</sup> You stand there helpless and abandoned like a watchman's shanty in the field when the harvest time is over—or when the crop is stripped and robbed.

<sup>9</sup> If the Lord of Hosts had not stepped in to save a few of us, we would have been wiped out as Sodom and Gomorrah were. <sup>10</sup> An apt comparison!<sup>a</sup> Listen, you leaders of Israel, you men of Sodom and Gomorrah, as I call you now. Listen to the Lord. Hear what he is telling you! <sup>11</sup> I am sick of your sacrifices. Don't bring me any more of them. I don't want your fat rams; I don't want to see the blood from your offerings. <sup>12,13</sup> Who wants your sacrifices when you have no sorrow for your sins? The incense you bring me is a stench in my nostrils. Your holy celebrations of the new moon and the Sabbath, and your special days for fasting—even your most pious meetings—all are frauds! I want nothing more to do with them. <sup>14</sup> I hate them all; I can't stand the sight of them. <sup>15</sup> From now on, when you pray with your hands stretched out to heaven, I won't look or listen. Even though you make many prayers, I will not hear, for your hands are those of murderers; they are covered with the blood of your innocent victims.

<sup>16</sup> Oh, wash yourselves! Be clean! Let me no longer see you doing all these wicked things; quit your evil ways. <sup>17</sup> Learn to do good, to be fair and to help the poor, the fatherless, and widows.

<sup>18</sup> Come, let's talk this over! says the Lord; no matter how deep the stain of your sins, I can take it out and make you as clean as freshly fallen snow. Even if you are stained as red as crimson, I can make you white as wool! <sup>19</sup> If you will only let me help you, if you will only obey, then I will make you rich! <sup>20</sup> But if you keep on turning your backs and refusing to listen to me, you will be killed by your enemies; I, the Lord, have spoken.

like watered-down wine! <sup>22</sup> Your leaders are rebels, companions of thieves; all of them take bribes and won't defend the widows and orphans. <sup>23</sup> Therefore the Lord of Hosts, the Mighty One of Israel, says: I will pour out my anger on you, my enemies! <sup>24</sup> I myself will melt you in a smelting pot, and skim off your slag.

<sup>25</sup> And afterwards I will give you good judges and wise counselors like those you used to have. Then your city shall again be called "The City of Justice," and "The Faithful Town." <sup>26</sup> Those who return to the Lord, who are just and good, shall be redeemed.

<sup>27</sup> (But all sinners shall utterly perish, for they refuse to come to me.) <sup>28</sup> Shame will cover you, and you will blush to think of all those times you sacrificed to idols in your groves of "sacred" oaks. <sup>29</sup> You will perish like a withered tree or a garden without water. <sup>30</sup> The strongest among you will disappear like burning straw; your evil deeds are the spark that sets the straw on fire, and no one will be able to put it out.

<sup>2</sup> "Come," everyone will say, "let us go up the mountain of the Lord, to the Temple of the God of Israel; there he will teach us his laws, and we will obey them." For in those days the world will be ruled from Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> The Lord will settle international disputes; all the nations will convert their weapons of war into implements of peace.<sup>b</sup> Then at the last all wars will stop and all military training will end. <sup>4</sup> O Israel, come, let us walk in the light of the Lord, and be obedient to his laws!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>5</sup> The Lord has rejected you because you welcome foreigners from the East who practice magic and communicate with evil spirits, as the Philistines do.

<sup>6</sup> Israel has vast treasures of silver and gold, and great numbers of horses and chariots<sup>d</sup> and idols—the land is full of them! They are man-made, and yet you worship them! <sup>7</sup> Small and great, all bow before them; God will not forgive you for this sin.

<sup>7</sup> Israel's civil government will be in utter ruin because the Jews have spoken out against their Lord and will not worship him; they offend his glory. <sup>8</sup> The very look on their faces gives them away and shows their guilt. And they boast that their sin is equal to the sin of Sodom; they are not even ashamed. What a catastrophe! They have doomed themselves.

<sup>14</sup> "How dare you grind my people in the dust like that?" the Lord of Hosts will demand of them.

<sup>15</sup> Next, he will judge the haughty Jewish women, who mince along, noses in the air, tinkling bracelets on their ankles, with wanton eyes that rove among the crowds to catch the glances of the men. <sup>16</sup> The Lord will send a plague of scabs to ornament their heads! He will expose their nakedness for all to see. <sup>17</sup> No longer shall they tinkle with self-assurance as they walk. For the Lord will strip away their artful beauty and their ornaments, <sup>18</sup> their necklaces and bracelets and veils of shimmering gauze. <sup>19</sup> Gone shall be their scarves and ankle chains, headbands, earrings, and perfumes; <sup>21</sup> their rings and jewels, <sup>22</sup> and party clothes and negligees and capes and ornate combs and purses; <sup>23</sup> their mirrors, lovely lingerie, beautiful dresses and veils. <sup>24</sup> Instead of smelling of sweet perfume, they'll stink; for sashes they'll use ropes; their well-set hair will all fall out; they'll wear sacks instead of robes.

All their beauty will be gone; all that will be left to them is shame and disgrace. <sup>25,26</sup> Their husbands shall die in battle; the women, ravaged, shall sit crying on the ground.

4 AT THAT TIME so few men will be left alive that seven women will fight over each of them and say, "Let us all marry you! We will furnish our own food and clothing; only let us be called by your name so that we won't be mocked as old maids."

<sup>2,3,4</sup> Those whose names are written down to escape the destruction of Jerusalem will be washed and rinsed of all their moral filth by the horrors and the fire. They will be God's holy people. And the land will produce for them its lushest bounty and its richest fruit.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> Then the Lord will provide shade on all Jerusalem—over every home and all its public grounds—a canopy of smoke and cloud throughout the day, and clouds of fire at night, covering the Glorious Land, <sup>6</sup> protecting it from daytime heat and from rains and storms.

5 NOW I WILL sing a song about his vineyard to the one I love. My Beloved has a vineyard on a very fertile hill. <sup>2</sup> He plowed it and took out all the rocks and planted his vineyard with the choicest vines. He built a watchtower and cut a winepress in the rocks. Then he waited for the harvest, but the grapes that grew were wild and sour and not at all the sweet ones he expected.

<sup>3</sup> Now, men of Jerusalem and Judah, you have heard the case! You be the judges! <sup>4</sup> What more could I have done? Why did my vineyard give me wild grapes instead of sweet? <sup>5</sup> I will tear down the fences and let my vineyard go to pasture to be trampled by cattle and sheep. <sup>6</sup> I won't prune it or hoe it, but let it be overgrown with briars and thorns. I will command the clouds not to rain on it any more.

<sup>a</sup> The term used here, "branch of the Lord," sometimes refers to the coming Messiah (Jeremiah 23:5, Zechariah 3:8). Here it is used differently to describe God's people, as explained by the parallel phrase, "fruit of the land." However, some may prefer to see here a reference to the presence of the Messiah in Jerusalem at that time.

sworn your awful fate—with my own ears I heard him say, "Many a beautiful home will lie deserted, their owners killed or gone."<sup>10</sup> An acre of vineyard will not produce a gallon of juice! Ten bushels of seed will yield but a one-bushel crop!

<sup>11</sup> Woe to you who get up early in the morning to go on long drinking bouts that last till late at night—woe to you drunken bums.

<sup>12</sup> You furnish lovely music at your grand parties; the orchestras are superb! But for the Lord you have no thought or care. <sup>13</sup> Therefore I will send you into exile far away because you neither know nor care that I have done so much for you. Your great and honored men will starve, and the common people will die of thirst.

black; bitter is sweet and sweet is bitter.

6 THE YEAR KING Uzziah died I saw the Lord! He was sitting on a lofty throne, and the Temple was filled with his glory.<sup>1</sup> Hovering about him were mighty, six-winged seraphs. With two of their wings they covered their faces; with two others they covered their feet, and with two they flew.<sup>2</sup> In a great antiphonal chorus they sang, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of Hosts; the whole earth is filled with his glory."<sup>3</sup> Such singing it was! It shook the Temple to its foundations, and suddenly the entire sanctuary was filled with smoke.

<sup>2</sup> Then one of the seraphs flew over to the altar and with a pair of tongs picked out a burning coal.<sup>3</sup> He touched my lips with it and said, "Now you are pronounced 'Not guilty' because this coal has touched your lips. Your sins are all forgiven."

<sup>4</sup> Then I heard the Lord asking, "Whom shall I send as a messenger to my people? Who will go?"

And I said, "Lord, I'll go! Send me."

<sup>5</sup> And he said, "Yes, go. But tell my people this: 'Though you hear my words repeatedly, you won't understand them. Though you watch and watch as I perform my miracles, still you won't know what they mean.'<sup>10</sup> Dull their understanding, close their ears and shut their eyes. I don't want them to see or to hear or to understand, or to turn to me to heal them."<sup>11a</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Then I said, "Lord, how long will it be before they are ready to listen?"

And he replied, "Not until their cities are destroyed—without a person left—and the whole country is an utter wasteland,<sup>12</sup> and they are all taken away as slaves to other countries far away, and all the land of Israel lies deserted!<sup>13</sup> Yet a tenth—a remnant—will survive; and though Israel is invaded again and again and destroyed, yet Israel will be like a tree cut down, whose stump still lives to grow again."

7 DURING THE REIGN of Ahaz (the son of Jotham and grandson of Uzziah), Jerusalem was attacked by King Rezin of Syria and King Pekah of Israel (the son of Remaliah).<sup>a</sup> But it was not taken; the city stood.<sup>2</sup> However, when the news came to the royal court, "Syria is allied with Israel against us!" the hearts of the king and his people trembled with fear as the trees of a forest shake in a storm.

fierce anger of those two has-beens, Rezin and Pekah. <sup>3</sup> Yes, the kings of Syria and Israel are coming against you.

"They say, 'We will invade Judah and throw her people into panic. Then we'll fight our way into Jerusalem and install the son of Tabeel as their king.'

<sup>7</sup> "But the Lord God says, This plan will not succeed, <sup>4</sup> for Damascus will remain the capital of Syria alone, and King Rezin's kingdom will not increase its boundaries. And within sixty-five years Ephraim, too, will be crushed and broken.<sup>b</sup> <sup>9</sup> Samaria is the capital of Ephraim alone and King Pekah's power will not increase. You don't believe me? If you want me to protect you, you must learn to believe what I say."

<sup>11</sup> "Ask me for a sign, Ahaz, to prove that I will indeed crush your enemies as I have said. Ask anything you like, in heaven or on earth."<sup>c</sup> said, O House of David, you aren't satisfied to exhaust my patience; you exhaust the Lord's as well! <sup>14</sup> All right then, the Lord himself will choose the sign—a child shall be born to a virgin!<sup>d</sup> And she shall call him Immanuel (meaning, "God is with us").

b Samaria, the capital of "Ephraim," fell to the Assyrian armies in 722 B.C., thirteen years after this oracle—ending the Northern kingdom. c Literally, "let it be deep as Sheol or high as heaven."

d The controversial Hebrew word used here sometimes means "virgin" and sometimes "young woman." Its immediate use here refers to Isaiah's young wife and her newborn son (Isaiah 8:1-4). This, of course, was not a virgin birth. God's sign was that before this child was old enough to talk (verse 4) the two invading kings would be destroyed. However, the Gospel of Matthew (1:23) tells us that there was a further fulfillment of this prophecy: in that a virgin (Mary) conceived and bore a son, Immanuel, the Christ. We have therefore properly used this higher meaning, "virgin," in verse 14, as otherwise the Matthew account loses its significance. e Literally, "For before this child shall know (is old enough) to refuse the evil and to choose the good and (is old enough to) eat curds and honey."

f Implied. g Or, "the lands will be deserted (of their kings)." h Literally, "sources of the streams of Egypt" refers to Upper Egypt where the powerful 25th Ethiopian Dynasty would soon arise.

you<sup>i</sup>—and use it on you to shave off everything you have: your land, your crops, your people.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>21,22</sup> When they finally stop plundering, the whole nation will be a pastureland; whole flocks and herds will be destroyed, and a farmer will be fortunate to have a cow and two sheep left. But the abundant pastureland will yield plenty of milk, and everyone left will live on curds and wild honey. <sup>23</sup> At that time the lush vineyards will become patches of briars.

<sup>24</sup> All the land will be one vast thornfield, a hunting ground overrun by wildlife. <sup>25</sup> No one will go to the fertile hillsides where once the gardens grew, for thorns will cover them; cattle, sheep and goats will graze there.

8 AGAIN THE LORD sent me a message:

"Make a large signboard and write on it the birth announcement of the son I am going to give you. Use capital letters! His name will be Maher-shalal-hash-baz, which means 'Your enemies will soon be destroyed.' "<sup>a</sup> <sup>1</sup> I asked Uriah the priest and Zechariah the son of Jeberechiah, both known as honest men, to watch me as I wrote so they could testify that I had written it (before the child was even on the way).<sup>b</sup> <sup>2</sup> Then I had sexual intercourse with my wife and she conceived, and bore me a son, and the Lord said, "Call him Maher-shalal-hash-baz. <sup>4</sup> This name prophesies that within a couple of years, before this child is even old enough to say 'Daddy' or 'Mommy,' the king of Assyria will invade both Damascus and Samaria and carry away their riches."

<sup>3</sup> Then the Lord spoke to me again and said:

<sup>6</sup> "Since the people of Jerusalem are planning to refuse my gentle care<sup>c</sup> and are enthusiastic about asking King Rezin and King Pekah to come and aid them, <sup>7,8</sup> therefore I will overwhelm my people with Euphrates' mighty flood; the king of Assyria and all his mighty armies will rage against them. This flood will overflow all its channels and sweep into your land of Judah, O Immanuel, submerging it from end to end."

<sup>9,10</sup> Do your worst, O Syria and Israel,<sup>d</sup> our enemies,<sup>b</sup> but you will not succeed—you will be shattered. Listen to me, all you enemies of ours: Prepare for war against us—and perish! Yes! Perish! Call your councils of war, develop your strategies, prepare your plans of attacking us, and perish! For God is with us.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>11</sup> The Lord has said in strongest terms: Do not under any circumstances, go along with the plans of Judah to surrender to Syria and Israel. <sup>12</sup> Don't let people call you a traitor for staying true to God. Don't you panic as so many of your neighbors are doing when they think of Syria and Israel attacking you. <sup>13</sup> Don't fear anything except the Lord of the armies of heaven! If you fear him, you need fear nothing else. <sup>14,15</sup> He will be your safety; but Israel and Judah have refused his care and thereby stumbled against the Rock of their salvation and lie fallen and crushed beneath it: God's presence among them has endangered them! <sup>16</sup> Write down all these things I am going to do, says the Lord, and seal it up for the future. Entrust it to some godly man to pass on down to godly men of future generations.

<sup>17</sup> I will wait for the Lord to help us, though he is hiding now. My only hope is in him. <sup>18</sup> I and the children God has given me have symbolic names that reveal the plans of the Lord of heaven's armies for his people: Isaiah means "Jehovah will save (his people)," Shear-jashub means "A remnant shall return," and Maher-shalal-hash-baz means "Your enemies will soon be destroyed." <sup>19</sup> So why are you trying to find out the future by consulting witches and mediums? Don't listen to their whisperings and mutterings. Can the living find out the future from the dead? Why not ask your God?

<sup>20</sup> "Check these witches' words against the Word of God!" he says. "If their messages are different than mine, it is because I have not sent them; for they have no light or truth in them. <sup>21</sup> My people will be led away captive, stumbling, weary and hungry. And because they are hungry they will rave and shake their fists at heaven and curse their King and their God. <sup>22</sup> Wherever they look there will be trouble and anguish and dark despair. And they will be thrust out into the dark-

9 NEVERTHELESS, THAT TIME of darkness and despair shall not go on forever. Though soon the land of Zebulun and Naphtali will be under God's contempt and judgment, yet in the future these very lands, Galilee and Northern Trans-jordan, where lies the road to the sea, will be filled with glory. <sup>1</sup> The people who walk in darkness shall see a great Light—a Light that will shine on all those who live in the land of the shadow of death. <sup>2</sup> For Israel will again be great, filled with joy like that of reapers when the harvest time has come, and like that of men dividing up the plunder they have won. <sup>3</sup> For God will break the chains that bind his people and the whip that scourges them, just as he did when he destroyed the vast host of the Midianites by Gideon's little band. <sup>4</sup> In that glorious day of peace there will no longer be the issuing of battle gear; no more the blood-stained uniforms of war; all such will be burned.

<sup>5</sup> For unto us a Child is born; unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder. These will be his royal titles: "Wonderful," "Counselor," "The Mighty God," "The Everlasting Father," "The Prince of Peace." <sup>7</sup> His ever-expanding, peaceful government will never end. He will rule with perfect fairness and justice from the throne of his father David. He will bring true justice and peace to all the nations of the world. This is going to happen because the Lord of heaven's armies has dedicated himself to do it!

against that braggart Israel who says that though our land lies in ruins now, we will rebuild it better than before. The sycamore trees are cut down, but we will replace them with cedars! <sup>11,12</sup> The Lord's reply to your bragging is to bring your<sup>a</sup> enemies against you—the Syrians on the east and the Philistines on the west. With bared fangs they will devour Israel. And even then the Lord's anger against you will not be satisfied—his fist will still be poised to smash you. <sup>13</sup> For after all this punishment you will not repent and turn to him, the Lord of heaven's armies. <sup>14,15</sup> Therefore the Lord, in one day, will destroy the leaders of Israel and the lying prophets. <sup>16</sup> For the leaders of his people have led them down the paths of ruin.

<sup>17</sup> That is why the Lord has no joy in their young men, and no mercy upon even the widows and orphans, for they are all filthy-mouthed, wicked liars. That is why his anger is not yet satisfied, but his fist is still poised to smash them all. <sup>18</sup> He will burn up all this wickedness, these thorns and briars; and the flames will consume the forests, too, and send a vast cloud of smoke billowing up from their burning. <sup>19,20</sup> The land is blackened by that fire, by the wrath of the Lord of heaven's armies. The people are fuel for the fire. Each fights against his brother to steal his food, but will never have enough. Finally they will even eat their own children! <sup>21</sup> Manasseh against Ephraim and Ephraim against Manasseh—and both against Judah. Yet even after all of this, God's anger is not yet satisfied. His hand is still heavy upon them, to crush them.

10 WOE TO UNJUST judges and to those who issue unfair laws, says the Lord, <sup>2</sup> so that there is no justice for the poor, the widows and orphans. Yes, it is true that they even rob the widows and fatherless children.

<sup>3</sup> Oh, what will you do when I visit you in that day when I send desolation upon you from a distant land? To whom will you turn then for your help? Where will your treasures be safe? <sup>4</sup> I will not help you; you will stumble along as prisoners or lie among the slain. And even then my anger will not be satisfied, but my fist will still be poised to strike you. <sup>5,6</sup> Assyria is the whip of my anger; his military strength is my weapon upon this godless nation, doomed and damned; he will enslave them and plunder them and trample them like dirt beneath his feet. <sup>7</sup> But the king of Assyria will not know that it is I who sent him. He will merely think he is attacking my people as part of his plan to conquer the world. <sup>8</sup> He will declare that every one of his princes will soon be a king, ruling a conquered land.

<sup>9</sup> "We will destroy Calno just as we did Carchemish," he will say, "and Hamath will go down before us as Arpad did; and we will destroy Samaria just as we did Damascus." <sup>10</sup> Yes, we have finished off many a kingdom whose idols were far greater than those in Jerusalem and Samaria, <sup>11</sup> so when we have defeated Samaria and her

<sup>12</sup> After the Lord has used the king of Assyria to accomplish his purpose, then he will turn upon the Assyrians and punish them too—for they are proud and haughty men.

<sup>13</sup> They boast, "We in our own power and wisdom have won these wars. We are great and wise. By our own strength we broke down the walls and destroyed the people and carried off their treasures." <sup>14</sup> In our greatness we have robbed their nests of riches and gathered up kingdoms as a farmer gathers eggs, and no one can move a finger or open his mouth to peep against us!"

<sup>15</sup> But the Lord says, "Shall the axe boast greater power than the man who uses it? Is the saw greater than the man who saws? Can a rod strike unless a hand is moving it? Can a cane walk by itself?"

<sup>16</sup> Because of all your evil boasting, O king of Assyria, the Lord of Hosts will send a plague among your proud troops, and strike them down. <sup>17</sup> God, the Light and Holy One of Israel, will be the fire and flame that will destroy them. In a single night he will burn those thorns and briars, the Assyrians who destroyed the land of Israel.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>18</sup> Assyria's vast army is like a glorious forest, yet it will be destroyed. The Lord will destroy them, soul and body, as when a sick man wastes away. <sup>19</sup> Only a few from all that mighty army will be left; so few a child could count them!

and in Judah will trust the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, instead of fearing the Assyrians. <sup>21</sup> A remnant of them will return to the mighty God. <sup>22</sup> But though Israel be now as many as the sands along the shore, yet only a few of them will be left to return at that time; God has rightly decided to destroy his people. <sup>23</sup> Yes, it has already been decided by the Lord God of Hosts to consume them.

<sup>24</sup> Therefore the Lord God of Hosts says, "O my people in Jerusalem, don't be afraid of the Assyrians when they oppress you just as the Egyptians did long ago." <sup>25</sup> It will not last very long; in a little while my anger against you will end, and then it will rise against them to destroy them."

<sup>26</sup> The Lord of Hosts will send his angel to slay them in a mighty slaughter like the time when Gideon triumphed over Midian at the rock of Oreb or the time God drowned the Egyptian armies in the sea. <sup>27</sup> On that day God will end the bondage of his people. He will break the slave-yoke off their necks, and destroy it as decreed.<sup>b</sup>

mighty army comes. O poor Anathoth, what a fate is yours! <sup>11</sup> There go the people of Madmenah, all fleeing, and the citizens of Gebim are preparing to run. <sup>12</sup> But the enemy stops at Nob for the remainder of that day. He shakes his fist at Jerusalem on Mount Zion.

<sup>13</sup> Then, look, look! The Lord, the Lord of the armies of heaven, is chopping down the mighty tree! He is destroying all of that vast army, great and small alike, both officers and men. <sup>14</sup> He, the Mighty One, will cut down the enemy as a woodsman's axe cuts down the forest trees in Lebanon.

11 THE ROYAL LINE of David<sup>a</sup> will be cut off, chopped down like a tree; but from the stump will grow a Shoot<sup>b</sup>—yes, a new Branch<sup>b</sup> from the old root. <sup>2</sup> And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the Spirit of wisdom, understanding, counsel and might; the Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord. <sup>3</sup> His delight will be obedience to the Lord. He will not judge by appearance, false evidence, or hearsay, <sup>4</sup> but will defend the poor and the exploited. He will rule against the wicked who oppress them. <sup>5</sup> For he will be clothed with fairness and with truth.

<sup>6</sup> In that day the wolf and the lamb will lie down together, and the leopard and goats will be at peace. Calves and fat cattle will be safe among lions, and a little child shall lead them all. <sup>7</sup> The cows will graze among bears; cubs and calves will lie down together, and lions will eat grass like the cows. <sup>8</sup> Babies will crawl safely among poisonous snakes, and a little child who puts his hand in a nest of deadly adders will pull it out unharmed. <sup>9</sup> Nothing will hurt or destroy in all my holy mountain, for as the waters fill the sea, so shall the earth be full of the knowledge of the Lord.

<sup>10</sup> In that day he who created the royal dynasty of David<sup>c</sup> will be a banner of salvation to all the world. The nations will rally to him, for the land where he lives will be a glorious place. <sup>11</sup> At that time the Lord will bring back a remnant of his people for the second time, returning them to the land of Israel from Assyria, Upper and Lower Egypt, Ethiopia, Elam, Babylonia, Hamath and all the distant coastal lands. <sup>12</sup> He will raise a flag among the nations for them to rally to; he will gather the scattered Israelites from the ends of the earth. <sup>13</sup> Then, at last, the jealousy between Israel and Judah will end; they will not fight each other any more. <sup>14</sup> Together they will fly against the nations possessing their land on the east and on the west, uniting forces to destroy them, and they will occupy the nations of Edom and Moab and Ammon.

just as he did for all of Israel long ago when they returned from Egypt.

12 ON THAT DAY you will say, "Praise the Lord! He was angry with me, but now he comforts me. <sup>2</sup> See, God has come to save me! I will trust and not be afraid, for the Lord is my strength and song; he is my salvation. <sup>3</sup> Oh, the joy of drinking deeply from the Fountain of Salvation!"

13 THIS IS THE vision God showed Isaiah (son of Amoz) concerning Babylon's doom.

<sup>2</sup> See the flags waving as their enemy attacks. Shout to them, O Israel, and wave them on as they march against Babylon to destroy the palaces of the rich and mighty. <sup>3</sup> I, the Lord, have set apart these armies for this task; I have called those rejoicing in their strength to do this work, to satisfy my anger. <sup>4</sup> Hear the tumult on the mountains! Listen as the armies march! It is the tumult and the shout of many nations. The Lord of Hosts has brought them here, <sup>5</sup> from countries far away. They are his weapons against you, O Babylon. They carry his anger with them and will destroy your whole land.

<sup>6</sup> Scream in terror, for the Lord's time has come, the time for the Almighty to crush you. <sup>7</sup> Your arms lie paralyzed with fear; the strongest hearts melt, <sup>8</sup> and are afraid. Fear grips you with terrible pangs, like those of a woman in labor. You look at one another, helpless, as the flames of the burning city reflect upon your pallid faces. <sup>9</sup> For see, the day of the Lord is coming, the terrible day of his wrath and fierce anger. The land shall be destroyed, and all the sinners with it. <sup>10</sup> The heavens will be black above them. No light will shine from stars or sun or moon.

<sup>11</sup> And I will punish the world for its evil, the wicked for their sin; I will crush the arrogance of the proud man and the haughtiness of the rich. <sup>12</sup> Few will live when I have finished up my work.

Men will be as scarce as gold—of greater value than the gold of Ophir. <sup>13</sup> For I will shake the heavens in my wrath and fierce anger, and the earth will move from its place in the skies.

<sup>19</sup> And so Babylon, the most glorious of kingdoms, the flower of Chaldean culture, will be as utterly destroyed as Sodom and Gomorrah were when God sent fire from heaven; <sup>20</sup> Babylon will never rise again. Generation after generation will come and go, but the land will never again be lived in.<sup>a</sup> The nomads will not even camp there. The shepherds won't let their sheep stay overnight. <sup>21</sup> The wild animals of the desert will make it their home. The houses will be haunted by howling creatures. Ostriches will live there, and the demons will come there to dance. <sup>22</sup> Hyenas and jackals will den within the palaces. Babylon's days are numbered; her time of doom will soon be here.

14 BUT THE LORD will have mercy on the Israelis; they are still his special ones. He will bring them back to settle once again in the land of Israel. And many nationalities will come and join them there and be their loyal allies. <sup>2</sup> The nations of the world will help them to return, and those coming to live in their land will serve them. Those enslaving Israel will be enslaved—Israel shall rule her enemies!

At last you have what was coming to you! <sup>5</sup> For the Lord has crushed your wicked power, and broken your evil rule." <sup>6</sup> You persecuted my people with unceasing blows of rage and held the nations in your angry grip. You were unrestrained in tyranny. <sup>7</sup> But at last the whole earth is at rest and is quiet! All the world begins to sing! <sup>8</sup> Even the trees of the woods—the fir trees and cedars of Lebanon—sing out this joyous song: "Your power is broken; no one will bother us now; at last we have peace."

<sup>9</sup> The denizens of hell crowd to meet you as you enter their domain. World leaders and earth's mightiest kings, long dead, are there to see you. <sup>10</sup> With one voice they all cry out, "Now you are as weak as we are!" <sup>11</sup> Your might and power are gone; they are buried with you. All the pleasant music in your palace has ceased; now maggots are your sheet, worms your blanket!

<sup>12</sup> How you are fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How you are cut down to the ground—mighty though you were against the nations of the world. <sup>13</sup> For you said to yourself, "I will ascend to heaven and rule the angels.<sup>a</sup> I will take the highest throne. I will preside on the Mount of Assembly far away in the north."<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> I will climb to the highest heavens and be like the Most High." <sup>15</sup> But instead, you will be brought down to the pit of hell, down to its lowest depths. <sup>16</sup> Everyone there will stare at you and ask, "Can this be the one who shook the earth and the kingdoms of the world? <sup>17</sup> Can this be the one who destroyed the world and made it into a shambles and demolished its greatest cities and had no mercy on his prisoners?"

<sup>22</sup> I, myself, have risen against him, says the Lord of heaven's armies, and will cut off his children and his children's children from ever sitting on his throne. <sup>23</sup> I will make Babylon into a desolate land of porcupines, full of swamps and marshes. I will sweep the land with the broom of destruction, says the Lord of the armies of heaven. <sup>24</sup> He has taken an oath to do it! For this is his purpose and plan. <sup>25</sup> I have decided to break the Assyrian army when they are in Israel and to crush them on my mountains; my people shall no longer be their slaves.

<sup>26</sup> This is my plan for the whole earth—I will do it by my mighty power that reaches everywhere around the world. <sup>27</sup> The Lord, the God of battle, has spoken—who can change his plans? When his hand moves, who can stop him?

<sup>29</sup> Don't rejoice, Philistines, that the king who smote you is dead.<sup>c</sup> That rod is broken, yes; but his son will be a greater scourge to you than his father ever was! From the snake will be born an adder, a fiery serpent to destroy you! <sup>30</sup> I will shepherd the poor of my people; they shall graze in my pasture! The needy shall lie down in peace. But as for you—I will wipe you out with famine and the sword. <sup>31</sup> Weep, Philistine cities—you are doomed. All your nation is doomed. For a perfectly trained army<sup>d</sup> is coming down from the north against you. <sup>32</sup> What then shall we tell the reporters? Tell them that the Lord has founded Jerusalem and is determined that the poor of his people will find a refuge within her walls.

15 HERE IS GOD'S message to Moab:

In one night your cities of Ar and Kir will be destroyed. <sup>2</sup> Your people in Dibon go mourning to their temples to weep for the fate of Nebo and Medeba; they shave their heads in sorrow and cut off their beards. <sup>3</sup> They wear sackcloth through the streets, and from every home comes the sound of weeping. <sup>4</sup> The cries from the cities of Heshbon and Elealeh are heard far away, even in Jahaz. The bravest warriors of Moab cry in utter terror.

Horonaim. <sup>6</sup> Even Nimrim River is desolate! The grassy banks are dried up and the tender plants are gone. <sup>7</sup> The desperate refugees take only the possessions they can carry, and flee across the Brook of Willows. <sup>8</sup> The whole land of Moab is a land of weeping, from one end to the other. <sup>9</sup> The stream near Dibon will run red with blood, but I am not through with Dibon yet! Lions will hunt down the survivors, both those who escape and those who remain.

<sup>6</sup> Is this proud Moab, concerning which we heard so much? His arrogance and insolence are all gone now! <sup>7</sup> Therefore all Moab weeps. Yes, Moab, you will mourn for stricken Kir-hareseth, <sup>8</sup> and for the abandoned farms of Heshbon and the vineyards at Sibmah. The enemy war-lords have cut down the best of the grape vines; their armies spread out as far as Jazer in the deserts, and even down to the sea. <sup>9</sup> So I wail and lament for Jazer and the vineyards of Sibmah. My tears shall flow for Heshbon and Elealeh, for destruction has come upon their summer fruits and harvests. <sup>10</sup> Gone now is the gladness, gone the joy of harvest. The happy singing in the vineyards will be heard no more; the treading out of the grapes in the wine presses has ceased forever. I have ended all their harvest joys.

<sup>11</sup> I will weep, weep, weep, for Moab; and my sorrow for Kir-hareseth will be very great. <sup>12</sup> The people of Moab will pray in anguish to their idols at the tops of the hills, but it will do no good; they will cry to their gods in their idol temples, but none will come to save them. <sup>13,14</sup> All this concerning Moab has been said before; but now the Lord says that within three years, without fail, the glory of Moab shall be ended, and few of all its people will be left alive.

17 THIS IS GOD'S message to Damascus, capital of Syria:

Look, Damascus is gone! It is no longer a city—it has become a heap of ruins! <sup>2</sup> The cities of Aroer are deserted. Sheep pasture there, lying quiet and unafraid, with no one to chase them away. <sup>3</sup> The strength of Israel and the power of Damascus will end, and the remnant of Syria shall be destroyed. For as Israel's glory departed, so theirs, too, will disappear, declares the Lord of Hosts. <sup>4</sup> Yes, the glory of Israel will be very dim when poverty stalks the land. <sup>5</sup> Israel will be as abandoned as the harvested grain fields in the Valley of Rephaim. <sup>6</sup> Oh, a very few of her people will be left, just as a few stray olives are left on the trees when the harvest is ended, two or three in the highest branches, four or five out on the tips of the limbs. That is how it will be in Damascus and Israel—stripped bare of people except for a few of the poor who remain.

<sup>7</sup> Then at last they will think of God their Creator and have respect for the Holy One of Israel. <sup>8</sup> They will no longer ask their idols for help in that day, neither will they worship what their hands have made! They will no longer have respect for the images of Ashtaroth and the sun-idols.

<sup>9</sup> Their largest cities will be as deserted as the distant wooded hills and mountain tops and become like the abandoned cities of the Amorites, deserted when the Israelites approached (so long ago<sup>a</sup>). <sup>10</sup> Why? Because you have turned from the God who can save you—the Rock who can hide you; therefore, even though you plant a wonderful, rare crop of greatest value, <sup>11</sup> and though it grows so well that it will blossom on the very morning that you plant it, yet you will never harvest it—your only harvest will be a pile of grief and incurable pain.

rael waits in terror, but by dawn her enemies are dead. This is the just reward of those who plunder and destroy the people of God.

18 AH, LAND BEYOND the upper reaches of the Nile,<sup>a</sup> where winged sailboats glide along the river! <sup>2</sup> Land that sends ambassadors in fast boats down the Nile! Let swift messengers return to you, O strong and supple nation feared far and wide, a conquering, destroying nation whose land the upper Nile<sup>b</sup> divides. And this is the message sent to you:

<sup>3</sup> When I raise my battle flag upon the mountain, let all the world take notice! When I blow the trumpet, listen! <sup>4</sup> For the Lord has told me this: Let your mighty army now advance against the land of Israel.<sup>c</sup> God will watch quietly from his Temple in Jerusalem—serene as on a pleasant summer day or a lovely autumn morning during harvest time. <sup>5</sup> But before you have begun the attack, and while your plans are ripening like grapes, he will cut you off as though with pruning shears. He will snip the spreading tendrils. <sup>6</sup> Your mighty army will be left dead on the field for the mountain birds and wild animals to eat; the vultures will tear bodies all summer, and the wild animals will gnaw bones all winter. <sup>7</sup> But the time will come when that strong and mighty nation, a terror to all both far and near, that conquering, destroying nation whose land the rivers divide, will bring gifts to the Lord of Hosts in Jerusalem, where he has placed his name.

19 THIS IS GOD'S message concerning Egypt:

Look, the Lord is coming against Egypt, riding on a swift cloud; the idols of Egypt tremble; the hearts of the Egyptians melt with fear. <sup>2</sup> I will set them to fighting against each other—brother against brother, neighbor against neighbor, city against city, province against province. <sup>3</sup> Her wise counselors are all at their wits' ends to know what to do; they plead with their idols for wisdom, and call upon mediums, wizards and witches to show them what to do.

<sup>11</sup> What fools the counselors of Zoan are! Their best counsel to the king of Egypt is utterly stupid and wrong. Will they still boast of their wisdom? Will they dare tell Pharaoh about the long line of wise men they have come from? <sup>12</sup> What has happened to your "wise counselors," O Pharaoh? Where has their wisdom gone? If they are wise, let them tell you what the Lord is going to do to Egypt. <sup>13</sup> The "wise men" from Zoan are also fools, and those from Memphis are utterly deluded. They are the best you can find, but they have ruined Egypt with their foolish counsel. <sup>14</sup> The Lord has sent a spirit of foolishness on them, so that all their suggestions are wrong; they make Egypt stagger like a sick drunkard. <sup>15</sup> Egypt cannot be saved by anything or anybody—no one can show her the way.

<sup>16</sup> In that day the Egyptians will be as weak as women, cowering in fear beneath the upraised fist of God. <sup>17</sup> Just to speak the name of Israel will strike deep terror in their hearts, for the Lord of Hosts has laid his plans against them.

<sup>18</sup> At that time five of the cities of Egypt will follow the Lord of Hosts and will begin to speak the Hebrew language.<sup>a</sup> One of these will be Heliopolis, "The City of the Sun." <sup>19</sup> And there will be an altar to the Lord in the heart of Egypt in those days, and a monument to the Lord at its border.

<sup>20</sup> This will be for a sign of loyalty to the Lord of Hosts; then when they cry to the Lord for help against those who oppress them, he will send them a Savior—and he shall deliver them.

<sup>21</sup> In that day the Lord will make himself known to the Egyptians. Yes, they will know the Lord and give their sacrifices and offerings to him; they will make promises to

God and keep them. <sup>22</sup> The Lord will smite Egypt and then restore her! For the Egyptians will turn to the Lord and he will listen to their plea and heal them.

<sup>23</sup> In that day Egypt and Iraq<sup>b</sup> will be connected by a highway, and the Egyptians and the Iraqi will move freely back and forth between their lands, and they shall worship the same God.

<sup>24</sup> And Israel will be their ally; the three will be together, and Israel will be a blessing to them. <sup>25</sup> For the Lord will bless Egypt and Iraq because of their friendship<sup>c</sup> with Israel. He will say, "Blessed be Egypt, my people; blessed be Iraq, the land I have made; blessed be Israel, my inheritance!"

20 IN THE YEAR when Sargon, king of Assyria, sent the commander-in-chief of his army against the Philistine city of Ashdod and captured it, <sup>2</sup> the Lord told Isaiah, the son of Amoz, to take off his clothing, including his shoes, and to walk around naked and barefoot. And Isaiah did as he was told.

<sup>3</sup> Then the Lord said, My servant Isaiah, who has been walking naked and barefoot for the last three years, is a symbol of the terrible troubles I will bring upon Egypt and Ethiopia. <sup>4</sup> For the king of Assyria will take away the Egyptians and Ethiopians as prisoners, making them walk naked and barefoot, both young and old, their buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Egypt.

And they will say, "If this can happen to Egypt, what chance have we?"

21 THIS IS GOD'S message concerning Babylon:<sup>a</sup>

Disaster is roaring down upon you from the terrible desert, like a whirlwind sweeping from the Negeb. <sup>2</sup> I see an awesome vision: oh, the horror of it all! God is telling me what he is going to do. I see you plundered and destroyed. Elamites and Medes will take part in the siege. Babylon will fall, and the groaning of all the nations she enslaved will end. <sup>3</sup> My stomach constricts and burns with pain; sharp pangs of horror are upon me, like the pangs of a woman giving birth to a child. I faint when I hear what God is planning; I am terrified, blinded with dismay. <sup>4</sup> My mind reels; my heart races; I am gripped by awful fear. All rest at night—so pleasant once—is gone; I lie awake, trembling.

in pairs on donkeys and camels,<sup>e</sup> tell him, "This is it!"

<sup>9</sup> So I put the watchman on the wall, and at last he shouted, "Sir, day after day and night after night I have been here at my post. Now at last—look! Here come riders in pairs!"

Then I heard a Voice shout out, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen; and all the idols of Babylon lie broken on the ground."

<sup>10</sup> O my people, threshed and winnowed, I have told you all that the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, has said.

Someone from among you keeps calling, calling to me: "Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night? How much time is left?"

<sup>12</sup> The watchman replies, "Your judgment day is dawning now. Turn again to God, so that I can give you better news. Seek for him, then come and ask again!"

O caravans from Dedam, you will hide in the deserts of Arabia.

<sup>17</sup> Only a few of its stalwart archers will survive." The Lord, the God of Israel, has spoken.

22 THIS IS GOD'S message concerning Jerusalem:<sup>a</sup>

What is happening? Where is everyone going? Why are they running to the rooftops? What are they looking at? <sup>2</sup> The whole city is in terrible uproar. What's the trouble in this busy, happy city?<sup>b</sup> Bodies! Lying everywhere, slain by plague<sup>b</sup> and not by sword. <sup>3</sup> All your leaders flee; they surrender without resistance. The people slip away but they are captured, too. <sup>4</sup> Let me alone to weep. Don't try to comfort me—let me cry for my people as I watch them being destroyed. <sup>5</sup> Oh, what a day of crushing trouble! What a day of confusion and terror from the Lord God of heaven's armies! The walls of Jerusalem are breached and the cry of death echoes from the mountainsides. <sup>6</sup> Elamites are the archers; Syrians drive the chariots; the men of Kir hold up the shields. They fill your choicest valleys and crowd against your gates.

<sup>7</sup> God has removed his protecting care. You run to the armory for your weapons! <sup>8,10,11</sup> You inspect the walls of Jerusalem to see what needs repair! You check over the houses and tear some down for stone for fixing walls. Between the city walls, you build a reservoir for water from the lower pool! But all your feverish plans will not avail, for you never ask for help from God, who lets this come upon you. He is the one who planned it long ago. <sup>12</sup> The Lord God of Hosts called you to repent, to weep and mourn and shave your heads in sorrow for your sins, and to wear clothes made of sackcloth to show your remorse. <sup>13</sup> But instead, you sing and dance and play, and feast and drink. "Let us eat, drink, and be merry," you say: "What's the difference, for tomorrow we die." <sup>14</sup> The Lord of Hosts has revealed to me that this sin will never be forgiven you until the day you die.

<sup>15,16</sup> Furthermore, the same Lord God of the armies of heaven has told me this: Go and say to Shebna, the palace administrator: "And who do you think you are, building this beautiful sepulchre in the rock for yourself? <sup>17</sup> For the Lord who allowed you to be clothed so gorgeously will hurl you away, sending you into captivity, O strong man! <sup>18</sup> He will wad you up in his hands like a ball and toss you away into a distant, barren land; there you will die, O glorious one—you who disgrace your nation!

<sup>19</sup> "Yes, I will drive you out of office," says the Lord, "and pull you down from your high position. <sup>20</sup> And then I will call my servant Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, to replace you. <sup>21</sup> He shall have your uniform and title and authority, and he will be a father to the people of Jerusalem and all Judah. <sup>22</sup> I will give him responsibility over all my people; whatever he says will be done; none will be able to stop him. <sup>23,24</sup> I will make of him a strong and steady peg to support my people; they will load him with responsibility, and he will be an honor to his family name." <sup>25</sup> But the Lord will pull out that other peg that seems to be so firmly fastened to the wall! It will come out and fall to the ground, and everything it supports will fall with it, for the Lord has spoken.

23 THIS IS GOD'S message to Tyre:

Weep, O ships of Tyre, returning home from distant lands!<sup>a</sup> Weep for your harbor, for it is gone! The rumors that you heard in Cyprus are all true. <sup>23</sup> Deathly silence is everywhere. Stillness reigns where once your hustling port was full of ships from Sidon, bringing merchandise from far across the ocean, from Egypt and along the Nile. You were the merchandise mart of the world. <sup>4</sup> Be ashamed, O Sidon,<sup>a</sup> stronghold of the sea. For you are childless now! <sup>5</sup> When Egypt hears the news, there will be great sorrow. <sup>6</sup> Flee to Tarshish, men of Tyre, weeping as you go. <sup>7</sup> This silent ruin is all that's left of your once joyous land. What a history was yours! Think of all the colonists you sent to distant lands!

kingdoms of the earth; he has spoken out against this great merchant city, to destroy its strength.

<sup>12</sup> He says, "Never again, O dishonored virgin, daughter of Sidon, will you rejoice, will you be strong. Even if you flee to Cyprus, you will find no rest."

<sup>13</sup> It will be the Babylonians, not the Assyrians, who consign Tyre to the wild beasts. They will lay siege to it, raze its palaces and make it a heap of ruins. <sup>14</sup> Wail, you ships that ply the oceans, for your home port is destroyed!

<sup>15,16</sup> For seventy years Tyre will be forgotten. Then, in the days of another king, the city will come back to life again; she will sing sweet songs as a harlot sings who, long absent from her lovers, walks the streets to look for them again and is remembered. <sup>17</sup> Yes, after seventy years, the Lord will revive Tyre, but she will be no different than she was before; she will return again to all her evil ways around the world. <sup>18</sup> Yet [the distant time will come when<sup>b</sup>] her businesses will give their profits to the Lord! They will not be hoarded but used for good food and fine clothes for the priests of the Lord!

24 LOOK! THE LORD is overturning the land of Judah and making it a vast wasteland of destruction. See how he is emptying out all its people and scattering them over the face of the earth. <sup>1</sup> Priests and people, servants and masters, slave girls and mistresses, buyers and sellers, lenders and borrowers, bankers and debtors—none will be spared. <sup>2</sup> The land will be completely emptied and looted. The Lord has spoken. <sup>3,4</sup> The land suffers for the sins of its people. The earth languishes, the crops wither, the skies refuse their rain. The land is defiled by crime; the people have twisted the laws of God and broken his everlasting commands. <sup>5</sup> Therefore the curse of God is upon them; they are left desolate, destroyed by the drought. Few will be left alive.

But my heart is heavy with grief, for evil still prevails and treachery is everywhere. <sup>17</sup> Terror and the captivity of hell are still your lot, O men of the world. <sup>18</sup> When you flee in terror you will fall into a pit, and if you escape from the pit you will step into a trap, for destruction falls from the heavens upon you; the world is shaken beneath you. <sup>19</sup> The earth has broken down in utter collapse; everything is lost, abandoned and confused. <sup>20</sup> The world staggers like a drunkard; it shakes like a tent in a storm. It falls and will not rise again, for the sins of the earth are very great.

<sup>21</sup> On that day the Lord will punish the fallen angels in the heavens, and the proud rulers of the nations on earth. <sup>22</sup> They will be rounded up like prisoners and imprisoned in a dungeon until they are tried and condemned. <sup>23</sup> Then the Lord of heaven's armies will mount his throne in Zion and rule gloriously in Jerusalem, in the sight of all the elders of his people. Such glory there will be that all the brightness of the sun and moon will seem to fade away.

25 O LORD, I will honor and praise your name, for you are my God; you do such wonderful things! You planned them long ago, and now you have accomplished them, just as you said! <sup>2</sup> You turn mighty cities into heaps of ruins. The strongest forts are turned to rubble. Beautiful palaces in distant lands disappear and never will be rebuilt. <sup>3</sup> Therefore strong nations will shake with fear before you; ruthless nations will obey and glorify your name.

earthen wall. <sup>5</sup> As a hot, dry land is cooled by clouds, you will cool the pride of ruthless nations. <sup>6</sup> Here on Mount Zion in Jerusalem, the Lord of Hosts will spread a wondrous feast for everyone around the world—a delicious feast of good food, with clear, well-aged wine and choice beef. <sup>7</sup> At that time he will remove the cloud of gloom, the pall of death that hangs over the earth; <sup>8</sup> he will swallow up death forever. The Lord God will wipe away all tears and take away forever all insults and mockery against his land and people. The Lord has spoken—he will surely do it!

<sup>9</sup> In that day the people will proclaim, "This is our God, in whom we trust, for whom we waited. Now at last he is here." What a day of rejoicing! <sup>10</sup> For the Lord's good hand will rest upon Jerusalem, and Moab will be crushed as straw beneath his feet and left to rot. <sup>11</sup> God will push them down just as a swimmer pushes down the water with his hands. He will end their pride and all their evil works. <sup>12</sup> The high walls of Moab will be demolished and brought to dust.

26 LISTEN TO THEM singing! In that day the whole land of Judah will sing this song:

"Our city is strong! We are surrounded by the walls of his salvation!" <sup>2</sup> Open the gates to everyone, for all may enter in who love the Lord. <sup>3</sup> He will keep in perfect peace all those who trust in him, whose thoughts turn often to the Lord! <sup>4</sup> Trust in the Lord God always, for in the Lord Jehovah is your everlasting strength. <sup>5</sup> He humbles the proud and brings the haughty city to the dust; its walls come crashing down. <sup>6</sup> He presents it to the poor and needy for their use.

<sup>8</sup> O Lord, we love to do your will! Our hearts' desire is to glorify your name. <sup>9</sup> All night long I search for you; earnestly I seek for God; for only when you come in judgment on the earth to punish it will people turn away from wickedness and do what is right.

<sup>10</sup> Your kindness to the wicked doesn't make them good; they keep on doing wrong and take no notice of your majesty. <sup>11</sup> They do not listen when you threaten; they will not look to see your upraised fist. Show them how much you love your people. Perhaps then they will be ashamed! Yes, let them be burned up by the fire reserved for your enemies.

<sup>12</sup> Lord, grant us peace; for all we have and are has come from you.

<sup>13</sup> O Lord our God, once we worshiped other gods; but now we worship you alone. <sup>14</sup> Those we served before are dead and gone; never again will they return. You came against them and destroyed them, and they are long forgotten. <sup>15</sup> O praise the Lord! He has made our nation very great. He has widened the boundaries of our land!

missed your presence, Lord! We suffered as a woman giving birth, who cries and writhes in pain. <sup>18</sup> We too have writhed in agony, but all to no avail. No deliverance has come from all our efforts. <sup>19</sup> Yet we have this assurance: Those who belong to God shall live again. Their bodies shall rise again! Those who dwell in the dust shall awake and sing for joy! For God's light of life will fall like dew upon them!

<sup>20</sup> Go home, my people, and lock the doors! Hide for a little while until the Lord's wrath against your enemies has passed. <sup>21</sup> Look! The Lord is coming from the heavens to punish the people of the earth for their sins. The earth will no longer hide the murderers. The guilty will be found.

27 IN THAT DAY the Lord will take his terrible, swift sword and punish leviathan, the swiftly moving serpent, the coiling, writhing serpent, the dragon of the sea.

<sup>3</sup> Israel<sup>a</sup> is my vineyard; I, the Lord, will tend the fruitful vines; every day I'll water them, and day and night I'll watch to keep all enemies away. <sup>4,5</sup> My anger against Israel<sup>a</sup> is gone. If I find thorns and briars bothering her, I will burn them up, unless these enemies of mine surrender and beg for peace and my protection. <sup>6</sup> The time will come when Israel will take root and bud and blossom and fill the whole earth with her fruit!

mies? No, for he has devastated her enemies,<sup>b</sup> while he has punished Israel but a little, exiling her far from her own land as though blown away in a storm from the east.<sup>9</sup> And why did God do it? It was to purge away<sup>c</sup> her sins, to rid her of all her idol altars and her idols. They will never be worshiped again.<sup>10</sup> Her walled cities will be silent and empty, houses abandoned, streets grown up with grass, cows grazing through the city munching on twigs and branches.

<sup>11</sup> My people are like the dead branches of a tree, broken off and used to burn beneath the pots. They are a foolish nation, a witless, stupid people, for they turn away from God. Therefore, he who made them will not have pity on them or show them his mercy.<sup>12</sup> Yet the time will come when the Lord will gather them together one by one like hand-picked grain, selecting them here and there from his great threshing floor that reaches all the way from the Euphrates River to the Egyptian boundary.<sup>13</sup> In that day the great trumpet will be blown, and many about to perish among their enemies, Assyria and Egypt, will be rescued and brought back to Jerusalem to worship the Lord in his holy mountain.

28 WOE TO THE city of Samaria, surrounded by her rich valley—Samaria, the pride and delight of the drunkards of Israel! Woe to her fading beauty, the crowning glory of a nation of men lying drunk in the streets! <sup>2</sup> For the Lord will send a mighty army (the Assyrians) against you; like a mighty hailstorm he will burst upon you and dash you to the ground.<sup>3</sup> The proud city of Samaria—yes, the joy and delight of the drunkards of Israel—will be hurled to the ground and trampled beneath the enemies' feet.<sup>4</sup> Once glorious, her fading beauty surrounded by a fertile valley will suddenly be gone, greedily snatched away as an early fig is hungrily snatched and gobbled up!

<sup>9</sup> "Who does Isaiah think he is," the people say, "to speak to us like this! Are we little children, barely old enough to talk?"<sup>10</sup> He tells us everything over and over again, a line at a time and in such simple words!"

<sup>11</sup> But they won't listen; the only language they can understand is punishment! So God will punish them by sending against them foreigners who speak strange gibberish! Only then will they listen to him!<sup>12</sup> They could have rest in their own land if they would obey him, if they were kind and good. He told them that, but they wouldn't listen to him.<sup>13</sup> So the Lord will spell it out for them again, repeating it over and over in simple words whenever he can; yet over this simple, straightforward message they will stumble and fall and be broken, trapped and captured.

<sup>15</sup> You have struck a bargain with Death, you say, and sold yourselves to the devil<sup>a</sup> in exchange for his protection against the Assyrians. "They can never touch us," you say, "for we are under the care of one who will deceive and fool them."

<sup>16</sup> But the Lord God says, See, I am placing a Foundation Stone in Zion—a firm, tested, precious Cornerstone that is safe to build on. He who believes need never run away again. <sup>17</sup> I will take the line and plummet of justice to check the foundation wall you built; it looks so fine, but it is so weak a storm of hail will knock it down! The enemy will come like a flood and sweep it away, and you will be drowned. <sup>18</sup> I will cancel your agreement of compromise with Death and the devil, so when the terrible enemy floods in, you will be trampled into the ground. <sup>19</sup> Again and again that flood will come and carry you off, until at last the unmixed horror of the truth of my warnings will finally dawn on you.

<sup>22</sup> So scoff no more, lest your punishment be made even greater, for the Lord God of Hosts has plainly told me that he is determined to crush you.

29 WOE TO JERUSALEM,<sup>a</sup> the city of David. Year after year you make your many offerings, <sup>2</sup> but I will send heavy judgment upon you and there will be weeping and sorrow. For Jerusalem shall become as her name "Ariel" means—an altar covered with blood. <sup>3</sup> I will be your enemy. I will surround Jerusalem and lay siege against it, and build forts around it to destroy it. <sup>4</sup> Your voice will whisper like a ghost from the earth where you lie buried.

<sup>8</sup> As a hungry man dreams of eating, but is still hungry, and as a thirsty man dreams of drinking, but is still faint from thirst when he wakes up, so your enemies will dream of victorious conquest, but all to no avail.

<sup>9</sup> You are amazed, incredulous? You don't believe it? Then go ahead and be blind if you must! You are stupid—and not from drinking, either! Stagger, and not from wine!

<sup>10</sup> For the Lord has poured out upon you a spirit of deep sleep. He has closed the eyes of your prophets and seers, <sup>11</sup> so all of these future events are a sealed book to them. When you give it to one who can read, he says, "I can't, for it's sealed." <sup>12</sup> When you give it to another, he says, "Sorry, I can't read."

<sup>13</sup> And so the Lord says, "Since these people say they are mine but they do not obey me, and since their worship amounts to mere words learned by rote, <sup>14</sup> therefore I will take awesome vengeance on these hypocrites, and make their wisest counselors as fools."

<sup>15</sup> Woe to those who try to hide their plans from God, who try to keep him in the dark concerning what they do! "God can't see us," they say to themselves. "He doesn't know what is going on!" <sup>16</sup> How stupid can they be! Isn't he, the Potter, greater than you, the jars he makes? Will you say to him, "He didn't make us?" Does a machine call its inventor dumb?

<sup>17</sup> Soon—and it will not be very long—the wilderness of Lebanon will be a fruitful field again, a lush and fertile forest. <sup>18</sup> In that day the deaf will hear the words of a book, and out of their gloom and darkness the blind will see my plans. <sup>19</sup> The meek will be filled with fresh joy from the Lord, and the poor shall exult in the Holy One of Israel. <sup>20</sup> Bullies will vanish and scoffers will cease, and all those plotting evil will be killed— <sup>21</sup> the violent man who fights at the drop of a hat, the man who waits in hiding to beat up the judge who sentenced him, and the men who use any excuse to be unfair.

<sup>22</sup> That is why the Lord who re-deemed Abraham says: My people will no longer pale with fear, or be ashamed. <sup>23</sup> For when they see the surging birth rate and the expanding economy,<sup>b</sup> then they will fear and rejoice in my name, and praise the Holy One of Israel, and stand in awe of him. <sup>24</sup> Those in error will believe the truth, and complainers will be willing to be taught!

30 WOE TO MY rebellious children, says the Lord; you ask advice from everyone but me, and decide to do what I don't want you to do. You yoke yourselves with unbelievers, thus piling up your sins. <sup>2</sup> For without consulting me you have gone down to Egypt to find aid and have put your trust in Pharaoh for his protection.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup> But in trusting Pharaoh, you will be disappointed, humiliated and disgraced, for he can't deliver on his promises to save you. 'For though his power extends to Zoan and Hanes, 'yet it will all turn out to your shame—he won't help one little bit!

<sup>6</sup> See them moving slowly across the terrible desert to Egypt—donkeys and camels laden down with treasure to pay for Egypt's aid. On through the badlands they go, where lions and swift venomous snakes live—and Egypt will give you nothing in return! 'For Egypt's promises are worthless! "The Reluctant Dragon,"<sup>b</sup> I call her!

<sup>8</sup> Now go and write down this word of mine concerning Egypt, so that it will stand until the end of time, forever and forever, as an indictment of Israel's unbelief. <sup>9</sup> For if you don't write it, they will claim I never warned them. "Oh, no," they'll say, "you never told us that!"

For they are stubborn rebels. <sup>10,11</sup> They tell my prophets, "Shut up—we don't want any more of your reports!" Or they say, "Don't tell us the truth; tell us nice things; tell us lies. Forget all this gloom; we've heard more than enough about your 'Holy One of Israel' and all he says."

Because you despise what I tell you and trust instead in frauds and lies and won't repent, <sup>13</sup> therefore calamity will come upon you suddenly, as upon a bulging wall that bursts and falls; in one moment it comes crashing down. <sup>14</sup> God will smash you like a broken dish; he will not act sparingly. Not a piece will be left large enough to use for carrying coals from the hearth, or a little water from the well. <sup>15</sup> For the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, says: Only in returning to me and waiting for me will you be saved; in quietness and confidence is your strength; but you'll have none of this.

<sup>16</sup> "No," you say. "We will get our help from Egypt; they will give us swift horses for riding to battle." But the only swiftness you are going to see is the swiftness of your enemies chasing you! <sup>17</sup> One of them will chase a thousand of you! Five of them will scatter you until not two of you are left together. You will be like lonely trees on the distant mountain tops. <sup>18</sup> Yet the Lord still waits for you to come to him, so he can show you his love; he will conquer you to bless you, just as he said. For the Lord is faithful to his promises. Blessed are all those who wait for him to help them.

<sup>19</sup> O my people in Jerusalem, you shall weep no more, for he will surely be gracious to you at the sound of your cry. He will answer you. <sup>20</sup> Though he give you the bread of adversity and water of affliction, yet he will be with you to teach you—with your own eyes you will see your Teacher. <sup>21</sup> And if you leave God's paths and go astray, you will hear a Voice behind you say, "No, this is the way; walk here." <sup>22</sup> And you will destroy all your silver idols and golden images and cast them out like filthy things you hate to touch. "Ugh!" you'll say to them. "Be gone!"

<sup>23</sup> Then God will bless you with rain at planting time and with wonderful harvests and with ample pastures for your cows. <sup>24</sup> The oxen and young donkeys that till the ground will eat grain, its chaff blown away by the wind. <sup>25</sup> In that day when God steps in to destroy your enemies, he will give you streams of water flowing down each mountain and every hill. <sup>26</sup> The moon will be as bright as the sun, and the sunlight brighter than seven days! So it will be when the Lord begins to heal his people and to cure the wounds he gave them.

<sup>29</sup> But the people of God will sing a song of solemn joy, like songs in the night when holy feasts are held; his people will have gladness of heart, as when a flutist leads a pilgrim band to Jerusalem to the Mountain of the Lord, the Rock of Israel. <sup>30</sup> And the Lord shall cause his majestic voice to be heard and shall crush down his mighty arm upon his enemies with angry indignation and with devouring flames and tornados and terrible storms and huge hailstones. <sup>31</sup> The voice of the Lord shall punish the Assyrians, who had been his rod of punishment. <sup>32</sup> And when the Lord smites them, his people will rejoice with music and song. <sup>33</sup> The funeral pyre has long been ready, prepared for Molech, the Assyrian god; it is piled high with wood. The breath of the Lord, like fire from a volcano, will set it all on fire.

31 WOE TO THOSE who run to Egypt for help, trusting their mighty cavalry and chariots instead of looking to the Holy One of Israel and consulting him. <sup>2</sup> In his wisdom, he will send great evil on his people and will not change his mind. He will rise against them for the evil they have done, and crush their allies too. <sup>3</sup> For these Egyptians are mere men, not God! Their horses are puny flesh, not mighty spirits! When the Lord clenches his fist against them, they will stumble and fall among those they are trying to help. All will fail together.

<sup>4,5</sup> But the Lord has told me this: When a lion, even a young one, kills a sheep, he pays no attention to the shepherd's shouts and noise. He goes right on and eats. In such manner the Lord will come and fight upon Mount Zion. He will not be frightened away! He, the Lord of Hosts, will hover over Jerusalem as birds hover round their nests, and he will defend the city and deliver it.

<sup>6</sup> Therefore, O my people, though you are such wicked rebels, come, return to God. <sup>7</sup> I know the glorious day will come when every one of you will throw away his golden idols and silver images—which in your sinfulness you have made. <sup>8</sup> And the Assyrians will be destroyed, but not by swords of men. The "sword of God" will smite them. They will panic and flee, and the strong young Assyrians will be taken away as slaves. <sup>9</sup> Even their generals will quake with terror and flee when they see the battle flags of Israel, says the Lord. For the flame of God burns brightly in Jerusalem.

32 LOOK, A RIGHTEOUS King is coming, with honest princes! <sup>2</sup> He will shelter Israel from the storm and wind. He will refresh her as a river in the desert and as the cooling shadow of a mighty rock within a hot and weary land. <sup>3</sup> Then at last the eyes of Israel will open wide to God; his people will listen to his voice. <sup>4</sup> Even the hotheads among them will be full of sense and understanding, and those who stammer in uncertainty will speak out plainly.

<sup>5</sup> In those days the ungodly, the atheists, will not be heroes! Wealthy cheaters will not be spoken of as generous, outstanding men! <sup>6</sup> Everyone will recognize an evil man when he sees him, and hypocrites will fool no one at all. Their lies about God and their cheating of the hungry will be plain for all to see. <sup>7</sup> The smooth tricks of evil men will be exposed, as will all the lies they use to oppress the poor in the courts. <sup>8</sup> But good men will be generous to others and will be blessed of God for all they do.

<sup>9</sup> Listen, you women who loll around in lazy ease; listen to me and I will tell you your reward: <sup>10</sup> In a short time—in just a little more than a year—suddenly you'll care, O careless ones. For the crops of fruit will fail; the harvest will not take place. <sup>11</sup> Tremble, O women of ease; throw off your unconcern. Strip off your pretty clothes—wear sackcloth for your grief. <sup>12</sup> Beat your breasts in sorrow for those bountiful farms of yours that will soon be gone, and for those fruitful vines of other years. <sup>13</sup> For your lands will thrive with thorns and briars; your joyous homes and happy cities will be gone. <sup>14</sup> Palaces and mansions will all be deserted, the crowded cities empty. Wild herds of donkeys and goats will graze upon the mountains where the watchtowers are, <sup>15</sup> until at last the Spirit is poured down on us from heaven. Then once again enormous crops will come. <sup>16</sup> Then justice will rule through all the land, <sup>17</sup> and out of justice, peace. Quietness and confidence will reign forever more.

<sup>18</sup> My people will live in safety, quietly at home, <sup>19</sup> but the Assyrians<sup>a</sup> will be destroyed and their cities laid low. <sup>20</sup> And God will greatly bless his people. Wherever they plant, bountiful crops will spring up, and their flocks and herds will graze in green pastures.

33 WOE TO YOU, Assyrians,<sup>a</sup> who have destroyed everything around you but have never felt destruction for yourselves. You expect others to respect their promises to you, while you betray them! Now you, too, will be betrayed and destroyed.

<sup>5</sup> The Lord is very great, and lives in heaven. He will make Jerusalem the home of justice and goodness and righteousness. <sup>6</sup> An abundance of salvation is stored up for Judah in a safe place, along with wisdom and knowledge and reverence for God.

<sup>7</sup> But now your ambassadors weep in bitter disappointment, for Assyria has refused their cry for peace. <sup>8</sup> Your roads lie in ruins; travelers detour on back roads. The Assyrians have broken their peace pact<sup>c</sup> and care nothing for the promises they made in the presence of witnesses—they have no respect for anyone. <sup>9</sup> All the land of Israel is in trouble; Lebanon has been destroyed; Sharon has become a wilderness; Bashan and Carmel are plundered.

<sup>10</sup> But the Lord says, I will stand up and show my power and might. <sup>11</sup> You Assyrians will gain nothing by all your efforts. Your own breath will turn to fire and kill you. <sup>12</sup> Your armies will be burned to lime, like thorns cut down and tossed in the fire.

<sup>13</sup> Listen to what I have done, O nations far away! And you that are near, acknowledge my might! <sup>14</sup> The sinners among my people shake with fear. "Which one of us," they cry, "can live here in the presence of this all-consuming, Everlasting Fire?" <sup>15</sup> I will tell you who can live here: All who are honest and fair, who reject making profit by fraud, who hold back their hands from taking bribes, who refuse to listen to those who plot murder, who shut their eyes to all enticement to do wrong. <sup>16</sup> Such as these shall dwell on high. The rocks of the mountains will be their fortress of safety; food will be supplied to them and they will have all the water they need.

<sup>17</sup> Your eyes will see the King in his beauty, and the highlands of heaven far away. <sup>18</sup> Your mind will think back to this time of terror when the Assyrian officers outside your walls are counting your towers and estimating how much they will get from your fallen city. <sup>19</sup> But soon they will all be gone. These fierce, violent people, with a strange, jabbering language you can't understand, will disappear.

<sup>20</sup> Instead you will see Jerusalem at peace, a place where God is worshiped, a city quiet and unmoved. <sup>21</sup> The glorious Lord will be to us as a wide river of protection, and no enemy can cross. <sup>22</sup> For the Lord is our Judge, our Lawgiver and our King; he will care for us and save us. <sup>23</sup> The enemies' sails hang loose on broken masts with useless tackle. Their treasure will be divided by the people of God; even the lame will win their share. <sup>24</sup> The people of Israel will no longer say, "We are sick and helpless," for the Lord will forgive them their sins and bless them.

destroy them and deliver them to slaughter. <sup>3</sup> Their dead will be left unburied, and the stench of rotting bodies will fill the land, and the mountains will flow with their blood. <sup>4</sup> At that time the heavens above will melt away and disappear just like a rolled-up scroll, and the stars will fall as leaves, as ripe fruit from the trees.

<sup>5</sup> And when my sword has finished its work in the heavens, then watch, for it will fall upon Edom, the people I have doomed. <sup>6</sup> The sword of the Lord is sated with blood; it is gorged with flesh as though used for slaying lambs and goats for sacrifice. For the Lord will slay a great sacrifice in Edom and make a mighty slaughter there. <sup>7</sup> The strongest will perish, young boys and veterans too. The land will be soaked with blood, and the soil made rich with fat. <sup>8</sup> For it is the day of vengeance, the year of recompense for what Edom has done to Israel. <sup>9</sup> The streams of Edom will be filled with burning pitch, and the ground will be covered with fire.

<sup>10</sup> This judgment on Edom will never end. Its smoke will rise up forever. The land will lie deserted from generation to generation; no one will live there anymore. <sup>11</sup> There the hawks and porcupines will live, and owls and ravens. For God will observe that land and find it worthy of destruction. He will test its nobles and find them worthy of death. <sup>12</sup> It will be called "The Land of Nothing," and its princes soon will all be gone. <sup>13</sup> Thorns will overrun the palaces, and nettles will grow in its forts, and it will become the haunt of jackals and a home for ostriches. <sup>14</sup> The wild animals of the desert will mingle there with wolves and hyenas. Their howls will fill the night. There the night-monsters will scream at each other, and the demons will come there to rest. <sup>15</sup> There the owl will make her nest and lay her eggs and hatch her young and nestle them beneath her wings, and the kites will come, each one with its mate.

<sup>16</sup> Search the Book of the Lord and see all that he will do; not one detail will he miss; not one kite will be there without a mate, for the Lord has said it, and his Spirit will make it all come true. <sup>17</sup> He has surveyed and subdivided the land and deeded it to those doleful creatures; they shall possess it forever, from generation to generation.

35 EVEN THE WILDERNESS and desert will rejoice in those days; the desert will blossom with flowers. <sup>2</sup> Yes, there will be an abundance of flowers and singing and joy! The deserts will become as green as the Lebanon mountains, as lovely as Mount Carmel's pastures and Shafon's meadows; for the Lord will display his glory there, the excellency of our God.

<sup>8</sup> And a main road will go through that once-deserted land; it will be named "The Holy Highway." No evil-hearted men may walk upon it. God will walk there with you; even the most stupid cannot miss the way. <sup>9</sup> No lion will lurk along its course, nor will there be any other dangers; only the redeemed will travel there. <sup>10</sup> These, the ransomed of the Lord, will go home along that road to Zion, singing the songs of everlasting joy. For them all sorrow and all sighing will be gone forever; only joy and gladness will be there.

36 SO IN THE fourteenth year of King Hezekiah's reign, Sennacherib, king of Assyria, came to fight against the walled cities of Judah and conquered them. <sup>2</sup> Then he sent his personal representative with a great army from Lachish to confer with King Hezekiah in Jerusalem. He camped near the outlet of the upper pool, along the road going past the field where cloth is bleached.

<sup>3</sup> Then Eliakim, Hilkiah's son, who was the prime minister of Israel, and Shebna, the king's scribe, and Joah (Asaph's son), the royal secretary, formed a truce team and went out of the city to meet with him. <sup>4</sup> The Assyrian ambassador told them to go and say to Hezekiah, "The mighty king of Assyria says you are a fool to think that the king of Egypt will help you. <sup>5</sup> What are the Pharaoh's promises worth? Mere words won't substitute for strength, yet you rely on him for help, and have rebelled against me! <sup>6</sup> Egypt is a dangerous ally. She is a sharpened stick that will pierce your hand if you lean on it. That is the experience of everyone who has ever looked to her for help. <sup>7</sup> But perhaps you say, 'We are trusting in the Lord our God!' Oh? Isn't he the one your king insulted, tearing down his temples and altars in the hills and making everyone in Judah worship only at the altars here in Jerusalem? <sup>8</sup> My master, the king of Assyria, wants to make a little bet with you!—that you don't have 2,000 men left in your entire army! If you do, he will give you 2,000 horses for them to ride on! With that tiny army, how can you think of proceeding against even the smallest and worst contingent of my master's troops? For you'll get no help from Egypt. <sup>10</sup> What's more, do you think I have come here without the Lord's telling me to take this land? The Lord said to me, 'Go and destroy it!' "

<sup>12</sup> But he replied, "My master wants everyone in Jerusalem to hear this, not just you. He wants them to know that if you don't surrender, this city will be put under siege until everyone is so hungry and thirsty that he will eat his own dung and drink his own urine."

<sup>12</sup> "Don't let Hezekiah fool you—nothing he can do will save you. <sup>13</sup> Don't let him talk you into trusting in the Lord by telling you the Lord won't let you be conquered by the king of Assyria. <sup>14</sup> Don't listen to Hezekiah, for here is the king of Assyria's offer to you: Give me a present as a token of surrender; open the gates and come out, and I will let you each have your own farm and garden and water, <sup>15</sup> until I can arrange to take you to a country very similar to this one—a country where there are bountiful harvests of grain and grapes, a land of plenty. <sup>16</sup> Don't let Hezekiah deprive you of all this by saying the Lord will deliver you from my armies. Has any other nation's gods ever gained victory over the armies of the king of Assyria? <sup>17</sup> Don't you remember what I did to Hamath and Arpad? Did their gods save them? And what about Sepharvaim and Samaria? Where are their gods now? <sup>18</sup> Of all the gods of these lands, which one has ever delivered their people from my power? Name just one! And do you think this God of yours can deliver Jerusalem from me? Don't be ridiculous!"

<sup>19</sup> But the people were silent and answered not a word, for Hezekiah had told them to say nothing in reply. <sup>20</sup> Then Eliakim (son of Hilkiah), the prime minister, and Shebna, the royal scribe, and Joah (son of Asaph), the royal secretary, went back to Hezekiah with clothes ripped to shreds as a sign of their despair and told him all that had happened.

37 WHEN KING HEZEKIAH heard the results of the meeting, he tore his robes and wound himself in coarse cloth used for making sacks, as a sign of humility and mourning, and went over to the Temple to pray. <sup>2</sup> Meanwhile he sent Eliakim his prime minister, and Shebna his royal scribe, and the older priests—all dressed in sackcloth—to Isaiah the prophet, son of Amoz. <sup>3</sup> They brought him this message from Hezekiah:

"This is a day of trouble and frustration and blasphemy; it is a serious time, as when a woman is in heavy labor trying to give birth, and the child does not come. <sup>4</sup> But perhaps the Lord your God heard the blasphemy of the king of Assyria's representative as he scoffed at the Living God. Surely God won't let him get away with this. Surely God will rebuke him for those words. Oh, Isaiah, pray for us who are left!"

<sup>6</sup> Then Isaiah replied, "Tell King Hezekiah that the Lord says, Don't be disturbed by this speech from the servant of the king of Assyria, and his blasphemy. <sup>7</sup> For a report from Assyria will reach the king that he is needed at home at once, and he will return to his own land, where I will have him killed."

Ethiopia, was leading an army against him [from the south<sup>a</sup>]. Upon hearing this, he sent messengers back to Jerusalem to Hezekiah with this message:

<sup>10</sup> "Don't let this God you trust in fool you by promising that Jerusalem will not be captured by the king of Assyria! <sup>11</sup> Just remember what has happened wherever the kings of Assyria have gone, for they have crushed everyone who has opposed them. Do you think you will be any different? <sup>12</sup> Did their gods save the cities of Gozan, Haran, or Rezeph, or the people of Eden in Telassar? No, the Assyrian kings completely destroyed them! <sup>13</sup> And don't forget what happened to the king of Hamath, to the king of Arpad, and to the kings of the cities of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah."

<sup>14</sup> As soon as King Hezekiah had read this letter, he went over to the Temple and spread it out before the Lord, <sup>15</sup> and prayed, saying, <sup>16,17</sup> "O Lord of Hosts, God of Israel enthroned above the cherubim, you alone are God of all the kingdoms of the earth. You alone made heaven and earth. Listen as I plead; see me as I pray. Look at this letter from King Sennacherib, for he has mocked the Living God. <sup>18</sup> It is true, O Lord, that the kings of Assyria have destroyed all those nations, just as the letter says, <sup>19</sup> and thrown their gods into the fire; for they weren't gods at all, but merely idols, carved by men from wood and stone. Of course the Assyrians could destroy them. <sup>20</sup> O Lord our God, save us so that all the kingdoms of the earth will know that you are God, and you alone."

<sup>21</sup> Then Isaiah, the son of Amoz, sent this message to King Hezekiah: "The Lord God of Israel says, This is my answer to your prayer against Sennacherib, Assyria's king.

<sup>22</sup> "The Lord says to him: My people—the helpless virgin daughter of Zion—laughs at you and scoffs and shakes her head at you in scorn. <sup>23</sup> Who is it you scoffed against and mocked? Whom did you revile? At whom did you direct your violence and pride? It was against the Holy One of Israel! <sup>24</sup> You have sent your messengers to mock the Lord. You boast, 'I came with my mighty army against the nations of the west. I cut down the tallest cedars and choicest cypress trees. I conquered their highest mountains and destroyed their thickest forests.'

<sup>25</sup> "You boast of wells you've dug in many a conquered land, and Egypt with all its armies is no obstacle to you! <sup>26</sup> But do you not yet know that it was I who decided all this long ago? That it was I who gave you all this power from ancient times? I have caused all this to happen as I planned—that you should crush walled cities into ruined heaps. <sup>27</sup> That's why their people had so little power, and were such easy prey for you. They were as helpless as the grass, as tender plants you trample down beneath your feet, as grass upon the housetops, burnt yellow by the sun. <sup>28</sup> But I know you well—your comings and goings and all you do—and the way you have raged against me.<sup>29</sup> Because of your anger against the Lord—and I heard it all!—I have put a hook in your nose and a bit in your mouth and led you back to your own land by the same road you came.”

<sup>30</sup> Then God said to Hezekiah, “Here is the proof that I am the one who is delivering this city from the king of Assyria: This year<sup>b</sup> he will abandon his siege. Although it is too late now to plant your crops, and you will have only volunteer grain this fall, still it will give you enough seed for a small harvest next year, and two years from now<sup>c</sup> you will be living in luxury again. <sup>31</sup> And you who are left in Judah will take root again in your own soil and flourish and multiply. <sup>32</sup> For a remnant shall go out from Jerusalem to repopulate the land; the power of the Lord of Hosts will cause all this to come to pass.

day while he was worshiping in the temple of Nisroch his god, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer killed him with their swords; then they escaped into the land of Ararat, and Esar-haddon his son became king.

38 IT WAS JUST before all this that Hezekiah became deathly sick and Isaiah the prophet (Amoz' son) went to visit him and gave him this message from the Lord:

“Set your affairs in order, for you are going to die; you will not recover from this illness.”

<sup>3</sup> “O Lord, don't you remember how true I've been to you and how I've always tried to obey you in everything you said?” Then he broke down with great sobs.

<sup>5</sup> “Go and tell Hezekiah that the Lord God of your forefather David hears you praying and sees your tears and will let you live fifteen more years. <sup>6</sup> He will deliver you and this city from the king of Assyria. I will defend you, says the Lord, <sup>7</sup> and here is my guarantee: <sup>8</sup> I will send the sun backwards ten degrees as measured on Ahaz' sun dial!”

So the sun retraced ten degrees that it had gone down!

my normal years, and now I must enter the gates of Sheol. <sup>11</sup> Never again will I see the Lord in the land of the living. Never again will I see my friends in this world. <sup>12</sup> My life is blown away like a shepherd's tent; it is cut short as when a weaver stops his working at the loom. In one short day my life hangs by a thread.

<sup>13</sup> "All night I moaned; it was like being torn apart by lions. <sup>14</sup> Delirious, I chattered like a swallow and mourned like a dove; my eyes grew weary of looking up for help. 'O God,' I cried, 'I am in trouble—help me.' <sup>15</sup> But what can I say? For he himself has sent this sickness. All my sleep has fled because of my soul's bitterness. <sup>16</sup> O Lord, your discipline is good and leads to life and health. Oh, heal me and make me live!

and he will get well again."

<sup>22</sup> And then Hezekiah had asked, "What sign will the Lord give me to prove that he will heal me?")

39 SOON AFTERWARDS, THE king of Babylon (Merodach-baladan, the son of Baladan) sent Hezekiah a present and his best wishes,<sup>a</sup> for he had heard that Hezekiah had been very sick and now was well again. <sup>2</sup> Hezekiah appreciated this and took the envoys from Babylon on a tour of the palace, showing them his treasure house full of silver, gold, spices and perfumes. He took them into his jewel rooms, too, and opened to them all his treasures—everything.

<sup>3</sup> Then Isaiah the prophet came to the king and said, "What did they say? Where are they from?"

"From far away in Babylon," Hezekiah replied.

And Hezekiah replied, "I showed them everything I own, all my priceless treasures."

<sup>6</sup> "The time is coming when everything you have—all the treasures stored up by your fathers—will be carried off to Babylon. Nothing will be left. <sup>7</sup> And some of your own sons will become slaves, yes, eunuchs, in the palace of the king of Babylon."

<sup>a</sup> The meaning is unclear. Perhaps Hezekiah was unaware of the blessedness of the future life for those who trust in God (Isaiah 57:1,2). Or perhaps his meaning is, "Dead bodies cannot praise you."

<sup>a</sup> Merodach-baladan was at this time planning a revolt in the east against Sennacherib, so he was especially interested in Hezekiah's activities in the west.

"All right," Hezekiah replied. "Whatever the Lord says is good. At least there will be peace during my lifetime!"

40 COMFORT, OH, COMFORT my people, says your God. <sup>2</sup> Speak tenderly to Jerusalem and tell her that her sad days are gone. Her sins are pardoned, and the Lord will give her twice as many blessings as he gave her punishment before.

"What shall I shout?" I asked.

"Shout that man is like the grass that dies away, and all his beauty fades like dying flowers. <sup>7</sup> The grass withers, the flower fades beneath the breath of God. And so it is with fragile man. <sup>8</sup> The grass withers, the flowers fade, but the Word of our God shall stand forever."

<sup>9</sup> O Crier of Good News, shout to Jerusalem from the mountain tops! Shout louder—don't be afraid—tell the cities of Judah, "Your God is coming!" <sup>10</sup> Yes, the Lord God is coming with mighty power; he will rule with awesome strength. See, his reward is with him, to each as he has done. <sup>11</sup> He will feed his flock like a shepherd; he will carry the lambs in his arms and gently lead the ewes with young.

<sup>12</sup> Who else has held the oceans in his hands and measured off the heavens with his ruler? Who else knows the weight of all the earth and weighs the mountains and the hills? <sup>13</sup> Who can advise the Spirit of the Lord or be his teacher or give him counsel? <sup>14</sup> Has he ever needed anyone's advice? Did he need instruction as to what is right and best? <sup>15</sup> No, for all the peoples of the world are nothing in comparison with him—they are but a drop in the bucket, dust on the scales. He picks up the islands as though they had no weight at all. <sup>16</sup> All of Lebanon's forests do not contain sufficient fuel to consume a sacrifice large enough to honor him, nor are all its animals enough to offer to our God. <sup>17</sup> All the nations are as nothing to him; in his eyes they are less than nothing—mere emptiness and froth.

<sup>21</sup> Are you so ignorant? Are you so deaf to the words of God—the words he gave before the worlds began? Have you never heard nor understood? <sup>22</sup> It is God who sits above the circle of the earth. (The people below must seem to him like grasshoppers!) He is the one who stretches out the heavens like a curtain and makes his tent from them. <sup>23</sup> He dooms the great men of the world and brings them all to naught. <sup>24</sup> They hardly get started, barely take root, when he blows on them and their work withers and the wind carries them off like straw.

<sup>26</sup> Look up into the heavens! Who created all these stars? As a shepherd<sup>a</sup> leads his sheep, calling each by its pet name, and counts them to see that none are lost or strayed, so God does with stars and planets!

<sup>28</sup> Don't you yet understand? Don't you know by now that the everlasting God, the Creator of the farthest parts of the earth, never grows faint or weary? No one can fathom the depths of his understanding. <sup>29</sup> He gives power to the tired and worn out, and strength to the weak.

<sup>30</sup> Even the youths shall be exhausted, and the young men will all give up. <sup>31</sup> But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength. They shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint.

Lord? God has given him victory over many nations and permitted him to trample kings underfoot and to put entire armies to the sword. <sup>3</sup> He chases them away and goes on safely, though the paths he treads are new. <sup>4</sup> Who has done such mighty deeds, directing the affairs of generations of mankind as they march by? It is I, the Lord, the First and Last; I alone am he.

<sup>8</sup> But as for you, O Israel, you are mine, my chosen ones; for you are Abraham's family, and he was my friend. <sup>9</sup> I have called you back from the ends of the earth and said that you must serve but me alone, for I have chosen you and will not throw you away. <sup>10</sup> Fear not, for I am with you. Do not be dismayed. I am your God. I will strengthen you; I will help you; I will uphold you with my victorious right hand.<sup>b</sup>

right hand—I, the Lord your God—and I say to you, Don't be afraid; I am here to help you.

<sup>14</sup> Despised though you are, fear not, O Israel; for I will help you. I am the Lord, your Redeemer; I am the Holy One of Israel. <sup>15</sup> You shall be a new and sharp-toothed threshing instrument to tear all enemies apart, making chaff of mountains. <sup>16</sup> You shall toss them in the air; the wind shall blow them all away; whirlwinds shall scatter them. And the joy of the Lord shall fill you full; you shall glory in the God of Israel.

<sup>17</sup> When the poor and needy seek water and there is none and their tongues are parched from thirst, then I will answer when they cry to me. I, Israel's God, will not ever forsake them. <sup>18</sup> I will open up rivers for them on high plateaus! I will give them fountains of water in the valleys! In the deserts will be pools of water, and rivers fed by springs shall flow across the dry, parched ground. <sup>19</sup> I will plant trees—cedars, myrtle, olive trees, the cypress, fir and pine—on barren land. <sup>20</sup> Everyone will see this miracle and understand that it is God who did it, Israel's Holy One.

do nothing at all. Anyone who chooses you needs to have his head examined!

<sup>25</sup> But I have stirred up (Cyrus) from the north and east; he will come against the nations and call on my name, and I will give him victory over kings and princes. He will tread them as a potter tramples clay.

<sup>26</sup> Who but I have told you this would happen? Who else predicted this, making you admit that he was right? No one else! None other said one word! <sup>27</sup> I was the first to tell Jerusalem, "Look! Look! Help is on the way!" <sup>28</sup> Not one of your idols told you this. Not one gave any answer when I asked. <sup>29</sup> See, they are all foolish, worthless things; your idols are all as empty as the wind.

42 SEE MY SERVANT,<sup>a</sup> whom I uphold; my Chosen One, in whom I delight. I have put my Spirit upon him; he will reveal justice to the nations of the world. <sup>2</sup> He will be gentle—he will not shout nor quarrel in the streets. <sup>3</sup> He will not break the bruised reed, nor quench the dimly burning flame. He will encourage the fainthearted, those tempted to despair. He will see full justice given to all who have been wronged. <sup>4</sup> He won't be satisfied<sup>b</sup> until truth and righteousness prevail throughout the earth, nor until even distant lands beyond the seas have put their trust in him.

spirit to everyone in all the world, he is the one who says [to his Servant, the Messiah<sup>c</sup>],

<sup>6</sup> "I the Lord have called you to demonstrate my righteousness. I will guard and support you, for I have given you to my people as the personal confirmation of my covenant with them.<sup>d</sup> You shall also be a light to guide the nations unto me. <sup>7</sup> You will open the eyes of the blind, and release those who sit in prison darkness and despair. <sup>8</sup> I am the Lord! That is my name, and I will not give my glory to anyone else; I will not share my praise with carved idols. <sup>9</sup> Everything I prophesied came true, and now I will prophesy again. I will tell you the future before it happens."

<sup>10</sup> Sing a new song to the Lord; sing his praises, all you who live in earth's remotest corners! Sing, O sea! Sing, all you who live in distant lands beyond the sea! <sup>11</sup> Join in the chorus, you desert cities—Kedar and Sela! And you, too, dwellers in the mountain tops. <sup>12</sup> Let the western coastlands glorify the Lord and sing his mighty power.

<sup>13</sup> The Lord will be a mighty warrior, full of fury toward his foes. He will give a great shout and prevail. <sup>14</sup> Long has he been silent; he has restrained himself. But now he will give full vent to his wrath; he will groan and cry like a woman delivering her child. <sup>15</sup> He will level the mountains and hills and blight their greenery. He will dry up the rivers and pools. <sup>16</sup> He will bring blind Israel along a path they have not seen before. He will make the darkness bright before them and smooth and straighten out the road ahead. He will not forsake them. <sup>17</sup> But those who trust in idols and call them gods will be greatly disappointed; they will be turned away.

<sup>18</sup> Oh, how blind and deaf you are towards God! Why won't you listen? Why won't you see? <sup>19</sup> Who in all the world is as blind as my own people,<sup>e</sup> who are designed to be my messengers of truth? Who is so blind as my "dedicated one," the "Servant of the Lord"? <sup>20</sup> You see and understand what is right but won't heed nor do it; you hear but you won't listen.

<sup>21</sup> The Lord has magnified his law and made it truly glorious. Through it he had planned to show the world that he is righteous. <sup>22</sup> But what a sight his people are—these who were to demonstrate to all the world the glory of his law;<sup>f</sup> for they are robbed, enslaved, imprisoned, trapped, fair game for all, with no one to protect them. <sup>23</sup> Won't even one of you apply these lessons from the past and see the ruin that awaits you up ahead? <sup>24</sup> Who let Israel be robbed and hurt? Did not the Lord? It is the Lord they sinned against, for they would not go where he sent them nor listen to his laws. <sup>25</sup> That is why God poured out such fury and wrath on his people and destroyed them in battle. Yet, though set on fire and burned, they will not understand the reason why—that it is God, wanting them to repent.<sup>g</sup>

43 BUT NOW THE Lord who created you, O Israel, says,

Don't be afraid, for I have ransomed you; I have called you by name; you are mine. <sup>2</sup> When you go through deep waters and great trouble, I will be with you. When you go through rivers of difficulty, you will not drown! When you walk through the fire of oppression, you will not be burned up—the flames will not consume you. <sup>3</sup> For I am the Lord your God, your Savior, the Holy One of Israel. I gave Egypt and Ethiopia and Seba [to Cyrus<sup>a</sup>] in exchange for your freedom, as your ransom. <sup>4</sup> Others died that you might live; I traded their lives for yours because you are precious to me and honored, and I love you.

<sup>5</sup> Don't be afraid, for I am with you. I will gather you from east and west, <sup>6</sup> from north and south. I will bring my sons and daughters back to Israel from the farthest corners of the earth. <sup>7</sup> All who claim me as their God will come, for I have made them for my glory; I created them. <sup>8</sup> Bring them back to me—blind as they are and deaf when I call (although they see and hear!).

<sup>9</sup> Gather the nations together! Which of all their idols ever has foretold such things? Which can predict a single day ahead? Where are the witnesses of anything they said? If there are no witnesses, then they must confess that only God can prophesy.

<sup>10</sup> But I have witnesses, O Israel, says the Lord! You are my witnesses and my servants, chosen to know and to believe me and to understand that I alone am God. There is no other God; there never was and never will be. <sup>11</sup> I am the Lord, and there is no other Savior. <sup>12</sup> Whenever you have thrown away your idols, I have shown you my power. With one word I have saved you. You have seen me do it; you are my witnesses that it is true. <sup>13</sup> From eternity to eternity I am God. No one can oppose what I do.

For your sakes I will send an invading army against Babylon, that will walk in almost unscathed. The boasts of the Babylonians will turn to cries of fear. <sup>15</sup> I am the Lord, your Holy One, Israel's Creator and King. <sup>16</sup> I am the Lord, who opens a way through the waters, making a path right through the sea. <sup>17</sup> I called forth the mighty army of Egypt with all its chariots and horses, to lie beneath the waves, dead, their lives snuffed out like candlewicks.

<sup>18</sup> But forget all that—it is nothing compared to what I'm going to do! <sup>19</sup> For I'm going to do a brand new thing. See, I have already begun! Don't you see it? I will make a road through the wilderness of the world for my people to go home, and create rivers for them in the desert! <sup>20</sup> The wild animals in the fields will thank me, the jackals and ostriches too, for giving them water in the wilderness, yes, springs in the desert, so that my people, my chosen ones, can be refreshed. <sup>21</sup> I have made Israel for myself, and these my people will some day honor me before the world.

the lambs for burnt offerings; you have not honored me with sacrifices. Yet my requests for offerings and incense have been very few! I have not treated you as slaves. <sup>24</sup> You have brought me no sweet-smelling incense nor pleased me with the sacrificial fat. No, you have presented me only with sins, and wearied me with all your faults.

<sup>25</sup> I, yes, I alone am he who blots away your sins for my own sake and will never think of them again.

<sup>26</sup> Oh, remind me of this promise of forgiveness, for we must talk about your sins. Plead your case for my forgiving you. <sup>27</sup> From the very first your ancestors sinned against me—all your forebears transgressed my law. <sup>28</sup> That is why I have deposed your priests and destroyed Israel, leaving her to shame.

44 LISTEN TO ME, O my servant Israel, O my chosen ones:

<sup>2</sup> For I will give you abundant water for your thirst and for your parched fields. And I will pour out my Spirit and my blessings on your children.

<sup>5</sup> "I am the Lord's," they'll proudly<sup>a</sup> say, or, "I am a Jew," and tattoo upon their hands the name of God or the honored name of Israel.

<sup>6</sup> The Lord, the King of Israel, says—yes, it is Israel's Redeemer, the Lord of Hosts, who says it—I am the First and Last; there is no other God. <sup>7</sup> Who else can tell you what is going to happen in the days ahead? Let them tell you if they can, and prove their power. Let them do as I have done since ancient times. <sup>8</sup> Don't, don't be afraid. Haven't I proclaimed from ages past [that I would save you<sup>a</sup>]? You are my witnesses—is there any other God? No! None that I know about! There is no other Rock!

<sup>9</sup> What fools they are who manufacture idols for their gods. Their hopes remain unanswered. They themselves are witnesses that this is so, for their idols neither see nor know. No wonder those who worship them are so ashamed. <sup>10</sup> Who but a fool would make his own god—an idol that can help him not one whit! <sup>11</sup> All that worship these will stand before the Lord in shame, along with all these carpenters—mere men—who claim that they have made a god. Together they will stand in terror. <sup>12</sup> The metal-smith stands at his forge to make an axe, pounding on it with all his might. He grows hungry and thirsty, weak and faint. <sup>13</sup> Then the woodcarver takes the axe and uses it to make an idol. He measures and marks out a block of wood and carves the figure of a man. Now he has a wonderful idol that can't so much as move from where it is placed. <sup>14</sup> He cuts down cedars, he selects the cypress and the oak, he plants the ash in the forest to be nourished by the rain. <sup>15</sup> And after his care, he uses part of the wood to make a fire to warm himself and bake his bread, and then—he really does—he takes the rest of it and makes himself a god—a god for men to worship! An idol to fall down before and praise! <sup>16</sup> Part of the tree he burns to roast his meat and to keep him warm and fed and well content, <sup>17</sup> and with what's left he makes his god: a carved idol! He falls down before it and worships it and prays to it. "Deliver me," he says. "You are my god!"

<sup>21</sup> Pay attention, Israel, for you are my servant; I made you, and I will not forget to help you. <sup>22</sup> I've blotted out your sins; they are gone like morning mist at noon! Oh, return to me, for I have paid the price to set you free.

<sup>23</sup> Sing, O heavens, for the Lord has done this wondrous thing. Shout, O earth; break forth into song, O mountains and forests, yes, and every tree; for the Lord redeemed Jacob and is glorified in Israel! <sup>24</sup> The Lord, your Redeemer who made you, says, All things were made by me; I alone stretched out the heavens. By myself I made the earth and everything in it.

liars all false prophets are, by causing something else to happen than the things they say. I make wise men give opposite advice to what they should, and make them into fools. <sup>26</sup> But what my prophets say, I do; when they say Jerusalem will be delivered and the cities of Judah lived in once again—it shall be done! <sup>27</sup> When I speak to the rivers and say, "Be dry!" they shall be dry. <sup>28</sup> When I say of Cyrus, <sup>c</sup> "He is my shepherd," he will certainly do as I say; and Jerusalem will be rebuilt and the Temple restored, for I have spoken it.

45 THIS IS JEHOVAH'S message to Cyrus, God's anointed, whom he has chosen to conquer many lands. God shall empower his right hand and he shall crush the strength of mighty kings. God shall open the gates of Babylon to him; the gates shall not be shut against him any more. <sup>2</sup> I will go before you, Cyrus, and level the mountains and smash down the city gates of brass and iron bars. <sup>3</sup> And I will give you treasures hidden in the darkness, secret riches; and you will know that I am doing this—I, the Lord, the God of Israel, the one who calls you by your name.

<sup>4</sup> And why have I named you for this work? For the sake of Jacob, my servant—Israel, my chosen. I called you by name when you didn't know me. <sup>5</sup> I am Jehovah; there is no other God. I will strengthen you and send you out to victory even though you don't know me, <sup>6</sup> and all the world from east to west will know there is no other God. I am

Jehovah and there is no one else. I alone am God. <sup>7</sup> I form the light and make the dark. I send good times and bad. I, Jehovah, am he who does these things. <sup>8</sup> Open up, O heavens. Let the skies pour out their righteousness. Let salvation and righteousness sprout up together from the earth. I, Jehovah, created them.

<sup>12</sup> I have made the earth and created man upon it. With my hands I have stretched out the heavens and commanded all the vast myriads of stars. <sup>13</sup> I have raised up Cyrus<sup>a</sup> to fulfill my righteous purpose, and I will direct all his paths. He shall restore my city and free my captive people—and not for a reward!

<sup>14</sup> Jehovah says: The Egyptians, Ethiopians and Sabeans shall be subject to you. They shall come to you with all their merchandise and it shall all be yours. They shall follow you as prisoners in chains, and fall down on their knees before you and say, "The only God there is, is your God!"

<sup>20</sup> Gather together and come, you nations that escape from Cyrus' hand. What fools they are who carry around the wooden idols and pray to gods that cannot save!

<sup>21</sup> Consult together, argue your case and state your proofs that idol-worship pays! Who but God has said that these things concerning Cyrus would come true? What idol ever told you they would happen? For there is no other God but me—a just God and a Savior—no, not one!

<sup>22</sup> Let all the world look to me for salvation! For I am God; there is no other. <sup>23</sup> I have sworn by myself and I will never go back on my word, for it is true—that every knee in all the world shall bow to me, and every tongue shall swear allegiance to my name.

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "I have raised up him . . ." The reference probably is also to Christ in the more distant future, as well as to Cyrus.

<sup>14</sup> "In Jehovah is all my righteousness and strength," the people shall declare. And all who were angry with him shall come to him and be ashamed. <sup>25</sup> In Jehovah all the generations of Israel shall be justified, triumphant.

46 THE IDOLS OF Babylon, Bel and Nebo,<sup>a</sup> are being hauled away on ox carts! But look! The beasts are stumbling! The cart is turning over! The gods are falling out onto the ground! Is that the best that they can do? If they cannot even save themselves from such a fall, how can they save their worshippers from Cyrus?

<sup>1</sup> "Listen to me, all Israel who are left; I have created you and cared for you since you were born. <sup>4</sup> I will be your God through all your lifetime, yes, even when your hair is white with age. I made you and I will care for you. I will carry you along and be your Savior.

<sup>5</sup> "With what in all of heaven and earth do I compare? Whom can you find who equals me? <sup>6</sup> Will you compare me with an idol made lavishly with silver and with gold? They hire a goldsmith to take your wealth and make a god from it! Then they fall down and worship it! <sup>7</sup> They carry it around on their shoulders, and when they set it down it stays there, for it cannot move! And when someone prays to it there is no answer, for it cannot get him out of his trouble.

times I clearly told you what was going to happen in the future. For I am God—I only—and there is no other like me <sup>10</sup> who can tell you what is going to happen. All I say will come to pass, for I do whatever I wish.

<sup>11</sup> "I will call that swift bird of prey from the east—that man Cyrus from far away. And he will come and do my bidding. I have said I would do it and I will. <sup>12</sup> Listen to me, you stubborn, evil men! <sup>13</sup> For I am offering you my deliverance; not in the distant future, but right now! I am ready to save you, and I will restore Jerusalem, and Israel, who is my glory.

47 O BABYLON, THE UNCONQUERED, come sit in the dust; for your days of glory, pomp and honor are ended. O daughter of Chaldea, never again will you be the lovely princess, tender and delicate. <sup>2</sup> Take heavy millstones and grind the corn; remove your veil;<sup>a</sup> strip off your robe; expose yourself to public view. <sup>3</sup> You shall be in nakedness and shame. I will take vengeance upon you and will not repent."

<sup>6</sup> For I was angry with my people Israel and began to punish them a little by letting them fall into your hands, O Babylon. But you showed them no mercy. You have made even the old folks carry heavy burdens. <sup>7</sup> You thought your reign would never end, Queen Kingdom of the world. You didn't care a whit about my people or think about the fate of those who do them harm.

<sup>8</sup> O pleasure-mad kingdom, living at ease, bragging as the greatest in the world—listen to the sentence of my court upon your sins. You say, “I alone am God! I'll never be a widow; I'll never lose my children.” <sup>9</sup> Well, those two things shall come upon you in one moment, in full measure in one day: widowhood and the loss of your children, despite all your witchcraft and magic.

<sup>10</sup> You felt secure in all your wickedness. “No one sees me,” you said. Your “wisdom” and “knowledge” have caused you to turn away from me and claim that you yourself are Jehovah. <sup>11</sup> That is why disaster shall overtake you suddenly—so suddenly that you won't know where it comes from. And there will be no atonement then to cleanse away your sins.

“I will save you for my own sake.”

48 HEAR ME, MY people: you swear allegiance to the Lord without meaning a word of it, when you boast of living in the Holy City and brag about depending on the God of Israel. <sup>1</sup> Time and again I told you what was going to happen in the future. My words were scarcely spoken when suddenly I did just what I said. <sup>2</sup> I knew how hard and obstinate you are. Your necks are as unbending as iron; you are as hardheaded as brass. <sup>3</sup> That is why I told you ahead of time what I was going to do, so that you could never say, “My idol did it; my carved image commanded it to happen!” <sup>4</sup> You have heard my predictions and seen them fulfilled, but you refuse to agree it is so. Now I will tell you new things I haven't mentioned before, secrets you haven't heard.

<sup>6</sup> Yes, I'll tell you things entirely new, for I know so well what traitors you are, rebels from earliest childhood, rotten through and through. <sup>7</sup> Yet for my own sake and for the honor of my name I will hold back my anger and not wipe you out. <sup>8</sup> I refined you in the furnace of affliction, but found no silver there. You are worthless, with nothing good in you at all. <sup>9</sup> Yet for my own sake—yes, for my own sake—I will save you from my anger and not destroy you lest the heathen say their gods have conquered me. I will not let them have my glory.

<sup>10</sup> Listen to me, my people, my chosen ones! I alone am God. I am the First; I am the Last. <sup>11</sup> It was my hand that laid the foundations of the earth; the palm of my right hand spread out the heavens above; I spoke and they came into being.

<sup>14</sup> Come, all of you, and listen. Among all your idols, which one has ever told you this: "The Lord loves Cyrus. He will use him to put an end to the empire of Babylonia. He will utterly rout the armies of the Chaldeans"? <sup>15</sup> But I am saying it. I have called Cyrus; I have sent him on this errand and I will prosper him.

<sup>16</sup> Come closer and listen. I have always told you plainly what would happen, so that you could clearly understand. And now the Lord God and his Spirit have sent me (with this message): <sup>17</sup> The Lord, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, says, I am the Lord your God, who punishes you for your own good and leads you along the paths that you should follow.

<sup>18</sup> Oh, that you had listened to my laws! Then you would have had peace flowing like a gentle river, and great waves of righteousness.

<sup>19</sup> Then you would have become as numerous as the sands along the seashores of the world, too many to count, and there would have been no need for your destruction.

<sup>20</sup> Yet even now, be free from your captivity! Leave Babylon, singing as you go; shout to the ends of the earth that the Lord has redeemed his servants, the Jews.

<sup>21</sup> They were not thirsty when he led them through the deserts; he divided the rock, and water gushed out for them to drink. <sup>22</sup> But there is no peace, says the Lord, for the wicked.

49 LISTEN TO ME, all of you in far-off lands: The Lord called me before my birth. From within the womb he called me by my name. <sup>2</sup> God will make my words of judgment sharp as swords. He has hidden me in the shadow of his hand; I am like a sharp arrow in his quiver.

<sup>3</sup> He said to me: "You are my Servant, a Prince of Power<sup>a</sup> with God, and you shall bring me glory."

<sup>4</sup> I replied, "But my work for them seems all in vain; I have spent my strength for them without response. Yet I leave it all with God for my reward."

<sup>5</sup> "And now," said the Lord—the Lord who formed me from my mother's womb to serve him who commissioned me to restore to him his people Israel, who has given me the strength to perform this task and honored me for doing it!—<sup>6</sup> "you shall do more than restore Israel to me. I will make you a Light to the nations of the world to bring my salvation to them too."

<sup>8,9</sup> The Lord says, "Your request has come at a favorable time. I will keep you from premature<sup>b</sup> harm and give you as a token and pledge to Israel, proof that I will reestablish the land of Israel and reassign it to its own people again. Through you I am saying to the prisoners of darkness, 'Come out! I am giving you your freedom!' They will be my sheep, grazing in green pastures and on the grassy hills. <sup>10</sup> They shall neither hunger nor thirst; the searing sun and scorching desert winds will not reach them any more. For the Lord in his mercy will lead them beside the cool waters. <sup>11</sup> And I will make my mountains into level paths for them; the highways shall be raised above the valleys. <sup>12</sup> See, my people shall return from far away, from north and west and south."

<sup>15</sup> "Never! Can a mother forget her little child and not have love for her own son? Yet even if that should be, I will not forget you.

<sup>16</sup> See, I have tattooed your name upon my palm and ever before me is a picture of Jerusalem's walls in ruins. <sup>17</sup> Soon your rebuilders shall come and chase away all those destroying you. <sup>18</sup> Look and see, for the Lord has vowed that all your enemies shall come and be your slaves. They will be as jewels to display, as bridal ornaments.

'We need more room! It's crowded here!' <sup>21</sup> Then you will think to yourself, 'Who has given me all these? For most of my children were killed and the rest were carried away into exile, leaving me here alone. Who bore these? Who raised them for me?'"

<sup>22</sup> The Lord God says, "See, I will give a signal to the Gentiles and they shall carry your little sons back to you in their arms, and your daughters on their shoulders. <sup>23</sup> Kings and queens shall serve you; they shall care for all your needs. They shall bow to the earth before you, and lick the dust from off your feet; then you shall know I am the Lord. Those who wait for me shall never be ashamed."

<sup>24</sup> Who can snatch the prey from the hands of a mighty man? Who can demand that a tyrant let his captives go? <sup>25</sup> But the Lord says, "Even the captives of the most mighty and most terrible shall all be freed; for I will fight those who fight you, and I will save your children. <sup>26</sup> I will feed your enemies with their own flesh and they shall be drunk with rivers of their own blood. All the world shall know that I, the Lord, am your Savior and Redeemer, the Mighty One of Israel."

50 THE LORD ASKS, Did I sell you to my creditors? Is that why you aren't here? Is your mother gone because I divorced her and sent her away? No, you sold yourselves for your sins. And your mother was taken in payment for your debts. <sup>2</sup> Was I too weak to save you? Is that why the house is silent and empty when I come home? Have I no longer power to deliver?

No, that is not the reason! For I can rebuke the sea and make it dry! I can turn the rivers into deserts, covered with dying fish.<sup>1</sup> I am the one who sends the darkness out across the skies.

<sup>2</sup> The Lord God has given me his words of wisdom so that I may know what I should say to all these weary ones. Morning by morning he wakens me and opens my understanding to his will.<sup>3</sup> The Lord God has spoken to me and I have listened; I do not rebel nor turn away.<sup>4</sup> I give my back to the whip, and my cheeks to those who pull out the beard. I do not hide from shame—they spit in my face.

<sup>5</sup> Because the Lord God helps me, I will not be dismayed; therefore, I have set my face like flint to do his will, and I know that I will triumph.<sup>6</sup> He who gives me justice is near. Who will dare to fight against me now? Where are my enemies? Let them appear! <sup>7</sup> See, the Lord God is for me! Who shall declare me guilty? All my enemies shall be destroyed like old clothes eaten up by moths!

<sup>8</sup> Who among you fears the Lord and obeys his Servant? If such men walk in darkness, without one ray of light, let them trust the Lord, let them rely upon their God.<sup>9</sup> But see here, you who live in your own light, and warm yourselves from your own fires and not from God's; you will live among sorrows.

51 LISTEN TO ME, all who hope for deliverance, who seek the Lord! Consider the quarry from which you were mined, the rock from which you were cut! Yes, think about your ancestors Abraham and Sarah, from whom you came. You worry at being so small and few, but Abraham was only one when I called him. But when I blessed him, he became a great nation.<sup>1</sup> And the Lord will bless Israel again, and make her deserts blossom; her barren wilderness will become as beautiful as the Garden of Eden. Joy and gladness will be found there, thanksgiving and lovely songs.

the sea, making a path right through it for your ransomed ones? <sup>11</sup> The time will come when God's redeemed will all come home again. They shall come with singing to Jerusalem, filled with joy and everlasting gladness; sorrow and mourning will all disappear.

<sup>12</sup> I, even I, am he who comforts you and gives you all this joy. So what right have you to fear mere mortal men, who wither like the grass and disappear? <sup>13</sup> And yet you have no fear of God, your Maker—you have forgotten him, the one who spread the stars throughout the skies and made the earth. Will you be in constant dread of men's oppression, and fear their anger all day long? <sup>14</sup> Soon, soon you slaves shall be released; dungeon, starvation and death are not your fate. <sup>15</sup> For I am the Lord your God, the Lord of Hosts, who dried a path for you right through the sea, between the roaring waves. <sup>16</sup> And I have put my words in your mouth and hidden you safe within my hand. I planted the stars in place and molded all the earth. I am the one who says to Israel, "You are mine."

helpless as wild goats caught in a net. The Lord has poured out his fury and rebuke upon them. <sup>21</sup> But listen now to this, afflicted ones—full of troubles and in a stupor (but not from being drunk)—<sup>22</sup> this is what the Lord says, the Lord your God who cares for his people: "See, I take from your hands the terrible cup; you shall drink no more of my fury; it is gone at last. <sup>23</sup> But I will put that terrible cup into the hands of those who tormented you and trampled your souls to the dust and walked upon your backs."

<sup>5</sup> And now, what is this? asks the Lord. Why are my people enslaved again, and oppressed without excuse? Those who rule them shout in exultation, and my name is constantly blasphemed, day by day. <sup>6</sup> Therefore I will reveal my name to my people and they shall know the power in that name. Then at last they will recognize that it is I, yes, I, who speaks to them.

tains are the feet of those who bring the happy news of peace and salvation, the news that the God of Israel reigns. <sup>8</sup> The watchmen shout and sing with joy, for right before their eyes they see the Lord God bring his people home again. <sup>9</sup> Let the ruins of Jerusalem break into joyous song, for the Lord has comforted his people; he has redeemed Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup> The Lord has bared his holy arm before the eyes of all the nations; the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God.

<sup>11</sup> Go now, leave your bonds and slavery. Put Babylon and all it represents far behind you—it is unclean to you. You are the holy people of the Lord; purify yourselves, all you who carry home the vessels of the Lord. <sup>12</sup> You shall not leave in haste, running for your lives; for the Lord will go ahead of you, and he, the God of Israel, will protect you from behind.

<sup>14,15</sup> Yet many shall be amazed when they see him—yes, even far-off foreign nations and their kings; they shall stand dumbfounded, speechless in his presence. For they shall see and understand what they had not been told before. They shall see my Servant beaten and bloodied, so disfigured one would scarcely know it was a person standing there. So shall he cleanse<sup>c</sup> many nations.

53 BUT, OH, HOW few believe it!
Who will listen? To whom will God reveal his saving power?

<sup>2</sup> In God's eyes<sup>a</sup> he was like a tender green shoot, sprouting from a root in dry and sterile ground. But in our eyes there was no attractiveness at all, nothing to make us want him. <sup>3</sup> We despised him and rejected him—a man of sorrows, acquainted with bitterest grief. We turned our backs on him and looked the other way when he went by. He was despised and we didn't care.

<sup>4</sup> Yet it was our grief he bore, our sorrows that weighed him down. And we thought his troubles were a punishment from God, for his own sins! <sup>5</sup> But he was wounded and bruised for our sins. He was chastised that we might have peace; he was lashed—and we were healed! <sup>6</sup> We are the ones who strayed away like sheep! We, who left God's paths to follow our own. Yet God laid on him the guilt and sins of every one of us!

<sup>7</sup> He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet he never said a word. He was brought as a lamb to the slaughter; and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he stood silent before the ones condemning him.

<sup>8</sup> From prison and trial they led him away to his death. But who among the people of that day realized it was their sins that he was dying for—that he was suffering their punishment? <sup>9</sup> He was buried like a criminal in a rich man's grave; but he had done no wrong, and had never spoken an evil word.

<sup>b</sup> The Servant of the Lord, as the term is used here, is the Messiah, our Lord Jesus. This was the interpretation of this passage by Christ himself, and the writers of the New Testament and orthodox Christianity ever since.

The meaning of the Hebrew word is uncertain.

plan to bruise him and fill him with grief. But when his soul has been made an offering for sin, then he shall have a multitude of children, many heirs. He shall live again<sup>b</sup> and God's program shall prosper in his hands. <sup>11</sup> And when he sees all that is accomplished by the anguish of his soul, he shall be satisfied; and because of what he has experienced, my righteous Servant shall make many to be counted righteous before God, for he shall bear all their sins. <sup>12</sup> Therefore I will give him the honors of one who is mighty and great, because he has poured out his soul unto death. He was counted as a sinner, and he bore the sins of many, and he pled with God for sinners.

54 SING, O CHILDLESS woman!

Break out into loud and joyful song, Jerusalem,<sup>a</sup> for she who was abandoned has more blessings<sup>b</sup> now than she whose husband stayed! <sup>2</sup> Enlarge your house; build on additions; spread out your home! <sup>3</sup> For you will soon be bursting at the seams! And your descendants will possess the cities left behind during the exile, and rule the nations that took their lands.

<sup>4</sup> Fear not; you will no longer live in shame. The shame of your youth and the sorrows of widowhood will be remembered no more, <sup>5</sup> for your Creator will be your "husband." The Lord of Hosts is his name; he is your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel, the God of all the earth. <sup>6</sup> For the Lord has called you back from your grief—a young wife abandoned by her husband. <sup>7</sup> For a brief moment I abandoned you. But with great compassion I will gather you. <sup>8</sup> In a moment of anger I turned my face a little while; but with everlasting love I will have pity on you, says the Lord, your Redeemer. <sup>9</sup> Just as in the time of Noah I swore that I would never again permit the waters of a flood to cover the earth and destroy its life, so now I swear that I will never again pour out my anger on you as I have during this exile. <sup>10</sup> For the mountains may depart and the hills disappear, but my kindness shall not leave you. My promise of peace for you will never be broken, says the Lord who has mercy upon you.

<sup>11</sup> O my afflicted people, tempest-tossed and troubled, I will rebuild you on a foundation of sapphires and make the walls of your houses from precious jewels. <sup>12</sup> I will make your towers of sparkling agate, and your gates and walls of shining gems. <sup>13</sup> And all your citizens shall be taught by me, and their prosperity shall be great. <sup>14</sup> You will live under a government that is just and fair. Your enemies will stay far away; you will live in peace. Terror shall not come near. <sup>15</sup> If any nation comes to fight you, it will not be sent by me to punish you. Therefore it will be routed, for I am on your side.<sup>c</sup> <sup>16</sup> I have created the smith who blows the coals beneath the forge and makes the weapons of destruction. And I have created the armies that destroy. <sup>17</sup> But in that coming day, no weapon turned against you shall succeed, and you will have justice against every courtroom lie. This is the heritage of the servants of the Lord. This is the blessing I have given you, says the Lord.

55 SAY THERE! IS anyone thirsty? Come and drink—even if you have no money! Come, take your choice of wine and milk—it's all free! <sup>2</sup> Why spend your money on foodstuffs that don't give you strength? Why pay for groceries that don't do you any good? Listen and I'll tell you where to get good food that fattens up the soul!

<sup>6</sup> Seek the Lord while you can find him. Call upon him now while he is near. <sup>7</sup> Let men cast off their wicked deeds; let them banish from their minds the very thought of doing wrong! Let them turn to the Lord that he may have mercy upon them, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon! <sup>8</sup> This plan of mine is not what you would work out, neither are my thoughts the same as yours! <sup>9</sup> For just as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than yours,

<sup>10</sup> As the rain and snow come down from heaven and stay upon the ground to water the earth, and cause the grain to grow and to produce seed for the farmer and bread for the hungry, <sup>11</sup> so also is my Word. I send it out and it always produces fruit. It shall accomplish all I want it to, and prosper everywhere I send it. <sup>12</sup> You will live in joy and peace. The mountains and hills, the trees of the field—all the world around you—will rejoice. <sup>13</sup> Where once were thorns, fir trees will grow; where briars grew, the myrtle trees will sprout up. This miracle will make the Lord's name very great and be an everlasting sign [of God's power and love<sup>b</sup>].

56 BE JUST AND fair to all, the Lord God says. Do what's right and good, for I am coming soon to rescue you. <sup>2</sup> Blessed is the man who refuses to work during my Sabbath days of rest, but honors them; and blessed is the man who checks himself from doing wrong.

<sup>3</sup> And my blessings are for Gentiles, too, when they accept the Lord; don't let them think that I will make them second-class citizens. And this is for the eunuchs too. They can be as much mine as anyone. <sup>4</sup> For I say this to the eunuchs who keep his Sabbaths holy and choose the things that please him, and come to grips with his laws: <sup>5</sup> I will give them—in my house, within my walls—a name far greater than the honor they would receive from having sons and daughters. For the name that I will give them is an everlasting one; it will never disappear.

<sup>6</sup> As for the Gentiles, the outsiders who join the people of the Lord and serve him and love his name, and are his servants and don't desecrate the Sabbath, and have accepted his covenant and promises, <sup>7</sup> I will bring them also to my holy mountain of Jerusalem, and make them full of joy within my House of Prayer.

I will accept their sacrifices and offerings, for my Temple shall be called "A House of Prayer for All People"! <sup>8</sup> For the Lord God who brings back the outcasts of Israel says, I will bring others too besides my people Israel.

<sup>12</sup> "Come," they say. "We'll get some wine and have a party; let's all get drunk. This is really living; let it go on and on, and tomorrow will be better yet!"

and no one seems to care or wonder why. No one seems to realize that God is taking them away from evil days ahead. <sup>2</sup> For the godly who die shall rest in peace.

<sup>3</sup> But you—come here, you witches' sons, you offspring of adulterers and harlots! <sup>4</sup> Who is it you mock, making faces and sticking out your tongues? You children of sinners and liars! <sup>5</sup> You worship your idols with great zeal beneath the shade of every tree, and slay your children as human sacrifices down in the valleys, under overhanging rocks. <sup>6</sup> Your gods are the smooth stones in the valleys. You worship them and they, not I, are your inheritance. Does all this make me happy? <sup>7a</sup> You have committed adultery on the tops of the mountains, for you worship idols there, deserting me. Behind closed doors you set your idols up and worship someone other than me. This is adultery, for you are giving these idols your love, instead of loving me. <sup>8</sup> You have taken pleasant incense and perfume to Molech as your gift. You have traveled far, even to hell itself, to find new gods to love. <sup>10</sup> You grew weary in your search, but you never gave up. You strengthened yourself and went on. <sup>11</sup> Why were you more afraid of them than of me? How is it that you gave not even a second thought to me? Is it because I've been too gentle, that you have no fear of me?

<sup>12</sup> And then there is your "righteousness" and your "good works"—none of which will save you. <sup>13</sup> Let's see if the whole collection of your idols can help you when you cry to them to save you! They are so weak that the wind can carry them off! A breath can puff them away. But he who trusts in me shall possess the land and inherit my Holy Mountain. <sup>14</sup> I will say, Rebuild the road! Clear away the rocks and stones. Prepare a glorious highway for my people's return from captivity.

<sup>15</sup> The high and lofty one who inhabits eternity, the Holy One, says this: I live in that high and holy place where those with contrite, humble spirits dwell; and I refresh the humble and give new courage to those with repentant hearts. <sup>16</sup> For I will not fight against you forever, nor always show my wrath; if I did, all mankind would perish—the very souls that I have made. <sup>17</sup> I was angry and smote these greedy men. But they went right on sinning, doing everything their evil hearts desired. <sup>18</sup> I have seen what they do, but I will heal them anyway! I will lead them and comfort them, helping them to mourn and to confess their sins. <sup>19</sup> Peace, peace to them, both near and far, for I will heal them all. <sup>20</sup> But those who still reject me<sup>a</sup> are like the restless sea, which is never still, but always churns up mire and dirt. <sup>21</sup> There is no peace, says my God, for them!

58 SHOUT WITH THE voice of a trumpet blast; tell my people of their sins! <sup>1</sup> Yet they act so pious! They come to the Temple every day and are so delighted to hear the reading of my laws—just as though they would obey them—just as though they don't despise the commandments of their God! How anxious they are to worship correctly; oh, how they love the Temple services!

<sup>2</sup> "We have fasted before you," they say. "Why aren't you impressed? Why don't you see our sacrifices? Why don't you hear our prayers? We have done much penance, and you don't even notice it!" I'll tell you why! Because you are living in evil pleasure even while you are fasting, and you keep right on oppressing your workers. <sup>3</sup> Look, what good is fasting when you keep on fighting and quarreling? This kind of fasting will never get you anywhere with me. <sup>4</sup> Is this what I want—this doing of penance and bowing like reeds in the wind and putting on sackcloth and covering yourselves with ashes? Is this what you call fasting?

<sup>5</sup> No, the kind of fast I want is that you stop oppressing those who work for you and treat them fairly and give them what they earn. <sup>6</sup> I want you to share your food with the hungry and bring right into your own homes those who are helpless, poor and destitute. Clothe those who are cold and don't hide from relatives who need your help. <sup>7</sup> If you do these things, God will shed his own glorious light upon you. He will heal you; your godliness will lead you forward, and goodness will be a shield before you, and the glory of the Lord will protect you from behind. <sup>8</sup> Then, when you call, the Lord will answer. "Yes, I am here," he will quickly reply. All you need to do is to stop

<sup>10</sup> Feed the hungry! Help those in trouble! Then your light will shine out from the darkness, and the darkness around you shall be as bright as day. <sup>11</sup> And the Lord will guide you continually, and satisfy you with all good things, and keep you healthy too; and you will be like a well-watered garden, like an ever-flowing spring. <sup>12</sup> Your sons will rebuild the long-deserted ruins of your cities, and you will be known as "The People Who Rebuild Their Walls and Cities."

<sup>13</sup> If you keep the Sabbath holy, not having your own fun and business on that day, but enjoying the Sabbath and speaking of it with delight as the Lord's holy day, and honoring the Lord in what you do, not following your own desires and pleasure, nor talking idly— <sup>14</sup> then the Lord will be your delight, and I will see to it that you ride high, and get your full share of the blessings I promised to Jacob, your father. The Lord has spoken.

59 LISTEN NOW! THE Lord isn't too weak to save you. And he isn't getting deaf! He can hear you when you call! <sup>2</sup> But the trouble is that your sins have cut you off from God. Because of sin he has turned his face away from you and will not listen anymore. <sup>3</sup> For your hands are those of murderers and your fingers are filthy with sin. You lie and grumble and oppose the good. <sup>4</sup> No one cares about being fair and true. Your lawsuits are based on lies; you spend your time plotting evil deeds and doing them. <sup>5</sup> You spend your time and energy in spinning evil plans which end up in deadly actions. <sup>6</sup> You cheat and shortchange everyone. Everything you do is filled with sin; violence is your trademark. <sup>7</sup> Your feet run to do evil and rush to murder; your thoughts are only of sinning, and wherever you go you leave behind a trail of misery and death. <sup>8</sup> You don't know what true peace is, nor what it means to be just and good; you continually do wrong and those who follow you won't experience any peace, either.

<sup>9</sup> It is because of all this evil that you aren't finding God's blessings; that's why he doesn't punish those who injure you. No wonder you are in darkness when you expected light. No wonder you are walking in the gloom. <sup>10</sup> No wonder you grope like blind men and stumble along in broad daylight, yes, even at brightest noontime, as though it were the darkest night! No wonder you are like corpses when compared with vigorous young men! <sup>11</sup> You roar like hungry bears; you moan with mournful cries like doves. You look for God to keep you, but he doesn't. He has turned away. <sup>12</sup> For your sins keep piling up before the righteous God, and testify against you.

Yes, we know what sinners we are. <sup>13</sup> We know our disobedience; we have denied the Lord our God. We know what rebels we are and how unfair we are, for we carefully plan our lies. <sup>14</sup> Our courts oppose the righteous man; fairness is unknown. Truth falls dead in the streets, and justice is outlawed.

tacked. The Lord saw all the evil and was displeased to find no steps taken against sin. <sup>16</sup> He saw no one was helping you, and wondered that no one intervened. Therefore he himself stepped in to save you through his mighty power and justice. <sup>17</sup> He put on righteousness as armor, and the helmet of salvation on his head. He clothed himself with robes of vengeance and of godly fury. <sup>18</sup> He will repay his enemies for their evil deeds—fury for his foes in distant lands. <sup>19</sup> Then at last they will reverence and glorify the name of God from west to east. For he will come like a flood-tide driven by Jehovah's breath. <sup>20</sup> He will come as a Redeemer to those in Zion who have turned away from sin.

60 ARISE, MY PEOPLE! Let your light shine for all the nations to see! For the glory of the Lord is streaming from you. <sup>2</sup> Darkness as black as night shall cover all the peoples of the earth, but the glory of the Lord will shine from you. <sup>3</sup> All nations will come to your light; mighty kings will come to see the glory of the Lord upon you.

<sup>4</sup> Lift up your eyes and see! For your sons and daughters are coming home to you from distant lands. <sup>5</sup> Your eyes will shine with joy, your hearts will thrill, for merchants from around the world will flow to you, bringing you the wealth of many lands. <sup>6</sup> Vast droves of camels will converge upon you, dromedaries from Midian and Sheba and Ephah, too, bringing gold and incense to add to the praise of God. <sup>7</sup> The flocks of Kedar shall be given you, and the rams of Nabaioth for my altars, and I will glorify my glorious Temple in that day.

<sup>10</sup> Foreigners will come and build your cities. Presidents and kings will send you aid. For though I destroyed you in my anger, I will have mercy on you through my grace. <sup>11</sup> Your gates will stay wide open around the clock to receive the wealth of many lands. The kings of the world will cater to you. <sup>12</sup> For the nations refusing to be your allies<sup>b</sup> will perish; they shall be destroyed. <sup>13</sup> The glory of Lebanon will be yours—the forests of firs and pines, and box trees—to beautify my sanctuary. My Temple will be glorious.

<sup>14</sup> The sons of anti-Semites will come and bow before you! They will kiss your feet! They will call Jerusalem "The City of the Lord" and "The Glorious Mountain of the Holy One of Israel." <sup>15</sup> Though once despised and hated and rebuffed by all, you will be beautiful forever, a joy for all the generations of the world, for I will make you so.

<sup>16</sup> Powerful kings and mighty nations shall provide you with the choicest of their goods to satisfy your every need, and you will know at last and really understand that I, the Lord, am your Savior and Redeemer, the Mighty One of Israel. <sup>17</sup> I will exchange your brass for gold, your iron for silver, your wood for brass, your stones for iron. Peace and righteousness shall be your taskmasters! <sup>18</sup> Violence will disappear out of your land—all war will end. Your walls will be "Salvation" and your gates "Praise."

<sup>19</sup> No longer will you need the sun or moon to give you light, for the Lord your God will be your everlasting light, and he will be your glory. <sup>20</sup> Your sun shall never set; the moon shall not go down—for the Lord will be your everlasting light; your days of mourning all will end. <sup>21</sup> All your people will be good. They will possess their land forever, for I will plant them there with my own hands; this will bring me glory. <sup>22</sup> The smallest family shall multiply into a clan; the tiny group shall be a mighty nation. I, the Lord, will bring it all to pass when it is time.

61 THE SPIRIT OF the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord has anointed me to bring good news to the suffering and afflicted. He has sent me to comfort the brokenhearted, to announce liberty to captives and to open the eyes of the blind. <sup>2</sup> He has sent me to tell those who mourn that the time of God's favor to them has come, and the day of his wrath to their enemies.

Beauty for ashes;
Joy instead of mourning;
Praise instead of heaviness.

For God has planted them like strong and graceful oaks for his own glory.

<sup>4</sup> And they shall rebuild the ancient ruins, repairing cities long ago destroyed, reviving them though they have lain there many generations. <sup>5</sup> Foreigners shall be your servants; they shall feed your flocks and plow your fields and tend your vineyards.

<sup>6</sup> You shall be called priests of the Lord, ministers of our God. You shall be fed with the treasures of the nations and shall glory in their riches. <sup>7</sup> Instead of shame and dishonor, you shall have a double portion of prosperity and everlasting joy.

<sup>8</sup> For I, the Lord, love justice; I hate robbery and wrong. I will faithfully reward my people for their suffering and make an everlasting covenant with them. <sup>9</sup> Their descendants shall be known and honored among the nations; all shall realize that they are a people God has blessed.

<sup>10</sup> Let me tell you how happy God has made me! For he has clothed me with garments of salvation and draped about me the robe of righteousness. I am like a bridegroom in his wedding suit or a bride with her jewels. <sup>11</sup> The Lord will show the nations of the world his justice; all will praise him. His righteousness shall be like a budding tree, or like a garden in early spring, full of young plants springing up everywhere.

62 BECAUSE I LOVE Zion, because my heart yearns for Jerusalem, I will not cease to pray for her or to cry out to God on her behalf until she shines forth in his righteousness and is glorious in his salvation. <sup>2</sup> The nations shall see your righteousness. Kings shall be blinded by your glory; and God will confer on you a new name. <sup>3</sup> He will hold you aloft in his hands for all to see—a splendid crown for the King of kings. <sup>4</sup> Never again shall you be called “The God-forsaken Land” or the “Land that God Forgot.” Your new name will be “The Land of God’s Delight” and “The Bride,” for the Lord delights in you and will claim you as his own. <sup>5</sup> Your children will care for you, O Jerusalem, with joy like that of a young man who marries a virgin; and God will rejoice over you as a bridegroom with his bride.

<sup>6,7</sup> O Jerusalem, I have set intercessors<sup>a</sup> on your walls who shall cry to God all day and all night for the fulfillment of his promises. Take no rest, all you who pray, and give God no rest until he establishes Jerusalem and makes her respected and admired throughout the earth. <sup>8</sup> The Lord has sworn to Jerusalem with all his integrity: “I will never again give you to your enemies; never again shall foreign soldiers come and take away your grain and wine. <sup>9</sup> You raised it; you shall keep it, praising God. Within the Temple courts you yourselves shall drink the wine you pressed. <sup>10</sup> Go out! Go out! Prepare the roadway for my people to return! Build the roads, pull out the boulders, raise the flag

<sup>11</sup> See, the Lord has sent his messengers to every land and said, “Tell my people, I, the Lord your God, am coming to save you and will bring you many gifts.” <sup>12</sup> And they shall be called “The Holy People” and “The Lord’s Redeemed,” and Jerusalem shall be called “The Land of Desire” and “The City God Has Blessed.”

63 WHO IS THIS who comes from Edom, from the city of Bozrah, with his magnificent garments of crimson? Who is this in kingly robes, marching in the greatness of his strength?

“It is I, the Lord, announcing your salvation; I, the Lord, the one who is mighty to save!”

<sup>3</sup> “I have trodden the winepress alone. No one was there to help me. In my wrath I have trodden my enemies like grapes. In my fury I trampled my foes. It is their blood you see upon my clothes. <sup>4</sup> For the time has come for me to avenge my people, to redeem them from the hands of their oppressors. <sup>5</sup> I looked but no one came to help them; I was amazed and appalled. So I executed vengeance alone; unaided, I meted out judgment. <sup>6</sup> I crushed the heathen nations in my anger and made them stagger and fall to the ground.”

<sup>7</sup> I will tell of the lovingkindnesses of God. I will praise him for all he has done; I will rejoice in his great goodness to Israel, which he has granted in accordance with his mercy and love. <sup>6</sup> He said, "They are my very own; surely they will not be false again." And he became their Savior. <sup>7</sup> In all their affliction he was afflicted, and he personally<sup>a</sup> saved them. In his love and pity he redeemed them and lifted them up and carried them through all the years.

<sup>10</sup> But they rebelled against him and grieved his Holy Spirit. That is why he became their enemy and personally fought against them.

<sup>11</sup> Then they remembered those days of old when Moses, God's servant, led his people out of Egypt and they cried out, "Where is the one who brought Israel through the sea, with Moses as their shepherd? Where is the God who sent his Holy Spirit to be among his people?"

<sup>12</sup> Where is he whose mighty power divided the sea before them when Moses lifted up his hand, and established his reputation forever?

<sup>15</sup> O Lord, look down from heaven and see us from your holy, glorious home; where is the love for us you used to show—your power, your mercy and your compassion? Where are they now? <sup>16</sup> Surely you are still our Father! Even if Abraham and Jacob would disown us, still you would be our Father, our Redeemer from ages past. <sup>17</sup> O

Lord, why have you hardened our hearts and made us sin and turn against you? Return and help us, for we who belong to you need you so.<sup>b</sup> <sup>18</sup> How briefly we possessed Jerusalem! And now our enemies have destroyed her. <sup>19</sup> O God, why do you treat us as though we weren't your people, as though we were a heathen nation that never called you "Lord"?

64 OH, THAT YOU would burst forth from the skies and come down! How the mountains would quake in your presence! <sup>2</sup> The consuming fire of your glory would burn down the forests and boil the oceans dry. The nations would tremble before you; then your enemies would learn the reason for your fame! <sup>3</sup> So it was before when you came down, for you did awesome things beyond our highest expectations, and how the mountains quaked! <sup>4</sup> For since the world began no one has seen or heard of such a God as ours, who works for those who wait for him! <sup>5</sup> You welcome those who cheerfully do good, who follow godly ways.

But we are not godly; we are constant sinners and have been all our lives. Therefore your wrath is heavy on us. How can such as we be saved? <sup>6</sup> We are all infected and impure with sin. When we put on our prized robes of righteousness we find they are but filthy rags.<sup>a</sup> Like autumn leaves we fade, wither and fall. And our sins, like the wind, sweep us away. <sup>7</sup> Yet no one calls upon your name or pleads with you for mercy. Therefore you have turned away from us and turned us over to our sins.

<sup>9</sup> And yet, O Lord, you are our Father. We are the clay and you are the Potter. We are all formed by your hand. <sup>9</sup> Oh, be not so angry with us, Lord, nor forever remember our sins. Oh, look and see that we are all your people.

<sup>11</sup> Our holy, beautiful Temple where our fathers praised you is burned down, and all the things of beauty are destroyed. <sup>12</sup> After all of this, must you still refuse to help us, Lord? Will you stand silent and still punish us?

<sup>2</sup> But my own people—though I have been spreading out my arms to welcome them all day long—have rebelled; they follow their own evil paths and thoughts. <sup>3</sup> All day long they insult me to my face by worshiping idols in many gardens and burning incense on the rooftops of their homes. <sup>4</sup> At night they go out among the graves and caves to worship evil spirits, and they eat pork and other forbidden foods. <sup>5</sup> Yet they say to one another, "Don't come too close, you'll defile me! For I am holier than you!" They stifle me. Day in and day out they infuriate me.

<sup>6</sup> See, here is my decree all written out before me: I will not stand silent; I will repay. Yes, I will repay them—<sup>7</sup> not only for their own sins but for those of their fathers too, says the Lord, for they also burned incense on the mountains and insulted me upon the hills. I will pay them back in full.

<sup>8</sup> But I will not destroy them all, says the Lord; for just as good grapes are found among a cluster of bad ones (and someone will say, "Don't throw them all away—there are some good grapes there!") so I will not destroy all Israel, for I have true servants there. <sup>9</sup> I will preserve a remnant of my people to possess the land of Israel; those I select will inherit it and serve me there. <sup>10</sup> As for my people who have sought me, the plains of Sharon shall again be filled with flocks, and the valley of Achor shall be a place to pasture herds.

<sup>11</sup> But because the rest of you have forsaken the Lord and his Temple and worship gods of "Fate" and "Destiny," <sup>12</sup> therefore I will "destine" you to the sword, and your "fate" shall be a dark one; for when I called, you didn't answer; when I spoke, you wouldn't listen. You deliberately sinned before my very eyes, choosing to do what you know I despise. <sup>13</sup> Therefore the Lord God says, You shall starve, but my servants shall eat; you shall be thirsty while they drink; you shall be sad and ashamed, but they shall rejoice. <sup>14</sup> You shall cry in sorrow and vexation and despair, while they sing for joy. <sup>15</sup> Your name shall be a curse word among my people, for the Lord God will slay you and call his true servants by another name.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>16</sup> And yet, the days will come<sup>c</sup> when all who invoke a blessing or take an oath shall swear by the God of Truth; for I will put aside my anger and forget the evil that you did. <sup>17</sup> For see, I am creating new heavens and a new earth—so wonderful that no one will even think about the old ones anymore. <sup>18</sup> Be glad; rejoice forever in my creation. Look! I will recreate Jerusalem as a place of happiness, and her people shall be a joy! <sup>19</sup> And I will rejoice in Jerusalem, and in my people; and the voice of weeping and crying shall not be heard there any more.

<sup>25</sup> The wolf and lamb shall feed together, the lion shall eat straw as the ox does, and poisonous snakes shall strike<sup>d</sup> no more! In those days nothing and no one shall be hurt or destroyed in all my Holy Mountain, says the Lord.

66 HEAVEN IS MY throne and the earth is my footstool: What Temple can you build for me as good as that? <sup>2</sup> My hand has made both earth and skies, and they are mine. Yet I will look with pity on the man who has a humble and a contrite heart, who trembles at my word.

<sup>3</sup> But those who choose their own ways, delighting in their sins, are cursed. God will not accept their offerings. When such men sacrifice an ox on the altar of God, it is no more acceptable to him than human sacrifice. If they sacrifice a lamb, or bring an offering of grain, it is as loathsome to God as putting a dog or the blood of a swine on his altar! When they burn incense to him, he counts it the same as though they blessed an idol. <sup>4</sup> I will send great troubles upon them—all the things they feared, for when I called them, they refused to answer, and when I spoke to them, they would not hear. Instead, they did wrong before my eyes, and chose what they knew I despised.

<sup>5</sup> Hear the words of God, all you who fear him, and tremble at his words: Your brethren hate you and cast you out for being loyal to my name. "Glory to God," they scoff. "Be happy in the Lord!" But they shall be put to shame.

<sup>7a</sup> Who has heard or seen anything as strange as this? For in one day, suddenly, a nation, Israel, shall be born, even before the birth pains come. In a moment, just as Israel's anguish starts, the baby is born; the nation begins. <sup>9</sup> Shall I bring to the point of birth and then not deliver? asks the Lord your God. No! Never!

<sup>14</sup> When you see Jerusalem, your heart will rejoice; vigorous health will be yours. All the world will see the good hand of God upon his people, and his wrath upon his enemies.

sword, and the slain of the Lord shall be many! <sup>17</sup> Those who worship idols that are hidden behind a tree in the garden, feasting there on pork and mouse and all forbidden meat—they will come to an evil end, says Jehovah. <sup>18</sup> I see full well what they are doing; I know what they are thinking, so I will gather together all nations and people against Jerusalem, where they shall see my glory. <sup>19</sup> I will perform a mighty miracle against them, and I will send those<sup>a</sup> who escape, as missionaries to the nations—to Tarsish, Put, Lud, Meshech, Rosh, Tubal, Javan, and to the lands beyond the sea that have not heard my fame nor seen my glory. There they shall declare my glory to the Gentiles. <sup>20</sup> And they shall bring back all your brethren from every nation as a gift to the Lord, transporting them gently<sup>b</sup> on horses and in chariots, and in litters, and on mules and camels, to my holy mountain, to Jerusalem, says the Lord. It will be like offerings flowing into the Temple of the Lord at harvest time, carried in vessels consecrated to the Lord. <sup>21</sup> And I will appoint some of those returning to be my priests and Levites, says the Lord.

<sup>22</sup> As surely as my new heavens and earth shall remain, so surely shall you always be my people, with a name that shall never disappear. <sup>23</sup> All mankind shall come to worship me from week to week and month to month. <sup>24</sup> And they shall

a It is not clear from the Hebrew whether "those who escape" means survivors of the armies of the nations, or survivors of the Jews in Israel. The context seems to favor the former. Put and Lud were in North Africa; Meshech, Rosh and Tubal were in Asia Minor and Armenia. b Implied go out and look at the dead bodies of those who have rebelled against me, for their worm shall never die; their fire shall not be quenched, and they shall be a disgusting sight to all mankind.

JEREMIAH

1 THESE ARE GOD'S messages to Jeremiah the priest (the son of Hilkiah) who lived in the town of Anathoth in the land of Benjamin. The first of these messages came to him in the thirteenth year of the reign of Amon's son Josiah, king of Judah. <sup>3</sup> Others came during the reign of Josiah's son Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and at various other times until July of the eleventh year of the reign of Josiah's son Zedekiah, king of Judah, when Jerusalem was captured and the people were taken away as slaves.

<sup>4</sup> The Lord said to me, <sup>5</sup> "I knew you before you were formed within your mother's womb; before you were born I sanctified you and appointed you as my spokesman to the world."

<sup>6</sup> "O Lord God," I said, "I can't do that! I'm far too young! I'm only a youth!"

<sup>7</sup> "Don't say that," he replied, "for you will go wherever I send you and speak whatever I tell you to. <sup>8</sup> And don't be afraid of the people, for I, the Lord, will be with you and see you through."

<sup>9</sup> Then he touched my mouth and said, "See, I have put my words in your mouth! <sup>10</sup> Today your work begins, to warn the nations and the kingdoms of the world. In accord with my words spoken through your mouth I will tear down some and destroy them, and plant others and nurture them and make them strong and great."

<sup>11</sup> Then the Lord said to me, "Look, Jeremiah! What do you see?"

And I replied, "I see a whip made from the branch of an almond tree."

And I replied, "I see a pot of boiling water, tipping southward, spilling over Judah."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>14</sup> "Yes," he said, "for terror from the north will boil out upon all the people of this land. <sup>15</sup> I am calling the armies of the kingdoms of the north to come to Jerusalem and set their thrones at the gates of the city and all along its walls, and in all the other cities of Judah. <sup>16</sup> This is the way I will punish my people for deserting me and for worshiping other gods—yes, idols they themselves have made! <sup>17</sup> Get up and dress and go out and tell them whatever I tell you to say. Don't be afraid of them, or else I will make a fool of you in front of them. <sup>18</sup> For see, today I have made you impervious to their attacks. They cannot harm you. You are strong like a fortified city that cannot be captured, like an iron pillar and heavy gates of brass. All the kings of Judah and its officers and priests and people will not be able to prevail against you. <sup>19</sup> They will try, but they will fail. For I am with you," says the Lord. "I will deliver you."

2 AGAIN THE LORD spoke to me and said:

<sup>2</sup> Go and shout this in Jerusalem's streets: The Lord says, I remember how eager you were to please me as a young bride long ago and how you loved me and followed me even through the barren deserts.

<sup>3</sup> In those days Israel was a holy people, the first of my children.<sup>a</sup> All who harmed them were counted deeply guilty, and great evil fell on anyone who touched them.

<sup>4</sup> O Israel, says the Lord, why did your fathers desert me? What sin did they find in me that turned them away and changed them into fools who worship idols? <sup>5</sup> They ignore the fact that it was I, the Lord, who brought them safely out of Egypt and led them through the barren wilderness, a land of deserts and rocks, of drought and death, where no one lives or even travels. <sup>7</sup> And I brought them into a fruitful land, to eat of its bounty and goodness, but they made it into a land of sin and corruption and turned my inheritance into an evil thing. <sup>8</sup> Even their priests cared nothing for the Lord, and their judges ignored me; their rulers turned against me, and their prophets worshiped Baal and wasted their time on nonsense.

<sup>9</sup> But I will not give you up—I will plead for you to return to me, and will keep on pleading; yes, even with your children's children in the years to come!

<sup>10,11</sup> Look around you and see if you can find another nation anywhere that has traded in its old gods for new ones—even though their gods are nothing. Send to the west to the island of Cyprus; send to the east to the deserts of Kedar. See if anyone there has ever heard so strange a thing as this. And yet my people have given up their glorious God for silly idols! <sup>12</sup> The heavens are shocked at such a thing and shrink back in horror and dismay. <sup>13</sup> For my people have done two evil things: They have forsaken me, the Fountain of Life-giving Water; and they have built for themselves broken cisterns that can't hold water!

destroy Israel's glory and power.

<sup>17</sup> And you have brought this on yourselves by rebelling against the Lord your God when he wanted to lead you and show you the way!

<sup>18</sup> What have you gained by your alliances with Egypt and with Assyria? <sup>19</sup> Your own wickedness will punish you. You will see what an evil, bitter thing it is to rebel against the Lord your God, fearlessly forsaking him, says the Lord, the God of Hosts. <sup>20</sup> Long ago you shook off my yoke and broke away from my ties. Defiant, you would not obey me. On every hill and under every tree you've bowed low before idols.

<sup>21</sup> How could this happen? How could this be? For when I planted you, I chose my seed so carefully—the very best. Why have you become this degenerate race of evil men? <sup>22</sup> No amount of soap or lye can make you clean. You are stained with guilt that cannot ever be washed away. I see it always before me, the Lord God says. <sup>23</sup> You say it isn't so, that you haven't worshiped idols? How can you say a thing like that? Go and look in any valley in the land! Face the awful sins that you have done, O restless female camel, seeking for a male! <sup>24</sup> You are a wild donkey, sniffing the wind at mating time. (Who can restrain your lust?) Any jack wanting you need not search, for you come running to him! <sup>25</sup> Why don't you turn from all this weary running after other gods? But you say, "Don't waste your breath. I've fallen in love with these strangers and I can't stop loving them now!"

<sup>31</sup> O my people, listen to the words of God: Have I been unjust to Israel? Have I been to them a land of darkness and of evil? Why then do my people say, "At last we are free from God; we won't have anything to do with him again!" <sup>32</sup> How can you disown your God like that?<sup>c</sup> Can a girl forget her jewels? What bride will seek to hide her wedding dress? Yet for years on end my people have forgotten me—the most precious of their treasures.<sup>c</sup>

3 THERE IS A law<sup>a</sup> that if a man divorces a woman who then remarries, he is not to take her back again, for she has become corrupted. But though you have left me and married many lovers, yet I have invited you to come to me again, the Lord says. <sup>1</sup> Is there a single spot in all the land where you haven't been defiled by your adulteries—your worshiping these other gods?<sup>b</sup> You sit like a prostitute beside the road waiting for a client! You sit alone like a Bedouin in the desert. You have polluted the land with your vile prostitution. <sup>3</sup> That is why even the springtime rains have failed. For you are a prostitute, and completely unashamed. <sup>4</sup> And yet you say to me, "O Father, you have always been my Friend; surely you won't be angry about such a little thing! Surely you will just forget it?" So you talk, and keep right on doing all the evil that you can.

Have you seen what Israel does? Like a wanton wife who gives herself to other men at every chance, so Israel has worshiped other gods on every hill, beneath every shady tree. <sup>7</sup> I thought that someday she would return to me and once again be mine; but she didn't come back. And her faithless sister Judah saw the continued rebellion of Israel. <sup>8</sup> Yet she paid no attention, even though she saw that I divorced faithless Israel. But now Judah too has left me and given herself to prostitution, for she has gone to other gods to worship them. <sup>9</sup> She treated it all so lightly—to her it was nothing at all that she should worship idols made of wood and stone. And so the land was greatly polluted and defiled. <sup>10</sup> Then, afterwards, this faithless one "returned" to me, but her "sorrow" was only faked, the Lord God says. <sup>11</sup> In fact, faithless Israel is less guilty than treacherous Judah!

<sup>12</sup> Therefore go and say to Israel, O Israel, my sinful people, come home to me again, for I am merciful; I will not be forever angry with you. <sup>13</sup> Only acknowledge your guilt; admit that you rebelled against the Lord your God and committed adultery against him by worshiping idols under every tree; confess that you refused to follow me. <sup>14</sup> O sinful children, come home, for I am your Master and I will bring you again to the land of Israel—one from here and two from there, wherever you are scattered. <sup>15</sup> And I will give you leaders after my own heart, who will guide you with wisdom and understanding.

"the good old days of long ago" when you possessed the Ark of God's covenant. Those days will not be missed or even thought about, and the Ark will not be reconstructed,<sup>17</sup> for the Lord himself will be among you, and the whole city of Jerusalem will be known as the throne of the Lord, and all nations will come to him there and no longer stubbornly follow their evil desires.<sup>18</sup> At that time the people of Judah and of Israel will return together from their exile in the north, to the land I gave their fathers as an inheritance forever.<sup>19</sup> And I thought how wonderful it would be for you to be here among my children. I planned to give you part of this beautiful land, the finest in the world. I looked forward to your calling me "Father," and thought that you would never turn away from me again.<sup>20</sup> But you have betrayed me; you have gone off and given yourself to a host of foreign gods; you have been like a faithless wife who leaves her husband.

<sup>21</sup> I hear voices high upon the windswept mountains, crying, crying. It is the sons of Israel who have turned their backs on God and wandered far away.<sup>22</sup> O my rebellious children, come back to me again and I will heal you from your sins.

And they reply, Yes, we will come, for you are the Lord our God.<sup>23</sup> We are weary of worshiping idols on the hills and of having orgies on the mountains. It is all a farce. Only in the Lord our God can

Israel ever find her help and her salvation.<sup>24</sup> From our childhood we have seen everything our fathers had—flocks and herds and sons and daughters—squandered on priests and idols.<sup>25</sup> We lie in shame and in dishonor, for we and our fathers have sinned from childhood against the Lord our God; we have not obeyed him.

4 O ISRAEL, if you will truly return to me and absolutely discard your idols,<sup>2</sup> and if you will swear by me alone, the living God, and begin to live good, honest, clean lives, then you will be a testimony to the nations of the world and they will come to me and glorify my name.

weep with broken hearts, for the fierce anger of the Lord has not stopped yet. <sup>9</sup> In that day, says the Lord, the king and the princes will tremble in fear; and the priests and the prophets will be stricken with horror.

<sup>10</sup> (Then I said, "But Lord, the people have been deceived by what you said, for you promised great blessings on Jerusalem. Yet the sword is even now poised to strike them dead!")

<sup>14</sup> O Jerusalem, cleanse your hearts while there is time. You can yet be saved by casting out your evil thoughts. <sup>15</sup> From Dan and from Mount Ephraim your doom has been announced. <sup>16</sup> Warn the other nations that the enemy is coming from a distant land and they shout against Jerusalem and the cities of Judah. <sup>17</sup> They surround Jerusalem like shepherds moving in on some wild animal! For my people have rebelled against me, says the Lord. <sup>18</sup> Your ways have brought this down upon you; it is a bitter dose of your own medicine, striking deep within your hearts.

<sup>19</sup> My heart, my heart—I writhe in pain; my heart pounds within me. I cannot be still because I have heard, O my soul, the blast of the enemies' trumpets and the enemies' battle cries. <sup>20</sup> Wave upon wave of destruction rolls over the land, until it lies in utter ruin; suddenly, in a moment, every house is crushed. <sup>21</sup> How long must this go on? How long must I see war and death surrounding me?

<sup>22</sup> "Until my people leave their foolishness, for they refuse to listen to me; they are dull, retarded children who have no understanding. They are smart enough at doing wrong, but for doing right they have no talent, none at all."

<sup>23</sup> I looked down upon their land and as far as I could see in all directions everything was ruins. And all the heavens were dark. <sup>24</sup> I looked at the mountains and saw that they trembled and shook. <sup>25</sup> I looked, and mankind was gone and the birds of the heavens had fled.

"Yet," he says, "there will be a little remnant of my people left. <sup>28</sup> The earth shall mourn, the heavens shall be draped with black, because of my decree against my people, but I have made up my mind and I will not change it."

<sup>29</sup> All the cities flee in terror at the noise of marching armies coming near. The people hide in the bushes and flee to the mountains. All the cities are abandoned—all have fled in terror. <sup>30</sup> Why do you put on your most beautiful clothing and jewelry and brighten your eyes with mascara? It will do you no good! Your allies despise you and will kill you.

that of a woman giving birth to her first child; it is the cry of my people gasping for breath, pleading for help, prostrate before their murderers.

5 RUN UP AND down through every street in all Jerusalem; search high and low and see if you can find one fair and honest man! Search every square, and if you find just one, I'll not destroy the city! <sup>2</sup> Even under oath, they lie. <sup>3</sup> O Lord, you will take naught but truth. You have tried to get them to be honest, for you have punished them, but they won't change! You have destroyed them but they refuse to turn from their sins. They are determined, with faces hard as rock, not to repent.

<sup>4</sup> Then I said, "But what can we expect from the poor and ignorant? They don't know the ways of God. How can they obey him?"

<sup>5</sup> I will go now to their leaders, the men of importance, and speak to them, for they know the ways of the Lord and the judgment that follows sin. But they too had utterly rejected their God.

<sup>6</sup> So I will send upon them the wild fury of the "lion from the forest"; the "desert wolves" shall pounce upon them, and a "leopard" shall lurk around their cities so that all who go out shall be torn apart. For their sins are very many; their rebellion against me is great.

away, and worship gods that are not gods at all. I fed my people until they were fully satisfied, and their thanks was to commit adultery wholesale and to gang up at the city's brothels. <sup>8</sup> They are well-fed, lusty stallions, each neighing for his neighbor's mate. <sup>9</sup> Shall I not punish them for this? Shall I not send my vengeance on such a nation as this? <sup>10</sup> Go down the rows of the vineyards and destroy them! But leave a scattered few to live. Strip the branches from each vine, for they are not the Lord's.

<sup>11</sup> For the people of Israel and Judah are full of treachery against me, says the Lord. <sup>12</sup> They have lied and said, "He won't bother us! No evil will come upon us! There will be neither famine nor war!" <sup>13</sup> God's prophets," they say, "are windbags full of words with no divine authority. Their claims of doom will fall upon themselves, not us!"

they shall sack your walled cities that you think are safe.

<sup>19</sup> And when your people ask, "Why is it that the Lord is doing this to us?" then you shall say, "You rejected him and gave yourselves to other gods while in your land; now you must be slaves to foreigners in their lands."

<sup>21</sup> Listen, O foolish, senseless people—you with the eyes that do not see and the ears that do not listen—<sup>22</sup> have you no respect at all for me? the Lord God asks. How can it be that you don't even tremble in my presence? I set the shorelines of the world by perpetual decrees, so that the oceans, though they toss and roar, can never pass those bounds. Isn't such a God to be feared and worshiped?

<sup>23,24</sup> But my people have rebellious hearts; they have turned against me and gone off into idolatry. Though I am the one who gives them rain each year in spring and fall and sends the harvest times, yet they have no respect or fear for me. <sup>25</sup> And so I have taken away these wondrous blessings from them. This sin has robbed them of all of these good things.

rights of the poor. <sup>29</sup> Should I sit back and act as though nothing is going on? the Lord God asks. Shouldn't I punish a nation such as this?

<sup>30</sup> A horrible thing has happened in this land—<sup>31</sup> the priests are ruled by false prophets, and my people like it so! But your doom is certain.

6 RUN, PEOPLE OF Benjamin, run for your lives! Flee from Jerusalem! Sound the alarm in Tekoa; send up a smoke signal at Beth-haccherem; warn everyone that a powerful army is on the way from the north, coming to destroy this nation! <sup>2</sup> Helpless as a girl, you are beautiful and delicate—and doomed. <sup>3</sup> Evil shepherds shall surround you. They shall set up camp around the city, and divide your pastures for their flocks. <sup>4</sup> See them prepare for battle. At noon it has begun. All afternoon it rages, until the evening shadows fall. <sup>5</sup> "Come," they say. "Let us attack by night and destroy her palaces!"

<sup>6</sup> For the Lord of Hosts has said to them, Cut down her trees for battering rams; smash down the walls of Jerusalem. This is the city to be punished, for she is vile through and through. <sup>7</sup> She spouts evil like a fountain! Her streets echo with the sounds of violence; her sickness and wounds are ever before me.

<sup>8</sup> This is your last warning, O Jerusalem. If you don't listen, I will empty the land. <sup>9</sup> Disaster on disaster shall befall you. Even the few who remain in Israel shall be gleaned again, the Lord of Hosts has said; for as a grape-gatherer checks each vine to pick what he has missed, so the remnant of my people shall be destroyed again.<sup>10</sup> But who will listen when I warn them? Their ears are closed and they refuse to hear. The word of God has angered them; they don't want it at all.

<sup>11</sup> For all this I am full of the wrath of God against them. I am weary of holding it in. I will pour it out over Jerusalem, even upon the children playing in the streets, upon the gatherings of young men, and on husbands and wives and grandparents.<sup>12</sup> Their enemies shall live in their homes and take their fields and wives. For I will punish the people of this land, the Lord has said.<sup>13</sup> They are swindlers and liars, from the least of them right to the top! Yes, even my prophets and priests!<sup>14</sup> You can't heal a wound by saying it's not there! Yet the priests and prophets give assurances of peace when all is war.<sup>15</sup> Were my people ashamed when they worshiped idols? No, not at all—they didn't even blush. Therefore they shall lie among the slain. They shall die beneath my anger.

<sup>16</sup> Yet the Lord pleads with you still: Ask where the good road is, the godly paths you used to walk in, in the days of long ago. Travel there, and you will find rest for your souls. But you reply, "No, that is not the road we want!"<sup>17</sup> I set watchmen over you who warned you: "Listen for the sound of the trumpet! It will let you know when trouble comes." But you said, "No! We won't pay any attention!"

<sup>18,19</sup> This, then, is my decree against my people: (Listen to it, distant lands; listen to it, O my people in Jerusalem; listen to it, all the earth!) I will bring evil upon this people; it will be the fruit of their own sin, because they will not listen to me. They reject my law.<sup>20</sup> There is no use now in burning sweet incense from Sheba before me! Keep your expensive perfumes! I cannot accept your offerings; they have no sweet fragrance for me.<sup>21</sup> I will make an obstacle course of the pathway of my people; fathers and sons shall be frustrated; neighbors and friends shall collapse together.<sup>22</sup> The Lord God says, See the armies marching from the north—a great nation is rising against you.<sup>23</sup> They are a cruel, merciless people, fully armed, mounted for war. The noise of their army is like a roaring sea.

<sup>24</sup> We have heard the fame of their armies and we are weak with fright. Fright and pain have gripped us like that of women in travail.<sup>25</sup> Don't go out to the fields! Don't travel the roads! For the enemy is everywhere, ready to kill; we are terrorized at every turn.

<sup>26</sup> O Jerusalem, pride of my people, put on mourning clothes and sit in ashes and weep bitterly as for an only son. For suddenly the destroying armies will be upon you.

<sup>27</sup> Jeremiah, I have made you an assayer of metals, that you may test this my people and determine their value. Listen to what they are saying and watch what they are doing.<sup>28</sup> Are they not the worst of rebels, full of evil talk against the Lord? They are insolent as brass, hard and cruel as iron.<sup>29</sup> The bellows blow fiercely; the refining fire grows hotter, but it can never cleanse them, for there is no pureness in them to bring out. Why continue the process longer? All is dross. No matter how hot the fire, they continue in their wicked ways. <sup>30</sup> I must label them "Impure, Rejected Silver," and I have discarded them.

7 THEN THE LORD said to Jeremiah:

<sup>2</sup> Go over to the entrance of the Temple of the Lord and give this message to the people: O Judah, listen to this message from God. Listen to it, all of you who worship here. <sup>3</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel says: Even yet, if you quit your evil ways I will let you stay in your own land. <sup>4</sup> But don't be fooled by those who lie to you and say that since the Temple of the Lord is here, God will never let Jerusalem be destroyed. <sup>5</sup> You may remain under these conditions only: If you stop your wicked thoughts and deeds, and are fair to others, <sup>6</sup> and stop exploiting orphans, widows and foreigners. And stop your murdering. And stop worshiping idols as you do now to your hurt. <sup>7</sup> Then, and only then, will I let you stay in this land that I gave to your fathers to keep forever.

<sup>8</sup> You think that because the Temple is here, you will never suffer? Don't fool yourselves! <sup>9</sup> Do you really think that you can steal, murder, commit adultery, lie, and worship Baal and all of those new gods of yours, <sup>10</sup> and then come here and stand before me in my Temple and chant, "We are saved!"—only to go right back to all these evil things again? <sup>11</sup> Is my Temple but a den of robbers in your eyes? For I see all the evil going on in there.

<sup>12</sup> Go to Shiloh, the city I first honored with my name, and see what I did to her because of all the wickedness of my people Israel. <sup>13,14</sup> And now, says the Lord, I will do the same thing here because of all this evil you have done. Again and again I spoke to you about it, rising up early and calling, but you refused to hear or answer. Yes, I will destroy this Temple, as I did in Shiloh—this Temple called by my name, which you trust for help, and this place I gave to you and to your fathers. <sup>15</sup> And I will send you into exile, just as I did your brothers, the people of Ephraim.

<sup>27</sup> Tell them everything that I will do to them, but don't expect them to listen. Cry out your warnings, but don't expect them to respond. <sup>28</sup> Say to them: This is the nation that refuses to obey the Lord its God, and refuses to be taught. She continues to live a lie.

manded it to be done. <sup>32</sup> The time is coming, says the Lord, when that valley's name will be changed from "Topheth," or the "Valley of Ben-Hinnom," to the "Valley of Slaughter"; for there will be so many slain to bury that there won't be room enough for all the graves and they will dump the bodies in that valley. <sup>33</sup> The bodies of my people shall be food for the birds and animals, and no one shall be left to scare them away. <sup>34</sup> I will end the happy singing and laughter in the streets of Jerusalem and in the cities of Judah, and the joyous voices of the bridegrooms and brides. For the land shall lie in desolation.

<sup>4,5</sup> Once again give them this message from the Lord: When a person falls, he jumps up again; when he is on the wrong road and discovers his mistake, he goes back to the fork where he made the wrong turn. But these people keep on along their evil path, even though I warn them. <sup>6</sup> I listen to their conversation and what do I hear? Is anyone sorry for sin? Does anyone say, "What a terrible thing I have done?" No, all are rushing pell-mell down the path of sin as swiftly as a horse rushing to the battle.<sup>7</sup> The stork knows the time of her migration, as does the turtle-dove, and the crane, and the swallow. They all return at God's appointed time each year; but not my people! They don't accept the laws of God.

<sup>8</sup> How can you say, "We understand his laws," when your teachers have twisted them up to mean a thing I never said? <sup>9</sup> These wise teachers of yours will be shamed by exile for this sin, for they have rejected the word of the Lord. Are they then so wise? <sup>10</sup> I will give their wives and their farms to others; for all of them, great and small, prophet and priest, have one purpose in mind—to get what isn't theirs. <sup>11</sup> They give useless medicine for my people's grievous wounds, for they assure them all is well when that isn't so at all! <sup>12</sup> Are they ashamed because they worship idols? No, not in the least; they don't even know how to blush! That is why I will see to it that they lie among the fallen. I will visit them with death. <sup>13</sup> Their figs and grapes will disappear, their fruit trees will die, and all the good things I prepared for them will soon be gone.

"Then the people will say, 'Why should we wait here to die? Come, let us go to the walled cities and perish there. For the Lord our God has decreed our doom and given us a cup of poison to drink because of all our sins.'"<sup>14</sup> We expected peace, but no peace came; we looked for health but there was only terror."

<sup>18</sup> My grief is beyond healing; my heart is broken. <sup>19</sup> Listen to the weeping of my people all across the land.

"Where is the Lord?" they ask. "Has God deserted us?"

"Oh, why have they angered me with their carved idols and strange evil rites?" the Lord replies.

<sup>20</sup> "The harvest is finished; the summer is over and we are not saved."

9 OH, THAT MY eyes were a fountain of tears; I would weep forever; I would sob day and night for the slain of my people!<sup>2</sup> Oh, that I could go away and forget them and live in some wayside shack in the desert, for they are all adulterous, treacherous men.

"They bend their tongues like bows to shoot their arrows of untruth. They care nothing for right and go from bad to worse; they care nothing for me," says the Lord.

<sup>6</sup> "They pile evil upon evil, lie upon lie, and utterly refuse to come to me," says the Lord.

<sup>11</sup> "And I will turn Jerusalem into heaps of ruined houses where only jackals have their dens. The cities of Judah shall be ghost towns, with no one living in them."

<sup>12</sup> Who is wise enough to understand all this? Where is the Lord's messenger to explain it? Why is the land a wilderness so that no one dares even to travel through?

<sup>13</sup> "Because," the Lord replies, "my people have forsaken my commandments and not obeyed my laws. <sup>14</sup> Instead they have done whatever they pleased and worshiped the idols of Baal, as their fathers told them to. <sup>15</sup> Therefore this is what the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Lo, I will feed them with bitterness and give them poison to drink. <sup>16</sup> I will scatter them around the world, to be strangers in distant lands; and even there the sword of destruction shall chase them until I have utterly destroyed them.

<sup>23</sup> The Lord says: Let not the wise man bask in his wisdom, nor the mighty man in his might, nor the rich man in his riches. <sup>24</sup> Let them boast in this alone: That they truly know me, and understand that I am the Lord of justice and of righteousness whose love is steadfast; and that I love to be this way.

<sup>25,26</sup> A time is coming, says the Lord, when I will punish all those who are circumcised in body but not in spirit—the Egyptians, Edomites, Ammonites, Moabites, Arabs, and yes, even you people of Judah. For all these pagan nations also circumcise themselves. Unless you circumcise your hearts by loving me, your circumcision is only a heathen rite like theirs, and nothing more.

10 HEAR THE WORD of the Lord, O Israel:

<sup>2</sup> Don't act like the people who make horoscopes and try to read their fate and future in the stars! Don't be frightened by predictions such as theirs, for it is all a pack of lies. Their ways are futile and foolish. They cut down a tree and carve an idol, and decorate it with gold and silver and fasten it securely in place with hammer and nails, so that it won't fall over, and there stands their god like a helpless scarecrow in a garden! It cannot speak, and it must be carried, for it cannot walk. Don't be afraid of such a god for it can neither harm nor help, nor do you any good.

<sup>6</sup> O Lord, there is no other god like you. For you are great and your name is full of power. <sup>7</sup> Who would not fear you, O King of nations? (And that title belongs to you alone!) Among all the wise men of the earth and in all the kingdoms of the world there isn't anyone like you.

<sup>11</sup> Say this to those who worship other gods: Your so-called gods, who have not made the heavens and earth, shall vanish from the earth, <sup>12</sup> but our God formed the earth by his power and wisdom, and by his intelligence he hung the stars in space and stretched out the heavens. <sup>13</sup> It is his voice that echoes in the thunder of the storm clouds. He causes mist to rise upon the earth; he sends the lightning and brings the rain, and from his treasures he brings the wind.

<sup>19</sup> Desperate is my wound. My grief is great. My sickness is incurable, but I must bear it. <sup>20</sup> My home is gone; my children have been taken away and I will never see them again. There is no one left to help me rebuild my home. <sup>21</sup> The shepherds of my people have lost their senses;

they no longer follow God nor ask his will. Therefore they perish and their flocks are scattered. <sup>22</sup> Listen! Hear the terrible sound of great armies coming from the north. The cities of Judah shall become dens of jackals.

<sup>23</sup> O Lord, I know it is not within the power of man to map his life and plan his course—<sup>24</sup> so you correct me, Lord; but please be gentle. Don't do it in your anger, for I would die. <sup>25</sup> Pour out your fury on the nations who don't obey the Lord, for they have destroyed Israel and made a wasteland of this entire country.

11 THEN THE LORD spoke to Jeremiah once again and said:

Remind the men of Judah and all the people of Jerusalem that I made a contract with their fathers—and cursed is the man who does not heed it! <sup>4</sup> For I told them at the time I brought them out of slavery in Egypt that if they would obey me and do whatever I commanded them, then they and all their children would be mine and I would be their God. <sup>5</sup> And now, Israel, obey me, says the Lord, so that I can do for you the wonderful things I swore I would if you obeyed. I want to give you a land that “flows with milk and honey,” as it is today. Then I replied, “So be it, Lord!”

<sup>6</sup> Then the Lord said: Broadcast this message in Jerusalem's streets—go from city to city throughout the land and say, Remember this agreement that your fathers made with God, and do all the things they promised him they would. <sup>7</sup> For I solemnly said to your fathers when I brought them out of Egypt—and have kept on saying it over and over again until this day: Obey my every command! <sup>8</sup> But your fathers didn't do it. They wouldn't even listen. Each followed his own stubborn will and his proud heart. Because they refused to obey, I did to them all the evils stated in the contract.

<sup>9</sup> Again the Lord spoke to me and said: I have discovered a conspiracy against me among the men of Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup> They have returned to the sins of their fathers, refusing to listen to me and worshiping idols. The agreement I made with their fathers is broken and canceled. <sup>11</sup> Therefore, the Lord says, I am going to bring calamity down upon them and they shall not escape. Though they cry for mercy, I will not listen to their pleas. <sup>12</sup> Then they will pray to their idols and burn incense before them, but that cannot save them from their time of anguish and despair. <sup>13</sup> O my people, you have as many gods as there are cities, and your altars of shame (your altars to burn incense to Baal) are along every street in Jerusalem.

<sup>14</sup> Therefore, Jeremiah, pray no longer for this people, neither weep nor plead for them; for I will not listen to them when they are finally desperate enough to beg me for help. <sup>15</sup> What right do my beloved people have to come any more to my Temple? For you have been unfaithful and worshiped other gods. Can promises and sacrifices now avert your doom and give you life and joy again? <sup>16</sup> The Lord used to call you his green olive tree, beautiful to see and full of good fruit; but now he has sent the fury of your enemies to burn you up and leave you broken and charred.<sup>17</sup> It is because of the wickedness of Israel and Judah in offering incense to Baal that the Lord of Hosts who planted the tree has ordered it destroyed.

<sup>18</sup> Then the Lord told me all about their plans and showed me their evil plots.<sup>19</sup> I had been as unsuspecting as a lamb or ox on the way to slaughter. I didn't know that they were planning to kill me! "Let's destroy this man and all his messages," they said. "Let's kill him so that his name will be forever forgotten."

12 O LORD, YOU always give me justice when I bring a case before you to decide. Now let me bring you this complaint: Why are the wicked so prosperous? Why are evil men so happy? <sup>2</sup> You plant them. They take root and their business grows. Their profits multiply, and they are rich. They say, "Thank God!" But in their hearts they give no credit to you.<sup>3</sup> But as for me—Lord, you know my heart—you know how much it longs for you. (And I am poor,<sup>a</sup> O Lord!) Lord, drag them off like helpless sheep to the slaughter. Judge them, O God!

<sup>4</sup> How long must this land of yours put up with all their goings on? Even the grass of the field groans and weeps over their wicked deeds! The wild animals and birds have moved away, leaving the land deserted. Yet the people say, "God won't bring judgment on us. We're perfectly safe!"

<sup>8</sup> Then the Lord said: I have abandoned my people, my inheritance; I have surrendered my dearest ones to their enemies. <sup>9</sup> My people have roared at me like a lion of the forest, so I have treated them as though I hated them. <sup>10</sup> My people have fallen. I will bring upon them swarms of vultures and wild animals to pick the flesh from their corpses.

beauty into barren wilderness. <sup>11</sup> They have made it desolate; I hear its mournful cry. The whole land is desolate and no one cares. <sup>12</sup> Destroying armies plunder the land; the sword of the Lord devours from one end of the nation to the other; nothing shall escape. <sup>13</sup> My people have sown wheat but reaped thorns; they have worked hard but it does them no good. They shall harvest a crop of shame, for the fierce anger of the Lord is upon them.

<sup>14</sup> And now the Lord says this to the evil nations, the nations surrounding the land God gave his people Israel: See, I will force you from your land just as Judah will be forced from hers; <sup>15</sup> but afterwards I will return and have compassion on all of you, and will bring you home to your own land again, each man to his inheritance. <sup>16</sup> And if these heathen nations quickly learn my people's ways and claim me as their God instead of Baal (whom they taught my people to worship), then they shall be strong among my people. <sup>17</sup> But any nation refusing to obey me will be expelled again and finished, says the Lord.

13 THE LORD SAID to me, Go and buy a linen loincloth and wear it, but don't wash it—don't put it in water at all. <sup>2</sup> So I bought the loincloth and put it on. <sup>3</sup> Then the Lord's message came to me again. This time he said, <sup>4</sup> Take the loincloth out to the Euphrates River and hide it in a hole in the rocks.

<sup>5</sup> So I did; I hid it as the Lord had told me to. <sup>6</sup> Then, a long time afterwards, the Lord said: Go out to the river again and get the loincloth. <sup>7</sup> And I did; I dug it out of the hole where I had hidden it. But now it was mildewed and falling apart. It was utterly useless!

<sup>8,9</sup> Then the Lord said: This illustrates the way that I will rot the pride of Judah and Jerusalem. <sup>10</sup> This evil nation refuses to listen to me, and follows its own evil desires and worships idols; therefore it shall become as this loincloth—good for nothing. <sup>11</sup> Even as a loincloth clings to a man's loins, so I made Judah and Israel to cling to me, says the Lord. They were my people, an honor to my name. But then they turned away.

<sup>12</sup> Tell them this: The Lord God of Israel says, All your jugs will be full of wine. And they will reply, Of course, you don't need to tell us how prosperous we will be! <sup>13</sup> Then tell them: You're getting the wrong impression. <sup>b</sup> I will fill everyone living in this land with helpless bewilderment—from the king sitting on David's throne, and the priests and the prophets right on down to all the people. <sup>14</sup> And I will smash fathers and sons against each other, says the Lord. I will not let pity nor mercy spare them from utter destruction.

<sup>15</sup> Oh, that you were not so proud and stubborn! Then you would listen to the Lord, for he has spoken. <sup>16</sup> Give glory to the Lord your God before it is too late, before he causes deep, impenetrable darkness to fall upon you so that you stumble and fall upon the dark mountains; then, when you look for light, you will find only terrible darkness. <sup>17</sup> Do you still refuse to listen? Then in loneliness my breaking heart shall mourn because of your pride. My eyes will overflow with tears because the Lord's flock shall be carried away as slaves.

<sup>18</sup> Say to the king and queen-mother,<sup>c</sup> Come down from your thrones and sit in the dust, for your glorious crowns are removed from your heads. They are no longer yours. <sup>19</sup> The cities of the Negeb to the south of Jerusalem have closed their gates against the enemy. They must defend themselves, for Jerusalem cannot help;<sup>d</sup> and all Judah shall be taken away as slaves. <sup>20</sup> See the armies marching from the north! Where is your flock, Jerusalem,<sup>e</sup> your beautiful flock I gave you to take care of? <sup>21</sup> How will you feel when I set your allies over you as your rulers? You will writhe in pain like a woman having a child. <sup>22</sup> And if you ask yourself, Why is all this happening to me? It is because of the grossness of your sins; that is why you have been raped and destroyed by the invading army.

<sup>23</sup> Can the Ethiopian change the color of his skin? or a leopard take away his spots? Nor can you who are so used to doing evil now start being good. <sup>24,25</sup> Because you have put me out of your mind and put your trust in false gods, I will scatter you as chaff is scattered by the fierce winds off the desert. This then is your allotment, that which is due you, which I have measured out especially for you. <sup>26</sup> I myself will expose you to utter shame. <sup>27</sup> I am keenly aware of your apostasy, your faithlessness to me, and your abominable idol worship in the fields and on the hills. Woe upon you, O Jerusalem! How long before you will be pure?

14 THIS MESSAGE CAME to Jeremiah from the Lord, explaining why he was holding back the rain:

<sup>7</sup> O Lord, we have sinned against you grievously, yet help us for the sake of your own reputation! <sup>8</sup> O Hope of Israel, our Savior in times of trouble, why are you as a stranger to us, as one passing through the land who is merely stopping for the night? <sup>9</sup> Are you also baffled? Are you helpless to save us? O Lord, you are right here among us, and we carry your name; we are known as your people. O Lord, don't desert us now!

<sup>10</sup> But the Lord replies: You have loved to wander far from me and have not tried to follow in my paths. Now I will no longer accept you as my people; now I will remember all the evil you have done, and punish your sins.

<sup>11</sup> The Lord told me again: Don't ask me any more to bless this people. Don't pray for them any more. <sup>12</sup> When they fast, I will not pay any attention; when they present their offerings and sacrifices to me, I will not accept them. What I will give them in return is war and famine and disease.

<sup>13</sup> Then I said, O Lord God, their prophets are telling them that all is well—that no war or famine will come. They tell the people you will surely send them peace, that you will bless them.

<sup>14</sup> Then the Lord said: The prophets are telling lies in my name. I didn't send them or tell them to speak or give them any message. Their prophesy of visions and revelations they have never seen nor heard; they speak foolishness concocted out of their own lying hearts.

<sup>15</sup> Therefore, the Lord says, I will punish these lying prophets who have spoken in my name though I did not send them, who say no war shall come nor famine. By war and famine they themselves shall die!

<sup>16</sup> And the people to whom they prophesy—their bodies shall be thrown out into the streets of Jerusalem, victims of famine and war; there shall be no one to bury them. Husbands, wives, sons and daughters—all will be gone. For I will pour out terrible punishment upon them for their sins.

<sup>17</sup> Therefore, tell them this: Night and day my eyes shall overflow with tears; I cannot stop my crying, for my people have been run through with a sword and lie mortally wounded on the ground. <sup>18</sup> If I go out in the fields, there lie the bodies of those the sword has killed; and if I walk in the streets, there lie those dead from starvation and disease. And yet the prophets and priests alike have made it their business to travel through the whole country, reassuring everyone that all was well, speaking of things they knew nothing about.

<sup>19</sup> "O Lord," the people will cry, "have you completely rejected Judah? Do you abhor Jerusalem? Even after punishment, will there be no peace? We thought, Now at last he will heal us and bind our wounds. But no peace has come and there is only trouble and terror everywhere. <sup>20</sup> O Lord, we confess our wickedness, and that of our fathers too. <sup>21</sup> Do not hate us, Lord, for the sake of your own name. Do not disgrace yourself and the throne of your glory by forsaking your promise to bless us! <sup>22</sup> What heathen god can give us rain? Who but you alone, O Lord our God, can do such things as this? Therefore we will wait for you to help us."

15 THEN THE LORD said to me, Even if Moses and Samuel stood before me pleading for these people, even then I wouldn't help them—away with them! Get them out of my sight! <sup>2</sup> And if they say to you, But where can we go? tell them the Lord says: Those who are destined for death, to death; those who must die by the sword, to the sword; those doomed to starvation, to famine; and those for captivity, to captivity. <sup>1</sup> I will appoint over them four kinds of destroyers, says the Lord—the sword to kill, the dogs to tear, and the vultures and wild animals to finish up what's left. <sup>2</sup> Because of the wicked things that Manasseh, son of Hezekiah, king of Judah, did in Jerusalem, I will punish you so severely that your fate will horrify the peoples of the world.

<sup>3</sup> Who will feel sorry for you, Jerusalem? Who will weep for you? Who will even bother to ask how you are? <sup>4</sup> You have forsaken me and turned your backs upon me. Therefore I will clench my fists against you to destroy you. I am tired of always giving you another chance. <sup>5</sup> I will sift you at the gates of your cities and take from you all that you hold dear, and I will destroy my own people because they refuse to turn back to me from all their evil ways. <sup>6</sup> There shall be countless widows; at noon time I will bring death to the young men and sorrow to their mothers. I will cause anguish and terror to fall upon them suddenly. <sup>7</sup> The mother of seven sickens and faints, for all her sons are dead. Her sun is gone down while it is yet day. She sits childless now, disgraced, for all her children have been killed.

<sup>8</sup> Then Jeremiah said, "What sadness is mine, my mother; oh, that I had died at birth. For I am hated everywhere I go. I am neither a creditor soon to foreclose nor a debtor refusing to pay—yet they all curse me. <sup>9</sup> Well, let them curse! Lord, you know how I have pled with you on their behalf—how I have begged you to spare these enemies of mine."

<sup>12,13</sup> Can a man break bars of northern iron or bronze? This people's stubborn will can't be broken either. So, because of all your sins against me, I will deliver your wealth and treasures as spoil to the enemy. <sup>14</sup> I will have your enemies take you as slaves to a land where you have never been before, for my anger burns like fire, and it shall consume you.

<sup>15</sup> Then Jeremiah replied, "Lord, you know it is for your sake that I am suffering. They are persecuting me because I have proclaimed your word to them. Don't let them kill me! Rescue me from their clutches, and give them what they deserve!

<sup>16</sup> Your words are what sustain me; they are food to my hungry soul. They bring joy to my sorrowing heart and delight me. How proud I am to bear your name, O Lord.

<sup>17,18</sup> I have not joined the people in their merry feasts. I sit alone beneath the hand of God. I burst with indignation at their sins. Yet you have failed me in my time of need! You have let them keep right on with all their persecutions. Will they never stop hurting me? Your help is as uncertain as a seasonal mountain brook—sometimes a flood, sometimes as dry as a bone."

<sup>19</sup> The Lord replied: "Stop this foolishness and talk some sense! Only if you return to trusting me will I let you continue as my spokesman. You are to influence them, not let them influence you!

<sup>20</sup> They will fight against you like a besieging army against a high city wall. But they will not conquer you for I am with you to protect and deliver you, says the Lord. <sup>21</sup> Yes, I will certainly deliver you from these wicked men and rescue you from their ruthless hands."

16 ON YET ANOTHER occasion God spoke to me, and said:

<sup>8</sup> As a sign to them of these sad days ahead,<sup>a</sup> don't you join them any more in their feasts and parties—don't even eat a meal with them. <sup>9</sup> For the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: In your own lifetime, before your very eyes, I will end all laughter in this land—the happy songs, the marriage feasts, the songs of bridegrooms and of brides.

all these things and they ask, "Why has the Lord decreed such terrible things against us? What have we done to merit such treatment? What is our sin against the Lord our God?" <sup>11</sup> tell them the Lord's reply is this: Because your fathers forsook me. They worshiped other gods and served them; they did not keep my laws, <sup>12</sup> and you have been worse than your fathers were! You follow evil to your hearts' content and refuse to listen to me. <sup>13</sup> Therefore I will throw you out of this land and chase you into a foreign land where neither you nor your fathers have been before, and there you can go ahead and worship your idols all you like—and I will grant you no favors!

<sup>14,15</sup> But there will come a glorious day, says the Lord, when the whole topic of conversation will be that God is bringing his people home from the countries of the north, where he had sent them as slaves for punishment. You will look back no longer to the time I brought you out from slavery in Egypt. That mighty miracle will scarcely be mentioned any more. Yes, I will bring you back again, says the Lord, to this same land I gave your fathers.

<sup>16</sup> Now I am sending for many fishermen to fish you from the deeps where you are hiding from my wrath. I am sending for hunters to chase you down like deer in the forests or mountain goats on inaccessible crags. Wherever you run to escape my judgment, I will find you and punish you. <sup>17</sup> For I am closely watching you and I see every sin.

You cannot hope to hide from me.
<sup>18</sup> And I will punish you doubly for all your sins because you have defiled my land with your detestable idols, and filled it up with all your evil deeds.

<sup>19</sup> O Lord, my Strength and Fortress, my Refuge in the day of trouble, nations from around the world will come to you saying, "Our fathers have been foolish, for they have worshiped worthless idols!"
<sup>20</sup> Can men make God? The gods they made are not real gods at all."
<sup>21</sup> And when they come in that spirit, I will show them<sup>b</sup> my power and might and make them understand at last that I alone am God.

17 MY PEOPLE SIN as though commanded to, as though their evil were laws chiseled with an iron pen or diamond point upon their stony hearts or on the corners of their altars. <sup>22</sup> Their youths do not forget to sin, worshiping idols beneath each tree, high in the mountains or in the open country down below. And so I will give all your treasures to your enemies as the price that you must pay for all your sins. <sup>4</sup> And the wonderful heritage I reserved for you will slip out of your hand, and I will send you away as slaves to your enemies in distant lands. For you have kindled a fire of my anger that shall burn forever.

plains in the barren wilderness; good times pass him by forever.

<sup>7</sup> But blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord and has made the Lord his hope and confidence. <sup>8</sup> He is like a tree planted along a riverbank, with its roots reaching deep into the water—a tree not bothered by the heat nor worried by long months of drought. Its leaves stay green and it goes right on producing all its luscious fruit.

<sup>9</sup> The heart is the most deceitful thing there is, and desperately wicked. No one can really know how bad it is! <sup>10</sup> Only the Lord knows! He searches all hearts and examines deepest motives so he can give to each person his right reward, according to his deeds—how he has lived.

<sup>11</sup> Like a bird that fills her nest with young she has not hatched and which will soon desert her and fly away, so is the man who gets his wealth by unjust means. Sooner or later he will lose his riches and at the end of his life become a poor old fool.

<sup>12</sup> But our refuge is your throne, eternal, high and glorious. <sup>13</sup> O Lord, the Hope of Israel, all who turn away from you shall be disgraced and shamed; they are registered for earth and not for glory, for they have forsaken the Lord, the Fountain of living waters. <sup>14</sup> Lord, you alone can heal me, you alone can save, and my praises are for you alone.

don't they come true?"

<sup>16</sup> Lord, I don't want the people crushed by terrible calamity. The plan is yours, not mine. It is your message I've given them, not my own. I don't want them doomed!

<sup>17</sup> Lord, don't desert me now! You alone are my hope. <sup>18</sup> Bring confusion and trouble on all who persecute me, but give me peace. Yes, bring double destruction upon them!

<sup>19</sup> Then the Lord said to me, Go and stand in the gates of Jerusalem, first at the gate where the king goes out, and then at each of the other gates, <sup>20</sup> and say to all the people: Hear the word of the Lord, kings of Judah and all the people of this nation, and all you citizens of Jerusalem. <sup>21,22</sup> The Lord says: Take warning and live; do no unnecessary<sup>a</sup> work on the Sabbath day but make it a holy day. I gave this commandment to your fathers, <sup>23</sup> but they didn't listen or obey. They stubbornly refused to pay attention and be taught.

<sup>24</sup> But if you obey me, says the Lord, and refuse to work on the Sabbath day and keep it separate, special and holy, <sup>25</sup> then this nation shall continue forever. There shall always be descendants of David sitting on the throne here in Jerusalem; there shall always be kings and princes riding in pomp and splendor among the people, and this city shall remain forever. <sup>26</sup> And from all around Jerusalem and from the cities of Judah and Benjamin, and from the Negeb and from the lowlands west of Judah, the people shall come with their burnt offerings and grain offerings and incense, bringing their sacrifices to praise the Lord in his Temple.

<sup>27</sup> But if you will not listen to me, if you refuse to keep the Sabbath holy, if on the Sabbath you bring in loads of merchandise through these gates of Jerusalem, just as on other days, then I will set fire to these gates. The fire shall spread to the palaces and utterly destroy them, and no one shall be able to put out the raging flames.

18 HERE IS ANOTHER message to Jeremiah from the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> Go down to the shop where clay pots and jars are made and I will talk to you there. <sup>3</sup> I did as he told me, and found the potter working at his wheel. <sup>4</sup> But the jar that he was forming didn't turn out as he wished, so he kneaded it into a lump and started again.

<sup>5</sup> Then the Lord said:

<sup>6</sup> O Israel, can't I do to you as this potter has done to his clay? As the clay is in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand. <sup>7</sup> Whenever I announce that a certain nation or kingdom is to be taken up and destroyed, <sup>8</sup> then if that nation renounces its evil ways, I will not destroy it as I had planned. <sup>9</sup> And if I announce that I will make a certain nation strong and great, <sup>10</sup> but then that nation changes its mind and turns to evil and refuses to obey me, then I too will change my mind and not bless that nation as I had said I would.

<sup>11</sup> Therefore go and warn all Judah and Jerusalem, saying: Hear the word of the Lord. I am planning evil against you now instead of good; turn back from your evil paths and do what is right.

<sup>12</sup> But they replied, "Don't waste your breath. We have no intention whatever of doing what God says. We will continue to live as we want to, free from any restraint, full of stubbornness and wickedness!"

<sup>13</sup> Then the Lord said: Even among the heathen, no one has ever heard of such a thing! My people have done something too horrible to understand. <sup>14</sup> The snow never melts high up in the Lebanon mountains. The cold, flowing streams from the crags of Mount Hermon never run dry. <sup>15</sup> These can be counted on. But not my people! For they have deserted me and turned to foolish idols. They have turned away from the ancient highways of good, and walk the muddy paths of sin. <sup>16</sup> Therefore their land shall become desolate, so that all who pass by will gasp and shake their heads in amazement at its utter desolation. <sup>17</sup> I will scatter my people before their enemies as the east wind scatters dust; and in all their trouble I will turn my back on them and refuse to notice their distress.

<sup>18</sup> Then the people said, "Come, let's get rid of Jeremiah. We have our own priests and wise men and prophets—we don't need his advice. Let's silence him that he may speak no more against us, nor bother us again."

<sup>19</sup> O Lord, help me! See what they are planning to do to me! <sup>20</sup> Should they repay evil for good? They have set a trap to kill me, yet I spoke well of them to you and tried to defend them from your anger. <sup>21</sup> Now, Lord, let their children starve to death and let the sword pour out their blood! Let their wives be widows and be bereft of all their children! Let their men die in epidemics and their youths die in battle! <sup>22</sup> Let screaming be heard from their homes as troops of soldiers come suddenly upon them, for they have dug a pit for me to fall in, and they have hidden traps along my path. <sup>23</sup> Lord, you know all their murderous plots against me. Don't forgive them, don't blot out their sin, but let them perish before you; deal with them in your anger.

19 THE LORD SAID, Buy a clay jar and take it out into the valley of Ben-Hinnom by the east gate of the city. Take some of the elders of the people and some of the older priests with you, and speak to them whatever words I give you.

<sup>1</sup> Then the Lord spoke to them and said: Listen to the word of the Lord, kings of Judah and citizens of Jerusalem! The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says, I will bring terrible evil upon this place, so terrible that the ears of those who hear it will prickle. <sup>2</sup> For Israel has forsaken me and turned this valley into a place of shame and wickedness. The people burn incense to idols—idols that neither this generation nor their forefathers nor the kings of Judah have worshiped before—and they have filled this place with the blood of innocent children. <sup>3</sup> They have built high altars to Baal and there they burn their sons in sacrifice—a thing I never commanded them nor even thought of!

Lord, when this valley shall no longer be called "Topheth" or "Ben-Hinnom Valley," but "The Valley of Slaughter." <sup>7</sup> For I will upset the battle plans of Judah and Jerusalem and I will let invading armies kill you here and leave your dead bodies for vultures and wild animals to feed upon. <sup>8</sup> And I will wipe Jerusalem off the earth, so that everyone going by will gasp with astonishment at all that I have done to her. <sup>9</sup> I will see to it that your enemies lay siege to the city until all food is gone, and those trapped inside begin to eat their own children and friends.

<sup>10</sup> And now, Jeremiah, as these men watch, smash the jar you brought with you, <sup>11</sup> and say to them, This is the message to you from the Lord of Hosts: As this jar lies shattered, so I will shatter the people of Jerusalem; and as this jar cannot be mended, neither can they. The slaughter shall be so great that there won't be room enough for decent burial anywhere, and their bodies shall be heaped in this valley. <sup>12</sup> And as it will be in this valley, so it will be in Jerusalem. For I will fill Jerusalem with dead bodies too. <sup>13</sup> And I will defile all the homes in Jerusalem, including the palace of the kings of Judah—wherever incense has been burned upon the roofs to your star-gods, and libations poured out to them.

<sup>14</sup> As Jeremiah returned from Topheth where he had delivered this message, he stopped in front of the Temple of the Lord and said to all the people, <sup>15</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: I will bring upon this city and her surrounding towns all the evil I have promised, because you have stubbornly refused to listen to the Lord.

20 NOW WHEN PASHHUR (son of Immer), the priest in charge of the Temple of the Lord, heard what Jeremiah was saying, <sup>2</sup> he arrested Jeremiah and had him whipped and put in the stocks at Benjamin Gate near the Temple. <sup>3</sup> He left him there all night.

The next day when Pashhur finally released him, Jeremiah said, "Pashhur, the Lord has changed your name. He says from now on to call you 'The Man Who Lives in Terror.'" <sup>4</sup> For the Lord will send terror on you and all your friends, and you will see them die by the swords of their enemies. I will hand over Judah to the king of Babylon, says the Lord, and he shall take away these people as slaves to Babylon and kill them. <sup>5</sup> And I will let your enemies loot Jerusalem. All the famed treasures of the city, with the precious jewels and gold and silver of your kings, shall be carried off to Babylon. <sup>6</sup> And as for you, Pashhur, you and all your family and household shall become slaves in Babylon and die there—you and those to whom you lied when you prophesied that everything would be all right."

<sup>7</sup> Then I said, O Lord, you deceived me when you promised me your help. I have to give them your messages because you are stronger than I am, but now I am the laughingstock of the city, mocked by all. <sup>8</sup> You have never once let me speak a word of kindness to them; always it is disaster and horror and destruction. No wonder they scoff and mock and make my name a household joke. <sup>9</sup> And I can't quit! For if I say I'll never again mention the Lord—never more speak in his name—then his word in my heart is like fire that burns in my bones, and I can't hold it in any longer. <sup>10</sup> Yet on every side I hear their whispered threats, and am afraid. "We will report you," they say. Even those who were my friends are watching me, waiting for a fatal slip. "He will trap himself," they say, "and then we will get our revenge on him."

<sup>11</sup> But the Lord stands beside me like a great warrior, and before him, the Mighty, Terrible One, they shall stumble. They cannot defeat me; they shall be shamed and thoroughly humiliated, and they shall have a stigma upon them forever. <sup>12</sup> O Lord of Hosts, who knows those who are righteous and examines the deepest thoughts of hearts and minds, let me see your vengeance on them. For I have committed my cause to you. <sup>13</sup> Therefore I will sing out in thanks to the Lord! Praise him! For he has delivered me, poor and needy, from my oppressors.

21 THEN KING ZEDEKIAH sent Pashhur (son of Malchiah) and Zephaniah the priest (son of Ma-aseiah) to Jeremiah, and begged, "Ask the Lord to help us, for Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, has declared war on us! Perhaps the Lord will be gracious to us and do a mighty miracle as in olden times<sup>a</sup> and force Nebuchadnezzar to withdraw his forces."

<sup>19</sup> Jeremiah replied, "Go back to King Zedekiah and tell him the Lord God of Israel says, I will make all your weapons useless against the king of Babylon and the Chaldeans besieging you. In fact, I will bring your enemies right into the heart of this city, <sup>2</sup> and I myself will fight against you, for I am very angry. <sup>3</sup> And I will send a terrible plague on this city, and both men and animals shall die. <sup>4</sup> And finally I will deliver King Zedekiah himself and all the remnant left in the city into the hands of King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, to slaughter them without pity or mercy.

<sup>5</sup> "Tell these people, the Lord says: Take your choice of life or death! <sup>6</sup> Stay here in Jerusalem and die—slaughtered by your enemies, killed by starvation and disease—or go out and surrender to the Chaldean army and live. <sup>7</sup> For I have set my face against this city; I will be its enemy and not its friend, says the Lord. It shall be captured by the king of Babylon and he shall reduce it to ashes.

a King Zedekiah doubtless had in mind God's deliverance of Jerusalem from Sennacherib, king of Assyria, in the days of Hezekiah (Isaiah 36-37). But Zedekiah's hopes were dashed. He was Judah's last ruler before the exile of 597 B.C.

22 THEN THE LORD said to me: Go over and speak directly to the king of Judah and say, <sup>2</sup> Listen to this message from God, O king of Judah, sitting on David's throne; and let your servants and your people listen too.

<sup>3</sup> The Lord says: Be fair-minded. Do what is right! Help those in need of justice! Quit your evil deeds! Protect the rights of aliens and immigrants, orphans and widows; stop murdering the innocent! <sup>4</sup> If you put an end to all these terrible deeds you are doing, then I will deliver this nation and once more give kings to sit on David's throne, and there shall be prosperity for all.

beloved to me as fruitful Gilead and the green forests of Lebanon; but I will destroy you and leave you deserted and uninhabited. <sup>7</sup> I will call for a wrecking crew to bring out its tools to dismantle you. They will tear out all of your fine cedar beams and throw them on the fire. <sup>8</sup> Men from many nations will pass by the ruins of this city and say to one another, "Why did the Lord do it? Why did he destroy such a great city?" <sup>9</sup> And the answer will be, "Because the people living here forgot the Lord their God and violated his agreement with them, for they worshiped idols."

b Egypt. c Implied. See verse 18. He was chosen by the Egyptians to replace Jehoahaz, whom they took back to Egypt with them. He ruled from 609-598 B.C.

is why God blessed him. <sup>16</sup> He saw to it that justice and help were given the poor and the needy and all went well for him. This is how a man lives close to God. <sup>17</sup> But you! You are full of selfish greed and all dishonesty! You murder the innocent, oppress the poor and reign with ruthlessness.

<sup>18</sup> Therefore this is God's decree of punishment against King Jehoiakim, who succeeded his father Josiah on the throne: His family will not weep for him when he dies. His subjects will not even care that he is dead. <sup>19</sup> He shall be buried like a dead donkey—dragged out of Jerusalem and thrown on the garbage dump beyond the gate! <sup>20</sup> Weep, for your allies are gone. Search for them in Lebanon; shout for them at Bashan; seek them at the fording points of Jordan. See, they are all destroyed. Not one is left to help you! <sup>21</sup> When you were prosperous I warned you, but you replied, "Don't bother me." Since childhood you have been that way—you just won't listen! <sup>22</sup> And now all your allies have disappeared with a puff of wind; all your friends are taken off as slaves. Surely at last you will see your wickedness and be ashamed. <sup>23</sup> It's very nice to live graciously in a beautiful palace among the cedars of Lebanon, but soon you will cry and groan in anguish—anguish as of a woman in labor.

<sup>24,25</sup> And as for you, Coniah,<sup>d</sup> son of Jehoiakim king of Judah—even if you were the signet ring on my right hand, I would pull you off and give you to those who seek to kill you, of whom you are so desperately afraid—to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his mighty army. <sup>26</sup> I will throw you and your mother out of this country, and you shall die in a foreign land. <sup>27</sup> You will never again return to the land of your desire. <sup>28</sup> This man Coniah is like a discarded, broken dish. He and his children will be exiled to distant lands.

Record this man Coniah as childless, for none of his children shall ever sit upon the throne of David or rule in Judah.<sup>e</sup> His life will amount to nothing.

23 THE LORD DECLARES:

I will send disaster upon the leaders of my people—the shepherds of my sheep—for they have destroyed and scattered the very ones they were to care for. <sup>2</sup> Instead of leading my flock to safety, you have deserted them and driven them to destruction. And now I will pour out judgment upon you for the evil you have done to them. <sup>3</sup> And I will gather together the remnant of my flock from wherever I have sent them, and bring them back into their own fold, and they shall be fruitful and increase. <sup>4</sup> And I will appoint responsible shepherds to care for them, and they shall not need to be afraid again; all of them shall be accounted for continually.

<sup>5,6</sup> For the time is coming, says the Lord, when I will place a righteous Branch upon King David's throne. He shall be a King who shall rule with wisdom and justice and cause righteousness to prevail everywhere throughout the earth.<sup>a</sup> And this is his name: The Lord Our Righteousness. At that time Judah will be saved and Israel will live in peace.

<sup>7</sup> In that day people will no longer say when taking an oath, "As the Lord lives who rescued the people of Israel from the land of Egypt,"<sup>1</sup> but they will say, "As the Lord lives who brought the Jews back to their own land of Israel from the countries to which he had exiled them."

they prophesied by Baal and led my people Israel into sin; <sup>14</sup> but the prophets of Jerusalem are even worse! The things they do are horrible; they commit adultery and love dishonesty. They encourage and compliment those who are doing evil, instead of turning them back from their sins. These prophets are as thoroughly depraved as the men of Sodom and Gomorrah were.

<sup>15</sup> Therefore the Lord of Hosts says: I will feed them with bitterness and give them poison to drink. For it is because of them that wickedness fills this land. <sup>16</sup> This is my warning to my people, says the Lord of Hosts. Don't listen to these false prophets when they prophesy to you, filling you with futile hopes. They are making up everything they say. They do not speak for me! <sup>17</sup> They keep saying to these rebels who despise me, "Don't worry! All is well"; and to those who live the way they want to, "The Lord has said you shall have peace!"

mine, they would try to turn my people from their evil ways. <sup>22</sup> Am I a God who is only in one place and cannot see what they are doing? <sup>23</sup> Can anyone hide from me? Am I not everywhere in all of heaven and earth?

<sup>24</sup> "Listen to the dream I had from God last night," they say. And then they proceed to lie in my name. <sup>25</sup> How long will this continue? If they are "prophets," they are prophets of deceit, inventing everything they say. <sup>26</sup> By telling these false dreams they are trying to get my people to forget me in the same way as their fathers did, who turned away to the idols of Baal. <sup>27</sup> Let these false prophets tell their dreams and let my true messengers faithfully proclaim my every word. There is a difference between chaff and wheat! <sup>28</sup> Does not my word burn like fire? asks the Lord. Is it not like a mighty hammer that smashed the rock to pieces? <sup>29,31</sup> So I stand against these "prophets" who get their messages from each other—these smooth-tongued prophets who say, "This message is from God!" <sup>32</sup> Their made-up dreams are flippant lies that lead my people into sin. I did not send them and they have no message at all for my people, says the Lord.

<sup>33</sup> When one of the people or one of their "prophets" or priests asks you, "Well, Jeremiah, what is the sad news from the Lord today?" you shall reply, "What sad news? You are the sad news, for the Lord has cast you away!" <sup>34</sup> And as for the false prophets and priests and people who joke about "today's sad news from God," I will punish them and their families for saying this. <sup>35</sup> You can ask each other, "What is God's message? What is he saying?" <sup>36</sup> But stop using this term, "God's sad news." For what is sad is you and your lying. You are twisting my words and inventing "messages from God" that I didn't speak. <sup>37</sup> You may respectfully ask Jeremiah, "What is the Lord's message? What has he said to you?" <sup>38,39</sup> But if you ask him about "today's sad news from God," when I have warned you not to mock like that, then I, the Lord God, will unburden myself of the burden<sup>d</sup> you are to me. I will cast you out of my presence, you and this city I gave to you and your fathers. <sup>40</sup> And I will bring reproach upon you and your name shall be infamous through the ages.

24 AFTER NEBUCHADNEZZAR, KING of Babylon, had captured and enslaved Jeconiah (son of Jehoiakim), king of Judah, and exiled him to Babylon along with the princes of Judah and the skilled tradesmen—the carpenters and blacksmiths—the Lord gave me this vision. <sup>2</sup> I saw two baskets of figs placed in front of the Temple in Jerusalem. In one basket there were fresh, just-ripened figs, but in the other the figs were spoiled and moldy—too rotten to eat. <sup>3</sup> Then the Lord said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?"

I replied, "Figs, some very good and some very bad."

<sup>4</sup> Then the Lord said: "The good figs represent the exiles sent to Babylon. I have done it for their good. <sup>5</sup> I will see that they are well treated and I will bring them back here again. I will help them and not hurt them; I will plant them and not pull them up. <sup>6</sup> I will give them hearts that respond to me. They shall be my people and I will be their God, for they shall return to me with great joy.

25 THIS MESSAGE FOR all the people of Judah came from the Lord to Jeremiah during the fourth year of the reign of King Jehoiakim of Judah (son of Josiah). This was the year Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, began his reign.

<sup>23</sup> For the past twenty-three years, Jeremiah said, from the thirteenth year of the reign of Josiah (son of Amon) king of Judah, until now, God has been sending me his messages. I have faithfully passed them on to you, but you haven't listened. <sup>4</sup> Again and again down through the years, God has sent you his prophets, but you have refused to hear. <sup>5</sup> Each time the message was this: Turn from the evil road you are traveling and from the evil things you are doing. Only then can you continue to live here in this land which the Lord gave to you and to your ancestors forever. <sup>6</sup> Don't anger me by worshiping idols; but if you are true to me, then I'll not harm you. <sup>7</sup> But you won't listen; you have gone ahead and made me furious with your idols. So you have brought upon yourselves all the evil that has come your way.

<sup>8,9</sup> And now the Lord God of Hosts says, Because you have not listened to me, I will gather together all the armies of the north under Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon (I have appointed him as my deputy), and I will bring them all against this land and its people and against the other nations near you, and I will utterly destroy you and make you a byword of contempt forever. <sup>10</sup> I will take away your joy, your gladness and your wedding feasts; your businesses shall fail and all your homes shall lie in silent darkness. <sup>11</sup> This entire land shall become a desolate wasteland; all the world will be shocked at the disaster that befalls you. Israel and her neighboring lands shall serve the king of Babylon for seventy years.

their sins; I will make the land of Chaldea an everlasting waste. <sup>13</sup> I will bring upon them all the terrors I have promised in this book—all the penalties announced by Jeremiah against the nations. <sup>14</sup> For many nations and great kings shall enslave the Chaldeans, just as they enslaved my people; I will punish them in proportion to their treatment of my people.

<sup>15</sup> For the Lord God said to me: "Take from my hand this wine cup filled to the brim with my fury, and make all the nations to whom I send you drink from it. <sup>16</sup> They shall drink from it and reel, crazed by the death blows I rain upon them."

<sup>17</sup> So I took the cup of fury from the Lord and made all the nations drink from it—every nation God had sent me to; <sup>18</sup> I went to Jerusalem and to the cities of Judah, and their kings and princes drank of the cup so that from that day until this they have been desolate, hated and cursed, just as they are today. <sup>19,20</sup> I went to Egypt, and Pharaoh and his servants, the princes and the people—they too drank from that terrible cup, along with all the foreign population living in his land. So did all the kings of the land of Uz and the kings of the Philistine cities: Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and what remains of Ashdod, <sup>21</sup> and I visited the nations of Edom, Moab and Ammon; <sup>22</sup> and all the kings of Tyre and Sidon, and the kings of the regions across the sea; <sup>23</sup> Dedan and Tema and Buz, and the other heathen there; <sup>24</sup> and all the kings of Arabia and of the nomadic tribes of the desert; <sup>25</sup> and all the kings of Zimri, Elam and Media; <sup>26</sup> and all the kings of the northern countries, far and near, one after the other, and all the kingdoms of the world. And finally, the king of Babylon himself drank from this cup of God's wrath.

<sup>27</sup> Tell them, "The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says, Drink from this cup of my wrath until you are drunk and vomit and fall and rise no more, for I am sending terrible wars upon you." <sup>28</sup> And if they refuse to accept the cup, tell them, "The Lord of Hosts says you must drink it! You cannot escape! <sup>29</sup> I have begun to punish my own people, so should you go free? No, you shall not evade punishment. I will call for war against all the peoples of the earth."

<sup>30</sup> Therefore prophesy against them. Tell them the Lord will shout against his own from his holy temple in heaven, and against all those living on the earth. He will shout as the harvesters do who tread the juice from the grapes. <sup>31</sup> That cry of judgment will reach the farthest ends of the earth, for the Lord has a case against all the nations—all mankind. He will slaughter all the wicked. <sup>32</sup> See, declares the Lord of Hosts, the punishment shall go from nation to nation—a great whirlwind of wrath shall rise against the farthest corners of the earth. <sup>33</sup> On that day those the Lord has slain shall fill the earth from one end to the other. No one shall mourn for them nor gather up the bodies to bury them; they shall fertilize the earth.

like fragile women. <sup>35</sup> And you will find no place to hide, no way to escape.

26 THIS MESSAGE CAME to Jeremiah from the Lord during the first year of the reign of Jehoiakim (son of Josiah), king of Judah:

<sup>2</sup> Stand out in front of the Temple of the Lord and make an announcement to all the people who have come there to worship from many parts of Judah. Give them the entire message; don't leave out one word of all I have for them to hear. <sup>3</sup> For perhaps they will listen and turn from their evil ways, and then I can withhold all the punishment I am ready to pour out upon them because of their evil deeds. <sup>4</sup> Tell them the Lord says: If you will not listen to me and obey the laws I have given you, <sup>5</sup> and if you will not listen to my servants, the prophets—for I sent them again and again to warn you, but you would not listen to them—<sup>6</sup> then I will destroy this Temple as I destroyed the Tabernacle at Shiloh, and I will make Jerusalem a curse word in every nation of the earth.

<sup>7,8</sup> When Jeremiah had finished his message, saying everything the Lord had told him to, the priests and false prophets and all the people in the Temple mobbed him, shouting, "Kill him! Kill him!" <sup>9</sup> What right do you have to say the Lord will destroy this Temple like the one at Shiloh?" they yelled. "What do you mean—Jerusalem destroyed and not one survivor?"

<sup>10</sup> When the high officials of Judah heard what was going on, they rushed over from the palace and sat down at the door of the Temple to hold court. <sup>11</sup> Then the priests and the false prophets presented their accusations to the officials and the people. "This man should die!" they said. "You have heard with your own ears what a traitor he is, for he has prophesied against this city."

<sup>12</sup> Then Jeremiah spoke in his defense. "The Lord sent me," he said, "to prophesy against this Temple and this city. He gave me every word of all that I have spoken. <sup>13</sup> But if you stop your sinning and begin obeying the Lord your God, he will cancel all the punishment he has announced against you. <sup>14</sup> As for me, I am helpless and in your power—do with me as you think best. <sup>15</sup> But there is one thing sure, if you kill me, you will be killing an innocent man and the responsibility will lie upon you and upon this city and upon every person living in it; for it is absolutely true that the Lord sent me to speak every word that you have heard from me."

<sup>16</sup> Then the officials and people said to the priests and false prophets, "This man does not deserve the death sentence, for he has spoken to us in the name of the Lord our God."

stood and spoke to all the people standing around and said:

<sup>18</sup> "The decision is right; for back in the days when Micah the Morasthite prophesied in the days of King Hezekiah of Judah, he told the people that God said: 'This hill shall be plowed like an open field and this city of Jerusalem razed into heaps of stone, and a forest shall grow at the top where the great Temple now stands!'<sup>19</sup> But did King Hezekiah and the people kill him for saying this? No, they turned from their wickedness and worshiped the Lord and begged the Lord to have mercy upon them; and the Lord held back the terrible punishment he had pronounced against them. If we kill Jeremiah for giving us the messages of God, who knows what God will do to us!"

<sup>20</sup> Another true prophet of the Lord, Uriah (son of Shemaiah) from Kiriath-jearim, was also denouncing the city and the nation at the same time as Jeremiah was. <sup>21</sup> But when King Jehoiakim and the army officers and officials heard what he was saying, the king sent to kill him. Uriah heard about it and fled to Egypt. <sup>22</sup> Then King Jehoiakim sent Elnathan (son of Achbor) to Egypt along with several other men to capture Uriah. <sup>23</sup> They took him prisoner and brought him back to King Jehoiakim, who butchered him with a sword and had him buried in an unmarked grave.

27 THIS MESSAGE CAME to Jeremiah from the Lord at the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim<sup>a</sup> (son of Josiah), king of Judah:

<sup>5</sup> "By my great power I have made the earth and all mankind and every animal; and I give these things of mine to anyone I want to. <sup>6</sup> So now I have given all your countries to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, who is my deputy. And I have handed over to him all your cattle for his use. <sup>7</sup> All the nations shall serve him and his son and his grandson until his time is up, and then many nations and great kings shall conquer Babylon and make him their slave. <sup>8</sup> Submit to him and serve him—put your neck under Babylon's yoke! I will punish any nation refusing to be his slave; I will send war, famine and disease upon that nation until he has conquered it.

<sup>9</sup> "Do not listen to your false prophets, fortune-tellers, dreamers, mediums and magicians who say the king of Babylon will not enslave you. <sup>10</sup> For they are all liars, and if you follow their advice and refuse to submit to the king of Babylon, I will drive you out of your land and send you far away to perish. <sup>11</sup> But the people of any nation submitting to the king of Babylon will be permitted to stay in their own country and farm the land as usual."

<sup>12</sup> Jeremiah repeated all these prophecies to Zedekiah, king of Judah. "If you want to live, submit to the king of Babylon," he said.

<sup>13</sup> "Why do you insist on dying—you and your people? Why should you choose war and famine and disease, which the Lord has promised to every nation that will not submit to Babylon's king?"

<sup>14</sup> Don't listen to the false prophets who keep telling you the king of Babylon will not conquer you, for they are liars. <sup>15</sup> I have not sent them, says the Lord, and they are telling you lies in my name. If you insist on heeding them, I must drive you from this land to die—you and all these 'prophets' too."

<sup>16</sup> I spoke again and again to the priests and all the people and told them: "The Lord says, Don't listen to your prophets who are telling you that soon the golden dishes taken from the Temple will be returned from Babylon. It is all a lie.

<sup>17</sup> Don't listen to them. Surrender to the king of Babylon and live, for otherwise this whole city will be destroyed. <sup>18</sup> If they are really God's prophets, then let them pray to the Lord of Hosts that the golden dishes still here in the Temple, left from before, and that those in the palace of the king of Judah and in the palaces in Jerusalem will not be carried away with you to Babylon!

before the Temple, and the great bronze basin in the Temple court, and the metal stands and all the other ceremonial articles left here by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, when he exiled all the important people of Judah and Jerusalem to Babylon, along with Jeconiah (son of Jehoiakim), king of Judah, <sup>22</sup> will all yet be carried away to Babylon and will stay there until I send for them. Then I will bring them all back to Jerusalem again."

28 ON A DECEMBER day in that same year—the fourth year of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah—Hananiah (son of Azzur), a false prophet from Gibeon, addressed me publicly in the Temple while all the priests and people listened. He said:

<sup>2</sup> "The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, declares: I have removed the yoke of the king of Babylon from your necks. <sup>3</sup> Within two years I will bring back all the Temple treasures that Nebuchadnezzar carried off to Babylon, <sup>4</sup> and I will bring back King Jeconiah,<sup>a</sup> son of Jehoiakim, king of Judah, and all the other captives exiled to Babylon, says the Lord. I will surely remove the yoke put on your necks by the king of Babylon."

<sup>5</sup> Then Jeremiah said to Hananiah, in front of all the priests and people, <sup>6</sup> "Amen! May your prophecies come true! I hope the Lord will do everything you say and bring back from Babylon the treasures of this Temple, with all our loved ones. <sup>7</sup> But listen now to the solemn words I speak to you in the presence of all these people. <sup>8</sup>The ancient prophets who preceded you and me spoke against many nations, always warning of war, famine and plague. <sup>9</sup>So a prophet who foretells peace has the burden of proof on him to prove that God has really sent him. Only when his message comes true can it be known that he really is from God."

<sup>10</sup>Then Hananiah, the false prophet, took the yoke off Jeremiah's neck and broke it. <sup>11</sup>And Hananiah said again to the crowd that had gathered, "The Lord has promised that within two years he will release all the nations now in slavery to King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon." At that point Jeremiah walked out.

<sup>13</sup>Go and tell Hananiah that the Lord says, You have broken a wooden yoke but these people have yokes of iron on their necks. <sup>14</sup>The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: I have put a yoke of iron on the necks of all these nations, forcing them into slavery to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. And nothing will change this decree, for I have even given him all your flocks and herds.

<sup>15</sup>Then Jeremiah said to Hananiah, the false prophet, "Listen, Hananiah, the Lord has not sent you, and the people are believing your lies. <sup>16</sup>Therefore the Lord says you must die. This very year your life will end because you have rebelled against the Lord."

29 AFTER JECONIAH THE king, and the queen-mother, and the court officials, and the tribal officers and craftsmen had been deported to Babylon by Nebuchadnezzar, Jeremiah wrote them a letter from Jerusalem, addressing it to the Jewish elders and priests and prophets, and to all the people. <sup>1</sup>He sent the letter with Elasah (son of Shaphan) and Gemariah (son of Hilkiyah) when they went to Babylon as King Zedekiah's ambassadors to Nebuchadnezzar. And this is what the letter said:

<sup>2</sup>The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, sends this message to all the captives he has exiled to Babylon from Jerusalem:

<sup>3</sup>Build homes and plan to stay; plant vineyards, for you will be there many years. <sup>4</sup>Marry and have children, and then find mates for them and have many grandchildren. Multiply! Don't dwindle away! <sup>5</sup>And work for the peace and prosperity of Babylon. Pray for her, for if Babylon has peace, so will you.

<sup>6</sup>The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Don't let the false prophets and mediums who are there among you fool you. Don't listen to the dreams that they invent, <sup>7</sup>for they prophesy lies in my name. I have not sent them, says the Lord. <sup>8</sup>The truth is this: You will be in Babylon for a lifetime. <sup>9</sup>But then I will come and do for you all the good things I have promised, and bring you home again. <sup>10</sup>For I know the plans I have for you, says the Lord. They are plans for good and not for evil, to give you a future and a hope. <sup>12</sup> In those days when you pray, I will listen. <sup>13</sup> You will find me when you seek me, if you look for me in earnest.

<sup>14</sup> Yes, says the Lord, I will be found by you, and I will end your slavery and restore your fortunes, and gather you out of the nations where I sent you and bring you back home again to your own land.

<sup>15</sup> But now, because you accept the false prophets among you and say the Lord has sent them, <sup>16,17</sup> I will send war, famine and plague upon the people left here in Jerusalem—on your relatives who were not exiled to Babylon, and on the king who sits on David's throne—and make them like rotting figs, too bad to eat. <sup>18</sup> And I will scatter them around the world. And in every nation where I place them they will be cursed and hissed and mocked, <sup>19</sup> for they refuse to listen to me though I spoke to them again and again through my prophets.

<sup>20</sup> Therefore listen to the word of God, all you Jewish captives over there in Babylon. <sup>21</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says this about your false prophets, Ahab (son of Kolaiah) and Zedekiah (son of Maaseiah), who are declaring lies to you in my name: Look, I am turning them over to Nebuchadnezzar to execute publicly. <sup>22</sup> Their fate shall become proverbial of all evil, so that whenever anyone wants to curse someone he will say, "The Lord make you like Zedekiah and Ahab whom the king of Babylon burned alive!" <sup>23</sup> For these men have done a terrible thing among my people. They have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives and have lied in my name. I know, for I have seen everything they do, says the Lord. <sup>24</sup> And say this to Shemaiah the dreamer:<sup>b</sup>

<sup>25</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: You have written a letter to Zephaniah (son of Maaseiah) the priest, and sent copies to all the other priests and to everyone in Jerusalem. <sup>26</sup> And in this letter you have said to Zephaniah, "The Lord has appointed you to replace Jehoiada as priest in Jerusalem. And it is your responsibility to arrest any madman who claims to be a prophet, and to put him in the stocks and collar." <sup>27</sup> Why haven't you done something about this false prophet Jeremiah of Anathoth? <sup>28</sup> For he has written to us here in Babylon saying that our captivity will be long, and that we should build permanent homes and plan to stay many years, that we should plant fruit trees, for we will be here to eat the fruit from them for a long time to come."

<sup>31</sup> Send an open letter to all the exiles in Babylon and tell them this: The Lord says that because Shemaiah the Nehelamite has "prophesied" to you when I didn't send him, and has fooled you into believing his lies, <sup>32</sup> I will punish him and his family. None of his descendants shall see the good I have waiting for my people, for he has taught you to rebel against the Lord.

30 THIS IS ANOTHER of the Lord's messages to Jeremiah:

<sup>2</sup> The Lord God of Israel says, Write down for the record all that I have said to you. <sup>3</sup> For the time is coming when I will restore the fortunes of my people, Israel and Judah, and I will bring them home to this land that I gave to their fathers; they shall possess it and live here again.

<sup>7</sup> Alas, in all history when has there ever been a time of terror such as in that coming day? It is a time of trouble for my people—for Jacob—such as they have never known before. Yet God will rescue them! <sup>8</sup> For on that day, says the Lord of Hosts, I will break the yoke from their necks and snap their chains, and foreigners shall no longer be their masters! <sup>9</sup> For they shall serve the Lord their God, and David their King,<sup>a</sup> whom I will raise up for them, says the Lord.

<sup>10</sup> So don't be afraid, O Jacob my servant; don't be dismayed, O Israel; for I will bring you home again from distant lands, and your children from their exile. They shall have rest and quiet in their own land, and no one shall make them afraid. <sup>11</sup> For I am with you and I will save you, says the Lord. Even if I utterly destroy the nations where I scatter you, I will not exterminate you; I will punish you, yes—you will not go unpunished.

<sup>15</sup> Why do you protest your punishment? Your sin is so scandalous that your sorrow should never end! It is because your guilt is great that I have had to punish you so much.

<sup>16</sup> But in that coming day, all who are destroying you shall be destroyed, and all your enemies shall be slaves. Those who rob you shall be robbed; and those attacking you shall be attacked. <sup>17</sup> I will give you back your health again and heal your wounds. Now you are called "The Outcast" and "Jerusalem, the Place Nobody Wants."

<sup>18</sup> But, says the Lord, when I bring you home again from your captivity and restore your fortunes, Jerusalem will be rebuilt upon her ruins; the palace will be reconstructed as it was before. <sup>19</sup> The cities will be filled with joy and great thanksgiving, and I will multiply my people and make of them a great and honored nation. <sup>20</sup> Their children shall prosper as in David's reign; their nations shall be established before me, and I will punish anyone who hurts them. <sup>21</sup> They will have their own ruler again.<sup>b</sup> He will not be a foreigner. And I will invite him to be a priest at my altars, and he shall approach me, for who would dare to come unless invited. <sup>22</sup> And you shall be my people and I will be your God.

<sup>23</sup> Suddenly the devastating whirlwind of the Lord roars with fury; it shall burst upon the heads of the wicked. <sup>24</sup> The Lord will not call off the fierceness of his wrath until it has finished all the terrible destruction he has planned. Later on<sup>c</sup> you will understand what I am telling you.

31 AT THAT TIME, says the Lord, all the families of Israel shall recognize me as the Lord; they shall act like my people. <sup>2</sup> I will care for them as I did those who escaped from Egypt, to whom I showed my mercies in the wilderness, when Israel sought for rest. <sup>3</sup> For long ago the Lord had said to Israel: I have loved you, O my people, with an everlasting love; with lovingkindness I have drawn you to me. <sup>4</sup> I will rebuild your nation, O virgin of Israel. You will again be happy and dance merrily with the timbrels. <sup>5</sup> Again you will plant your vineyards upon the mountains of Samaria and eat from your own gardens there.

<sup>6</sup> The day shall come when watchmen on the hills of Ephraim will call out and say, "Arise, and let us go up to Zion to the Lord our God." <sup>7</sup> For the Lord says, Sing with joy for all that I will do for Israel, the greatest of the nations! Shout out with praise and joy: "The Lord has saved his people, the remnant of Israel." <sup>8</sup> For I will bring them from the north and from earth's farthest ends, not forgetting their blind and lame, young mothers with their little ones, those ready to give birth. It will be a great company who comes.

<sup>9</sup> Tears of joy shall stream down their faces, and I will lead them home with great care. They shall walk beside the quiet streams and not stumble. For I am a Father to Israel, and Ephraim is my oldest child.

<sup>10</sup> Listen to this message from the Lord, you nations of the world, and publish it abroad: The Lord who scattered his people will gather them back together again and watch over them as a shepherd does his flock. <sup>11</sup> He will save Israel from those who are too strong for them!

<sup>12</sup> They shall come home and sing songs of joy upon the hills of Zion, and shall be radiant over the goodness of the Lord—the good crops, the wheat and the wine and the oil, and the healthy flocks and herds. Their life shall be like a watered garden, and all their sorrows shall be gone. <sup>13</sup> The young girls will dance for joy, and men folk—old and young—will take their part in all the fun; for I will turn their mourning into joy and I will comfort them and make them rejoice, for their captivity with all its sorrows will be behind them. <sup>14</sup> I will feast the priests with the abundance of offerings brought to them at the Temple; I will satisfy my people with my bounty, says the Lord.

<sup>15</sup> The Lord spoke to me again, saying: In Ramah there is bitter weeping, Rachel<sup>a</sup> is weeping for her children and she cannot be comforted, for they are gone. <sup>16</sup> But the Lord says: Don't cry any longer, for I have heard your prayers<sup>b</sup> and you will see them again; they will come back to you from the distant land of the enemy. <sup>17</sup> There is hope for your future, says the Lord, and your children will come again to their own land.

<sup>18</sup> I have heard Ephraim's groans: "You have punished me greatly; but I needed it all, as a calf must be trained for the yoke. Turn me again to you and restore me, for you alone are the Lord, my God. <sup>19</sup> I turned away from God but I was sorry afterwards. I kicked myself for my stupidity. I was thoroughly ashamed of all I did in younger days."

<sup>20</sup> And the Lord replies: Ephraim is still my son, my darling child. I had to punish him, but I still love him. I long for him and surely will have mercy on him.

wayward daughter? For the Lord will cause something new and different to happen—Israel shall seek him!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>23</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: When I bring them back again they shall say in Judah and her cities, "The Lord bless you, O center of righteousness, O holy hill!"

<sup>27</sup> The Lord says: The time will come when I will greatly increase the population and multiply the number of cattle here in Israel. <sup>28</sup> In the past I painstakingly destroyed the nation but now I will carefully build it up. <sup>29</sup> The people shall no longer quote this proverb—"Children pay for their fathers' sins."<sup>d</sup> <sup>30</sup> For everyone shall die for his own sins—the person eating sour grapes is the one whose teeth are set on edge.

<sup>31</sup> The day will come, says the Lord, when I will make a new contract with the people of Israel and Judah. <sup>32</sup> It won't be like the one I made with their fathers when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt—a contract they broke, forcing me to reject them,<sup>e</sup> says the Lord. <sup>33</sup> But this is the new contract I will make with them: I will inscribe my laws upon their hearts,<sup>f</sup> so that they shall want to honor me;<sup>g</sup> then they shall truly be my people and I will be their God.

<sup>34</sup> At that time it will no longer be necessary to admonish one another to know the Lord. For everyone, both great and small, shall really know me then, says the Lord, and I will forgive and forget their sins.

<sup>35</sup> The Lord who gives us sunlight in the daytime and the moon and stars to light the night, and who stirs the sea to make the roaring waves—his name is Lord of Hosts—says this:

<sup>36</sup> I am as likely to reject my people Israel as I am to do away with these laws of nature!<sup>37</sup> Not until the heavens can be measured and the foundations of the earth explored, will I consider casting them away forever for their sins!

32 THE FOLLOWING MESSAGE came to Jeremiah from the Lord in the tenth year of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah (which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign). <sup>2</sup> At this time Jeremiah was imprisoned in the dungeon beneath<sup>a</sup> the palace, while the Babylonian army was besieging Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> King Zedekiah had put him there for continuing to prophesy that the city would be conquered by the king of Babylon, <sup>4</sup> and that King Zedekiah would be caught and taken as a prisoner before the king of Babylon for trial and sentencing.

<sup>5</sup> "He shall take you to Babylon and imprison you there for many years until you die. Why fight the facts? You can't win! Surrender now!" Jeremiah had told him again and again.

<sup>6,7</sup> Then this message from the Lord came to Jeremiah: Your cousin Hanamel (son of Shallum) will soon arrive to ask you to buy the farm he owns in Anathoth, for by law you have a chance to buy before it is offered to anyone else. <sup>8</sup> So Hanamel came, as the Lord had said he would, and visited me in the prison. "Buy my field in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin," he said, "for the law gives you the first right to purchase it." Then I knew for sure that the message I had heard was really from the Lord.

g In Jeremiah 17:1 their sin was inscribed on their hearts, so that they wanted above all to disobey. This change seems to describe an experience very much like, if not the same as, the new birth. h Implied. a Literally, "in the court of the prison in the palace."

of purchase before witnesses, and weighed out the silver and paid him. <sup>11</sup> Then I took the sealed deed containing the terms and conditions, and also the unsealed copy, <sup>12</sup> and publicly, in the presence of my cousin Hanamel and the witnesses who had signed the deed, and as the prison guards watched, I handed the papers to Baruch (son of Neriah, who was the son of Mahseiah). <sup>13</sup> And I said to him as they all listened:

<sup>14</sup> "The Lord of Hosts, God of Israel, says: Take both this sealed deed and the copy and put them into a pottery jar to preserve them for a long time. <sup>15</sup> For the Lord of Hosts, God of Israel, says, In the future these papers will be valuable.<sup>b</sup> Someday people will again own property here in this country and will be buying and selling houses and vineyards and fields."

<sup>17</sup> "O Lord God! You have made the heavens and earth by your great power; nothing is too hard for you!

<sup>18</sup> You are loving and kind to thousands, yet children suffer for their fathers' sins; you are the great and mighty God, the Lord of Hosts.

<sup>19</sup> You have all wisdom and do great and mighty miracles; for your eyes are open to all the ways of men, and you reward everyone according to his life and deeds. <sup>20</sup> You have done incredible things in the land of Egypt—things still remembered to this day. And you have continued to do great miracles in Israel and all around the world. You have made your name very great, as it is today.

<sup>27</sup> I am the Lord, the God of all mankind; is there anything too hard for me? <sup>28</sup> Yes, I will give this city to the Babylonians and to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon; he shall conquer it. <sup>29</sup> And the Babylonians outside the walls shall come in and set fire to the city and burn down all these houses where the roofs have been used to offer incense to Baal, and to pour out libations to other gods, causing my fury to rise! <sup>30</sup> For Israel and Judah have done nothing but wrong since their earliest days; they have infuriated me with all their evil deeds.

<sup>32</sup> The sins of Israel and Judah—the sins of the people, of their kings, officers, priests and prophets—stir me up. <sup>33</sup> They have turned their backs upon me and refused to return; day after day, year after year, I taught them right from wrong, but they would not listen or obey. <sup>34</sup> They have even defiled my own Temple by worshiping their abominable idols there. <sup>35</sup> And they have built high altars to Baal in the Valley of Hinnom. There they have burnt their children as sacrifices to Molech—something I never commanded, and cannot imagine suggesting. What an incredible evil, causing Judah to sin so greatly!

<sup>36</sup> Now therefore the Lord God of Israel says concerning this city that it will fall to the king of Babylon through warfare, famine and disease, <sup>37</sup> but I will bring my people back again from all the countries where in my fury I will scatter them. I will bring them back to this very city, and make them live in peace and safety. <sup>38</sup> And they shall be my people and I will be their God. <sup>39</sup> And I will give them one heart and mind to worship me forever, for their own good and for the good of all their descendants.

<sup>40</sup> And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, promising never again to desert them, but only to do them good. I will put a desire into their hearts to worship me, and they shall never leave me. <sup>41</sup> I will rejoice to do them good and will replant them in this land, with great joy. <sup>42</sup> Just as I have sent all these terrors and evils upon them, so will I do all the good I have promised them.

33 WHILE JEREMIAH WAS still in jail, the Lord sent him this second message:

<sup>3</sup> Ask me and I will tell you some remarkable secrets about what is going to happen here. <sup>4</sup> For though you have torn down the houses of this city, and the king's palace too, for materials to strengthen the walls against the siege guns of the enemy, <sup>5</sup> yet the Babylonians will enter, and the men of this city are already as good as dead, for I have determined to destroy them in my furious anger. I have abandoned them because of all their wickedness, and I will not pity them when they cry for help.

<sup>6</sup> Nevertheless the time will come when I will heal Jerusalem's damage and give her prosperity and peace. <sup>7</sup> I will rebuild the cities of both Judah and Israel and restore their fortunes. <sup>8</sup> And I will cleanse away all their sins against me, and pardon them. <sup>9</sup> Then this city will be an honor to me, and it will give me joy and be a source of praise and glory to me before all the nations of the earth! The people of the world will see the good I do for my people and will tremble with awe!

<sup>10,11</sup> The Lord declares that the happy voices of bridegrooms and of brides, and the joyous song of those bringing thanksgiving offerings to the Lord will be heard again in this doomed land. The people will sing: "Praise the Lord! For he is good and his mercy endures forever!" For I will make this land happier and more prosperous than it has ever been before. <sup>12</sup> This land—though every man and animal and city is doomed—will once more see shepherds leading sheep and lambs.

<sup>13</sup> Once again their flocks will prosper in the mountain villages and in the cities east of the Philistine plain, in all the cities of the Negeb, in the land of Benjamin, in the vicinity of Jerusalem and in all the cities of Judah. <sup>14</sup> Yes, the day will come, says the Lord, when I will do for Israel and Judah all the good I promised them.

<sup>15</sup> At that time I will bring to the throne the true Son<sup>a</sup> of David, and he shall rule justly. <sup>16</sup> In that day the people of Judah and Jerusalem shall live in safety and their motto will be, "The Lord is our righteousness!" <sup>17</sup> For the Lord declares that from then on, David shall forever have an heir sitting on the throne of Israel. <sup>18</sup> And there shall always be Levites to offer burnt offerings and meal offerings and sacrifices to the Lord.

nant with the day and with the night so that day and night don't come on their usual schedule, only then will my covenant with David, my servant, be broken so that he shall not have a son to reign upon his throne; and my covenant with the Levite priests, my ministers, is non-cancelable. <sup>22</sup> And as the stars cannot be counted nor the sand upon the seashores measured, so the descendants of David my servant and the line of the Levites who minister to me will be multiplied.

<sup>24</sup> Have you heard what people are saying?—that the Lord chose Judah and Israel and then abandoned them! They are sneering and saying that Israel isn't worthy to be counted as a nation. <sup>25,26</sup> But this is the Lord's reply: I would no more reject my people than I would change my laws of night and day, of earth and sky. I will never abandon the Jews, or David my servant, or change the plan that his Child will someday rule these descendants of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Instead I will restore their prosperity and have mercy on them.

34 THIS IS THE message that came to Jeremiah from the Lord when Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and all his armies from all the kingdoms he ruled, came and fought against Jerusalem and the cities of Judah: and he shall burn it.<sup>3</sup> You shall not escape; you shall be captured and taken before the king of Babylon and he shall pronounce sentence against you and you shall be exiled to Babylon.<sup>4</sup> But listen to this, O Zedekiah, king of Judah: God says you won't be killed in war and carnage,<sup>5</sup> but that you will die quietly among your people, and they will burn incense in your memory, just as they did for your fathers. They will weep for you and say, "Alas, our king is dead!" This I have decreed, says the Lord.

<sup>8</sup> This is the message that came to Jeremiah from the Lord after King Zedekiah of Judah had freed all the slaves in Jerusalem—<sup>9</sup> (for King Zedekiah had ordered everyone to free his Hebrew slaves, both men and women. He had said that no Jew should be the master of another Jew for all were brothers.<sup>10</sup> The princes and all the people had obeyed the king's command and freed their slaves, but the action was only temporary.<sup>11</sup> They changed their minds and made their servants slaves again.<sup>12</sup> That is why the Lord gave the following message to Jerusalem.)

<sup>13</sup> The Lord, the God of Israel, says:

I made a covenant with your fathers long ago when I brought them from their slavery in Egypt.<sup>14</sup> I told them that every Hebrew slave must be freed after serving six years. But this was not done.<sup>15</sup> Recently you began doing what was right, as I commanded you, and freed your slaves. You had solemnly promised me in my Temple that you would do it.<sup>16</sup> But now you refuse and have defiled my name by shrugging off your oath and have made them slaves again.

<sup>17</sup> Therefore, says the Lord, because you will not listen to me and release them, I will release you to the power of death by war and famine and disease. And I will scatter you over all the world as exiles.<sup>18,19</sup> Because you have refused the terms of our contract I will cut you apart just as you cut apart the calf when you walked between its halves to solemnize your vows. Yes, I will butcher you, whether you are princes, court officials, priests or people—for you have broken your oath.<sup>20</sup> I will give you to your enemies and they shall kill you. I will feed your dead bodies to the vultures and wild animals.<sup>21</sup> And I will surrender Zedekiah, king of Judah, and his officials to the army of the king of Babylon, though he has departed from the city for a little while.<sup>22</sup> I will summon the Babylonian armies back again and they will fight against it and capture this city and burn it. And I will see to it that the cities of Judah are completely destroyed and left desolate without a living soul.

35 THIS IS THE message the Lord gave Jeremiah when Jehoia-a When the siege was temporarily lifted (Jeremiah 37:6–11) they became bold and returned to their sins.

kim (son of Josiah) was the king of Judah.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>3</sup> So I went over to see Jazaniah (son of Jeremiah, who was the son of Habazziniah), and brought him and all his brothers and sons—representing all the Rechab families— ‘to the Temple, into the room assigned for the use of the sons of Hanan the prophet (the son of Igdaiah). This room was located next to the one used by the palace official, directly above the room of Maaseiah (son of Shalum), who was the temple doorman.

“No,” they said. “We don’t drink, for Jonadab our father (son of Rechab) commanded that none of us should ever drink, neither we nor our children forever. <sup>7</sup> He also told us not to build houses or plant crops or vineyards and not to own farms, but always to live in tents; and that if we obeyed we would live long, good lives in our own land. <sup>8</sup> And we have obeyed him in all these things. We have never had a drink of wine since then, nor our wives or our sons or daughters either. <sup>9</sup> We haven’t built houses or owned farms or planted crops. <sup>10</sup> We have lived in tents and have fully obeyed everything that Jonadab our father commanded us.

<sup>13</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Go and say to Judah and Jerusalem, Won’t you learn a lesson from the families of Rechab?

<sup>14</sup> They don’t drink, because their father told them not to. But I have spoken to you again and again and you won’t listen or obey. <sup>15</sup> I have sent you prophet after prophet to tell you to turn back from your wicked ways and to stop worshipping other gods and that if you obeyed, then I would let you live in peace here in the land I gave to you and your fathers. But you wouldn’t listen or obey. <sup>16</sup> The families of Rechab have obeyed their father completely, but you have refused to listen to me. <sup>17</sup> Therefore the Lord God of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Because you refuse to listen or answer when I call, I will send upon Judah and Jerusalem all the evil I have ever threatened.

<sup>18,19</sup> Then Jeremiah turned to the Rechabites and said: “The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says that because you have obeyed your father in every respect, he shall always have descendants who will worship me.”

this message to Jeremiah:

<sup>2</sup> "Get a scroll and write down all my messages against Israel, Judah and the other nations. Begin with the first message back in the days of Josiah, and write down every one of them." <sup>3</sup> Perhaps when the people of Judah see in writing all the terrible things I will do to them, they will repent. And then I can forgive them."

<sup>5</sup> When all was finished, Jeremiah said to Baruch, "Since I am a prisoner here, <sup>6</sup> you read the scroll in the Temple on the next Day of Fasting, for on that day people will be there from all over Judah. <sup>7</sup> Perhaps even yet they will turn from their evil ways and ask the Lord to forgive them before it is too late, even though these curses of God have been pronounced upon them."

<sup>8</sup> Baruch did as Jeremiah told him to, and read all these messages to the people at the Temple. <sup>9</sup> This occurred on the Day of Fasting held in December of the fifth year of the reign of King Jehoiakim (son of Josiah). People came from all over Judah to attend the services at the Temple that day. <sup>10</sup> Baruch went to the office of Gemariah the Scribe (son of Shaphan) to read the scroll. (This room was just off the upper assembly hall of the Temple, near the door of the New Gate.)

ence room where the administrative officials were meeting. Elishama (the scribe) was there, as well as Delaiah (son of Shamaiah), Elnathan (son of Achbor), Gemariah (son of Shaphan), Zedekiah (son of Hananiah), and all the others with similar responsibilities. <sup>13</sup> When Micaiah told them about the messages Baruch was reading to the people, <sup>14,15</sup> the officials sent Jehudi (son of Nethaniah, son of Shelemiah, son of Cushi) to ask Baruch to come and read the messages to them too, and Baruch did.

<sup>16</sup> By the time he finished they were badly frightened. "We must tell the king," they said. <sup>17</sup> "But first, tell us how you got these messages. Did Jeremiah himself dictate them to you?" <sup>18</sup> So Baruch explained that Jeremiah had dictated them to him word by word, and he had written them down in ink upon the scroll. <sup>19</sup> "You and Jeremiah both hide," the officials said to Baruch. "Don't tell a soul where you are!" <sup>20</sup> Then the officials hid the scroll in the room of Elishama the scribe and went to tell the king.

nathan, Delaiah and Gemariah. They pled with the king not to burn the scroll, but he wouldn't listen to them.<sup>2</sup> Not another of the king's officials showed any signs of fear or anger at what he had done.

<sup>28</sup> Get another scroll and write everything again just as you did before,<sup>29</sup> and say this to the king: "The Lord says, You burned the scroll because it said the king of Babylon would destroy this country and everything in it.<sup>30</sup> And now the Lord adds this concerning you, Jehoiakim, king of Judah: He shall have no one to sit<sup>d</sup> upon the throne of David. His dead body shall be thrown out to the hot sun and frosty nights,<sup>31</sup> and I will punish him and his family and his officials because of their sins. I will pour out upon them all the evil I promised—upon them and upon all the people of Judah and Jerusalem, for they wouldn't listen to my warnings."

<sup>32</sup> Then Jeremiah took another scroll and dictated again to Baruch all he had written before, only this time the Lord added a lot more!

37 NEBUCHADNEZZAR, KING OF Babylon, did not appoint Coniah (King Jehoiakim's son) to be the new king of Judah.<sup>3</sup> Instead he chose Zedekiah (son of Josiah).

<sup>7</sup> "The Lord, the God of Israel, says: Tell the king of Judah, who sent you to ask me what is going to happen, that Pharaoh's army, though it came here to help you, is about to return in flight to Egypt! The Babylonians shall defeat them and send them scurrying home.<sup>8</sup> These Babylonians shall capture this city and burn it to the ground.<sup>9</sup> Don't fool yourselves that the Babylonians are gone for good. They aren't! <sup>10</sup> Even if you destroyed the entire Babylonian army until there was only a handful of survivors and they lay wounded in their tents, yet they would stagger out and defeat you and put this city to the torch!"

But Irijah wouldn't listen; he took Jeremiah before the city officials. <sup>15,16</sup> They were incensed with Jeremiah and had him flogged and put into the dungeon under the house of Jonathan the scribe, which had been converted into a prison. Jeremiah was kept there for several days, <sup>17</sup> but eventually King Zedekiah sent for him to come to the palace secretly. The king asked him if there was any recent message from the Lord. "Yes," said Jeremiah, "there is! You shall be defeated by the king of Babylon!"

<sup>18</sup> Then Jeremiah broached the subject of his imprisonment. "What have I ever done to deserve this?" he asked the king. "What crime have I committed? Tell me what I have done against you or your officials or the people? <sup>19</sup> Where are those prophets now who told you that the king of Babylon would not come? <sup>20</sup> Listen, O my lord the king: I beg you, don't send me back to that dungeon, for I'll die there."

turned to the dungeon, but be placed in the palace prison instead, and that he be given a small loaf of fresh bread every day as long as there was any left in the city. So Jeremiah was kept in the palace prison.<sup>c</sup>

38 BUT WHEN SHEPHATHIAH (son of Mattan) and Gedaliah (son of Pashhur) and Jucal (son of Shelemiah) and Pashhur (son of Malchiah) heard what Jeremiah had been telling the people—<sup>2</sup> that everyone remaining in Jerusalem would die by sword, starvation or disease, but anyone surrendering to the Babylonians would live, <sup>3</sup> and that the city of Jerusalem would surely be captured by the king of Babylon—<sup>4</sup> they went to the king and said: "Sir, this fellow must die. That kind of talk will undermine the morale of the few soldiers we have left, and of all the people too. This man is a traitor."

<sup>6</sup> They took Jeremiah from his cell and lowered him by ropes into an empty cistern in the prison yard. (It belonged to Malchiah, a member of the royal family.) There was no water in it, but there was a thick layer of mire at the bottom, and Jeremiah sank down into it.

"these men have done a very evil thing in putting Jeremiah into the cistern. He will die of hunger, for almost all the bread in the city is gone."

"I want to ask you something," the king said, "and don't try to hide the truth."

<sup>15</sup> Jeremiah said, "If I tell you the truth, you will kill me. And you won't listen to me anyway."

<sup>16</sup> So King Zedekiah swore before Almighty God his Creator that he would not kill Jeremiah or give him to the men who were after his life.

<sup>17</sup> Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, "The Lord, the God of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: If you will surrender to Babylon, you and your family shall live and the city will not be burned. <sup>18</sup> If you refuse to surrender, this city shall be set afire by the Babylonian army and you will not escape."

<sup>19</sup> "But I am afraid to surrender," the king said, "for the Babylonians will hand me over to the Jews who have defected to them, and who knows what they will do to me?"

<sup>20</sup> Jeremiah replied, "You won't get into their hands if only you will obey the Lord; your life will be spared and all will go well for you."

<sup>21,22</sup> But if you refuse to surrender, the Lord has said that all the women left in your palace will be brought out and given to the officers of the Babylonian army; and these women will taunt you with bitterness. 'Fine friends you have,' they'll say, 'those Egyptians. They have betrayed you and left you to your fate!' <sup>23</sup> All your wives and children will be led out to the Babylonians, and you will not escape. You will be seized by the king of Babylon, and this city will be burned."

<sup>24</sup> Then Zedekiah said to Jeremiah, "On pain of death, don't tell anyone you told me this! <sup>25</sup> And if my officials hear that I talked with you and they threaten you with death unless you tell them what we discussed, <sup>26</sup> just say that you begged me not to send you back to the dungeon in Jonathan's house, for you would die there."

<sup>27</sup> And sure enough, it wasn't long before all the city officials came to Jeremiah and asked him why the king had called for him. So he said what the king had told him to, and they left without finding out the truth, for the conversation had not been overheard by anyone. <sup>28</sup> And Jeremiah remained confined to the prison yard until the day that Jerusalem was retaken by the Babylonians.

39 IT WAS IN January of the ninth year of the reign of King Zedekiah of Judah, that King Nebuchadnezzar and all his army came against Jerusalem again and besieged it. <sup>2</sup> Two years later, in the month of July, they breached the wall, and the city fell, <sup>3</sup> and all the officers of the Babylonian army came in and sat in triumph at the middle gate. Nergal-sharezer was there, and Samgar-nebo and Sarsechim and Nergal-sharezer the king's chief assistant, and many others.

<sup>13</sup> So Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, and Nebushazban, the chief of the eunuchs, and Nergal-sharezer, the king's advisor, and all the officials took steps to do as the king had commanded. <sup>14</sup> They sent soldiers to bring Jeremiah out of the prison, and put him into the care of Gedaliah (son of Ahikam, son of Shaphan), to take him back to his home. And Jeremiah lived there among his people who were left in the land.

<sup>16</sup> "Send this word to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian: The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: I will do to this city everything I threatened; I will destroy it before your eyes, <sup>17</sup> but I will deliver you. You shall not be killed by those you fear so much. <sup>18</sup> As a reward for trusting me, I will preserve your life and keep you safe."

40 NEBUZARADAN, CAPTAIN OF the guard, took Jeremiah to Ramah along with all the exiled people of Jerusalem and Judah who were being sent to Babylon, but then released him.

<sup>2,3</sup> The captain called for Jeremiah and said, "The Lord your God has brought this disaster on this land, just as he said he would. For these people have sinned against the Lord. That is why it happened. <sup>4</sup> Now I am going to take off your chains and let you go. If you want to come with me to Babylon, fine; I will see that you are well cared for. But if you don't want to come, don't. The world is before you—go where you like.<sup>3</sup> If you decide to stay, then return to Gedaliah, who has been appointed as governor of Judah by the king of Babylon, and stay with the remnant he rules. But it's up to you; go where you like."

Then Nebuzaradan gave Jeremiah some food and money and let him go.<sup>4</sup> So Jeremiah returned to Gedaliah and lived in Judah with the people left in the land.

<sup>5</sup> Now when the leaders of the Jewish guerrilla bands in the countryside heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah as governor over the poor of the land who were left behind, and had not exiled everyone to Babylon,<sup>6</sup> they came to see Gedaliah at Mizpah, where his headquarters were. These are the names of the leaders who came: Ishmael (son of Nethaniah), Johanan and Jonathan (sons of Kareah), Seraiah (son of Tanhumeth), the sons of Ephai (the Netophathite), Jezaniah (son of a Maacathite), and their men.<sup>7</sup> And Gedaliah assured them that it would be safe to surrender to the Babylonians.

"Stay here and serve the king of Babylon," he said, "and all will go well for you.<sup>8</sup> As for me, I will stay at Mizpah and intercede for you with the Babylonians who will come here to oversee my administration. Settle in any city you wish and live off the land. Harvest the grapes and summer fruits and olives and store them away."

<sup>9</sup> When the Jews in Moab and among the Ammonites and in Edom and the other nearby countries heard that a few people were still left in Judah, and that the king of Babylon had not taken them all away, and that Gedaliah was the governor,<sup>12</sup> they all began to return to Judah from the many places to which they had fled. They stopped at Mizpah to discuss their plans with Gedaliah and then went out to the deserted farms and gathered a great harvest of wine grapes and other crops.

<sup>13,14</sup> But soon afterwards Johanan (son of Kareah) and the other guerrilla leaders came to Mizpah to warn Gedaliah that Baalis, king of the Ammonites, had sent Ishmael (son of Nethaniah) to assassinate him. But Gedaliah wouldn't believe them.<sup>15</sup> Then Johanan had a private conference with Gedaliah. Johanan volunteered to kill Ishmael secretly.

"Why should we let him come and murder you?" Johanan asked. "What will happen then to the Jews who have returned? Why should this remnant be scattered and lost?"

41 BUT IN OCTOBER, Ishmael (son of Nethaniah, son of Elishama), who was a member of the royal family and one of the king's top officials, arrived in Mizpah, accompanied by ten men. Gedaliah invited them to dinner.<sup>2</sup> While they were eating, Ishmael and the ten men in league with him suddenly jumped up, pulled out their swords and killed Gedaliah.

<sup>7</sup> Then, when they were all inside the city, Ishmael and his men killed all but ten of them and threw their bodies into a cistern. <sup>8</sup> The ten had talked Ishmael into letting them go by promising to bring him their treasures of wheat, barley, oil and honey they had hidden away. <sup>9</sup> The cistern where Ishmael dumped the bodies of the men he murdered was the large one constructed by King Asa when he fortified Mizpah to protect himself against Baasha, king of Israel.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>11</sup> But when Johanan (son of Kareah) and the rest of the guerrilla leaders heard what Ishmael had done, <sup>12</sup> they took all their men and set out to stop him. They caught up with him at the pool near Gibeon. <sup>13,14</sup> The people with Ishmael shouted for joy when they saw Johanan and his men, and ran to meet them.

<sup>16,17</sup> Then Johanan and his men went to the village of Geruth Chimham, near Bethlehem, taking with them all those they had rescued—soldiers, women, children and eunuchs, to prepare to leave for Egypt. <sup>18</sup> For they were afraid of what the Babylonians would do when the news reached them that Ishmael had killed Gedaliah the governor, for he had been chosen and appointed by the Babylonian emperor.

42 THEN JOHANAN AND the army captains and all the people, great and small, came to Jeremiah <sup>2</sup> and said, "Please pray for us to the Lord your God, for as you know so well, we are only a tiny remnant of what we were before. <sup>3</sup> Beg the Lord your God to show us what to do and where to go."

<sup>5</sup> Then they said to Jeremiah, "May the curse of God be on us if we refuse to obey whatever he says we should do! <sup>6</sup> Whether we like it or not, we will obey the Lord our God, to whom we send you with our plea. For if we obey him, everything will turn out well for us."

<sup>7</sup> Ten days later the Lord gave his reply to Jeremiah. <sup>8</sup> So he called for Johanan and the captains of his forces, and for all the people, great and small, <sup>9</sup> and said to them: "You sent me to the Lord, the God of Israel, with your request, and this is his reply:

<sup>10</sup> "Stay here in this land. If you do, I will bless you and no one will harm you. For I am sorry for all the punishment I have had to give to you. <sup>11</sup> Don't fear the king of Babylon any more, for I am with you to save you and to deliver you from his hand. <sup>12</sup> And I will be merciful to you by making him kind so that he will not kill you or make slaves of you but will let you stay here in your land.

<sup>13,14</sup> "But if you refuse to obey the Lord and say, 'We will not stay here,'—and insist on going to Egypt where you think you will be free from war and hunger and alarms, <sup>15</sup> then this is what the Lord replies, O remnant of Judah: The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: If you insist on going to Egypt, <sup>16</sup> the war and famine you fear will follow close behind you and you will perish there. <sup>17</sup> That is the fate awaiting every one of you who insists on going to live in Egypt. Yes, you will die from sword, famine and disease. None of you will escape from the evil I will bring upon you there.

<sup>18</sup> "For the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Just as my anger and fury were poured out upon the people of Jerusalem, so it will be poured out on you when you enter Egypt. You will be received with disgust and with hatred—you will be cursed and reviled. And you will never again see your own land. <sup>19</sup> For the Lord has said: O remnant of Judah, do not go to Egypt!"

Jeremiah concluded: "Never forget the warning I have given you today. <sup>20</sup> If you go, it will be at the cost of your lives. For you were deceitful when you sent me to pray for you and said, 'Just tell us what God says and we will do it!' <sup>21</sup> And today I have told you exactly what he said, but you will not obey any more now than you did the other times. <sup>22</sup> Therefore know for a certainty that you will die by sword, famine and disease in Egypt, where you insist on going."

43 WHEN JEREMIAH HAD finished giving this message from God to all the people, <sup>2,3</sup> Azariah (son of Hoshai) and Johanan (son of Kareah) and all the other proud men, said to Jeremiah, "You lie! The Lord our God hasn't told you to tell us not to go to Egypt! Baruch (son of Neriah) has plotted against us and told you to say this so that we will stay here and be killed by the Babylonians or carried off to Babylon as slaves."

<sup>4</sup> So Johanan and all the guerrilla leaders and all the people refused to obey the Lord and stay in Judah. <sup>5</sup> All of them, including all those who had returned from the nearby countries where they had fled, now started off for Egypt with Johanan and the other captains in command. <sup>6</sup> In the crowd were men, women and children, the king's daughters and all those whom Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, had left with Gedaliah. They even forced Jeremiah and Baruch to go with them too. <sup>7</sup> And so they arrived in Egypt at the city of Tahpanhes, for they would not obey the Lord.

<sup>8</sup> Then at Tahpanhes, the Lord spoke to Jeremiah again and said:

<sup>9</sup> "Call together the men of Judah and, as they watch you, bury large rocks between the pavement stones at the entrance of Pharaoh's palace here in Tahpanhes, <sup>10</sup> and tell the men of Judah this: The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: I will surely bring Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, here to Egypt, for he is my servant. I will set his throne upon these stones that I have hidden. He shall spread his royal canopy over them. <sup>11</sup> And when he comes he shall destroy the land of Egypt, killing all those I want killed, and capturing those I want captured, and many shall die of plague. <sup>12</sup> He will set fire to the temples of the gods of Egypt and burn the idols and carry off the people as his captives. And he shall plunder the land of Egypt as a shepherd picks fleas from his cloak! And he himself shall leave unharmed. <sup>13</sup> And he shall break down the obelisks standing in the city of Heliopolis, and burn down the temples of the gods of Egypt."

44 THIS IS THE message God gave to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews who were living in the north of Egypt in the cities of Migdol, Tahpanhes and Memphis, and throughout southern Egypt as well:

<sup>23</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: You saw what I did to Jerusalem and to all the cities of Judah. Because of all their wickedness they lie in heaps and ashes, without a living soul. For my anger rose high against them for worshiping other gods—"gods" that neither they nor you nor any of your fathers have ever known. <sup>4</sup> I sent my servants, the prophets, to protest over and over again and to plead with them not to do this horrible thing I hate, <sup>5</sup> but they wouldn't listen and wouldn't turn back from their wicked ways; they have kept right on with their sacrifices to these "gods." <sup>6</sup> And so my fury and anger boiled forth and fell as fire upon the cities of Judah and into the streets of Jerusalem, and there is desolation until this day.

<sup>7</sup> And now the Lord, the God of Hosts, the God of Israel, asks you: Why are you destroying yourselves? For not one of you shall live—not a man, woman or child among you who has come here from Judah, not even the babies in arms. <sup>8</sup> For you are rousing my anger with the idols you have made and worshiped here in Egypt, burning incense to them, and causing me to destroy you completely and to make you a curse and a stench in the nostrils of all the nations of the earth. <sup>9</sup> Have you forgotten the sins of your fathers, and the sins of the kings and queens of Judah, and your own sins, and the sins of your wives in Judah and Jerusalem? <sup>10</sup> And even until this very hour there has been no apology; no one has wanted to return to me, or follow the laws I gave you and your fathers before you.

<sup>11</sup> Therefore the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: There is fury in my face and I will destroy every one of you! <sup>12</sup> I will take this remnant of Judah that insisted on coming here to Egypt and I will consume them. They shall fall here in Egypt, killed by famine and sword; all shall die, from the least to the greatest. They shall be despised and loathed, cursed and hated. <sup>13</sup> I will punish them in Egypt just as I punished them in Jerusalem, by sword, famine and disease. <sup>14</sup> Not one of them shall escape from my wrath except those who repent of their coming and escape from the others by returning again to their own land.

<sup>15</sup> Then all the women present and all the men who knew that their wives had burned incense to idols (it was a great crowd of all the Jews in southern Egypt) answered Jeremiah:

<sup>16</sup> "We will not listen to your false 'Messages from God'! <sup>17</sup> We will do whatever we want to. We will burn incense to the 'Queen of Heaven'<sup>a</sup> and sacrifice to her just as much as we like—just as we and our fathers before us, and our kings and princes have always done in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem; for in those days we had plenty to eat and we were well off and happy! <sup>18</sup> But ever since we quit burning incense to the 'Queen of Heaven' and stopped worshipping her we have been in great trouble and have been destroyed by sword and famine."

<sup>19</sup> "And," the women added, "do you suppose that we were worshipping the 'Queen of Heaven' and pouring out our libations to her and making cakes for her with her image on them, without our husbands knowing it and helping us? Of course not!"

<sup>20</sup> Then Jeremiah said to all of them, men and women alike, who had given him that answer:

<sup>21</sup> "Do you think the Lord didn't know that you and your fathers and your kings and princes and all the people were burning incense to idols in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? <sup>22</sup> It was because he could no longer bear all the evil things you were doing that he made your land desolate, an incredible ruin, cursed, without an inhabitant, as it is today. <sup>23</sup> The very reason all these terrible things have befallen you is because you have burned incense and sinned against the Lord and refused to obey him."

<sup>24</sup> Then Jeremiah said to them all, including the women: "Listen to the word of the Lord, all you citizens of Judah who are here in Egypt! <sup>25</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Both you and your wives have said that you will never give up your devotion and sacrifices to the 'Queen of Heaven,' and you have proved it by your actions. Then go ahead and carry out your promises and vows to her! <sup>26</sup> But listen to the word of the Lord, all you Jews who are living in the land of Egypt: I have sworn by my great name, says the Lord, that it will do you no good to seek my help and blessing any more, saying, 'O Lord our God, help us!' <sup>27</sup> For I will watch over you, but not for good! I will see to it that evil befalls you, and you shall be destroyed by war and famine until all of you are dead."

shall escape my wrath, but all who refuse to go back—who insist on living in Egypt—shall find out who tells the truth, I or they! <sup>29</sup> And this is the proof I give you that all I have threatened will happen to you, and that I will punish you here: <sup>30</sup> I will turn Pharaoh Hophra,<sup>b</sup> king of Egypt, over to those<sup>c</sup> who seek his life, just as I turned Zedekiah, king of Judah, over to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon.”

45 THIS IS THE message<sup>a</sup> Jeremiah gave to Baruch in the fourth year of the reign of King Jehoiakim (son of Josiah), after Baruch had written down all God's messages as Jeremiah was dictating them to him:

<sup>3</sup> You have said, Woe is me! Don't I have troubles enough already? And now the Lord has added more! I am weary of my own sighing and I find no rest. <sup>4</sup> But tell Baruch this, The Lord says: I will destroy this nation that I built; I will wipe out what I established. <sup>5</sup> Are you seeking great things for yourself? Don't do it! For though I will bring great evil upon all these people, I will protect you wherever you go, as your reward.

46 HERE ARE THE messages given to Jeremiah concerning foreign nations.

The Egyptians

of Carchemish when Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, and his army were defeated beside the Euphrates River by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, in the fourth year of the reign of Jehoiakim (son of Josiah), king of Judah:

by Amasis, one of his generals who had revolted and who was then crowned in his place.

many medicines, there is no healing for you. <sup>12</sup> The nations have heard of your shame. The earth is filled with your cry of despair and defeat; your mightiest soldiers will stumble across each other and fall together.

<sup>13</sup> Then God gave Jeremiah this message concerning the coming of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, to attack Egypt:

numberless soldiers cut down your people like woodsmen who clear a forest of its trees. <sup>24</sup> Egypt is as helpless as a girl before these men from the north.

<sup>25</sup> The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: I will punish Amon, god of Thebes, and all the other gods of Egypt. I will punish Pharaoh too, and all who trust in him. <sup>26</sup> I will deliver them into the hands of those who want them killed—into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and his army. But afterwards the land shall recover from the ravages of war.

<sup>27</sup> But don't you be afraid, O my people who return to your own land, don't be dismayed; for I will save you from far away and bring your children from a distant land. Yes, Israel shall return and be at rest and nothing shall make her afraid. <sup>28</sup> Fear not, O Jacob, my servant, says the Lord, for I am with you. I will destroy all the nations to which I have exiled you, but I will not destroy you. I will punish you, but only enough to correct you.

The Philistines

rushing by; fathers flee without a backward glance at their helpless children, <sup>4</sup> for the time has come when all the Philistines and their allies from Tyre and Sidon will be destroyed. For the Lord is destroying the Philistines, those colonists from Caphtor. <sup>5</sup> The cities of Gaza and Ashkelon will be razed to the ground and lie in ruins. O descendants of the Anakim, how you will lament and mourn!

<sup>6</sup> O sword of the Lord, when will you be at rest again? Go back into your scabbard; rest and be still! <sup>7</sup> But how can it be still when the Lord has sent it on an errand? For the city of Ashkelon and those living along the sea must be destroyed.

The Moabites

48 THIS IS THE message of the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, against Moab:

Woe to the city of Nebo, for it shall lie in ruins. The city of Kiria-thaim and its forts are overwhelmed and captured. <sup>2,3,4</sup> No one will ever brag of Moab any more, for there is a plot against her life. In Hesh-bon, plans have been completed to destroy her. "Come," they say, "we will cut her off from being a nation." In Madmen all is silent. And then the roar of battle will surge against Horonaim, for all Moab is being destroyed. Her crying will be heard as far away as Zoar. <sup>5</sup> Her refugees will climb the hills of Luhith, weeping bitterly, while cries of terror rise from the city below. <sup>6</sup> Flee for your lives; hide in the wilderness! <sup>7</sup> For you trusted in your wealth and skill; therefore you shall perish. Your god Chemosh, with his priests and princes, shall be taken away to distant lands!

<sup>8</sup> All the villages and cities, whether they be on the plateaus or in the valleys, shall be destroyed, for the Lord has said it. <sup>9</sup> Oh, for wings for Moab that she could fly away, for her cities shall be left without a living soul. <sup>10</sup> Cursed be those withholding their swords from your blood, refusing to do the work that God has given them!

<sup>11</sup> From her earliest history Moab has lived there undisturbed from all invasions. She is like wine that has not been poured from flask to flask, and is fragrant and smooth. But now she shall have the pouring out of exile! <sup>12</sup> The time is coming soon, the Lord has said, when he will send troublers to spill her out from jar to jar and then shatter the jars! <sup>13</sup> Then at last Moab shall be ashamed of her idol Chemosh, as Israel was of her calf-idol at Bethel.

banks of the Arnon, that Moab is destroyed."

<sup>28</sup> O people of Moab, flee from your cities and live in the caves like doves that nest in the clefts of the rocks. <sup>29</sup> We have all heard of the pride of Moab, for it is very great. We know your loftiness, your arrogance and your haughty heart. <sup>30</sup> I know her insolence, the Lord has said, but her boasts are false—her helplessness is great. <sup>31</sup> Yes, I wail for Moab, my heart is broken for the men of Kir-heres.

<sup>32</sup> O men of Sibmah, rich in vineyards, I weep for you even more than for Jazer. For the destroyer has cut off your spreading tendrils and harvested your grapes and summer fruits. He has plucked you bare! <sup>33</sup> Joy and gladness are gone from fruitful Moab. The presses yield no wine; no one treads the grapes with shouts of joy. There is shouting, yes, but not the shouting of joy. <sup>34</sup> Instead the awful cries of terror and pain rise from all over the land—from Heshbon clear across to Elealeh and to Jahaz; from Zoar to Horonaim and to Eglath-shelishiyah. The pastures of Nimrim are deserted now.

<sup>46</sup> Woe to you, O Moab; the people of the god Chemosh are destroyed, and your sons and daughters are taken away as slaves. "But in the latter days, says the Lord, I will reestablish Moab.

(Here the prophecy concerning Moab ends.)

The Ammonites

49 WHAT IS THIS you are doing?

Why are you living in the cities of the Jews? Aren't the Jews enough to fill them up? Didn't they inherit them from me? Why then have you, who worship Milcom, taken over Gad and all its cities? <sup>2</sup> I will punish you for this, the Lord declares, by destroying your city of Rabbah. It shall become a desolate heap, and the neighboring towns shall be burned. Then Israel shall come and take back her land from you again. She shall dispossess those who dispossessed her, says the Lord.

<sup>3</sup> Cry out, O Heshbon, for Ai is destroyed! Weep, daughter of Rabbah! Put on garments of mourning; weep and wail, hiding in the hedges, for your god Milcom shall be exiled along with his princes and priests. <sup>4</sup> You are proud of your fertile valleys, but they will soon be ruined. O wicked daughter, you trusted in your wealth and thought no one could ever harm you. <sup>5</sup> But see, I will bring terror upon you, says the Lord God of Hosts. For all your neighbors shall drive you from your land and none shall help your exiles as they flee. <sup>6</sup> But afterward I will restore the fortunes of the Ammonites, says the Lord.

The Edomites

are all your wise men of days gone by? Is there not one left in all of Teman? <sup>8</sup> Flee to the remotest parts of the desert, O people of Dedan<sup>a</sup>; for when I punish Edom, I will punish you! <sup>9,10</sup> Those who gather grapes leave a few for the poor, and even thieves don't take everything, but I will strip bare the land of Esau, and there will be no place to hide. Her children, her brothers, her neighbors—all will be destroyed—and she herself will perish too. <sup>11</sup> (But I will preserve your fatherless children who remain, and let your widows depend upon me.)

<sup>12</sup> The Lord says to Edom: If the innocent must suffer, how much more must you! You shall not go unpunished! You must drink this cup of judgment! <sup>13</sup> For I have sworn by my own name, says the Lord, that Bozrah shall become heaps of ruins, cursed and mocked; and her cities shall be eternal wastes.

He has sent a messenger to call the nations to form a coalition against Edom and destroy her. <sup>15</sup> I will make her weak among the nations and despised by all, says the Lord. <sup>16</sup> You have been fooled by your fame and your pride, living there in the mountains of Petra, in the clefts of the rocks. But though you live among the peaks with the eagles, I will bring you down, says the Lord.

<sup>17</sup> The fate of Edom will be horrible; all who go by will be appalled, and gasp at the sight. <sup>18</sup> Your cities will become as silent as Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns, says the Lord. No one will live there anymore. <sup>19</sup> I will send against them one who will come like a lion from the wilds of Jordan stalking the sheep in the fold. Suddenly Edom shall be destroyed, and I will appoint over the Edomites the person of my choice. For who is like me and who can call me to account? <sup>20</sup> What shepherd can defy me? Take note: The Lord will certainly do this to Edom and also the people of Teman—even little children will be dragged away as slaves! It will be a shocking thing to see.

<sup>21</sup> The earth shakes with the noise of Edom's fall; the cry of the people is heard as far away as the Red Sea. <sup>22</sup> The one who will come will fly as swift as a vulture and will spread his wings against Bozrah. Then the courage of the mightiest warriors will disappear like that of women in labor.

Damascus

<sup>23</sup> The cities of Hamath and Arpad are stricken with fear, for they have heard the news of their doom. Their hearts are troubled like a wild sea in a raging storm. <sup>24</sup> Damascus has become feeble and all her people turn to flee. Fear, anguish and sorrow have gripped her as they do women in labor. <sup>25</sup> O famous city, city of joy, how you are forsaken now! <sup>26</sup> Your young men lie dead in the streets; your entire army shall be destroyed in one day, says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>27</sup> And I will start a fire at the edge of Damascus that shall burn up the palaces of Benhadad.

Kedar and Hazor

<sup>28</sup> This prophecy is about Kedar<sup>b</sup> and the kingdoms of Hazor, which are going to be destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, for the Lord will send him to destroy them. <sup>29</sup> Their flocks and their tents will be captured, says the Lord, with all their household goods. Their camels will be taken away, and all around will be the shouts of panic, "We are surrounded and doomed!" <sup>30</sup> Flee for your lives, says the Lord. Go deep into the deserts, O people of Hazor<sup>c</sup>, for Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, has plotted against you and is preparing to destroy you.

<sup>31</sup> "Go," said the Lord to King Nebuchadnezzar. "Attack those wealthy Bedouin tribes living alone in the desert without a care in the world, boasting that they are self-sufficient—that they need neither walls nor gates. <sup>32</sup> Their camels and cattle shall all be yours, and I will scatter these heathen<sup>d</sup> to the winds. From all directions I will bring calamity upon them."

Elam

<sup>34</sup> God's message against Elam came to Jeremiah in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah, king of Judah:

will scatter the people of Elam to the four winds; they shall be exiled to countries throughout the world. <sup>27</sup> My fierce anger will bring great evil upon Elam, says the Lord, and I will cause her enemies to wipe her out. <sup>28</sup> And I will set my throne in Elam, says the Lord. I will destroy her king and princes. <sup>29</sup> But in the latter days I will bring the people back, says the Lord.

Babylon

50 THIS IS THE message from the Lord against Babylon and the Chaldeans, spoken by Jeremiah the prophet:

<sup>1</sup> Tell all the world that Babylon will be destroyed; her god Marduk will be utterly disgraced! <sup>2</sup> For a nation shall come down upon her from the north with such destruction that no one shall live in her again; all shall be gone—both men and animals shall flee.

<sup>3</sup> Then the people of Israel and Judah shall join together, weeping and seeking the Lord their God. <sup>4</sup> They shall ask the way to Zion and start back home again. "Come," they will say, "let us be united to the Lord with an eternal pledge that will never be broken again."

<sup>5</sup> My people have been lost sheep. Their shepherds led them astray and then turned them loose in the mountains. They lost their way and didn't remember how to get back to the fold. <sup>6</sup> All who found them devoured them and said, "We are permitted to attack them freely, for they have sinned against the Lord, the God of justice, the hope of their fathers."

people home again, <sup>8</sup> for see, I am raising up an army of great nations from the north and I will bring them against Babylon to attack her, and she shall be destroyed. The enemies' arrows go straight to the mark; they do not miss! <sup>9</sup> And Babylon shall be sacked until everyone is sated with loot, says the Lord.

fields of Carmel and Bashan and to be happy once more on Mount Ephraim and Mount Gilead. <sup>20</sup> In those days, says the Lord, no sin shall be found in Israel or in Judah, for I will pardon the remnant I preserve.

<sup>25</sup> The Lord has opened his armory and brought out weapons to explode his wrath upon his enemies. The terror that befalls Babylon will be the work of the Lord, the God of Hosts. <sup>26</sup> Yes, come against her from distant lands; break open her granaries; knock down her walls and houses into heaps of ruins and utterly destroy her; let nothing be left. <sup>27</sup> Not even her cattle—woe to them, too! Kill them all! For the time has come for Babylon to be devastated.

<sup>28</sup> But my people will flee; they will escape back to their own country to tell how the Lord their God has broken forth in fury upon those who destroyed his Temple.

<sup>29</sup> Send out a call for archers to come to Babylon; surround the city so that none can escape. Do to her as she has done to others, for she has haughtily defied the Lord, the Holy One of Israel. <sup>30</sup> Her young men will fall in the streets and die; her warriors will all be killed. <sup>31</sup> For see, I am against you, O people so proud; and now your day of reckoning has come. <sup>32</sup> Land of pride, you will stumble and fall and no one will raise you up, for the Lord will light a fire in the cities of Babylon that will burn everything around them.

<sup>33</sup> The Lord of Hosts says: The people of Israel and Judah have been wronged. Their captors hold them and refuse to let them go. <sup>34</sup> But their Redeemer is strong. His name is the Lord of Hosts. He will plead for them and see that they are freed to live again in quietness in Israel.

As for the people of Babylon—there is no rest for them! <sup>35</sup> The sword of destruction shall smite the Chaldeans, says the Lord. It shall smite the people of Babylon—her princes and wise men too. <sup>36</sup> All her wise counselors shall become fools! Panic shall seize her mightiest warriors! <sup>37</sup> War shall devour her horses and chariots, and her allies from other lands shall become as weak as women. Her treasures shall all be robbed; <sup>38</sup> even her water supply will fail. And why? Because the whole land is full of images, and the people are madly in love with their idols.

forever. <sup>40</sup> The Lord declares that he will destroy Babylon just as he destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns. No one has lived in them since, and no one will live again in Babylon.

<sup>44</sup> I will send against them an invader who will come upon them suddenly, like a lion from the jungles of Jordan that leaps upon the grazing sheep. I will put her defenders to flight and appoint over them whomsoever I please. For who is like me? What ruler can oppose my will? Who can call me to account? <sup>45</sup> Listen to the plan of the Lord against Babylon, the land of the Chaldeans. For even little children shall be dragged away as slaves; oh, the horror; oh, the terror. <sup>46</sup> The whole earth shall shake at Babylon's fall, and her cry of despair shall be heard around the world.

51 THE LORD SAYS: I will stir up a destroyer against Babylon, against that whole land of the Chaldeans, and destroy it. <sup>2</sup> Winnowers shall come and winnow her and blow her away; they shall come from every side to rise against her in her day of trouble. <sup>3</sup> The arrows of the enemy shall strike down the bowmen of Babylon and pierce her warriors in their coats of mail. No one shall be spared; both young and old alike shall be destroyed. <sup>4</sup> They shall fall down slain in the land of the Chaldeans, slashed to death in her streets. <sup>5</sup> For the Lord of Hosts has not forsaken Israel and Judah. He is still their God, but the land of the Chaldeans<sup>a</sup> is filled with sin against the Holy One of Israel.

<sup>6</sup> Flee from Babylon! Save yourselves! Don't get trapped! If you stay, you will be destroyed when God takes his vengeance on all of Babylon's sins. <sup>7</sup> Babylon has been as a golden cup in the Lord's hands, a cup from which he made the whole earth drink and go mad. <sup>8</sup> But now, suddenly Babylon too has fallen. Weep for her; give her medicine; perhaps she can yet be healed. <sup>9</sup> We would help her if we could, but nothing can save her now. Let her go. Abandon her and return to your own land, for God is judging her from heaven. <sup>10</sup> The Lord has vindicated us. Come, let us declare in Jerusalem all the Lord our God has done.

will do all he has said he would concerning Babylon. <sup>11</sup> O wealthy port, great center of commerce, your end has come; the thread of your life is cut. <sup>12</sup> The Lord of Hosts has taken this vow, and sworn to it in his own name: Your cities shall be filled with enemies, like fields filled with locusts in a plague, and they shall lift to the skies their mighty shouts of victory.

<sup>13</sup> God made the earth by his power and wisdom. He stretched out the heavens by his understanding. <sup>14</sup> When he speaks there is thunder in the heavens and he causes the vapors to rise around the world; he brings the lightning with the rain and the winds from his treasures. <sup>15</sup> Compared to him, all men are stupid beasts. They have no wisdom—none at all! The silversmith is dulled by the images he makes, for in making them he lies; for he calls them gods, when there is not a breath of life in them at all! <sup>16</sup> Idols are nothing! They are lies! And the time is coming when God will come and see, and shall destroy them all. <sup>17</sup> But the God of Israel is no idol! For he made everything there is, and Israel is his nation; the Lord of Hosts is his name.

young men and maidens, <sup>21</sup> shepherds and flocks, farmers and oxen, captains and rulers; <sup>22</sup> before your eyes I will repay Babylon and all the Chaldeans for all the evil they have done to my people, says the Lord.

<sup>23</sup> For see, I am against you, O mighty mountain, Babylon, destroyer of the earth! I will lift my hand against you and roll you down from your heights and leave you, a burnt-out mountain. <sup>24</sup> You shall be desolate forever; even your stones shall never be used for building again. You shall be completely wiped out.

<sup>33</sup> For the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, says: Babylon is like the wheat upon a threshing floor; in just a little while the flailing will begin.

<sup>34,35</sup> The Jews in Babylon say, "Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, has eaten and crushed us and emptied out our strength; he has swallowed us like a great monster and filled his belly with our riches and cast us out of our own country. May Babylon be repaid for all she did to us! May she be paid in full for all our blood she spilled!"

<sup>36</sup> And the Lord replies: I will be your lawyer; I will plead your case; I will avenge you. I will dry up her river, her water supply, <sup>37</sup> and Babylon shall become a heap of ruins, haunted by jackals, a land horrible to see, incredible, without a living soul. <sup>38</sup> In their drunken feasts, the men of Babylon roar like lions. <sup>39</sup> And while they lie inflamed with all their wine, I will prepare a different kind of feast for them, and make them drink until they fall unconscious to the floor, to sleep forever, never to waken again, says the Lord. <sup>40</sup> I will bring them like lambs to the slaughter, like rams and goats.

has fallen.

<sup>45</sup> O my people, flee from Babylon; save yourselves from the fierce anger of the Lord. <sup>46</sup> But don't panic when you hear the first rumor of approaching forces. For rumors will keep coming year by year. Then there will be a time of civil war as the governors of Babylon fight against each other. <sup>47</sup> For the time is surely coming when I will punish this great city and all her idols; her dead shall lie in the streets. <sup>48</sup> Heaven and earth shall rejoice, for out of the north shall come destroying armies against Babylon, says the Lord. <sup>49</sup> Just as Babylon killed the people of Israel, so must she be killed. <sup>50</sup> Go, you who escaped the sword! Don't stand and watch—flee while you can! Remember the Lord and return to Jerusalem far away!

<sup>52</sup> Yes, says the Lord. But the time is coming for the destruction of the idols of Babylon. All through the land will be heard the groans of the wounded. <sup>53</sup> Though Babylon be as powerful as heaven, though she increase her strength immeasurably, she shall die, says the Lord.

warriors. They shall sleep and not wake up again! So says the King, the Lord of Hosts. <sup>54</sup> For the wide walls of Babylon shall be leveled to the ground and her high gates shall be burned; the builders from many lands have worked in vain—their work shall be destroyed by fire!

<sup>60</sup> Jeremiah wrote on a scroll all the terrible things God had scheduled against Babylon—all the words written above—<sup>61,62</sup> and gave the scroll to Seraiah and said to him, "When you get to Babylon, read what I have written and say, 'Lord, you have said that you will destroy Babylon so that not a living creature will remain, and it will be abandoned forever.' <sup>63</sup> Then, when you have finished reading the scroll, tie a rock to it and throw it into the Euphrates River, <sup>64</sup> and say, 'So shall Babylon sink, never more to rise, because of the evil I am bringing upon her.'"

(Events told about in chapter 39.)

52 ZEDEKIAH WAS TWENTY-ONE years old when he became king, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal (daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah). <sup>2</sup> But he was a wicked king, just as Jehoiakim had been. <sup>3</sup> Things became so bad at last that the Lord, in his anger, saw to it that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon until he and the people of Israel were ejected from the Lord's presence in Jerusalem and Judah, and were taken away as captives to Babylon.

<sup>4</sup> In the ninth year of Zedekiah's reign, on the tenth day of the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came with all his army against Jerusalem and built forts around it, <sup>5</sup> and laid siege to the city for two years. <sup>6</sup> Then finally, on the ninth day of the fourth month, when the famine in the city was very serious, with the last of the food entirely gone, <sup>7</sup> the people in the city tore a hole in the city wall and all the soldiers fled from the city during the night, going out by the gate between the two walls near the king's gardens (for the city was surrounded by the Chaldeans), and made a dash for it across the fields, toward Arabah.

month during the nineteenth year<sup>a</sup> of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, captain of the guard, arrived in Jerusalem,<sup>13</sup> and burned the Temple and the palace and all the larger homes,<sup>14</sup> and set the Chaldean army to work tearing down the walls of the city.<sup>15</sup> Then he took to Babylon, as captives, some of the poorest of the people—along with those who survived the city's destruction, and those who had deserted Zedekiah and had come over to the Babylonian army, and the tradesmen who were left.<sup>16</sup> But he left some of the poorest people to care for the crops as vinedressers and plowmen.

So it was that Judah's exile was accomplished.<sup>28</sup> The number of captives taken to Babylon in the seventh year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign was 3,023.<sup>29</sup> Then, eleven years later, he took 832 more;<sup>30</sup> five years after that he sent Nebuzaradan, his captain of the guard, and took 745—a total of 4,600 captives in all.

<sup>31</sup> On February 25, of the 37th year of the imprisonment in Babylon of Jehoiachin, king of Judah, Evil-merodach, who became king of Babylon that year, was kind to King Jehoiachin and brought him out of prison,<sup>32</sup> and spoke pleasantly to him and gave him preference over all the other kings in Babylon,<sup>33</sup> and gave him new clothes and fed him from the king's kitchen as long as he lived.<sup>34</sup> And he was given a regular allowance to cover his daily needs until the day of his death.

LAMENTATIONS

1 JERUSALEM'S STREETS, ONCE thronged with people, are silent now. Like a widow broken with grief, she sits alone in her mourning. She, once queen of nations, is now a slave.

<sup>2</sup> She sobs through the night; tears run down her cheeks. Among all her lovers,<sup>a</sup> there is none to help her. All her friends are now her enemies.

<sup>3</sup> Why is Judah led away, a slave? Because of all the wrong she did to others, making them her slaves. Now she sits in exile far away. There is no rest, for those she persecuted have turned and conquered her.

<sup>7</sup> And now in the midst of all Jerusalem's sadness she remembers happy bygone days. She thinks of all the precious joys she had before her mocking enemy struck her down—and there was no one to give her aid.

<sup>9</sup> She indulged herself in immorality, and refused to face the fact that punishment was sure to come. Now she lies in the gutter with no one left to lift her out. "O Lord," she cries, "see my plight. The enemy has triumphed."

<sup>11</sup> Her people groan and cry for bread; they have sold all they have for food to give a little strength. "Look, O Lord," she prays, "and see how I'm despised."

<sup>12</sup> Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by? Look and see if there is any sorrow like my sorrow, because of all the Lord has done to me in the day of his fierce wrath.

<sup>13</sup> He has sent fire from heaven that burns within my bones; he has placed a pitfall in my path and turned me back. He has left me sick and desolate the whole day through.

<sup>14</sup> He wove my sins into ropes to hitch me to a yoke of slavery. He sapped my strength and gave me to my enemies; I am helpless in their hands.

mighty men. A great army has come at his command to crush the noblest youth. The Lord has trampled his beloved city as grapes in a winepress.

<sup>16</sup> For all these things I weep; tears flow down my cheeks. My Comforter is far away—he who alone could help me. My children have no future; we are a conquered land.

<sup>18</sup> And the Lord is right, for we rebelled. And yet, O people everywhere, behold and see my anguish and despair, for my sons and daughters are taken far away as slaves to distant lands.

<sup>19</sup> I begged my allies<sup>b</sup> for their help. False hope—they could not help at all. Nor could my priests and elders—they were starving in the streets while searching through the garbage dumps for bread.

<sup>20</sup> See, O Lord, my anguish; my heart is broken and my soul desponds, for I have terribly rebelled. In the streets the sword awaits me; at home, disease and death.

<sup>21</sup> Hear my groans! And there is no one anywhere to help. All my enemies have heard my troubles and they are glad to see what you have done. And yet, O Lord, the time will surely come—for you have promised it—when you will do to them as you have done to me.

<sup>22</sup> Look also on their sins, O Lord, and punish them as you have punished me, for my sighs are many and my heart is faint.

2 A CLOUD OF anger from the Lord has overcast Jerusalem; the fairest city of Israel lies in the dust of the earth, cast from the heights of heaven at his command. In his day of awesome fury he has shown no mercy even to his Temple.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> The Lord without mercy has destroyed every home in Israel. In his wrath he has broken every fortress, every wall. He has brought the kingdom to dust, with all its rulers.

<sup>5</sup> Yes, the Lord has vanquished Israel like an enemy. He has destroyed her forts and palaces. Sorrows and tears are his portion for Jerusalem.

<sup>6</sup> He has violently broken down his Temple as though it were a booth of leaves and branches in a garden! No longer can the people celebrate their holy feasts and Sabbaths. Kings and priests together fall before his wrath.

<sup>7</sup> The Lord has rejected his own altar, for he despises the false "worship" of his people; he has given their palaces to their enemies, who carouse in the Temple as Israel used to do on days of holy feasts!

<sup>9</sup> Jerusalem's gates are useless. All their locks and bars are broken, for he has crushed them. Her kings and princes are enslaved in far-off lands, without a temple, without a divine law to govern them, or prophetic vision to guide them.

<sup>10</sup> The elders of Jerusalem sit upon the ground in silence, clothed in sackcloth; they throw dust upon their heads in sorrow and despair. The virgins of Jerusalem hang their heads in shame.

<sup>11</sup> I have cried until the tears no longer come; my heart is broken, my spirit poured out, as I see what has happened to my people; little children and tiny babies are fainting and dying in the streets.

<sup>12</sup> "Mamma, Mamma, we want food," they cry, and then collapse upon their mothers' shrunken breasts. Their lives ebb away like those wounded in battle.

<sup>13</sup> In all the world has there ever been such sorrow? O Jerusalem, what can I compare your anguish to? How can I comfort you? For your wound is deep as the sea. Who can heal you?

<sup>14</sup> Your "prophets" have said so many foolish things, false to the core. They have not tried to hold you back from slavery by pointing out your sins. They lied and said that all was well.

<sup>15</sup> All who pass by scoff and shake their heads and say, "Is this the city called 'Most Beautiful in All the World,' and 'Joy of All the Earth'?"

<sup>16</sup> All your enemies deride you. They hiss and grind their teeth and say, "We have destroyed her at last! Long have we waited for this hour and it is finally here! With our own eyes we've seen her fall."

<sup>17</sup> But it is the Lord who did it, just as he had warned. He has fulfilled the promises of doom he made so long ago. He has destroyed Jerusalem without mercy and caused her enemies to rejoice over her and boast of their power.

<sup>18</sup> Then the people wept before the Lord. O walls of Jerusalem, let tears fall down upon you like a river; give yourselves no rest from weeping day or night.

<sup>19</sup> Rise in the night and cry to your God. Pour out your hearts like water to the Lord; lift up your hands to him; plead for your children as they faint with hunger in the streets.

<sup>20</sup> O Lord, think! These are your own people to whom you are doing this. Shall mothers eat their little children, those they bounced upon their knees? Shall priests and prophets die within the Temple of the Lord?

<sup>21</sup> See them lying in the streets—old and young, boys and girls, killed by the enemies' swords. You have killed them, Lord, in your anger; you have killed them without mercy.

<sup>22</sup> You have deliberately called for this destruction; in the day of your anger none escaped or remained. All my little children lie dead upon the streets before the enemy.

3 I AM THE man who has seen the afflictions that come from the rod of God's wrath. <sup>2</sup> He has brought me into deepest darkness, shutting out all light. <sup>3</sup> He has turned against me. Day and night his hand is heavy on me. <sup>4</sup> He has made me old and has broken my bones.

<sup>5</sup> He has built forts against me and surrounded me with anguish and distress. <sup>6</sup> He buried me in dark places, like those long dead. <sup>7</sup> He has walled me in; I cannot escape; he has fastened me with heavy chains. <sup>8</sup> And though I cry and shout, he will not hear my prayers! <sup>9</sup> He has shut me into a place of high, smooth walls<sup>a</sup>; he has filled my path with detours.

<sup>15</sup> He has filled me with bitterness, and given me a cup of deepest sorrows to drink. <sup>16</sup> He has made me eat gravel and broken my teeth; he has rolled me in ashes and dirt.

<sup>17</sup> O Lord, all peace and all prosperity have long since gone, for you have taken them away. I have forgotten what enjoyment is. <sup>18</sup> All hope is gone; my strength has turned to water, for the Lord has left me. <sup>19</sup> Oh, remember the bitterness and suffering you have dealt to me! <sup>20</sup> For I can never forget these awful years; always my soul will live in utter shame.

hands to him in heaven, <sup>42</sup> for we have sinned; we have rebelled against the Lord, and he has not forgotten it.

<sup>58</sup> O Lord, you are my lawyer! Plead my case! For you have redeemed my life. <sup>59</sup> You have seen the wrong they did to me; be my Judge, to prove me right. <sup>60</sup> You have seen the plots my foes have laid against me. <sup>61</sup> You have heard the vile names they have called me, <sup>62</sup> and all they say about me and their whispered plans. <sup>63</sup> See how they laugh and sing with glee, preparing my doom.

4 HOW THE FINEST gold has lost its luster! For the inlaid<sup>a</sup> Temple walls are scattered in the streets!

eaten their own children; thus they survived the siege.

<sup>11</sup> But now at last the anger of the Lord is satisfied; his fiercest anger has been poured out. He started a fire in Jerusalem that burned it down to its foundations. <sup>12</sup> Not a king in all the earth—no one in all the world—would have believed an enemy could enter through Jerusalem's gates! <sup>13</sup> Yet God permitted it because of the sins of her prophets and priests, who defiled the city by shedding innocent blood. <sup>14</sup> Now these same men are blindly staggering through the streets, covered with blood, defiling everything they touch.

<sup>15</sup> "Get away!" the people shout at them. "You are defiled!" They flee to distant lands and wander there among the foreigners; but none will let them stay. <sup>16</sup> The Lord himself has dealt with them; he no longer helps them, for they persecuted the priests and elders who stayed true to God.

<sup>17</sup> We look for our allies<sup>c</sup> to come and save us, but we look in vain. The nation we expected most to help us makes no move at all.

<sup>18</sup> We can't go into the streets without danger to our lives. Our end is near—our days are numbered. We are doomed. <sup>19</sup> Our enemies are swifter than the eagles; if we flee to the mountains they find us. If we hide in the wilderness, they are waiting for us there. <sup>20</sup> Our king—the life of our life, the Lord's anointed—was captured in their snares. Yes, even our mighty king, about whom we had boasted that under his protection we could hold our own against any nation on earth!

5 O LORD, REMEMBER all that has befallen us; see what sorrows we must bear! <sup>2</sup> Our homes, our nation, now are filled with foreigners. <sup>3</sup> We are orphans—our fathers dead, our mothers widowed. <sup>4</sup> We must even pay for water to drink; our fuel is sold to us at the highest of prices. <sup>5</sup> We bow our necks beneath the victors' feet; unending work is now our lot. <sup>6</sup> We beg for bread from Egypt, and Assyria too.

head. Woe upon us for our sins.
<sup>17</sup> Our hearts are faint and weary; our eyes grow dim. <sup>18</sup> Jerusalem and the Temple of the Lord are desolate, deserted by all but wild animals lurking in the ruins.

 the same! Your throne continues from generation to generation.

<sup>20</sup> Why do you forget us forever?
 Why do you forsake us for so long?
<sup>21</sup> Turn us around and bring us back to you again! That is our only hope!
 Give us back the joys we used to have! <sup>22</sup> Or have you utterly rejected us? Are you angry with us still?

EZEKIEL

1 Ezekiel was a priest (the son of Buzi) who lived with the Jewish exiles beside the Chebar Canal in Babylon.

One day late in June, when I was thirty years old,<sup>a</sup> the heavens were suddenly opened to me and I saw visions from God. <sup>4</sup> I saw, in this vision, a great storm coming toward me from the north, driving before it a huge cloud glowing with fire, with a mass of fire inside that flashed continually; and in the fire there was something that shone like polished brass.

front<sup>b</sup>], with a lion's face on the right side [of his head<sup>b</sup>], and the face of an ox on his left side, and the face of an eagle at the back of his head! <sup>11</sup> Each had two pairs of wings spreading out from the middle of his back. One pair stretched out to attach to the wings of the living beings on each side, and the other pair covered his body. <sup>12</sup> Wherever their spirit<sup>c</sup> went they went, going straight forward without turning.

a Literally, "in the thirtieth year."

c Literally, "the spirit."

d Literally, "a wheel within a wheel," perhaps as in a gyroscope.

and spokes, and the rims were filled with eyes around their edges.

<sup>19,20,21</sup> When the four living beings flew forward, the wheels moved forward with them. When they flew upwards, the wheels went up too. When the living beings stopped, the wheels stopped. For the spirit of the four living beings was in the wheels; so wherever their spirit went, the wheels and the living beings went there too.

<sup>26</sup> For high in the sky above them was what looked like a throne made of beautiful blue sapphire stones, and upon it sat someone who appeared to be a Man.

<sup>27,28</sup> From his waist up, he seemed to be all glowing bronze, dazzling like fire; and from his waist down he seemed to be entirely flame, and there was a glowing halo like a rainbow all around him. That was the way the glory of the Lord appeared to me. And when I saw it,

I fell face downward on the ground and heard the voice of someone speaking to me:

2 AND HE SAID to me: "Stand up, son of dust,<sup>a</sup> and I will talk to you."

<sup>2</sup> And the Spirit entered into me as he spoke, and set me on my feet.

<sup>3</sup> "Son of dust," he said, "I am sending you to the nation of Israel to a nation rebelling against me. They and their fathers have kept on sinning against me until this very hour. <sup>4</sup> For they are a hardhearted, stiff-necked people. But I am sending you to give them my messages—the messages of the Lord God. <sup>5</sup> And whether they listen or not (for remember, they are rebels) they will at least know they have had a prophet among them.

<sup>9,10</sup> Then I looked and saw a hand holding out to me a scroll, with writing on both sides. He unrolled it, and I saw that it was full of warnings and sorrows and pronouncements of doom.

<sup>e</sup> Literally, "from above the firmament, over their heads." <sup>a</sup> Or, "son of man" . . . and so also eighty-seven times throughout the book of Ezekiel. The connotation is "mortal man." In Daniel 7:13, the corresponding Aramaic expression is used for the Messiah as representative of the human race of which he is the head. <sup>b</sup> Implied.

3 AND HE SAID to me: "Son of dust, eat what I am giving you—eat this scroll! Then go and give its message to the people of Israel."

<sup>4</sup> Then he said: "Son of dust, I am sending you to the people of Israel with my messages. <sup>5</sup> I am not sending you to some far-off foreign land where you can't understand the language—<sup>6</sup> no, not to tribes with strange, difficult tongues. (If I did, they would listen!) <sup>7</sup> I am sending you to the people of Israel, and they won't listen to you any more than they listened to me! For the whole lot of them are hard, impudent and stubborn. <sup>8</sup> But see, I have made you hard and stubborn too—as tough as they are. <sup>9</sup> I have made your forehead as hard as rock. So don't be afraid of them, or fear their sullen, angry looks, even though they are such rebels."

<sup>10</sup> Then he added: "Son of dust, let all my words sink deep into your own heart first; listen to them carefully for yourself. <sup>11</sup> Then, afterward, go to your people in exile, and whether or not they will listen, tell them: This is what the Lord God says!"

<sup>12</sup> Then the Spirit lifted me up and the glory of the Lord began to move away, accompanied by the sound of a great earthquake.<sup>a</sup> <sup>13</sup> It was the noise of the wings of the living beings as they touched against each other, and the sound of their wheels beside them.

<sup>14</sup> The Spirit lifted me up and took me away to Tel Abib, another colony of Jewish exiles beside the Chebar River. I went in bitterness and anger,<sup>b</sup> but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me. And I sat among them, overwhelmed, for seven days.

<sup>16</sup> "Son of dust, I have appointed you as a watchman for Israel; whenever I send my people a warning, pass it on to them at once. <sup>17</sup> If you refuse to warn the wicked when I want you to tell them, You are under the penalty of death, therefore repent and save your life—they will die in their sins, but I will punish you. I will demand your blood for theirs. <sup>18</sup> But if you warn them and they keep on sinning, and refuse to repent, they will die in their sins, but you are blameless—you have done all you could.

<sup>19</sup> And if a good man becomes bad, and you refuse to warn him of the consequences, and the Lord destroys him, his previous good deeds won't help him—he shall die in his sin. But I will hold you responsible for his death, and punish you. <sup>20</sup> But if you warn him and he repents, he shall live and you have saved your own life too."

<sup>21</sup> I was helpless in the hand of God, and when he said to me, "Go out into the valley and I will talk to you there"—<sup>22</sup> I arose and went, and oh, I saw the glory of the Lord there, just as in my first vision! And I fell to the ground on my face.

me and set me on my feet. He talked to me and said: "Go, imprison yourself in your house,<sup>25</sup> and I will paralyze<sup>c</sup> you so you can't leave;<sup>26</sup> and I will make your tongue stick to the roof of your mouth so that you can't reprove them; for they are rebels.<sup>27</sup> But whenever I give you a message, then I will loosen your tongue and let you speak, and you shall say to them: The Lord God says, Let anyone listen who wants to, and let anyone refuse who wants to, for they are rebels.

4 "AND NOW, SON of dust, take a large brick and lay it before you and draw a map of the city of Jerusalem on it. Draw a picture of siege mounds being built against the city, and enemy camps around it, and battering rams surrounding the walls.<sup>3</sup> And put an iron plate between you and the city, like a wall of iron. Demonstrate how an enemy army will capture Jerusalem!

"There is special meaning in each detail of what I have told you to do. For it is a warning to the people of Israel.

Jerusalem; lie there with your arm bared [to signify great strength and power in the attack against her<sup>b</sup>]. This will prophesy her doom.<sup>8</sup> And I will paralyze<sup>c</sup> you so that you can't turn over from one side to the other until you have completed all the days of your siege.

<sup>14</sup> Then I said, "O Lord God, must I be defiled by using dung? For I have never been defiled before in all my life. From the time I was a child until now I have never eaten any animal that died of sickness or that I found injured or dead; and I have never eaten any of the kinds of animals our law forbids."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>16</sup> Then he told me, "Son of dust, bread will be tightly rationed in Jerusalem. It will be weighed out with great care and eaten fearfully. And the water will be portioned out in driblets, and the people will drink it with dismay. <sup>17</sup> I will cause the people to lack both bread and water, and to look at one another in frantic terror, and to waste away beneath their punishment.

5 "SON OF DUST, take a sharp sword and use it as a barber's razor to shave your head and beard; use balances to weigh the hair into three equal parts. <sup>2</sup> Place a third of it at the center of your map of Jerusalem. After your siege, burn it there. Scatter another third across your map and slash at it with a knife. Scatter the last third to the wind, for I will chase my people with the sword. <sup>3</sup> Keep just a bit of the hair and tie it up in your robe; <sup>4</sup> then take a few hairs out and throw them into the fire, for a fire shall come from this remnant and destroy all Israel."

<sup>5,6,7</sup> The Lord God says, "This illustrates what will happen to Jerusalem, for she has turned away from my laws and has been even more wicked than the nations surrounding her." <sup>8</sup> Therefore the Lord God says, I, even I, am against you and will punish you publicly while all the nations watch. <sup>9</sup> Because of the terrible sins you have committed, I will punish you more terribly than I have ever done before or will ever do again. <sup>10</sup> Fathers will eat their own sons, and sons will eat their fathers; and those who survive will be scattered into all the world.

<sup>11</sup> "For I promise you: Because you have defiled my Temple with idols and evil sacrifices, therefore I will not spare you nor pity you at all. <sup>12</sup> One-third of you will die from famine and disease; one-third will be slaughtered by the enemy; and one-third I will scatter to the winds, sending the sword of the enemy chasing after you. <sup>13</sup> Then at last my anger will be appeased. And all Israel will know that what I threaten, I do.

<sup>14</sup> "So I will make a public example of you before all the surrounding nations and before everyone traveling past the ruins of your land. <sup>15</sup> You will become a laughingstock to the world and an awesome example to everyone, for all to see what happens when the Lord turns against an entire nation in furious rebuke. I, the Lord, have spoken it!

<sup>16</sup> "I will shower you with deadly arrows of famine to destroy you. The famine will become more and more serious until every bit of bread is gone. <sup>17</sup> And not only famine will come, but wild animals will attack you and kill you and your families; disease and war will stalk your land, and the sword of the enemy will slay you; I, the Lord, have spoken it!"

6 AGAIN A MESSAGE came from the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, look over toward the mountains of Israel and prophesy against them. <sup>3</sup> Say to them, O mountains of Israel, hear the message of the Lord God against you and against the rivers and valleys. I, even I the Lord, will bring war upon you to destroy your idols. <sup>4-7</sup> All your cities will be smashed and burned, and the idol altars abandoned. Your gods will be shattered; the bones of their worshipers will lie scattered among the altars. Then at last you will know I am the Lord.

<sup>8</sup> "But I will let a few of my people escape—to be scattered among the nations of the world. <sup>9</sup> Then when they are exiled among the nations, they will remember me, for I will take away their adulterous hearts—their love of idols—and I will blind their lecherous eyes that long for other gods. Then at last they will loathe themselves for all this wickedness. <sup>10</sup> They will realize that I alone am God, and that I wasn't fooling when I told them that all this would happen to them.

<sup>11</sup> "The Lord God says: Raise your hands in horror and shake your head<sup>a</sup> with deep remorse and say, Alas for all the evil we have done! For you are going to perish from war and famine and disease.

<sup>12</sup> Disease will strike down those in exile; war will destroy those in the land of Israel; and any who remain will die by famine and siege. So at last I will expend my fury on you.

<sup>13</sup> When your slain lie scattered among your idols and altars on every hill and mountain and under every green tree and great oak where they offered incense to their gods—you will realize that I alone am God. <sup>14</sup> I will crush you and make your cities desolate from the wilderness in the south to Riblah in the north. Then you will know I am the Lord."

7 THIS FURTHER MESSAGE came to me from God:

remains, for I will loose my anger on you for your worshiping of idols. <sup>4</sup> I will turn my eyes away and show no pity; I will repay you in full, and you shall know I am the Lord."

<sup>5,6</sup> The Lord God says: "With one blow after another I will finish you. The end has come; your final doom is waiting. <sup>7</sup> O Israel, the day of your damnation dawns; the time has come; the day of trouble nears. It is a day of shouts of anguish, not shouts of joy! <sup>8,9</sup> Soon I will pour out my fury and let it finish its work of punishing you for all your evil deeds. I will not spare nor pity you, and you will know that I, the Lord, am doing it. <sup>10,11</sup> The day of judgment has come; the morning dawns, for your wickedness and pride have run their course and reached their climax—none of these rich and wicked men of pride shall live. All your boasting will die away, and no one will be left to bewail your fate.

<sup>12</sup> "Yes, the time has come; the day draws near. There will be nothing to buy or sell, for the wrath of God is on the land. <sup>13</sup> And even if a merchant lives, his business will be gone, for God has spoken against all the people of Israel; all will be destroyed. Not one of those whose lives are filled with sin will recover.

<sup>14</sup> "The trumpets shout to Israel's army, 'Mobilize!' but no one listens, for my wrath is on them all. <sup>15</sup> If you go outside the walls, there stands the enemy to kill you. If you stay inside, famine and disease will devour you. <sup>16</sup> Any who escape will be lonely as mourning doves hiding on the mountains, each weeping for his sins. <sup>17</sup> All hands shall be feeble, and all knees as weak as water. <sup>18</sup> You shall clothe yourselves with sackcloth, and horror and shame shall cover you; you shall shave your heads in sorrow and remorse.

<sup>19</sup> "Throw away your money! Toss it out like worthless rubbish, for it will have no value in that day of wrath. It will neither satisfy nor feed you, for your love of money is the reason for your sin. <sup>20</sup> I gave you gold to use in decorating the Temple, and you used it instead to make idols! Therefore I will take it all away from you. <sup>21</sup> I will give it to foreigners and to wicked men as booty. They shall defile my Temple. <sup>22</sup> I will not look when they defile it, nor will I stop them. Like robbers, they will loot the treasures and leave the Temple in ruins.

<sup>23</sup> "Prepare chains for my people, for the land is full of bloody crimes. Jerusalem is filled with violence, so I will enslave her people. <sup>24</sup> I will crush your pride by bringing to Jerusalem the worst of the nations to occupy your homes, break down your fortifications you are so proud of, and defile your Temple. <sup>25</sup> For the time has come for the cutting off of Israel. You will sue for peace, but you won't get it. <sup>26,27</sup> Calamity upon calamity will befall you; woe upon woe, disaster upon disaster! You will long for a prophet to guide you, but the priests and elders and the kings and princes will stand helpless, weeping in despair. The people will tremble with fear, for I will do to them the evil they have done, and give them all their just deserts. They shall learn that I am the Lord."

<sup>8</sup> THEN, LATE IN August of the sixth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity,<sup>a</sup> as I was talking with the elders of Judah in my home, the power of the Lord God fell upon me. <sup>2</sup> I saw what appeared to be a Man; from his waist down, he was made of fire; from his waist up, he was all amber-colored brightness. <sup>3</sup> He put out what seemed to be a hand and took me by the hair. And the Spirit lifted me up into the sky and seemed to transport me to Jerusalem, to the entrance of the north gate, where the large idol was that had made the Lord so angry. <sup>4</sup> Suddenly the glory of the God of Israel was there, just as I had seen it before in the valley.

<sup>5</sup> He said to me, "Son of dust, look toward the north." So I looked and, sure enough, north of the altar gate, in the entrance, stood the idol.

<sup>6</sup> And he said: "Son of dust, do you see what they are doing? Do you see what great sins the people of Israel are doing here, to push me from my Temple? But come, and I will show you greater sins than these!"

<sup>7</sup> Then he brought me to the door of the Temple court, where I made out an opening in the wall.

<sup>8</sup> "Now dig into the wall," he said. I did, and uncovered a door to a hidden room.

<sup>9</sup> "Go on in," he said, "and see the wickedness going on in there!"

<sup>10</sup> So I went in. The walls were covered with pictures of all kinds of snakes, lizards and hideous creatures, besides all the various idols worshiped by the people of Israel.

standing there along with Jazaniah (son of Shaphan) worshipping the pictures. Each of them held a censer of burning incense, so there was a thick cloud of smoke above their heads.

<sup>12</sup> Then the Lord said to me: "Son of dust, have you seen what the elders of Israel are doing in their minds? For they say, 'The Lord doesn't see us; he has gone away!'" <sup>13</sup> Then he added, "Come, and I will show you greater sins than these!"

<sup>14</sup> He brought me to the north gate of the Temple, and there sat women weeping for Tammuz,<sup>b</sup> their god.

<sup>16</sup> Then he brought me into the inner court of the Temple and there at the door, between the porch and the bronze altar, were about twenty-five men standing with their backs to the Temple of the Lord, facing east, worshipping the sun!

<sup>17</sup> "Have you seen this?" he asked. "Is it nothing to the people of Judah that they commit these terrible sins, leading the whole nation into idolatry, thumbing their noses at me and arousing my fury against them? Therefore I will deal with them in fury. I will neither pity nor spare. And though they scream for mercy, I will not listen."

9 THEN HE THUNDERED, "Call those to whom I have given the city! Tell them to bring their weapons with them!"

And the Lord called to the man with the writer's case, <sup>4</sup> and said to him, "Walk through the streets of Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of the men who weep and sigh because of all the sins they see around them."

<sup>5</sup> Then I heard the Lord tell the other men: "Follow him through the city and kill everyone whose forehead isn't marked. Spare not nor pity them—'kill them all—old and young, girls, women and little children; but don't touch anyone with the mark. And begin right here at the Temple." And so they began by killing the seventy elders.

<sup>6</sup> And he said, "Defile the Temple! Fill its courts with the bodies of those you kill! Go!" And they went out through the city and did as they were told.

<sup>7</sup> While they were fulfilling their orders, I was alone. I fell to the ground on my face and cried out: "O Lord God! Will your fury against Jerusalem wipe out everyone left in Israel?"

<sup>8</sup> But he said to me, "The sins of the people of Israel and Judah are very great and all the land is full of murder and injustice, for they say, 'The Lord doesn't see it! He has gone away!' <sup>10</sup> And so I will not spare them nor have any pity on them, and I will fully repay them for all that they have done."

<sup>11</sup> Just then the man in linen clothing, carrying the writer's case, reported back and said, "I have finished the work you gave me to do."

<sup>1</sup> Then the Lord spoke to the man in linen clothing and said: "Go in between the whirling wheels beneath the cherubim and take a handful of glowing coals and scatter them over the city."

He did so while I watched. <sup>2</sup> The cherubim were standing at the south end of the Temple when the man went in. And the cloud of glory filled the inner court. <sup>3</sup> Then the glory of the Lord rose from above the cherubim and went over to the door of the Temple. The Temple was filled with the cloud of glory, and the court of the Temple was filled with the brightness of the glory of the Lord. <sup>4</sup> And the sound of the wings of the cherubim was as the voice of Almighty God when he speaks and could be heard clear out in the outer court.

man went in and stood beside one of the wheels, <sup>7,8</sup> and one of the cherubim reached out his hand (for each cherub had, beneath his wings, what looked like human hands) and took some live coals from the flames between the cherubim and put them into the hands of the man in linen clothes, who took them and went out.

<sup>9-12</sup> Each of the four cherubim had a wheel beside him—"The Whirl-Wheels," as I heard them called, for each one had a second wheel crosswise within, sparkled like chrysolite, giving off a greenish-yellow glow. Because of the construction of these wheels,<sup>b</sup> the cherubim could go straight forward in each of four directions; they did not turn when they changed direction but could go in any of the four ways their faces looked. Each of the four wheels was covered with eyes, including the rims and spokes. <sup>14</sup> Each of the four cherubim had four faces—the first was that of an ox;<sup>c</sup> the second, a man's; the third, a lion's; and the fourth, an eagle's.

<sup>15,16</sup> These were the same beings I had seen beside the Chebar Canal, and when they rose into the air the wheels rose with them, and stayed beside them as they flew. <sup>17</sup> When the cherubim stood still, so did the wheels, for the spirit<sup>d</sup> of the cherubim was in the wheels.

to the east gate of the Temple. And the glory of the God of Israel was above them.

<sup>20</sup> These were the living beings I had seen beneath the God of Israel beside the Chebar Canal. I knew they were the same, <sup>21</sup> for each had four faces and four wings, with what looked like human hands under their wings. <sup>22</sup> Their faces too were identical to the faces of those I had seen at the Canal, and they traveled straight ahead, just as the others did.

11 THEN THE SPIRIT lifted me and brought me over to the east gate of the Temple, where I saw twenty-five of the most prominent men of the city, including two officers, Ja-azaniah (son of Azzur) and Pelatiah (son of Benaiah).

Then the Spirit said to me, "Son of dust, these are the men who are responsible for all of the wicked counsel being given out in this city. <sup>3</sup> For they say to the people, 'It is time to rebuild Jerusalem, for our city is an iron shield and will protect us from all harm.' <sup>4</sup> Therefore, son of dust, prophesy against them loudly and clearly."

<sup>5</sup> Then the Spirit of the Lord came upon me and told me to say: "The Lord says to the people of Israel: Is that what you are saying? Yes, I know it is, for I know everything you think—every thought that comes into your minds. <sup>6</sup> You have murdered endlessly and filled your streets with the dead.

No, it isn't! It will not protect you. Your slain will lie within it, but you will be dragged out and slaughtered. <sup>8</sup> I will expose you to the war you have so greatly feared, says the Lord God, <sup>9</sup> and I will take you from Jerusalem and hand you over to foreigners who will carry out my judgments against you. <sup>10</sup> You will be slaughtered all the way to the borders of Israel, and you will know I am the Lord. <sup>11</sup> No, this city will not be an iron shield for you, and you safe within. I will chase you even to the borders of Israel, <sup>12</sup> and you will know I am the Lord—you who have not obeyed me, but rather have copied the nations all around you."

<sup>13</sup> While I was still speaking and telling them this, Pelatiah (son of Benaiah) suddenly died. Then I fell to the ground on my face and cried out: "O Lord God, are you going to kill everyone in all Israel?"

<sup>15</sup> "Son of dust, the remnant left in Jerusalem are saying about your brother exiles: 'It is because they were so wicked that the Lord has deported them. Now the Lord has given us their land!'

<sup>16</sup> "But tell the exiles that the Lord God says: Although I have scattered you in the countries of the world, yet I will be a sanctuary to you for the time that you are there, <sup>17</sup> and I will gather you back from the nations where you are scattered and give you the land of Israel again. <sup>18</sup> And when you return you will remove every trace of all this idol worship. <sup>19</sup> I will give you one heart and a new spirit; I will take from you your hearts of stone and give you tender hearts of love for God, <sup>20</sup> so that you can obey my laws and be my people, and I will be your God. <sup>21</sup> But as for those now in Jerusalem,<sup>c</sup> who long for idols, I will repay them fully for their sins," the Lord God says.

<sup>24</sup> Afterwards the Spirit of God carried me back again to Babylon, to the Jews in exile there. And so ended the vision of my visit to Jerusalem. <sup>25</sup> And I told the exiles everything the Lord had shown me.

12 AGAIN A MESSAGE came to me from the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust," he said, "you live among rebels who could know the truth if they wanted to, but they don't want to; they could hear me if they would listen, but they won't, <sup>3</sup> for they are rebels. So now put on a demonstration, to show them what being exiled will be like. Pack whatever you can carry on your back and leave your home—go somewhere else. Go in the daylight so they can see, for perhaps even yet they will consider what this means, even though they are such rebels. <sup>4</sup> Bring your baggage outside your house during the daylight so they can watch. Then leave the house at night, just as captives do when they begin their long march to distant lands. <sup>5</sup> Dig a tunnel through the city wall while they are observing and carry your possessions out through the hole. <sup>6</sup> As they watch, lift your pack to your shoulders and walk away into the night; muffle your face and don't gaze around. All this is a sign to the people of Israel of the evil that will come upon Jerusalem."

<sup>7</sup> So I did as I was told. I brought my pack outside in the daylight—all I could take into exile—and in the evening I dug through the wall with my hands. I went out into the darkness with my pack on my shoulder while the people looked on. <sup>8</sup> The next morning this message came to me from the Lord:

<sup>9</sup> "Son of dust, these rebels, the people of Israel, have asked what all this means. <sup>10</sup> Tell them the Lord God says it is a message to King Zedekiah<sup>a</sup> in Jerusalem and to all the people of Israel. <sup>11</sup> Explain that what you did was a demonstration of what is going to happen to them, for they shall be driven out of their homes and sent away into exile.

<sup>12</sup> "Even King Zedekiah shall go out at night through a hole in the wall, taking only what he can carry with him, with muffled face, for he won't be able to see.<sup>b</sup> <sup>13</sup> I will capture him in my net and bring him to Babylon, the land of the Chaldeans; but he shall not see it,<sup>b</sup> and he shall die there. <sup>14</sup> I will scatter his servants and guards to the four winds and send the sword after them. <sup>15</sup> And when I scatter them among the nations, then they shall know I am the Lord. <sup>16</sup> But I will spare a few of them from death by war and famine and disease. I will save them to confess to the nations how wicked they have been, and they shall know I am the Lord."

<sup>18</sup> "Son of dust, tremble as you eat your meals; ration out your water as though it were your last, <sup>19</sup> and say to the people, the Lord God says that the people of Israel and Jerusalem shall ration their food with utmost care and sip their tiny portions of water in utter despair because of all their sins. <sup>20</sup> Your cities shall be destroyed and your farmlands deserted, and you shall know I am the Lord."

<sup>22</sup> "Son of dust, what is that proverb they quote in Israel—'The days as they pass make liars out of every prophet.' <sup>23</sup> The Lord God says, I will put an end to this proverb and they will soon stop saying it. Give them this one instead: 'The time has come for all these prophecies to be fulfilled.'"

<sup>24</sup> "Then you will see what becomes of all the false predictions of safety and security for Jerusalem. <sup>25</sup> For I am the Lord! What I threaten always happens. There will be no more delays, O rebels of Israel! I will do it in your own lifetime!" says the Lord God.

true for a long, long time.' <sup>28</sup> Therefore say to them: 'The Lord God says, All delay has ended! I will do it now!'"

13 THEN THIS MESSAGE came to me:

<sup>29</sup> "Son of dust, prophesy against the false prophets of Israel who are inventing their own visions and claiming to have messages from me when I have never told them anything at all. Woe upon them!"

<sup>30</sup> "O Israel, these 'prophets' of yours are as useless as foxes for rebuilding your walls! <sup>31</sup> O evil prophets, what have you ever done to strengthen the walls of Israel against her enemies—by strengthening Israel in the Lord? <sup>32</sup> Instead you have lied when you said, 'My message is from God!' God did not send you. And yet you expect him to fulfill your prophecies. <sup>33</sup> Can you deny that you have claimed to see 'visions' you never saw, and that you have said, 'This message is from God,' when I never spoke to you at all?"

<sup>34</sup> "Therefore the Lord God says: I will destroy you for these 'visions' and lies. <sup>35</sup> My hand shall be against you, and you shall be cut off from among the leaders of Israel; I will blot out your names and you will never see your own country again. And you shall know I am the Lord. <sup>36</sup> For these evil men deceive my people by saying, 'God will send peace,' when that is not my plan at all! My people build a flimsy wall and these prophets praise them for it—and cover it with whitewash!"

stones and mighty winds will knock it down.<sup>12</sup> And when the wall falls, the people will cry out, 'Why didn't you tell us that it wasn't good enough? Why did you whitewash it and cover up its faults?'<sup>13</sup> Yes, it will surely fall. The Lord God says: I will sweep it away with a storm of indignation and with a great flood of anger and with hailstones of wrath.<sup>14</sup> I will break down your whitewashed wall, and it will fall on you and crush you, and you shall know I am the Lord.<sup>15</sup> Then at last my wrath against the wall will be completed; and concerning those who praised it, I will say: The wall and its builders both are gone.<sup>16</sup> For they were lying prophets, claiming Jerusalem will have peace when there is no peace, says the Lord God.

<sup>17</sup> "Son of dust, speak out against the women prophets too who pretend the Lord has given them his messages.<sup>18</sup> Tell them the Lord God says: Woe to these women who are damning the souls of my people, of both young and old alike, by tying magic charms on their wrists and furnishing them with magic veils and selling them indulgences. They refuse to even offer help unless they get a profit from it.<sup>19</sup> For the sake of a few paltry handfuls of barley or a piece of bread will you turn away my people from me? You have led those to death who should not die! And you have promised life to those who should not live, by lying to my people—and how they love it!

people's souls with all your magic charms. I will tear off the charms and set my people free like birds from cages.<sup>21</sup> I will tear off the magic veils and save my people from you; they will no longer be your victims, and you shall know I am the Lord.<sup>22</sup> Your lies have discouraged the righteous, when I didn't want it so. And you have encouraged the wicked by promising life, though they continue in their sins.<sup>23</sup> But you will lie no more; no longer will you talk of seeing 'visions' that you never saw, nor practice your magic, for I will deliver my people out of your hands by destroying you, and you shall know I am the Lord."

14 THEN SOME OF the elders of Israel visited me, to ask me for a message from the Lord,<sup>2</sup> and this is the message that came to me to give to them:

<sup>3</sup> "Son of dust, these men worship idols in their hearts—should I let them ask me anything? 'Tell them, the Lord God says: I the Lord will personally deal with anyone in Israel who worships idols and then comes to ask my help.<sup>4</sup> For I will punish the minds and hearts of those who turn from me to idols.

<sup>6,7</sup> "Therefore warn them that the Lord God says: Repent and destroy your idols, and stop worshipping them in your hearts. I the Lord will personally punish everyone, whether people of Israel or the foreigners living among you, who rejects me for idols, and then comes to a prophet to ask for my help and a Literally, "Will you hunt the souls of my people and save your own souls alive?"

advice. <sup>1</sup> I will turn upon him and make a terrible example of him, destroying him; and you shall know I am the Lord. <sup>2</sup> And if one of the false prophets gives him a message anyway, it is a lie. His prophecy will not come true, and I will stand against that 'prophet' and destroy him from among my people Israel. <sup>3</sup> False prophets and hypocrites—evil people who say they want my words—all will be punished for their sins, <sup>4</sup> so that the people of Israel will learn not to desert me and not to be polluted any longer with sin, but to be my people and I their God. So says the Lord."

<sup>6</sup> "Son of dust, when the people of this land sin against me, then I will crush them with my fist and break off their food supply and send famine to destroy both man and beast. <sup>7</sup> If Noah, Daniel and Job were here today, they alone would be saved by their righteousness, and I would destroy the remainder of Israel, says the Lord God.

<sup>8</sup> "When I send an invasion of dangerous wild animals into the land to devastate the land, <sup>9</sup> even if these three men were here, the Lord God swears that it would do no good—it would not save the people from their doom. Those three only would be saved, but the land would be devastated.

<sup>10</sup> "Or when I bring war against that land and tell the armies of the enemy to come and destroy everything, <sup>11</sup> even if these three men were in the land, the Lord God declares that they alone would be saved.

fury by sending an epidemic of disease into the land, and the plague kills man and beast alike, <sup>13</sup> though Noah, Daniel and Job were living there, the Lord God says that only they would be saved, because of their righteousness.

<sup>14</sup> "And the Lord says: Four great punishments await Jerusalem to destroy all life: war, famine, ferocious beasts, plague. <sup>15</sup> If there are survivors and they come here to join you as exiles in Babylon, you will see with your own eyes how wicked they are, and you will know it was right for me to destroy Jerusalem. <sup>16</sup> You will agree, when you meet them, that it is not without cause that all these things are being done to Israel."

15 THEN THIS MESSAGE came to me from the Lord:

"This is what I mean, the Lord God says: The people of Jerusalem are like the vines of the forest—useless before being burned and certainly useless afterwards! <sup>5</sup> And I will set myself against them to see to it that if they escape from one fire, they will fall into another; and then you shall know I am the Lord. <sup>6</sup> And I will make the land desolate because they worship idols," says the Lord God.

16 THEN AGAIN a message came to me from the Lord.

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust," he said, "speak to Jerusalem about her loathsome sins. <sup>3</sup> Tell her, the Lord God says: You are no better than the people of Canaan—your father must have been an Amorite and your mother a Hittite!<sup>a</sup> <sup>4</sup> When you were born, no one cared for you. When I first saw you, your umbilical cord was uncut, and you had been neither washed nor rubbed with salt nor clothed. <sup>5</sup> No one had the slightest interest in you; no one pitied you or cared for you. On that day when you were born, you were dumped out into a field and left to die, unwanted.

<sup>6,7</sup> "But I came by and saw you there, covered with your own blood, and I said, 'Live! Thrive like a plant in the field!' And you did! You grew up and became tall, slender and supple, a jewel among jewels. And when you reached the age of maidenhood your breasts were full-formed and your pubic hair had grown; yet you were naked.

<sup>8</sup> "Later, when I passed by and saw you again, you were old enough for marriage; and I wrapped my cloak around you to legally declare my marriage vow. I signed a covenant with you, and you became mine. <sup>9,10</sup> Then, when the marriage had taken place, I gave you beautiful clothes of linens and silk, embroidered, and sandals made of dolphin hide. <sup>11</sup> I gave you lovely ornaments, bracelets and beautiful necklaces, <sup>12</sup> a ring for your nose and two more for your ears, and a lovely tiara for your head. <sup>13</sup> And so you were made beautiful with gold and silver, and your clothes were silk and linen and beautifully embroidered. You ate the finest foods and became more beautiful than ever. You looked like a queen, and so you were! <sup>14</sup> Your reputation was great among the nations for your beauty; it was perfect because of all the gifts I gave you, says the Lord God.

<sup>15</sup> "But you thought you could get along without me—you trusted in your beauty instead; and you gave yourself as a prostitute to every man who came along. Your beauty was his for the asking. <sup>16</sup> You used the lovely things I gave you for making idol shrines and to decorate your bed of prostitution. Unbelievable! There has never been anything like it before! <sup>17</sup> You took the very jewels and gold and silver ornaments I gave to you and made statues of men and worshiped them, which is adultery against me. <sup>18</sup> You used the beautifully embroidered clothes I gave you—to cover your idols! And used my oil and incense to worship them! <sup>19</sup> You set before them—imagine it!—the fine flour and oil and honey I gave you; you used it as a lovely sacrifice to them! <sup>20</sup> And you took my sons and daughters you had borne to me, and sacrificed them to your gods; and they are gone. Wasn't it enough that you should be a prostitute? <sup>21</sup> Must you also slay my children in the fires of strange altars?

<sup>22</sup> "And in all these years of adultery and sin you have not thought of those days long ago when you were naked and covered

<sup>23</sup> "And then, in addition to all your other wickedness—woe, woe upon you, says the Lord God—<sup>24</sup> you built a spacious brothel for your lovers, and idol altars on every street, <sup>25</sup> and there you offered your beauty to every man who came by, in an endless stream of prostitution. <sup>26</sup> And you added lustful Egypt to your prostitutions by your alliance with her. My anger is great.

<sup>27</sup> "Therefore I have crushed you with my fist; I have reduced your boundaries and delivered you into the hands of those who hate you—the Philistines—and even they are ashamed of you.

<sup>28</sup> "You have committed adultery with the Assyrians too [by making them your allies and worshipping their gods<sup>b</sup>]; it seems that you can never find enough new gods. After your adultery there, you still weren't satisfied, <sup>29</sup> so you worshiped the gods of that great merchant land of Babylon—and you still weren't satisfied. <sup>30</sup> What a filthy heart you have, says the Lord God, to do such things as these; you are a brazen prostitute, <sup>31</sup> building your idol altars, your brothels, on every street. You have been worse than a prostitute, so eager for sin that you have not even charged for your love! <sup>32</sup> Yes, you are an adulterous wife who lives with other men instead of her own husband. <sup>33,34</sup> Prostitutes charge for their services—men pay with many gifts. But not you, you give them gifts, bribing them to come to you! So you are different from other prostitutes. But you had to pay them, for no one wanted you.

<sup>36</sup> "The Lord God says: Because I see your filthy sins, your adultery with your lovers—your worshipping of idols—and the slaying of your children as sacrifices to your gods, <sup>37</sup> this is what I am going to do: I will gather together all your allies—these lovers of yours you have sinned with, both those you loved and those you hated—and I will make you naked before them, that they may see you. <sup>38</sup> I will punish you as a murderess is punished and as a woman breaking wedlock living with other men. <sup>39</sup> I will give you to your lovers—these many nations—to destroy, and they will knock down your brothels and idol altars, and strip you and take your beautiful jewels and leave you naked and ashamed. <sup>40,41</sup> They will burn your homes, punishing you before the eyes of many women. And I will see to it that you stop your adulteries with other gods and end your payments to your allies for their love.

<sup>42</sup> "Then at last my fury against you will die away; my jealousy against you will end, and I will be quiet and not be angry with you anymore. <sup>43</sup> But first, because you have not remembered your youth, but have angered me by all these evil things you do, I will fully repay you for all of your sins, says the Lord. For you are thankless in addition to all your other faults.

her husband and her children, and you do too. And you are exactly like your sisters, for they despised their husbands and their children. Truly, your mother must have been a Hittite and your father an Amorite.

<sup>44</sup> "Your older sister is Samaria, living with her daughters north of you; your younger sister is Sodom and her daughters, in the south. <sup>45</sup> You have not merely sinned as they do—no, that was nothing to you; in a very short time you far surpassed them.

<sup>49</sup> "Even Samaria has not committed half your sins. You have worshiped idols far more than your sisters have; they seem almost righteous in comparison with you! <sup>50</sup> Don't be surprised then by the lighter punishment they get. For your sins are so awful that in comparison with you, your sisters seem innocent! <sup>51</sup> (But someday I will restore the fortunes of Sodom and Samaria again, and those of Judah too.) <sup>52</sup> Your terrible punishment will be a consolation to them, for it will be greater than theirs.

<sup>53</sup> "Yes, your sisters, Sodom and Samaria, and all their people will be restored again, and Judah too will prosper in that day. <sup>54</sup> In your proud days you held Sodom in unspeakable contempt. <sup>55</sup> But now your greater wickedness has been exposed to all the world, and you are the one who is scorned—by Edom and all her neighbors and by all the Philistines. <sup>56</sup> This is part of your punishment for all your sins, says the Lord.

<sup>57, 58</sup> "For the Lord God says: I will repay you for your broken promises. You lightly broke your solemn vows to me, yet I will keep the pledge I made to you when you were young. I will establish an everlasting covenant with you forever, <sup>59</sup> and you will remember with shame all the evil you have done; and you will be overcome by my favor when I take your sisters, Samaria and Sodom, and make them your daughters, for you to rule over. You will know you don't deserve this gracious act, for you did not keep my covenant. <sup>60</sup> I will reaffirm my covenant with you, and you will know I am the Lord. <sup>61</sup> Despite all you have done, I will be kind to you again; you will cover your mouth in silence and in shame when I forgive you all that you have done, says the Lord God."

a broad river, where it would grow as quickly as a willow tree. <sup>6</sup> It took root and grew and became a low but spreading vine that turned toward the eagle and produced strong branches and luxuriant leaves. <sup>7</sup> But when another great, broad-winged, full-feathered eagle came along, this tree sent its roots and branches out toward him instead, <sup>8</sup> even though it was already in good soil with plenty of water to become a splendid vine, producing leaves and fruit.

<sup>9</sup> "The Lord God asks: Shall I let this tree grow and prosper? No! I will pull it out, roots and all! I will cut off its branches and let its leaves wither and die. It will pull out easily enough—it won't take a big crew or a lot of equipment to do that. <sup>10</sup> Though the vine began so well, will it thrive? No, it will wither away completely when the east wind touches it, dying in the same choice soil where it had grown so well."

<sup>12,13</sup> "Ask these rebels of Israel: Don't you understand what this riddle of the eagles means? I will tell you. Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon [the first of the two eagles<sup>b</sup>], came to Jerusalem and took away her king and princes [her topmost buds and shoots<sup>b</sup>] and brought them to Babylon. Nebuchadnezzar made a covenant with a member of the royal family [Zedekiah<sup>b</sup>], and made him take an oath of loyalty. He took a seedling and planted it in fertile ground beside a broad river and he exiled the top men of Israel's government, <sup>14</sup> so that Israel would not be strong again and revolt. But by keeping her promises, Israel could be respected and maintain her identity.

<sup>15</sup> "Nevertheless, Zedekiah rebelled against Babylon, sending ambassadors to Egypt to seek for a great army and many horses to fight against Nebuchadnezzar. But will Israel prosper after breaking all her promises like that? Will she succeed? <sup>16</sup> No! For as I live, says the Lord, the king of Israel shall die. (Nebuchadnezzar will pull out the tree, roots and all!) Zedekiah<sup>b</sup> shall die in Babylon, where the king lives who gave him his power, and whose covenant he despised and broke. <sup>17</sup> Pharaoh and all his mighty army shall fail to help Israel when the king of Babylon lays siege to Jerusalem again and slaughters many lives. <sup>18</sup> For the king of Israel broke his promise after swearing to obey; therefore he shall not escape.

<sup>19</sup> "The Lord God says: As I live, surely I will punish him for despising the solemn oath he made in my name. <sup>20</sup> I will throw my net over him and he shall be captured in my snare, and I will bring him to Babylon and deal with him there for this treason against me. <sup>21</sup> And all the best soldiers of Israel will be killed by the sword, and those remaining in the city will be scattered to the four winds. Then you will know that I, the Lord, have spoken these words.

<sup>22,23</sup> "The Lord God says: I, myself, will take the finest and most tender twig from the top of the highest cedar, and I, myself, will plant it on the top of Israel's highest mountain. It shall become a noble cedar, bringing forth branches and bearing fruit. Animals of every sort will gather under it; its branches will shelter every kind of bird. <sup>24</sup> And everyone shall know that it is I, the Lord, who cuts down the high trees and exalts the low, that I make the green tree wither and the dry tree grow. I, the Lord, have said that I would do it, and I will."

18 THEN THE LORD'S message came to me again.

is a robber or murderer and who fulfills none of his responsibilities, <sup>11</sup> who refuses to obey the laws of God, but worships idols on the mountains and commits adultery, <sup>12</sup> and oppresses the poor and needy, and robs his debtors by refusing to let them redeem what they have given him in pledge, and loves idols and worships them, <sup>13</sup> and loans out his money at interest<sup>c</sup>—shall that man live? No! He shall surely die, and it is his own fault.

<sup>14</sup> "But if this sinful man has, in turn, a son who sees all his father's wickedness, so that he fears God and decides against that kind of life, <sup>15</sup> and doesn't go up on the mountains to feast before the idols and worship them, and does not commit adultery, <sup>16</sup> and is fair to those who borrow from him and doesn't rob them, but feeds the hungry and clothes the needy, <sup>17</sup> and helps the poor and does not loan money at interest,<sup>c</sup> and obeys my laws—he shall not die because of his father's sins; he shall surely live. <sup>18</sup> But his father shall die for his own sins because he is cruel and robs and does wrong.

person turns away from all his sins and begins to obey my laws and do what is just and right, he shall surely live and not die. <sup>22</sup> All his past sins will be forgotten, and he shall live because of his goodness.

<sup>23</sup> "Do you think I like to see the wicked die? asks the Lord. Of course not! I only want him to turn from his wicked ways and live.

<sup>24</sup> However, if a righteous person turns to sinning and acts like any other sinner, should he be allowed to live? No, of course not. All his previous goodness will be forgotten and he shall die for his sins.

<sup>25</sup> "Yet you say: 'The Lord isn't being fair!' Listen to me, O people of Israel. Am I the one who is unfair, or is it you? <sup>26</sup> When a good man turns away from being good and begins sinning and dies in his sins, he dies for the evil he has done.

<sup>29</sup> "And yet the people of Israel keep saying: 'The Lord is unfair!' O people of Israel, it is you who are unfair, not I. <sup>30</sup> I will judge each of you, O Israel, and punish or reward each according to your own actions. Oh, turn from your sins while there is yet time. <sup>31</sup> Put them behind you and receive a new heart and a new spirit. For why will you die, O Israel? <sup>32</sup> I do not enjoy seeing you die, the Lord God says. Turn, turn and live!

branches were broken and withered by a strong wind from the east; the fruit was destroyed by fire. <sup>13</sup> Now the vine is planted in the wilderness where the ground is hard and dry. <sup>14</sup> It is decaying from within;<sup>b</sup> no strong branch remains. The fulfillment of this sad prophecy has already begun, and there is more ahead."

20 LATE IN JULY, six<sup>a</sup> years after King Jeconiah was captured, some of the elders of Israel came to ask instructions from the Lord, and sat before me awaiting his reply.

<sup>3</sup> "Son of dust, say to the elders of Israel: The Lord God says: How dare you come to ask my help? I swear that I will tell you nothing. <sup>4</sup> Judge them, son of dust; condemn them; tell them of all the sins of this nation from the times of their fathers until now. <sup>5,6</sup> Tell them the Lord God says: When I chose Israel and revealed myself to her in Egypt, I swore to her and her descendants that I would bring them out of Egypt to a land I had discovered and explored for them—a good land, flowing as it were with milk and honey, the best of all lands anywhere.

<sup>7</sup> "Then I said to them: Get rid of every idol; do not defile yourselves with the Egyptian gods, for I am the Lord your God. <sup>8</sup> But they rebelled against me and would not listen. They didn't get rid of their idols, nor forsake the gods of Egypt. Then I thought, I will pour out my fury upon them and fulfill my anger against them while they are still in Egypt.

<sup>9,10</sup> "But I didn't do it, for I acted to protect the honor of my name, lest the Egyptians laugh at Israel's God who couldn't keep them back from harm. So I brought my people out of Egypt right before the Egyptians' eyes, and led them into the wilderness. <sup>11</sup> There I gave them my laws so they could live by keeping them. If anyone keeps them, he shall live. <sup>12</sup> And I gave them the Sabbath—a day of rest every seventh day—as a symbol between them and me, to remind them that it is I, the Lord, who sanctifies them, that they are truly my people.

<sup>13</sup> "But Israel rebelled against me. There in the wilderness they refused my laws. They would not obey my rules even though obeying them means life. And they misused my Sabbaths. Then I thought, I will pour out my fury upon them and utterly consume them in the desert.

<sup>14</sup> "But again I refrained in order to protect the honor of my name, lest the nations who saw me bring them out of Egypt would say that it was because I couldn't care for them that I destroyed them. <sup>15</sup> But I swore to them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land I had given them, a land full of milk and honey, the choicest spot on earth, <sup>16</sup> because they laughed at my laws, ignored my wishes, and violated my Sabbaths—their hearts were with their idols! <sup>17</sup> Nevertheless, I spared them. I didn't finish them off in the wilderness.

<sup>18</sup> "Then I spoke to their children and said: Don't follow your fathers' footsteps. Don't defile yourselves with their idols, <sup>19</sup> for I am the Lord your God. Follow my laws; keep my ordinances; <sup>20</sup> hallow my Sabbaths; for they are a symbol of the contract between us to help you remember that I am the Lord your God.

<sup>21</sup> "But their children too rebelled against me. They refused my laws—the laws that, if a person keeps them, he shall live. And they defiled my Sabbaths. So then I said: Now at last I will pour out my fury upon you in the wilderness.

<sup>22</sup> "Nevertheless, again I withdrew my judgment against them to protect my name among the nations who had seen my power in bringing them out of Egypt. <sup>23,24</sup> But I took a solemn oath against them while they were in the wilderness that I would scatter them, dispersing them to the ends of the earth because they did not obey my laws but scorned them and violated my Sabbaths and longed for their fathers' idols. <sup>25</sup> I let them adopt<sup>b</sup> customs and laws which were worthless. Through the keeping of them they could not attain life. <sup>26</sup> In the hope that they would draw back in horror, and know that I alone am God, I let them pollute themselves with the very gifts I gave them. They burnt their firstborn children as offerings to their gods!

continued to blaspheme and betray me when I brought them into the land I promised them, for they offered sacrifices and incense on every high hill and under every tree! They roused my fury as they offered up their sacrifices to those 'gods.' They brought their perfumes and incense and poured out their drink offerings to them! <sup>29</sup> I said to them: 'What is this place of sacrifice<sup>d</sup> where you go?' And so it is still called 'The Place of Sacrifice'—that is how it got its name.

<sup>30</sup> "The Lord God wants to know whether you are going to pollute yourselves just as your fathers did, and keep on worshiping idols? <sup>31</sup> For when you offer gifts to them and give your little sons to be burned to ashes as you do even today, shall I listen to you or help you, Israel? As I live, the Lord God says, I will not give you any message, though you have come to me to ask.

<sup>32</sup> "What you have in mind will not be done—to be like the nations all around you, serving gods of wood and stone. <sup>33</sup> I will rule you with an iron fist and in great anger and with power. <sup>34</sup> With might and fury I will bring you out from the lands where you are scattered, <sup>35,36</sup> and will bring you into my desert judgment hall.<sup>e</sup> I will judge you there, and get rid of the rebels, just as I did in the wilderness after I brought you out of Egypt. <sup>37</sup> I will count you carefully and let only a small quota return. <sup>38</sup> And the others—the rebels and all those who sin against me—I will purge from among you. They shall not enter Israel, but I will bring them out of the countries where they are in exile. And when that happens, you will know I am the Lord.

“O Israel, the Lord God says: If you insist on worshipping your idols, go right ahead, but then don't bring your gifts to me as well! Such desecration of my holy name must stop!<sup>40</sup> For at Jerusalem in my holy mountain, says the Lord, all Israel shall worship me. There I will accept you, and require you to bring me your offerings and the finest of your gifts. <sup>41</sup> You will be to me as an offering of perfumed incense when I bring you back from exile, and the nations will see the great change in your hearts. <sup>42</sup> Then, when I have brought you home to the land I promised your fathers, you will know I am the Lord. <sup>43</sup> Then you will look back at all your sins and loathe yourselves because of the evil you have done. <sup>44</sup> And when I have honored my name by blessing you despite your wickedness, then, O Israel, you will know I am the Lord.”

“Then this message came to me from the Lord:

“Son of dust, look toward Jerusalem and speak out against it and the forest lands of the Negeb. <sup>1</sup> Prophecy to it and say: Hear the word of the Lord. I will set you on fire, O forest, and every tree will die, green and dry alike. The terrible flames will not be quenched and they will scorch the world. <sup>2</sup> And all the world will see that I, the Lord, have set the fire. It shall not be put out.”

“Then I said, “O Lord God, they say of me, ‘He only talks in riddles!’”

21 THEN THIS MESSAGE came to me from the Lord:

<sup>5</sup> “Sigh and groan before the people, son of dust, in your bitter anguish; sigh with grief and broken heart. <sup>6</sup> When they ask you why, tell them: Because of the fearsome news that God has given me. When it comes true, the boldest heart will melt with fear; all strength will disappear. Every spirit will faint; strong knees will tremble and become as weak as water. And the Lord God says: Your doom is on the way; my judgments will be fulfilled!”

<sup>8,9,10,11</sup> “Son of dust, tell them this: A sword is being sharpened and polished for terrible slaughter. Now will you laugh? For those far stronger than you have perished beneath its power. It is ready now to hand to the executioner. <sup>12</sup> Son of dust, with sobbing, beat upon your thigh, for that sword shall slay my people and all their leaders. All alike shall die. <sup>13</sup> It will put them all to the test—and what chance do they have? the Lord God asks.

make a hill against the walls to reach the top. <sup>23</sup> Jerusalem won't understand this treachery; how could the diviners make this terrible mistake? For Babylon is Judah's ally and has sworn to defend Jerusalem! But (the king of Babylon) will think only of the times the people rebelled. He will attack and defeat them.

<sup>28</sup> "Son of dust, prophesy to the Ammonites too, for they mocked my people in their woe. Tell them this:

"Against you also my glittering sword is drawn from its sheath; it is sharpened and polished and flashes like lightning. <sup>29</sup> Your magicians and false prophets have told you lies of safety and success—that your gods will save you from the king of Babylon. Thus they have caused your death along with all the other wicked, for when the day of

final reckoning has come you will be wounded unto death. <sup>10</sup> Shall I return my sword to its sheath before I deal with you? No, I will destroy you in your own country where you were born. <sup>11</sup> I will pour out my fury upon you and blow upon the fire of my wrath until it becomes a roaring conflagration, and I will deliver you into the hands of cruel men skilled in destruction. <sup>12</sup> You are the fuel for the fire; your blood will be spilled in your own country and you will be utterly wiped out, your memory lost in history. For I, the Lord, have spoken it."

22 NOW ANOTHER MESSAGE came from the Lord. He said: <sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, indict Jerusalem as the City of Murder. Publicly denounce her terrible deeds. <sup>3</sup> City of Murder, doomed and damned—City of Idols, filthy and foul—<sup>4</sup> you are guilty both of murder and idolatry. Now comes your day of doom. You have reached the limit of your years. I will make you a laughing-stock and a reproach to all the nations of the world. <sup>5</sup> Near and far they will mock you, a city of infamous rebels.

<sup>13</sup> "But now I snap my fingers and call a halt to your dishonest gain and bloodshed. <sup>14</sup> How strong and courageous will you be then, in my day of reckoning? For I, the Lord, have spoken, and I will do all that I have said. <sup>15</sup> I will scatter you throughout the world and burn out the wickedness within you. <sup>16</sup> You will be dishonored among the nations, and you shall know I am the Lord."

<sup>17</sup> Then the Lord said this: <sup>18,19,20</sup> "Son of dust, the people of Israel are the worthless slag left when silver is smelted. They are the dross, compounded from the brass, the tin, the iron and the lead. Therefore the Lord God says: Because you are worthless dross, I will bring you to my crucible in Jerusalem, to smelt you with the heat of my wrath. <sup>21</sup> I will blow the fire of my wrath upon you, <sup>22</sup> and you will melt like silver in fierce heat, and you will know that I, the Lord, have poured my wrath upon you."

tion you shall be like an uncleared wilderness, or a desert without rain.

<sup>23</sup> Your 'prophets' have plotted against you like lions stalking prey. They devour many lives; they seize treasures and extort wealth; they multiply the widows in the land.

<sup>24</sup> Your priests have violated my laws and defiled my Temple and my holiness. To them the things of God are no more important than any daily task. They have not taught my people the difference between right and wrong, and they disregard my Sabbaths, so my holy name is greatly defiled among them. <sup>27</sup> Your leaders are like wolves, who tear apart their victims, and they destroy lives for profit. <sup>28</sup> Your 'prophets' describe false visions and speak false messages they claim are from God, when he hasn't spoken one word to them at all. Thus they repair the walls with whitewash!

<sup>30</sup> "I looked in vain for anyone who would build again the wall of righteousness that guards the land, who could stand in the gap and defend you from my just attacks, but I found not one. <sup>31</sup> And so the Lord God says: I will pour out my anger upon you; I will consume you with the fire of my wrath. I have heaped upon you the full penalty for all your sins."

23 THE LORD'S MESSAGE came to me again, saying:

<sup>2,3</sup> "Son of dust, there were two sisters who as young girls became prostitutes in Egypt. <sup>4,5</sup> The older girl was named Oholah; her sister was Oholibah. (I am speaking of Samaria and Jerusalem!) I married them, and they bore me sons and daughters. But then Oholah turned to other gods instead of me, and gave her love to the Assyrians, her neighbors, <sup>6</sup> for they were all attractive young men, captains and commanders, in handsome blue, dashing about on their horses. <sup>7</sup> And so she sinned with them—the choicest men of Assyria—worshipping their idols, defiling herself. <sup>8</sup> For when she left Egypt, she did not leave her spirit of prostitution behind, but was still as lewd as in her youth, when the Egyptians poured out their lusts upon her and robbed her of her virginity.

<sup>9</sup> "And so I delivered her into the evil clutches of the Assyrians whose gods she loved so much. <sup>10</sup> They stripped her and killed her and took away her children as their slaves. Her name was known to every woman in the land as a sinner who had received what she deserved.

<sup>14,15</sup> "She was in fact more debased than Samaria, for she fell in love with pictures she saw a i.e., when Ahaz paid "protection money" to Tiglath-pileser II (2 Kings 16:7, 8).

painted on a wall! They were pictures of Babylonian military officers, outfitted in striking red uniforms, with handsome belts, and flowing turbans on their heads. <sup>16</sup> When she saw these paintings she longed to give herself to the men pictured, so she sent messengers<sup>b</sup> to Chaldea to invite them to come to her. <sup>17</sup> And they came and committed adultery with her, defiling her in the bed of love, but afterward she hated them and broke off all relations with them.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>18</sup> "And I despised her just as I despised her sister, because she flaunted herself before them and gave herself to their lust. <sup>19,20</sup> But that didn't bother her. She turned to even greater prostitution, sinning with the lustful men she remembered from her youth when she was a prostitute in Egypt.<sup>d</sup> <sup>21</sup> And thus you celebrated those former days when as a young girl you gave your virginity to those from Egypt.

<sup>22</sup> "And now the Lord God says that he will raise against you, O Oholibah (Jerusalem), those very nations from which you turned away, disgusted. <sup>23</sup> For the Babylonians will come, and all the Chaldeans from Pekod and Shoa and Koa; and all the Assyrians with them—handsome young men of high rank, riding their steeds. <sup>24</sup> They will come against you from the north with chariots and wagons and a great army fully prepared for attack. They will surround you on every side with armored men and

I will let them at you, to do with you as they wish. <sup>25</sup> And I will send my jealousy against you and deal furiously with you, and cut off your nose and ears; your survivors will be killed; your children will be taken away as slaves, and everything left will be burned. <sup>26</sup> They will strip you of your beautiful clothes and jewels.

<sup>27</sup> "And so I will put a stop to your lewdness and prostitution brought from the land of Egypt; you will no more long for Egypt and her gods. <sup>28</sup> For the Lord God says: I will surely deliver you over to your enemies, to those you loathe. <sup>29</sup> They will deal with you in hatred, and rob you of all that you own, leaving you naked and bare. And the shame of your prostitution shall be exposed to all the world.

<sup>30</sup> "You brought all this upon yourself by worshipping the gods of other nations, defiling yourself with all their idols. <sup>31</sup> You have followed in your sister's footsteps, so I will punish you with the same terrors that destroyed her. <sup>32</sup> Yes, the terrors that fell upon her will fall upon you—and the cup from which she drank was full and large. And all the world will mock you for your woe. <sup>33</sup> You will reel like a drunkard beneath the awful blows of sorrow and distress, just as your sister Samaria did. <sup>34</sup> In deep anguish you will drain that cup of terror to the very bottom and will lick the inside to get every drop. For I have spoken, says the Lord. <sup>35</sup> Because you have forgotten me and turned your backs upon me, therefore you must bear the consequence of all your sin.

<sup>36</sup> "Son of dust, you must accuse Jerusalem and Samaria of all their awful deeds. <sup>37</sup> For they have committed both adultery and murder; they have worshiped idols and murdered my children whom they bore to me, burning them as sacrifices on their altars. <sup>38</sup> On the same day they defiled my Temple and ignored my Sabbaths, <sup>39</sup> for when they had murdered their children in front of their idols, then even that same day they actually came into my Temple to worship! That is how much regard they have for me!

<sup>40</sup> "You even sent away to distant lands for priests to come with other gods for you to serve, and they have come and been welcomed! You bathed yourself, painted your eyelids, and put on your finest jewels for them. <sup>41</sup> You sat together on a beautifully embroidered bed and put my incense and my oil upon a table spread before you. <sup>42</sup> From your apartment came the sound of many men carousing—lewd men and drunkards from the wilderness, who put bracelets on your wrists and beautiful crowns upon your head. <sup>43</sup> Will they commit adultery with these who have become old harlot hags? <sup>44</sup> Yet that is what they did. They went in to them—to Samaria and Jerusalem, these shameless harlots—with all the zest of lustful men who visit prostitutes. <sup>45</sup> But just persons everywhere will judge them for what they really are—adulteresses and murderers. They will mete out to them the sentences the law demands.

24 ONE DAY LATE in December of the ninth year (of King Jehoiachin's captivity), another message came to me from the Lord.

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust," he said, "write down this date, for today the king of Babylon has attacked Jerusalem. <sup>3</sup> And now give this parable to these rebels, Israel; tell them the Lord God says: Put a pot of water on the fire to boil. <sup>4</sup> Fill it with choicest mutton, the rump and shoulder and all the most tender cuts. <sup>5</sup> Use only the best sheep from the flock, and heap fuel on the fire beneath the pot. Boil the meat well, until the flesh falls off the bones.

the rocks in open view for all to see; she does not even try to cover it. <sup>9</sup> And I have left it there, uncovered, to shout to me against her and arouse my wrath and vengeance.

<sup>16</sup> "Son of dust, I am going to take away your lovely wife. Suddenly, she will die. Yet you must show no sorrow. Do not weep; let there be no tears. <sup>17</sup> You may sigh, but only quietly. Let there be no wailing at her grave; don't bare your head nor feet, and don't accept the food brought to you by consoling friends."

<sup>18</sup> I proclaimed this to the people in the morning, and in the evening my wife died. The next morning I did all the Lord had told me to.

<sup>20,21</sup> And I answered, "The Lord told me to say to the people of Israel: I will destroy my lovely, beautiful Temple, the strength of your nation. And your sons and daughters in Judea will be slaughtered by the sword. <sup>22</sup> And you will do as I have done; you may not mourn in public or console yourself by eating the food brought to you by sympathetic friends. <sup>23</sup> Your head and feet shall not be bared; you shall not mourn or weep. But you will sorrow to one another for your sins, and mourn privately for all the evil you have done. <sup>24</sup> Ezekiel is an example to you, the Lord God says. You will do as he has done. And when that time comes, then you will know I am the Lord."

<sup>25</sup> "Son of dust, on the day I finish taking from them in Jerusalem the joy of their hearts and their glory and joys—their wives and their sons and their daughters—<sup>26</sup> on that day a refugee from Jerusalem will start on a journey to come to you in Babylon to tell you what has happened. <sup>27</sup> And on the day of his arrival, your voice will suddenly return to you so that you can talk with him; and you will be a symbol for these people and they shall know I am the Lord."

25 THEN THE LORD'S message came to me again. He said:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, look toward the land of Ammon and prophesy against its people. <sup>3</sup> Tell them: Listen to what the Lord God says. Because you scoffed when my Temple was destroyed, and mocked Israel in her anguish, and laughed at Judah when she was marched away captive; <sup>4</sup> therefore I will let the Bedouins from the desert to the east of you overrun your land. They will set up their encampments among you. They will harvest all your fruit and steal your dairy cattle. <sup>5</sup> And I will turn the city of Rabbah into a pasture for camels and all the country of the Ammonites into a waste land where flocks of sheep can graze. Then you will know I am the Lord.

<sup>6</sup> "For the Lord God says: Because you clapped and stamped and cheered with glee at the destruction of my people, <sup>7</sup> therefore I will lay my hand heavily upon you, delivering you to many nations for devastation. I will cut you off from being a nation any more. I will destroy you; then you shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>8</sup> "And the Lord God says: Because the Moabites have said that Judah is no better off than any other nation, <sup>9,10</sup> therefore I will open up the eastern flank of Moab, wiping out her frontier cities, the glory of the nation—Beth-jeshimoth, Baal-meon and Kiriathaim. And Bedouin tribes from the desert to the east will pour in upon her, just as they will upon Ammon. And Moab will no longer be counted among the nations. <sup>11</sup> Thus I will bring down my judgment upon the Moabites, and they shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>12</sup> "And the Lord God says: Because the people of Edom have sinned so greatly by avenging themselves upon the people of Judah, <sup>13</sup> I will smash Edom with my fist and wipe out her people, her cattle and her flocks. The sword will destroy everything from Teman to Dedan. <sup>14</sup> By the hand of my people, Israel, this shall be done. They will carry out my furious vengeance.

<sup>15</sup> "And the Lord God says: Because the Philistines have acted against Judah out of revenge and long-standing hatred, <sup>16</sup> I will shake my fist over the land of the Philistines, and I will wipe out the Cherithites and utterly destroy those along the sea coast. <sup>17</sup> I will execute terrible vengeance upon them to rebuke them for what they have done. And when all this happens, then they shall know I am the Lord."

26 ANOTHER MESSAGE CAME to me from the Lord on the first day of the month, in the eleventh year (after King Jehoiachin was taken away to captivity).

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, Tyre has rejoiced over the fall of Jerusalem, saying, 'Ha! She who controlled the lucrative north-south trade routes along the coast and along the course of the Jordan River<sup>3</sup> has been broken, and I have fallen heir! Because she has been laid waste, I shall become wealthy!'

a Literally, "the gate of the peoples."

Babylon—the king of kings from the north—against Tyre with a great army and cavalry and chariots. <sup>8</sup> First he will destroy your suburbs; then he will attack your mainland city by building a siege wall and raising a roof of shields against it. <sup>9</sup> He will set up battering rams against your walls and with sledge hammers demolish your forts. <sup>10</sup> The hoofs of his cavalry will choke the city with dust, and your walls will shake as the horses gallop through your broken gates, pulling chariots behind them. <sup>11</sup> Horsemen will occupy every street in the city; they will butcher your people, and your famous, huge pillars will topple.

<sup>12</sup> “They will plunder all your riches and merchandise and break down your walls. They will destroy your lovely homes and dump your stones and timber and even your dust into the sea. <sup>13</sup> I will stop the music of your songs. No more will there be the sound of harps among you. <sup>14</sup> I will make your island a bare rock,<sup>b</sup> a place for fishermen to spread their nets. You will never be rebuilt, for I, the Lord, have spoken it. So says the Lord. <sup>15</sup> The whole country will shake with your fall; the wounded will scream as the slaughter goes on.

city, with your naval power that terrorized the mainland, how you have vanished from the seas!’ <sup>18</sup> How the islands tremble at your fall! They watch dismayed.”

<sup>19</sup> “For the Lord God says: I will destroy Tyre to the ground. You will sink beneath the terrible waves of enemy attack. Great seas shall swallow you. <sup>20</sup> I will send you to the pit of hell to lie there with those of long ago. Your city will lie in ruins, dead, like the bodies of those in the underworld who entered long ago the nether world of the dead. Never again will you be inhabited or be given beauty here in the land of those who live. <sup>21</sup> I will bring you to a dreadful end; no search will be enough to find you, says the Lord.”

27 THEN THIS MESSAGE came to me from the Lord. He said:

28 HERE IS ANOTHER message given to me from the Lord:

<sup>23</sup> "Son of dust, say to the prince of Tyre: The Lord God says: You are so proud you think you are God, sitting on the throne of a god on your island home in the midst of the seas. But you are only a man, and not a god, though you boast yourself to be like God. You are wiser than Daniel, for no secret is hidden from you. <sup>4</sup> You have used your wisdom and understanding to get great wealth—gold and silver and many treasures. <sup>5</sup> Yes, your wisdom has made you very rich and very proud.

<sup>6</sup> "Therefore the Lord God says: Because you claim that you are as wise as God, <sup>7</sup> an enemy army, the terror of the nations, shall suddenly draw their swords against your marvelous wisdom and defile your splendor! <sup>8</sup> They will bring you to the pit of hell and you shall die as those pierced with many wounds, there on your island in the heart of the seas. <sup>9</sup> Then will you boast as a god? At least to these invaders you will be no god, but merely man! <sup>10</sup> You will die like an outcast at the hands of foreigners. For I have spoken it, the Lord God says."

<sup>12</sup> "Son of dust, weep for the king of Tyre.<sup>a</sup> Tell him, the Lord God says: You were the perfection of wisdom and beauty. <sup>13</sup> You were in Eden, the garden of God; your clothing was bejeweled with every precious stone—ruby, topaz, diamond, chrysolite, onyx, jasper, sapphire, carbuncle, and emerald—all in beautiful settings of finest gold. They were given to you on the day you were created. <sup>14</sup> I appointed you to be the anointed guardian cherub. You had access to the holy mountain of God. You walked among the stones of fire.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>15</sup> "You were perfect in all you did from the day you were created until that time when wrong was found in you. <sup>16</sup> Your great wealth filled you with internal turmoil and you sinned. Therefore, I cast you out of the mountain of God like a common sinner. I destroyed you, O overshadowing cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.<sup>c</sup> <sup>17</sup> Your heart was filled with pride because of all your beauty; you corrupted your wisdom for the sake of your splendor. Therefore I have cast you down to the ground and exposed you helpless before the curious gaze of kings. "You defiled your holiness with lust for gain;<sup>d</sup> therefore I brought forth fire from your own actions<sup>e</sup> and let it burn you to ashes upon the earth in the sight of all those watching you. "All who know you are appalled at your fate; you are an example of horror; you are destroyed forever."

<sup>22</sup> "The Lord God says: I am your enemy, O Sidon, and I will reveal my power over you. When I destroy you and show forth my holiness upon you then all who see shall know I am the Lord. <sup>23</sup> I will send an epidemic of disease and an army to destroy; the wounded shall be slain in your streets by troops on every side. Then you will know I am the Lord. <sup>24</sup> No longer shall you and Israel's other neighbor nations prick and tear at Israel like thorns and briars, though they formerly despised her and treated her with great contempt.

<sup>25</sup> "The people of Israel will once more live in their own land, the land I gave their father Jacob. For I will gather them back again from distant lands where I have scattered them and I will show the nations of the world my holiness among my people. <sup>26</sup> They will live safely in Israel, and build their homes and plant their vineyards. When I punish all the bordering nations that treated them with such contempt, then they shall know I am the Lord their God."

29 LATE IN DECEMBER of the tenth year (of the imprisonment of King Jehoiachin), this message came to me from the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, face toward Egypt and prophesy against Pharaoh her king and all her people. <sup>3</sup> Tell them that the Lord God says: I am your enemy, Pharaoh, king of Egypt—mighty dragon lying in the middle of your rivers. For you have said, 'The Nile is mine; I have made it for myself!' <sup>4</sup> I will put hooks into your jaws and drag you out onto the land with fish sticking to your scales. <sup>5</sup> And I will leave you and all the fish stranded in the desert to die, and you won't be buried, for I have given you as food to the wild animals and birds.

<sup>10</sup> "Because you said: 'The Nile is mine! I made it!' therefore I am against you and your river and I will utterly destroy the land of Egypt, from Migdol to Syene, as far south as the border of Ethiopia. <sup>11</sup> For forty years not a soul will pass that way, neither men nor animals. It will be completely uninhabited. <sup>12</sup> I will make Egypt desolate, surrounded by desolate nations, and her cities will lie as wastelands for forty years. I will exile the Egyptians to other lands.

<sup>13</sup> "But the Lord God says that at the end of the forty years he will bring the Egyptians home again from the nations to which they will be banished. <sup>14</sup> And I will restore the fortunes of Egypt and bring her people back to the land of Pathros in southern Egypt where they were born, but she will be an unimportant, minor kingdom. <sup>15</sup> She will be the lowliest of all the nations; never again will she raise herself above the other nations; never again will Egypt be great enough for that.

<sup>16</sup> "Israel will no longer expect any help from Egypt. Whenever she thinks of asking for it, then she will remember her sin in seeking it before. Then Israel will know that I alone am God."

heavy basketfuls of earth); their shoulders were raw and blistered (from burdens of stones for the siege). And Nebuchadnezzar received no compensation and could not pay the army for all this work.<sup>c</sup> <sup>19</sup> Therefore, the Lord God says, I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, and he will carry off her wealth, plundering everything she has, for his army. <sup>20</sup> Yes, I have given him the land of Egypt for his salary, because he was working for me during those thirteen years at Tyre,<sup>c</sup> says the Lord. <sup>21</sup> And the day will come when I will cause the ancient glory of Israel to revive, and then at last her words will be respected, and Egypt shall know I am the Lord."

30 ANOTHER MESSAGE FROM the Lord!

late, surrounded by desolate nations, and her cities shall be in ruins, surrounded by other ruined cities. <sup>8</sup> And they will know I am the Lord when I have set Egypt on fire and destroyed her allies. <sup>9</sup> At that time I will send swift messengers to bring panic to the Ethiopians; great terror shall befall them at that time of Egypt's doom. This will all come true.

<sup>13</sup> "And I will smash the idols of Egypt and the images at Memphis, and there will be no king in Egypt; anarchy shall reign!

<sup>14</sup> "The cities of Pathros [along the upper Nile<sup>a</sup>], and Zoan and Thebes shall lie in ruins by my hand. <sup>15</sup> And I will pour out my fury upon Pelusium, the strongest fortress of Egypt, and I will stamp out the people of Thebes. <sup>16</sup> Yes, I will set fire to Egypt, Pelusium will be racked with pain, Thebes will be torn apart, Memphis will be in daily terror. <sup>17</sup> The young men of Heliopolis and Bubastis shall die by the sword and the women will be taken away as slaves. <sup>18</sup> When I come to break the power of Egypt it will be a dark day for Tehaphnehes too; a dark cloud will cover her, and her daughters will be taken away as captives. <sup>19</sup> And so I will greatly punish Egypt and they shall know I am the Lord."

<sup>21</sup> "Son of dust, I have broken the arm<sup>c</sup> of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and it has not been set nor put into a cast to make it strong enough to hold a sword again. <sup>22</sup> For, the Lord God says, I am against Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and I will break both his arms—the strong one and the one that was broken before, and I will make his sword clatter to the ground. <sup>23</sup> And I will banish the Egyptians to many lands. <sup>24</sup> And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and place my sword in his hand. But I will break the arms of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he shall groan before the king of Babylon as one who has been wounded unto death.

<sup>25</sup> "I will strengthen the hands of the king of Babylon, while the arms of Pharaoh fall useless to his sides. Yes, when I place my sword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he swings it over the land of Egypt, Egypt shall know I am the Lord. <sup>26</sup> I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations; then they shall know I am the Lord."

31 IN MID-MAY OF the eleventh year of King Jehoiachin's captivity,<sup>a</sup> this message came to me from the Lord:

<sup>21</sup> "Son of dust, tell Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and all his people: You are as Assyria was—a great and mighty nation—like a cedar of Lebanon, full of thick branches and forest shade, with its head high up among the clouds. <sup>4</sup> Its roots went deep into the moist earth. It grew luxuriantly and gave streamlets of water to all the trees around. <sup>5</sup> It towered above all the other trees. It prospered and grew long thick branches because of all the water at its roots. <sup>6</sup> The birds nested in its branches, and in its shade the flocks and herds gave birth to young. All the great nations of the world lived beneath its shadow. <sup>7</sup> It was strong and beautiful, for its roots went deep to water. <sup>8</sup> This tree was taller than any other in the garden of God; no cypress had branches equal to it; none had boughs to compare; none equaled it in beauty. <sup>9</sup> Because of the magnificence that I gave it, it was the envy of all the other trees of Eden.

<sup>10</sup> "But Egypt<sup>b</sup> has become proud and arrogant, the Lord God says. Therefore because she has set herself so high above the others, reaching to the clouds, <sup>11</sup> I will deliver her into the hands of a mighty nation, to destroy her as her wickedness deserves. I, myself, will cut her down. <sup>12</sup> A foreign army (from Babylon)—the terror of the nations—will invade her land and cut her down and leave her fallen on the ground. Her branches will be scattered across the mountains and valleys and rivers of the land. All those who live beneath her shade will go away and leave her lying there. <sup>13</sup> The birds will pluck off her twigs and the wild animals will lie among her branches; <sup>14</sup> let no other nation exult with pride for its own prosperity, though it be higher than the clouds, for all are doomed and they will land in hell, along with all the proud men of the world.

<sup>18</sup> "O Egypt, you are great and glorious among the trees of Eden—the nations of the world. And you will be brought down to the pit of hell with all these other nations. You will be among the nations you despise, killed by the sword. This is the fate of Pharaoh and all his teeming masses, says the Lord."

chin's captivity, this message came to me from the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, mourn for Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and say to him: You think of yourself as a strong young lion among the nations, but you are merely a crocodile<sup>a</sup> along the banks of the Nile, making bubbles and muddying the stream.

<sup>3</sup> "The Lord God says: I will send a great army to catch you with my net. I will haul you out, <sup>4</sup> and leave you stranded on the land to die. And all the birds of the heavens will light upon you and the wild animals of the whole earth will devour you until they are glutted and full. <sup>5</sup> And I will cover the hills with your flesh and fill the valleys with your bones. <sup>6</sup> And I will drench the earth with your gushing blood, filling the ravines to the tops of the mountains. <sup>7</sup> I will blot you out, and I will veil the heavens and darken the stars. I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give you her light. <sup>8</sup> Yes, darkness will be everywhere across your land—even the bright stars will be dark above you.

<sup>9</sup> "And when I destroy you,<sup>b</sup> grief will be in many hearts among the distant nations you have never seen. <sup>10</sup> Yes, terror shall strike in many lands, and their kings shall be terribly afraid because of all I do to you. They shall shudder with terror when I brandish my sword before them. They shall greatly tremble for their lives on the day of your fall.

come upon you. <sup>12</sup> I will destroy you with Babylon's mighty army—the terror of the nations. It will smash the pride of Egypt and all her people; all will perish. <sup>13</sup> I will destroy all your flocks and herds that graze beside the streams, and neither man nor animal will disturb those waters any more. <sup>14</sup> Therefore the waters of Egypt will be as clear and flow as smoothly as olive oil, the Lord God says. <sup>15</sup> And when I destroy Egypt and wipe out everything she has, then she shall know that I, the Lord, have done it. <sup>16</sup> Yes, cry for the sorrows of Egypt. Let all the nations weep for her and for her people, says the Lord."

<sup>18</sup> "Son of dust, weep for the people of Egypt and for the other mighty nations. Send them down to the nether world among the denizens of death. <sup>19</sup> What nation is as beautiful as you, O Egypt? Yet your doom is the pit; you will be laid beside the people you despise. <sup>20</sup> The Egyptians will die with the multitudes slain by the sword, for the sword is drawn against the land of Egypt. She will be drawn down to judgment. <sup>21</sup> The mighty warriors in the nether world will welcome her as she arrives with all her friends, to lie there beside the nations she despised, all victims of the sword.

depths of hell, surrounded by their allies. All these mighty men who once struck terror into the hearts of everyone are now dead at the hands of their foes.

<sup>24</sup> "Great kings of Elam lie there with their people. They scourged the nations while they lived, and now they lie undone in hell; their fate is the same as that of ordinary men. <sup>25</sup> They have a resting place among the slain, surrounded by the graves of all their people. Yes, they terrorized the nations while they lived, but now they lie in shame in the pit, slain by the sword.

<sup>26</sup> "The princes of Meshech and Tubal are there, surrounded by the graves of all their armies—all of them idolaters—who once struck terror to the hearts of all; now they lie dead. <sup>27</sup> They are buried in a common grave, and not as the fallen lords who are buried in great honor with their weapons beside them, with their shields covering them and<sup>d</sup> their swords beneath their heads. They were a terror to all while they lived. <sup>28</sup> Now you will lie crushed and broken among the idolaters, among those who are slain by the sword.

<sup>29</sup> "Edom is there with her kings and her princes; mighty as they were, they too lie among the others whom the sword has slain, with the idolaters who have gone down to the pit. <sup>30</sup> All the princes of the north are there, and the Sidonians, all slain. Once a terror, now they lie in shame; they lie in ignominy with all the other slain who go down to the pit.

will be comforted to find that he is not alone in having all his army slain, says the Lord God. <sup>32</sup> For I have caused my terror to fall upon all the living. And Pharaoh and his army shall lie among the idolaters who are slain by the sword."

33 ONCE AGAIN A message came to me from the Lord. He said:

<sup>2</sup> "Son of dust, tell your people: When I bring an army against a country, and the people of that land choose a watchman, <sup>3</sup> and when he sees the army coming, and blows the alarm to warn them, <sup>4</sup> then anyone who hears the alarm and refuses to heed it—well, if he dies the fault is his own. <sup>5</sup> For he heard the warning and wouldn't listen; the fault is his. If he had heeded the warning, he would have saved his life. <sup>6</sup> But if the watchman sees the enemy coming and doesn't sound the alarm and warn the people, he is responsible for their deaths. They will die in their sins, but I will charge the watchman with their deaths.

<sup>7</sup> "So with you, son of dust. I have appointed you as a watchman for the people of Israel; therefore listen to what I say and warn them for me. <sup>8</sup> When I say to the wicked, 'O wicked man, you will die!' and you don't tell him what I say, so that he does not repent—that wicked person will die in his sins, but I will hold you responsible for his death. <sup>9</sup> But if you warn him to repent and he doesn't, he will die in his sin, and you will not be responsible.

saying: 'Our sins are heavy upon us; we pine away with guilt. How can we live?' <sup>11</sup> Tell them: As I live, says the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; I desire that the wicked turn from his evil ways and live. Turn, turn from your wickedness, for why will you die, O Israel? <sup>12</sup> For the good works of a righteous man will not save him if he turns to sin; and the sins of an evil man will not destroy him if he repents and turns from his sins.

<sup>13</sup> "I have said the good man will live. But if he sins, expecting his past goodness to save him, then none of his good deeds will be remembered. I will destroy him for his sins. <sup>14</sup> And when I tell the wicked he will die and then he turns from his sins and does what is fair and right— <sup>15</sup> if he gives back the borrower's pledge and returns what he has stolen and walks along the paths of right, not doing evil—he shall surely live. He shall not die. <sup>16</sup> None of his past sins shall be brought up against him, for he has turned to the good and shall surely live.

rived to tell me, "The city has fallen!" <sup>22</sup> Now the hand of the Lord had been upon me the previous evening, and he had healed me so that I could speak again by the time the man arrived.

<sup>24</sup> "Son of dust, the scattered remnants of Judah living among the ruined cities keep saying, 'Abraham was only one man and yet he got possession of the whole country! We are many, so we should certainly be able to get it back!' <sup>25</sup> But the Lord God says: You are powerless, for you do evil! You eat meat with the blood; you worship idols, and murder. Do you suppose I'll let you have the land? <sup>26</sup> Murderers! Idolators! Adulterers! Should you possess the land?

<sup>27</sup> "Tell them: The Lord God says: As I live, surely those living in the ruins shall die by the sword. Those living in the open fields shall be eaten by wild animals, and those in the forts and caves shall die of disease. <sup>28</sup> I will desolate the land and her pride, and her power shall come to an end. And the mountain villages of Israel shall be so ruined that no one will even travel through them. <sup>29</sup> When I have ruined the land because of their sins, then they shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>30</sup> "Son of dust, your people are whispering behind your back. They talk about you in their houses and whisper about you at the doors, saying, 'Come on, let's have some fun! Let's go hear him tell us what the Lord is saying!'<sup>b</sup> <sup>31</sup> So they come as a Some manuscripts read, "In the twelfth year." what the word is that comes from the Lord!"

b Literally, "Come and let us hear though they are sincere and sit before you listening. But they have no intention of doing what I tell them to; they talk very sweetly about loving the Lord, but with their hearts they are loving their money.<sup>2</sup> You are very entertaining to them, like someone who sings lovely songs with a beautiful voice or plays well on an instrument. They hear what you say but don't pay any attention to it!<sup>3</sup> But when all these terrible things happen to them—as they will—then they will know a prophet has been among them."

34 THEN THIS MESSAGE came to me from the Lord:

<sup>7</sup> "As I live, says the Lord God, you abandoned my flock, leaving them to be attacked and destroyed, and you were no real shepherds at all, for you didn't search for them. You fed yourselves and let them starve;<sup>8,10</sup> therefore I am against the shepherds, and I will hold them responsible for what has happened to my flock. I will take away their right to feed the flock—and take away their right to eat. I will save my flock from being taken for their food.

<sup>11</sup> "For the Lord God says: I will search and find my sheep. <sup>12</sup> I will be like a shepherd looking for his flock. I will find my sheep and rescue them from all the places they were scattered in that dark and cloudy day. <sup>13</sup> And I will bring them back from among the people and nations where they were, back home to their own land of Israel, and I will feed them upon the mountains of Israel and by the rivers where the land is fertile and good. <sup>14</sup> Yes, I will give them good pasture on the high hills of Israel. There they will lie down in peace and feed in luscious mountain pastures. <sup>15,16</sup> I myself will be the Shepherd of my sheep, and cause them to lie down in peace, the Lord God says. I will seek my lost ones, those who strayed away, and bring them safely home again. I will put splints and bandages upon their broken limbs and heal the sick. And I will destroy the powerful, fat shepherds; I will feed them, yes—feed them punishment!

<sup>17</sup> "And as for you, O my flock—my people—the Lord God says, I will distinguish lambs from kids and rams from billy goats!

<sup>18</sup> "Is it a small thing to you, O evil shepherds, that you not only keep the best of the pastures for yourselves, but trample down the rest? That you take the best water for yourselves, and muddy the rest with your feet? <sup>19</sup> All that's left for my flock is what you've trampled down; all they have to drink is water that you've fouled.

<sup>20</sup> "Therefore the Lord God says: I will surely judge between these fat shepherds and their scrawny sheep. <sup>21</sup> For these shepherds push and butt and crowd my sick and hungry flock until they're scattered far away. <sup>22</sup> So I myself will save my flock; no more will they be picked on and destroyed. And I will notice which is plump and which is thin, and why! <sup>23</sup> And I will set one Shepherd over all my people, even my Servant, David. He shall feed them and be a Shepherd to them.

<sup>24</sup> "And I, the Lord, will be their God, and my Servant David shall be a Prince among my people. I, the Lord, have spoken it. <sup>25</sup> I will make a peace pact with them, and drive away the dangerous animals from the land so that my people can safely camp in the wildest places and sleep safely in the woods. <sup>26</sup> I will make my people and their homes around my hill a blessing. And there shall be showers, showers of blessing, for I will not shut off the rains but send them in their seasons. <sup>27</sup> Their fruit trees and fields will yield bumper crops, and everyone will live in safety. When I have broken off their chains of slavery and delivered them from those who profited at their expense, they shall know I am the Lord. <sup>28</sup> No more will other nations conquer them nor wild animals attack. They shall live in safety and no one shall make them afraid.

<sup>29</sup> "And I will raise up a notable Vine [the Messiah<sup>a</sup>], in Israel so that my people will never again go hungry nor be shamed by heathen conquest. <sup>30</sup> In this way they will know that I, the Lord their God, am with them, and that they, the people of Israel, are my people, says the Lord God. <sup>31</sup> You are my flock, the sheep of my pasture. You are my men and I am your God, so says the Lord."

35 AGAIN A MESSAGE came from the Lord. He said:

<sup>3</sup> "The Lord God says: I am against you and I will smash you with my fist and utterly destroy you. <sup>4</sup> Because you hate my people Israel, I will demolish your cities and make you desolate, and then you shall know I am the Lord. You butchered my people when they were helpless, when I had punished them for all their sins. <sup>5</sup> As I live, the Lord God says, since you enjoy blood so much, I will give you a blood bath—your turn has come! <sup>6</sup> I will utterly wipe out the people of Mount Seir, killing off all those who try to escape and all those who return. <sup>7</sup> I will fill your mountains with the dead—your hills, your valleys and your rivers will be filled with those the sword has killed. <sup>8</sup> Never again will you revive. You will be abandoned forever; your cities will never be rebuilt. Then you shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>10</sup> "For you said, 'Both Israel and Judah shall be mine. We will take possession of them. What do we care that God is there?' <sup>11</sup> Therefore as I live, the Lord God says, I will pay back your angry deeds with mine—I will punish you for all your acts of envy and of hate. And I will honor my name in Israel by what I do to you. <sup>12</sup> And you shall know that I have heard each evil word you spoke against the Lord, saying, 'His people are helpless; they are food for us to eat!' <sup>13</sup> Saying that, you boasted great words against the Lord. And I have heard them all!

<sup>14</sup> "The whole world will rejoice when I make you desolate. <sup>15</sup> You rejoiced at Israel's fearful fate. Now I will rejoice at yours! You will be wiped out, O people of Mount Seir and all who live in Edom! And then you will know I am the Lord!

36 "SON OF DUST, prophesy to Israel's mountains. Tell them: Listen to this message from the Lord.

<sup>2</sup> "Your enemies have sneered at you and claimed your ancient heights as theirs, <sup>3</sup> and destroyed you on every side and sent you away as slaves to many lands. You are mocked and slandered. <sup>4</sup> Therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord God. He says to the hills and mountains, dales and valleys, and to the ruined farms and the long-deserted cities, destroyed and mocked by heathen nations all around: <sup>5</sup> My anger is afire against these nations, especially Edom, for grabbing my land with relish, in utter contempt for me, to take it for themselves.

<sup>6</sup> "Therefore prophesy and say to the hills and mountains, dales and valleys of Israel: The Lord God says, I am full of fury because you suffered shame before the surrounding nations. <sup>7</sup> Therefore I have sworn with hand held high, that those nations are going to have their turn of being covered with shame, <sup>8</sup> but for Israel, good times will return. There will be heavy crops of fruit to prepare for my people's return—and they will be coming home again soon! <sup>9</sup> See, I am for you, and I will come and help you as you prepare the ground and sow your crops. <sup>10</sup> I will greatly increase your population throughout all Israel, and the ruined cities will be rebuilt and filled with people. <sup>11</sup> Not only the people, but your flocks and herds will also greatly multiply. O mountains of Israel, again you will be filled with homes. I will do even more for you than I did before. Then you shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>12</sup> My people will walk upon you once again, and you will belong to them again; and you will no longer be a place for burning their children on idol altars.

<sup>13</sup> "The Lord God says: Now the other nations taunt you, saying, 'Israel is a land that devours her people!' <sup>14</sup> But they will not say this any more. Your birth rate will rise and your infant mortality rate will drop off sharply, says the Lord. <sup>15</sup> No longer will those heathen nations sneer, for you will no longer be a nation of sinners, the Lord God says."

<sup>17</sup> "Son of dust, when the people of Israel were living in their own country, they defiled it by their evil deeds; to me their worship was as foul as filthy rags.<sup>a</sup> <sup>18</sup> They polluted the land with murder and with the worshiping of idols, so I poured out my fury upon them. <sup>19</sup> And I exiled them to many lands; that is how I punished them for the evil way they lived. <sup>20</sup> But when they were scattered out among the nations, then they were a blight upon my holy name because the nations said, 'These are the people of God and he couldn't protect them from harm!' <sup>21</sup> I am concerned about my reputation that was ruined by my people throughout the world.

<sup>22</sup> "Therefore say to the people of Israel: The Lord God says, I am bringing you back again, but not because you deserve it; I am doing it to protect my holy name which you tarnished among the nations. <sup>23</sup> I will honor my great name that you defiled, and the people of the world shall know I am the Lord. I will be honored before their eyes by delivering you from exile among them.<sup>b</sup> <sup>24</sup> For I will bring you back home again to the land of Israel.

<sup>25</sup> "Then it will be as though I had sprinkled clean water on you, for you will be clean—your filthiness will be washed away, your idol worship gone. <sup>26</sup> And I will give you a new heart—I will give you new and right desires—and put a new spirit within you. I will take out your stony hearts of sin and give you new hearts of love.<sup>c</sup> <sup>27</sup> And I will put my Spirit within you so that you will obey my laws and do whatever I command.

<sup>28</sup> "And you shall live in Israel, the land which I gave your fathers long ago. And you shall be my people and I will be your God. <sup>29</sup> I will cleanse away your sins. I will abolish crop failures and famine. <sup>30</sup> I will give you huge harvests from your fruit trees and fields, and never again will the surrounding nations be able to scoff at your land for its famines. <sup>31</sup> Then you will remember your past sins and loathe yourselves for all the evils you did. <sup>32</sup> But always remember this: It is not for your own sakes that I will do this, but for mine. O my people Israel, be utterly ashamed of all that you have done!

<sup>33</sup> "The Lord God says: When I cleanse you from your sins, I will bring you home again to Israel, and rebuild the ruins. <sup>34</sup> Acreage will be cultivated again that through the years of exile lay empty as a barren wilderness; all who passed by were shocked to see the extent of ruin in your land. <sup>35</sup> But when I bring you back they will say, 'This God-forsaken land has become like Eden's garden! The ruined cities are rebuilt and walled and filled with people!' <sup>36</sup> Then the nations all around—all those still left—will know that I, the Lord, rebuilt the ruins and planted lush crops in the wilderness. For I, the Lord, have promised it, and I will do it.

<sup>37,38</sup> "The Lord God says: I am ready to hear Israel's prayers for these blessings, and to grant them their requests. Let them but ask and I will multiply them like the flocks that fill Jerusalem's streets at time of sacrifice. The ruined cities will be crowded once more, and everyone will know I am the Lord."

37 THE POWER OF the Lord was upon me and I was carried away by the Spirit of the Lord to a valley full of old, dry bones that were scattered everywhere across the ground. He led me around among them,<sup>1</sup> and then he said to me:

"Son of dust, can these bones become people again?"

I replied, "Lord, you alone know the answer to that."

<sup>2</sup> Then he told me to speak to the bones and say: "O dry bones, listen to the words of God,<sup>3</sup> for the Lord God says, See! I am going to make you live and breathe again! <sup>4</sup> I will replace the flesh and muscles on you and cover you with skin. I will put breath into you, and you shall live and know I am the Lord."

<sup>5</sup> So I spoke these words from God, just as he told me to; and suddenly there was a rattling noise from all across the valley, and the bones of each body came together and attached to each other as they used to be. <sup>6</sup> Then, as I watched, the muscles and flesh formed over the bones, and skin covered them, but the bodies had no breath. <sup>7</sup> Then he told me to call to the wind and say: "The Lord God says: Come from the four winds, O Spirit, and breathe upon these slain bodies, that they may live again." <sup>8</sup> So I spoke to the winds as he commanded me and the bodies began breathing; they lived, and stood up—a very great army.

<sup>9</sup> Then he told me what the vision meant: "These bones," he said, "represent all the people of Israel. They say: 'We have become a heap of dried-out bones—all hope is gone.' <sup>12</sup> But tell them, the Lord God says: My people, I will open your graves of exile and cause you to rise again and return to the land of Israel. <sup>13</sup> And, then at last, O my people, you will know I am the Lord. <sup>14</sup> I will put my Spirit into you, and you shall live and return home again to your own land. Then you will know that I, the Lord, have done just what I promised you."

only Shepherd; and they shall obey my laws and all my wishes. <sup>23</sup> They shall live in the land of Israel where their fathers lived, the land I gave my servant Jacob. They and their children after them shall live there, and their grandchildren, for all generations. And my Servant David, their Messiah, shall be their Prince forever. <sup>26</sup> And I will make a covenant of peace with them, an everlasting pact. I will bless them and multiply them and put my Temple among them forever. <sup>27</sup> And I will make my home among them. Yes, I will be their God and they shall be my people. <sup>28</sup> And when my Temple remains among them, then the nations shall know that I, the Lord, have set Israel apart for special blessings."

38 HERE IS ANOTHER message to me from the Lord:

the distant north, as well as many others. <sup>7</sup> Be prepared! Stay mobilized. You are their leader, Gog!

<sup>8</sup> "A long time from now you will be called to action. In distant years you will swoop down onto the land of Israel, that will be lying in peace after the return of its people from many lands. <sup>9</sup> You and all your allies—a vast and awesome army—will roll down upon them like a storm and cover the land like a cloud. <sup>10</sup> For at that time an evil thought will have come to your mind. <sup>11</sup> You will have said, 'Israel is an unprotected land of unwalled villages! I will march against her and destroy these people living in such confidence! <sup>12</sup> I will go to those once-desolate cities that are now filled with people again—those who have returned from all the nations—and I will capture vast booty and many slaves. For the people are rich with cattle now, and the whole earth revolves around them!'

<sup>13</sup> "But Sheba and Dedan<sup>c</sup> and the merchant princes of Tarshish with whom she trades<sup>a</sup> will ask, 'Who are you to rob them of silver and gold and drive away their cattle and seize their goods and make them poor?'

<sup>14</sup> "The Lord God says to Gog: When my people are living in peace in their land, then you will rouse yourself. <sup>15,16</sup> You will come from all over the north with your vast host of cavalry and cover the land like a cloud. This will happen in the distant future—in the latter years of history.<sup>d</sup> I will bring you against my land, and my holiness will be vindicated in your terrible destruction before their eyes, so that all the nations will know that I am God.

<sup>17</sup> “The Lord God says: You are the one I spoke of long ago through the prophets of Israel, saying that after many years had passed, I would bring you against my people.

<sup>18</sup> But when you come to destroy the land of Israel, my fury will rise!

<sup>19</sup> For in my jealousy and blazing wrath, I promise a mighty shaking in the land of Israel on that day.

<sup>20</sup> All living things shall quake in terror at my presence; mountains shall be thrown down; cliffs shall tumble; walls shall crumble to the earth. <sup>21</sup> I will summon every kind of terror against you, says the Lord God, and you will fight against yourselves in mortal combat! <sup>22</sup> I will fight you with sword, disease, torrential floods, great hailstones, fire and brimstone! <sup>23</sup> Thus will I show my greatness and bring honor upon my name, and all the nations of the world will hear what I have done, and know that I am God!

39 “SON OF DUST, prophesy this also against Gog. Tell him:

I stand against you, Gog, leader of Meshech and Tubal. <sup>2</sup> I will turn you and drive you toward the mountains of Israel, bringing you from the distant north. And I will destroy 85 percent<sup>e</sup> of your army in the mountains. <sup>3</sup> I will knock your weapons from your hands and leave you helpless. <sup>4</sup> You and all your vast armies will die upon the mountains. I will give you to the vultures and wild animals to devour you.

<sup>5</sup> You will never reach the cities—you will fall upon the open fields; for I have spoken, the Lord God says. <sup>6</sup> And I will rain down fire on Magog and on all your allies who live safely on the coasts, and they shall know I am the Lord.

<sup>7</sup> “Thus I will make known my holy name among my people Israel; I will not let it be mocked at anymore. And the nations too shall know I am the Lord, the Holy One of Israel. <sup>8</sup> That day of judgment will come; everything will happen just as I have declared it.

<sup>9</sup> “The people of the cities of Israel will go out and pick up your shields and bucklers, bows and arrows, javelins and spears, to use for fuel—enough to last them seven years. <sup>10</sup> For seven years they will need nothing else for their fires. They won’t cut wood from the fields or forests, for these weapons will give them all they need. They will use the possessions of those who abused them.

<sup>11</sup> “And I will make a vast graveyard for Gog and his armies in the Valley of the Travelers, east of the Dead Sea. It will block the path of the travelers. There Gog and all his armies will be buried. And they will change the name of the place to “The Valley of Gog’s Army.” <sup>12</sup> It will take seven months for the people of Israel to bury the bodies. <sup>13</sup> Everyone in Israel will help, for it will be a glorious victory for Israel on that day when I demonstrate my glory, says the Lord. <sup>14</sup> At the end of the seven months, they will appoint men to search the land systematically for any skeletons left and bury them, so that the land will be cleansed. <sup>15,16</sup> Whenever anyone sees some bones, he will put up a marker beside them so that the buriers will see them and take them to the Valley of Gog's Army to bury them. A city named 'Multitude' is there! And so the land will finally be cleansed.

<sup>22</sup> "And from that time onward, the people of Israel will know I am the Lord their God. <sup>23</sup> And the nations will know why Israel was sent away to exile—it was punishment for sin, for they acted in treachery against their God. Therefore I turned my face away from them and let their enemies destroy them. <sup>24</sup> I turned my face away and punished them in proportion to the villainess of their sins.

<sup>25</sup> "But now, the Lord God says, I will end the captivity of my people and have mercy upon them and restore their fortunes, for I am concerned about my reputation! <sup>26</sup> Their time of treachery and shame will all be in the past; they will be home again, in peace and safety in their own land, with no one bothering them or making them afraid. <sup>27</sup> I will bring them home from the lands of their enemies—and my glory shall be evident to all the nations when I do it. Through them I will vindicate my holiness before the nations. <sup>28</sup> Then my people will know I am the Lord their God—responsible for sending them away to exile, and responsible for bringing them home. I will leave none of them remaining among the nations. <sup>29</sup> And I will never hide my face from them again, for I will pour out my Spirit upon them, says the Lord God."

40 EARLY IN APRIL of the twenty-fifth year of our exile—the fourteenth year after Jerusalem was captured—the hand of the Lord was upon me, <sup>2</sup> and in a vision he took me to the land of Israel and set me down on a high mountain where I saw what appeared to be a city opposite me. <sup>3</sup> Going nearer, I saw a man whose face shone like bronze, standing beside the Temple gate,<sup>a</sup> holding in his hand a measuring tape and a measuring stick.

<sup>4</sup> He said to me: "Son of dust, watch and listen and take to heart everything I show you, for you have been brought here so I can show you many things; and then you are to return to the people of Israel to tell them all you have seen." <sup>5</sup> <sup>b</sup> The man began to measure the wall around the outside of the Temple area with his measuring stick, which was 10½ feet long. He told me, "This wall is 10½ feet high and 10½ feet wide." <sup>6</sup> Then he took me over to the passageway that goes through the eastern wall.<sup>c</sup> We climbed the seven steps into the entrance and he measured the entry hall of the passage; it was 10½ feet wide.

<sup>7-12</sup> Walking on through the passageway I saw that there were three guardrooms on each side; each of these rooms was 10½ feet square, with a distance of 8¾ feet along the wall between them. In front of these rooms was a low barrier eighteen inches high and eighteen inches wide.<sup>d</sup> Beyond the guardrooms was a 10½-foot doorway opening into a 14-foot hall with 3½-foot columns. Beyond this hall, at the inner end of the passageway was a vestibule 22¾ feet wide and 17½ feet long.

<sup>13</sup> Then he measured the entire outside width of the passageway, measuring across the roof from the outside doors of the guardrooms; this distance was 43¾ feet. <sup>14</sup> Then he estimated the pillars on each side of the porch to be about 100 feet high. <sup>15</sup> The full length of the entrance passage was 87½ feet from one end to the other. <sup>16</sup> There were windows that narrowed inward through the walls along both sides of the passageway and along the guardroom walls. The windows were also in the exit and in the entrance halls. The pillars were decorated with palm tree decorations.

<sup>17</sup> And so we passed through the passageway to the court inside. A stone pavement ran around the inside of the walls, and thirty rooms were built against the walls, opening onto this pavement. <sup>18</sup> This was called "the lower pavement." It extended out from the walls into the court the same distance as the passageway did.

<sup>19</sup> Then he measured across to the wall on the other side of this court (which was called "the outer court" of the Temple<sup>e</sup>) and found that the distance was 175 feet. <sup>20</sup> As I followed, he left the eastern passageway and went over to the passage through the northern wall and measured it. <sup>21</sup> Here too there were three guardrooms on each side, and all the measurements were the same as for the east passageway—87½ feet long and 43¾ feet from side to side across the top of the guardrooms. <sup>22</sup> There were windows, an entry hall and the palm tree decorations just the same as on the east side. And there were seven steps leading up to the doorway to the entry hall inside.

straight across it, he came to an inner wall and a passageway through it to an inner court. The distance between the two passageways was 175 feet.<sup>24</sup> Then he took me around to the south gate and measured the various sections of its passageway and found they were just the same as in the others.<sup>25</sup> It had windows along the walls as the others did, and an entry hall. And like the others, it was 87½ feet long and 43¾ feet wide.<sup>26</sup> It too had a stairway of seven steps leading up to it, and there were palm tree decorations along the walls.<sup>27</sup> And here again, if one walked through the passageway into the court and straight across it, he came to the inner wall and a passageway through it to the inner court. And the distance between the passageways was 175 feet.

inner wall, and measured it. It too had the same measurements as the others.<sup>33</sup> Its guardrooms, pillars and entrance hall were the same size as those of the other passageways, and there were windows along the walls and in the entry hall; and it was 87½ feet long by 43¾ feet wide.<sup>34</sup> Its entry hall faced the outer court and there were palm tree decorations on its columns, but there were eight steps instead of seven going up to the entrance.

<sup>35</sup> Then he took me around to the north gate of the inner wall, and the measurements there were just like the others:<sup>36</sup> The guardrooms, pillars and entry hall of this passageway were the same as the others, with a length of 87½ feet and a width of 43¾ feet.<sup>37</sup> Its entry hall faced toward the outer court, and it had palm tree decorations on the walls of each side of the passageway, and there were eight steps leading up to the entrance.

<sup>38</sup> But a door led from its entry hall into a side room where the flesh of the sacrifices was washed before being taken to the altar;<sup>39</sup> on each side of the entry hall of the passageway there were two tables where the animals for sacrifice were slaughtered for the burnt offerings, sin offerings and guilt offerings to be presented in the Temple.<sup>40</sup> Outside the entry hall, on each side of the stairs going up to the north entrance, there were two more tables.<sup>41</sup> So, in all, there were eight tables,

37½ feet by 8¾ feet broad."

<sup>h</sup> Verse 30, omitted in the Septuagint and several other of the ancient manuscripts, reads, "There were vestibules round about, and they were 37½ feet long and 8¾ feet broad."

four inside and four outside, where the sacrifices were cut up and prepared. <sup>42</sup> There were also four stone tables where the butchering knives and other implements were laid. These tables were about  $2\frac{5}{8}$  feet square and  $1\frac{3}{4}$  feet high. <sup>43</sup> There were hooks, three or four inches long, fastened along the walls of the entry hall, and on the tables the flesh of the offering was to be laid.

<sup>44</sup> In the inner court, there were two one-room buildings, one beside the northern entrance, facing south, and one beside the southern entrance, facing north.

<sup>45</sup> And he said to me: "The building beside the inner northern gate is for the priests who supervise the maintenance. <sup>46</sup> The building beside the inner southern entrance is for the priests in charge of the altar—the descendants of Zadok—for they alone of all the Levites may come near to the Lord to minister to him."

<sup>47</sup> Then he measured the inner court [in front of the Temple] and found it to be 175 feet square, and there was an altar in the court, standing in front of the Temple. <sup>48,49</sup> Then he brought me to the entrance hall of the Temple. Ten steps led up to it from the inner court. Its walls extended up on either side to form two pillars, each of them  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet thick. The entrance was  $24\frac{1}{2}$  feet wide with  $5\frac{1}{4}$ -foot walls. Thus the entry hall was 35 feet wide and  $19\frac{1}{4}$  feet long.

41 AFTERWARD HE BROUGHT me into the nave, the large main room of the Temple, and measured the pillars that formed its doorway. They were  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet square. <sup>2</sup> The entrance hall was  $17\frac{1}{2}$  feet wide and  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet deep. The nave itself was seventy feet long by thirty-five feet.

<sup>8</sup> I noticed that the Temple was built on a terrace and that the bottom row of rooms extended out  $10\frac{1}{2}$  feet onto the terrace. <sup>9</sup> The outer wall of these rooms was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet thick, leaving a free space of  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet out to the edge of the terrace, the same on both sides.

rooms to the terrace yard, which was  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet wide; one door faced north and the other south.

<sup>12</sup> A large building stood on the west, facing the Temple yard, measuring  $122\frac{1}{2}$  feet wide by  $157\frac{1}{2}$  feet long. Its walls were  $8\frac{3}{4}$  feet thick. <sup>13</sup> Then he measured the Temple and its immediately surrounding yards. The area was 175 feet square. <sup>14</sup> The inner court at the east of the Temple was also 175 feet wide, <sup>15,16</sup> and so was the building west of the Temple, including its two walls.

The nave of the Temple and the Holy of Holies and the entry hall were paneled, and all three had recessed windows. The inner walls of the Temple were paneled with wood above and below the windows. <sup>17,18</sup> The space above the door leading into the Holy of Holies was also paneled. The walls were decorated with carvings of cherubim, each with two faces, and of palm trees alternating with the cherubim. <sup>19,20</sup> One face—that of a man—looked toward the palm tree on one side, and the other face—that of a young lion—looked toward the palm tree on the other side. And so it was, all around the inner wall of the Temple.

<sup>21</sup> There were square doorposts at the doors of the nave, and in front of the Holy of Holies was what appeared to be an altar, but it was made of wood. <sup>22</sup> This altar was  $3\frac{1}{2}$  feet square, and  $5\frac{1}{4}$  feet high; its corners, base and sides were all of wood. "This," he told me, "is the Table of the Lord."<sup>a</sup>

Holies had double doors, <sup>24</sup> each with two swinging sections. <sup>25</sup> The doors leading into the nave were decorated with cherubim and palm trees, just as on the walls. And there was a wooden canopy over the entry hall. <sup>26</sup> There were recessed windows and carved palm trees on both sides of the entry hall, the hallways beside the Temple, and on the canopy over the entrance.

42 THEN HE LED me out of the Temple, back into the inner court to the rooms north of the Temple yard, and to another building. <sup>2</sup> This group of structures was 175 feet long by  $87\frac{1}{2}$  feet wide. <sup>3</sup> The rows of rooms behind this building were the inner wall of the court. The rooms were in three tiers, overlooking the outer court on one side, and having a 35-foot strip of inner court on the other. <sup>4</sup> A  $17\frac{1}{2}$ -foot walk ran between the building and the tiers of rooms, extending the entire length, with the doors of the building facing north. <sup>5</sup> The upper two tiers of rooms were not as wide as the lower one, because the upper tiers had wider walkways beside them. <sup>6</sup> And since the building was not built with girders as those in the outer court were, the upper stories were set back from the ground floor.

<sup>7,8</sup> The north tiers, next to the outer court, were  $87\frac{1}{2}$  feet long—only half as long as the inner wing that faced the Temple court, which was 175 feet long. But a wall extended from the end of the shorter wing, parallel to the longer wing. <sup>9,10</sup> And there was an entrance from the outer court to these rooms from the east. On the opposite side of the Temple a similar building composed of two units of tiers was on the south side of the inner court, between the Temple and the outer court, arranged the same as the other.

<sup>11</sup> There was a walk between the two wings of the building, the same as in the other building across the court—the same length and width and the same exits and doors—they were identical units. <sup>12</sup> And there was a door from the outer court<sup>a</sup> at the east.

<sup>13</sup> Then he told me: "These north and south tiers of rooms facing the Temple yard are holy; there the priests who offer up the sacrifices to the Lord shall eat of the most holy offerings and store them—the cereal offerings, sin offerings, and guilt offerings, for these rooms are holy. <sup>14</sup> When the priests leave the Holy Place—the nave of the Temple—they must change their clothes before going out to the outer court. The special robes in which they have been ministering must first be removed, for these robes are holy. They must put on other clothes before entering the parts of the building open to the public."

<sup>15</sup> When he had finished making these measurements, he led me out through the east passageway to measure the entire Temple area. <sup>16-20</sup> He found that it was in the form of a square, 875 feet long on each side, with a wall all around it to separate the restricted area from the public places.<sup>b</sup>

43 AFTERWARD HE BROUGHT me out again to the passageway through the outer wall leading to the east. <sup>2</sup> And suddenly the glory of the God of Israel appeared from the east. The sound of his coming was like the roar of rushing waters and the whole landscape lighted up with his glory. <sup>3</sup> It was just as I had seen it in the other visions, first by the Chebar Canal, and then later at Jerusalem<sup>a</sup> when he came to destroy the city. And I fell down before him with my face in the dust. <sup>4</sup> And the glory of the Lord came into the Temple through the eastern passageway.

<sup>5</sup> Then the Spirit took me up and brought me into the inner court; and the glory of the Lord filled the Temple. <sup>6</sup> And I heard the Lord speaking to me from within the Temple (the man who had been measuring was still standing beside me).

<sup>7</sup> And the Lord said to me:

"Son of dust, this is the place of my throne, and my footstool, where I shall remain, living among the people of Israel forever. They and their kings will not defile my holy name any longer through the adulterous worship of other gods or by worshiping the totem poles erected by their kings. <sup>8</sup> They built their idol temples beside mine, with only a wall between, and worshiped their idols. Because they sullied my holy name by such wickedness, I consumed them in my anger. <sup>9</sup> Now let them put away their idols and the totem poles<sup>b</sup> erected by their kings, and I will live among them for-

<sup>10</sup> "Son of dust, describe the Temple I have shown you to the people of Israel. Tell them its appearance and its plan so they will be ashamed of all their sins. <sup>11</sup> And if they are truly ashamed of what they have done, then explain to them the details of its construction—its doors and entrances—and everything about it. Write out all the directions and the rules for them to keep. <sup>12</sup> And this is the basic law of the Temple: Holiness! The entire top of the hill where the Temple is built is holy. Yes, this is the primary law concerning it.

"Son of dust, the Lord God says: These are the measurements of the altar to be made in the future, when it is erected for the burning of offerings and the sprinkling of blood upon it. <sup>19</sup> At that time the Zadok family of the Levite tribe, who are my ministers, are to be given a bull-ock for a sin offering. <sup>20</sup> You shall take some of its blood and smear it on the four horns of the altar and on the four corners of the top platform and in the curb around it. This will cleanse and make atonement for the altar. <sup>21</sup> Then take the bull-ock for the sin offering and burn it at the appointed place outside the Temple area.

<sup>25</sup> "Every day for seven days a male goat, a bullock and a ram from the flock shall be sacrificed as a sin offering. None are to have any defects or unhealthiness of any kind. <sup>26</sup> Do this each day for seven days to cleanse and make atonement for the altar, thus consecrating it. <sup>27</sup> On the eighth day, and on each day afterward, the priests will sacrifice on the altar the burnt offerings and thank offerings of the people, and I will accept you, says the Lord

God."

44 THEN THE LORD brought me back to the outer wall's eastern passageway, but it was closed. <sup>2</sup> And he said to me:

"This gate shall remain closed; it shall never be opened. No man shall pass through it; for the Lord, the God of Israel, entered here and so it shall remain shut. <sup>3</sup> Only the prince—because he is the prince—may sit inside the passageway to feast there before the Lord. But he shall go and come only through the entry hall of the passage."

<sup>4</sup> Then he brought me through the north passageway to the front of the Temple. I looked and saw that the glory of the Lord filled the Temple of the Lord, and I fell to the ground with my face in the dust.

<sup>5</sup> And the Lord said to me:

"Son of dust, notice carefully; use your eyes and ears. Listen to all I tell you about the laws and rules of the Temple of the Lord. Note carefully who may be admitted to the Temple, and who is to be excluded from it. <sup>6</sup> And say to these rebels, the people of Israel, The Lord God says: O Israel, you have sinned greatly, <sup>7</sup> by letting the uncircumcised into my sanctuary—those who have no heart for God—when you offer me my food, the fat and the blood. Thus you have broken my covenant in addition to all your other sins. <sup>8</sup> You have not kept the laws I gave you concerning these holy affairs, for you have hired foreigners to take charge of my sanctuary.

<sup>9</sup> "The Lord God says: No foreigner of all the many among you shall enter my sanctuary if he has not been circumcised and does not love the Lord. <sup>10</sup> And the men of the tribe of Levi who abandoned me when Israel strayed away from God to idols must be punished for their unfaithfulness. <sup>11</sup> They may be Temple guards and gatemen; they may slay the animals brought for burnt offerings and be present to help the people. <sup>12</sup> But because they encouraged the people to worship other gods, causing Israel to fall into deep sin, I have raised my hand and taken oath, says the Lord God, that they must be punished. <sup>13</sup> They shall not come near me to minister as priests; they may not touch any of my holy things, for they must bear their shame for all the sins they have committed. <sup>14</sup> They are the Temple caretakers, to do maintenance work and to assist the people in a general way.

<sup>15</sup> "However, the sons of Zadok, of the tribe of Levi, continued as my priests in the Temple when Israel abandoned me for idols. These men shall be my ministers; they shall stand before me to offer the fat and blood of the sacrifices, says the Lord God. <sup>16</sup> They shall enter my sanctuary and come to my Table to minister to me; they shall fulfill my requirements.

<sup>17</sup> "They must wear only linen clothing when they enter the passageway to the inner court, for they must wear no wool while on duty in the inner court or in the Temple. <sup>18</sup> They must wear linen turbans and linen trousers; they must not wear anything that would cause them to perspire. <sup>19</sup> When they return to the outer court, they must take off the clothes they wear while ministering to me, leaving them in the sacred chambers, and put on other clothes lest they consecrate the people by touching them with this clothing.

<sup>23</sup> "He shall teach my people the difference between what is holy and what is secular, what is right and what is wrong.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>24</sup> "They will serve as judges to resolve any disagreements among my people. Their decisions must be based upon my laws. And the priests themselves shall obey my rules and regulations at all the sacred festivals, and they shall see to it that the Sabbath is kept a sacred day.

<sup>25</sup> "A priest must not defile himself by being in the presence of a dead person, unless it is his father, mother, child, brother or unmarried sister. In such cases it is all right. <sup>26</sup> But afterward he must wait seven days before he is cleansed and able to perform his Temple duties again. <sup>27</sup> The first day he returns to work and enters the inner court and the sanctuary, he must offer a sin offering for himself, the Lord God says.

ple by the people—the cereal offerings, the sin offerings and the guilt offerings. Whatever anyone gives to the Lord shall be the priests'. <sup>30</sup> The first of the first-ripe fruits and all the gifts for the Lord shall go to the priests. The first samples of each harvest of grain shall be donated to the priests too, so that the Lord will bless your homes. <sup>31</sup> Priests may never eat meat from any bird or animal that dies a natural death or that dies after being attacked by other animals.

45 "WHEN YOU DIVIDE the land among the tribes of Israel, you shall first give a section of it to the Lord as his holy portion. This piece shall be  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles long and  $6\frac{2}{3}$  miles wide. It shall all be holy ground.

<sup>3</sup> The Temple shall be built within the area which is  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles long and  $3\frac{1}{3}$  miles wide. <sup>4</sup> All this section shall be holy land; it will be used by the priests, who minister in the sanctuary, for their homes and for my Temple.

<sup>5</sup> "The strip next to it,  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles long and  $3\frac{1}{3}$  miles wide, shall be the residence area for the Levites who work at the Temple. <sup>6</sup> Adjacent to the holy lands will be a section  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles by  $1\frac{2}{3}$  miles for a city open to everyone in Israel.

in length, and its eastern and western boundaries are the same as those of the tribal sections. <sup>8</sup> This shall be his allotment. My princes shall no longer oppress and rob my people, but shall assign all the remainder of the land to the people, giving a portion to each tribe. <sup>9</sup> For the Lord God says to the rulers: Quit robbing and cheating my people out of their land, and expelling them from their homes. Always be fair and honest.

for public worship—sin offerings, burnt offerings, meal offerings, drink offerings and thank offerings—to make reconciliation for the people of Israel. This shall be done at the time of the religious feasts, the new moon ceremonies, the Sabbaths and all other similar occasions.

<sup>21</sup> "On the fourteenth day of the same month, you shall celebrate the Passover. It will be a seven-day feast. Only bread without yeast shall be eaten during those days. <sup>22</sup> On the day of Passover the prince shall provide a young bull for a sin offering for himself and all the people of Israel. <sup>23</sup> On each of the seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt offering to the Lord. This daily offering will consist of seven young bulls and seven rams without blemish. A young goat will also be given each day for a sin offering.

<sup>22</sup> "Early in October, during each of the seven days of the annual feast, he shall provide these same sacrifices for the sin offering, burnt offering, meal offering and oil offering.

46 "THE LORD GOD says, the inner wall's eastern entrance shall be closed during the six work days but open on the Sabbath and on the days of the new moon celebrations. <sup>2</sup> The prince shall enter the outside entry hall of the passageway and proceed to the inner wall at the other end while the priest offers his burnt offering and peace offering. He shall worship inside the passageway and then return back to the entrance, which shall not be closed until evening. <sup>3</sup> The people shall worship the Lord in front of this passageway on the Sabbaths and on the days of the new moon celebrations.

<sup>4</sup> "The burnt offering which the prince sacrifices to the Lord on the Sabbath days shall be six lambs and a ram, all unblemished. <sup>5</sup> He shall present a meal offering of one bushel of flour to go with the ram, and whatever amount he is willing for, to go with each lamb. And he shall bring 1½ gallons of olive oil for each bushel of flour. <sup>6</sup> At the new moon celebration, he shall bring one young bull, in perfect condition; six lambs and one ram, all without any blemish. <sup>7</sup> With the young bull, he must bring a bushel<sup>a</sup> of flour for a meal offering. With the ram, he is to bring one bushel<sup>a</sup> of flour. With the lamb, he is to bring whatever he is willing<sup>b</sup> to give. With each bushel he is to bring 1½ gallons of olive oil.

<sup>11</sup> "To summarize: At the special feasts and sacred festivals the meal offering shall be one bushel with the young bull; one bushel with the ram; as much as the prince is willing to give with each lamb; and 1½ gallons of oil with each bushel. <sup>12</sup> Whenever the prince offers an extra burnt offering or peace offering to be sacrificed to the Lord, the inner eastern gate shall be opened up for him to enter and he shall offer his sacrifices just as on the Sabbaths. Then he shall turn around and go out, and the passage shall be shut behind him.

<sup>13</sup> "Each morning a yearling lamb must be sacrificed as a burnt offering to the Lord. <sup>14,15</sup> And there must be a meal offering each morning—1/6 bushel of flour with half a gallon of oil with which to mix it. This is a permanent ordinance—the lamb, the grain offering and the olive oil shall be provided every morning for the daily sacrifice.

his sons, it will belong to him forever. <sup>17</sup> But if he gives a gift of land to one of his servants, the servant may keep it only until the Year of Release (every seventh year) when he is set free; then the land returns to the prince. Only gifts to his sons are permanent. <sup>18</sup> And the prince may never take anyone's property by force. If he gives property to his sons, it must be from his own land, for I don't want my people losing their property and having to move away."

<sup>19,20</sup> After that, using the door through the wall at the side of the main passageway, he led me through the entrance to the block of sacred chambers that faced north. There, at the extreme west end of these rooms, I saw a place where, my guide told me, the priests boil the meat of the trespass offering and sin offering and bake the flour of the flour offerings into bread. They do it here to avoid the necessity of carrying the sacrifices through the outer court, in case they sanctify the people.

<sup>21,22</sup> Then he brought me out to the outer court again and led me to each of the four corners of the court. I saw that in each corner there was a room 70 feet long by 52½ feet wide, enclosed by walls. <sup>23</sup> Around the inside of these walls there ran a line of brick boiling vats, with ovens underneath. <sup>24</sup> He said these rooms were where the Temple assistants—the Levites—boil the sacrifices the people offer.

47 THEN HE BROUGHT me back to the door of the Temple. I saw a stream flowing eastward from beneath the Temple and passing to the right of the altar, that is, on its south side. <sup>1</sup> Then he brought me outside the wall through the north passageway<sup>a</sup> and around to the eastern entrance, where I saw the stream flowing along on the south side [of the eastern passageway<sup>b</sup>]. <sup>2</sup> Measuring as he went, he took me 1,500 feet east along the stream and told me to go across. At that point the water was up to my ankles. <sup>4</sup> He measured off another 1,500 feet and told me to cross again. This time the water was up to my knees. <sup>5</sup> Fifteen hundred feet after that it was up to my waist. Another 1,500 feet and it had become a river so deep I wouldn't be able to get across unless I were to swim. It was too deep to cross on foot.

<sup>6</sup> He told me to keep in mind what I had seen, then led me back along the bank. <sup>7</sup> And now, to my surprise,<sup>b</sup> many trees were growing on both sides of the river!

<sup>8</sup> He told me: "This river flows east through the desert and the Jordan Valley to the Dead Sea, where it will heal the salty waters and make them fresh and pure. <sup>9</sup> Everything touching the water of this river shall live. Fish will abound in the Dead Sea, for its waters will be healed. Wherever this water flows, everything will live. <sup>10</sup> Fishermen will stand along the shores of the Dead Sea, fishing all the way from En-ge-di to En-eglaim. The shores will be filled with nets drying in the sun. Fish of every kind will fill the Dead Sea just as they do the Mediterranean! <sup>11</sup> But the marshes and swamps will not be healed; they will still be salty. <sup>12</sup> All kinds of fruit trees will grow along the river banks. The leaves will never turn brown and fall, and there will always be fruit. There will be a new crop every month—without fail! For they are watered by the river flowing from the Temple. The fruit will be for food and the leaves for medicine.

<sup>18</sup> "The eastern border will run south from Hazar-enon to Mount Hauran, where it will bend westward to the Jordan at the southern tip of the Sea of Galilee, and down along the Jordan River separating Israel from Gilead, past the Dead Sea to Tamar.

Meribath-kadesh and then follow the course of the Brook of Egypt (Wadi el-Arish) to the Mediterranean.

<sup>20</sup> "On the west side, the Mediterranean itself will be your boundary, from the southern boundary to the point where the northern boundary begins.

<sup>21</sup> "Divide the land within these boundaries among the tribes of Israel. <sup>22</sup> Distribute the land as an inheritance for yourselves and for the foreigners who live among you with their families. All children born in the land—whether or not their parents are foreigners—are to be considered citizens and have the same rights your own children have. <sup>23</sup> All these immigrants are to be given land according to the tribe where they now live.

48 "HERE IS THE list of the tribes and the territory each is to get. For Dan: From the northwest boundary at the Mediterranean, across to Hethlon, then to Labweh, and then on to Hazar-enon on the border between Damascus to the south and Hamath to the north. Those are the eastern and western limits of the land. <sup>2</sup> Asher's territory lies south of Dan's and has the same east and west boundaries. <sup>3</sup> Naphtali's land lies south of Asher's, with the same boundary lines on the east and the west. <sup>4</sup> Then comes Manasseh, south of Naphtali, with the same eastern and western boundary lines. <sup>5,6,7</sup> Next, to the south, is Ephraim, and then Reuben and then Judah, all with the same boundaries on the east and the west.

<sup>8</sup> "South of Judah is the land set aside for the Temple. It has the same eastern and western boundaries as the tribal units, with the Temple in the center.<sup>a</sup> <sup>9</sup> This Temple area will be  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles long and  $6\frac{2}{3}$  miles wide.

<sup>10</sup> "A strip of land measuring  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles long by  $3\frac{1}{3}$  miles wide, north to south, surrounds the Temple. <sup>11</sup> It is for the priests, that is, the sons of Zadok who obeyed me and didn't go into sin when the people of Israel and the rest of their tribe of Levi did. <sup>12</sup> It is their special portion when the land is distributed, the most sacred land of all. Next to it lies the area where the other Levites will live. <sup>13</sup> It will be of the same size and shape as the first. Together they measure  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles by  $6\frac{2}{3}$  miles. <sup>14</sup> None of this special land shall ever be sold or traded or used by others, for it belongs to the Lord; it is holy.

<sup>21,22</sup> "The land on both sides of this area, extending clear out to the eastern and western boundaries of Israel, shall belong to the prince. This land, lying between the sections allotted to Judah and Benjamin, is  $8\frac{1}{3}$  miles square on each side of the sacred and city lands.

<sup>30,31</sup> "Each city gate will be named in honor of one of the tribes of Israel. On the north side, with its  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -mile wall, there will be three gates, one named for Reuben, one for Judah and one for Levi. <sup>32</sup> On the east side, with its  $1\frac{1}{2}$ -mile wall, the gates will be named for Joseph, Benjamin and Dan. <sup>33</sup> The south wall, also the same length, will have the gates of Simeon, Issachar and Zebulun; <sup>34</sup> on the  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles of the west side, they will be named for Gad, Asher and Naphtali.

DANIEL

1 THREE YEARS AFTER King Jehoiakim began to rule in Judah, Babylon's King Nebuchadnezzar attacked Jerusalem with his armies, and the Lord gave him victory over Jehoiakim. When he returned to Babylon, he took along some of the sacred cups from the Temple of God, and placed them in the treasury of his god in the land of Shinar.

<sup>1a</sup> Then he ordered Ashpenaz, who was in charge of his palace personnel,<sup>a</sup> to select some of the Jewish youths brought back as captives—young men of the royal family and nobility of Judah—and to teach them the Chaldean language and literature.<sup>b</sup> "Pick strong, healthy, good-looking lads," he said; "those who have read widely in many fields, are well informed, alert and sensible, and have enough poise to look good around the palace."

men chosen, all from the tribe of Judah. <sup>1d</sup> However, their superintendent gave them Babylonian names, as follows:

Daniel was called Belteshazzar;

Hananiah was called Shadrach;

Misha-el was called Meshach;

Azariah was called Abednego.

<sup>1e</sup> But Daniel made up his mind not to eat the food and wine given to them by the king.<sup>c</sup> He asked the superintendent for permission to eat other things instead.<sup>d</sup> <sup>1f</sup> Now as it happened, God had given the superintendent a special appreciation for Daniel, and sympathy for his predicament. <sup>1g</sup> But he was alarmed by Daniel's suggestion.

"I'm afraid you will become pale and thin compared with the other youths your age," he said, "and then the king will behead me for neglecting my responsibilities."

<sup>c</sup> Literally, "determined . . . that he would not defile himself." The defilement was probably in eating pork or other foods outlawed in Leviticus.

only vegetables and water; <sup>11</sup> then, at the end of this trial period the steward could see how they looked in comparison with the other fellows who ate the king's rich food, and decide whether or not to let them continue their diet.

<sup>17</sup> God gave these four youths great ability to learn and they soon mastered all the literature and science of the time, and God gave to Daniel special ability in understanding the meanings of dreams and visions.

<sup>18,19</sup> When the three-year training period was completed, the superintendent brought all the young men to the king for oral exams, as he had been ordered to do. King Nebuchadnezzar had long talks with each of them, and none of them impressed him as much as Daniel, Hananiah, Misha-el, and Azariah. So they were put on his regular staff of advisors. <sup>20</sup> And in all matters requiring information and balanced judgment, the king found these young men's advice ten times better than that of all the skilled magicians and wise astrologers in his realm.

2 ONE NIGHT IN the second year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar had a terrifying nightmare, and awoke trembling with fear. And to make matters worse, he couldn't remember his dream! He immediately called in all his magicians, incantationists, sorcerers, and astrologers, and demanded that they tell him what his dream had been.

"I've had a terrible nightmare," he said as they stood before him, "and I can't remember what it was. Tell me, for I fear some tragedy awaits me."

<sup>4</sup> Then the astrologers (speaking in Aramaic) said to the king, "Sir, tell us the dream and then we can tell you what it means."

<sup>5</sup> But the king replied, "I tell you, the dream is gone—I can't remember it. And if you won't tell me what it was and what it means, I'll have you torn limb from limb and your houses made into heaps of rubble! <sup>6</sup> But I will give you many wonderful gifts and honors if you tell me what the dream was and what it means. So, begin!"

<sup>7</sup> They said again, "How can we tell you what the dream means unless you tell us what it was?"

<sup>8,9</sup> The king retorted, "I can see your trick! You're trying to stall for time until the calamity befalls me that the dream foretells. But if you don't tell me the dream, you certainly can't expect me to believe your interpretation!"

<sup>10</sup> The Chaldeans replied to the king, "There isn't a man alive who can tell others what they have dreamed! And there isn't a king in all the world who would ask such a thing! <sup>11</sup> This is an impossible thing the king requires. No one except the gods can tell you your dream, and they are not here to help.”

<sup>14</sup> But when Ari-och, the chief executioner, came to kill them, Daniel handled the situation with great wisdom by asking, <sup>15</sup> “Why is the king so angry? What is the matter?”

Then Ari-och told him all that had happened.

<sup>16</sup> So Daniel went in to see the king. “Give me a little time,” he said, “and I will tell you the dream and what it means.”

<sup>17</sup> Then he went home and told Hananiah, Misha-el, and Azariah, his companions. <sup>18</sup> They asked the God of heaven to show them his mercy by telling them the secret, so they would not die with the others. <sup>19</sup> And that night in a vision God told Daniel what the king had dreamed.

Then Daniel praised the God of heaven, <sup>20</sup> saying, “Blessed be the name of God forever and ever, for he alone has all wisdom and all power. <sup>21</sup> World events are under his control. He removes kings and sets others on their thrones. He gives wise men their wisdom, and scholars their intelligence. <sup>22</sup> He reveals profound mysteries beyond man’s understanding. He knows all hidden things, for he is light, and darkness is no obstacle to him. <sup>23</sup> I thank and praise you, O God of my fathers, for you have given me wisdom and glowing health, and now, even this vision of the king’s dream, and the understanding of what it means.”

<sup>24</sup> Then Daniel went in to see Ari-och, who had been ordered to execute the wise men of Babylon, and said, “Don’t kill them. Take me to the king and I will tell him what he wants to know.”

<sup>25</sup> Then Ari-och hurried Daniel in to the king and said, “I’ve found one of the Jewish captives who will tell you your dream!”

<sup>26</sup> The king said to Daniel, “Is this true? Can you tell me what my dream was and what it means?”

<sup>27</sup> Daniel replied, “No wise man, astrologer, magician, or wizard can tell the king such things, <sup>28</sup> but there is a God in heaven who reveals secrets, and he has told you in your dream what will happen in the future. This was your dream:

<sup>29</sup> “You dreamed of coming events. He who reveals secrets was speaking to you. <sup>30</sup> (But remember, it’s not because I am wiser than any living person that I know this secret of your dream, for God showed it to me for your benefit.)

into a heap of iron, clay, brass, silver, and gold; its pieces were crushed as small as chaff, and the wind blew them all away. But the Rock that knocked the statue down became a great mountain that covered the whole earth.

<sup>37</sup> "Your Majesty, you are a king over many kings, for the God of heaven has given you your kingdom, power, strength and glory. <sup>38</sup> You rule the farthest provinces, and even animals and birds are under your control, as God decreed. You are that head of gold.

<sup>39</sup> "But after your kingdom has come to an end, another world power<sup>b</sup> will arise to take your place. This empire will be inferior to yours. And after that kingdom has fallen, yet a third great power<sup>c</sup>—represented by the bronze belly of the statue—will rise to rule the world. <sup>40</sup> Following it, the fourth kingdom<sup>d</sup> will be strong as iron—smashing, bruising, and conquering. <sup>41,42</sup> The feet and toes you saw—part iron and part clay—show that later on, this kingdom will be divided. Some parts of it will be as strong as iron, and some as weak as clay. <sup>43</sup> This mixture of iron with clay also shows that these kingdoms will try to strengthen themselves by forming alliances with each other through intermarriage of their rulers; but this will not succeed, for iron and clay don't mix.

a kingdom that will never be destroyed; no one will ever conquer it. It will shatter all these kingdoms into nothingness, but it shall stand forever, indestructible. <sup>45</sup> That is the meaning of the Rock cut from the mountain without human hands—the Rock that crushed to powder all the iron and brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold.

"Thus the great God has shown what will happen in the future, and this interpretation of your dream is as sure and certain as my description of it."

<sup>46</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar fell to the ground before Daniel and worshiped him, and commanded his people to offer sacrifices and burn sweet incense before him.

<sup>47</sup> "Truly, O Daniel," the king said, "your God is the God of gods, Ruler of kings, the Revealer of mysteries, because he has told you this secret."

<sup>48</sup> Then the king made Daniel very great; he gave him many costly gifts, and appointed him to be ruler over the whole province of Babylon, as well as chief over all his wise men.

<sup>49</sup> Then, at Daniel's request, the king appointed Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego as Daniel's assistants, to be in charge of all the affairs of the province of Babylon; Daniel served as chief magistrate in the king's court.

3 KING NEBUCHADNEZZAR
MADE a golden statue ninety feet high and nine feet wide and set it up on the Plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon; <sup>2</sup> then he sent messages to all the princes, governors, captains, judges, treasurers, counselors, sheriffs, and rulers of all the provinces of his empire, to come to the dedication of his statue. <sup>3</sup> When they had all arrived and were standing before the monument, <sup>4</sup> a herald shouted out, "O people of all nations and languages, this is the king's command:

<sup>8</sup> But some officials went to the king and accused some of the Jews of refusing to worship!

<sup>9</sup> "Your Majesty," they said to him, <sup>10</sup> "you made a law that everyone must fall down and worship the golden statue when the band<sup>a</sup> begins to play, <sup>11</sup> and that anyone who refuses will be thrown into a flaming furnace. <sup>12</sup> But there are some Jews out there—Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, whom you have put in charge of Babylonian affairs—who have defied you, refusing to serve your gods or to worship the golden statue you set up."

shach, and Abednego," he asked, "that you are refusing to serve my gods or to worship the golden statue I set up? <sup>15</sup> I'll give you one more chance. When the music plays, if you fall down and worship the statue, all will be well. But if you refuse, you will be thrown into a flaming furnace within the hour. And what god can deliver you out of my hands then?"

<sup>16</sup> Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego replied, "O Nebuchadnezzar, we are not worried about what will happen to us. <sup>17</sup> If we are thrown into the flaming furnace, our God is able to deliver us; and he will deliver us out of your hand, Your Majesty. <sup>18</sup> But if he doesn't, please understand, sir, that even then we will never under any circumstance serve your gods or worship the golden statue you have erected."

the roaring flames.

<sup>24</sup> But suddenly, as he was watching, Nebuchadnezzar jumped up in amazement and exclaimed to his advisors, "Didn't we throw three men into the furnace?"

"Yes," they said, "we did indeed, Your Majesty."

<sup>26</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar came as close as he could to the open door of the flaming furnace and yelled: "Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God! Come out! Come here!" So they stepped out of the fire.

<sup>27</sup> Then the princes, governors, captains, and counselors crowded around them and saw that the fire hadn't touched them—not a hair of their heads was singed; their coats were unscorched, and they didn't even smell of smoke!

<sup>28</sup> Then Nebuchadnezzar said, "Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, for he sent his angel to deliver his trusting servants when they defied the king's commandment, and were willing to die rather than serve or worship any god except their own." <sup>29</sup> Therefore, I make this decree, that any person of any nation, language, or religion<sup>d</sup> who speaks a word against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego shall be torn limb from limb and his house knocked into a heap of rubble. For no other God can do what this one does."

<sup>30</sup> Then the king gave promotions to Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, so that they prospered greatly there in the province of Babylon.

4 THIS IS THE proclamation of Nebuchadnezzar the king, which he sent to people of every language in every nation of the world:

Greetings:

<sup>2</sup> I want you all to know about the strange thing that the Most High God did to me. <sup>3</sup> It was incredible—a mighty miracle! And now I know for sure that his kingdom is everlasting; he reigns forever and ever.

<sup>4</sup> I, Nebuchadnezzar, was living in peace and prosperity, <sup>5</sup> when one night I had a dream that greatly frightened me. <sup>6</sup> I called in all the wise men of Babylon to tell me the meaning of my dream, <sup>7</sup> but when they came—the magicians, astrologers, fortune-tellers, and wizards—and I told them the dream, they couldn't interpret it. <sup>8</sup> At last Daniel came in—the man I named Belteshazzar after my god—the man in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and I told him the dream.

<sup>9</sup> "O Belteshazzar, master magician," I said, "I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you and no mystery is too great for you to solve. Tell me what my dream means:

<sup>10,11</sup> "I saw a very tall tree out in a field, growing higher and higher into the sky until it could be seen by everyone in all the world. <sup>12</sup> Its leaves were fresh and green, and its branches were weighted down with fruit, enough for everyone to eat. Wild animals rested beneath its shade and birds sheltered in its branches, and all the world was fed from it. <sup>13</sup> Then as I lay there dreaming, I saw one of God's angels<sup>a</sup> coming down from heaven.

<sup>14</sup> "He shouted, 'Cut down the tree; lop off its branches; shake off its leaves, and scatter its fruit. Get the animals out from under it and the birds from its branches,' <sup>15</sup> but leave its stump and roots in the ground, banded with a chain of iron and brass, surrounded by the tender grass. Let the dews of heaven drench him and let him eat grass with the wild animals! <sup>16</sup> For seven years let him have the mind of an animal instead of a man. <sup>17</sup> For this has been decreed by the Watchers, demanded by the Holy Ones. The purpose of this decree is that all the world may understand that the Most High dominates the kingdoms of the world, and gives them to anyone he wants to, even the lowliest of men!"

<sup>18</sup> "O Belteshazzar, that was my dream; now tell me what it means. For no one else can help me; all the wisest men of my kingdom have failed me. But you can tell me, for the spirit of the holy gods is in you."

Daniel replied: "Oh, that the events foreshadowed in this dream would happen to your enemies, my lord, and not to you! <sup>20</sup> For the tree you saw growing so tall, reaching high into the heavens for all the world to see, <sup>21</sup> with its fresh green leaves, loaded with fruit for all to eat, the wild animals living in its shade, with its branches full of birds— <sup>22</sup> that tree, Your Majesty, is you. For you have grown strong and great; your greatness reaches up to heaven, and your rule to the ends of the earth.

<sup>23</sup> "Then you saw God's angel<sup>c</sup> coming down from heaven and saying, 'Cut down the tree and destroy it, but leave the stump and the roots in the earth surrounded by tender grass, banded with a chain of iron and brass. Let him be wet with the dew of heaven. For seven years let him eat grass with the animals of the field.'

<sup>24</sup> "Your Majesty, the Most High God has decreed—and it will surely happen— <sup>25</sup> that your people will chase you from your palace, and you will live in the fields like an animal, eating grass like a cow, your back wet with dew from heaven. For seven years this will be your life, until you learn that the Most High God dominates the kingdoms of men, and gives power to anyone he chooses. <sup>26</sup> But the stump and the roots were left in the ground! This means that you will get your kingdom back again, when you have learned that heaven rules.

spare you."

<sup>28</sup> But all these things happened to Nebuchadnezzar. <sup>29</sup> Twelve months after this dream, he was strolling on the roof of the royal palace in Babylon, <sup>30</sup> and saying, "I, by my own mighty power, have built this beautiful city as my royal residence, and as the capital of my empire."

<sup>31</sup> While he was still speaking these words, a voice called down from heaven, "O King Nebuchadnezzar, this message is for you: You are no longer ruler of this kingdom. <sup>32</sup> You will be forced out of the palace to live with the animals in the fields, and to eat grass like the cows for seven years until you finally realize that God parcels out the kingdoms of men and gives them to anyone he chooses."

<sup>33</sup> That very same hour this prophecy was fulfilled. Nebuchadnezzar was chased from his palace and ate grass like the cows, and his body was wet with dew; his hair grew as long as eagles' feathers, and his nails were like birds' claws.

<sup>34</sup> "At the end of seven years<sup>d</sup> I, Nebuchadnezzar, looked up to heaven, and my sanity returned, and I praised and worshiped the Most High God and honored him who lives forever, whose rule is everlasting, his kingdom evermore. <sup>35</sup> All the people of the earth are nothing when compared to him; he does whatever he thinks best among the hosts of heaven, as well as here among the inhabitants of earth. No one can stop him or challenge him, saying, 'What do you mean by doing these things?' <sup>36</sup> When my mind returned to me, so did my honor and glory and kingdom. My counselors and officers came back to me and I was reestablished as head of my kingdom, with even greater honor than before.

<sup>37</sup> "Now, I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise and glorify and honor the King of Heaven, the Judge of all, whose every act is right and good; for he is able to take those who walk proudly and push them into the dust!"

5 BELSHAZZAR THE KING invited a thousand of his officers to a great feast where the wine flowed freely. <sup>2,3,4</sup> While Belshazzar was drinking he was reminded of the gold and silver cups taken long before from the Temple in Jerusalem during Nebuchadnezzar's reign, and brought to Babylon. Belshazzar ordered that these sacred cups be brought in to the feast, and when they arrived he and his princes, wives, and concubines drank toasts from them to their idols made of gold and silver, brass and iron, wood and stone.

what it means, will be dressed in purple robes of royal honor with a gold chain around his neck, and become the third ruler<sup>a</sup> in the kingdom!"

<sup>8</sup> But when they came, none of them could understand<sup>b</sup> the writing or tell him what it meant.

<sup>9</sup> The king grew more and more hysterical; his face reflected the terror he felt, and his officers too were shaken. <sup>10</sup> But when the queen-mother heard what was happening, she rushed to the banquet hall and said to Belshazzar, "Calm yourself, Your Majesty, don't be so pale and frightened over this. <sup>11</sup> For there is a man in your kingdom who has within him the spirit of the holy gods. In the days of your father this man was found to be as full of wisdom and understanding as though he were himself a god. And in the reign of King Nebuchadnezzar,<sup>c</sup> he was made chief of all the magicians, astrologers, Chaldeans and soothsayers of Babylon. <sup>12</sup> Call for this man, Daniel—or Belteshazzar, as the king called him—for his mind is filled with divine knowledge and understanding. He can interpret dreams, explain riddles, and solve knotty problems. He will tell you what the writing means."

<sup>13</sup> So Daniel was rushed in to see the king. The king asked him, "Are you the Daniel that King Nebuchadnezzar brought from Israel as a Jewish captive? <sup>14</sup> I have heard that you have the spirit of the gods within you and that you are filled with enlightenment and wisdom. <sup>15</sup> My wise men and astrologers have tried to read that writing on the wall, and tell me what it means, but they can't. <sup>16</sup> I am told that you can solve all kinds of mysteries. If you can tell me the meaning of those words, I will clothe you in purple robes, with a golden chain around your neck, and make you the third ruler in the kingdom."

<sup>17</sup> Daniel answered, "Keep your gifts, or give them to someone else, but I will tell you what they mean. <sup>18</sup> Your Majesty, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar, who long ago preceded you, a kingdom and majesty and glory and honor. <sup>19</sup> He gave him such majesty that all the nations of the world trembled before him in fear. He killed any who offended him, and spared any he liked. At his whim they rose or fell. <sup>20</sup> But when his heart and mind were hardened in pride, God removed him from his royal throne and took away his glory, <sup>21</sup> and he was chased out of his palace into the fields. His thoughts and feelings became those of an animal, and he lived among the wild donkeys; he ate grass like the cows and his body was wet with the dew of heaven, until at last he knew that the Most High overrules the kingdoms of men, and that he appoints anyone he desires to reign over them.

<sup>22</sup> "And you, his successor, O Belshazzar—you knew all this, yet you have not been humble. <sup>23</sup> For you have defied the Lord of a Belshazzar was the second under Nabonidus his father, who was out of town at the time.

b Since the writing was in familiar Aramaic, they could read the words but could not determine their prophetic significance.

c Literally, "King Nebuchadnezzar your father"—the Aramaic word for "father" can also mean "predecessor," in this instance, fifth removed.

Heaven, and brought here these cups from his Temple; and you and your officers and wives and concubines have been drinking wine from them while praising gods of silver, gold, brass, iron, wood, and stone—gods that neither see nor hear, nor know anything at all. But you have not praised the God who gives you the breath of life and controls your destiny! <sup>24,25</sup> And so God sent those fingers to write this message: 'Mene,' 'Mene,' 'Tekel,' 'Parsin.'

"Mene means 'numbered'—God has numbered the days of your reign, and they are ended.

<sup>27</sup> "Tekel means 'weighed'—you have been weighed in God's balances and have failed the test.

<sup>28</sup> "Parsin means 'divided'—your kingdom will be divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

<sup>29</sup> Then at Belshazzar's command, Daniel was robed in purple, and a golden chain was hung around his neck, and he was proclaimed third ruler in the kingdom.

6 DARIUS DIVIDED THE kingdom into 120 provinces, each under a governor. <sup>2</sup> The governors were accountable to three presidents (Daniel was one of them) so that the king could administer the kingdom efficiently.

presidents and governors, for he had great ability, and the king began to think of placing him over the entire empire as his administrative officer.

<sup>4</sup> This made the other presidents and governors very jealous, and they began searching for some fault in the way Daniel was handling his affairs so that they could complain to the king about him. But they couldn't find anything to criticize! He was faithful and honest, and made no mistakes. <sup>5</sup> So they concluded, "Our only chance is his religion!"

<sup>7</sup> We presidents, governors, counselors and deputies have unanimously decided that you should make a law, irrevocable under any circumstance, that for the next thirty days anyone who asks a favor of God or man—except from you, Your Majesty—shall be thrown to the lions. <sup>8</sup> Your Majesty, we request your signature on this law; sign it so that it cannot be canceled or changed; it will be a 'law of the Medes and Persians' that cannot be revoked."

<sup>10</sup> But though Daniel knew about it, he went home and knelt down as usual in his upstairs bedroom, with its windows open toward Jerusalem, and prayed three times a day, just as he always had, giving thanks to his God.

<sup>11</sup> Then the men thronged to Daniel's house and found him praying there, asking favors of his God.

<sup>d</sup> This Darius is not to be confused with Darius the Persian, mentioned in Ezra, Haggai, and Zechariah, nor with the one in Nehemiah 12:22.

<sup>12</sup> They rushed back to the king and reminded him about his law. "Haven't you signed a decree," they said, "that permits no petitions to any God or man—except you—for thirty days? And anyone disobeying will be thrown to the lions?"

"Yes," the king replied, "it is 'a law of the Medes and Persians,' that cannot be altered or revoked."

<sup>13</sup> Then they told the king, "That fellow Daniel, one of the Jewish captives, is paying no attention to you or your law. He is asking favors of his God three times a day."

<sup>14</sup> Hearing this, the king was very angry with himself for signing the law, and determined to save Daniel. He spent the rest of the day trying to think of some way to get Daniel out of this predicament.

<sup>15</sup> In the evening the men came again to the king and said, "Your Majesty, there is nothing you can do. You signed the law and it cannot be changed."

<sup>16</sup> So at last the king gave the order for Daniel's arrest, and he was taken to the den of lions. The king said to him, "May your God, whom you worship continually, deliver you." And then they threw him in.

<sup>18</sup> Then the king returned to his palace and went to bed without dinner. He refused his usual entertainment and didn't sleep all night.

<sup>19</sup> Very early the next morning he hurried out to the lions' den, <sup>20</sup> and called out in anguish, "O Daniel, servant of the Living God, was your God, whom you worship continually, able to deliver you from the lions?"

<sup>21</sup> Then he heard a voice! "Your Majesty, live forever!" It was Daniel! <sup>22</sup> "My God has sent his angel," he said, "to shut the lions' mouths so that they can't touch me; for I am innocent before God, nor, sir, have I wronged you."

<sup>23</sup> The king was beside himself with joy and ordered that Daniel be lifted from the den. And not a scratch was found on him, because he believed in his God.

<sup>24</sup> Then the king issued a command to bring the men who had accused Daniel, and throw them into the den along with their children and wives, and the lions leaped upon them and tore them apart before they ever hit the bottom of the den. <sup>25,26</sup> Afterward King Darius wrote this message addressed to everyone in his empire:

"Greetings! I decree that everyone shall tremble and fear before the God of Daniel in every part of my kingdom. For his God is the living, unchanging God whose kingdom shall never be destroyed and whose power shall never end.

7 ONE NIGHT DURING the first year of Belshazzar's reign over the Babylonian empire, Daniel had a dream and he wrote it down. This is his description of what he saw:

<sup>2</sup> In my dream I saw a great storm on a mighty ocean, with strong winds blowing from every direction. <sup>3</sup> Then four huge animals came up out of the water, each different from the other. <sup>4</sup> The first was like a lion, but it had eagle's wings! And as I watched, its wings were pulled off so that it could no longer fly, and it was left standing on the ground, on two feet, like a man; and a man's mind was given to it. <sup>5</sup> The second animal looked like a bear with its paw raised, ready to strike. It held three ribs between its teeth, and I heard a voice saying to it, "Get up! Devour many people!" <sup>6</sup> The third of these strange animals looked like a leopard, but on its back it had wings like those of birds, and it had four heads! And great power was given to it over all mankind.

<sup>7</sup> Then, as I watched in my dream, a fourth animal rose up out of the ocean, too dreadful to describe and incredibly strong. It devoured some of its victims by tearing them apart with its huge iron teeth, and others it crushed beneath its feet. It was far more brutal and vicious than any of the other animals, and it had ten horns.

<sup>8</sup> As I was looking at the horns, suddenly another small horn appeared among them, and three of the first ones were yanked out, roots and all, to give it room; this little horn had a man's eyes and a bragging mouth.

<sup>9</sup> I watched as thrones were put in place and the Ancient of Days—the Almighty God—sat down to judge. His clothing was as white as snow, his hair like whitest wool. He sat upon a fiery throne brought in on flaming wheels, and <sup>10</sup> a river of fire flowed from before him. Millions of angels ministered to him and hundreds of millions of people stood before him, waiting to be judged. Then the court began its session and The Books were opened.

<sup>11</sup> As I watched, the brutal fourth animal was killed and its body handed over to be burned because of its arrogance against Almighty God, and the boasting of its little horn. <sup>12</sup> As for the other three animals, their kingdoms were taken from them, but they were allowed to live a short time longer.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Next I saw the arrival of a Man—or so he seemed to be—brought there on clouds from heaven; he approached the Ancient of Days and was presented to him. <sup>14</sup> He was given the ruling power and glory over all the nations of the world, so that all people of every language must obey him. His power is eternal—it will never end; his government shall never fall.

<sup>15</sup> I was confused and disturbed by all I had seen (Daniel wrote in his report), <sup>16</sup> so I approached one of those standing beside the throne and asked him the meaning of all these things, and he explained them to me.

<sup>17</sup> "These four huge animals," he said, "represent four kings who will someday rule the earth. <sup>18</sup> But in the end the people of the Most High God shall rule the governments of the world forever and forever."

<sup>19</sup> Then I asked about the fourth animal, the one so brutal and shocking, with its iron teeth and brass claws that tore men apart and that stamped others to death with its feet. <sup>20</sup> I asked, too, about the ten horns and the little horn that came up afterward and destroyed three of the others—the horn with the eyes, and the loud, bragging mouth, the one which was stronger than the others. <sup>21</sup> For I had seen this horn warring against God's people and winning, <sup>22</sup> until the Ancient of Days came and opened his court and vindicated his people, giving them worldwide powers of government.

<sup>23</sup> "This fourth animal," he told me, "is the fourth world power<sup>b</sup> that will rule the earth. It will be more brutal than any of the others; it will devour the whole world, destroying everything before it. <sup>24</sup> His ten horns are ten kings that will rise out of his empire; then another king<sup>c</sup> will arise, more brutal than the other ten, and will destroy three of them. <sup>25</sup> He will defy the Most High God, and wear down the saints with persecution, and try to change all laws, morals, and customs.<sup>d</sup> God's people will be helpless in his hands for three and a half years.

<sup>26</sup> "But then the Ancient of Days will come<sup>e</sup> and open his court of justice and take all power from this vicious king, to consume and destroy it until the end. <sup>27</sup> Then every nation under heaven, and all their power, shall be given to the people of God;<sup>f</sup> they shall rule all things forever, and all rulers shall serve and obey them."

<sup>28</sup> That was the end of the dream. When I awoke, I was greatly disturbed, and my face was pale with fright, but I told no one what I had seen.

8 IN THE THIRD year of the reign of King Belshazzar, I had another dream similar to the first.

<sup>2</sup> This time I was at Susa, the capital<sup>a</sup> in the province of Elam, standing beside the Ulai River. <sup>3</sup> As I was looking around, I saw a ram with two long horns standing on the river bank; and as I watched, one of these horns began to grow, so that it was longer than the other. <sup>4</sup> The ram butted everything out of its way and no one could stand against it or help its victims. It did as it pleased and became very great.

<sup>8</sup> The victor became both proud and powerful, but suddenly, at the height of his power, his horn was broken, and in its place grew four good-sized horns<sup>b</sup> pointing in four directions. <sup>9</sup> One of these, growing slowly at first, soon became very strong and attacked the south and east, and warred against the land of Israel.<sup>c</sup> <sup>10</sup> He fought against the people of God<sup>d</sup> and defeated some of their leaders.<sup>d</sup> <sup>11</sup> He even challenged the Commander<sup>e</sup> of the army of heaven by canceling the daily sacrifices offered to him, and by defiling his Temple. <sup>12</sup> But the army of heaven was restrained from destroying him for this transgression. As a result, truth and righteousness perished, and evil triumphed and prospered.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>13</sup> Then I heard two of the holy angels talking to each other. One of them said, "How long will it be until the daily sacrifice is restored again? How long until the destruction of the Temple is avenged and God's people triumph?"

<sup>15</sup> As I was trying to understand the meaning of this vision, suddenly a man was standing in front of me—or at least he looked like a man—<sup>16</sup> and I heard a man's voice calling from across the river, "Gabriel, tell Daniel the meaning of his dream."

<sup>17</sup> So Gabriel started toward me. But as he approached, I was too frightened to stand, and fell down with my face to the ground. "Son of man," he said, "you must understand that the events you have seen in your vision will not take place until the end times come."

<sup>18</sup> Then I fainted, lying face downward on the ground. But he roused me with a touch, and helped me to my feet. <sup>19</sup> "I am here," he said, "to tell you what is going to happen in the last days of the coming time of terror—for what you have seen pertains to that final event in history."

mighty, but it will be satanic strength and not his own. Prospering wherever he turns, he will destroy all who oppose him, though their armies be mighty, and he will devastate God's people.

<sup>23</sup> "He will be a master of deception, defeating many by catching them off guard as they bask in false security. Without warning he will destroy them. So great will he fancy himself to be that he will even take on the Prince of Princes in battle; but in so doing he will seal his own doom, for he shall be broken by the hand of God, though no human means could overpower him.

<sup>26</sup> "And then in your vision you heard about the twenty-three hundred days to pass before the rights of worship are restored. This number is literal, and means just that.<sup>j</sup> But none of these things will happen for a long time, so don't tell anyone about them yet."

<sup>27</sup> Then I grew faint and was sick for several days. Afterward I was up and around again and performed my duties for the king, but I was greatly distressed by the dream and did not understand it.

9 IT WAS NOW the first year of the reign of King Darius, the son of Ahasuerus. (Darius was a Mede but became king of the Chaldeans.)<sup>2</sup> In that first year of his reign, I, Daniel, learned from the book of Jeremiah the prophet, that Jerusalem must lie desolate for seventy years.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup> So I earnestly pleaded with the Lord God [to end our captivity and send us back to our own land<sup>b</sup>].

As I prayed, I fasted, and wore rough sackcloth, and sprinkled myself with ashes, <sup>4</sup> and confessed my sins and those of my people.

"O Lord," I prayed, "you are a great and awesome God; you always fulfill your promises of mercy to those who love you and who keep your laws. <sup>5</sup> But we have sinned so much; we have rebelled against you and scorned your commands. <sup>6</sup> We have refused to listen to your servants the prophets, whom you sent again and again down through the years, with your messages to our kings and princes and to all the people.

<sup>7</sup> "O Lord, you are righteous; but as for us, we are always shamefaced with sin, just as you see us now; yes, all of us—the men of Judah, the people of Jerusalem, and all Israel, scattered near and far wherever you have driven us because of our disloyalty to you. <sup>8</sup> O Lord, we and our kings and princes and fathers are weighted down with shame because of all our sins.

<sup>9</sup> "But the Lord our God is merciful, and pardons even those who have rebelled against him.

<sup>10</sup> "O Lord our God, we have disobeyed you; we have flouted all the laws you gave us through your servants, the prophets. <sup>11</sup> All Israel has disobeyed; we have turned away from you and haven't listened to your voice. And so the awesome curse of God has crushed us—the curse written in the law of Moses your servant. <sup>12</sup> And you have done exactly as you warned us you would do, for never in all history has there been a disaster like what happened at Jerusalem to us and our rulers.

<sup>13</sup> Every curse against us written in the law of Moses has come true; all the evils he predicted—all have come. But even so we still refuse to satisfy the Lord our God by turning from our sins and doing right.

<sup>14</sup> "And so the Lord deliberately crushed us with the calamity he prepared; he is fair in everything he does, but we would not obey. <sup>15</sup> O Lord our God, you brought lasting honor to your name by removing your people from Egypt in a great display of power. Lord, do it again! Though we have sinned so much and are full of wickedness, <sup>16</sup> yet because of all your faithful mercies, Lord, please turn away your furious anger from Jerusalem, your own city, your holy mountain. For the heathen mock at you because your city lies in ruins for our sins.

<sup>17</sup> "O our God, hear your servant's prayer! Listen as I plead! Let your face shine again with peace and joy upon your desolate sanctuary—for your own glory, Lord.

<sup>18</sup> "O my God, bend down your ear and listen to my plea. Open your eyes and see our wretchedness, how your city lies in ruins—for everyone knows that it is yours. We don't ask because we merit help, but because you are so merciful despite our grievous sins.

<sup>19</sup> "O Lord, hear; O Lord, forgive. O Lord, listen to me and act! Don't delay—for your own sake, O my God, because your people and your city bear your name."

<sup>20</sup> Even while I was praying and confessing my sin and the sins of my people, and desperately pleading with the Lord my God for Jerusalem, his holy mountain, <sup>21</sup> Gabriel, whom I had seen in the earlier vision, flew swiftly to me at the time of the evening sacrifice, <sup>22</sup> and said to me, "Daniel, I am here to help you understand God's plans. <sup>23</sup> The moment you began praying, a command was given. I am here to tell you what it was, for God loves you very much. Listen, and try to understand the meaning of the vision that you saw!

<sup>24</sup> "The Lord has commanded 490 years<sup>c</sup> of further punishment upon Jerusalem and your people. Then at last they will learn to stay away from sin, and their guilt will be cleansed; then the kingdom of everlasting righteousness will begin, and the Most Holy Place (in the Temple) will be rededicated, as the prophets have declared. <sup>25</sup> Now listen! It will be forty-nine years plus 434 years<sup>d</sup> from the time the command is given to rebuild Jerusalem, until the Anointed One comes! Jerusalem's streets and walls will be rebuilt despite the perilous times.

For their future fulfillment see verse 27 and the Revelation. killed, his kingdom still unrealized . . . and a king will arise whose armies will destroy the city and the Temple. They will be overwhelmed as with a flood, and war and its miseries are decreed from that time to the very end.<sup>7</sup> This king will make a seven-year treaty with the people, but after half that time, he will break his pledge and stop the Jews from all their sacrifices and their offerings; then, as a climax to all his terrible deeds, the Enemy shall utterly defile the sanctuary of God. But in God's time and plan, his judgment will be poured out upon this Evil One."

10 IN THE THIRD year of the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia, Daniel (also called Belteshazzar) had another vision. It concerned events certain to happen in the future: times of great tribulation—wars and sorrows, and this time he understood what the vision meant.

<sup>1</sup> When this vision came to me (Daniel said later) I had been in mourning for three full weeks. <sup>2</sup> All that time I tasted neither wine nor meat, and of course I went without desserts. I neither washed nor shaved nor combed my hair.

<sup>3</sup> Then one day early in April, as I was standing beside the great Tigris River, <sup>4</sup> I looked up and suddenly there before me stood a person robed in linen garments, with a belt of purest gold around his waist, and glowing, lustrous skin! From his face came blinding flashes like lightning, and his eyes were pools of fire; his arms and feet shone like polished brass, and his voice was like the roaring of a vast multitude of people.

<sup>5</sup> I, Daniel, alone saw this great vision; the men with me saw nothing, but they were suddenly filled with unreasoning terror and ran to hide, <sup>6</sup> and I was left alone. When I saw this frightening vision my strength left me, and I grew pale and weak with fright.

<sup>7</sup> Then he spoke to me, and I fell to the ground face downward in a deep faint. <sup>8</sup> But a hand touched me and lifted me, still trembling, to my hands and knees. <sup>9</sup> And I heard his voice—"O Daniel, greatly beloved of God," he said, "stand up and listen carefully to what I have to say to you, for God has sent me to you." So I stood up, still trembling with fear.

<sup>10</sup> Then he said, "Don't be frightened, Daniel, for your request has been heard in heaven and was answered the very first day you began to fast before the Lord and pray for understanding; that very day I was sent here to meet you. <sup>11</sup> But for twenty-one days the mighty Evil Spirit who overrules the kingdom of Persia<sup>a</sup> blocked my way. Then Michael, one of the top officers of the heavenly army, came to help me, so that I was able to break through these spirit rulers of Persia. <sup>12</sup> Now I am here to tell you what will happen to your people, the Jews, at the end times—for the fulfillment of this prophecy is many years away."

<sup>13</sup> All this time I was looking down, unable to speak a word. <sup>14</sup> Then someone—he looked like a man—touched my lips and I could talk again, and I said to the messenger ger from heaven, "Sir, I am terrified by your appearance and have no strength." <sup>17</sup> How can such a person as I even talk to you? For my strength is gone and I can hardly breathe."

<sup>18</sup> Then the one who seemed to be a man touched me again, and I felt my strength returning. <sup>19</sup> "God loves you very much," he said; "don't be afraid! Calm yourself; be strong—yes, strong!"

Suddenly, as he spoke these words, I felt stronger and said to him, "Now you can go ahead and speak, sir, for you have strengthened me."

<sup>20,21</sup> He replied, "Do you know why I have come? I am here to tell you what is written in the "Book of the Future." Then, when I leave, I will go again to fight my way back, past the prince of Persia; and after him, the prince of Greece. Only Michael, the angel who guards your people Israel,<sup>b</sup> will be there to help me.

11 "I WAS THE one sent to strengthen and help Darius the Mede in the first year of his reign. <sup>2</sup> But now I will show you what the future holds. Three more Persian kings will reign, to be succeeded by a fourth,<sup>a</sup> far richer than the others. Using his wealth for political advantage, he will plan total war against Greece.

<sup>6</sup> "Several years later an alliance will be formed between the king of Syria<sup>d</sup> and the king of Egypt. The daughter of the king of Egypt will be given in marriage to the king of Syria as a gesture of peace,<sup>e</sup> but she will lose her influence over him and not only will her hopes be blighted, but those of her father, the king of Egypt, and of her ambassador and child. <sup>7</sup> But when her brother<sup>f</sup> takes over as king of Egypt, he will raise an army against the king of Syria, and march against him and defeat him. <sup>8</sup> When he returns again to Egypt he will carry back their idols with him, along with priceless gold and silver dishes and for many years afterward he will leave the Syrian king alone.

will invade Egypt briefly, but will soon return again to his own land.<sup>10,11</sup> However, the sons of this Syrian king will assemble a mighty army that will overflow across Israel into Egypt, to a fortress there. Then the king of Egypt,<sup>h</sup> in great anger, will rally against the vast forces of Syria and defeat them.<sup>12</sup> Filled with pride after this great victory, he will have many thousands of his enemies killed, but his success will be short-lived.

<sup>13</sup> "A few years later the Syrian king<sup>i</sup> will return with a fully-equipped army far greater than the one he lost,<sup>14</sup> and other nations will join him in a crusade against Egypt. Insurgents among your own people, the Jews, will join them, thus fulfilling prophecy,<sup>j</sup> but they will not succeed.<sup>15</sup> Then the Syrian king and his allies will come and lay siege to a fortified city of Egypt and capture it, and the proud armies of Egypt will go down to defeat.

<sup>16</sup> "The Syrian king will march onward unopposed; none will be able to stop him. And he will also enter 'The Glorious Land' of Israel, and pillage it.<sup>17</sup> This will be his plot for conquering all Egypt: he too will form an alliance with the Egyptian king, giving him a daughter in marriage, so that she can work for him from within. But the plan will fail.

<sup>18</sup> "After this he will turn his attention to the coastal cities and conquer many. But a general will stop him and cause him to retreat in shame.<sup>19</sup> He will turn homeward again, but will have trouble on the way, and disappear.

<sup>25</sup> Then he will stir up his courage and raise a great army against Egypt; and Egypt, too, will raise a mighty army, but to no avail, for plots against him will succeed.

<sup>27</sup> "Both these kings<sup>n</sup> will be plotting against each other at the conference table, attempting to deceive each other. But it will make no difference, for neither can succeed until God's appointed time has come.

<sup>28</sup> "The Syrian king will then return home with great riches, first marching through Israel and destroying it. <sup>29</sup> Then, at the predestined time, he will once again turn his armies southward, as he had threatened, but now it will be a very different story from those first two occasions. <sup>30,31</sup> For Roman warships<sup>o</sup> will scare him off, and he will withdraw and return home. Angered by having to retreat, the Syrian king will again pillage Jerusalem and pollute the sanctuary,<sup>p</sup> putting a stop to the daily sacrifices, and worshipping idols inside the temple.<sup>q</sup> He will leave godless Jews in power when he leaves—men who have abandoned their fathers' faith. <sup>32</sup> He will flatter those who hate the things of God,<sup>r</sup> and win them over to his side. But the people who know their God<sup>s</sup> shall be strong and do great things.

<sup>33</sup> "Those with spiritual understanding will have a wide ministry of teaching in those days. But they will be in constant danger, many of them dying by fire and sword, or being jailed and robbed. <sup>34</sup> Eventually these pressures will subside, and some ungodly men will come, pretending to offer a helping hand, only to take advantage of them.

<sup>35</sup> "And some who are most gifted in the things of God will stumble in those days and fall, but this will only refine and cleanse them and make them pure until the final end of all their trials, at God's appointed time.

<sup>36</sup> "The king will do exactly as he pleases, claiming to be greater than every god there is, even blaspheming the God of gods, and prospering—until his time is up. For God's plans are unshakable. <sup>37</sup> He will have no regard for the gods of his fathers, nor for the god beloved of women,<sup>t</sup> nor any other god, for he will boast that he is greater than them all. <sup>38</sup> Instead of these he will worship the Fortress god<sup>u</sup>—a god his fathers never knew—and lavish on him costly gifts! <sup>39</sup> Claiming his help he will have great success against the strongest fortresses. He will honor those who submit to him, appointing them to positions of authority and dividing the land to them as their reward.

<sup>7</sup> He replied, with both hands lifted to heaven, taking oath by him who lives forever and ever, that they will not end until three and a half years<sup>c</sup> after the power of God's people has been crushed.

<sup>8</sup> I heard what he said but I didn't understand what he meant, so I said, "Sir, how will this all come out?"

<sup>9</sup> But he said, "Go now, Daniel, for what I have said is not to be understood until the time of the end. <sup>10</sup> Many shall be purified by great trials and persecutions. But the wicked shall continue in their wickedness, and none of them will understand. Only those who are willing to learn will know what it means.

HOSEA

1 THESE ARE THE messages from the Lord to Hosea, son of Beeri, during the reigns of these four kings of Judah:

Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah; and one of the kings of Israel, Jeroboam, son of Joash.

The Lord said to Hosea, "Go and marry a girl who is a prostitute, so that some of her children will be born to you from other men. This will illustrate the way my people have been untrue to me, committing open adultery against me by worshipping other gods."

<sup>3</sup> So Hosea married Gomer, daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son.

<sup>4</sup> And the Lord said, "Name the child Jezreel, for in the Valley of Jezreel I am about to punish King Jehu's dynasty to avenge the murders<sup>a</sup> he committed; in fact, I will put an end to Israel as an independent kingdom, breaking the power of the nation in the Valley of Jezreel."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>6</sup> Soon Gomer had another child—this one a daughter. And God said to Hosea, "Name her Loruhamah (meaning 'No more mercy') for I will have no more mercy upon Israel, to forgive her again.<sup>7</sup> But I will have mercy on the tribe of Judah. I will personally free her from her enemies without any help from her armies or her weapons."<sup>c</sup> <sup>8</sup> After Gomer had weaned Loruhamah, she again conceived and this time gave birth to a son.<sup>9</sup> And God said, "Call him Lo-ammi (meaning 'Not mine'), for Israel is not mine and I am not her God.

<sup>10</sup> "Yet the time will come when Israel shall prosper and become a great nation; in that day her people will be too numerous to count—like sand along a seashore! Then, instead of saying to them, 'You are not my people,' I will tell them, 'You are my sons, children of the Living God.'"<sup>11</sup> Then the people of Judah and Israel will unite and have one leader; they will return from exile together; what a day that will be—the day when God will sow his people in the fertile soil of their own land again."<sup>d</sup>

2 O JEZREEL,<sup>a</sup> RENAME your brother and sister. Call your brother Ammi (which means "Now you are mine"); name your sister Ruhamah ("Pitied"), for now God will have mercy upon her!

the day she was born, and cause her to waste away and die of thirst as in a land riddled with famine and drought. <sup>4</sup> And I will not give special favors to her children as I would to my own, for they are not my children; they belong to other men.

<sup>5</sup> For their mother has committed adultery. She did a shameful thing when she said, "I'll run after other men and sell myself to them for food and drinks and clothes."

<sup>6</sup> But I will fence her in with briars and thornbushes; I'll block the road before her to make her lose her way, so that <sup>7</sup> when she runs after her lovers she will not catch up with them. She will search for them but not find them. Then she will think, "I might as well return to my husband, for I was better off with him than I am now."

<sup>8</sup> She doesn't realize that all she has, has come from me. It was I who gave her all the gold and silver that she used in worshiping Baal, her god!

<sup>9</sup> But now I will take back the wine and ripened corn I constantly supplied, and the clothes I gave her to cover her nakedness—I will no longer give her rich harvests of grain in its season, or wine at the time of the grape harvest. <sup>10</sup> Now I will expose her nakedness in public for all her lovers to see, and no one will be able to rescue her from my hand.

<sup>11</sup> I will put an end to all her joys, her parties, holidays, and feasts. <sup>12</sup> I will destroy her vineyards and her orchards—gifts she claims her lovers gave her—and let them grow into a jungle; wild animals will eat their fruit.

<sup>13</sup> For all the incense that she burned to Baal her idol and for the times when she put on her earrings and jewels and went out looking for her lovers, and deserted me: for all these things I will punish her, says the Lord.

<sup>14</sup> But I will court her again, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak to her tenderly there. <sup>15</sup> There I will give back her vineyards to her, and transform her Valley of Troubles into a Door of Hope. She will respond to me there, singing with joy as in days long ago in her youth, after I had freed her from captivity in Egypt.

<sup>16</sup> In that coming day, says the Lord, she will call me "My Husband" instead of "My Master."<sup>b</sup> <sup>17</sup> O Israel, I will cause you to forget your idols, and their names will not be spoken anymore.

<sup>18</sup> At that time I will make a treaty between you and the wild animals, birds, and snakes, not to fear each other any more; and I will destroy all weapons, and all wars will end.

Then you will lie down in peace and safety, unafraid; <sup>19</sup> and I will bind you to me forever with chains of righteousness and justice and love and mercy. <sup>20</sup> I will betroth you to me in faithfulness and love, and you will really know me then as you never have before.

<sup>21,22</sup> In that day, says the Lord, I will answer the pleading of the sky for clouds, to pour down water on the earth in answer to its cry for rain. Then the earth can answer the parched cry of the grain, the grapes, and the olive trees for moisture and for dew—and the whole grand chorus shall sing together that "God sows!"<sup>c</sup> He has given all!

<sup>2</sup> At that time I will sow a crop of Israelites and raise them for myself! I will pity those who are "not pitied,"<sup>d</sup> and I will say to those who are "not my people," "Now you are my people"; and they will reply, "You are our God!"

3 THEN THE LORD said to me, "Go, and get your wife again and bring her back to you and love her, even though she loves adultery. For the Lord still loves Israel though she has turned to other gods and offered them choice gifts."

<sup>3</sup> So I bought her [back from her slavery<sup>a</sup>] for a couple of dollars and eight bushels of barley, <sup>4</sup> and I said to her, "You must live alone for many days; do not go out with other men nor be a prostitute, and I will wait for you."

<sup>4</sup> This illustrates the fact that Israel will be a long time without a king or prince, and without an altar, temple, priests, or even idols!

<sup>5</sup> Afterward they will return to the Lord their God, and to the Messiah, their King,<sup>b</sup> and they shall come trembling, submissive to the Lord and to his blessings, in the end times.

4 HEAR THE WORD of the Lord, O people of Israel. The Lord has filed a lawsuit against you listing the following charges: There is no faithfulness, no kindness, no knowledge of God in your land. <sup>2</sup> You swear and lie and kill and steal and commit adultery. There is violence everywhere, with one murder after another.

<sup>4</sup> Don't point your finger at someone else, and try to pass the blame to him! Look, priest, I am pointing my finger at you. <sup>5</sup> As a sentence for your crimes, you priests will stumble in broad daylight as well as in the night, and so will your false "prophets" too; and I will destroy your mother, Israel. <sup>6</sup> My people are destroyed because they don't know me, and it is all your fault, you priests, for you yourselves refuse to know me; therefore I refuse to recognize you as my priests. Since you have forgotten my laws, I will "forget" to bless your children. <sup>7</sup> The more my people multiplied, the more they sinned against me. They exchanged the glory of God for the disgrace of idols.

<sup>8</sup> The priests rejoice in the sins of the people; they lap it up and lick their lips for more! <sup>9</sup> And thus it is: "Like priests, like people"—because the priests are wicked, the people are too. Therefore, I will punish both priests and people for all their wicked deeds. <sup>10</sup> They will eat and still be hungry. Though they do a big business as prostitutes,

they shall have no children, for they have deserted me and turned to other gods.

<sup>12</sup> For they are asking a piece of wood to tell them what to do. "Divine Truth" comes to them through tea leaves!<sup>a</sup> Longing after idols has made them foolish. For they have played the harlot, serving other gods, deserting me. <sup>13</sup> They sacrifice to idols on the tops of mountains; they go up into the hills to burn incense in the pleasant shade of oaks and poplars and terebinth trees.

There your daughters turn to prostitution and your brides commit adultery. <sup>14</sup> But why should I punish them? For you men are doing the same thing, sinning with harlots and temple prostitutes. Fools! Your doom is sealed, for you refuse to understand.

shall sweep them away; they shall die in shame, because they sacrifice to idols.

5 LISTEN TO THIS, you priests and all of Israel's leaders; listen, all you men of the royal family: You are doomed! For you have deluded the people with idols at Mizpah and Tabor, <sup>2</sup> and dug a deep pit to trap them at Acacia. But never forget—I will settle up with all of you for what you've done.

<sup>3</sup> I have seen your evil deeds: Israel, you have left me as a prostitute leaves her husband; you are utterly defiled. <sup>4</sup> Your deeds won't let you come to God again, for the spirit of adultery is deep within you, and you cannot know the Lord.

<sup>5</sup> The very arrogance of Israel testifies against her in my court. She will stumble under her load of guilt, and Judah, too, shall fall. <sup>6</sup> Then at last, they will come with their flocks and herds to sacrifice to God, but it will be too late—they will not find him. He has withdrawn from them and they are left alone.

become the lowest sort of thieves.<sup>a</sup> Therefore, I will pour my anger down upon them like a waterfall,<sup>11</sup> and Ephraim will be crushed and broken by my sentence because she is determined to follow idols.<sup>12</sup> I will destroy her as a moth does wool; I will sap away the strength of Judah like dry rot.

<sup>13</sup> When Ephraim and Judah see how sick they are, Ephraim will turn to Assyria, to the great king there, but he can neither help nor cure.

<sup>14</sup> I will tear Ephraim and Judah as a lion rips apart its prey; I will carry them off and chase all rescuers away.<sup>15</sup> I will abandon them and return to my home until they admit their guilt and look to me for help again, for as soon as trouble comes, they will search for me and say:

6 "COME, LET US return to the Lord; it is he who has torn us—he will heal us. He has wounded—he will bind us up.<sup>2</sup> In just a couple of days,<sup>a</sup> or three at the most, he will set us on our feet again, to live in his kindness! <sup>3</sup> Oh, that we might know the Lord! Let us press on to know him, and he will respond to us as surely as the coming of dawn or the rain of early spring."

<sup>4</sup> O Ephraim and Judah, what shall I do with you? For your love vanishes like morning clouds, and disappears like dew. <sup>5</sup> I sent my prophets to warn you of your doom; I have slain you with the words of my mouth, threatening you with death. Suddenly, without warning, my judgment will strike you as surely as day follows night.

<sup>6</sup> I don't want your sacrifices—I want your love; I don't want your offerings—I want you to know me.

<sup>11</sup> O Judah, for you also there is a plentiful harvest of punishment waiting—and I wanted so much to bless you!

7 I WANTED TO forgive Israel, but her sins were far too great—no one can even live in Samaria without being a liar, thief, and bandit!

Their plot smolders through the night, and in the morning it flames forth like raging fire.

<sup>8</sup> My people mingle with the heathen, picking up their evil ways; thus they become as good-for-nothing as a half-baked cake!

<sup>9</sup> Worshiping foreign gods has sapped their strength, but they don't know it. Ephraim's hair is turning gray, and he doesn't even realize how weak and old he is.

<sup>10</sup> His pride in other gods has openly condemned him; yet he doesn't return to his God, nor even try to find him.

<sup>11</sup> Ephraim is a silly, witless dove, calling to Egypt, flying to Assyria. <sup>12</sup> But as she flies, I throw my net over her and bring her down like a bird from the sky; I will punish her for all her evil ways.

<sup>13</sup> Woe to my people for deserting me; let them perish, for they have sinned against me. I wanted to redeem them but their hard hearts would not accept the truth. <sup>14</sup> They lie there sleepless with anxiety, but won't ask my help. Instead, they worship heathen gods, asking them for crops and for prosperity.

<sup>16</sup> They look everywhere except to heaven, to the Most High God. They are like a crooked bow that always misses targets; their leaders will perish by the sword of the enemy for their insolence to me.

And all Egypt will laugh at them.

8 SOUND THE ALARM! They are coming! Like a vulture, the enemy descends upon the people of God because they have broken my treaty and revolted against my laws.

<sup>2</sup> Now Israel pleads with me and says, "Help us, for you are our God!" <sup>3</sup> But it is too late! Israel has thrown away her chance with contempt, and now her enemies will chase her. <sup>4</sup> She has appointed kings and princes, but not with my consent. They have cut themselves off from my help by worshiping the idols that they made from their silver and gold.

<sup>5</sup> O Samaria, I reject this calf—this idol you have made. My fury burns against you. How long will it be before one honest man is found among you? <sup>6</sup> When will you admit this calf you worship was made by human hands! It is not God! Therefore, it must be smashed to bits.

<sup>7</sup> They have sown the wind and they will reap the whirlwind. Their cornstalks stand there barren, withered, sickly, with no grain; if it has any, foreigners will eat it.

<sup>8</sup> Israel is destroyed; she lies among the nations as a broken pot. <sup>9</sup> She is a lonely, wandering wild ass. The only friends she has are those she hires; Assyria is one of them.

<sup>10</sup> But though she hires "friends" from many lands, I will send her off to exile. Then for a while at least she will be free of the burden of her wonderful king! <sup>11</sup> Ephraim has built many altars, but they are not to worship me! They are altars of sin! <sup>12</sup> Even if I gave her ten thousand laws, she'd say they weren't for her—that they applied to someone far away. <sup>13</sup> Her people love the ritual of their sacrifice, but to me it is meaningless! I will call for an accounting of their sins and punish them; they shall return to Egypt.

<sup>14</sup> Israel has built great palaces; Judah has constructed great defenses for her cities, but they have forgotten their Maker. Therefore, I will send down fire upon those palaces and burn those fortresses.

9 O ISRAEL, REJOICE no more as others do, for you have deserted your God and sacrificed to other gods on every threshing floor.

<sup>2</sup> Therefore your harvests will be small; your grapes will blight upon the vine.

<sup>3</sup> You may no longer stay here in this land of God; you will be carried off to Egypt and Assyria, and live there on scraps of food. <sup>4</sup> There, far from home, you are not allowed to pour out wine for sacrifice to God. For no sacrifice that is offered there can please him; it is polluted, just as food of mourners is; all who eat such sacrifices are defiled. They may eat this food to feed themselves, but may not offer it to God. <sup>5</sup> What then will you do on holy days, on days of feasting to the Lord, <sup>6</sup> when you are carried off to Assyria as slaves? Who will inherit your possessions left behind? Egypt will! She will gather your dead; Memphis will bury them. And thorns and thistles will grow up among the ruins.

<sup>7</sup> The time of Israel's punishment has come; the day of recompense is almost here and soon Israel will know it all too well. "The prophets are crazy"; "The inspired men are mad." Yes, so they mock, for the nation is weighted with sin, and shows only hatred for those who love God.

<sup>8</sup> I appointed the prophets to guard my people, but the people have blocked them at every turn and publicly declared their hatred, even in the Temple of the Lord.

<sup>9</sup> The things my people do are as depraved as what they did in Gibeah<sup>a</sup> long ago. The Lord does not forget. He will surely punish them.

<sup>10</sup> O Israel, how well I remember those first delightful days when I led you through the wilderness! How refreshing was your love! How satisfying, like the early figs of summer in their first season! But then you deserted me for Baal-peor,<sup>b</sup> to give yourselves to other gods, and soon you were as foul as they. <sup>11</sup> The glory of Israel flies away like a bird, for your children will die at birth, or perish in the womb, or never even be conceived. <sup>12</sup> And if your children grow, I will take them from you; all are doomed. Yes, it will be a sad day when I turn away and leave you alone.

<sup>13</sup> In my vision I have seen the sons of Israel doomed. The fathers are forced to lead their sons to slaughter. <sup>14</sup> O Lord, what shall I ask for your people? I will ask for wombs that don't give birth, for

breasts that cannot nourish.

<sup>15</sup> All their wickedness began at Gilgal;<sup>c</sup> there I began to hate them. I will drive them from my land because of their idolatry. I will love them no more, for all their leaders are rebels. <sup>16</sup> Ephraim is doomed. The roots of Israel are dried up; she shall bear no more fruit. And if she gives birth, I will slay even her beloved child.

<sup>17</sup> My God will destroy the people of Israel because they will not listen or obey. They will be wandering Jews, homeless among the nations.

10 HOW PROSPEROUS ISRAEL is—a luxuriant vine all filled with fruit! But the more wealth I give her, the more she pours it on the altars of her heathen gods; the richer the harvests I give her, the more beautiful the statues and idols she erects. <sup>2</sup> The hearts of her people are false toward God. They are guilty and must be punished. God will break down their heathen altars and smash their idols. <sup>3</sup> Then they will say, “We deserted the Lord and he took away our king. But what’s the difference? We don’t need one anyway!”

<sup>4</sup> They make promises they don’t intend to keep. Therefore punishment will spring up among them like poisonous weeds in the furrows of the field. <sup>5</sup> The people of Samaria tremble lest their calf-god idols at Beth-aven should be hurt; the priests and people, too, mourn over the departed honor of their shattered gods. <sup>6</sup> This idol—this calf-

god thing—will be carted with them when they go as slaves to Assyria, a present to the great king there. Ephraim will be laughed at for trusting in this idol; Israel will be put to shame. <sup>7</sup> As for Samaria, her king shall disappear like a chip of wood upon an ocean wave. <sup>8</sup> And the idol altars of Aven at Bethel where Israel sinned will crumble. Thorns and thistles will grow up to surround them. And the people will cry to the mountains and hills to fall upon them and crush them.

<sup>9</sup> O Israel, ever since that awful night in Gibeah,<sup>a</sup> there has been only sin, sin, sin! You have made no progress whatever. Was it not right that the men of Gibeah were wiped out? <sup>10</sup> I will come against you for your disobedience; I will gather the armies of the nations against you to punish you for your heaped-up sins.

<sup>11</sup> Ephraim is accustomed to treading out the grain—an easy job she loves. I have never put her under a heavy yoke before; I have spared her tender neck. But now I will harness her to the plow and harrow. Her days of ease are gone.

<sup>12</sup> Plant the good seeds of righteousness and you will reap a crop of my love; plow the hard ground of your hearts, for now is the time to seek the Lord, that he may come and shower salvation upon you.

<sup>13</sup> But you have cultivated wickedness and raised a thriving crop of sins. You have earned the full reward of trusting in a lie—believing that military might and great armies can make a nation safe!

shall rise among your people, and all your forts will fall, just as at Beth-arbel, which Shalman<sup>b</sup> destroyed; even mothers and children were dashed to death there. <sup>13</sup> That will be your fate, too, you people of Israel, because of your great wickedness. In one morning the king of Israel shall be destroyed.

11 WHEN ISRAEL WAS a child I loved him as a son and brought him out of Egypt. <sup>2</sup> But the more I called to him, the more he rebelled, sacrificing to Baal and burning incense to idols. <sup>3</sup> I trained him from infancy, I taught him to walk, I held him in my arms. But he doesn't know or even care that it was I who raised him.

<sup>4</sup> As a man would lead his favorite ox,<sup>a</sup> so I led Israel with my ropes of love. I loosened his muzzle so he could eat. I myself have stooped and fed him. <sup>5</sup> But my people shall return to Egypt and Assyria because they won't return to me.

<sup>6</sup> War will swirl through their cities; their enemies will crash through their gates and trap them in their own fortresses. <sup>7</sup> For my people are determined to desert me. And so I have sentenced them to slavery, and no one shall set them free.

<sup>8</sup> Oh, how can I give you up, my Ephraim? How can I let you go? How can I forsake you like Admah and Zeboiim?<sup>b</sup> My heart cries out within me; how I long to help you! <sup>9</sup> No, I will not punish you as much as my fierce anger tells me to. This is the last time I will destroy Ephraim. For I am God and not man; I am the Holy One living among you, and I did not come to destroy.

<sup>12</sup> Israel surrounds me with lies and deceit, but Judah still trusts in God and is faithful to the Holy One.

12 ISRAEL IS CHASING the wind, yes, shepherding a whirlwind—a dangerous game!<sup>a</sup> For she has given gifts to Egypt and Assyria to get their help, and in return she gets their worthless promises. <sup>2</sup> But the Lord is bringing a lawsuit against Judah,<sup>b</sup> too. Judah also will be justly punished for his ways. <sup>3</sup> When he was born, he struggled with his brother; when he became a man, he even fought with God. <sup>4</sup> Yes, he wrestled with the Angel and prevailed. He wept and pleaded for a blessing from him. He met God there at Bethel face to face. God spoke to him— <sup>5</sup> the Lord, the God of Hosts; Jehovah is his name.

honest scales—they love to cheat. <sup>8</sup> Ephraim boasts, "I am so rich! I have gotten it all by myself!" But riches can't make up for sin.

<sup>9</sup> I am the same Lord, the same God, who delivered you from slavery in Egypt, and I am the one who will consign you to living in tents again, as you do each year at the Tabernacle Feast. <sup>10</sup> I sent my prophets to warn you with many a vision and many a parable and dream. <sup>11</sup> But the sins of Gilgal flourish just the same. Row on row of altars—like furrows in a field—are used for sacrifices to your idols. And Gilead, too, is full of fools<sup>c</sup> who worship idols. <sup>12</sup> Jacob fled to Syria and earned a wife by tending sheep. <sup>13</sup> Then the Lord led his people out of Egypt by a prophet, who guided and protected them. <sup>14</sup> But Ephraim has bitterly provoked the Lord. The Lord will sentence him to death as payment for his sins.

13 IT USED TO be when Israel spoke, the nations shook with fear, for he was a mighty prince; but he worshiped Baal and sealed his doom.

<sup>4</sup> I alone am God, your Lord, and have been ever since I brought you out from Egypt. You have no God but me, for there is no other Savior. <sup>5</sup> I took care of you in the wilderness, in that dry and thirsty land. <sup>6</sup> But when you had eaten and were satisfied, then you became proud and forgot me. <sup>7</sup> So I will come upon you like a lion, or a leopard lurking along the road. <sup>8</sup> I will rip you to pieces like a bear whose cubs have been taken away, and like a lion I will devour you.

<sup>9</sup> O Israel, if I destroy you, who can save you? <sup>10</sup> Where is your king? Why don't you call on him for help? Where are all the leaders of the land? You asked for them, now let them save you! <sup>11</sup> I gave you kings in my anger, and I took them away<sup>a</sup> in my wrath. <sup>12</sup> Ephraim's sins are harvested and stored away for punishment.

<sup>13</sup> New birth is offered him, but he is like a child resisting in the womb—how stubborn! how foolish! <sup>14</sup> Shall I ransom him from hell? Shall I redeem him from Death? O Death, bring forth your terrors for his tasting! O Grave, demonstrate your plagues! For I will not relent!

<sup>15</sup> He was called the most fruitful of all his brothers, but the east wind—a wind of the Lord from the desert—will blow hard upon him and dry up his land. All his flowing springs and green oases will dry away, and he will die of thirst. <sup>16</sup> Samaria must bear her guilt, for she rebelled against her God. Her people will be killed by the invading army, her babies dashed to death against the ground, her pregnant women ripped open with a sword.

14 O ISRAEL, RETURN to the Lord, your God, for you have been crushed by your sins. <sup>2</sup> Bring your petition. Come to the Lord and say, "O Lord, take away our sins; be gracious to us and receive us, and we will offer you the sacrifice of praise. <sup>3</sup> Assyria cannot save us, nor can our strength in battle; never again will we call the idols we have made 'our gods'; for in you alone, O Lord, the fatherless find mercy."

<sup>4</sup> Then I will cure you of idolatry and faithlessness, and my love will know no bounds, for my anger will be forever gone! <sup>5</sup> I will refresh Israel like the dew from heaven; she will blossom as the lily and root deeply in the soil like cedars in Lebanon. <sup>6</sup> Her branches will spread out, as beautiful as olive trees, fragrant as the forests of Lebanon.

<sup>7</sup> Her people will return from exile far away and rest beneath my shadow. They will be a watered garden and blossom like grapes and be as fragrant as the wines of Lebanon.

<sup>8</sup> O Ephraim! Stay away from idols! I am living and strong! I look after you and care for you. I am like an evergreen tree, yielding my fruit to you throughout the year. My mercies never fail.

JOEL

1 THIS MESSAGE CAME from the Lord to Joel, son of Pethuel:

<sup>2</sup> Listen, you aged men of Israel! Everyone, listen! In all your lifetime, yes, in all your history, have you ever heard of such a thing as I am going to tell you? <sup>3</sup> In years to come, tell your children about it; pass the awful story down from generation to generation. <sup>4</sup> After the cutter-locusts finish eating your crops, the swarmer-locusts will take what's left! After them will come the hopper-locusts! And then the stripper-locusts, too!

<sup>5</sup> Wake up and weep, you drunkards, for all the grapes are ruined and all your wine is gone! <sup>6</sup> A vast army of locusts<sup>a</sup> covers the land. It is a terrible army too numerous to count, with teeth as sharp as those of lions! <sup>7</sup> They have ruined my vines and stripped the bark from the fig trees, leaving trunks and branches white and bare.

<sup>8</sup> Weep with sorrow, as a virgin weeps whose fiancé is dead. <sup>9</sup> Gone are the offerings of grain and wine to bring to the Temple of the Lord; the priests are starving. Hear the crying of these ministers of God. <sup>10</sup> The fields are bare of crops. Sorrow and sadness are everywhere. The grain, the grapes, the olive oil

<sup>11</sup> Well may you farmers stand so shocked and stricken; well may you vinedressers weep. Weep for the wheat and the barley too, for they are gone. <sup>12</sup> The grapevines are dead; the fig trees are dying; the pomegranates wither; the apples shrivel on the trees; all joy has withered with them.

<sup>13</sup> O priests, robe yourselves in sackcloth. O ministers of my God, lie all night before the altar, weeping. For there are no more offerings of grain and wine for you. <sup>14</sup> Announce a fast; call a solemn meeting. Gather the elders and all the people into the Temple of the Lord your God, and weep before him there.

<sup>16</sup> Our food will disappear before our eyes; all joy and gladness will be ended in the Temple of our God.

<sup>17</sup> The seed rots in the ground; the barns and granaries are empty; the grain has dried up in the fields.

<sup>18</sup> The cattle groan with hunger; the herds stand perplexed for there is no pasture for them; the sheep bleat in misery.

<sup>19</sup> Lord, help us! For the heat has withered the pastures and burned up all the trees. <sup>20</sup> Even the wild animals cry to you for help, for there is no water for them. The creeks are dry and the pastures are scorched.

2 SOUND THE ALARM in Jerusalem! Let the blast of the warning trumpet be heard upon my holy mountain! Let everyone tremble in fear, for the day of the Lord's judgment approaches.

some, terrible thing. Who can endure it?

<sup>12</sup> That is why the Lord says, "Turn to me now, while there is time. Give me all your hearts. Come with fasting, weeping, mourning. <sup>13</sup> Let your remorse tear at your hearts and not your garments." Return to the Lord your God, for he is gracious and merciful. He is not easily angered; he is full of kindness, and anxious not to punish you.

<sup>14</sup> Who knows? Perhaps even yet he will decide to let you alone and give you a blessing instead of his terrible curse. Perhaps he will give you so much that you can offer your grain and wine to the Lord as before!

<sup>17</sup> The priests, the ministers of God, will stand between the people and the altar, weeping; and they will pray, "Spare your people, O our God; don't let the heathen rule them, for they belong to you. Don't let them be disgraced by the taunts of the heathen who say, 'Where is this God of theirs? How weak and helpless he must be!'"

<sup>18</sup> Then the Lord will pity his people and be indignant for the honor of his land! <sup>19</sup> He will reply, "See, I am sending you much corn and wine and oil, to fully satisfy your need. No longer will I make you a laughingstock among the nations. <sup>20</sup> I will remove these armies from the north and send them far away; I will turn them back into the parched wastelands where they will die; half shall be driven into the Dead Sea and the rest into the Mediterranean, and then their rotting stench will rise upon the land. The Lord has done a mighty miracle for you."

<sup>21</sup> Fear not, my people; be glad now and rejoice, for he has done amazing things for you.

<sup>22</sup> "Let the flocks and herds forget their hunger; the pastures will turn green again. The trees will bear their fruit; the fig trees and grape vines will flourish once more.

<sup>23</sup> "Rejoice, O people of Jerusalem, rejoice in the Lord your God! For the rains he sends are tokens of forgiveness. Once more the autumn rains will come, as well as those of spring. <sup>24</sup> The threshing floors will pile high again with wheat, and the presses overflow with olive oil and wine. <sup>25</sup> And I will give you back the crops the locusts ate!—my great destroying army that I sent against you. <sup>26</sup> Once again you will have all the food you want.

"Praise the Lord, who does these miracles for you. Never again will my people experience disaster such as this. <sup>27</sup> And you will know that I am here among my people Israel, and that I alone am the Lord, your God. And my people shall never again be dealt a blow like this.

<sup>28</sup> "After I have poured out my rains again, I will pour out my Spirit upon all of you! Your sons and daughters will prophesy; your old men will dream dreams, and your young men see visions. <sup>29</sup> And I will pour out my Spirit even on your slaves, men and women alike, <sup>30</sup> and put strange symbols in the earth and sky—blood and fire and pillars of smoke.

<sup>31</sup> "The sun will be turned into darkness and the moon to blood before the great and terrible Day of the Lord shall come.

<sup>32</sup> "Everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord will be saved; even in Jerusalem some will escape, just as the Lord has promised, for he has chosen some to survive.

3 "AT THAT TIME, when I restore the prosperity of Judah and Jerusalem," says the Lord, <sup>2</sup> "I will gather the armies of the world into the "Valley Where Jehovah Judges"<sup>a</sup> and punish them there for harming my people, for scattering my inheritance among the nations and dividing up my land.

<sup>3</sup> "They divided up my people as their slaves; they traded a young lad for a prostitute, and a little girl for wine enough to get drunk. <sup>4</sup> Tyre and Sidon, don't you try to interfere! Are you trying to take revenge on me, you cities of Philistia? Beware, for I will strike back swiftly, and return the harm to your own heads.

<sup>5</sup> "You have taken my silver and gold and all my precious treasures and carried them off to your heathen temples. <sup>6</sup> You have sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks, who took them far from their own land. <sup>7</sup> But I will bring them back again from all these places you have sold them to, and I will pay you back for all that you have done. <sup>8</sup> I will sell your sons and daughters to the people of Judah and they will sell them to the Sabeans far away. This is a promise from the Lord."

And now, O Lord, bring down your warriors! <sup>12</sup> Collect the nations; bring them to the Valley of Jehoshaphat, for there I will sit to pronounce judgment on them all. <sup>13</sup> Now let the sickle do its work; the harvest is ripe and waiting. Tread the winepress, for it is full to overflowing with the wickedness of these men.

<sup>15</sup> The sun and moon will be darkened and the stars withdraw their light. <sup>16</sup> The Lord shouts from his Temple in Jerusalem and the earth and sky begin to shake. But to his people Israel, the Lord will be very gentle. He is their Refuge and Strength. <sup>17</sup> "Then you shall know at last that I am the Lord your God in Zion, my holy mountain. Jerusalem shall be mine forever; the time will come when no foreign armies will pass through her any more.

tain will burst forth from the Temple of the Lord to water Acacia Valley.

<sup>19</sup> Egypt will be destroyed, and Edom too, because of their violence against the Jews, for they killed innocent people in those nations.

<sup>20</sup> "But Israel will prosper forever, and Jerusalem will thrive as generations pass. <sup>21</sup> For I will avenge the blood of my people: I will not clear their oppressors of guilt. For my home is in Jerusalem<sup>b</sup> with my people."

AMOS

1 AMOS WAS A herdsman living in the village of Tekoa. All day long he sat on the hillsides watching the sheep, keeping them from straying.

<sup>2</sup> One day, in a vision, God told him some of the things that were going to happen to his nation, Israel. This vision came to him at the time Uzziah was king of Judah, and while Jeroboam (son of Joash) was king of Israel—two years before the earthquake.

This is his report of what he saw and heard:

The Lord roared—like a ferocious lion from his lair—from his Temple on Mount Zion. And suddenly the lush pastures of Mount Carmel withered and dried, and all the shepherds mourned.

<sup>3</sup> The Lord says, "The people of Damascus have sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave her unpunished any more. For they have threshed my people in Gilead as grain is threshed with iron rods. <sup>4</sup> So I will set fire to King Hazael's palace, destroying the strong fortress of Ben-hadad. <sup>5</sup> I will snap the bars that locked the gates of Damascus, and kill her people as far away as the plain of Aven, and the people of Syria shall return to Kir<sup>a</sup> as slaves." The Lord has spoken.

<sup>6</sup> The Lord says, "Gaza has sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave her unpunished any more. For she sent my people into exile, selling them as slaves in Edom. <sup>7</sup> So I will set fire to the walls of Gaza, and all her forts shall be destroyed. <sup>8</sup> I will kill the people of Ashdod, and destroy Ekron and the king of Ashkelon; all Philistines left will perish." The Lord has spoken.

<sup>9</sup> The Lord says, "The people of Tyre have sinned again and again and I will not forget it. I will not leave them unpunished any more. For they broke their treaty with their brother, Israel; they attacked and conquered him, and led him into slavery to Edom. <sup>10</sup> So I will set fire to the walls of Tyre, and it will burn down all his forts and pal-

<sup>a</sup> Decreeing that the Syrians should go back to Kir as slaves was like saying to the Israelites that they must go back to Egypt as slaves, for the Syrians had made their exodus from Kir and now were free. (See 9:7).

aces."

<sup>11</sup> The Lord says, "Edom has sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave him unpunished any more. For he chased his brother, Israel, with the sword; he was pitiless in unrelenting anger. <sup>12</sup> So I will set fire to Teman, and it will burn down all the forts of Bozrah."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>13</sup> The Lord says, "The people of Ammon have sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave them unpunished any more.

"For in their wars in Gilead to enlarge their borders, they committed cruel crimes, ripping open pregnant women with their swords.

<sup>14</sup> "So I will set fire to the walls of Rabbah, and it will burn down their forts and palaces; there will be wild shouts of battle like a whirlwind in a mighty storm. <sup>15</sup> And their king and his princes will go into exile together." The Lord has spoken.

2 THE LORD SAYS, "The people of Moab have sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave them unpunished any more. For they desecrated the tombs of the kings of Edom, with no respect for the dead. <sup>2</sup> Now in return I will send fire upon Moab, and it will destroy all the palaces in Kerioth. Moab shall go down in tumult as the warriors shout and trumpets blare. <sup>3</sup> And I will destroy their king and slay all the leaders under him." The Lord has spoken.

"I will not forget my people's sin."

<sup>4</sup> The Lord says, "The people of Judah have sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave them unpunished any more. For they have rejected the laws of God, refusing to obey him. They have hardened their hearts and sinned as their fathers did. <sup>5</sup> So I will destroy Judah with fire, and burn down all Jerusalem's palaces and forts."

<sup>6</sup> The Lord says, "The people of Israel have sinned again and again, and I will not forget it. I will not leave them unpunished any more. For they have perverted justice by accepting bribes, and sold into slavery the poor who can't repay their debts; they trade them for a pair of shoes. <sup>7</sup> They trample the poor in the dust and kick aside the meek.

"And a man and his father defile the same temple-girl, corrupting my holy name. <sup>8</sup> At their religious feasts they lounge in clothing stolen from their debtors,<sup>a</sup> and in my own Temple they offer sacrifices of wine they purchased with stolen money.

<sup>9</sup> "Yet think of all I did for them! I cleared the land of the Amorites before them—the Amorites, as tall as cedar trees, and strong as oaks! But I lopped off their fruit and cut their roots. <sup>10</sup> And I brought you out from Egypt and led you through the desert forty years, to possess the land of the Amorites. <sup>11</sup> And I chose your sons to be Nazirites<sup>b</sup> and prophets—can you deny this, Israel?" asks the Lord. <sup>12</sup> "But you caused the Nazirites to sin by urging them to drink your wine, and you silenced my prophets, telling them, "Shut up!"

<sup>a</sup> Under Mosaic law, it was illegal to keep pledged clothing of debtors overnight. See Exodus 22:26.

<sup>11</sup> "Therefore I will make you groan as a wagon groans that is loaded with sheaves. <sup>12</sup> Your swiftest warriors will stumble in flight. The strong will all be weak, and the great ones can no longer save themselves. <sup>13</sup> The archer's aim will fail, the swiftest runners won't be fast enough to flee, and even the best of horsemen can't outrun the danger then. <sup>14</sup> The most courageous of your mighty men will drop their weapons and run for their lives that day." The Lord God has spoken.

3 LISTEN! THIS IS your doom! It is spoken by the Lord against both Israel and Judah—against the entire family I brought from Egypt:

<sup>2</sup> "Of all the peoples of the earth, I have chosen you alone. That is why I must punish you the more for all your sins. <sup>3</sup> For how can we walk together with your sins between us?

<sup>7</sup> "But always, first of all, I warn you through my prophets. This I now have done."

<sup>8</sup> The Lion has roared—tremble in fear. The Lord God has sounded your doom—I dare not refuse to proclaim it.

Samaria to witness the scandalous spectacle of all Israel's crimes.

<sup>10</sup> My people have forgotten what it means to do right," says the Lord. "Their beautiful homes are full of the loot from their thefts and banditry. <sup>11</sup> Therefore," the Lord God says, "an enemy is coming! He is surrounding them and will shatter their forts and plunder those beautiful homes."

<sup>12</sup> The Lord says, "A shepherd tried to rescue his sheep from a lion, but it was too late; he snatched from the lion's mouth two legs and a piece of ear. So it will be when the Israelites in Samaria are finally rescued—all they will have left is half a chair and a tattered pillow.

<sup>13</sup> "Listen to this announcement, and publish it throughout all Israel," says the Lord, the God of Hosts: <sup>14</sup> "On the same day that I punish Israel for her sins, I will also destroy the idol altars at Bethel. The horns of the altar will be cut off and fall to the ground.

4 LISTEN TO ME, you "fat cows" of Bashan living in Samaria—you women who encourage your husbands to rob the poor and crush the needy—you who never have enough to drink! <sup>2</sup> The Lord God has sworn by his holiness that the time will come when he will put hooks in your noses and lead you away like the cattle you are; they will drag the last of you away with fishhooks! <sup>3</sup> You will be hauled from your beautiful homes and tossed out through the nearest breach in the wall. The Lord has said it.

<sup>4</sup> Go ahead and sacrifice to idols at Bethel and Gilgal. Keep disobeying—your sins are mounting up. Sacrifice each morning and bring your tithes twice a week! <sup>5</sup> Go through all your proper forms and give extra offerings. How you pride yourselves and crow about it everywhere!

<sup>6</sup> "I sent you hunger," says the Lord, "but it did no good; you still would not return to me. <sup>7</sup> I ruined your crops by holding back the rain three months before the harvest. I sent rain on one city, but not another. While rain fell on one field, another was dry and withered. <sup>8</sup> People from two or three cities would make their weary journey for a drink of water to a city that had rain, but there wasn't ever enough. Yet you wouldn't return to me," says the Lord.

<sup>9</sup> "I sent blight and mildew on your farms and your vineyards; the locusts ate your figs and olive trees. And still you wouldn't return to me," says the Lord. <sup>10</sup> "I sent you plagues like those of Egypt long ago. I killed your lads in war and drove away your horses. The stench of death was terrible to smell. And yet you refused to come. <sup>11</sup> I destroyed some of your cities, as I did Sodom and Gomorrah; those left are like half-burned firebrands snatched away from fire. And still you won't return to me," says the Lord.

<sup>12</sup> "Therefore I will bring upon you all these further evils I have spoken of. Prepare to meet your God in judgment, Israel. <sup>13</sup> For you are dealing with the one who formed the mountains and made the winds, and knows your every thought; he turns the morning to darkness and crushes down the mountains underneath his feet: Jehovah, the Lord, the God of Hosts, is his name."

5 SADLY I SING this song of grief for you, O Israel:

<sup>2</sup> "Beautiful Israel lies broken and crushed upon the ground and cannot rise. No one will help her. She is left alone to die." <sup>3</sup> For the Lord God says, "The city that sends a thousand men to battle, a hundred will return. The city that sends a hundred, only ten will come back alive."

<sup>4</sup> The Lord says to the people of Israel, "Seek me—and live. <sup>5</sup> Don't seek the idols of Bethel, Gilgal, or Beer-sheba; for the people of Gilgal will be carried off to exile, and those of Bethel shall surely come to grief."

<sup>6</sup> Seek the Lord and live, or else he will sweep like fire through Israel and consume her, and none of the idols in Bethel can put it out.

<sup>7</sup> O evil men, you make "justice" a bitter pill for the poor and oppressed. "Righteousness" and "fair play" are meaningless fictions to you!

<sup>8</sup> Seek him who created the Seven Stars and the constellation Orion, who turns darkness into morning, and day into night, who calls forth the water from the ocean and pours it out as rain upon the land. The Lord, Jehovah, is his name. <sup>9</sup> With blinding speed and violence he brings destruction on the strong, breaking all defenses.

<sup>10</sup> How you hate honest judges! How you despise people who tell the truth! <sup>11</sup> You trample the poor and steal their smallest crumb by all your taxes, fines, and usury; therefore you will never live in the beautiful stone houses you are building, nor drink the wine from the lush vineyards you are planting.

<sup>12</sup> For many and great are your sins. I know them all so well. You are the enemies of everything good; you take bribes; you refuse justice to the poor. <sup>13</sup> Therefore those who are wise will not try to interfere with the Lord in the dread day of your punishment.

<sup>14</sup> Be good, flee evil—and live! Then the Lord God of Hosts will truly be your Helper, as you have claimed he is. <sup>15</sup> Hate evil and love the good; remodel your courts into true halls of justice. Perhaps even yet the Lord God of Hosts will have mercy on his people who remain.

<sup>16</sup> Therefore the Lord God of Hosts says this: "There will be crying in all the streets and every road. Call for the farmers to weep with you, too; call for professional mourners to wail and lament. <sup>17</sup> There will be sorrow and crying in every vineyard, for I will pass through and destroy. <sup>18</sup> You say, 'If only the Day of the Lord were here, for then God would deliver us from all our foes.' But you have no idea what you ask. For that day will not be light and prosperity, but darkness and doom! How terrible the darkness will be for you; not a ray of joy or hope will shine. <sup>19</sup> In that day you will be as a man who is chased by a lion—and met by a bear, or a man in a dark room who leans against a wall—and puts his hand on a snake. <sup>20</sup> Yes, that will be a dark and hopeless day for you.

<sup>25,26,27</sup> "You sacrificed to me for forty years while you were in the desert, Israel—but always your real interest has been in your heathen gods—in Sakkuth your king, and in Kaiwan, your god of the stars, and in all the images of them you made. So I will send them into captivity with you far to the east of Damascus," says the Lord, the God of Hosts.

6 WOE TO THOSE lounging in luxury at Jerusalem and Samaria, so famous and popular among the people of Israel. <sup>2</sup> Go over to Calneh and see what happened there; then go to great Haniath and down to Gath in the Philistines' land. Once they were better and greater than you, but look at them now. <sup>3</sup> You push away all thought of punishment awaiting you, but by your deeds you bring the Day of Judgment near.

musicians as King David was.

<sup>6</sup> You drink wine by the bucketful and perfume yourselves with sweet ointments, caring nothing at all that your brothers need your help. <sup>7</sup> Therefore you will be the first to be taken as slaves; suddenly your revelry will end.

<sup>8</sup> Jehovah, the Lord God of Hosts, has sworn by his own name, "I despise the pride and false glory of Israel, and hate their beautiful homes. I will turn over this city and everything in it to her enemies."

<sup>9</sup> If there are as few as ten of them left, and even one house, they too will perish. <sup>10</sup> A man's uncle will be the only one left to bury him, and when he goes in to carry his body from the house, he will ask the only one still alive inside, "Are any others left?"

And the answer will be, "No," and he will add, "Shhh . . . don't mention the name of the Lord—he might hear you."

<sup>11</sup> For the Lord commanded this: That homes both great and small should be smashed to pieces.

<sup>12</sup> Can horses run on rocks? Can oxen plow the sea? Stupid even to ask, but no more stupid than what you do when you make a mockery of justice, and corrupt and sour all that should be good and right. <sup>13</sup> And just as stupid is your rejoicing in how great you are, when you are less than nothing! And priding yourselves on your own tiny power!

<sup>14</sup> "O Israel, I will bring against you a nation that will bitterly oppress you from your northern boundary to your southern tip, all the way from Hamath to the brook of Arabah," says the Lord, the God of Hosts.

7 THIS IS WHAT the Lord God showed me in a vision: He was preparing a vast swarm of locusts to destroy all the main crop that sprang up after the first mowing, which went as taxes to the king. <sup>2</sup> They ate everything in sight. Then I said, "O Lord God, please forgive your people! Don't send them this plague! If you turn against Israel, what hope is there? For Israel is so small!" <sup>3</sup> So the Lord relented, and did not fulfill the vision. "I won't do it," he told me.

<sup>4</sup> Then the Lord God showed me a great fire he had prepared to punish them; it had burned up the waters and was devouring the entire land.

<sup>5</sup> Then I said, "O Lord God, please don't do it. If you turn against them, what hope is there? For Israel is so small!"

<sup>6</sup> Then the Lord turned from this plan too, and said, "I won't do that either."

<sup>7</sup> Then he showed me this: The Lord was standing beside a wall built with a plumbline, checking it with a plumbline to see if it was straight. <sup>8</sup> And the Lord said to me, "Amos, what do you see?"

I answered, "A plumbline."

And he replied, "I will test my people with a plumbline. I will no longer turn away from punishing. <sup>9</sup> The idol altars and temples of Israel will be destroyed, and I will destroy the dynasty of King Jeroboam by the sword."

<sup>10</sup> But when Amaziah, the priest of Bethel, heard what Amos was saying, he rushed a message to Jeroboam, the king: "Amos is a traitor to our nation and is plotting your death. This is intolerable. It will lead to rebellion all across the land.

<sup>11</sup> He says you will be killed, and Israel will be sent far away into exile and slavery."

<sup>12</sup> Then Amaziah sent orders to Amos, "Get out of here, you prophet, you! Flee to the land of Judah and do your prophesying there! <sup>13</sup> Don't bother us here with your visions, not here in the capital, where the king's chapel is!"

<sup>14</sup> But Amos replied, "I am not really one of the prophets. I do not come from a family of prophets. I am just a herdsman and fruit picker. <sup>15</sup> But the Lord took me from caring for the flocks and told me, 'Go and prophesy to my people Israel.'

<sup>16</sup> "Now therefore listen to this message to you from the Lord. You say, 'Don't prophesy against Israel.'

<sup>17</sup> "The Lord's reply is this: 'Because of your interference, your wife will become a prostitute in this city, and your sons and daughters will be killed and your land divided up. You yourself will die in a heathen land, and the people of Israel will certainly become slaves in exile, far from their land.'"

8 THEN THE LORD God showed me, in a vision, a basket full of ripe fruit.

I replied, "A basket full of ripe fruit."

Then the Lord said, "This fruit represents my people Israel—ripe for punishment. I will not defer their punishment again. <sup>3</sup> The riotous sound of singing in the Temple will turn to weeping then. Dead bodies will be scattered everywhere.

They will be carried out of the city in silence." The Lord has spoken.

<sup>10</sup> "And I will turn your parties into times of mourning, and your songs of joy will be turned to cries of despair. You will wear funeral clothes and shave your heads as signs of sorrow, as if your only son had died; bitter, bitter will be that day. <sup>11</sup> The time is surely coming," says the Lord God, "when I will send a famine on the land—not a famine of bread or water, but of hearing the words of the Lord. <sup>12</sup> Men will wander everywhere from sea to sea, seeking the Word of the Lord, searching, running here and going there, but will not find it.

9 I SAW THE Lord standing beside the altar, saying, "Smash the tops of the pillars and shake the Temple until the pillars crumble and the roof crashes down upon the people below. Though they run, they will not escape; they all will be killed.

<sup>2</sup> "Though they dig down to Sheol, I will reach down and pull them up; though they climb into the heavens, I will bring them down. <sup>3</sup> Though they hide among the rocks at the top of Carmel, I will search them out and capture them. Though they hide at the bottom of the ocean, I will send the sea-serpent after them to bite and destroy them.

<sup>4</sup> "Though they volunteer for exile, I will command the sword to kill them there. I will see to it that they receive evil and not good."

<sup>5</sup> The Lord God of Hosts touches the land and it melts, and all its people mourn. It rises like the river Nile in Egypt, and then sinks again. <sup>6</sup> The upper stories of his home are in the heavens, the first floor on the earth. He calls for the vapor to rise from the ocean and pours it down as rain upon the ground. Jehovah, the Lord, is his name.

<sup>7</sup> "O people of Israel, are you any more to me than the Ethiopians are? Have not I, who brought you out of Egypt, done as much for other people, too? I brought the Philistines from Caphtor and the Syrians out of Kir.

<sup>8</sup> "The eyes of the Lord God are watching Israel, that sinful nation, and I will root her up and scatter her across the world. Yet I have promised that this rooting out will not be permanent. <sup>9</sup> For I have commanded that Israel be sifted by the other nations as grain is sifted in a sieve, yet not one true kernel will be lost. <sup>10</sup> But all these sinners who say, 'God will not touch us,' will die by the sword.

<sup>11</sup> "Then, at that time, I will rebuild the City of David, which is now lying in ruins, and return it to its former glory, <sup>12</sup> and Israel will possess what is left of Edom, and of all the nations that belong to me." For so the Lord, who plans it all, has said.

<sup>13</sup> "The time will come when there will be such abundance of crops, that the harvest time will scarcely end before the farmer starts again to sow another crop, and the terraces of grapes upon the hills of Israel will drip sweet wine! <sup>14</sup> I will restore the fortunes of my people Israel, and they shall rebuild their ruined cities, and live in them again, and they shall plant vineyards and gardens and eat their crops and drink their wine. <sup>15</sup> I will firmly plant them there upon the land that I have given them; they shall not be pulled up again," says the Lord your God.

OBADIAH

1 In a vision the Lord God showed Obadiah the future of the land of Edom.<sup>a</sup>

"A report has come from the Lord," he said, "that God has sent an ambassador to the nations with this message: 'Attention! You are to send your armies against Edom and destroy her!'"

<sup>2</sup> I will cut you down to size among the nations, Edom, making you small and despised.

<sup>3</sup> You are proud because you live in those high, inaccessible cliffs. "Who can ever reach us way up here!" you boast. Don't fool yourselves! <sup>4</sup> Though you soar as high as eagles, and build your nest among the stars, I will bring you plummeting down, says the Lord.

<sup>5</sup> Far better it would be for you if thieves had come at night to plunder you—for they would not take everything! Or if your vineyards were robbed of all their fruit—for at least the gleanings would be left! <sup>6</sup> Every nook and cranny will be searched and robbed, and every treasure found and taken.

<sup>7</sup> All your allies will turn against you and help to push you out of your land. They will promise peace while plotting your destruction. Your trusted friends will set traps for you and all your counterstrategy will fail. <sup>8</sup> In that day not one wise man<sup>b</sup> will be left in all of Edom! says the Lord. For I will fill the wise men of Edom with stupidity. <sup>9</sup> The mightiest soldiers of Teman will be confused, and helpless to prevent the slaughter.

<sup>10</sup> And why? Because of what you did to your brother Israel. Now your sins will be exposed for all to see; ashamed and defenseless, you will be cut off forever. <sup>11</sup> For you deserted Israel in his time of need. You stood aloof, refusing to lift a finger to help him when invaders carried off his wealth and divided Jerusalem among them by lot; you were as one of his enemies.

<sup>12</sup> You should not have done it. You should not have gloated when they took him far away to foreign lands; you should not have rejoiced in the day of his misfortune; you should not have mocked in his time of need. <sup>13</sup> You yourselves went into the land of Israel in the day of his calamity and looted him. You made yourselves rich at his expense. <sup>14</sup> You stood at the crossroads and killed those trying to escape; you captured the survivors and returned them to their enemies in that terrible time of his distress.

<sup>15</sup> The Lord's vengeance will soon fall upon all Gentile nations. As you have done to Israel, so will it be done to you. Your acts will boomerang upon your heads. <sup>16</sup> You drank my cup of punishment upon my holy mountain, and the nations round about will drink it, too; yes, drink and stagger back and disappear from history, no longer nations

<sup>17</sup> But Jerusalem will become a refuge, a way of escape. Israel will reoccupy the land. <sup>18</sup> Israel will be a fire that sets the dry fields of Edom aflame. There will be no survivors, for the Lord has spoken.

<sup>19</sup> Then my people who live in the Negeb shall occupy the hill country of Edom; those living in Judean lowlands shall possess the Philistine plains, and repossess the fields of Ephraim and Samaria. And the people of Benjamin shall possess Gilead.

<sup>20</sup> The Israeli exiles shall return and occupy the Phoenician coastal strip as far north as Zarephath. Those exiled in Asia Minor shall return to their homeland and conquer the Negeb's outlying villages. <sup>21</sup> For deliverers will come to Jerusalem and rule all Edom. And the Lord shall be King!

JONAH

1 The Lord sent this message to Jonah, the son of Amittai:

<sup>2</sup> "Go to the great city of Nineveh, and give them this announcement from the Lord: 'I am going to destroy you, for your wickedness rises before me; it smells to highest heaven.' "

<sup>3</sup> But Jonah was afraid to go and ran away from the Lord. He went down to the seacoast, to the port of Joppa, where he found a ship leaving for Tarshish. He bought a ticket, went on board, and climbed down into the dark hold of the ship to hide there from the Lord.

<sup>4</sup> But as the ship was sailing along, suddenly the Lord flung a terrific wind over the sea, causing a great storm that threatened to send them to the bottom. <sup>5</sup> Fearing for their lives, the desperate sailors shouted to their gods for help and threw the cargo overboard to lighten the ship. And all this time Jonah was sound asleep down in the hold. <sup>6</sup> So the captain went down after him. "What do you mean," he roared, "sleeping at a time like this? Get up and cry to your god, and see if he will have mercy on us and save us!"

<sup>7</sup> Then the crew decided to draw straws to see which of them had offended the gods and caused this terrible storm; and Jonah drew the short one.

<sup>8</sup> "What have you done," they asked, "to bring this awful storm upon us? Who are you? What is your work? What country are you from? What is your nationality?"

<sup>9,10</sup> And he said, "I am a Jew;<sup>a</sup> I worship Jehovah, the God of heaven, who made the earth and sea." Then he told them he was running away from the Lord.

The men were terribly frightened when they heard this. "Oh, why did you do it?" they shouted. <sup>11</sup> "What should we do to you to stop the storm?" For it was getting

<sup>12</sup> "Throw me out into the sea," he said, "and it will become calm again. For I know this terrible storm has come because of me."

<sup>13</sup> They tried harder to row the boat ashore, but couldn't make it. The storm was too fierce to fight against. <sup>14</sup> Then they shouted out a prayer to Jehovah, Jonah's God. "O Jehovah," they pleaded, "don't make us die for this man's sin, and don't hold us responsible for his death, for it is not our fault—you have sent this storm upon him for your own good reasons."

<sup>15</sup> Then they picked up Jonah and threw him overboard into the raging sea—and the storm stopped!

<sup>16</sup> The men stood there in awe before Jehovah, and sacrificed to him and vowed to serve him.

<sup>17</sup> Now the Lord had arranged for a great fish to swallow Jonah. And Jonah was inside the fish three days and three nights.

2 THEN JONAH PRAYED to the Lord his God from inside the fish:

<sup>2</sup> "In my great trouble I cried to the Lord and he answered me; from the depths of death I called, and Lord, you heard me! <sup>3</sup> You threw me into the ocean depths; I sank down into the floods of waters and was covered by your wild and stormy waves. <sup>4</sup> Then I said, 'O Lord, you have rejected me and cast me away. How shall I ever again see your holy Temple?'

<sup>5</sup> "I sank beneath the waves, and death was very near. The waters closed above me; the seaweed wrapped itself around my head. <sup>6</sup> I went down to the bottoms of the mountains that rise from off the ocean floor. I was locked out of life and imprisoned in the land of death. But, O Lord my God, you have snatched me from the yawning jaws of death!

<sup>7</sup> "When I had lost all hope, I turned my thoughts once more to the Lord. And my earnest prayer went to you in your holy Temple. <sup>8</sup> (Those who worship false gods have turned their backs on all the mercies waiting for them from the Lord!) <sup>9</sup> I will never worship anyone but you! For how can I thank you enough for all you have done? I will surely fulfill my promises. For my deliverance comes from the Lord alone."

<sup>10</sup> And the Lord ordered the fish to spit up Jonah on the beach, and it did.

3 THEN THE LORD spoke to Jonah again: "Go to that great city, Nineveh," he said, "and warn them of their doom, as I told you to before!"

<sup>1</sup> So Jonah obeyed, and went to Nineveh. Now Nineveh was a very large city, with extensive suburbs—so large that it would take three days to walk around it.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>45</sup> But the very first day when Jonah entered the city and began to preach, the people repented. Jonah

<sup>a</sup> The Hebrew text makes no distinction between the city proper—the walls of which were only about eight miles in circumference, accommodating a population of about 175,000 persons—and the administrative district of Nineveh which was about thirty to sixty miles across.

shouted to the crowds that gathered around him, "Forty days from now Nineveh will be destroyed!" And they believed him and declared a fast; from the king on down, everyone put on sackcloth—the rough, coarse garments worn at times of mourning.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>6</sup> For when the king of Nineveh heard what Jonah was saying, he stepped down from his throne and laid aside his royal robes and put on sackcloth and sat in ashes. <sup>7</sup> And the king and his nobles sent this message throughout the city: "Let no one, not even the animals, eat anything at all, nor even drink any water. <sup>8</sup> Everyone must wear sackcloth and cry mightily to God, and let everyone turn from his evil ways, from his violence and robbing. <sup>9</sup> Who can tell? Perhaps even yet God will decide to let us live, and will hold back his fierce anger from destroying us."

<sup>10</sup> And when God saw that they had put a stop to their evil ways, he abandoned his plan to destroy them, and didn't carry it through.

4 THIS CHANGE OF plans made

Jonah very angry. <sup>2</sup> He complained to the Lord about it: "This is exactly what I thought you'd do, Lord, when I was there in my own country and you first told me to come here. That's why I ran away to Tarshish. For I knew you were a gracious God, merciful, slow to get angry, and full of kindness; I knew how easily you could cancel your plans for destroying these people.

<sup>3</sup> "Please kill me, Lord; I'd rather be dead than alive [when nothing that I told them happens<sup>a</sup>]."

<sup>5</sup> So Jonah went out and sat sulking<sup>a</sup> on the east side of the city, and he made a leafy shelter to shade him as he waited there to see if anything would happen to the city.

<sup>6</sup> And when the leaves of the shelter withered in the heat, the Lord arranged for a vine to grow up quickly and spread its broad leaves over Jonah's head to shade him. This made him comfortable and very grateful.

<sup>7</sup> But God also prepared a worm! The next morning the worm ate through the stem of the plant, so that it withered away and died.

<sup>8</sup> Then, when the sun was hot, God ordered a scorching east wind to blow on Jonah, and the sun beat down upon his head until he grew faint and wished to die. For he said, "Death is better than this!"

<sup>9</sup> And God said to Jonah, "Is it right for you to be angry because the plant died?"

"Yes," Jonah said, "it is; it is right for me to be angry enough to die!"

<sup>10</sup> Then the Lord said, "You feel sorry for yourself when your shelter is destroyed, though you did no work to put it there, and it is, at best, short-lived. <sup>11</sup> And why shouldn't I feel sorry for a great city like Nineveh with its 120,000 people in utter spiritual darkness,<sup>b</sup> and all its cattle?"

MICAH

1 These are messages from the Lord to Micah, who lived in the town of Moresheth during the reigns of King Jotham, King Ahaz, and King Hezekiah, all kings of Judah. The messages were addressed to both Samaria and Judah, and came to Micah in the form of visions.

<sup>2</sup> Attention! Let all the peoples of the world listen. For the Lord in his holy Temple has made accusations against you!

<sup>5</sup> And why is this happening? Because of the sins of Israel and Judah. What sins? The idolatry and oppression centering in the capital cities, Samaria and Jerusalem!

<sup>8</sup> I will wail and lament, howling as a jackal, mournful as an ostrich crying across the desert sands at night. I will walk naked and barefoot in sorrow and shame; <sup>9</sup> for my people's wound is far too deep to heal. The Lord stands ready at Jerusalem's gates to punish her.

<sup>12</sup> The people of Maroth vainly hope for better days, but only bitterness awaits them as the Lord stands poised against Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup> Quick! Use your swiftest chariots and flee, O people of Lachish, for you were the first of the cities of Judah to follow Israel in her sin of idol worship. Then all the cities of the south began to follow your example.

enemies. They will penetrate to Adullam, the "Pride of Israel."

<sup>1b</sup> Weep, weep for your little ones. For they are snatched away and you will never see them again. They have gone as slaves to distant lands. Shave your heads in sorrow.

2 WOE TO YOU who lie awake at night, plotting wickedness; you rise at dawn to carry out your schemes; because you can, you do. <sup>2</sup> You want a certain piece of land, or someone else's house (though it is all he has); you take it by fraud and threats and violence.

<sup>3</sup> But the Lord God says, I will reward your evil with evil; nothing can stop me; never again will you be proud and haughty after I am through with you. <sup>4</sup> Then your enemies will taunt you and mock your dirge of despair: "We are finished, ruined. God has confiscated our land and sent us far away, and given what is ours to others." <sup>5</sup> Others will set your boundaries then. "The People of the Lord" will live where they are sent.

<sup>6</sup> "Don't say such things," the people say. "Don't harp on things like that. It's disgraceful, that sort of talk. Such evils surely will not come our way."

<sup>7</sup> Is that the right reply for you to make, O House of Jacob? Do you think the Spirit of the Lord likes to talk to you so roughly? No! His threats are for your good, to get you on the path again.

<sup>8</sup> Yet to this very hour my people rise against me. For you steal the shirts right off the backs of those who trusted you, who walk in peace.

<sup>11</sup> "I'll preach to you the joys of wine and drink"—that is the kind of drunken, lying prophet that you like!

<sup>13</sup> The Messiah<sup>a</sup> will lead you out of exile and bring you through the gates of your cities of captivity, back to your own land. Your King will go before you—the Lord leads on.

3 LISTEN, YOU LEADERS of Israel—you are supposed to know right from wrong, <sup>2</sup> yet you are the very ones who hate good and love evil; you skin my people and strip them to the bone.

<sup>3</sup> You devour them, flog them, break their bones, and chop them up like meat for the cooking pot—and then you plead with the Lord for his help in times of trouble! Do you really expect him to listen? He will look the other way! <sup>4</sup> You false prophets! You who lead his people astray! You who cry "Peace" to those who give you food, and threaten those who will not pay!

This is God's message to you: <sup>5</sup> The night will close about you and cut off all your visions; darkness will cover you, with never a word from God. The sun will go down upon you, and your day will end. <sup>7</sup> Then at last you will cover your faces in shame, and admit that your messages were not from God.

<sup>8</sup> But as for me, I am filled with power, with the Spirit of the Lord, fearlessly announcing God's punishment on Israel for her sins.

<sup>9</sup> Listen to me, you leaders of Israel who hate justice and love unfairness, <sup>10</sup> and fill Jerusalem with murder and sin of every kind—
<sup>11</sup> you leaders who take bribes; you priests and prophets who won't preach and prophesy until you're paid. (And yet you fawn upon the Lord and say, "All is well—the Lord is here among us. No harm can come to us.") <sup>12</sup> It is because of you that Jerusalem will be plowed like a field, and become a heap of rubble; the mountaintop where the Temple stands will be overgrown with brush.

4 BUT IN THE last days Mount Zion will be the most renowned of all the mountains of the world, praised by all nations; people from all over the world will make pilgrimages there.

<sup>1</sup> "Come," they will say to one another, "let us visit the mountain of the Lord, and see the Temple of the God of Israel; he will tell us what to do, and we will do it." For in those days the whole world will be ruled by the Lord from Jerusalem! He will issue his laws and announce his decrees from there.

<sup>2</sup> He will arbitrate among the nations, and dictate to strong nations far away. They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning-hooks; nations shall no longer fight each other, for all war will end. There will be universal peace, and all the military academies and training camps will be closed down.

<sup>3</sup> Everyone will live quietly in his own home in peace and prosperity, for there will be nothing to fear. The Lord himself has promised this. <sup>4</sup> (Therefore we will follow the Lord our God forever and ever, even though all the nations around us worship idols!)

<sup>5</sup> In that coming day, the Lord says that he will bring back his punished people—sick and lame and dispossessed—<sup>6</sup> and make them strong again in their own land, a mighty nation, and the Lord himself shall be their King from Mount Zion forever. <sup>7</sup> O Jerusalem—the Watchtower of God's people—your royal might and power will come back to you again, just as before.

<sup>8</sup> But for now, now you scream in terror. Where is your king to lead you? He is dead! Where are your wise men? All are gone! Pain has gripped you like a woman in labor. <sup>9</sup> Writhe and groan in your terrible pain, O people of Zion, for you must leave this city and live in the fields; you will be sent far away into exile in Babylon. But there I will rescue you and free you from the grip of your enemies.

fore Israel.

Rise, thresh, O daughter of Zion; I will give you horns of iron and hoofs of brass and you will trample to pieces many people, and you will give their wealth as offerings to the Lord, the Lord of all the earth.

5 MOBILIZE! THE ENEMY lays siege to Jerusalem! With a rod they shall strike the Judge of Israel on the face.

<sup>2</sup> O Bethlehem Ephrathah, you are but a small Judean village, yet you will be the birthplace of my King who is alive from everlasting ages past! <sup>3</sup> God will abandon his people to their enemies until the time of Israel's spiritual rebirth;<sup>a</sup> then at last the exile remnants of Israel will rejoin their brethren in their own land.

<sup>4</sup> And he shall stand and feed his flock in the strength of the Lord, in the majesty of the name of the Lord his God, and his people shall remain there undisturbed, for he will be greatly honored all around the world. <sup>5</sup> He will be our Peace. And when the Assyrian invades our land and marches across our hills, he will appoint seven shepherds to watch over us, eight princes to lead us. <sup>6</sup> They will rule Assyria with drawn swords and enter the gates of the land of Nimrod. He will deliver us from the Assyrians when they invade our land.

<sup>7</sup> Then the nation of Israel will refresh the world like a gentle dew or the welcome showers of rain, <sup>8</sup> and Israel will be as strong as a lion. The nations will be like helpless sheep before her! <sup>9</sup> She will stand up to her foes; all her enemies will be wiped out.

<sup>10</sup> At that same time, says the Lord, I will destroy all the weapons you depend on, <sup>11</sup> and tear down your walls and demolish the defenses of your cities. <sup>12</sup> I will put an end to all witchcraft—there will be no more fortune-tellers to consult—<sup>13</sup> and destroy all your idols. Never again will you worship what you have made, <sup>14</sup> and I will abolish the heathen shrines from among you, and destroy the cities where your idol temples stand.

<sup>15</sup> And I will pour out my vengeance upon the nations who refuse to obey me.

6 LISTEN TO WHAT the Lord is saying to his people:

Stand up and state your case against me. Let the mountains and hills be called to witness your complaint.

<sup>2</sup> And now, O mountains, listen to the Lord's complaint! For he has a case against his people Israel! He will prosecute them to the full. <sup>3</sup> O my people, what have I done that makes you turn away from me? Tell me why your patience is exhausted! Answer me! <sup>4</sup> For I brought you out of Egypt, and cut your chains of slavery. I gave you Moses, Aaron, and Miriam to help you.

<sup>5</sup> Don't you remember, O my people, how Balak, king of Moab, tried to destroy you through the curse of Balaam, son of Beor, but I made him bless you instead? That is the kindness I showed you again and again. Have you no memory at all of what happened at Acacia and Gilgal, and how I blessed you there?

<sup>6</sup> "How can we make up to you for what we've done?" you ask. "Shall we bow before the Lord with offerings of yearling calves?"

Oh, no! <sup>7</sup> For if you offered him thousands of rams and ten thousands of rivers of olive oil—would that please him? Would he be satisfied? If you sacrificed your oldest child, would that make him glad? Then would he forgive your sins? Of course not!

<sup>8</sup> No, he has told you what he wants, and this is all it is: to be fair and just and merciful, and to walk humbly with your God. <sup>9</sup> The Lord's voice calls out to all Jerusalem—listen to the Lord if you are wise! The armies of destruction are coming; the Lord is sending them.

<sup>10</sup> For your sins are very great—is there to be no end of getting rich by cheating? The homes of the wicked are full of ungodly treasures and lying scales. <sup>11</sup> Shall I say "Good!" to all your merchants with their bags of false, deceitful weights? How could God be just while saying that? <sup>12</sup> Your rich men are wealthy through extortion and violence; your citizens are so used to lying that their tongues can't tell the truth!

<sup>13</sup> Therefore I will wound you! I will make your hearts miserable for all your sins. <sup>14</sup> You will eat but never have enough; hunger pangs and emptiness will still remain. And though you try and try to save your money, it will come to nothing at the end, and what little you succeed in storing up I'll give to those who conquer you!<sup>15</sup> You will plant crops but not harvest them; you will press out the oil from the olives, and not get enough to anoint yourself! You will trample the grapes, but get no juice to make your wine.

<sup>16</sup> The only commands you keep are those of Omri; the only example you follow is that of Ahab! Therefore I will make an awesome example of you—I will destroy you. I will make you the laughingstock of the world; all who see you will snicker and sneer!

Yes, a man's enemies will be found in his own home.

<sup>7</sup> As for me, I look to the Lord for his help; I wait for God to save me; he will hear me. <sup>8</sup> Do not rejoice against me, O my enemy, for though I fall, I will rise again! When I sit in darkness, the Lord himself will be my Light. <sup>9</sup> I will be patient while the Lord punishes me, for I have sinned against him; then he will defend me from my enemies, and punish them for all the evil they have done to me. God will bring me out of my darkness into the light, and I will see his goodness. <sup>10</sup> Then my enemy will see that God is for me, and be ashamed for taunting me, "Where is that God of yours?" Now with my own eyes I see them trampled down like mud in the street.

<sup>11</sup> Your cities, people of God, will be rebuilt, much larger and more prosperous than before. <sup>12</sup> Citizens of many lands will come and honor you—from Assyria to Egypt, and from Egypt to the Euphrates, from sea to sea and from distant hills and mountains.

come and rule your people; lead your flock; make them live in peace and prosperity; let them enjoy the fertile pastures of Bashan and Gilead as they did long ago.

<sup>15</sup> "Yes," replies the Lord, "I will do mighty miracles for you, like those when I brought you out of slavery in Egypt. <sup>16</sup> All the world will stand amazed at what I will do for you, and be embarrassed at their puny might. They will stand in silent awe, deaf to all around them."

<sup>17</sup> They will see what snakes they are, lowly as worms crawling from their holes. They will come trembling out from their fortresses to meet the Lord our God. They will fear him; they will stand in awe.

<sup>18</sup> Where is another God like you, who pardons the sins of the survivors among his people? You cannot stay angry with your people, for you love to be merciful. <sup>19</sup> Once again you will have compassion on us. You will tread our sins beneath your feet; you will throw them into the depths of the ocean! <sup>20</sup> You will bless us as you promised Jacob long ago. You will set your love upon us, as you promised our father Abraham!

NAHUM

1 THIS IS THE vision God gave to Nahum, who lived in Elkosh, concerning the impending doom of Nineveh:<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> God is jealous over those he loves; that is why he takes vengeance on those who hurt them. He furiously destroys their enemies. <sup>3</sup> He is slow in getting angry, but when aroused, his power is incredible, and he does not easily forgive. He shows his power in the terrors of the cyclone and the raging storms; clouds are billowing dust beneath his feet! <sup>4</sup> At his command the oceans and rivers become dry sand; the lush pastures of Bashan and Carmel fade away; the green forests of Lebanon wilt. <sup>5</sup> In his presence mountains quake and hills melt; the earth crumbles and its people are destroyed.

<sup>7</sup> The Lord is good. When trouble comes, he is the place to go! And he knows everyone who trusts in him! <sup>8</sup> But he sweeps away his enemies with an overwhelming flood; he pursues them all night long.

the Lord? <sup>12</sup> But the Lord is not afraid of him! "Though he build his army millions strong," the Lord declares, "it will vanish.

"O my people, I have punished you enough! <sup>13</sup> Now I will break your chains and release you from the yoke of slavery to this Assyrian king."<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> And to the king he says, "I have ordered an end to your dynasty; your sons will never sit upon your throne. And I will destroy your gods and temples, and I will bury you! For how you stink with sin!"

<sup>15</sup> See, the messengers come running down the mountains with glad news: "The invaders have been wiped out and we are safe!" O Judah, proclaim a day of thanksgiving, and worship only the Lord, as you have vowed. For this enemy from Nineveh will never come again. He is cut off forever; he will never be seen again.

2 NINEVEH, YOU ARE finished!<sup>a</sup>

You are already surrounded by enemy armies! Sound the alarm! Man the ramparts! Muster your defenses, full force, and keep a sharp watch for the enemy attack to begin! <sup>2</sup> For the land of the people of God lies empty and broken after your attacks but the Lord will restore their honor and power again!

chariots moving forward side by side, pulled by prancing steeds! <sup>4</sup> Your own chariots race recklessly along the streets and through the squares, darting like lightning, gleaming like torches. <sup>5</sup> The king shouts for his officers; they stumble in their haste, rushing to the walls to set up their defenses. <sup>6</sup> But too late! The river gates are open! The enemy has entered! The palace is in panic!

<sup>12</sup> O Nineveh, once mighty lion! You crushed your enemies to feed your children and your wives, and filled your city and your homes with captured goods and slaves.

<sup>13</sup> But now the Lord of Hosts has turned against you. He destroys your weapons. Your chariots stand there, silent and unused. Your finest youth lie dead. Never again will you bring back slaves from conquered nations; never again will you rule the earth.

<sup>5</sup> "No wonder I stand against you," says the Lord of Hosts; "and now all the earth will see your nakedness and shame. <sup>6</sup> I will cover you with filth and show the world how really vile you are." <sup>7</sup> All who see you will shrink back in horror: "Nineveh lies in utter ruin." Yet no one anywhere regrets your fate! <sup>8</sup> Are you any better than Thebes,<sup>b</sup> straddling the Nile, protected on all sides by the river? <sup>9</sup> Ethiopia and the whole land of Egypt were her mighty allies, and she could call on them for infinite assistance, as well as Put and Libya. <sup>10</sup> Yet Thebes fell and her people were led off as slaves; her babies were dashed to death against the stones of the streets. Soldiers drew straws to see who would get her officers as servants. All her leaders were bound in chains.

<sup>12</sup> All your forts will fall. They will be devoured like first-ripe figs that fall into the mouths of those who shake the trees. <sup>13</sup> Your troops will be weak and helpless as women. The gates of your land will be opened wide to the enemy and set on fire and burned. <sup>14</sup> Get ready for the siege! Store up water! Strengthen the forts! Prepare many bricks for repairing your walls! Go into the pits to trample the clay, and pack it in the molds!

<sup>15</sup> But in the middle of your preparations, the fire will devour you; the sword will cut you down; the enemy will consume you like young locusts that eat up everything before them. There is no escape, though you multiply like grasshoppers. <sup>16</sup> Merchants, numerous as stars, filled your city with vast wealth, but your enemies swarm like locusts and carry it away.

<sup>17</sup> Your princes and officials crowd together like grasshoppers in the hedges in the cold, but all of them will flee away and disappear, like locusts when the sun comes up and warms the earth.

<sup>18</sup> O Assyrian king, your princes lie dead in the dust; your people are scattered across the mountains; there is no shepherd now to gather them. <sup>19</sup> There is no healing for your wound—it is far too deep to cure. All who hear your fate will clap their hands for joy, for where can one be found who has not suffered from your cruelty?

HABAKKUK

1 THIS IS THE message that came to the prophet Habakkuk in a vision from God:

<sup>2</sup> O Lord, how long must I call for help before you will listen? I shout to you in vain; there is no answer.

"Help! Murder!" I cry, but no one comes to save. <sup>3</sup> Must I forever see this sin and sadness all around me?

Wherever I look there is oppression and bribery and men who love to argue and to fight.

<sup>4</sup> The law is not enforced and there is no justice given in the courts, for the wicked far outnumber the righteous, and bribes and trickery prevail.

<sup>5</sup> The Lord replied: "Look, and be amazed! You will be astounded at what I am about to do! For I am going to do something in your own lifetime that you will have to see to believe. <sup>6</sup> I am raising a new force on the world scene, the Chaldeans,<sup>a</sup> a cruel and violent nation who will march across the world and conquer it. <sup>7</sup> They are notorious for their cruelty. They do as they like, and no one can interfere. <sup>8</sup> Their horses are swifter than leopards. They are a fierce people, more fierce than wolves at dusk. Their cavalry move proudly forward from a distant land; like eagles they come swooping down to pounce upon their prey. <sup>9</sup> All opposition melts away before the terror of their presence. They collect captives like sand.

<sup>12</sup> O Lord my God, my Holy One, you who are eternal—is your plan in all of this to wipe us out? Surely not! O God our Rock, you have decreed the rise of these Chaldeans to chasten and correct us for our awful sins. <sup>13</sup> We are wicked, but they far more! Will you, who cannot allow sin in any form, stand idly by while they swallow us up? Should you be silent while the wicked destroy those who are better than they?

<sup>14</sup> Are we but fish, to be caught and killed? Are we but creeping things that have no leader to defend them from their foes? <sup>15</sup> Must we be strung up on their hooks and dragged out in their nets, while they rejoice? <sup>16</sup> Then they will worship their nets and burn incense before them!

"These are the gods who make us rich," they'll say.

<sup>17</sup> Will you let them get away with this forever? Will they succeed forever in their heartless wars?

2 I WILL CLIMB my watchtower now, and wait to see what answer God will give to my complaint.

<sup>2</sup> And the Lord said to me, "Write my answer on a billboard,<sup>a</sup> large and clear, so that anyone can read it at a glance and rush to tell the others. <sup>3</sup> But these things I plan won't happen right away. Slowly, steadily, surely, the time approaches when the vision will be fulfilled. If it seems slow, do not despair, for these things will surely come to pass. Just be patient! They will not be overdue a single day! "

a Literally, "on the tablets."

b Implied.

c Or, "shall live by his faithfulness."

<sup>7</sup> "Suddenly your debtors will rise up in anger and turn on you and take all you have, while you stand trembling and helpless. <sup>8</sup> You have ruined many nations; now they will ruin you. You murderers! You have filled the countryside with lawlessness and all the cities too.

<sup>9</sup> "Woe to you for getting rich by evil means, attempting to live beyond the reach of danger. <sup>10</sup> By the murders you commit, you have shamed your name and forfeited your lives. <sup>11</sup> The very stones in the walls of your homes cry out against you, and the beams in the ceilings echo what they say.

<sup>12</sup> "Woe to you who build cities with money gained from murdering and robbery! <sup>13</sup> Has not the Lord decreed that godless nations' gains will turn to ashes in their hands? They work so hard, but all in vain!

<sup>14</sup> ("The time will come when all the earth is filled, as the waters fill the sea, with an awareness of the glory of the Lord.)

<sup>15</sup> "Woe to you for making your neighboring lands reel and stagger like drunkards beneath your blows, and then gloating over their nakedness and shame. <sup>16</sup> Soon your own glory will be replaced by shame. Drink down God's judgment on yourselves. Stagger and fall! <sup>17</sup> You cut down the forests of Lebanon—now you will be cut down! You terrified the wild animals you caught in your traps—now terror will strike you because of all your murdering and violence in cities everywhere.

<sup>18</sup> "What profit was there in worshipping all your man-made idols? What a foolish lie that they could help! What fools you were to trust what you yourselves had made.

<sup>19</sup> Woe to those who command their lifeless wooden idols to arise and save them, who call out to the speechless stone to tell them what to do. Can images speak for God? They are overlaid with gold and silver, but there is no breath at all inside!

<sup>20</sup> "But the Lord is in his holy Temple; let all the earth be silent before him."

3 THIS IS THE prayer of triumph<sup>a</sup> that Habakkuk sang before the Lord:

<sup>2</sup> O Lord, now I have heard your report, and I worship you in awe for the fearful things you are going to do. In this time of our deep need, begin again to help us, as you did in years gone by. Show us your power to save us. In your wrath, remember mercy.

and of Midian in mortal fear.

<sup>9</sup> Was it in anger, Lord, you smote the rivers and parted the sea? Were you displeased with them? No, you were sending your chariots of salvation! All saw your power! Then springs burst forth upon the earth at your command! <sup>10</sup> The mountains watched and trembled. Onward swept the raging water. The mighty deep cried out, announcing its surrender to the Lord.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>11</sup> The lofty sun and moon began to fade, obscured by brilliant: from your arrows and the flashing of your glittering spear.

<sup>12</sup> You marched across the land in awesome anger, and trampled down the nations in your wrath. <sup>13</sup> You went out to save your chosen people. You crushed the head of the wicked and laid bare his bones from head to toe. <sup>14</sup> You destroyed with their own weapons those who came out like a whirlwind, thinking Israel would be an easy prey.

<sup>15</sup> Your horsemen marched across the sea; the mighty waters piled high. <sup>16</sup> I tremble when I hear all this; my lips quiver with fear. My legs give way beneath me and I shake in terror. I will quietly wait for the day of trouble to come upon the people who invade us.

<sup>17</sup> Even though the fig trees are all destroyed, and there is neither blossom left nor fruit, and though the olive crops all fail, and the fields lie barren; even if the flocks die in the fields and the cattle barns are empty, <sup>18</sup> yet I will rejoice in the Lord; I will be happy in the God of my salvation. <sup>19</sup> The Lord God is my Strength, and he will give me the speed of a deer and bring me safely over the mountains.

ZEPHANIAH

1 SUBJECT: A MESSAGE from the Lord. To: Zephaniah (son of Cushi, grandson of Gedaliah, great-grandson of Amariah, and great-grandson of Hezekiah). When: During the reign of Josiah (son of Amon) king of Judah.<sup>a</sup>

in all your land," says the Lord. "I will destroy it to the ground. <sup>3</sup> I will sweep away both men and animals alike. Mankind and all the idols that he worships—all will vanish. Even the birds of the air and the fish in the sea will perish. <sup>4</sup> I will crush Judah and Jerusalem with my fist, <sup>d</sup> Literally, "Was the Lord displeased against the rivers? Were you angry with them? Was your wrath against their sin that you rode upon your horses? Your chariots were salvation. Your bow was pulled from its sheath and you put arrows to the string. You ribboned the earth with rivers." <sup>e</sup> Literally, "and lifts high its hands." <sup>a</sup> Note: The Great Revival under King Josiah followed about ten years after this prophecy, and then, a dozen years later, the deportation and exile. The prophet Jeremiah was active during this same period.

and destroy every remnant of those who worship Baal; I will put an end to their idolatrous priests, so that even the memory of them will disappear. <sup>3</sup> They go up on their roofs and bow to the sun, moon and stars. They 'follow the Lord,' but worship Molech, too! I will destroy them. <sup>4</sup> And I will destroy those who formerly worshiped the Lord, but now no longer do, and those who never loved him and never wanted to."

<sup>7</sup> Stand in silence in the presence of the Lord. For the awesome Day of his Judgment has come; he has prepared a great slaughter of his people and has chosen their executioners. <sup>8</sup> "On that Day of Judgment I will punish the leaders and princes of Judah, and all others wearing heathen clothing. <sup>9</sup> Yes, I will punish those who follow heathen customs and who rob and kill to fill their masters' homes with evil gain of violence and fraud. <sup>10</sup> A cry of alarm will begin at the farthest gate of Jerusalem, coming closer and closer until the noise of the advancing army reaches the very top of the hill where the city is built.

<sup>11</sup> "Wail in sorrow, you people of Jerusalem. All your greedy businessmen, all your loan sharks—all will die.

<sup>12</sup> "I will search with lanterns in Jerusalem's darkest corners to find and punish those who sit contented in their sins, indifferent to God, thinking he will let them alone. <sup>13</sup> They are the very ones whose property will be plundered by the enemy, whose homes will be ransacked; they will never have a chance to live in the new homes they have built. They will never drink wine from the vineyards they have planted."

<sup>17</sup> "I will make you as helpless as a blind man searching for a path, because you have sinned against the Lord; therefore your blood will be poured out into the dust and your bodies will lie there rotting on the ground."

<sup>18</sup> Your silver and gold will be of no use to you in that day of the Lord's wrath. You cannot ransom yourselves with it. <sup>19</sup> For the whole land will be devoured by the fire of his jealousy. He will make a speedy riddance of all the people of Judah.

2 GATHER TOGETHER AND pray, you shameless nation, <sup>2</sup> while there still is time—before judgment begins, and your opportunity is blown away like chaff; before the fierce anger of the Lord falls and the terrible day of his wrath begins. <sup>3</sup> Beg him to save you, all who are humble—all who have tried to obey.

Walk humbly and do what is

b Literally, "He has prepared a sacrifice and sanctified his guests." c i.e., showing their desire for foreign gods and foreign ways, and their contempt for the Lord.

d Implied.

right; perhaps even yet the Lord will protect you from his wrath in that day of doom.

<sup>7</sup> There the little remnant of the tribe of Judah will be pastured. They will lie down to rest in the abandoned houses in Ashkelon. For the Lord God will visit his people in kindness and restore their prosperity again.

<sup>8</sup> "I have heard the taunts of the people of Moab and Ammon, mocking my people and invading their land. <sup>9</sup> Therefore as I live," says the Lord of Hosts, God of Israel, "Moab and Ammon will be destroyed like Sodom and Gomorrah, and become a place of stinging nettles and salt pits and eternal desolation; those of my people who are left will plunder and possess them." <sup>10</sup> They will receive the wages of their pride, for they have scoffed at the people of the Lord of Hosts. <sup>11</sup> The Lord will do terrible things to them. He will starve out all those gods of foreign powers, and everyone shall worship him, each in his own land throughout the

<sup>12</sup> You Ethiopians, too, will be slain by his sword, <sup>13</sup> and so will the lands of the north; he will destroy Assyria and make its great capital Nineveh a desolate wasteland like a wilderness. <sup>14</sup> That once proud city will become a pastureland for sheep. All sorts of wild animals will have their homes in her. Hedgehogs will burrow there; the vultures and the owls will live among the ruins of her palaces, hooting from the gaping windows; the ravens will croak from her doors. All her cedar paneling will lie open to the wind and weather.

<sup>15</sup> This is the fate of that vast, prosperous city that lived in such security, that said to herself, "In all the world there is no city as great as I." But now—see how she has become a place of utter ruins, a place for animals to live! Everyone passing that way will mock, or shake his head in disbelief.<sup>b</sup>

3 WOE TO FILTHY, sinful Jerusalem, city of violence and crime.

<sup>b</sup> "Nothing then seemed more improbable than that the capital of so vast an empire, a city of sixty miles around with walls 100 feet high and so thick that three chariots could go abreast on them, and with 1500 towers, should be so totally destroyed that its site is with difficulty discovered."—Jamieson, Fausset and Brown Commentary

<sup>5</sup> But the Lord is there within the city, and he does no wrong. Day by day his justice is more evident, but no one heeds—the wicked know no shame.

<sup>6</sup> "I have cut off many nations, laying them waste to their farthest borders; I have left their streets in silent ruin and their cities deserted without a single survivor to remember what happened. <sup>7</sup> I thought, 'Surely they will listen to me now—surely they will heed my warnings, so that I'll not need to strike again.' But no; however much I punish them, they continue all their evil ways from dawn to dusk and dusk to dawn." <sup>8</sup> But the Lord says, "Be patient; the time is coming soon when I will stand up and accuse these evil nations. For it is my decision to gather together the kingdoms of the earth, and pour out my fiercest anger and wrath upon them. All the earth shall be devoured with the fire of my jealousy.

<sup>9</sup> "At that time I will change the speech of my returning people to pure Hebrew<sup>a</sup> so that all can worship the Lord together. <sup>10</sup> Those who live far beyond the rivers of Ethiopia will come with their offerings, asking me to be their God again. <sup>11</sup> And then you will no longer need to be ashamed of yourselves, for you will no longer be rebels against me. I will remove all your proud and arrogant men from among you; there will be no pride or haughtiness on my holy mountain. <sup>12</sup> Those who are left will be the poor and the humble, and they will trust in the name of the Lord. <sup>13</sup> They will not be sinners, full of lies and deceit. They will live quietly, in peace, and lie down in safety, and no one will make them afraid."

<sup>14</sup> Sing, O daughter of Zion; shout, O Israel; be glad and rejoice with all your heart, O daughter of Jerusalem. <sup>15</sup> For the Lord will remove his hand of judgment, and disperse the armies of your enemy. And the Lord himself, the King of Israel, will live among you! At last your troubles will be over—you need fear no more.

<sup>16</sup> On that day the announcement to Jerusalem will be, "Cheer up, don't be afraid. <sup>17,18</sup> For the Lord your God has arrived to live among you. He is a mighty Savior. He will give you victory. He will rejoice over you in great gladness; he will love you and not accuse you." Is that a joyous choir I hear? No, it is the Lord himself exulting over you in happy song:

"I have gathered your wounded and taken away your reproach. <sup>19</sup> And I will deal severely with all who have oppressed you.

"I will save the weak and helpless ones, and bring together those who were chased away. I will give glory to my former exiles, mocked and shamed.

<sup>20</sup> "At that time, I will gather you together and bring you home again, and give you a good name, a name of distinction among all the peoples of the earth, and they will praise you when I restore your fortunes before your very eyes," says the Lord.

HAGGAI

1 SUBJECT: A MESSAGE from the Lord. To: Haggai the prophet, who delivered it to Zerubbabel (son of She-alti-el), governor of Judah; and to Joshua (son of Josedech), the High Priest—for it was addressed to them.<sup>a</sup>

When: In late August of the second year of the reign of King Darius I.

<sup>4</sup> "Think it over," says the Lord of Hosts. "Consider how you have acted, and what has happened as a result! <sup>5</sup> Then go up into the mountains and bring down timber, and rebuild my Temple, and I will be pleased with it and appear there in my glory," says the Lord.

<sup>6</sup> "You hope for much but get so little. And when you bring it home, I blow it away—it doesn't last at all. Why? Because my Temple lies in ruins and you don't care. Your only concern is your own fine homes. <sup>10</sup> That is why I am holding back the rains from heaven and giving you such scant crops. <sup>11</sup> In fact, I have called for a drought upon the land, yes, and in the highlands, too; a drought to wither the grain and grapes and olives and all your other crops, a drought to starve both you and all your cattle, and ruin everything you have worked so hard to get."

<sup>12</sup> Then Zerubbabel (son of She-alti-el), the governor of Judah, and Joshua (son of Josedech), the High Priest, and the few people remaining in the land obeyed Haggai's message from the Lord their God; they began to worship him in earnest.

<sup>13</sup> Then the Lord told them (again sending the message through Haggai, his messenger), "I am with you; I will bless you." <sup>14,15</sup> And the Lord gave them a desire to rebuild his Temple; so they all gathered in early September of the second year of King Darius' reign, and volunteered their help.

2 IN EARLY OCTOBER of the same year, the Lord sent them this message through Haggai:

a Note: They were among the exiles who had returned from Babylon to rebuild Jerusalem.

left in the land:

<sup>3</sup> "Who among you can remember the Temple as it was before? How glorious it was! In comparison, it is nothing now, is it? <sup>4</sup> But take courage, O Zerubbabel and Joshua and all the people; take courage and work, for 'I am with you,' says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>5</sup> 'For I promised when you left Egypt that my Spirit would remain among you; so don't be afraid.'

<sup>6</sup> "For the Lord of Hosts says, 'In just a little while I will begin to shake the heavens and earth—and the oceans, too, and the dry land—<sup>7</sup> I will shake all nations, and the Desire of All Nations<sup>a</sup> shall come to this Temple, and I will fill this place with my glory,' says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>8</sup> 'The future splendor of this Temple will be greater than the splendor of the first one! For I have plenty of silver and gold to do it! And here I will give peace,'<sup>b</sup> says the Lord."

<sup>11</sup> Ask the priests this question about the law: <sup>12</sup> "If one of you is carrying a holy sacrifice in his robes, and happens to brush against some bread or wine or meat, will it too become holy?"

"No," the priests replied. "Holiness does not pass to other things that way."

<sup>13</sup> Then Haggai asked, "But if someone touches a dead person, and so becomes ceremonially impure, and then brushes against something, does it become contaminated?"

And the priests answered, "Yes."

<sup>14</sup> Haggai then made his meaning clear. "You people," he said (speaking for the Lord), "were contaminating your sacrifices by living with selfish attitudes and evil hearts—and not only your sacrifices, but everything else that you did as a 'service' to me. <sup>15</sup> And so everything you did went wrong. But all is different now, because you have begun to build the Temple. <sup>16,17</sup> Before, when you expected a twenty-bushel crop, there were only ten. When you came to draw fifty gallons from the olive press, there were only twenty. I rewarded all your labor with rust and mildew and hail. Yet, even so, you refused to return to me," says the Lord.

<sup>18,19</sup> "But now note this: From today, this 24th day of the month,<sup>c</sup> as the foundation of the Lord's Temple is finished, and from this day onward, I will bless you. Notice, I am giving you this promise now before you have even begun to rebuild the Temple structure, and before you have harvested your grain, and before the grapes and figs and pomegranates and olives have produced their next crops: From this day I will bless you." a i.e., Christ, the Messiah. Literally, "The Treasures" or "that which is choice." But many commentators prefer this rendering: "The treasures of the nations will pour into this Temple, and I will fill it with splendor."

b Peace with God through Christ who, 500 years later, came often to this Temple.

c "The 24th day of Kislev." This corresponds to early in our December.

<sup>21</sup> Tell Zerubbabel, the governor of Judah, "I am about to shake the heavens and the earth, <sup>22</sup> and to overthrow thrones and destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations.

"I will overthrow their armed might, and brothers and companions will kill each other." <sup>23</sup> But when that happens, I will take you, O Zerubbabel my servant, and honor you like a signet ring upon my finger; for I have specially chosen you," says the Lord of Hosts.

ZECHARIAH

1 SUBJECT: MESSAGES FROM the Lord. These messages from the Lord were given to Zechariah (son of Berechiah, and grandson of Iddo the prophet) in early November of the second year of the reign of King Darius.

<sup>2</sup> The Lord of Hosts was very angry with your fathers. <sup>3</sup> But he will turn again and favor you if only you return to him. <sup>4</sup> Don't be like your fathers were! The earlier prophets pled in vain with them to turn from all their evil ways.

"Come, return to me," the Lord God said. But no, they wouldn't listen; they paid no attention at all.

<sup>5,6</sup> Your fathers and their prophets are now long dead, but remember the lesson they learned, that God's Word endures! It caught up with them and punished them. Then at last they repented.

"We have gotten what we deserved from God," they said. "He has done just what he warned us he would."

<sup>7</sup> The following February, still in the second year of the reign of King Darius, another message from the Lord came to Zechariah (son of Berechiah and grandson of Iddo the prophet), in a vision in the night: "I saw a Man sitting on a red horse that was standing among the myrtle trees beside a river. Behind him were other horses, red and bay and white, each with its rider."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>9</sup> An angel stood beside me, and I asked him, "Sir, what are all those horses for?"

"I'll tell you," he replied.

<sup>10</sup> Then the rider on the red horse—he was the Angel of the Lord—answered me, "The Lord has sent them to patrol the earth for him."

<sup>11</sup> Then the other riders reported to the Angel of the Lord, "We have patrolled the whole earth, and everywhere there is prosperity and peace."

<sup>12</sup> Upon hearing this, the Angel of the Lord prayed this prayer: "O Lord of Hosts, for seventy years your anger has raged against Jerusalem and the cities of Judah. How long will it be until you again show mercy to them?"

<sup>13</sup> And the Lord answered the angel who stood beside me, speaking words of comfort and assurance.

<sup>14</sup> Then the angel said, "Shout out this message from the Lord of Hosts: Don't you think I care about what has happened to Judah and Jerusalem? I am as jealous as a husband for his captive wife. <sup>15</sup> I am very angry with the heathen nations sitting around at ease, for I was only a little displeased with my people, but the nations afflicted them far beyond my intentions. <sup>16</sup> Therefore the Lord declares: I have returned to Jerusalem filled with mercy; my Temple will be rebuilt, says the Lord of Hosts, and so will all Jerusalem. <sup>17</sup> Say it again: The Lord of Hosts declares that the cities of Israel will again overflow with prosperity, and the Lord will again comfort Jerusalem and bless her and live in her."

He replied, "They represent the four world powers that have scattered Judah, Israel, and Jerusalem."

<sup>20</sup> Then the Lord showed me four blacksmiths.

<sup>21</sup> "What have these men come to do?" I asked.

The angel replied, "They have come to take hold of the four horns that scattered Judah so terribly, and to pound them on the anvil and throw them away."

2 WHEN I LOOKED around me again, I saw a man carrying a yardstick in his hand.

<sup>1</sup> "Where are you going?" I asked.

"To measure Jerusalem," he said. "I want to see whether it is big enough for all the people!"

<sup>3</sup> Then the angel who was talking to me went over to meet another angel coming toward him.

"Go tell this young man," said the other angel, "that Jerusalem will some day be so full of people that she won't have room enough for all! Many will live outside the city walls, with all their many cattle—and yet they will be safe. <sup>5</sup> For the Lord himself will be a wall of fire protecting them and all Jerusalem; he will be the glory of the city.

<sup>6,7</sup> "Come, flee from the land of the north, from Babylon," says the Lord to all his exiles there; 'I scattered you to the winds but I will bring you back again. Escape, escape to Zion now!' says the Lord.

<sup>8</sup> "The Lord of Glory has sent me<sup>a</sup> against the nations that oppressed you, for he who harms you sticks his finger in Jehovah's eye!

<sup>9</sup> "I will smash them with my fist and their slaves will be their rulers! Then you will know it was the Lord of Hosts who sent me. <sup>10</sup> Sing, Jerusalem, and rejoice! For I have come to live among you," says the Lord. <sup>11,12</sup> "At that time many nations will be converted to the Lord, and they too shall be my people; I will live among them all. Then you will know it was the Lord of Hosts who sent me to you. And Judah shall be the Lord's inheritance in the Holy Land, for God shall once more choose to bless Jerusalem."

<sup>13</sup> "Be silent, all mankind, before the Lord, for he has come to earth from heaven, from his holy home."

3 THEN THE ANGEL showed me (in my vision) Joshua the High Priest standing before the Angel of the Lord; and Satan was there too, at the Angel's right hand, accusing Joshua of many things.

<sup>2</sup> And the Lord said to Satan, "I reject your accusations,<sup>a</sup> Satan; yes, I, the Lord, for I have decided to be merciful to Jerusalem—I rebuke you. I have decreed mercy to Joshua and his nation; they are like a burning stick pulled out of the fire."

<sup>4</sup> Then the Angel said to the others standing there, "Remove his filthy clothing." And turning to Joshua he said, "See, I have taken away your sins, and now I am giving you these fine new clothes."

<sup>5a</sup> Then I said, "Please, could he also have a clean turban on his head?" So they gave him one.

Then the Angel of the Lord spoke very solemnly to Joshua and said, <sup>7</sup> "The Lord of Hosts declares: 'If you will follow the paths I set for you and do all I tell you to, then I will put you in charge of my Temple, to keep it holy; and I will let you walk in and out of my presence with these angels. <sup>8</sup> Listen to me, O Joshua the High Priest, and all you other priests, you are illustrations of the good things to come. Don't you see?—Joshua represents my Servant the Branch<sup>b</sup> whom I will send. <sup>9</sup> He will be the Foundation Stone of the Temple that Joshua is standing beside, and I will engrave this inscription on it seven times:<sup>c</sup> I will remove the sins of this land in a single day. <sup>10</sup> And after that," the Lord of Hosts declares, "you will all live in peace and prosperity and each of you will own a home of your own where you can invite your neighbors.'"

4 THEN THE ANGEL who had been talking with me woke me, as though I had been asleep.

I answered, "I see a golden lampstand holding seven lamps, and at the top there is a reservoir for the olive oil that feeds the lamps, flowing into them through seven tubes. <sup>3</sup> And I see two olive trees carved upon the lampstand, one on each side of the reservoir. <sup>4</sup> What is it, sir?" I asked. "What does this mean?"

<sup>5</sup> "Don't you really know?" the angel asked.

"No, sir," I said, "I don't."

<sup>6</sup> Then he said, "This is God's message to Zerubbabel:<sup>a</sup> 'Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, says the Lord of Hosts—you will succeed because of my Spirit, though you are few and weak.' <sup>7</sup> Therefore no mountain, however high, can stand before Zerubbabel! For it will flatten out before him!

a Literally, "The Lord rebuke you, O Satan; even the Lord, who has chosen Jerusalem, rebuke you. Is not this a brand plucked out of the fire?" b i.e., the Messiah, Christ.

c Literally, "See the stone with seven facets I have set before Joshua, and I will engrave its inscription." a Governor of Judah, who was given the responsibility for rebuilding the Temple. See Haggai 1:1; 2:23, etc.

And Zerubbabel will finish building this Temple<sup>b</sup> with mighty shouts of thanksgiving for God's mercy, declaring that all was done by grace alone."<sup>c</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Another message that I received from the Lord said:

<sup>5</sup> "Zerubbabel laid the foundation of this Temple, and he will complete it. (Then you will know these messages are from God, the Lord of Hosts.) <sup>10</sup> Do not despise this small beginning, for the eyes of the Lord rejoice to see the work begin, to see the plumbline in the hand of Zerubbabel. For these seven lamps represent the eyes of the Lord that see everywhere around the world."

<sup>11</sup> Then I asked him about the two olive trees on each side of the lampstand, <sup>12</sup> and about the two olive branches that emptied oil into golden bowls through two golden tubes.

<sup>13</sup> "Don't you know?" he asked.

"No, sir," I said.

<sup>14</sup> Then he told me, "They represent the two anointed ones who assist the Lord of all the earth."

5 I LOOKED UP again and saw a scroll flying through the air.

"A flying scroll!" I replied. "It appears to be about thirty feet long and fifteen feet wide!"

<sup>3</sup> "This scroll," he told me, "represents the words of God's curse going out over the entire land. It says that all who steal and lie have been judged and sentenced to death."

<sup>4</sup> "I am sending this curse into the home of every thief and everyone who swears falsely by my name," says the Lord of Hosts. "And my curse shall remain upon his home and completely destroy it."

<sup>5</sup> Then the angel left me for awhile, but he returned and said, "Look up! Something is traveling through the sky!"

<sup>6</sup> "What is it?" I asked.

He replied, "It is a bushel basket filled with the sin prevailing everywhere throughout the land."

<sup>7</sup> Suddenly the heavy lead cover on the basket was lifted off, and I could see a woman sitting inside the basket!

<sup>8</sup> He said, "She represents wickedness," and he pushed her back into the basket and clamped down the heavy lid again.

<sup>9</sup> Then I saw two women flying toward us, with wings like those of a stork. And they took the bushel basket and flew off with it, high in the sky.

6 THEN I LOOKED up again and saw four chariots coming from between what looked like two mountains made of brass. <sup>2</sup> The first chariot was pulled by red horses, the second by black ones, <sup>3</sup> the third by white horses and the fourth by

<sup>5</sup> He replied, "These are the four heavenly spirits who stand before the Lord of all the earth; they are going out to do his work. <sup>6</sup> The chariot pulled by the black horses will go north, and the one pulled by white horses will follow it there,<sup>a</sup> while the dappled-greys will go south."

<sup>8</sup> Then the Lord summoned me and said, "Those who went north have executed my judgment and quieted my anger there."

<sup>9</sup> In another message the Lord said:

<sup>10,11</sup> "Heldai, Tobijah, and Jedaiah will bring gifts of silver and gold from the Jews exiled in Babylon. The same day they arrive, meet them at the home of Josiah (son of Zephaniah), where they will stay. Accept their gifts and make from them a crown from the silver and gold. Then put the crown on the head of Joshua (son of Josedech) the High Priest. <sup>12</sup> Tell him that the Lord of Hosts says, 'You represent the Man who will come, whose name is "The Branch"—he will grow up from himself<sup>c</sup>—and will build the Temple of the Lord. <sup>13</sup> To him belongs the royal title. He will rule both as King and as Priest, with perfect harmony between the two!'

<sup>14</sup> "Then put the crown in the Temple of the Lord, to honor those who gave it—Heldai, Tobijah, Jedaiah, and also Josiah. <sup>15</sup> These three who have come from so far away represent many others who will some day come from distant lands to rebuild the Temple of the Lord. And when this happens you will know my messages have been from God, the Lord of Hosts. But none of this will happen unless you carefully obey the commandments of the Lord your God."

7 ANOTHER MESSAGE CAME to me from the Lord in late November of the fourth year of the reign of King Darius.

<sup>5</sup> "When you return to Bethel, say to all your people and your priests, 'During those seventy years of exile when you fasted and mourned in August and October, were you really in earnest about leaving your sins behind, and coming back to me? No, not at all! <sup>6</sup> And even now in your holy feasts to God, you don't think of me, but only of the food and fellowship and a Or, "will go west."

place."

b "Red" implied.

c Literally, "He will grow up in his fun. <sup>7</sup> Long years ago, when Jerusalem was prosperous and her southern suburbs out along the plain were filled with people, the prophets warned them that this attitude would surely lead to ruin, as it has.' "

<sup>8,9</sup> Then this message from the Lord came to Zechariah. "Tell them to be honest and fair—and not to take bribes—and to be merciful and kind to everyone. <sup>10</sup> Tell them to stop oppressing widows and orphans, foreigners and poor people, and to stop plotting evil against each other. <sup>11</sup> Your fathers would not listen to this message. They turned stubbornly away and put their fingers in their ears to keep from hearing me. <sup>12</sup> They hardened their hearts like flint, afraid to hear the words that God, the Lord of Hosts, commanded them—the laws he had revealed to them by his Spirit through the early prophets. That is why such great wrath came down on them from God. <sup>13</sup> I called but they refused to listen, so when they cried to me, I turned away. <sup>14</sup> I scattered them as with a whirlwind among the far-off nations. Their land became desolate; no one even traveled through it; the Pleasant Land lay bare and blighted."

8 AGAIN THE LORD'S message came to me:

<sup>2</sup> "The Lord of Hosts says, I am greatly concerned—yes, furiously angry—because of all that Jerusalem's enemies have done to her. <sup>3</sup> Now I am going to return to my land and I, myself, will live within Jerusalem, and Jerusalem shall be called 'The Faithful City,' and 'The Holy Mountain,' and 'The Mountain of the Lord of Hosts.' "

<sup>4</sup> The Lord of Hosts declares that Jerusalem will have peace and prosperity so long that there will once again be aged men and women hobbling through her streets on canes, <sup>5</sup> and the streets will be filled with boys and girls at play.

<sup>6</sup> The Lord says, "This seems unbelievable to you—a remnant, small, discouraged as you are—but it is no great thing for me. <sup>7</sup> You can be sure that I will rescue my people from east and west, wherever they are scattered. <sup>8</sup> I will bring them home again to live safely in Jerusalem, and they will be my people, and I will be their God; just and true and yet forgiving them their sins!"<sup>a</sup>

<sup>9</sup> The Lord of Hosts says, "Get on with the job and finish it! You have been listening long enough! For since you began laying the foundation of the Temple, the prophets have been telling you about the blessings that await you when it's finished. <sup>10</sup> Before the work began there were no jobs, no wages, no security; if you left the city, there was no assurance you would ever return, for crime was rampant.

<sup>11</sup> "But it is all so different now!" says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>12</sup> "For I am sowing peace and prosperity among you. Your crops will prosper; the grapevines will be weighted down with fruit; the ground will be fertile, with plenty of rain; all these blessings will be given to the people left in the land. <sup>13</sup> 'May you be as poor as Judah,' the heathen used to say to those they cursed! But no longer! For now 'Judah' is a word of blessing, not a curse. 'May you be as prosperous and happy as Judah is,' they'll say. So don't be afraid or discouraged! Get on with rebuilding the Temple!<sup>14,15</sup> If you do, I will certainly bless you. And don't think that I might change my mind. I did what I said I would when your fathers angered me and I promised to punish them, and I won't change this decision of mine to bless you.<sup>16</sup> Here is your part: Tell the truth. Be fair. Live at peace with everyone.<sup>17</sup> Don't plot harm to others; don't swear that something is true when it isn't! How I hate all that sort of thing!" says the Lord.

<sup>19</sup> "The traditional fasts and times of mourning you have kept in July, August, October, and January<sup>b</sup> are ended. They will be changed to joyous festivals if you love truth and peace!<sup>20,21</sup> People from around the world will come on pilgrimages and pour into Jerusalem from many foreign cities to attend these celebrations. People will write their friends in other cities and say, 'Let's go to Jerusalem to ask the Lord to bless us, and be merciful to us. I'm going! Please come with me. Let's go now!'<sup>22</sup> Yes, many people, even strong nations, will come to the Lord of Hosts in Jerusalem to ask for his blessing and help.<sup>23</sup> In those days ten men from ten different nations will clutch at the coat sleeves of one Jew and say, 'Please be my friend, for I know that God is with you.'"

9 THIS IS THE message concerning God's curse on the lands of Hadrach and Damascus, for the Lord is closely watching all mankind,<sup>3</sup> as well as Israel.

<sup>2</sup> "Doomed is Hamath, near Damascus, and Tyre, and Zidon, too, shrewd though they be.<sup>3</sup> Though Tyre has armed herself to the hilt, and become so rich that silver is like dirt to her, and fine gold like dust in the streets, 'yet the Lord will dispossess her, and hurl her fortifications into the sea; and she shall be set on fire and burned to the ground.

<sup>5</sup> "Ashkelon will see it happen; and be filled with fear; Gaza will huddle in desperation and Ekron will shake with terror, for their hopes that Tyre would stop the enemies' advance will all be dashed. Gaza will be conquered, her king killed, and Ashkelon will be completely destroyed.

<sup>6</sup> "Foreigners will take over the city of Ashdod, the rich city of the Philistines.<sup>7</sup> I will yank her idolatry out of her mouth, and pull from her teeth her sacrifices that she eats with blood. Everyone left will worship God and be adopted into Israel as a new clan: the Philistines of Ekron will intermarry with the Jews, just as the Jebusites did so long ago.<sup>8</sup> And I will surround my Temple like a guard to keep invading armies from entering Israel. I am closely watching their movements and I will keep them away; no foreign oppressors will again overrun my people's land.

<sup>9</sup> "Rejoice greatly, O my people! Shout with joy! For look—your King is coming! He is the Righteous One, the Victor! Yet he is lowly, riding on a donkey's colt! <sup>10</sup> I will disarm all peoples of the earth, including my people in Israel, and he shall bring peace among the nations. His realm shall stretch from sea to sea, from the river to the ends of the earth.<sup>b</sup> <sup>11</sup> I have delivered you from death in a waterless pit because of the covenant I made with you, sealed with blood. <sup>12</sup> Come to the place of safety, all you prisoners, for there is yet hope! I promise right now, I will repay you two mercies for each of your woes! <sup>13</sup> Judah, you are my bow! Ephraim, you are my arrow! Both of you will be my sword, like the sword of a mighty soldier brandished against the sons of Greece."

<sup>14</sup> The Lord shall lead his people as they fight! His arrows shall fly like lightning; the Lord God shall sound the trumpet call and go out against his enemies like a whirlwind off the desert from the south. <sup>15</sup> He will defend his people and they will subdue their enemies, treading them beneath their feet. They will taste victory and shout with triumph. They will slaughter their foes, leaving horrible carnage everywhere. <sup>16,17</sup> The Lord their God will save his people in that day, as a Shepherd caring for his sheep. They shall shine in his land as glittering jewels in a crown. How wonderful and beautiful all shall be! The abundance of grain and wine will make the young men and girls flourish; they will be radiant with health and happiness.

10 ASK THE LORD for rain in the springtime, and he will answer with lightning and showers. Every field will become a lush pasture. <sup>2</sup> How foolish to ask the idols for anything like that! Fortune-tellers' predictions are all a bunch of silly lies; what comfort is there in promises that don't come true? Judah and Israel have been led astray and wander like lost sheep; everyone attacks them, for they have no shepherd to protect them.

<sup>3</sup> "My anger burns against your 'shepherds'—your leaders—and I will punish them—these goats. For the Lord of Hosts has arrived to help his flock of Judah. I will make them strong and glorious like a proud steed in battle. <sup>4</sup> From them will come the Cornerstone, the Peg on which all hope hangs, the Bow that wins the battle, the Ruler over all the earth.<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> They will be mighty warriors for God, grinding their enemies' faces into the dust beneath their feet. The Lord is with them as they fight; their enemy is doomed.

<sup>6</sup> "I will strengthen Judah, yes, and Israel too; I will re-establish them because I love them. It will be as though I had never cast them all away, for I, the Lord their God, will hear their cries. <sup>7</sup> They shall be like mighty warriors. They shall be happy as with wine. Their children, too, shall see the mercies of the Lord and be glad. Their hearts shall rejoice in the Lord. <sup>8</sup> When I whistle to them, they'll come running, for I have bought them back again. From the few that are left, their population will grow again to former size. <sup>9</sup> Though I have scattered them like seeds among the nations, still they will remember me and return again to God; with all their children, they will come home again to Israel. <sup>10</sup> I will bring them back from Egypt and Assyria, and resettle them in Israel—in Gilead and Lebanon; there will scarcely be room for all of them! <sup>11</sup> They shall pass safely through the sea of distress,<sup>b</sup> for the waves will be held back. The Nile will become dry—the rule of Assyria and Egypt over my people will end.”

<sup>12</sup> The Lord says, “I will make my people strong with power from me! They will go wherever they wish, and wherever they go, they will be under my personal care.”

11 OPEN YOUR DOORS, O Lebanon, to judgment.<sup>a</sup> You will be destroyed as though by fire raging through your forests. <sup>2</sup> Weep, O cypress trees, for all the ruined cedars; the tallest and most beautiful of them are fallen. Cry in fear, you oaks of Bashan, as you watch the thickest forests felled. <sup>3</sup> Listen to the wailing of Israel's leaders—all these evil shepherds—for their wealth is gone. Hear the young lions roaring—the princes are weeping, for their glorious Jordan valley lies in ruins.

<sup>4</sup> Then said the Lord my God to me, “Go and take a job as shepherd of a flock being fattened for the butcher. <sup>5</sup> This will illustrate the way my people have been bought and slain by wicked leaders, who go unpunished. ‘Thank God, now I am rich!’ say those who have betrayed them—their own shepherds have sold them without mercy. <sup>6</sup> And I won’t spare them either,” says the Lord, “for I will let them fall into the clutches of their own wicked leaders, and they will slay them. They shall turn the land into a wilderness and I will not protect it from them.”

<sup>7</sup> So I took two shepherd's staffs, naming one “Grace” and the other “Union,” and I fed the flock as I had been told to do. <sup>8</sup> And I got rid of their three evil shepherds in a single month. But I became impatient with these sheep—this nation—and they hated me too.

<sup>9</sup> So I told them, “I won’t be your shepherd any longer. If you die, you die; if you are killed, I don’t care. Go ahead and destroy yourselves!”

<sup>10</sup> And I took my staff called “Grace” and snapped it in two, showing that I had broken my contract to lead and protect them. <sup>11</sup> That was the end of the agreement.

Then those who bought and sold sheep, who were watching, realized that God was telling them something through what I did.

<sup>12</sup> And I said to their leaders, “If you like, give me my pay, whatever I am worth; but only if you want to."

So they counted out thirty little silver coins<sup>b</sup> as my wages.

<sup>10</sup> And the Lord told me, "Toss it into the Temple treasury<sup>c</sup>—this magnificent sum they value you at!"

So I took the thirty coins and threw them in. <sup>11</sup> Then I broke my other staff, "Union," to show that the bond of unity between Judah and Israel was broken.

<sup>12</sup> Then the Lord told me to go again and get a job as a shepherd; this time I was to act the part of a worthless, wicked shepherd.

<sup>13</sup> And he said to me, "This illustrates how I will give this nation a shepherd who will not care for the dying ones, nor look after the young, nor heal the broken bones, nor feed the healthy ones, nor carry the lame that cannot walk; instead, he will eat the fat ones, even tearing off their feet.

<sup>14</sup> "Woe to this worthless shepherd who doesn't care for the flock. God's sword will cut his arm and pierce through his right eye; his arm will become useless and his right eye blinded."

12 THIS IS THE fate of Israel, as pronounced by the Lord, who stretched out the heavens and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him:

<sup>1</sup> "I will make Jerusalem and Judah like a cup of poison to all the nearby nations that send their armies to surround Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup> Jerusalem will be a heavy stone burdening the world. And though all the nations of the earth unite in an attempt to move her, they will all be crushed.

<sup>3</sup> "In that day," says the Lord, "I will bewilder the armies drawn up against her, and make fools of them, for I will watch over the people of Judah, but blind all her enemies.

<sup>4</sup> "And the clans of Judah shall say to themselves, 'The people of Jerusalem have found strength in the Lord of Hosts, their God.'

<sup>6</sup> "The Lord will give victory to the rest of Judah first, before Jerusalem, so that the people of Jerusalem and the royal line of David won't be filled with pride at their success.

<sup>7</sup> "The Lord will defend the people of Jerusalem; the weakest among them will be as mighty as King David! And the royal line will be as God, like the Angel of the Lord who goes before them! <sup>8</sup> For my plan is to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.

<sup>9</sup> "Then I will pour out the spirit of grace and prayer on all the people of Jerusalem, and they will look on him they pierced, and mourn for him as for an only son, and grieve bitterly for him as for an oldest child who died. <sup>10</sup> The sorrow and mourning in Jerusalem at that time will be even greater than the grievous mourning for the godly King Josiah,<sup>a</sup> who was killed in the valley of Megiddo.

<sup>12,13,14</sup> "All of Israel will weep in profound sorrow. The whole nation will be bowed down with universal grief—king, prophet, priest, and people.

"Each family will go into private mourning, husbands and wives apart, to face their sorrow alone.

13 "AT THAT TIME a Fountain will be opened to the people of Israel and Jerusalem, a Fountain to cleanse them from all their sins and uncleanness."

<sup>2</sup> And the Lord of Hosts declares, "In that day I will get rid of every vestige of idol worship throughout the land, so that even the names of the idols will be forgotten. All false prophets and fortune-tellers will be wiped out,<sup>3</sup> and if anyone begins false prophecy again, his own father and mother will slay him! 'You must die,' they will tell him, 'for you are prophesying lies in the name of the Lord.'

<sup>4</sup> "No one will be boasting then of his prophetic gift! No one will wear prophet's clothes to try to fool the people then.

<sup>5</sup> "No," he will say. 'I am not a prophet; I am a farmer. The soil has been my livelihood from my earliest youth.'

<sup>6</sup> "And if someone asks, 'Then what are these scars on your chest and your back?'<sup>a</sup> he will say, 'I got into a brawl at the home of a friend!'<sup>b</sup>

<sup>7</sup> "Awake, O sword, against my Shepherd, the man who is my associate and equal," says the Lord of Hosts. "Strike down the Shepherd and the sheep will scatter, but I will come back and comfort and care for the lambs. <sup>8</sup> Two-thirds of all the nation of Israel will be cut off and die,<sup>c</sup> but a third will be left in the land. <sup>9</sup> I will bring the third that remain through the fire and make them pure, as gold and silver are refined and purified by fire. They will call upon my name and I will hear them; I will say, 'These are my people,' and they will say, 'The Lord is our God.'"

14 WATCH, FOR THE day of the Lord is coming soon! On that day the Lord will gather together the nations to fight Jerusalem; the city will be taken, the houses rifled, the loot divided, the women raped; half the population will be taken away as slaves, and half will be left in what remains of the city.

<sup>3</sup> Then the Lord will go out fully armed for war, to fight against those nations. <sup>4</sup> That day his feet will stand upon the Mount of Olives, to the east of Jerusalem, and the Mount of Olives will split apart, making a very wide valley running from east to west, for half the mountain will move toward the north and half toward the south.

a Implied in 2 Chronicles 35:24, 25. Literally, "Like the mourning of Hadad-rimmon in the valley of Megiddo."

b Literally, "(These are) wounds I received in the house of my friends."

c This has already happened twice: Two million Jews perished in the Roman wars, six million under Hitler. Is a yet future disaster foretold here?

<sup>9</sup> You will escape through that valley, for it will reach across to the city gate.<sup>a</sup> Yes, you will escape as your people did long centuries ago from the earthquake in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and the Lord my God shall come, and all his saints and angels<sup>b</sup> with him.

<sup>4</sup> The sun and moon and stars will no longer shine,<sup>c</sup> yet there will be continuous day! Only the Lord knows how! There will be no normal day and night—at evening time it will still be light. <sup>8</sup> Life-giving waters will flow out from Jerusalem, half toward the Dead Sea and half towards the Mediterranean, flowing continuously both in winter and in summer.

<sup>9</sup> And the Lord shall be King over all the earth. In that day there shall be one Lord—his name alone will be worshiped. <sup>10</sup> All the land from Geba (the northern border of Judah) to Rimmon (the southern border) will become one vast plain, but Jerusalem will be on an elevated site, covering the area all the way from the Gate of Benjamin over to the site of the old gate, then to the Corner Gate, and from the Tower of Hananel to the king's wine presses. <sup>11</sup> And Jerusalem shall be inhabited, safe at last, never again to be cursed and destroyed.

<sup>12</sup> And the Lord will send a plague on all the people who fought Jerusalem. They will become like walking corpses, their flesh rotting away; their eyes will shrivel in their sockets, and their tongues will decay in their mouths. <sup>13</sup> They will be seized with terror, panic-stricken from the Lord, and will fight against each other in hand-to-hand combat. <sup>14</sup> All Judah will be fighting at<sup>d</sup> Jerusalem. The wealth of all the neighboring nations will be confiscated—great quantities of gold and silver and fine clothing. <sup>15</sup> (This same plague will strike the horses, mules, camels, donkeys, and all the other animals in the enemy camp.)

<sup>20</sup> In that day the bells on the horses will have written on them, "These Are Holy Property";<sup>f</sup> and the trash cans in the Temple of the Lord will be as sacred as the bowls beside the altar. <sup>21</sup> In fact, every container in Jerusalem and Judah shall be sacred to the Lord of Hosts; all who come to worship may use any of them free of charge to boil their sacrifices in; there will be no more grasping traders in the Temple of the Lord of Hosts!

MALACHI

1 HERE IS THE Lord's message to Israel, given through the prophet Malachi:

2 "I have loved you very deeply," says the Lord.

But you retort, "Really? When was this?"

And the Lord replies, "I showed my love for you by loving your father, Jacob. I didn't need to. I even rejected his very own brother, Esau, and destroyed Esau's mountains and inheritance, to give it to the jackals of the desert. 4 And if his descendants should say, 'We will rebuild the ruins,' then the Lord of Hosts will say, 'Try to if you like, but I will destroy it again,' for their country is named 'The Land of Wickedness' and their people are called 'Those Whom God Does Not Forgive.'"

5 O Israel, lift your eyes to see what God is doing all around the world; then you will say, "Truly, the Lord's great power goes far beyond our borders!"

6 "A son honors his father, a servant honors his master. I am your Father and Master, yet you don't honor me, O priests, but you despise my name."

"Who? Us?" you say. "When did we ever despise your name?"

7 "When you offer polluted sacrifices on my altar."

"Polluted sacrifices? When have we ever done a thing like that?"

"Every time you say, 'Don't bother bringing anything very valuable to offer to God!' 8 You tell the people, 'Lame animals are all right to offer on the altar of the Lord—

yes, even the sick and the blind ones.' And you claim this isn't evil? Try it on your governor sometime—give him gifts like that—and see how pleased he is!

9 "God have mercy on us," you recite; 'God be gracious to us!' But when you bring that kind of gift, why should he show you any favor at all?

10 "Oh, to find one priest among you who would shut the doors and refuse this kind of sacrifice. I have no pleasure in you," says the Lord of Hosts, "and I will not accept your offerings."

11 "But my name will be honored by the Gentiles from morning till night. All around the world they will offer sweet incense and pure offerings in honor of my name. For my name shall be great among the nations," says the Lord of Hosts.

12 "But you dishonor it, saying that my altar is not important, and encouraging people to bring cheap, sick animals to offer to me on it."

13 "You say, 'Oh, it's too difficult to serve the Lord and do what he asks.' And you turn up your noses at the rules he has given you to obey. Think of it! Stolen animals, lame and sick—as offerings to God! Should I accept such offerings as these?" asks the Lord. 14 "Cursed is that man who promises a fine ram from his flock, and substitutes a sick one to sacrifice to God. For I am a Great King," says the Lord of Hosts, "and my name is to be mightily revered among the Gentiles."

2 LISTEN, YOU PRIESTS, to this warning from the Lord of Hosts:

"If you don't change your ways and give glory to my name, then I will send terrible punishment upon you, and instead of giving you blessings as I would like to, I will turn on you with curses. Indeed, I have cursed you already because you haven't taken seriously the things that are most important to me.

3 "Take note that I will rebuke your children and I will spread on your faces the manure of these animals you offer me, and throw you out like dung. 4 Then at last you will know it was I who sent you this warning to return to the laws I gave your father Levi," says the Lord of Hosts. 5 "The purpose of these laws was to give him life and peace, to be a means of showing his respect and awe for me, by keeping them. 6 He passed on to the people all the truth he got from me. He did not lie or cheat; he walked with me, living a good and righteous life, and turned many from their lives of sin.

7 "Priests' lips should flow with the knowledge of God so the people will learn God's laws. The priests are the messengers of the Lord of Hosts, and men should come to them for guidance. 8 But not to you! For you have left God's paths. Your 'guidance' has caused many to stumble in sin. You have distorted the covenant of Levi, and made it into a grotesque parody," says the Lord of Hosts. 9 "Therefore I have made you contemptible in the eyes of all the people; for you have not obeyed me, but you let your favorites break the law without rebuke."

10 We are children of the same father, Abraham, all created by the same God. And yet we are faithless to each other, violating the covenant of our fathers! 11 In Judah, in Israel, and in Jerusalem, there is treachery, for the men of Judah have defiled God's holy and beloved Temple by marrying heathen women who worship idols. 12 May the Lord cut off from his covenant every last man, whether priest or layman, who has done this thing!

13 Yet you cover the altar with your tears because the Lord doesn't pay attention to your offerings anymore, and you receive no blessing from him. 14 "Why has God abandoned us?" you cry. I'll tell you why; it is because the Lord has seen your treachery in divorcing your wives who have been faithful to you through the years, the companions you promised to care for and keep. 15 You were united to your wife by the Lord. In God's wise plan, when you married, the two of you became one person in his sight. And what does he want? Godly children from your union. Therefore guard your passions! Keep faith with the wife of your youth.

16 For the Lord, the God of Israel, says he hates divorce and cruel men. Therefore control your passions—let there be no divorcing of your wives.

17 You have wearied the Lord with your words.

"Wearied him?" you ask in fake surprise. "How have we wearied him?"

By saying that evil is good, that it pleases the Lord! Or by saying that God won't punish us—he doesn't care.

3. "LISTEN: I WILL send my messenger before me to prepare the way. And then the one<sup>a</sup> you are looking for will come suddenly to his Temple—the Messenger of God's promises, to bring you great joy. Yes, he is surely coming," says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>2</sup> "But who can live when he appears? Who can endure his coming? For he is like a blazing fire refining precious metal and he can bleach the dirtiest garments! <sup>3</sup> Like a refiner of silver he will sit and closely watch as the dross is burned away. He will purify the Levites, the ministers of God, refining them like gold or silver, so that they will do their work for God with pure hearts. <sup>4</sup> Then once more the Lord will enjoy the offerings brought to him by the people of Judah and Jerusalem, as he did before. <sup>5</sup> At that time my punishments will be quick and certain; I will move swiftly against wicked men who trick the innocent, against adulterers, and liars, against all those who cheat their hired hands, or oppress widows and orphans, or defraud strangers, and do not fear me," says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>6</sup> "For I am the Lord—I do not change. That is why you are not already utterly destroyed [for my mercy endures forever]."

<sup>7</sup> "Though you have scorned my laws from earliest time, yet you may still return to me," says the Lord of Hosts. "Come and I will forgive you."

"But you say, 'We have never even gone away!'"

<sup>8</sup> "Will a man rob God? Surely not! And yet you have robbed me

"What do you mean? When did we ever rob you?"

"You have robbed me of the tithes and offerings due to me. <sup>9</sup> And so the awesome curse of God is cursing you, for your whole nation has been robbing me. <sup>10</sup> Bring all the tithes into the storehouse so that there will be food enough in my Temple; if you do, I will open up the windows of heaven for you and pour out a blessing so great you won't have room enough to take it in!"

"Try it! Let me prove it to you!"

<sup>11</sup> "Your crops will be large, for I will guard them from insects and plagues. Your grapes won't shrivel away before they ripen," says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>12</sup> "And all nations will call you blessed, for you will be a land sparkling with happiness. These are the promises of the Lord of Hosts."

<sup>13</sup> "Your attitude toward me has been proud and arrogant," says the Lord.

"But you say, 'What do you mean? What have we said that we shouldn't?'"

<sup>14,15</sup> "Listen; you have said, 'It is foolish' to worship God and obey him. What good does it do to obey his laws, and to sorrow and mourn for our sins? From now on, as far as we're concerned, 'Blessed are the arrogant.' For those who do evil shall prosper, and those who dare God to punish them shall get off scot-free."

<sup>16</sup> "Then those who feared and loved the Lord spoke often of him to each other. And he had a Book of Remembrance drawn up in which he recorded the names of those who feared him and loved to think about him.

"They shall be mine," says the Lord of Hosts, "in that day when I make up my jewels. And I will spare them as a man spares an obedient and dutiful son. " Then you will see the difference between God's treatment of good men and bad, between those who serve him and those who don't.

4 "WATCH NOW," THE Lord of Hosts declares, "the day of judgment is coming, burning like a furnace. The proud and wicked will be burned up like straw; like a tree, they will be consumed—roots and all.

<sup>2</sup> "But for you who fear my name, the Sun of Righteousness will rise with healing in his wings. And you will go free, leaping with joy like calves let out to pasture. <sup>3</sup> Then you will tread upon the wicked as ashes underfoot," says the Lord of Hosts. <sup>4</sup> "Remember to obey the laws I gave all Israel through Moses my servant on Mount Horeb.

<sup>5</sup> "See, I will send you another prophet like<sup>a</sup> Elijah before the coming of the great and dreadful judgment day of God. <sup>6</sup> His preaching will bring fathers and children together again, to be of one mind and heart, for they will know that if they do not repent, I will come and utterly destroy their land."

THE

MATTHEW

1 THESE ARE THE ancestors of Jesus Christ, a descendant of King David and of Abraham:

<sup>2</sup> Abraham was the father of Isaac; Isaac was the father of Jacob; Jacob was the father of Judah and his brothers.

<sup>3</sup> Judah was the father of Perez and Zerah (Tamar was their mother); Perez was the father of Hezron; Hezron was the father of Aram;

<sup>4</sup> Aram was the father of Amminadab; Amminadab was the father of Nahshon; Nahshon was the father of Salmon;

<sup>5</sup> Salmon was the father of Boaz (Rahab was his mother); Boaz was the father of Obed (Ruth was his mother); Obed was the father of Jesse;

<sup>6</sup> Jesse was the father of King David. David was the father of Solomon (his mother was the widow of Uriah);

<sup>7</sup> Solomon was the father of Rehoboam; Rehoboam was the father of Abijah; Abijah was the father of Asa;

<sup>8</sup> Asa was the father of Jehoshaphat; Jehoshaphat was the father of Joram; Joram was the father of Uzziah;

<sup>9</sup> Uzziah was the father of Jotham; Jotham was the father of Ahaz; Ahaz was the father of Hezekiah;

<sup>10</sup> Hezekiah was the father of Manasseh; Manasseh was the father of Amos; Amos was the father of Josiah;

<sup>11</sup> Josiah was the father of Jechoniah and his brothers (born at the time of the exile to Babylon).

Jechoniah was the father of Shealtiel; Shealtiel was the father of Zerubbabel;

<sup>13</sup> Zerubbabel was the father of Abiud; Abiud was the father of Eliakim; Eliakim was the father of Azor;

<sup>14</sup> Azor was the father of Zadok; Zadok was the father of Achim; Achim was the father of Eliud;

<sup>15</sup> Eliud was the father of Eleazar; Eleazar was the father of Matthan; Matthan was the father of Jacob;

<sup>16</sup> Jacob was the father of Joseph (who was the husband of Mary, the mother of Jesus Christ the Messiah).

<sup>18</sup> These are the facts concerning the birth of Jesus Christ: His mother, Mary, was engaged to be married to Joseph. But while she was still a virgin she became pregnant by the Holy Spirit.<sup>19</sup> Then Joseph, her fiancé,<sup>b</sup> being a man of stern principle,<sup>c</sup> decided to break the engagement but to do it quietly, as he didn't want to publicly disgrace her.

---

<sup>20</sup> As he lay awake<sup>d</sup> considering this, he fell into a dream, and saw an angel standing beside him. "Joseph, son of David," the angel said, "don't hesitate to take Mary as your wife! For the child within her has been conceived by the Holy Spirit.

<sup>24</sup> When Joseph awoke, he did as the angel commanded, and brought Mary home to be his wife,<sup>25</sup> but she remained a virgin until her Son was born; and Joseph named him "Jesus."

2 JESUS WAS BORN in the town of Bethlehem, in Judea, during the reign of King Herod.

At about that time some astrologers from eastern lands arrived in Jerusalem, asking, <sup>2</sup> "Where is the newborn King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in far-off eastern lands, and have come to worship him."

<sup>3</sup> King Herod was deeply disturbed by their question, and all Jerusalem was filled with rumors.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>4</sup> He called a meeting of the Jewish religious leaders.

"Did the prophets tell us where the Messiah would be born?" he asked.

<sup>6</sup> 'O little town of Bethlehem, you are not just an unimportant Judean village, for a Governor shall rise from you to rule my people Israel.'"

<sup>7</sup> Then Herod sent a private message to the astrologers, asking them to come to see him; at this meeting he found out from them the exact time when they first saw the star. Then he told them, <sup>8</sup> "Go to Bethlehem and search for the child. And when you find him, come back and tell me so that I can go and worship him too!"

<sup>9</sup> After this interview the astrologers started out again. And look! The star appeared to them again, standing over Bethlehem.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Entering the house where the baby and Mary his mother were, they threw themselves down before him, worshiping. Then they opened their presents and gave him gold, frankincense and myrrh. <sup>12</sup> But when they returned to their own land, they didn't go through Jerusalem to report to Herod, for God had warned them in a dream to go home another way.

<sup>11</sup> After they were gone, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream. "Get up and flee to Egypt with the baby and his mother," the angel said, "and stay there until I tell you to return, for King Herod is going to try to kill the child." <sup>12</sup> That same night he left for Egypt with Mary and the baby, <sup>13</sup> and stayed there until King Herod's death. This fulfilled the prophet's prediction,

"I have called my Son from Egypt."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>14</sup> Herod was furious when he learned that the astrologers had disobeyed him.

Sending soldiers to Bethlehem, he ordered them to kill every baby boy two years old and under, both in the town and on the nearby farms, for the astrologers had told him the star first appeared to them two years before. <sup>15</sup> This brutal action of Herod's fulfilled the prophecy of Jeremiah,<sup>f</sup>

"Screams of anguish come from Ramah,<sup>g</sup>

Weeping unrestrained;
Rachel weeping for her children,

Uncomforted—
For they are dead."

<sup>16</sup> When Herod died, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, and told him, <sup>17</sup> "Get up and take the baby and his mother back to Israel, for those who were trying to kill the child are dead."

<sup>18</sup> So he returned immediately to Israel with Jesus and his mother. <sup>19</sup> But on the way he was frightened to learn that the new king was Herod's son, Archelaus. Then, in another dream, he was warned not to go to Judea, so they went to Galilee instead, <sup>20</sup> and lived in Nazareth. This fulfilled the prediction of the prophets concerning the Messiah,

"He shall be called a Nazarene."

"I hear<sup>c</sup> a shout from the wilderness, 'Prepare a road for the Lord—straighten out the path where he will walk.'"

<sup>4</sup> John's clothing was woven from camel's hair and he wore a leather belt; his food was locusts and wild honey.

"You sons of snakes!" he warned. "Who said that you could escape the coming wrath of God?"

<sup>8</sup> Before being baptized, prove that you have turned from sin by doing worthy deeds. <sup>9</sup> Don't try to get by as you are, thinking, 'We are safe for we are Jews—descendants of Abraham.' That proves nothing. God can change these stones here into Jews!<sup>f</sup>

<sup>10</sup> "And even now the axe of God's judgment is poised to chop down every unproductive tree. They will be chopped and burned.

<sup>13</sup> Then Jesus went from Galilee to the Jordan River to be baptized there by John. <sup>14</sup> John didn't want to do it.

"This isn't proper," he said. "I am the one who needs to be baptized by you."

<sup>15</sup> But Jesus said, "Please do it, for I must do all that is right."<sup>i</sup> So then John baptized him.

<sup>16</sup> After his baptism, as soon as Jesus came up out of the water, the heavens were opened to him and he saw the Spirit of God coming down in the form of a dove. <sup>17</sup> And a voice from heaven said, "This is my beloved Son, and I am wonderfully pleased with him."

4 THEN JESUS WAS led out into the wilderness by the Holy Spirit, to be tempted there by Satan. <sup>2</sup> For forty days and forty nights he ate nothing and became very hungry. <sup>3</sup> Then Satan tempted him to get food by changing stones into loaves of bread.

"It will prove you are the Son of God," he said.

<sup>4</sup> But Jesus told him, "No! For the Scriptures tell us that bread won't feed men's souls: obedience to every word of God is what we need."

<sup>5</sup> Then Satan took him to Jerusalem to the roof of the Temple. <sup>6</sup> "Jump off," he said, "and prove you are the Son of God; for the Scriptures declare, 'God will send his angels to keep you from harm,' . . . they will prevent you from smashing on the rocks below."

<sup>7</sup> Jesus retorted, "It also says not to put the Lord your God to a foolish test!"

<sup>8</sup> Next Satan took him to the peak of a very high mountain and showed him the nations of the world and all their glory. <sup>9</sup> "I'll give it all to you," he said, "if you will only kneel and worship me."

told him. "The Scriptures say, 'Worship only the Lord God. Obey only him.'"

<sup>11</sup> Then Satan went away, and angels came and cared for Jesus.

<sup>15,16</sup> "The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, beside the Lake, and the countryside beyond the Jordan River, and Upper Galilee where so many foreigners live—there the people who sat in darkness have seen a great Light; they sat in the land of death, and the Light broke through upon them."<sup>b</sup>

saw two other brothers, James and John, sitting in a boat with their father Zebedee, mending their nets; and he called to them to come too. <sup>22</sup> At once they stopped their work and, leaving their father behind, went with him.

<sup>23</sup> Jesus traveled all through Galilee teaching in the Jewish synagogues, everywhere preaching the Good News about the Kingdom of Heaven. And he healed every kind of sickness and disease. <sup>24</sup> The report of his miracles spread far beyond the borders of Galilee so that sick folk were soon coming to be healed from as far away as Syria. And whatever their illness and pain, or if they were possessed by demons, or were insane, or paralyzed—he healed them all. <sup>25</sup> Enormous crowds followed him wherever he went—people from Galilee, and the Ten Cities, and Jerusalem, and from all over Judea, and even from across the Jordan River.

5 ONE DAY AS the crowds were gathering, he went up the hillside with his disciples and sat down and taught them there.

the kind and merciful, for they shall be shown mercy.<sup>8</sup> Happy are those whose hearts are pure, for they shall see God.<sup>9</sup> Happy are those who strive for peace—they shall be called the sons of God.<sup>10</sup> Happy are those who are persecuted because they are good, for the Kingdom of Heaven is theirs.

<sup>11</sup> "When you are reviled and persecuted and lied about because you are my followers—wonderful!<sup>12</sup> Be happy about it! Be very glad! for a tremendous reward awaits you up in heaven. And remember, the ancient prophets were persecuted too.

<sup>13</sup> "You are the world's seasoning, to make it tolerable. If you lose your flavor, what will happen to the world? And you yourselves will be thrown out and trampled underfoot as worthless.<sup>14</sup> You are the world's light—a city on a hill, glowing in the night for all to see.<sup>15,16</sup> Don't hide your light! Let it shine for all; let your good deeds glow for all to see, so that they will praise your heavenly Father.

<sup>17</sup> "Don't misunderstand why I have come—it isn't to cancel the laws of Moses and the warnings of the prophets. No, I came to fulfill them, and to make them all come true.<sup>18</sup> With all the earnestness I have I say: Every law in the Book will continue until its purpose is achieved.<sup>19</sup> And so if anyone breaks the least commandment, and teaches others to, he shall be the least in the Kingdom of Heaven. But those who teach God's laws and obey them shall be great in the Kingdom of Heaven.

<sup>21</sup> "Under the laws of Moses the rule was, 'If you kill, you must die.'

<sup>22</sup> But I have added to that rule,<sup>c</sup> and tell you that if you are only angry, even in your own home,<sup>d</sup> you are in danger of judgment! If you call your friend an idiot, you are in danger of being brought before the court. And if you curse him, you are in danger of the fires of hell.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>23</sup> "So if you are standing before the altar in the Temple, offering a sacrifice to God, and suddenly remember that a friend has something against you,<sup>24</sup> leave your sacrifice there beside the altar and go and apologize and be reconciled to him, and then come and offer your sacrifice to God.<sup>25</sup> Come to terms quickly with your enemy before it is too late and he drags you into court and you are thrown into a debtor's cell,<sup>26</sup> for you will stay there until you have paid the last penny.

destroyed than for all of you to be cast into hell.<sup>30</sup> And if your hand—even your right hand—causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. Better that than find yourself in hell.

<sup>31</sup> "The law of Moses says, 'If anyone wants to be rid of his wife, he can divorce her merely by giving her a letter of dismissal.'<sup>32</sup> But I say that a man who divorces his wife, except for fornication, causes her to commit adultery if she marries again. And he who marries her commits adultery.

<sup>33</sup> "Again, the law of Moses says, 'You shall not break your vows to God, but must fulfill them all.'

<sup>34</sup> But I say: Don't make any vows! And even to say, 'By heavens!' is a sacred vow to God, for the heavens are God's throne.<sup>35</sup> And if you say 'By the earth!' it is a sacred vow, for the earth is his footstool. And don't swear 'By Jerusalem!' for Jerusalem is the capital of the great King.

<sup>36</sup> Don't even swear 'By my head!' for you can't turn one hair white or black.<sup>37</sup> Say just a simple 'Yes, I will' or 'No, I won't.' Your word is enough. To strengthen your promise with a vow shows that something is wrong.

<sup>39</sup> But I say: Don't resist violence! If you are slapped on one cheek, turn the other too.<sup>40</sup> If you are ordered to court, and your shirt is taken from you, give your coat too.<sup>41</sup> If the military demand that you carry their gear for a mile, carry it two.<sup>42</sup> Give to those who ask, and don't turn away from those who want to borrow.

<sup>45</sup> In that way you will be acting as true sons of your Father in heaven. For he gives his sunlight to both the evil and the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust too.<sup>46</sup> If you love only those who love you, what good is that? Even scoundrels do that much.<sup>47</sup> If you are friendly only to your friends, how are you different from anyone else? Even the heathen do that.<sup>48</sup> But you are to be perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect.

6 "TAKE CARE! DON'T do your good deeds publicly, to be admired, for then you will lose the reward from your Father in heaven.

<sup>2</sup> When you give a gift to a beggar, don't shout about it as the hypocrites do—blowing trumpets in the synagogues and streets to call attention to their acts of charity! I tell you in all earnestness, they have received all the reward they will ever get.<sup>3</sup> But when you do a kindness to someone, do it secretly—don't tell your left hand what your right hand is doing.<sup>4</sup> And your Father who knows all secrets will reward you.

<sup>5</sup> "And now about prayer. When you pray, don't be like the hypocrites who pretend piety by praying publicly on street corners and in the synagogues where everyone can see them: Truly, that is all the reward they will ever get. <sup>6</sup> But when you pray, go away by yourself, all alone, and shut the door behind you and pray to your Father secretly, and your Father, who knows your secrets, will reward you.

<sup>7,8</sup> "Don't recite the same prayer over and over as the heathen do, who think prayers are answered only by repeating them again and again. Remember, your Father knows exactly what you need even before you ask him!

<sup>9</sup> "Pray along these lines: 'Our Father in heaven, we honor your holy name. <sup>10</sup> We ask that your kingdom will come now. May your will be done here on earth, just as it is in heaven. <sup>11</sup> Give us our food again today, as usual, <sup>12</sup> and forgive us our sins, just as we have forgiven those who have sinned against us. <sup>13</sup> Don't bring us into temptation, but deliver us from the Evil One.' <sup>14,15</sup> Amen.' Your heavenly Father will forgive you if you forgive those who sin against you; but if you refuse to forgive them, he will not forgive you.

on earth where they can erode away or may be stolen. <sup>20</sup> Store them in heaven where they will never lose their value, and are safe from thieves. <sup>21</sup> If your profits are in heaven your heart will be there too.

<sup>22</sup> "If your eye is pure, there will be sunshine in your soul. <sup>23</sup> But if your eye is clouded with evil thoughts and desires, you are in deep spiritual darkness. And oh, how deep that darkness can be!

<sup>24</sup> "You cannot serve two masters: God and money. For you will hate one and love the other, or else the other way around.

<sup>25</sup> "So my counsel is: Don't worry about things—food, drink, and clothes. For you already have life and a body—and they are far more important than what to eat and wear. <sup>26</sup> Look at the birds! They don't worry about what to eat—they don't need to sow or reap or store up food—for your heavenly Father feeds them. And you are far more valuable to him than they are. <sup>27</sup> Will all your worries add a single moment to your life?

<sup>31,32</sup> "So don't worry at all about having enough food and clothing. Why be like the heathen? For they

a Or, "from evil." Some manuscripts add here, "For yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen."

take pride in all these things and are deeply concerned about them. But your heavenly Father already knows perfectly well that you need them,<sup>11</sup> and he will give them to you if you give him first place in your life and live as he wants you to.

<sup>12</sup> "So don't be anxious about tomorrow. God will take care of your tomorrow too. Live one day at a time.<sup>b</sup>

7 "DON'T CRITICIZE, AND then you won't be criticized.<sup>2</sup> For others will treat you as you treat them.<sup>3</sup> And why worry about a speck in the eye of a brother when you have a board in your own? <sup>4</sup> Should you say, 'Friend, let me help you get that speck out of your eye,' when you can't even see because of the board in your own? <sup>5</sup> Hypocrite! First get rid of the board. Then you can see to help your brother.

<sup>6</sup> "Don't give holy things to depraved men. Don't give pearls to swine! They will trample the pearls and turn and attack you.

<sup>7</sup> "Ask, and you will be given what you ask for. Seek, and you will find. Knock, and the door will be opened.<sup>8</sup> For everyone who asks, receives. Anyone who seeks, finds. If only you will knock, the door will open.<sup>9</sup> If a child asks his father for a loaf of bread, will he be given a stone instead? <sup>10</sup> If he asks for fish, will he be given a poisonous snake? Of course not! <sup>11</sup> And if you hard-hearted, sinful men know how to give good gifts to your children, won't your Father in heaven even more certainly give good gifts to those who ask him for them?

<sup>15</sup> "Beware of false teachers who come disguised as harmless sheep, but are wolves and will tear you apart. <sup>16</sup> You can detect them by the way they act, just as you can identify a tree by its fruit. You need never confuse grapevines with thorn bushes or figs with thistles. <sup>17</sup> Different kinds of fruit trees can quickly be identified by examining their fruit. <sup>18</sup> A variety that produces delicious fruit never produces an inedible kind. And a tree producing an inedible kind can't produce what is good. <sup>19</sup> So the trees having the inedible fruit are chopped down and thrown on the fire. <sup>20</sup> Yes, the way to identify a tree or a person<sup>c</sup> is by the kind of fruit produced.

ment<sup>d</sup> many will tell me, 'Lord, Lord, we told others about you and used your name to cast out demons and to do many other great miracles.' <sup>21</sup> But I will reply, 'You have never been mine.<sup>e</sup> Go away, for your deeds are evil.'

8 LARGE CROWDS FOLLOWED
Jesus as he came down the hillside.

<sup>2</sup> Look! A leper is approaching. He kneels before him, worshipping. "Sir," the leper pleads, "if you want to, you can heal me."

<sup>3</sup> Jesus touches the man. "I want to," he says; "be healed." And instantly the leprosy disappears.

<sup>4</sup> Then Jesus says to him, "Don't stop to talk<sup>a</sup> to anyone; go right over to the priest to be examined; and take with you the offering required by Moses' law for lepers who are healed—a public testimony of your cure."

<sup>5,6</sup> When Jesus arrived in Capernaum, a Roman army captain came and pled with him to come to his home and heal his servant boy who was in bed paralyzed and racked with pain.

<sup>7</sup> "Yes," Jesus said, "I will come and heal him."

<sup>8,9</sup> Then the officer said, "Sir, I am not worthy to have you in my home; [and it isn't necessary for you to come<sup>b</sup>]. If you will only stand here and say, 'Be healed,' my servant will get well! I know, because I am under the authority of my superior officers and I have authority over my soldiers, and I say to one, 'Go,' and he goes, and to another, 'Come,' and he comes, and to my slave boy, 'Do this or that,' and he does it. And I know you have authority to tell his sickness to go—and it will go!"

<sup>10</sup> Jesus stood there amazed! Turning to the crowd he said, "I haven't seen faith like this in all the land of Israel! <sup>11</sup> And I tell you this, that many Gentiles [like this Roman officer<sup>b</sup>], shall come from all over the world and sit down in the Kingdom of Heaven with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. <sup>12</sup> And many an Israelite—those for whom the Kingdom was prepared—shall be cast into outer darkness, into the place of weeping and torment."

<sup>13</sup> Then Jesus said to the Roman officer, "Go on home. What you have believed has happened!" And the boy was healed that same hour!

<sup>16</sup> That evening several demon-possessed people were brought to Jesus; and when he spoke a single word, all the demons fled; and all the sick were healed. <sup>17</sup> This fulfilled the prophecy of Isaiah, "He took our sicknesses and bore our diseases."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>21</sup> Another of his disciples said, "Sir, when my father is dead, then I will follow you."<sup>h</sup>

the boat. But Jesus was asleep.

<sup>25</sup> The disciples went to him and wakened him, shouting, "Lord, save us! We're sinking!"

<sup>26</sup> But Jesus answered, "O you men of little faith! Why are you so frightened?" Then he stood up and rebuked the wind and waves, and the storm subsided and all was calm.

<sup>27</sup> The disciples just sat there, awed! "Who is this," they asked themselves, "that even the winds and the sea obey him?"

<sup>28</sup> When they arrived on the other side of the lake, in the country of the Gadarenes, two men with demons in them met him. They lived in a cemetery and were so dangerous that no one could go through that area.

<sup>29</sup> They began screaming at him, "What do you want with us, O Son of God? You have no right to torment us yet."<sup>i</sup>

And they came out of the men and entered the pigs, and the whole herd rushed over a cliff and drowned in the water below. <sup>33</sup> The herdsmen fled to the nearest city with the story of what had happened, <sup>34</sup>and the entire population came rushing out to see Jesus, and begged him to go away and leave them alone.

9 SO JESUS CLIMBED into a boat and went across the lake to Capernaum, his home town.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> Soon some men brought him a paralyzed boy on a mat. When Jesus saw their faith, he said to the sick boy, "Cheer up, son! For I have forgiven your sins!"

<sup>3</sup> "Blasphemy! This man is saying he is God!" exclaimed some of the religious leaders to themselves.

<sup>4</sup> Jesus knew what they were thinking and asked them, "Why are you thinking such evil thoughts?"

<sup>5,6</sup> I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> have the authority on earth to forgive sins. But talk is cheap—anybody could say that. So I'll prove it to you by healing this man." Then, turning to the paralyzed man, he commanded, "Pick up your stretcher and go on home, for you are healed."

<sup>9</sup> As Jesus was going on down the road, he saw a tax collector, Matthew,<sup>c</sup> sitting at a tax collection booth. "Come and be my disciple," Jesus said to him, and Matthew jumped up and went along with him.

<sup>12</sup> "Because people who are well don't need a doctor! It's the sick people who do!" was Jesus' reply.

<sup>13</sup> Then he added, "Now go away and learn the meaning of this verse of Scripture,

"It isn't your sacrifices and your gifts I want—I want you to be merciful."<sup>e</sup>

For I have come to urge sinners, not the self-righteous, back to God."

<sup>14</sup> One day the disciples of John the Baptist came to Jesus and asked him, "Why don't your disciples fast as we do and as the Pharisees do?"

<sup>15</sup> "Should the bridegroom's friends mourn and go without food while he is with them?" Jesus asked. "But the time is coming when I'll be taken from them. Time enough then for them to refuse to eat.

<sup>16</sup> "And who would patch an old garment with unshrunk cloth? For the patch would tear away and make the hole worse. <sup>17</sup> And who would use old wineskins<sup>f</sup> to store new wine? For the old skins would burst with the pressure, and the wine would be spilled and the skins ruined. Only new wineskins are used to store new wine. That way both are preserved."

<sup>18</sup> As he was saying this, the rabbi of the local synagogue came and worshiped him. "My little daughter has just died," he said,

"but you can bring her back to life again if you will only come and touch her."

<sup>19</sup> As Jesus and the disciples were going to the rabbi's home, <sup>20</sup> a woman who had been sick for twelve years with internal bleeding came up behind him and touched a tassel of his robe, <sup>21</sup> for she thought, "If I only touch him, I will be healed."

<sup>22</sup> Jesus turned around and spoke to her. "Daughter," he said, "all is well! Your faith has healed you." And the woman was well from that moment.

<sup>23</sup> When Jesus arrived at the rabbi's home and saw the noisy crowds and heard the funeral music, <sup>24</sup> he said, "Get them out, for the little girl isn't dead; she is only sleeping!" Then how they all scoffed and sneered at him!

<sup>25</sup> When the crowd was finally outside, Jesus went in where the little girl was lying and took her by the hand, and she jumped up and was all right again! <sup>26</sup> The report of this wonderful miracle swept the entire countryside.

<sup>27</sup> As Jesus was leaving her home, two blind men followed along behind, shouting, "O Son of King David, have mercy on us."

<sup>28</sup> They went right into the house where he was staying, and Jesus asked them, "Do you believe I can make you see?"

"Yes, Lord," they told him, "we do."

<sup>29</sup> Then he touched their eyes and said, "Because of your faith it will happen."

<sup>30</sup> And suddenly they could see! Jesus sternly warned them not to tell anyone about it, <sup>31</sup> but instead they spread his fame all over the town.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>32</sup> Leaving that place, Jesus met a man who couldn't speak because a demon was inside him. <sup>33</sup> So Jesus cast out the demon, and instantly the man could talk. How the crowds marveled! "Never in all our lives have we seen anything like this," they exclaimed.

<sup>34</sup> But the Pharisees said, "The reason he can cast out demons is that he is demon-possessed himself—possessed by Satan, the demon king!"

<sup>35</sup> Jesus traveled around through all the cities and villages of that area, teaching in the Jewish synagogues and announcing the Good News about the Kingdom. And wherever he went he healed people of every sort of illness. <sup>36</sup> And what pity he felt for the crowds that came, because their problems were so great and they didn't know what to do or where to go for help. They were like sheep without a shepherd.

<sup>37</sup> "The harvest is so great, and the workers are so few," he told his disciples. <sup>38</sup> "So pray to the one in charge of the harvesting, and ask him to recruit more workers for his harvest fields."

10 JESUS CALLED HIS twelve disciples to him, and gave them authority to cast out evil spirits and to heal every kind of sickness and disease.

<sup>2,3,4</sup> Here are the names of his twelve disciples:

Simon (also called Peter),
 Andrew (Peter's brother),
 James (Zebedee's son),
 John (James' brother),
 Philip,
 Bartholomew,
 Thomas,
 Matthew (the tax collector),
 James (Alphaeus' son),
 Thaddaeus,
 Simon (a member of "The Zealots," a subversive political party),
 Judas Iscariot (the one who betrayed him).

<sup>9</sup> "Don't take any money with you; <sup>10</sup> don't even carry a duffle bag with extra clothes and shoes, or even a walking stick; for those you help should feed and care for you. <sup>11</sup> Whenever you enter a city or village, search for a godly man and stay in his home until you leave for the next town. <sup>12</sup> When you ask permission to stay, be friendly, <sup>13</sup> and if it turns out to be a godly home, give it your blessing; if not, keep the blessing. <sup>14</sup> Any city or home that doesn't welcome you—shake off the dust of that place from your feet as you leave. <sup>15</sup> Truly, the wicked cities of Sodom and Gomorrah will be better off at Judgment Day than they.

<sup>16</sup> "I am sending you out as sheep among wolves. Be as wary as serpents and harmless as doves. <sup>17</sup> But beware! For you will be arrested and tried, and whipped in the synagogues. <sup>18</sup> Yes, and you must stand trial before governors and kings for my sake. This will give you the opportunity to tell them about me, yes, to witness to the world.

<sup>19</sup> "When you are arrested, don't worry about what to say at your trial, for you will be given the right words at the right time. <sup>20</sup> For it won't be you doing the talking—it will be the Spirit of your heavenly Father speaking through you!

No, rather, a sword. <sup>35</sup> I have come to set a man against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law—<sup>36</sup> a man's worst enemies will be right in his own home! <sup>37</sup> If you love your father and mother more than you love me, you are not worthy of being mine; or if you love your son or daughter more than me, you are not worthy of being mine. <sup>38</sup> If you refuse to take up your cross and follow me, you are not worthy of being mine.

And if you welcome good and godly men because of their godliness, you will be given a reward like theirs.

<sup>42</sup> "And if, as my representatives, you give even a cup of cold water to a little child, you will surely be rewarded."

11 WHEN JESUS HAD finished giving these instructions to his twelve disciples, he went off preaching in the cities where they were scheduled to go.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> John the Baptist, who was now in prison, heard about all the miracles the Messiah was doing, so he sent his disciples to ask Jesus, <sup>3</sup> "Are you really the one we are waiting for, or shall we keep on looking?"

<sup>4</sup> Jesus told them, "Go back to John and tell him about the miracles you've seen me do—<sup>5</sup> the blind people I've healed, and the lame people now walking without help, and the cured lepers, and the deaf who hear, and the dead raised to life; and tell him about my preaching the Good News to the poor. <sup>6</sup> Then give him this message, 'Blessed are those who don't doubt me.'"

gone, Jesus began talking about him to the crowds. "When you went out into the barren wilderness to see John, what did you expect him to be like? Grass blowing in the wind? <sup>8</sup> Or were you expecting to see a man dressed as a prince in a palace? <sup>9</sup> Or a prophet of God? Yes, and he is more than just a prophet. <sup>10</sup> For John is the man mentioned in the Scriptures—a messenger to precede me, to announce my coming, and prepare people to receive me.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>11</sup> "Truly, of all men ever born, none shines more brightly than John the Baptist. And yet, even the lesser lights in the Kingdom of Heaven will be greater than he is! <sup>12</sup> And from the time John the Baptist began preaching and baptizing until now, ardent multitudes have been crowding toward the Kingdom of Heaven,<sup>c</sup> <sup>13</sup> for all the laws and prophets looked forward [to the Messiah<sup>d</sup>]. Then John appeared, <sup>14</sup> and if you are willing to understand what I mean, he is Elijah, the one the prophets said would come [at the time the Kingdom begins<sup>d</sup>]. <sup>15</sup> If ever you were willing to listen, listen now!

<sup>16</sup> "What shall I say about this nation? These people are like children playing, who say to their little friends, <sup>17</sup> 'We played wedding and you weren't happy, so we played funeral but you weren't sad.' <sup>18</sup> For John the Baptist doesn't even drink wine and often goes without food, and you say, 'He's crazy.'<sup>e</sup> <sup>19</sup> And I, the Messiah,<sup>f</sup> feast and drink, and you complain that I am 'a glutton and a drinking man, and hang around with the worst sort of sinners!' But brilliant men like you can justify your every inconsistency!"<sup>g</sup>

<sup>20</sup> Then he began to pour out his denunciations against the cities where he had done most of his miracles, because they hadn't turned to God.

<sup>21</sup> "Woe to you, Chorazin, and woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the miracles I did in your streets had been done in wicked Tyre and Sidon<sup>h</sup> their people would have repented long ago in shame and humility. <sup>22</sup> Truly, Tyre and Sidon will be better off on the Judgment Day than you! <sup>23</sup> And Capernaum, though highly honored,<sup>i</sup> shall go down to hell! For if the marvelous miracles I did in you had been done in Sodom,<sup>h</sup> it would still be here today. <sup>24</sup> Truly, Sodom will be better off at the Judgment Day than you."

<sup>25</sup> And Jesus prayed this prayer: "O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, thank you for hiding the truth from those who think themselves so wise, and for revealing it to little children. <sup>26</sup> Yes, Father, for it pleased you to do it this way! . . .

<sup>27</sup> "Everything has been entrusted to me by my Father. Only the Father knows the Son, and the Father is known only by the Son and by those to whom the Son reveals him. <sup>28</sup> Come to me and I will give you rest—all of you who work so hard beneath a heavy yoke.<sup>10</sup> Wear my yoke—for it fits perfectly—and let me teach you; for I am gentle and humble, and you shall find rest for your souls; for I give you only light burdens."

12 ABOUT THAT TIME, Jesus was walking one day through some grainfields with his disciples. It was on the Sabbath, the Jewish day of worship, and his disciples were hungry; so they began breaking off heads of wheat and eating the grain.

<sup>3</sup> But Jesus said to them, "Haven't you ever read what King David did when he and his friends were hungry? <sup>4</sup> He went into the Temple and they ate the special bread permitted to the priests alone. That was breaking the law too. <sup>5</sup> And haven't you ever read in the law of Moses how the priests on duty in the Temple may work on the Sabbath? <sup>6</sup> And truly, one is here who is greater than the Temple! <sup>7</sup> But if you had known the meaning of this Scripture verse, 'I want you to be merciful more than I want your offerings,' you would not have condemned those who aren't guilty! <sup>8</sup> For I, the Messiah,<sup>a</sup> am master even of the Sabbath."

<sup>9</sup> Then he went over to the synagogue, <sup>10</sup> and noticed there a man with a deformed hand. The Pharisees<sup>b</sup> asked Jesus, "Is it legal to work by healing on the Sabbath day?" (They were, of course, hoping he would say "Yes," so they could arrest<sup>c</sup> him!) <sup>11</sup> This was his answer: "If you had just one sheep, and it fell into a well on the Sabbath, would you work to rescue it that day? Of course you would.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>12</sup> And how much more valuable is a person than a sheep! Yes, it is right to do good on the Sabbath."

<sup>13</sup> Then he said to the man, "Stretch out your arm." And as he did, his hand became normal, just like the other one!

See my Chosen One.

He is my Beloved, in whom my soul delights.

I will put my Spirit upon him,

And he will judge the nations.

<sup>19</sup> He does not fight nor

He does not raise his his final victory,

hope

Of all the world."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Then a demon-possessed man—he was both blind and unable to talk—was brought to Jesus, and Jesus healed him so that he could both speak and see. <sup>23</sup> The crowd was amazed. "Maybe Jesus is the Messiah!"<sup>e</sup> they exclaimed.

don't. <sup>34</sup> You brood of snakes! How could evil men like you speak what is good and right? For a man's heart determines his speech. <sup>35</sup> A good man's speech reveals the rich treasures within him. An evil-hearted man is filled with venom, and his speech reveals it. <sup>36</sup> And I tell you this, that you must give account on Judgment Day for every idle word you speak. <sup>37</sup> Your words now reflect your fate then: either you will be justified by them or you will be condemned."

<sup>38</sup> One day some of the Jewish leaders, including some Pharisees, came to Jesus asking him to show them a miracle.

<sup>39,40</sup> But Jesus replied, "Only an evil, faithless nation would ask for further proof; and none will be given except what happened to Jonah the prophet! For as Jonah was in the great fish for three days and three nights, so I, the Messiah,<sup>j</sup> shall be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights. <sup>41</sup> The men of Nineveh shall arise against this nation at the judgment and condemn you. For when Jonah preached to them, they repented and turned to God from all their evil ways. And now a greater than Jonah is here—and you refuse to believe him.<sup>j</sup> <sup>42</sup> The Queen of Sheba shall rise against this nation in the judgment, and condemn it; for she came from a distant land to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and now a greater than Solomon is here—and you refuse to believe him.<sup>j</sup> man possessed by a demon. For if the demon leaves, it goes into the deserts<sup>k</sup> for a while, seeking rest but finding none. Then it says, 'I will return to the man I came from.' So it returns and finds the man's heart clean but empty! Then the demon finds seven other spirits more evil than itself, and all enter the man and live in him. And so he is worse off than before."

<sup>44,47</sup> As Jesus was speaking in a crowded house<sup>l</sup> his mother and brothers were outside, wanting to talk with him. When someone told him they were there, "he remarked, "Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?" <sup>49</sup> He pointed to his disciples. "Look!" he said, "these are my mother and brothers." <sup>50</sup> Then he added, "Anyone who obeys my Father in heaven is my brother, sister and mother!"

13 LATER THAT SAME day, Jesus left the house and went down to the shore, <sup>23</sup> where an immense crowd soon gathered. He got into a boat and taught from it while the people listened on the beach. He used many illustrations such as this one in his sermon:

"A farmer was sowing grain in his fields. <sup>4</sup> As he scattered the seed across the ground, some fell beside a path, and the birds came and ate it. <sup>5</sup> And some fell on rocky soil where there was little depth of earth; the plants sprang up quickly enough in the shallow soil, <sup>6</sup> but the hot sun soon scorched them and they withered and died, for they had so little root. <sup>7</sup> Other seeds fell among thorns, and the thorns choked out the tender blades. <sup>8</sup> But some fell on good soil, and produced a crop that was thirty, sixty, and even a hundred times as much as he had planted. <sup>9</sup> If you have ears, listen!"

<sup>11</sup> Then he explained to them that only they were permitted to understand about the Kingdom of Heaven, and others were not.

<sup>12,13</sup> "For to him who has will more be given," he told them, "and he will have great plenty; but from him who has not, even the little he has will be taken away. That is why I use these illustrations, so people will hear and see but not understand.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>14</sup> "This fulfills the prophecy of Isaiah:

"They hear, but don't understand;

They look, but don't see!

<sup>15</sup> For their hearts are fat and heavy, and their ears are dull,

And they have closed their eyes in sleep, <sup>16</sup> so they won't see and hear and understand and turn to God again, and let me heal them."

But blessed are your eyes, for they see; and your ears, for they hear. <sup>17</sup> Many a prophet and godly man has longed to see what you have seen, and hear what you have heard, but couldn't.

<sup>20</sup> "The shallow, rocky soil represents the heart of a man who hears the message and receives it with real joy, <sup>21</sup> but he doesn't have much depth in his life, and the seeds don't root very deeply, and after a while when trouble comes, or persecution begins because of his beliefs, his enthusiasm fades, and he drops out. <sup>22</sup> The ground covered with thistles represents a man who hears the message, but the cares of this life and his longing for money choke out God's Word, and he does less and less for God.

<sup>27</sup> "The farmer's men came and told him, 'Sir, the field where you planted that choice seed is full of thistles!'

<sup>28</sup> " 'An enemy has done it,' he exclaimed.

" 'Shall we pull out the thistles?' they asked.

<sup>29</sup> " 'No,' he replied. 'You'll hurt the wheat if you do. <sup>30</sup> Let both grow together until the harvest, and I will tell the reapers to sort out the thistles and burn them, and put the wheat in the barn.' "

"The Kingdom of Heaven can be compared to a woman making bread. She takes a measure of flour and mixes in the yeast until it permeates every part of the dough."

<sup>34,35</sup> Jesus constantly used these illustrations when speaking to the crowds. In fact, because the prophets said that he would use so many, he never spoke to them without at least one illustration. For it had been prophesied, "I will talk in parables; I will explain mysteries hidden since the beginning of time."<sup>e</sup> <sup>36</sup> Then, leaving the crowds outside, he went into the house. His disciples asked him to explain to them the illustration of the thistles and the wheat.

<sup>37</sup> "All right," he said, "I am the farmer who sows the choice seed. <sup>38</sup> The field is the world, and the seed represents the people of the Kingdom; the thistles are the people belonging to Satan. <sup>39</sup>The enemy who sowed the thistles among the wheat is the devil; the harvest is the end of the world,<sup>g</sup> and the reapers are the angels.

<sup>47,48</sup>"Again, the Kingdom of Heaven can be illustrated by a fisherman—he casts a net into the water and gathers in fish of every kind, valuable and worthless. When the net is full, he drags it up onto the beach and sits down and sorts out the edible ones into crates and throws the others away. <sup>49</sup>That is the way it will be at the end of the world<sup>h</sup>—the angels will come and separate the wicked people from the godly,<sup>50</sup> casting the wicked into the fire; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth. <sup>51</sup>Do you understand?"

"Yes," they said, "we do."

<sup>52</sup>Then he added, "Those experts in Jewish law who are now my disciples have double treasures—from the Old Testament as well as from the New!"<sup>i</sup>

<sup>55</sup>"How is this possible?" the people exclaimed. "He's just a carpenter's son, and we know Mary his mother and his brothers—James, Joseph, Simon, and Judas. <sup>56</sup>And his sisters—they all live here. How can he be so great?" <sup>57</sup>And they became angry with him!

Then Jesus told them, "A prophet is honored everywhere except in his own country, and among his own people!" <sup>58</sup>And so he did only a few great miracles there, because of their unbelief.

mand of<sup>b</sup> his wife Herodias, his brother Philip's ex-wife, <sup>4</sup> because John had told him it was wrong for him to marry her. <sup>5</sup> He would have killed John but was afraid of a riot, for all the people believed John was a prophet.

<sup>12</sup> Then John's disciples came for his body and buried it, and came to tell Jesus what had happened.

<sup>13</sup> As soon as Jesus heard the news, he went off by himself in a boat to a remote area to be alone. But the crowds saw where he was headed, and followed by land from many villages.

<sup>14</sup> So when Jesus came out of the wilderness, a vast crowd was waiting for him and he pitied them and healed their sick.

<sup>15</sup> That evening the disciples came to him and said, "It is already past time for supper, and there is nothing to eat here in the desert; send the crowds away so they can go to the villages and buy some food."

<sup>17</sup> "What!" they exclaimed. "We have exactly five small loaves of bread and two fish!"

<sup>19</sup> Then he told the people to sit down on the grass; and he took the five loaves and two fish, looked up into the sky and asked God's blessing on the meal, then broke the loaves apart and gave them to the disciples to place before the people.

<sup>20</sup> And everyone ate until full! And when the scraps were picked up afterwards, there were twelve basketfuls left over!

<sup>21</sup> (About 5,000 men were in the crowd that day, besides all the women and children.) <sup>22</sup> Immediately after this, Jesus told his disciples to get into their boat and cross to the other side of the lake while he stayed to get the people started home.

<sup>23,24</sup> Then afterwards he went up into the hills to pray. Night fell, and out on the lake the disciples were in trouble. For the wind had risen and they were fighting heavy seas.

<sup>27</sup> But Jesus immediately spoke to them, reassuring them. "Don't be afraid!" he said.

<sup>28</sup> Then Peter called to him: "Sir, if it is really you, tell me to come over to you, walking on the water."

"come along!"

So Peter went over the side of the boat and walked on the water toward Jesus.<sup>10</sup> But when he looked around at the high waves, he was terrified and began to sink. "Save me, Lord!" he shouted.

<sup>11</sup> Instantly Jesus reached out his hand and rescued him. "O man of little faith," Jesus said. "Why did you doubt me?" <sup>12</sup> And when they had climbed back into the boat, the wind stopped.

<sup>13</sup> The others sat there, awestruck. "You really are the Son of God!" they exclaimed.

<sup>14</sup> They landed at Gennesaret. <sup>15</sup> The news of their arrival spread quickly throughout the city, and soon people were rushing around, telling everyone to bring in their sick to be healed. <sup>16</sup> The sick begged him to let them touch even the tassel of his robe, and all who did were healed.

15 SOME PHARISEES AND other Jewish leaders now arrived from Jerusalem to interview Jesus.

<sup>2</sup> "Why do your disciples disobey the ancient Jewish traditions?" they demanded. "For they ignore our ritual of ceremonial handwashing before they eat." <sup>3</sup> He replied, "And why do your traditions violate the direct commandments of God? <sup>4</sup> For instance, God's law is 'Honor your father and mother; anyone who reviles his parents must die.' <sup>5</sup> But you say, 'Even if your parents are in need, you may give their support money to the church<sup>a</sup> instead.' And so, by your man-made rule, you nullify the direct command of God to honor and care for your parents. <sup>7</sup> You hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy of you, <sup>8</sup> 'These people say they honor me, but their hearts are far away. <sup>9</sup> Their worship is worthless, for they teach their man-made laws instead of those from God.'"<sup>b</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Then Jesus called to the crowds and said, "Listen to what I say and try to understand: <sup>11</sup> You aren't made unholy by eating non-kosher food! It is what you say and think<sup>c</sup> that makes you unclean."

<sup>13,14</sup> Jesus replied, "Every plant not planted by my Father shall be rooted up, so ignore them. They are blind guides leading the blind, and both will fall into a ditch."

<sup>15</sup> Then Peter asked Jesus to explain what he meant when he said that people are not defiled by non-kosher food.

<sup>16</sup> "Don't you understand?" Jesus asked him. <sup>17</sup> "Don't you see that anything you eat passes through the digestive tract and out again? <sup>18</sup> But evil words come from an evil heart, and defile the man who says them. <sup>19</sup> For from the heart come evil thoughts, murder, adultery, fornication, theft, lying and slander. <sup>20</sup> These are what defile; but there is no spiritual defilement from eating without first going through the ritual of

<sup>22</sup> A woman from Canaan who was living there came to him, pleading, "Have mercy on me, O Lord, King David's Son! For my daughter has a demon within her, and it torments her constantly."

<sup>23</sup> But Jesus gave her no reply—not even a word. Then his disciples urged him to send her away. "Tell her to get going," they said, "for she is bothering us with all her begging."

<sup>24</sup> Then he said to the woman, "I was sent to help the Jews—the lost sheep of Israel—not the Gentiles."

<sup>25</sup> But she came and worshiped him and pled again, "Sir, help me!"

<sup>26</sup> "It doesn't seem right to take bread from the children and throw it to the dogs," he said.

<sup>27</sup> "Yes, it is!" she replied, "for even the puppies beneath the table are permitted to eat the crumbs that fall."

<sup>28</sup> "Woman," Jesus told her, "your faith is large, and your request is granted." And her daughter was healed right then.

<sup>29</sup> Jesus now returned to the Sea of Galilee, and climbed a hill and sat there. <sup>30</sup> And a vast crowd brought him their lame, blind, maimed, and those who couldn't speak, and many others, and laid them before Jesus, and he healed them all. <sup>31</sup> What a spectacle it was! Those who hadn't been able to say a word before were talking excitedly, and those with missing arms and legs had new ones; the crippled were walking and jumping around, and those who had been blind were gazing about them! The crowds just marveled, and praised the God of Israel.

<sup>32</sup> Then Jesus called his disciples to him and said, "I pity these people—they've been here with me for three days now, and have nothing left to eat; I don't want to send them away hungry or they will faint along the road."

<sup>33</sup> The disciples replied, "And where would we get enough here in the desert for all this mob to eat?"

<sup>34</sup> Jesus asked them, "How much food do you have?" And they replied, "Seven loaves of bread and a few small fish!"

<sup>35</sup> Then Jesus told all of the people to sit down on the ground, <sup>36</sup> and he took the seven loaves and the fish, and gave thanks to God for them, and divided them into pieces, and gave them to the disciples who presented them to the crowd.

<sup>37,38</sup> And everyone ate until full—4,000 men besides the women and children! And afterwards, when the scraps were picked up, there were seven basketfuls left over!

<sup>39</sup> Then Jesus sent the people home and got into the boat and crossed to Magadan.

16 ONE DAY THE Pharisees and Sadducees<sup>a</sup> came to test Jesus' claim of being the Messiah by asking him to show them some great demonstrations in the skies.

reading the weather signs of the skies—red sky tonight means fair weather tomorrow; red sky in the morning means foul weather all day—but you can't read the obvious signs of the times! <sup>4</sup> This evil, unbelieving nation is asking for some strange sign in the heavens, but no further proof will be given except the miracle that happened to Jonah." Then Jesus walked out on them.

<sup>5</sup> Arriving across the lake, the disciples discovered they had forgotten to bring any food.

<sup>7</sup> They thought he was saying this because they had forgotten to bring bread.

<sup>8</sup> Jesus knew what they were thinking and told them, "O men of little faith! Why are you so worried about having no food? <sup>9</sup> Won't you ever understand? Don't you remember at all the 5,000 I fed with five loaves, and the basketfuls left over? <sup>10</sup> Don't you remember the 4,000 I fed, and all that was left?"

<sup>12</sup> Then at last they understood that by "yeast" he meant the wrong teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

<sup>13</sup> When Jesus came to Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, "Who are the people saying I<sup>b</sup> am?"

say John the Baptist; some, Elijah; some, Jeremiah or one of the other prophets."

<sup>15</sup> Then he asked them, "Who do you think I am?"

<sup>16</sup> Simon Peter answered, "The Christ, the Messiah, the Son of the living God."

<sup>17</sup> "God has blessed you, Simon, son of Jonah," Jesus said, "for my Father in heaven has personally revealed this to you—this is not from any human source. <sup>18</sup> You are Peter, a stone; and upon this rock I will build my church; and all the powers of hell shall not prevail against it. <sup>19</sup> And I will give you the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven; whatever doors you lock on earth shall be locked in heaven; and whatever doors you open on earth shall be open in heaven!"

<sup>20</sup> Then he warned the disciples against telling others that he was the Messiah.

<sup>21</sup> From then on Jesus began to speak plainly to his disciples about going to Jerusalem, and what would happen to him there—that he would suffer at the hands of the Jewish leaders,<sup>c</sup> that he would be killed, and that three days later he would be raised to life again.

<sup>22</sup> But Peter took him aside to remonstrate with him. "Heaven forbid, sir," he said. "This is not going to happen to you!"

<sup>23</sup> Jesus turned on Peter and said, "Get away from me, you Satan! You are a dangerous trap to me. You are thinking merely from a human point of view, and not from God's."

<sup>24</sup> Then Jesus said to the disciples, "If anyone wants to be a follower of mine, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. <sup>25</sup> For anyone who keeps his life for himself shall lose it; and anyone who loses his life for me shall find it again. <sup>26</sup> What profit is there if you gain the whole world—and lose eternal life? What can be compared with the value of eternal life? <sup>27</sup> For I, the Son of Mankind, shall come with my angels in the glory of my Father and judge each person according to his deeds. <sup>28</sup> And some of you standing right here now will certainly live to see me coming in my Kingdom."

17 SIX DAYS LATER Jesus took Peter, James, and his brother John to the top of a high and lonely hill, <sup>2</sup> and as they watched, his appearance changed so that his face shone like the sun and his clothing became dazzling white.

<sup>3</sup> Suddenly Moses and Elijah appeared and were talking with him. <sup>4</sup> Peter blurted out, "Sir, it's wonderful that we can be here! If you want me to, I'll make three shelters,<sup>a</sup> one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah."

<sup>5</sup> But even as he said it, a bright cloud came over them, and a voice from the cloud said, "This is my beloved Son, and I am wonderfully pleased with him. Obey<sup>b</sup> him."

<sup>6</sup> At this the disciples fell face downward to the ground, terribly frightened. <sup>7</sup> Jesus came over and touched them. "Get up," he said,

"don't be afraid."

<sup>8</sup> And when they looked, only Jesus was with them.

<sup>9</sup> As they were going down the mountain, Jesus commanded them not to tell anyone what they had seen until after he had risen from the dead.

<sup>11</sup> Jesus replied, "They are right. Elijah must come and set everything in order. <sup>12</sup> And, in fact, he has already come, but he wasn't recognized, and was badly mistreated by many. And I, the Messiah<sup>d</sup>, shall also suffer at their hands."

<sup>13</sup> Then the disciples realized he was speaking of John the Baptist.

<sup>14</sup> When they arrived at the bottom of the hill, a huge crowd was waiting for them. A man came and knelt before Jesus and said, <sup>15</sup> "Sir, have mercy on my son, for he is mentally deranged, and in great trouble, for he often falls into the fire or into the water; <sup>16</sup> so I brought him to your disciples, but they couldn't cure him."

cast that demon out?"

<sup>20</sup> "Because of your little faith," Jesus told them. "For if you had faith even as small as a tiny mustard seed you could say to this mountain, 'Move!' and it would go far away. Nothing would be impossible." <sup>21</sup> But this kind of demon won't leave unless you have prayed and gone without food."<sup>c</sup>

<sup>22,23</sup> One day while they were still in Galilee, Jesus told them, "I am going to be betrayed into the power of those who will kill me, and on the third day afterwards I will be brought back to life again." And the disciples' hearts were filled with sorrow and dread.

Then he went into the house to talk to Jesus about it, but before he had a chance to speak, Jesus asked him, "What do you think, Peter? Do kings levy assessments against their own people, or against conquered foreigners?"

"Well, then," Jesus said, "the citizens are free! However, we don't want to offend them, so go down to the shore and throw in a line, and open the mouth of the first fish you catch. You will find a coin to cover the taxes for both of us; take it and pay them."

18 ABOUT THAT TIME the disciples came to Jesus to ask which of them would be greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven!

<sup>2</sup> Jesus called a small child over to him and set the little fellow down among them, <sup>3</sup> and said, "Unless you turn to God from your sins and become as little children, you will never get into the Kingdom of Heaven." <sup>4</sup> Therefore anyone who humbles himself as this little child, is the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven. <sup>5</sup> And any of you who welcomes a little child like this because you are mine, is welcoming me and caring for me. <sup>6</sup> But if any of you causes one of these little ones who trusts in me to lose his faith,<sup>a</sup> it would be better for you to have a rock tied to your neck and be thrown into the sea.

<sup>7</sup> "Woe upon the world for all its evils,<sup>b</sup> Temptation to do wrong is inevitable, but woe to the man who does the tempting." <sup>8</sup> So if your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away. Better to enter heaven crippled than to be in hell with both of your hands and feet. <sup>9</sup> And if your eye causes you to sin, gouge it out and throw it away. Better to enter heaven with one eye than to be in hell with two.

Won't he leave the ninety-nine others and go out into the hills to search for the lost one? <sup>13</sup> And if he finds it, he will rejoice over it more than over the ninety-nine others safe at home! <sup>14</sup> Just so, it is not my Father's will that even one of these little ones should perish.

<sup>15</sup> "If a brother sins against you, go to him privately and confront him with his fault. If he listens and confesses it, you have won back a brother. <sup>16</sup> But if not, then take one or two others with you and go back to him again, proving everything you say by these witnesses. <sup>17</sup> If he still refuses to listen, then take your case to the church, and if the church's verdict favors you, but he won't accept it, then the church should excommunicate him.<sup>f</sup> <sup>18</sup> And I tell you this—whatever you bind on earth is bound in heaven, and whatever you free on earth will be freed in heaven.

<sup>19</sup> "I also tell you this—if two of you agree down here on earth concerning anything you ask for, my Father in heaven will do it for you. <sup>20</sup> For where two or three gather together because they are mine, I will be right there among them."

be compared to a king who decided to bring his accounts up to date. <sup>24</sup> In the process, one of his debtors was brought in who owed him $10,000,000!<sup>g</sup> <sup>25</sup> He couldn't pay, so the king ordered him sold for the debt, also his wife and children and everything he had.

<sup>26</sup> "But the man fell down before the king, his face in the dust, and said, 'Oh, sir, be patient with me and I will pay it all.'

<sup>27</sup> "Then the king was filled with pity for him and released him and forgave his debt.

brothers."

19 AFTER JESUS HAD finished this address, he left Galilee and circled back to Judea from across the Jordan River. <sup>1</sup> Vast crowds followed him, and he healed their sick. <sup>2</sup> Some Pharisees came to interview him, and tried to trap him into saying something that would ruin him.

"Do you permit divorce?" they asked.

<sup>3</sup> "Don't you read the Scriptures?" he replied. "In them it is written that at the beginning God created man and woman, <sup>4,5</sup> and that a man should leave his father and mother, and be forever united to his wife. The two shall become one—no longer two, but one! And no man may divorce what God has joined together."

<sup>7</sup> "Then, why," they asked, "did Moses say a man may divorce his wife by merely writing her a letter of dismissal?"

<sup>8</sup> Jesus replied, "Moses did that in recognition of your hard and evil hearts, but it was not what God had originally intended. <sup>9</sup> And I tell you this, that anyone who divorces his wife, except for fornication, and marries another, commits adultery."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Jesus' disciples then said to him, "If that is how it is, it is better not to marry!"

<sup>11</sup> "Not everyone can accept this statement," Jesus said. "Only those whom God helps. <sup>12</sup> Some are born without the ability to marry,<sup>b</sup> and some are disabled by men, and some refuse to marry for the sake of the Kingdom of Heaven. Let anyone who can, accept my statement."

<sup>13</sup> Little children were brought for Jesus to lay his hands on them and pray. But the disciples scolded those who brought them. "Don't bother him," they said.

<sup>16</sup> Someone came to Jesus with this question: "Good master, what must I do to have eternal life?"

<sup>17</sup> "When you call me good you are calling me God," Jesus replied, "for God alone is truly good.<sup>c</sup> But to answer your question, you can get to heaven if you keep the commandments."

And Jesus replied, "Don't kill, don't commit adultery, don't steal, don't lie, <sup>19</sup> honor your father and mother, and love your neighbor as yourself!"

<sup>21</sup> Jesus told him, "If you want to be perfect, go and sell everything you have and give the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me." <sup>22</sup> But when the young man heard this, he went away sadly, for he was very rich.

<sup>21</sup> Then Jesus said to his disciples, "It is almost impossible for a rich man to get into the Kingdom of Heaven. <sup>24</sup> I say it again—it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God!"

<sup>22</sup> This remark confounded the disciples. "Then who in the world can be saved?" they asked.

<sup>27</sup> Then Peter said to him, "We left everything to follow you. What will we get out of it?"

<sup>3</sup> "A couple of hours later he was passing a hiring hall and saw some men standing around waiting for jobs, <sup>4</sup> so he sent them also into his fields, telling them he would pay them whatever was right at the end of the day. <sup>5</sup> At noon and again around three o'clock in the afternoon he did the same thing.

<sup>6</sup> "At five o'clock that evening he was in town again and saw some more men standing around and asked them, 'Why haven't you been working today?'

<sup>8</sup> "Then go on out and join the others in my fields,' he told them.

<sup>9</sup> "That evening he told the paymaster to call the men in and pay them, beginning with the last men first. <sup>9</sup> When the men hired at five o'clock were paid, each received $20. <sup>10</sup> So when the men hired earlier came to get theirs, they assumed they would receive much more. But they, too, were paid $20.

<sup>11,12</sup> "They protested, 'Those fellows worked only one hour, and yet you've paid them just as much as those of us who worked all day in the scorching heat.'

<sup>13</sup> " 'Friend,' he answered one of them, 'I did you no wrong! Didn't you agree to work all day for $20? <sup>14</sup> Take it and go. It is my desire to pay all the same; <sup>15</sup> is it against the law to give away my money if I want to? Should you be angry because I am kind?' <sup>16</sup> And so it is that the last shall be first, and the first, last."

Jerusalem, he took the twelve disciples aside, <sup>11</sup> and talked to them about what would happen to him when they arrived.

<sup>12</sup> "I<sup>b</sup> will be betrayed to the chief priests and other Jewish leaders, and they will condemn me to die. <sup>13</sup> And they will hand me over to the Roman government, and I will be mocked and crucified, and the third day I will rise to life again."

<sup>14</sup> Then the mother of James and John, the sons of Zebedee, brought them to Jesus and respectfully asked a favor.

<sup>15</sup> "What is your request?" he asked. She replied, "In your Kingdom, will you let my two sons sit on two thrones<sup>c</sup> next to yours?"

<sup>16</sup> But Jesus told her, "You don't know what you are asking!" Then he turned to James and John and asked them, "Are you able to drink from the terrible cup I am about to drink from?"

"Yes," they replied, "we are able!"

<sup>18</sup> The other ten disciples were indignant when they heard what James and John had asked for.

<sup>19</sup> But Jesus called them together and said, "Among the heathen, kings are tyrants and each minor official lords it over those beneath him. <sup>20</sup> But among you it is quite different. Anyone wanting to be a leader among you must be your servant. <sup>21</sup> And if you want to be right at the top, you must serve like a slave. <sup>22</sup> Your attitude<sup>c</sup> must be like my own, for I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give my life as a ransom for many."

<sup>24</sup> Two blind men were sitting beside the road and when they heard that Jesus was coming that way, they began shouting, "Sir, King David's Son, have mercy on us!"

<sup>26, 27</sup> When Jesus came to the place where they were he stopped in the road and called, "What do you want me to do for you?"

"Sir," they said, "we want to see!"

<sup>28</sup> Jesus was moved with pity for them and touched their eyes. And instantly they could see, and followed him.

21 AS JESUS AND the disciples approached Jerusalem, and were near the town of Bethphage on the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of them into the village ahead.

<sup>1</sup> "Just as you enter," he said, "you will see a donkey tied there, with its colt beside it. Untie them and bring them here. <sup>2</sup> If anyone asks you what you are doing, just say, 'The Master needs them,' and there will be no trouble."

her King is coming to her, riding humbly on a donkey's colt!"

<sup>12</sup> Jesus went into the Temple, drove out the merchants, and knocked over the money-changers' tables and the stalls of those selling doves.

<sup>13</sup> "The Scriptures say my Temple is a place of prayer," he declared, "but you have turned it into a den of thieves."

<sup>14</sup> And now the blind and crippled came to him and he healed them there in the Temple. <sup>15</sup> But when the chief priests and other Jewish leaders saw these wonderful miracles, and heard even the little children in the Temple shouting, "God bless the Son of David," they were disturbed and indignant and asked him, "Do you hear what these children are saying?"

<sup>17</sup> Then he returned to Bethany, where he stayed overnight.

<sup>18</sup> In the morning, as he was returning to Jerusalem, he was hungry, <sup>19</sup> and noticed a fig tree beside the road. He went over to see if there were any figs, but there were only leaves. Then he said to it, "Never bear fruit again!" And soon<sup>c</sup> the fig tree withered up.

<sup>20</sup> The disciples were utterly amazed and asked, "How did the fig tree wither so quickly?"

<sup>21</sup> Then Jesus told them, "Truly, if you have faith, and don't doubt, you can do things like this and much more. You can even say to this Mount of Olives, 'Move over into the ocean,' and it will. <sup>22</sup> You can get anything—anything you ask for in prayer—if you believe."

<sup>23</sup> When he had returned to the Temple and was teaching, the chief priests and other Jewish leaders came up to him and demanded: to know by whose authority he had thrown out the merchants the day before.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>24</sup> "I'll tell you if you answer one question first," Jesus replied. <sup>25</sup> "Was John the Baptist sent from God, or not?"

They talked it over among themselves. "If we say, 'From God,'" they said, "then he will ask why we didn't believe what John said. <sup>26</sup> And if we deny that God sent him, we'll be mobbed, for the crowd all think he was a prophet."

And Jesus said, "Then I won't answer your question either.

<sup>28</sup> "But what do you think about this? A man with two sons told the older boy, 'Son, go out and work on the farm today.' <sup>29</sup> 'I won't,' he answered, but later he changed his mind and went. <sup>30</sup> Then the father told the youngest, 'You go!' and he said, 'Yes, sir, I will.' But he didn't. <sup>31</sup> Which of the two was obeying his father?"

They replied, "The first, of course."

Then Jesus explained his meaning: "Surely evil men and prostitutes will get into the Kingdom before you do. <sup>22</sup> For John the Baptist told you to repent and turn to God, and you wouldn't, while very evil men and prostitutes did. And even when you saw this happening, you refused to repent, and so you couldn't believe.

<sup>23</sup> "Now listen to this story: A certain landowner planted a vineyard with a hedge around it, and built a platform for the watchman, then leased the vineyard to some farmers on a sharecrop basis, and went away to live in another country.

<sup>26</sup> "Then he sent a larger group of his men to collect for him, but the results were the same. <sup>27</sup> Finally the owner sent his son, thinking they would surely respect him.

<sup>28</sup> "But when these farmers saw the son coming they said among themselves, 'Here comes the heir to this estate; come on, let's kill him and get it for ourselves!' <sup>29</sup> So they dragged him out of the vineyard and killed him.

<sup>30</sup> "When the owner returns, what do you think he will do to those farmers?"

<sup>31</sup> The Jewish leaders replied, "He will put the wicked men to a horrible death, and lease the vineyard to others who will pay him promptly."

<sup>32</sup> Then Jesus asked them, "Didn't you ever read in the Scriptures: 'The stone rejected by the builders has been made the honored cornerstone;' <sup>c</sup> how remarkable! what an amazing thing the Lord has done?"

<sup>33</sup> "What I mean is that the Kingdom of God shall be taken away from you, and given to a nation that will give God his share of the crop. <sup>f</sup> <sup>34</sup> All who stumble on this rock of truth <sup>g</sup> shall be broken, but those it falls on will be scattered as dust."

<sup>35</sup> When the chief priests and other Jewish leaders realized that Jesus was talking about them—that they were the farmers in his story—<sup>36</sup> they wanted to get rid of him, but were afraid to try because of the crowds, for they accepted Jesus as a prophet.

22 JESUS TOLD SEVERAL other stories to show what the Kingdom of Heaven is like.

"For instance," he said, "it can be illustrated by the story of a king who prepared a great wedding dinner for his son.<sup>1</sup> Many guests were invited, and when the banquet was ready he sent messengers to notify everyone that it was time to come. But all refused! <sup>2</sup> So he sent other servants to tell them, 'Everything is ready and the roast is in the oven. Hurry!'

<sup>5</sup> "Then the angry king sent out his army and destroyed the murderers and burned their city. <sup>6</sup> And he said to his servants, 'The wedding feast is ready, and the guests I invited aren't worthy of the honor. <sup>7</sup> Now go out to the street corners and invite everyone you see.'

<sup>8</sup> "So the servants did, and brought in all they could find, good and bad alike; and the banquet hall was filled with guests. <sup>9</sup> But when the king came in to meet the guests he noticed a man who wasn't wearing the wedding robe [provided for him<sup>a</sup>].

<sup>10</sup> "Friend," he asked, 'how does it happen that you are here without a wedding robe?' And the man had no reply.

<sup>11</sup> "Then the king said to his aides, 'Bind him hand and foot and throw him out into the outer darkness where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth.' <sup>12</sup> For many are called, but few are chosen."

<sup>13</sup> Then the Pharisees met together to try to think of some way to trap Jesus into saying something for which they could arrest him. <sup>14</sup> They decided to send some of their men along with the Herodians<sup>b</sup> to ask him this question: "Sir, we know you are very honest and teach the truth regardless of the consequences, without fear or favor. <sup>15</sup> Now tell us, is it right to pay taxes to the Roman government or not?"

"Well, then," he said, "give it to Caesar if it is his, and give God everything that belongs to God."

<sup>21</sup> But that same day some of the Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection after death, came to him and asked, <sup>22</sup> "Sir, Moses said that if a man died without children, his brother should marry the widow and their children would get all the dead man's property. <sup>23</sup> Well, we had among us a family of seven brothers. The first of these men married and then died, without children, so his widow became the second brother's wife. <sup>24</sup> This brother also died without children, and the wife was passed to the next brother, and so on until she had been the wife of each of them. <sup>27</sup> And then she also died. <sup>28</sup> So whose wife will she be in the resurrection? For she was the wife of all seven of them!"

<sup>29</sup> But Jesus said, "Your error is caused by your ignorance of the Scriptures and of God's power! <sup>30</sup> For in the resurrection there is no marriage; everyone is as the angels in heaven. <sup>31</sup> But now, as to whether there is a resurrection of the dead—don't you ever read the Scriptures? Don't you realize that God was speaking directly to you when he said, <sup>32</sup> 'I am the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob'? So God is not the God of the dead, but of the living."<sup>c</sup>

One of them, a lawyer, spoke up: <sup>36</sup> "Sir, which is the most important command in the laws of Moses?"

<sup>37</sup> Jesus replied, "'Love the Lord your God with all your heart, soul, and mind.' <sup>38,39</sup> This is the first and greatest commandment. The second most important is similar: 'Love your neighbor as much as you love yourself.' <sup>40</sup> All the other commandments and all the demands of the prophets stem from these two laws and are fulfilled if you obey them. Keep only these and you will find that you are obeying all the others."

<sup>41</sup> Then, surrounded by the Pharisees, he asked them a question: <sup>42</sup> "What about the Messiah? Whose son is he?" "The son of David," they replied.

<sup>43</sup> "Then why does David, speaking under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, call him 'Lord'?" Jesus asked. "For David said,

"'God said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand until I put your enemies beneath your feet.'"

23 THEN JESUS SAID to the crowds, and to his disciples,

banquets, and in the reserved pews in the synagogue! <sup>7</sup> How they enjoy the deference paid them on the streets, and to be called 'Rabbi' and 'Master!' <sup>8</sup> Don't ever let anyone call you that. For only God is your Rabbi and all of you are on the same level, as brothers. <sup>9</sup> And don't address anyone here on earth as 'Father,' for only God in heaven should be addressed like that. <sup>10</sup> And don't be called 'Master,' for only one is your master, even the Messiah.

<sup>11</sup> "The more lowly your service to others, the greater you are. To be the greatest, be a servant. <sup>12</sup> But those who think themselves great shall be disappointed and humbled; and those who humble themselves shall be exalted.

<sup>13,14</sup> "Woe to you, Pharisees, and you other religious leaders. Hypocrites! For you won't let others enter the Kingdom of Heaven, and won't go in yourselves. And you pretend to be holy, with all your long, public prayers in the streets, while you are evicting widows from their homes. Hypocrites! <sup>15</sup> Yes, woe upon you hypocrites. For you go to all lengths to make one convert, and then turn him into twice the son of hell you are yourselves. <sup>16</sup> Blind guides! Woe upon you! For your rule is that to swear 'By God's Temple' means nothing—you can break that oath, but to swear 'By the gold in the Temple' is binding! <sup>17</sup> Blind fools! Which is greater, the gold, or the Temple that sanctifies the gold? <sup>18</sup> And you say that to take an oath 'By the altar' can be broken, but to swear 'By the gifts on the altar' is binding! <sup>19</sup> Blind! For which is greater, the gift on the altar, or the altar itself that sanctifies the gift? <sup>20</sup> When you swear 'By the altar' you are swearing by it and everything on it, <sup>21</sup> and when you swear 'By the Temple' you are swearing by it, and by God who lives in it. <sup>22</sup> And when you swear 'By heavens' you are swearing by the Throne of God and by God himself.

<sup>23</sup> "Yes, woe upon you, Pharisees, and you other religious leaders—hypocrites! For you tithe down to the last mint leaf in your garden, but ignore the important things—justice and mercy and faith. Yes, you should tithe, but you shouldn't leave the more important things undone. <sup>24</sup> Blind guides! You strain out a gnat and swallow a camel.

<sup>25</sup> "Woe to you, Pharisees, and you religious leaders—hypocrites! You are so careful to polish the outside of the cup, but the inside is foul with extortion and greed. <sup>26</sup> Blind Pharisees! First cleanse the inside of the cup, and then the whole cup will be clean.

<sup>27</sup> "Woe to you, Pharisees, and you religious leaders! You are like beautiful mausoleums—full of dead men's bones, and of foulness and corruption. <sup>28</sup> You try to look like saintly men, but underneath those pious robes of yours are hearts besmirched with every sort of hypocrisy and sin.

<sup>29,30</sup> "Yes, woe to you, Pharisees, and you religious leaders—hypocrites! For you build monuments to the prophets killed by your fathers and lay flowers on the graves of the godly men they destroyed, and say, 'We certainly would never have acted as our fathers did.'

"In saying that, you are accusing yourselves of being the sons of wicked men. <sup>2</sup> And you are following in their steps, filling up the full measure of their evil. <sup>3</sup> Snakes! Sons of vipers! How shall you escape the judgment of hell?"

"I will send you prophets, and wise men, and inspired writers, and you will kill some by crucifixion, and rip open the backs of others with whips in your synagogues, and hound them from city to city, <sup>5</sup> so that you will become guilty of all the blood of murdered godly men from righteous Abel to Zechariah (son of Barachiah), slain by you in the Temple between the altar and the sanctuary. <sup>6</sup> Yes, all the accumulated judgment of the centuries shall break upon the heads of this very generation.

"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the city that kills the prophets, and stones all those God sends to her! How often I have wanted to gather your children together as a hen gathers her chicks beneath her wings, but you wouldn't let me. <sup>14</sup> And now your house is left to you, desolate. <sup>15</sup> For I tell you this, you will never see me again until you are ready to welcome the one sent to you from God."<sup>d</sup>

24 AS JESUS WAS leaving the Temple grounds, his disciples came along and wanted to take him on a tour of the various Temple buildings.

<sup>2</sup> But he told them, "All these buildings will be knocked down, with not one stone left on top of another!"

<sup>4</sup> Jesus told them, "Don't let anyone fool you. <sup>5</sup> For many will come claiming to be the Messiah, and will lead many astray. <sup>6</sup> When you hear of wars beginning, this does not signal my return; these must come, but the end is not yet. <sup>7</sup> The nations and kingdoms of the earth will rise against each other and there will be famines and earthquakes in many places. <sup>8</sup> But all this will be only the beginning of the horrors to come.

<sup>9</sup> "Then you will be tortured and killed and hated all over the world because you are mine, <sup>10</sup> and many of you shall fall back into sin and betray and hate each other. <sup>11</sup> And many false prophets will appear and lead many astray. <sup>12</sup> Sin will be rampant everywhere and will cool the love of many. <sup>13</sup> But those enduring to the end shall be saved.

<sup>14</sup> "And the Good News about the Kingdom will be preached throughout the whole world, so that all nations will hear it, and then, finally, the end will come.

<sup>22</sup> "In fact, unless those days are shortened, all mankind will perish. But they will be shortened for the sake of God's chosen<sup>g</sup> people.

<sup>23</sup> "Then if anyone tells you, 'The Messiah has arrived at such and such a place, or has appeared here or there,' don't believe it. <sup>24</sup> For false Christs shall arise, and false prophets, and will do wonderful miracles, so that if it were possible, even God's chosen<sup>g</sup> ones would be deceived. <sup>25</sup> See, I have warned you.

<sup>26</sup> "So if someone tells you the Messiah has returned and is out in the desert, don't bother to go and look. Or, that he is hiding at a certain place, don't believe it! <sup>27</sup> For as the lightning flashes across the sky from east to west, so shall my coming be, when I, the Messiah,<sup>h</sup> return. <sup>28</sup> And wherever the carcass is, there the vultures will gather.

<sup>29</sup> "Immediately after the persecution of those days the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give light, and the stars will seem<sup>i</sup> to fall from the heavens, and the powers overshadowing the earth will be convulsed.<sup>j</sup>

<sup>30</sup> "And then at last the signal of my coming<sup>k</sup> will appear in the heavens and there will be deep mourning all around the earth. And the nations of the world will see me arrive in the clouds of heaven, with power and great glory. <sup>31</sup> And I shall send forth my angels with the sound of a mighty trumpet blast, and they shall gather my chosen ones from the farthest ends of the earth and heaven.<sup>l</sup>

<sup>42</sup> "So be prepared, for you don't know what day your Lord is coming.

<sup>45</sup> "Are you a wise and faithful servant of the Lord? Have I given you the task of managing my household, to feed my children day by day? <sup>46</sup> Blessings on you if I return and find you faithfully doing your work. <sup>47</sup> I will put such faithful ones in charge of everything I own!

25 "THE KINGDOM OF Heaven can be illustrated by the story of ten bridesmaids<sup>a</sup> who took their lamps and went to meet the bridegroom.

<sup>2,34</sup> "But only five of them were wise enough to fill their lamps with oil, while the other five were foolish and forgot.

<sup>3,6</sup> "So, when the bridegroom was delayed, they lay down to rest until midnight, when they were roused by the shout, 'The bridegroom is coming! Come out and welcome him!'

<sup>7,8</sup> "All the girls jumped up and trimmed their lamps. Then the five who hadn't any oil begged the others to share with them, for their lamps were going out.

<sup>9</sup> "But the others replied, 'We haven't enough. Go instead to the shops and buy some for yourselves.'

<sup>10</sup> "But while they were gone, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready went in with him to the marriage feast, and the door was locked.

<sup>11</sup> "Later, when the other five returned, they stood outside, calling, 'Sir, open the door for us!'

<sup>16</sup> “The man who received the $5,000 began immediately to buy and sell with it and soon earned another $5,000. <sup>17</sup> The man with $2,000 went right to work, too, and earned another $2,000.

<sup>18</sup> “But the man who received the $1,000 dug a hole in the ground and hid the money for safekeeping.

<sup>19</sup> “After a long time their master returned from his trip and called them to him to account for his money. <sup>20</sup> The man to whom he had entrusted the $5,000 brought him $10,000.

<sup>21</sup> “His master praised him for good work. ‘You have been faithful in handling this small amount,’ he told him, ‘so now I will give you many more responsibilities. Begin the joyous tasks I have assigned to you.’

<sup>22</sup> “Next came the man who had received the $2,000, with the report, ‘Sir, you gave me $2,000 to use, and I have doubled it.’

<sup>23</sup> “‘Good work,’ his master said. ‘You are a good and faithful servant. You have been faithful over this small amount, so now I will give you much more.’

<sup>24,25</sup> “Then the man with the $1,000 came and said, ‘Sir, I knew you were a hard man, and I was afraid you would rob me of what I earned,<sup>d</sup> so I hid your money in the earth and here it is!’

<sup>26</sup> “But his master replied, ‘Wicked man! Lazy slave! Since you knew I would demand your profit, <sup>27</sup> you should at least have put my money into the bank so I could have some interest. <sup>28</sup> Take the money from this man and give it to the man with the $10,000. <sup>29</sup> For the man who uses well what he is given shall be given more, and he shall have abundance. But from the man who is unfaithful, even what little responsibility he has shall be taken from him. <sup>30</sup> And throw the useless servant out into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’

<sup>31</sup> “But when I, the Messiah,<sup>e</sup> shall come in my glory, and all the angels with me, then I shall sit upon my throne of glory. <sup>32</sup> And all the nations shall be gathered before me. And I will separate the people<sup>f</sup> as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats, <sup>33</sup> and place the sheep at my right hand, and the goats at my left.

<sup>34</sup> “Then I, the King, shall say to those at my right, ‘Come, blessed of my Father, into the Kingdom prepared for you from the founding of the world. <sup>35</sup> For I was hungry and you fed me; I was thirsty and you gave me water; I was a stranger and you invited me into your homes; <sup>36</sup> naked and you clothed me; sick and in prison, and you visited me.’

<sup>37</sup> “Then these righteous ones will reply, ‘Sir, when did we ever see you hungry and feed you? Or thirsty and give you anything to drink? <sup>38</sup> Or a stranger, and help you? Or naked, and clothe you? <sup>39</sup> When did we ever see you sick or in prison, and visit you?’

26 WHEN JESUS HAD finished this talk with his disciples, he told them,

<sup>2</sup> "As you know, the Passover celebration begins in two days, and I<sup>a</sup> shall be betrayed and crucified."

any, to the home of Simon the leper. <sup>7</sup> While he was eating, a woman came in with a bottle of very expensive perfume, and poured it over his head.

<sup>8,9</sup> The disciples were indignant. "What a waste of good money," they said. "Why, she could have sold it for a fortune and given it to the poor."

<sup>10</sup> Jesus knew what they were thinking, and said, "Why are you criticizing her? For she has done a good thing to me. <sup>11</sup> You will always have the poor among you, but you won't always have me. <sup>12</sup> She has poured this perfume on me to prepare my body for burial. <sup>13</sup> And she will always be remembered for this deed. The story of what she has done will be told throughout the whole world, wherever the Good News is preached."

<sup>14</sup> Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve apostles, went to the chief priests, <sup>15</sup> and asked, "How much will you pay me to get Jesus into your hands?" And they gave him thirty silver coins. <sup>16</sup> From that time on, Judas watched for an opportunity to betray Jesus to them.

<sup>17</sup> On the first day of the Passover ceremonies, when bread made with yeast was purged from every Jewish home, the disciples came to Jesus and asked, "Where shall we plan to eat the Passover?"

<sup>18</sup> He replied, "Go into the city and see Mr. So-and-So, and tell him, 'Our Master says, my time has come, and I will eat the Passover meal with my disciples at your house.'"<sup>19</sup> So the disciples did as he told them, and prepared the supper there.

<sup>20,21</sup> That evening as he sat eating with the Twelve, he said, "One of you will betray me."

<sup>22</sup> Sorrow chilled their hearts, and each one asked, "Am I the one?"

<sup>25</sup> Judas, too, had asked him, "Rabbi, am I the one?" And Jesus had told him, "Yes."

<sup>26</sup> As they were eating, Jesus took a small loaf of bread and blessed it and broke it apart and gave it to the disciples and said, "Take it and eat it, for this is my body."

<sup>27</sup> And he took a cup of wine and gave thanks for it and gave it to them and said, "Each one drink from it, <sup>28</sup> for this is my blood, sealing the New Covenant. It is poured out to forgive the sins of multitudes. <sup>29</sup> Mark my words—I will not drink this wine again until the day I drink it new with you in my Father's Kingdom."

<sup>30</sup> And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

<sup>31</sup> Then Jesus said to them, "Tonight you will all desert me. For it is written in the Scriptures<sup>d</sup> that God will smite the Shepherd, and the sheep of the flock will be scattered. <sup>32</sup> But after I have been brought back to life again I will go to Galilee, and meet you

there."

<sup>34</sup> Jesus told him, "The truth is that this very night, before the cock crows at dawn, you will deny me three times!"

<sup>35</sup> "I would die first!" Peter insisted. And all the other disciples said the same thing.

<sup>36</sup> Then Jesus brought them to a garden grove, Gethsemane, and told them to sit down and wait while he went on ahead to pray.

<sup>37</sup> He took Peter with him and Zebedee's two sons James and John, and began to be filled with anguish and despair.

<sup>38</sup> Then he told them, "My soul is crushed with horror and sadness to the point of death . . . stay here . . . stay awake with me."

<sup>39</sup> He went forward a little, and fell face downward on the ground, and prayed, "My Father! If it is possible, let this cup be taken away from me. But I want your will, not mine."

<sup>40</sup> Then he returned to the three disciples and found them asleep. "Peter," he called, "couldn't you even stay awake with me one hour?"

<sup>41</sup> Keep alert and pray. Otherwise temptation will overpower you. For the spirit indeed is willing, but how weak the body is!"

<sup>42</sup> Again he left them and prayed, "My Father! If this cup cannot go away until I drink it all, your will be done."

<sup>43</sup> He returned to them again and found them sleeping, for their eyes were heavy, "so he went back to prayer the third time, saying the same things again.

<sup>47</sup> Then he came to the disciples and said, "Sleep on now and take your rest . . . but no! The time has come! I am betrayed into the hands of evil men! <sup>48</sup> Up! Let's be going! Look! Here comes the man who is betraying me!"

<sup>47</sup> At that very moment while he was still speaking, Judas, one of the Twelve, arrived with a great crowd armed with swords and clubs, sent by the Jewish leaders. <sup>48</sup> Judas had told them to arrest the man he greeted, for that would be the one they were after. <sup>49</sup> So now Judas came straight to Jesus and said, "Hello, Master!" and embraced him in friendly fashion.

<sup>50</sup> Jesus said, "My friend, go ahead and do what you have come for." Then the others grabbed him.

<sup>52</sup> "Put away your sword," Jesus told him. "Those using swords will get killed. <sup>53</sup> Don't you realize that I could ask my Father for thousands of angels to protect us, and he would send them instantly? <sup>54</sup> But if I did, how would the Scriptures be fulfilled that describe what is happening now?" <sup>55</sup> Then Jesus spoke to the crowd. "Am I some dangerous criminal," he asked, "that you had to arm yourselves with swords and clubs before you could arrest me? I was with you teaching daily in the Temple and you didn't stop me then. <sup>56</sup> But this is all happening to fulfill the words of the prophets as recorded in the Scriptures."

At that point, all the disciples deserted him and fled.

<sup>57</sup> Then the mob led him to the home of Caiaphas the High Priest, where all the Jewish leaders were gathering. <sup>58</sup> Meanwhile, Peter was following far to the rear, and came to the courtyard of the High Priest's house and went in and sat with the soldiers, and waited to see what was going to be done to Jesus.

<sup>59</sup> The chief priests and, in fact, the entire Jewish Supreme Court assembled there and looked for witnesses who would lie about Jesus, in order to build a case against him that would result in a death sentence. <sup>60,61</sup> But even though they found many who agreed to be false witnesses, these always contradicted each other.

Finally two men were found who declared, "This man said, 'I am able to destroy the Temple of God and rebuild it in three days.'"

<sup>62</sup> Then the High Priest stood up and said to Jesus, "Well, what about it? Did you say that, or didn't you?" <sup>63</sup> But Jesus remained silent.

Then the High Priest said to him, "I demand in the name of the living God that you tell us whether you claim to be the Messiah, the Son of God."

<sup>64</sup> "Yes," Jesus said, "I am. And in the future you will see me, the Messiah,<sup>f</sup> sitting at the right hand of God and returning on the clouds of heaven."

<sup>65,66</sup> Then the High Priest tore at his own clothing, shouting, "Blasphemy! What need have we for other witnesses? You have all heard him say it! What is your verdict?"

They shouted, "Death!—Death!—Death!"

<sup>67</sup> Then they spat in his face and struck him and some slapped him, <sup>68</sup> saying, "Prophecy to us, you Messiah! Who struck you that time?"

<sup>69</sup> Meanwhile, as Peter was sitting in the courtyard a girl came over and said to him, "You were with Jesus, for both of you are from Galilee."<sup>h</sup>

<sup>70</sup> But Peter denied it loudly. "I don't even know what you are talking about," he angrily declared.

<sup>71</sup> Later, out by the gate, another girl noticed him and said to those standing around, "This man was with Jesus—from Nazareth."

<sup>72</sup> Again Peter denied it, this time with an oath. "I don't even know the man," he said.

<sup>73</sup> But after a while the men who had been standing there came over to him and said, "We know you are one of his disciples, for we can tell by your Galilean<sup>i</sup> accent."

<sup>74</sup> Peter began to curse and swear. "I don't even know the man," he said.

And immediately the cock crowed. <sup>75</sup> Then Peter remembered what Jesus had said, "Before the cock crows, you will deny me three times." And he went away, crying bitterly.

27 WHEN IT WAS morning, the chief priests and Jewish leaders met again to discuss how to induce the Roman government to sentence Jesus to death.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> Then they sent him in chains to Pilate, the Roman governor.

About that time Judas, who betrayed him, when he saw that Jesus had been condemned to die, changed his mind and deeply regretted what he had done,<sup>b</sup> and brought back the money to the chief priests and other Jewish leaders.

<sup>4</sup> "I have sinned," he declared, "for I have betrayed an innocent man."

"That's your problem," they retorted.

<sup>5</sup> Then he threw the money onto the floor of the Temple and went out and hanged himself. <sup>6</sup> The chief priests picked the money up. "We can't put it in the collection," they said, "since it's against our laws to accept money paid for murder."

<sup>7</sup> They talked it over and finally decided to buy a certain field where the clay was used by potters, and to make it into a cemetery for foreigners who died in Jerusalem. <sup>8</sup> That is why the cemetery is still called "The Field of Blood."

<sup>9</sup> This fulfilled the prophecy of Jeremiah which says,

"They took the thirty pieces

of silver—the price at which he was valued by the people of Israel—<sup>10</sup> and purchased a field from the potters as the Lord directed me.”

<sup>11</sup> Now Jesus was standing before Pilate, the Roman governor. “Are you the Jews’ Messiah?”<sup>c</sup> the governor asked him.

“Yes,” Jesus replied.

<sup>12</sup> But when the chief priests and other Jewish leaders made their many accusations against him, Jesus remained silent.

<sup>13</sup> “Don’t you hear what they are saying?” Pilate demanded.

<sup>15</sup> Now the governor’s custom was to release one Jewish prisoner each year during the Passover celebration— anyone they wanted.

<sup>16</sup> This year there was a particularly notorious criminal in jail named Barabbas, <sup>17</sup> and as the crowds gathered before Pilate’s house that morning he asked them, “Which shall I release to you—Barabbas, or Jesus your Messiah?”<sup>d</sup> <sup>18</sup> For he knew very well that the Jewish leaders had arrested Jesus out of envy because of his popularity with the people.

<sup>19</sup> Just then, as he was presiding over the court, Pilate’s wife sent him this message: “Leave that good man alone; for I had a terrible nightmare concerning him last night.”

<sup>20</sup> Meanwhile the chief priests and Jewish officials persuaded the crowds to ask for Barabbas’ release, and for Jesus’ death. <sup>21</sup> So when the governor asked again,<sup>e</sup> “Which of these two shall I release to you?” the crowd shouted back their reply: “Barabbas!”

<sup>22</sup> “Then what shall I do with Jesus, your Messiah?” Pilate asked.

And they shouted, “Crucify him!”

<sup>23</sup> “Why?” Pilate demanded. “What has he done wrong?” But they kept shouting, “Crucify! Crucify!”

<sup>24</sup> When Pilate saw that he wasn’t getting anywhere, and that a riot was developing, he sent for a bowl of water and washed his hands before the crowd, saying, “I am innocent of the blood of this good man. The responsibility is yours!”

out to crucify him.<sup>32</sup> As they were on the way to the execution grounds they came across a man from Cyrene, in Africa—Simon was his name—and forced him to carry Jesus' cross.<sup>33</sup> Then they went out to an area known as Golgotha, that is, "Skull Hill,"<sup>34</sup> where the soldiers gave him drugged wine to drink; but when he had tasted it, he refused.

<sup>38</sup> Two robbers were also crucified there that morning, one on either side of him.<sup>39</sup> And the people passing by hurled abuse, shaking their heads at him and saying,<sup>40</sup> "So! You can destroy the Temple and build it again in three days, can you? Well, then, come on down from the cross if you are the Son of God!"

<sup>41,42,43</sup> And the chief priests and Jewish leaders also mocked him. "He saved others," they scoffed, "but he can't save himself! So you are the King of Israel, are you? Come down from the cross and we'll believe you! He trusted God—let God show his approval by delivering him! Didn't he say, 'I am God's Son'?"

<sup>45</sup> That afternoon, the whole earth<sup>f</sup> was covered with darkness for three hours, from noon until three o'clock.

<sup>46</sup> About three o'clock, Jesus shouted, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani," which means, "My God, my God, why have you forsaken me?"

<sup>47</sup> Some of the bystanders misunderstood and thought he was calling for Elijah.<sup>48</sup> One of them ran and filled a sponge with sour wine and put it on a stick and held it up to him to drink.<sup>49</sup> But the rest said, "Leave him alone. Let's see whether Elijah will come and save him."

<sup>50</sup> Then Jesus shouted out again, dismissed his spirit, and died.

<sup>55</sup> And many women who had come down from Galilee with Jesus to care for him were watching from a distance.<sup>56</sup> Among them were Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Joseph, and the mother of James and John (the sons of Zebedee).

<sup>57</sup> When evening came, a rich man from Arimathea named Joseph, one of Jesus' followers,<sup>58</sup> went to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body.

And Pilate issued an order to release it to him. <sup>59</sup> Joseph took the body and wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, <sup>60</sup> and placed it in his own new rock-hewn tomb, and rolled a great stone across the entrance as he left. <sup>61</sup> Both Mary Magdalene and the other Mary were sitting nearby watching.

28 EARLY ON SUNDAY morning, as the new day was dawning, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary went out to the tomb.

<sup>3</sup> Suddenly there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord came down from heaven and rolled aside the stone and sat on it. <sup>4</sup> His face shone like lightning and his clothing was a brilliant white. <sup>5</sup> The guards shook with fear when they saw him, and fell into a dead faint.

<sup>6</sup> Then the angel spoke to the women. “Don’t be frightened!” he said. “I know you are looking for Jesus, who was crucified, <sup>7</sup> but he isn’t here! For he has come back to life again, just as he said he would. Come in and see where his body was lying . . . <sup>8</sup> And now, go quickly and tell his disciples that he has risen from the dead, and that he is going to Galilee to meet them there. That is my message to them.”

<sup>9</sup> The women ran from the tomb, badly frightened, but also filled with joy, and rushed to find the disciples to give them the angel’s message. <sup>10</sup> And as they were running, suddenly Jesus was there in front of them!

“Good morning!”<sup>a</sup> he said. And they fell to the ground before him, holding his feet and worshiping him.

<sup>11</sup> Then Jesus said to them, “Don’t be frightened! Go tell my brothers to leave at once for Galilee, to meet me there.”

<sup>12,13</sup> As the women were on the way into the city, some of the Temple police who had been guarding the tomb went to the chief priests and told them what had happened. <sup>14</sup> A meeting of all the Jewish leaders was called, and it was decided to bribe the police to say they had all been asleep when Jesus’ disciples came during the night and stole his body.

stand up for you and everything will be all right."

<sup>13</sup> So the police accepted the bribe and said what they were told to. Their story spread widely among the Jews, and is still believed by them to this very day.

<sup>16</sup> Then the eleven disciples left for Galilee, going to the mountain where Jesus had said they would find him. <sup>17</sup> There they met him and worshiped him—but some of them weren't sure it really was Jesus!

<sup>18</sup> He told his disciples, "I have been given all authority in heaven and earth. <sup>19</sup> Therefore go and make disciples in<sup>b</sup> all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, <sup>20</sup> and then teach these new disciples to obey all the commands I have given you; and be sure of this—that I am with you always, even to the end of the world."<sup>c</sup>

MARK

1 HERE BEGINS THE wonderful story of Jesus the Messiah, the Son of God.

<sup>2</sup> In the book written by the prophet Isaiah, God announced that he would send his Son<sup>a</sup> to earth, and that a special messenger would arrive first to prepare the world for his coming.

<sup>4</sup> This messenger was John the Baptist. He lived in the wilderness and taught that all should be baptized as a public announcement of their decision to turn their backs on sin, so that God could forgive them.<sup>d</sup> <sup>5</sup> People from Jerusalem and from all over Judea traveled out into the Judean wastelands to see and hear John, and when they confessed their sins he baptized them in the Jordan River. <sup>6</sup> His clothes were woven from camel's hair and he wore a leather belt; locusts and wild honey were his food. <sup>7</sup> Here is a sample of his preaching:

"Someone is coming soon who is far greater than I am, so much greater that I am not even worthy to be his slave.<sup>e</sup> <sup>8</sup> I baptize you with<sup>f</sup> water but he will baptize you with<sup>f</sup> God's Holy Spirit!"

<sup>9</sup> Then one day Jesus came from Nazareth in Galilee, and was baptized by John there in the Jordan River. <sup>10</sup> The moment Jesus came up out of the water, he saw the heavens open and the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove descending on him, <sup>11</sup> and a voice from heaven said, "You are my beloved Son; you are my Delight."

<sup>12,13</sup> Immediately the Holy Spirit urged Jesus into the desert. There, for forty days, alone except for desert animals, he was subjected to Satan's temptations to sin. And afterwards<sup>8</sup> the angels came and cared for him.

<sup>15</sup> "At last the time has come!" he announced. "God's Kingdom is near! Turn from your sins and act on this glorious news!"

<sup>16</sup> One day as Jesus was walking along the shores of the Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and his brother Andrew fishing with nets, for they were commercial fishermen.

<sup>17</sup> Jesus called out to them, "Come, follow me! And I will make you fishermen for the souls of men!"

<sup>21</sup> Jesus and his companions now arrived at the town of Capernaum and on Saturday morning went into the Jewish place of worship—the synagogue—where he preached. <sup>22</sup> The congregation was surprised at his sermon because he spoke as an authority, and didn't try to prove his points by quoting others—quite unlike what they were used to hearing!<sup>i</sup>

<sup>23</sup> A man possessed by a demon was present and began shouting, <sup>24</sup> "Why are you bothering us, Jesus of Nazareth—have you come to destroy us demons? I know who you are—the holy Son of God!"

<sup>25</sup> Jesus curtly commanded the demon to say no more and to come out of the man. <sup>26</sup> At that the evil spirit screamed and convulsed the man violently and left him. <sup>27</sup> Amazement gripped the audience and they began discussing what had happened.

"What sort of new religion is this?" they asked excitedly. "Why, even evil spirits obey his orders!"

<sup>29,30</sup> Then, leaving the synagogue, he and his disciples went over to Simon and Andrew's home, where they found Simon's mother-in-law sick in bed with a high fever. They told Jesus about her right away. <sup>31</sup> He went to her bedside, and as he took her by the hand and helped her to sit up, the fever suddenly left, and she got up and prepared dinner for them!

<sup>32,33</sup> By sunset the courtyard was filled with the sick and demon-possessed, brought to him for healing; and a huge crowd of people from all over the city of Capernaum gathered outside the door to watch. <sup>34</sup> So Jesus healed great numbers of sick folk that evening and ordered many demons to come out of their victims. (But he refused to allow the demons to speak, because they knew who he was.)

<sup>35</sup> The next morning he was up long before daybreak and went out alone into the wilderness to pray.

<sup>36,37</sup> Later, Simon and the others went out to find him, and told him, "Everyone is asking for you."

<sup>38</sup> But he replied, "We must go on to other towns as well, and give my message to them too, for that is why I came."

<sup>39</sup> So he traveled throughout the province of Galilee, preaching in the synagogues and releasing many from the power of demons. <sup>40</sup> Once a leper came and knelt in front of him and begged to be healed. "If you want to, you can make me well again," he pled.

<sup>41</sup> And Jesus, moved with pity, touched him and said, "I want to! Be healed!" <sup>42</sup> Immediately the leprosy was gone—the man was healed!

<sup>43,44</sup> Jesus then told him sternly, "Go and be examined immediately by the Jewish priest. Don't stop to speak to anyone along the way. Take along the offering prescribed by Moses for a leper who is healed, so that everyone will have proof that you are well again."

<sup>45</sup> But as the man went on his way he began to shout the good news that he was healed; as a result, such throngs soon surrounded Jesus that he couldn't publicly enter a city anywhere, but had to stay out in the barren wastelands. And people from everywhere came to him there.

2 SEVERAL DAYS LATER he returned to Capernaum, and the news of his arrival spread quickly through the city. <sup>2</sup> Soon the house where he was staying was so packed with visitors that there wasn't room for a single person more, not even outside the door. And he preached the Word to them. <sup>3</sup> Four men arrived carrying a paralyzed man on a stretcher. <sup>4</sup> They couldn't get to Jesus through the crowd, so they dug through the clay roof above his head and lowered the sick man on his stretcher, right down in front of Jesus.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup> But some of the Jewish religious leaders<sup>b</sup> said to themselves as they sat there, <sup>7</sup> "What? This is blasphemy! Does he think he is God? For only God can forgive sins."

<sup>8</sup> Jesus could read their minds and said to them at once, "Why does this bother you? <sup>9,10,11</sup> I, the Messiah,<sup>c</sup> have the authority on earth to forgive sins. But talk is cheap—anybody could say that. So I'll prove it to you by healing this man." Then, turning to the paralyzed man, he commanded, "Pick up your stretcher and go on home—for you are healed!"<sup>d</sup>

c Literally, "Son of Man."

<sup>11</sup> Then Jesus went out to the seashore again, and preached to the crowds that gathered around him. <sup>12</sup> As he was walking up the beach he saw Levi, the son of Alphaeus, sitting at his tax collection booth. "Come with me," Jesus told him. "Come be my disciple."

And Levi jumped to his feet and went along.

<sup>13</sup> That night Levi invited his fellow tax collectors and many other notorious sinners to be his dinner guests so that they could meet Jesus and his disciples. (There were many men of this type among the crowds that followed him.) <sup>14</sup> But when some of the Jewish religious leaders<sup>e</sup> saw him eating with these men of ill repute, they said to his disciples, "How can he stand it, to eat with such scum?"

<sup>15</sup> When Jesus heard what they were saying, he told them, "Sick people need the doctor, not healthy ones! I haven't come to tell good people to repent, but the bad ones."

<sup>16</sup> John's disciples and the Jewish leaders sometimes fasted, that is, went without food as part of their religion. One day some people came to Jesus and asked why his disciples didn't do this too.

garment with unshrunk cloth! What happens? The patch pulls away and leaves the hole worse than before. <sup>22</sup> You know better than to put new wine into old wineskins. They would burst. The wine would be spilled out and the wineskins ruined. New wine needs fresh wineskins."

<sup>24</sup> Some of the Jewish religious leaders said to Jesus, "They shouldn't be doing that! It's against our laws to work by harvesting grain on the Sabbath."

<sup>25,26</sup> But Jesus replied, "Didn't you ever hear about the time King David and his companions were hungry, and he went into the house of God—Abiathar was High Priest then—and they ate the special bread<sup>g</sup> only priests were allowed to eat? That was against the law too. <sup>27</sup> But the Sabbath was made to benefit man, and not man to benefit the Sabbath. <sup>28</sup> And I, the Messiah,<sup>h</sup> have authority even to decide what men can do on Sabbath days!"

3 WHILE IN CAPERNAUM Jesus went over to the synagogue again, and noticed a man there with a deformed hand.

<sup>1</sup> Since it was the Sabbath, Jesus' enemies watched him closely. Would he heal the man's hand? If he did, they planned to arrest him!

and stand in front of the congregation. ' Then turning to his enemies he asked, "Is it all right to do kind deeds on Sabbath days? Or is this a day for doing harm? Is it a day to save lives or to destroy them?" But they wouldn't answer him. ' Looking around at them angrily, for he was deeply disturbed by their indifference to human need, he said to the man, "Reach out your hand." He did, and instantly his hand was healed!

' At once the Pharisees<sup>a</sup> went away and met with the Herodians<sup>b</sup> to discuss plans for killing Jesus. ' Meanwhile, Jesus and his disciples withdrew to the beach, followed by a huge crowd from all over Galilee, Judea, Jerusalem, Idumea, from beyond the Jordan River, and even from as far away as Tyre and Sidon. For the news about his miracles had spread far and wide and vast numbers came to see him for themselves.

' He instructed his disciples to bring around a boat and to have it standing ready to rescue him in case he was crowded off the beach. ' For there had been many healings that day and as a result great numbers of sick people were crowding around him, trying to touch him.

' And whenever those possessed by demons caught sight of him they would fall down before him shrieking, "You are the Son of God!" ' But he strictly warned them not to make him known.

' Afterwards he went up into the hills and summoned certain ones he chose, inviting them to come and join him there; and they did. ' Then he selected twelve of them to be his regular companions and to go out to preach and to cast out demons. ' These are the names of the twelve he chose:

Simon (he renamed him "Peter"),

James and John (the sons of Zebedee, but Jesus called them "Sons of Thunder"),

Andrew,

Philip,

Bartholomew,

Matthew,

Thomas,

James (the son of Alphaeus),

Thaddaeus,

Simon (a member of a political party advocating violent overthrow of the Roman government),

Judas Iscariot (who later betrayed him).

' When he returned to the house where he was staying, the crowds began to gather again, and soon it was so full of visitors that he couldn't even find time to eat.

' When his friends heard what was happening they came to try to take him home with them.

"He's out of his mind," they said.

' But the Jewish teachers of religion who had arrived from Jerusalem said, "His trouble is that he's possessed by Satan, king of demons. That's why demons obey him."

' Jesus summoned these men and asked them (using proverbs they all understood), "How can Satan cast out Satan? <sup>24</sup> A kingdom divided against itself will collapse. <sup>25</sup> A home filled with strife and division destroys itself. <sup>26</sup> And if Satan is fighting against himself, how can he accomplish anything? He would never survive. <sup>27</sup> [Satan must be bound before his demons are cast out<sup>c</sup>], just as a strong man must be tied up before his house can be ransacked and his property robbed.

<sup>30</sup> He told them this because they were saying he did his miracles by Satan's power [instead of acknowledging it was by the Holy Spirit's power<sup>c</sup>].

<sup>31,32</sup> Now his mother and brothers arrived at the crowded house where he was teaching, and they sent word for him to come out and talk with them. "Your mother and brothers are outside and want to see you," he was told.

<sup>33</sup> He replied, "Who is my mother? Who are my brothers?"

<sup>34</sup> Looking at those around him he said, "These are my mother and brothers!" Anyone who does God's will is my brother, and my sister, and my mother."

4 ONCE AGAIN AN immense crowd gathered around him on the beach as he was teaching, so he got into a boat and sat down and talked from there. <sup>2</sup> His usual method of teaching was to tell the people stories. One of them went like this:

<sup>10</sup> Afterwards, when he was alone with the Twelve and with his other disciples, they asked him, "What does your story mean?"

<sup>11,12</sup> He replied, "You are permitted to know some truths about the Kingdom of God that are hidden to those outside the Kingdom:

"Though they see and hear, they will not understand or turn to God, or be forgiven for their sins."

<sup>13</sup> But if you can't understand this simple illustration, what will you do about all the others I am going to tell?

<sup>14</sup> "The farmer I talked about is anyone who brings God's message to others, trying to plant good seed within their lives. <sup>15</sup> The hard pathway, where some of the seed fell, represents the hard hearts of some of those who hear God's message; Satan comes at once to try to make them forget it. <sup>16</sup> The rocky soil represents the hearts of those who hear the message with joy, <sup>17</sup> but, like young plants in such soil, their roots don't go very deep, and though at first they get along fine, as soon as persecution begins, they wilt.

<sup>18</sup> "The thorny ground represents the hearts of people who listen to the Good News and receive it, <sup>19</sup> but all too quickly the attractions of this world and the delights of wealth, and the search for success and lure of nice things come in and crowd out God's message from their hearts, so that no crop is produced.

<sup>20</sup> "But the good soil represents the hearts of those who truly accept God's message and produce a plentiful harvest for God—thirty, sixty, or even a hundred times as much as was planted in their hearts."

<sup>21</sup> Then he asked them, "When someone lights a lamp, does he put a box over it to shut out the light? Of course not! The light couldn't be seen or used. A lamp is placed on a stand to shine and be useful.

<sup>22</sup> "All that is now hidden will someday come to light. <sup>23</sup> If you have ears, listen! <sup>24</sup> And be sure to put into practice what you hear. The more you do this, the more you will understand what I tell you. <sup>25</sup> To him who has shall be given; from him who has not shall be taken away even what he has.

"A farmer sowed his field, <sup>27</sup> and went away, and as the days went by,

"To him who has shall be given."

the seeds grew and grew without his help. <sup>28</sup> For the soil made the seeds grow. First a leaf-blade pushed through, and later the wheat-heads formed and finally the grain ripened, <sup>29</sup> and then the farmer came at once with his sickle and harvested it."

<sup>33</sup> He used many such illustrations to teach the people as much as they were ready to understand.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>34</sup> In fact, he taught only by illustrations in his public teaching, but afterwards, when he was alone with his disciples, he would explain his meaning to them.

<sup>35</sup> As evening fell, Jesus said to his disciples, "Let's cross to the other side of the lake." <sup>36</sup> So they took him just as he was and started out, leaving the crowds behind (though other boats followed).

<sup>37</sup> But soon a terrible storm arose. High waves began to break into the boat until it was nearly full of water and about to sink. <sup>38</sup> Jesus was asleep at the back of the boat with his head on a cushion. Frantically they wakened him, shouting, "Teacher, don't you even care that we are all about to drown?"

<sup>39</sup> Then he rebuked the wind and said to the sea, "Quiet down!" And the wind fell, and there was a great calm!

<sup>9</sup> And he asked them, "Why were you so fearful? Don't you even yet have confidence in me?"

<sup>11</sup> And they were filled with awe and said among themselves, "Who is this man, that even the winds and seas obey him?"

5 WHEN THEY ARRIVED at the other side of the lake a demon-possessed man ran out from a graveyard, just as Jesus was climbing from the boat.

<sup>12</sup> This man lived among the gravestones, and had such strength that whenever he was put into handcuffs and shackles—as he often was—he snapped the handcuffs from his wrists and smashed the shackles and walked away. No one was strong enough to control him. <sup>13</sup> All day long and through the night he would wander among the tombs and in the wild hills, screaming and cutting himself with sharp pieces of stone.

<sup>14</sup> When Jesus was still far out on the water, the man had seen him and had run to meet him, and fell down before him.

<sup>15</sup> Then Jesus spoke to the demon within the man and said, "Come out, you evil spirit."

It gave a terrible scream, shrieking, "What are you going to do to me, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? For God's sake, don't torture me!"

<sup>16</sup> "What is your name?" Jesus asked, and the demon replied, "Legion, for there are many of us here within this man."

<sup>17</sup> Then the demons begged him again and again not to send them to some distant land.

<sup>18</sup> Now as it happened there was a huge herd of hogs rooting around on the hill above the lake. <sup>19</sup> "Send us into those hogs," the demons begged.

<sup>20</sup> And Jesus gave them permission. Then the evil spirits came out of the man and entered the hogs, and the entire herd plunged down the steep hillside into the lake and drowned.

<sup>21</sup> The herdsmen fled to the nearby towns and countryside, spreading the news as they ran. Everyone rushed out to see for themselves. <sup>22</sup> And a large crowd soon gathered where Jesus was; but as they saw the man sitting there, fully clothed and perfectly sane, they were frightened. <sup>23</sup> Those who saw what happened were telling everyone about it, <sup>24</sup> and the crowd began pleading with Jesus to go away and leave them alone! <sup>25</sup> So he got back into the boat. The man who had been possessed by the demons begged Jesus to let him go along. <sup>26</sup> But Jesus said no.

"Go home to your friends," he told him, "and tell them what wonderful things God has done for you; and how merciful he has been."

<sup>27</sup> So the man started off to visit the Ten Towns<sup>a</sup> of that region and began to tell everyone about the great things Jesus had done for him; and they were awestruck by his story.

gogue, whose name was Jairus, came and fell down before him, <sup>23</sup> pleading with him to heal his little daughter.

"She is at the point of death," he said in desperation. "Please come and place your hands on her and make her live."

<sup>24</sup> Jesus went with him, and the crowd thronged behind. <sup>25</sup> In the crowd was a woman who had been sick for twelve years with a hemorrhage. <sup>26</sup> She had suffered much from many doctors through the years and had become poor from paying them, and was no better but, in fact, was worse. <sup>27</sup> She had heard all about the wonderful miracles Jesus did, and that is why she came up behind him through the crowd and touched his clothes.

<sup>28</sup> For she thought to herself, "If I can just touch his clothing, I will be healed." <sup>29</sup> And sure enough, as soon as she had touched him, the bleeding stopped and she knew she was well!

<sup>30</sup> Jesus realized at once that healing power had gone out from him, so he turned around in the crowd and asked, "Who touched my clothes?"

<sup>31</sup> His disciples said to him, "All this crowd pressing around you, and you ask who touched you?"

<sup>32</sup> But he kept on looking around to see who it was who had done it. <sup>33</sup> Then the frightened woman, trembling at the realization of what had happened to her, came and fell at his feet and told him what she had done. <sup>34</sup> And he said to her, "Daughter, your faith has made you well; go in peace, healed of your disease."

<sup>35</sup> While he was still talking to her, messengers arrived from Jairus' home with the news that it was too late—his daughter was dead and there was no point in Jesus' coming now. <sup>36</sup> But Jesus ignored their comments and said to Jairus, "Don't be afraid. Just trust me."

<sup>37</sup> Then Jesus halted the crowd and wouldn't let anyone go on with him to Jairus' home except Peter and James and John. <sup>38</sup> When they arrived, Jesus saw that all was in great confusion, with unrestrained weeping and wailing. <sup>39</sup> He went inside and spoke to the people.

"Why all this weeping and commotion?" he asked. "The child isn't dead; she is only asleep!"

<sup>40</sup> They laughed at him in bitter derision, but he told them all to leave, and taking the little girl's father and mother and his three disciples, he went into the room where she was lying.

<sup>43</sup> Jesus instructed them very earnestly not to tell what had happened, and told them to give her something to eat.

6 SOON AFTERWARDS HE left that section of the country and returned with his disciples to Nazareth, his home town. <sup>2</sup> The next Sabbath he went to the synagogue to teach, and the people were astonished at his wisdom and his miracles because he was just a local man like themselves.

"He's no better than we are," they said. "He's just a carpenter, Mary's boy, and a brother of James and Joseph, Judas and Simon. And his sisters live right here among us." And they were offended!

<sup>4</sup> Then Jesus told them, "A prophet is honored everywhere except in his home town and among his relatives and by his own family." <sup>5</sup> And because of their unbelief he couldn't do any mighty miracles among them except to place his hands on a few sick people and heal them. <sup>6</sup> And he could hardly accept the fact that they wouldn't believe in him.

Then he went out among the villages, teaching. <sup>7</sup> And he called his twelve disciples together and sent them out two by two, with power to cast out demons. <sup>8,9</sup> He told them to take nothing with them except their walking sticks—no food, no knapsack, no money, not even an extra pair of shoes or a change of clothes.

<sup>10</sup> "Stay at one home in each village—don't shift around from house to house while you are there," he said. <sup>11</sup> "And whenever a village won't accept you or listen to you, shake off the dust from your feet as you leave; it is a sign that you have abandoned it to its fate."

<sup>14</sup> King Herod soon heard about Jesus, for his miracles were talked about everywhere. The king thought Jesus was John the Baptist come back to life again. So the people were saying, "No wonder he can do such miracles." <sup>15</sup> Others thought Jesus was Elijah the ancient prophet, now returned to life again; still others claimed he was a new prophet like the great ones of the past.

<sup>16</sup> "No," Herod said, "it is John, the man I beheaded. He has come back from the dead."

<sup>17,18</sup> For Herod had sent soldiers to arrest and imprison John because he kept saying it was wrong for the king to marry Herodias, his brother Philip's wife. <sup>19</sup> Herodias wanted John killed in revenge, but without Herod's approval she was powerless. <sup>20</sup> And Herod respected John, knowing that he was a good and holy man, and so he kept him under his protection. Herod was disturbed whenever he talked with John, but even so he liked to listen to him.

<sup>21</sup> Herodias' chance finally came. It was Herod's birthday and he gave a stag party for his palace aides, army officers, and the leading citizens of Galilee. <sup>22,23</sup> Then Herodias' daughter came in and danced before them and greatly pleased them all.

"Ask me for anything you like," the king vowed, "even half of my kingdom, and I will give it to you!"

<sup>26</sup> Then the king was sorry, but he was embarrassed to break his oath in front of his guests. <sup>27</sup> So he sent one of his bodyguards to the prison to cut off John's head and bring it to him. The soldier killed John in the prison, <sup>28</sup> and brought back his head on a tray, and gave it to the girl and she took it to her mother.

<sup>29</sup> When John's disciples heard what had happened, they came for his body and buried it in a tomb.

<sup>30</sup> The apostles now returned to Jesus from their tour and told him all they had done and what they had said to the people they visited.

<sup>31</sup> Then Jesus suggested, "Let's get away from the crowds for a while and rest." For so many people were coming and going that they scarcely had time to eat. <sup>32</sup> So they left by boat for a quieter spot. <sup>33</sup> But many people saw them leaving and ran on ahead along the shore and met them as they landed. <sup>34</sup> So the usual vast crowd was there as he stepped from the boat; and he had pity on them because they were like sheep without a shepherd, and he taught them many things they needed to know.

<sup>35,36</sup> Late in the afternoon his disciples came to him and said, "Tell the people to go away to the nearby villages and farms and buy themselves some food, for there is nothing to eat here in this desolate spot, and it is getting late."

<sup>37</sup> But Jesus said, "You feed them."

"With what?" they asked. "It would take a fortune<sup>a</sup> to buy food for all this crowd!"

They came back to report that there were five loaves of bread and two fish. <sup>39,40</sup> Then Jesus told the crowd to sit down, and soon colorful groups of fifty or a hundred each were sitting on the green grass.

<sup>41</sup> He took the five loaves and two fish and looking up to heaven, gave thanks for the food. Breaking the loaves into pieces, he gave some of the bread and fish to each disciple to place before the people. <sup>42</sup> And the crowd ate until they could hold no more!

<sup>43,44</sup> There were about 5,000 men there for that meal, and afterwards twelve basketfuls of scraps were picked up off the grass!

<sup>45</sup> Immediately after this Jesus instructed his disciples to get back into the boat and strike out across the lake to Bethsaida, where he would join them later. He himself would stay and tell the crowds good-bye and get them started home.

<sup>46</sup> Afterwards he went up into the hills to pray. <sup>47</sup> During the night, as the disciples in their boat were out in the middle of the lake, and he was alone on land, <sup>48</sup> he saw that they were in serious trouble, rowing hard and struggling against the wind and waves.

About three o'clock in the morning he walked out to them on the water. He started past them, <sup>49</sup> but when they saw something walking along beside them they screamed in terror, thinking it was a ghost, <sup>50</sup> for they all saw him.

But he spoke to them at once. "It's all right," he said. "It is I! Don't be afraid." <sup>51</sup> Then he climbed into the boat and the wind stopped!

They just sat there, unable to take it in! <sup>12</sup> For they still didn't realize who he was, even after the miracle the evening before! For they didn't want to believe!<sup>b</sup>

<sup>13</sup> When they arrived at Genesaret on the other side of the lake they moored the boat, <sup>14</sup> and climbed out.

The people standing around there recognized him at once, <sup>15</sup> and ran throughout the whole area to spread the news of his arrival, and began carrying sick folks to him on mats and stretchers. <sup>16</sup> Wherever he went—in villages and cities, and out on the farms—they laid the sick in the market plazas and streets, and begged him to let them at least touch the fringes of his clothes; and as many as touched him were healed.

cleansing for pots, pans and dishes.)

<sup>5</sup> So the religious leaders asked him, "Why don't your disciples follow our age-old customs? For they eat without first performing the washing ceremony."

<sup>6,7</sup> Jesus replied, "You bunch of hypocrites! Isaiah the prophet described you very well when he said, 'These people speak very prettily about the Lord but they have no love for him at all. Their worship is a farce, for they claim that God commands the people to obey their petty rules.' How right Isaiah was! <sup>8</sup> For you ignore God's specific orders and substitute your own traditions. <sup>9</sup> You are simply rejecting God's laws and trampling them under your feet for the sake of tradition.

<sup>10</sup> For instance, Moses gave you this law from God: 'Honor your father and mother.' And he said that anyone who speaks against his father or mother must die. <sup>11</sup> But you say it is perfectly all right for a man to disregard his needy parents, telling them, 'Sorry, I can't help you! For I have given to God what I could have given to you.' <sup>12,13</sup> And so you break the law of God in order to protect your man-made tradition. And this is only one example. There are many, many others."

what you think and say!"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>17</sup> Then he went into a house to get away from the crowds, and his disciples asked him what he meant by the statement he had just made.

<sup>18</sup> "Don't you understand either?" he asked. "Can't you see that what you eat won't harm your soul?"

<sup>19</sup> For food doesn't come in contact with your heart, but only passes through the digestive system." (By saying this he showed that every kind of food is kosher.)

<sup>25</sup> Right away a woman came to him whose little girl was possessed by a demon. She had heard about Jesus and now she came and fell at his feet, <sup>26</sup> and pled with him to release her child from the demon's control. (But she was Syrophoenician—a "despised Gentile!")

<sup>29</sup> "Good!" he said, "You have answered well—so well that I have healed your little girl. Go on home, for the demon has left her!"

<sup>30</sup> And when she arrived home, her little girl was lying quietly in bed, and the demon was gone.

<sup>31</sup> From Tyre he went to Sidon, then back to the Sea of Galilee by way of the Ten Towns. <sup>32</sup> A deaf man with a speech impediment was brought to him, and everyone begged Jesus to lay his hands on the man and heal him.

<sup>33</sup> Jesus led him away from the crowd and put his fingers into the man's ears, then spat and touched the man's tongue with the spittle.

<sup>36</sup> Jesus told the crowd not to spread the news, but the more he forbade them, the more they made it known, <sup>37</sup> for they were overcome with utter amazement. Again and again they said, "Everything he does is wonderful; he even corrects deafness and stammering!"

8 ONE DAY ABOUT this time as another great crowd gathered, the people ran out of food again. Jesus called his disciples to discuss the situation.

"I pity these people," he said, "for they have been here three days, and have nothing left to eat. <sup>3</sup> And if I send them home without feeding them, they will faint along the road! For some of them have come a long distance."

<sup>4</sup> "Are we supposed to find food for them here in the desert?" his disciples scoffed.

<sup>5</sup> "How many loaves of bread do you have?" he asked.

"Seven," they replied. <sup>6</sup> So he told the crowd to sit down on the ground. Then he took the seven loaves, thanked God for them, broke them into pieces and passed them to his disciples; and the disciples placed them before the people.

<sup>7</sup> A few small fish were found, too, so Jesus also blessed these and told the disciples to serve them.

<sup>8</sup> And the whole crowd ate until they were full, and afterwards he sent them home. There were about 4,000 people in the crowd that day and when the scraps were picked up after the meal, there were seven very large basketfuls left over!

<sup>9</sup> Immediately after this he got into a boat with his disciples and came to the region of Dalmanutha. <sup>11</sup> When the local Jewish leaders learned of his arrival they came to argue with him.

"Do a miracle for us," they said. "Make something happen in the sky. Then we will believe in you."<sup>a</sup>

<sup>12</sup> He sighed deeply when he heard this and he said, "Certainly not. How many more miracles do you people need?"<sup>b</sup>

ciples had forgotten to stock up on food before they left, and had only one loaf of bread in the boat.

<sup>15</sup> As they were crossing, Jesus said to them very solemnly, "Beware of the yeast of King Herod and of the Pharisees."

<sup>16</sup> "What does he mean?" the disciples asked each other. They finally decided that he must be talking about their forgetting to bring bread.

<sup>17</sup> Jesus realized what they were discussing and said, "No, that isn't it at all! Can't you understand? Are your hearts too hard to take it in?"

<sup>18</sup> "Your eyes are to see with—why don't you look? Why don't you open your ears and listen? Don't you remember anything at all?"

<sup>19</sup> "What about the 5,000 men I fed with five loaves of bread? How many basketfuls of scraps did you pick up afterwards?"

"Twelve," they said.

<sup>20</sup> "And when I fed the 4,000 with seven loaves, how much was left?"

"Seven basketfuls," they said.

<sup>21</sup> "And yet you think I'm worried that we have no bread?"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>22</sup> When they arrived at Bethsaida, some people brought a blind man to him and begged him to touch and heal him. <sup>23</sup> Jesus took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the village, and spat upon his eyes, and laid his hands over them.

"Can you see anything now?" Jesus asked him.

can't see them very clearly; they look like tree trunks walking around!"

<sup>25</sup> Then Jesus placed his hands over the man's eyes again and as the man stared intently, his sight was completely restored, and he saw everything clearly, drinking in the sights around him.

<sup>26</sup> Jesus sent him home to his family. "Don't even go back to the village first," he said.

<sup>27</sup> Jesus and his disciples now left Galilee and went out to the villages of Caesarea Philippi. As they were walking along he asked them, "Who do the people think I am? What are they saying about me?"

<sup>28</sup> "Some of them think you are John the Baptist," the disciples replied, "and others say you are Elijah or some other ancient prophet come back to life again."

<sup>29</sup> Then he asked, "Who do you think I am?" Peter replied, "You are the Messiah." <sup>30</sup> But Jesus warned them not to tell anyone!

<sup>31</sup> Then he began to tell them about the terrible things he<sup>d</sup> would suffer, and that he would be rejected by the elders and the Chief Priests and the other Jewish leaders—and be killed, and that he would rise again three days afterwards.

<sup>32</sup> He talked about it quite frankly with them, so Peter took him aside and chided him.<sup>c</sup> "You shouldn't say things like that," he told Jesus.

<sup>33</sup> Jesus turned and looked at his disciples and then said to Peter very sternly, "Satan, get behind me! You are looking at this only from a human point of view and not from God's."

<sup>34</sup> Then he called his disciples and the crowds to come over and listen. "If any of you wants to be my follower," he told them, "you must put aside your own pleasures and shoulder your cross, and follow me closely. <sup>35</sup> If you insist on saving your life, you will lose it. Only those who throw away their lives for my sake and for the sake of the Good News will ever know what it means to really live.

<sup>36</sup> "And how does a man benefit if he gains the whole world and loses his soul in the process? <sup>37</sup> For is anything worth more than his soul? <sup>38</sup> And anyone who is ashamed of me and my message in these days of unbelief and sin, I, the Messiah,<sup>d</sup> will be ashamed of him when I return in the glory of my Father, with the holy angels."

9 JESUS WENT ON to say to his disciples, "Some of you who are standing here right now will live to see the Kingdom of God arrive in great power!"

<sup>2</sup> Six days later Jesus took Peter, James and John to the top of a mountain. No one else was there.

Suddenly his face began to shine with glory,<sup>3</sup> and his clothing became dazzling white, far more glorious than any earthly process could ever make it! <sup>4</sup> Then Elijah and Moses appeared and began talking with Jesus!

<sup>6</sup> He said this just to be talking, for he didn't know what else to say and they were all terribly frightened.

<sup>7</sup> But while he was still speaking these words, a cloud covered them, blotting out the sun, and a voice from the cloud said, "This is my beloved Son. Listen to him."

<sup>8</sup> Then suddenly they looked around and Moses and Elijah were gone, and only Jesus was with them.

<sup>9</sup> As they descended the mountainside he told them never to mention what they had seen until after he<sup>a</sup> had risen from the dead. <sup>10</sup> So they kept it to themselves, but often talked about it, and wondered what he meant by "rising from the dead."

<sup>11</sup> Now they began asking him about something the Jewish religious leaders often spoke of, that Elijah must return [before the Messiah could come<sup>b</sup>]. <sup>12,13</sup> Jesus agreed that Elijah must come first and prepare the way—and that he had, in fact, already come! And that he had been terribly mistreated, just as the prophets had predicted. Then Jesus asked them what the prophets could have been talking about when they predicted that the Messiah<sup>a</sup> would suffer and be treated with utter contempt.

ran to greet him. <sup>16</sup> "What's all the argument about?" he asked.

<sup>17</sup> One of the men in the crowd spoke up and said, "Teacher, I brought my son for you to heal—he can't talk because he is possessed by a demon." <sup>18</sup> And whenever the demon is in control of him it dashes him to the ground and makes him foam at the mouth and grind his teeth and become rigid.<sup>c</sup> So I begged your disciples to cast out the demon, but they couldn't do it."

<sup>19</sup> Jesus said [to his disciples<sup>b</sup>], "Oh, what tiny faith you have;<sup>d</sup> how much longer must I be with you until you believe? How much longer must I be patient with you? Bring the boy to me."

<sup>20</sup> So they brought the boy, but when he saw Jesus the demon convulsed the child horribly, and he fell to the ground writhing and foaming at the mouth.

<sup>21</sup> "How long has he been this way?" Jesus asked the father.

And he replied, "Since he was very small, <sup>22</sup> and the demon often makes him fall into the fire or into water to kill him. Oh, have mercy on us and do something if you can."

<sup>23</sup> "If I can?" Jesus asked. "Anything is possible if you have faith."

<sup>24</sup> The father instantly replied, "I do have faith; oh, help me to have more!"

<sup>25</sup> When Jesus saw the crowd was growing he rebuked the demon:

"O demon of deafness and

dumbness," he said, "I command you to come out of this child and enter him no more!"

<sup>26</sup> Then the demon screamed terribly and convulsed the boy again and left him; and the boy lay there limp and motionless, to all appearance dead. A murmur ran through the crowd—"He is dead." <sup>27</sup> But Jesus took him by the hand and helped him to his feet and he stood up and was all right! <sup>28</sup> Afterwards, when Jesus was alone in the house with his disciples, they asked him, "Why couldn't we cast that demon out?"

<sup>30,31</sup> Leaving that region they traveled through Galilee where he tried to avoid all publicity in order to spend more time with his disciples, teaching them. He would say to them, "I, the Messiah,<sup>f</sup> am going to be betrayed and killed and three days later I will return to life again."

<sup>32</sup> But they didn't understand and were afraid to ask him what he meant.

<sup>33</sup> And so they arrived at Capernaum. When they were settled in the house where they were to stay he asked them, "What were you discussing out on the road?"

<sup>34</sup> But they were ashamed to answer, for they had been arguing about which of them was the greatest!

<sup>35</sup> He sat down and called them around him and said, "Anyone wanting to be the greatest must be the least—the servant of all!"

<sup>36</sup> Then he placed a little child among them; and taking the child in his arms he said to them, <sup>37</sup> "Anyone who welcomes a little child like this in my name is welcoming me, and anyone who welcomes me is welcoming my Father who sent me!"

<sup>38</sup> One of his disciples, John, told him one day, "Teacher, we saw a man using your name to cast out demons; but we told him not to, for he isn't one of our group."

<sup>39</sup> "Don't forbid him!" Jesus said. "For no one doing miracles in my name will quickly turn against me.<sup>g</sup> <sup>40</sup> Anyone who isn't against us is for us. <sup>41</sup> If anyone so much as gives you a cup of water because you are Christ's—I say this solemnly—he won't lose his reward. <sup>42</sup> But if someone causes one of these little ones who believe in me to lose faith—it would be better for that man if a huge millstone were tied around his neck and he were thrown into the sea.

<sup>43,44h</sup> "If your hand does wrong, cut it off. Better live forever with one hand than be thrown into the unquenchable fires of hell with two! <sup>45,46h</sup> If your foot carries you toward evil, cut it off! Better be lame and live forever than have two feet that carry you to hell.

<sup>47</sup> "And if your eye is sinful, gouge it out. Better enter the Kingdom of God half blind than have two eyes and see the fires of hell,

<sup>30</sup> "Good salt is worthless if it loses its saltiness; it can't season anything. So don't lose your flavor! Live in peace with each other."

10 THEN HE LEFT Capernaum<sup>a</sup> and went southward to the Judean borders and into the area east of the Jordan River. And as always there were the crowds; and as usual he taught them.

<sup>2</sup> Some Pharisees came and asked him, "Do you permit divorce?" Of course they were trying to trap him.

<sup>4</sup> "He said it was all right," they replied. "He said that all a man has to do is write his wife a letter of dismissal."

<sup>5</sup> "And why did he say that?" Jesus asked. "I'll tell you why—it was a concession to your hard-hearted wickedness. <sup>6</sup> But it certainly isn't God's way. For from the very first he made man and woman to be joined together permanently in marriage; therefore a man is to leave his father and mother, <sup>8</sup> and he and his wife are united so that they are no longer two, but one. <sup>9</sup> And no man may separate what God has joined together."

<sup>10</sup> Later, when he was alone with his disciples in the house, they brought up the subject again.

divorces his wife to marry someone else, he commits adultery against her. <sup>12</sup> And if a wife divorces her husband and remarries, she, too, commits adultery."

<sup>13</sup> Once when some mothers<sup>b</sup> were bringing their children to Jesus to bless them, the disciples shooed them away, telling them not to bother him.

<sup>14</sup> But when Jesus saw what was happening he was very much displeased with his disciples and said to them, "Let the children come to me, for the Kingdom of God belongs to such as they. Don't send them away! <sup>15</sup> I tell you as seriously as I know how that anyone who refuses to come to God as a little child will never be allowed into his Kingdom."

<sup>17</sup> As he was starting out on a trip, a man came running to him and knelt down and asked, "Good Teacher, what must I do to get to heaven?"

<sup>18</sup> "Why do you call me good?" Jesus asked. "Only God is truly good! <sup>19</sup> But as for your question—you know the commandments: don't kill, don't commit adultery, don't steal, don't lie, don't cheat, respect your father and mother."

<sup>21</sup> Jesus felt genuine love for this man as he looked at him. "You lack only one thing," he told him; "go and sell all you have and give the money to the poor—and you shall have treasure in heaven—and come, follow me."

<sup>22</sup> Then the man's face fell, and he went sadly away, for he was very rich.

<sup>23</sup> Jesus watched him go, then turned around and said to his disciples, "It's almost impossible for the rich to get into the Kingdom of God!"

<sup>24</sup> This amazed them. So Jesus said it again: "Dear children, how hard it is for those who trust in riches<sup>d</sup> to enter the Kingdom of God. <sup>25</sup> It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God."

<sup>26</sup> The disciples were incredulous! "Then who in the world can be saved, if not a rich man?" they asked.

<sup>27</sup> Jesus looked at them intently, then said, "Without God, it is utterly impossible. But with God everything is possible."

<sup>28</sup> Then Peter began to mention all that he and the other disciples had left behind. "We've given up everything to follow you," he said.

<sup>29</sup> And Jesus replied, "Let me assure you that no one has ever given up anything—home, brothers, sisters, mother, father, children, or property—for love of me and to tell others the Good News, <sup>30</sup> who won't be given back, a hundred times over, homes, brothers, sisters, mothers, children, and land—with persecutions!

"All these will be his here on earth, and in the world to come he shall have eternal life. <sup>31</sup> But many people who seem to be important now will be the least important then; and many who are considered least here shall be greatest there."

<sup>32</sup> Now they were on the way to Jerusalem, and Jesus was walking along ahead; and as the disciples were following they were filled with terror and dread.

Taking them aside, Jesus once more began describing all that was going to happen to him when they arrived at Jerusalem.

<sup>33</sup> "When we get there," he told them, "I, the Messiah,<sup>e</sup> will be arrested and taken before the chief priests and the Jewish leaders, who will sentence me to die and hand me over to the Romans to be killed. <sup>34</sup> They will mock me and spit on me and flog me with their whips and kill me; but after three days I will come back to life again."

<sup>36</sup> "What is it?" he asked.

<sup>37</sup> "We want to sit on the thrones next to yours in your kingdom," they said, "one at your right and the other at your left!"

<sup>38</sup> But Jesus answered, "You don't know what you are asking! Are you able to drink from the bit-d Some of the ancient manuscripts do not contain the words, "for those who trust in riches."

e Literally, "the Son of Man." f Literally, "came up to him."

ter cup of sorrow I must drink from? Or to be baptized with the baptism of suffering I must be baptized with?"

"Oh, yes," they said, "we are!"

And Jesus said, "You shall indeed drink from my cup and be baptized with my baptism, <sup>40</sup> but I do not have the right to place you on thrones next to mine. Those appointments have already been made."

"When the other disciples discovered what James and John had asked, they were very indignant. <sup>41</sup> So Jesus called them to him and said, 'As you know, the kings and great men of the earth lord it over the people; <sup>42</sup> but among you it is different. Whoever wants to be great among you must be your servant. <sup>43</sup> And whoever wants to be greatest of all must be the slave of all. <sup>44</sup> For even I, the Messiah, <sup>45</sup> am not here to be served, but to help others, and to give my life as a ransom for many.'

"And so they reached Jericho. Later, as they left town, a great crowd was following. Now it happened that a blind beggar named Bartimaeus (the son of Timaues) was sitting beside the road as Jesus was going by.

"When Bartimaeus heard that Jesus from Nazareth was near, he began to shout out, 'Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!'

"<sup>46</sup> 'Shut up!' some of the people yelled at him.

But he only shouted the louder, again and again, 'O Son of David, have mercy on me!'

"When Jesus heard him he stopped there in the road and said, 'Tell him to come here.'

So they called the blind man. 'You lucky fellow,' <sup>47</sup> they said, 'come on, he's calling you!' <sup>48</sup> Bartimaeus yanked off his old coat and flung it aside, jumped up and came to Jesus.

"What do you want me to do for you?" Jesus asked.

"O Teacher," the blind man said, "I want to see!"

"And Jesus said to him, 'All right, it's done. <sup>49</sup> Your faith has healed you.'

And instantly the blind man could see, and followed Jesus down the road!

11 AS THEY NEARED Bethphage and Bethany on the outskirts of Jerusalem and came to the Mount of Olives, Jesus sent two of his disciples on ahead.

"Go into that village over there," he told them, "and just as you enter you will see a colt tied up that has never been ridden. Untie him and bring him here. <sup>1</sup> And if anyone asks you what you are doing, just say, 'Our Master needs him and will return him soon.'"

"Off went the two men and found the colt standing in the street, tied outside a house. As they were untying it, some who were standing there demanded, 'What are you doing, untying that colt?'

"So they said what Jesus had told them to, and then the men

<sup>7</sup> So the colt was brought to Jesus and the disciples threw their cloaks across its back for him to ride on. <sup>8</sup> Then many in the crowd spread out their coats along the road before him, while others threw down leafy branches from the fields.

<sup>9</sup> He was in the center of the procession with crowds ahead and behind, and all of them shouting, "Hail to the King!" "Praise God for him who comes in the name of the Lord!" . . . <sup>10</sup> "Praise God for the return of our father David's kingdom . . ." "Hail to the King of the universe!"

<sup>11</sup> And so he entered Jerusalem and went into the Temple. He looked around carefully at everything and then left—for now it was late in the afternoon—and went out to Bethany with the twelve disciples.

<sup>12</sup> The next morning as they left Bethany, he felt hungry. <sup>13</sup> A little way off he noticed a fig tree in full leaf, so he went over to see if he could find any figs on it. But no, there were only leaves, for it was too early in the season for fruit.

<sup>14</sup> Then Jesus said to the tree, "You shall never bear fruit again!" And the disciples heard him say it.

<sup>15</sup> When they arrived back to Jerusalem he went to the Temple and began to drive out the merchants and their customers, and knocked over the tables of the moneychangers and the stalls of those selling doves, <sup>16</sup> and stopped everyone from bringing in loads of merchandise.

<sup>17</sup> He told them, "It is written in the Scriptures, 'My Temple is to be a place of prayer for all nations,' but you have turned it into a den of robbers."

<sup>18</sup> When the chief priests and other Jewish leaders heard what he had done they began planning how best to get rid of him. Their problem was their fear of riots because the people were so enthusiastic about Jesus' teaching.

<sup>19</sup> That evening as usual they left the city. <sup>20</sup> Next morning, as the disciples passed the fig tree he had cursed, they saw that it was withered from the roots! <sup>21</sup> Then Peter remembered what Jesus had said to the tree on the previous day, and exclaimed, "Look, Teacher! The fig tree you cursed has withered!"

<sup>22,23</sup> In reply Jesus said to the disciples, "If you only have faith in God—this is the absolute truth—you can say to this Mount of Olives, 'Rise up and fall into the Mediterranean,' and your command will be obeyed. All that's required is that you really believe and have no doubt! <sup>24</sup> Listen to me! You can pray for anything, and if you believe, you have it; it's yours! <sup>25</sup> But when you are praying, first forgive anyone you are holding a grudge against, so that your Father in heaven will forgive you your sins too."

<sup>26,27,28</sup> By this time they had arrived in Jerusalem again, and as he was walking through the Temple area, the chief priests and other a Many ancient authorities add verse 26, "but if you do not forgive, neither will your Father who is in heaven forgive your trespasses." All include this in Matthew 6:15.

Jewish leaders<sup>b</sup> came up to him demanding, "What's going on here? Who gave you the authority to drive out the merchants?"

<sup>29</sup> Jesus replied, "I'll tell you if you answer one question! <sup>30</sup> What about John the Baptist? Was he sent by God, or not? Answer me!"

<sup>31</sup> They talked it over among themselves. "If we reply that God sent him, then he will say, 'All right, why didn't you accept him?'"

<sup>32</sup> But if we say God didn't send him, then the people will start a riot." (For the people all believed strongly that John was a prophet.)

<sup>33</sup> So they said, "We can't answer. We don't know."

To which Jesus replied, "Then I won't answer your question either!"

12 HERE ARE SOME of the story-illustrations Jesus gave to the people at that time:

"A man planted a vineyard and built a wall around it and dug a pit for pressing out the grape juice, and built a watchman's tower. Then he leased the farm to tenant farmers and moved to another country. <sup>2</sup> At grape-picking time he sent one of his men to collect his share of the crop. <sup>3</sup> But the farmers beat up the man and sent him back empty-handed.

<sup>4</sup> "The owner then sent another of his men, who received the same treatment, only worse, for his head was seriously injured. <sup>5</sup> The next man he sent was killed; and later, others were either beaten or killed, until <sup>6</sup> there was only one left—his only son. He finally sent him, thinking they would surely give him their full respect.

<sup>7</sup> "But when the farmers saw him coming they said, 'He will own the farm when his father dies. Come on, let's kill him—and then the farm will be ours!' <sup>8</sup> So they caught him and murdered him and threw his body out of the vineyard.

<sup>9</sup> "What do you suppose the owner will do when he hears what happened? He will come and kill them all, and lease the vineyard to others. <sup>10</sup> Don't you remember reading this verse in the Scriptures? 'The Rock the builders threw away became the cornerstone, the most honored stone in the building!'" <sup>11</sup> This is the Lord's doing and it is an amazing thing to see."

<sup>12</sup> The Jewish leaders wanted to arrest him then and there for using this illustration, for they knew he was pointing at them—they were the wicked farmers in his story. But they were afraid to touch him for fear of a mob. So they left him and went away. <sup>13</sup> But they sent other religious and political leaders<sup>a</sup> to talk with him and try to trap him into saying something he could be arrested for.

<sup>14</sup> "Teacher," these spies said, "we know you tell the truth no matter what! You aren't influenced by the opinions and desires of men, but sincerely teach the ways of God. Now tell us, is it right to pay taxes to Rome, or not?"

he asked, "Whose picture and title is this on the coin?" They replied, "The emperor's."

<sup>17</sup> "All right," he said, "if it is his, give it to him. But everything that belongs to God must be given to God!" And they scratched their heads in bafflement at his reply.

<sup>18</sup> Then the Sadducees stepped forward—a group of men who say there is no resurrection. Here was their question:

<sup>19</sup> "Teacher, Moses gave us a law that when a man dies without children, the man's brother should marry his widow and have children in his brother's name. <sup>20,21,22</sup> Well, there were seven brothers and the oldest married and died, and left no children. So the second brother married the widow, but soon he died too, and left no children. Then the next brother married her, and died without children, and so on until all were dead, and still there were no children; and last of all, the woman died too.

<sup>23</sup> "What we want to know is this:<sup>b</sup> In the resurrection, whose wife will she be, for she had been the wife of each of them?"

<sup>24</sup> Jesus replied, "Your trouble is that you don't know the Scriptures, and don't know the power of God. <sup>25</sup> For when these seven brothers and the woman rise from the dead, they won't be married—they will be like the angels.

<sup>26</sup> "But now as to whether there will be a resurrection—have you never read in the book of Exodus about Moses and the burning bush? God said to Moses, 'I am the God of Abraham, and I am the God of Isaac, and I am the God of Jacob.'

<sup>27</sup> "God was telling Moses that these men, though dead for hundreds of years,<sup>b</sup> were still very much alive, for he would not have said, 'I am the God' of those who don't exist! You have made a serious error."

<sup>28</sup> One of the teachers of religion who was standing there listening to the discussion realized that Jesus had answered well. So he asked, "Of all the commandments, which is the most important?"

<sup>29</sup> Jesus replied, "The one that says, 'Hear, O Israel! The Lord our God is the one and only God. <sup>30</sup> And you must love him with all your heart and soul and mind and strength.'

<sup>31</sup> "The second is: 'You must love others as much as yourself.' No other commandments are greater than these."

<sup>32</sup> The teacher of religion replied, "Sir, you have spoken a true word in saying that there is only one God and no other. <sup>33</sup> And I know it is far more important to love him with all my heart and understanding and strength, and to love others as myself, than to offer all kinds of sacrifices on the altar of the Temple."

<sup>34</sup> Realizing this man's understanding, Jesus said to him, "You are not far from the Kingdom of God." And after that, no one dared ask him any more questions.

<sup>35</sup> Later, as Jesus was teaching the people in the Temple area, he asked them this question:

"Why do your religious teachers claim that the Messiah must be a descendant of King David? <sup>36</sup> For David himself said—and the Holy Spirit was speaking through him when he said it—'God said to my Lord, sit at my right hand until I make your enemies your footstool.' " Since David called him his Lord, how can he be his son?"

(This sort of reasoning delighted the crowd and they listened to him with great interest.)

<sup>37</sup> Here are some of the other things he taught them at this time:

"Beware of the teachers of religion! For they love to wear the robes of the rich and scholarly, and to have everyone bow to them as they walk through the markets. <sup>38</sup> They love to sit in the best seats in the synagogues, and at the places of honor at banquets— <sup>40</sup> but they shamelessly cheat widows out of their homes and then, to cover up the kind of men they really are, they pretend to be pious by praying long prayers in public. Because of this, their punishment will be the greater."

<sup>41</sup> Then he went over to the collection boxes in the Temple and sat and watched as the crowds dropped in their money. Some who were rich put in large amounts. <sup>42</sup> Then a poor widow came and dropped in two pennies.

13 AS HE WAS leaving the Temple that day, one of his disciples said, "Teacher, what beautiful buildings these are! Look at the decorated stonework on the walls."

<sup>3,4</sup> And as he sat on the slopes of the Mount of Olives across the valley from Jerusalem, Peter, James, John, and Andrew got alone with him and asked him, "Just when is all this going to happen to the Temple? Will there be some warning ahead of time?"

<sup>5</sup> So Jesus launched into an extended reply. "Don't let anyone mislead you," he said, <sup>6</sup> "for many will come declaring themselves to be your Messiah, and will lead many astray. <sup>7</sup> And wars will break out near and far, but this is not the signal of the end-time.

<sup>8</sup> "For nations and kingdoms will proclaim war against each other, and there will be earthquakes in many lands, and famines. These herald only the early stages of the anguish ahead. <sup>9</sup> But when these things begin to happen, watch out! For you will be in great danger. You will be dragged before the courts, and beaten in the synagogues, and accused before governors and kings of being my followers. This is your opportunity to tell them the Good News. <sup>10</sup> And the Good News must first be made known in every nation before the end-time finally comes.<sup>a</sup> <sup>11</sup> But when you are arrested and stand trial, don't worry about what to say in your defense. Just say what God tells you to. Then you will not be speaking, but the Holy Spirit will.

<sup>12</sup> "Brothers will betray each other to death, fathers will betray their own children, and children will betray their parents to be killed. <sup>13</sup> And everyone will hate you because you are mine. But all who endure to the end without renouncing me shall be saved.

<sup>14</sup> "When you see the horrible thing standing in the Temple<sup>b</sup>—reader, pay attention!—flee, if you can, to the Judean hills. <sup>15,16</sup> Hurry! If you are on your rooftop porch, don't even go back into the house. If you are out in the fields, don't even return for your money or clothes.

<sup>17</sup> "Woe to pregnant women in those days, and to mothers nursing their children. <sup>18</sup> And pray that your flight will not be in winter. <sup>19</sup> For those will be days of such horror as have never been since the beginning of God's creation, nor will ever be again. <sup>20</sup> And unless the Lord shortens that time of calamity, not a soul in all the earth will survive. But for the sake of his chosen ones he will limit those days.

<sup>21</sup> "And then if anyone tells you, 'This is the Messiah,' or, 'That one is,' don't pay any attention. <sup>22</sup> For there will be many false Messiahs and false prophets who will do wonderful miracles that would deceive, if possible, even God's own children.<sup>c</sup> <sup>23</sup> Take care! I have warned you!

<sup>24</sup> "After the tribulation ends, then the sun will grow dim and the moon will not shine, <sup>25</sup> and the stars will fall—the heavens will convulse.

<sup>26</sup> "Then all mankind will see me, the Messiah,<sup>d</sup> coming in the clouds with great power and glory. <sup>27</sup> And I will send out the angels to gather together my chosen ones from all over the world—from the farthest bounds of earth and heaven.

<sup>28</sup> "Now, here is a lesson from a fig tree. When its buds become tender and its leaves begin to sprout, you know that spring has come. <sup>29</sup> And when you see these things happening that I've described, you can be sure that my return is very near, that I am right at the door.

<sup>32</sup> "However, no one, not even the angels in heaven, nor I myself,<sup>f</sup> knows the day or hour when these things will happen; only the Father knows. <sup>33</sup> And since you don't know when it will happen, stay alert. Be on the watch [for my return<sup>g</sup>].

<sup>34</sup> "My coming<sup>h</sup> can be compared with that of a man who went on a trip to another country. He laid out his employees' work for them to do while he was gone, and told the gatekeeper to watch for his return.

14 THE PASSOVER OBSERVANCE began two days later—an annual Jewish holiday when no bread made with yeast was eaten. The chief priests and other Jewish leaders were still looking for an opportunity to arrest Jesus secretly and put him to death.

<sup>2</sup> "But we can't do it during the Passover," they said, "or there will be a riot."

<sup>4</sup> Some of those at the table were indignant among themselves about this "waste," as they called it.

"Why, she could have sold that perfume for a fortune and given the money to the poor!" they snarled.

<sup>6</sup> But Jesus said, "Let her alone; why berate her for doing a good thing? <sup>7</sup> You always have the poor among you, and they badly need your help, and you can aid them whenever you want to; but I won't be here much longer.

<sup>8</sup> "She has done what she could, and has anointed my body ahead of time for burial. <sup>9</sup> And I tell you this in solemn truth, that wherever the Good News is preached throughout the world, this woman's deed will be remembered and praised."

<sup>10</sup> Then Judas Iscariot, one of his disciples, went to the chief priests to arrange to betray Jesus to them.

<sup>11</sup> When the chief priests heard why he had come, they were excited and happy and promised him a reward. So he began looking for the right time and place to betray Jesus.

<sup>12</sup> On the first day of the Passover, the day the lambs were sacrificed, his disciples asked him where he wanted to go to eat the traditional Passover supper. <sup>13</sup> He sent two of them into Jerusalem to make the arrangements.

"As you are walking along," he told them, "you will see a man coming towards you carrying a pot of water. Follow him. <sup>14</sup> At the house he enters, tell the man in charge, 'Our Master sent us to see the room you have ready for us; where we will eat the Passover supper this evening!' <sup>15</sup> He will take you upstairs to a large room all set up. Prepare our supper there."

<sup>16</sup> So the two disciples went on ahead into the city and found everything as Jesus had said, and prepared the Passover.

<sup>17</sup> In the evening Jesus arrived with the other disciples, <sup>18</sup> and as they were sitting around the table eating, Jesus said, "I solemnly declare that one of you will betray me, one of you who is here eating with me."

<sup>19</sup> A great sadness swept over them, and one by one they asked him, "Am I the one?"

long ago; but, oh, the misery ahead for the man by whom I<sup>b</sup> am betrayed. Oh, that he had never been born!"

<sup>22</sup> As they were eating, Jesus took bread and asked God's blessing on it and broke it in pieces and gave it to them and said, "Eat it—this is my body."

<sup>23</sup> Then he took a cup of wine and gave thanks to God for it and gave it to them; and they all drank from it. <sup>24</sup> And he said to them, "This is my blood, poured out for many, sealing<sup>c</sup> the new agreement between God and man. <sup>25</sup> I solemnly declare that I shall never again taste wine until the day I drink a different kind<sup>d</sup> in the Kingdom of God."

<sup>26</sup> Then they sang a hymn and went out to the Mount of Olives.

<sup>27</sup> "All of you will desert me," Jesus told them, "for God has declared through the prophets, 'I will kill the Shepherd, and the sheep will scatter.' <sup>28</sup> But after I am raised to life again, I will go to Galilee and meet you there."

<sup>29</sup> Peter said to him, "I will never desert you no matter what the others do!"

<sup>30</sup> "Peter," Jesus said, "before the cock crows a second time tomorrow morning you will deny me three times."

<sup>31</sup> "No!" Peter exploded. "Not even if I have to die with you! I'll never deny you!" And all the others vowed the same.

<sup>32</sup> And now they came to an olive grove called the Garden of Gethsemane, and he instructed his disciples, "Sit here, while I go and pray."

<sup>33</sup> He took Peter, James and John with him and began to be filled with horror and deepest distress.

<sup>34</sup> And he said to them, "My soul is crushed by sorrow to the point of death; stay here and watch with me."

<sup>35</sup> He went on a little further and fell to the ground and prayed that if it were possible the awful hour awaiting him might never come.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>36</sup> "Father, Father," he said, "everything is possible for you. Take away this cup from me. Yet I want your will, not mine."

<sup>37</sup> Then he returned to the three disciples and found them asleep.

"Simon!" he said. "Asleep? Couldn't you watch with me even one hour? <sup>38</sup> Watch with me and pray lest the Tempter overpower you. For though the spirit is willing enough, the body is weak."

<sup>40</sup> Again he returned to them and found them sleeping, for they were very tired. And they didn't know what to say.

<sup>41</sup> The third time when he returned to them he said, "Sleep on; get your rest! But no! The time for sleep has ended! Look! I<sup>b</sup> am betrayed into the hands of wicked men. <sup>42</sup> Come! Get up! We must go! Look! My betrayer is here!"

equipped with swords and clubs, sent out by the chief priests and other Jewish leaders.

"Judas had told them, 'You will know which one to arrest when I go over and greet him. Then you can take him easily.'" <sup>43</sup> So as soon as they arrived he walked up to Jesus. "Master!" he exclaimed, and embraced him with a great show of friendliness. <sup>44</sup> Then the mob arrested Jesus and held him fast. <sup>45</sup> But someone pulled a sword and slashed at the High Priest's servant, cutting off his ear.

"Jesus asked them, 'Am I some dangerous robber, that you come like this, armed to the teeth to capture me?' <sup>46</sup> Why didn't you arrest me in the Temple? I was there teaching every day. But these things are happening to fulfill the prophecies about me."

<sup>47</sup> Meanwhile, all his disciples had fled. <sup>48</sup> There was, however, a young man following along behind, clothed only in a linen nightshirt. <sup>49</sup> When the mob tried to grab him, he escaped, though his clothes were torn off in the process, so that he ran away completely naked.

<sup>50</sup> Jesus was led to the High Priest's home where all of the chief priests and other Jewish leaders soon gathered. <sup>51</sup> Peter followed far behind and then slipped inside the gates of the High Priest's residence and crouched beside a fire among the servants.

<sup>52</sup> Inside, the chief priests and the whole Jewish Supreme Court were trying to find something against Jesus that would be sufficient to condemn him to death. But their efforts were in vain. <sup>53</sup> Many false witnesses volunteered, but they contradicted each other.

<sup>54</sup> Finally some men stood up to lie about him and said, <sup>55</sup> "We heard him say, 'I will destroy this Temple made with human hands and in three days I will build another, made without human hands!'" <sup>56</sup> But even then they didn't get their stories straight!

<sup>57</sup> Then the High Priest stood up before the Court and asked Jesus, "Do you refuse to answer this charge? What do you have to say for yourself?"

<sup>58</sup> To this Jesus made no reply.

Then the High Priest asked him. "Are you the Messiah, the Son of God?"

<sup>59</sup> Jesus said, "I am, and you will see me sitting at the right hand of God, and returning to earth in the clouds of heaven."

<sup>60,61</sup> Then the High Priest tore at his clothes and said, "What more do we need? Why wait for witnesses? You have heard his blasphemy. What is your verdict?" And the vote for the death sentence was unanimous.

<sup>62</sup> Then some of them began to spit at him, and they blindfolded him and began to hammer his face with their fists.

"Who hit you that time, you prophet?" they jeered. And even the bailiffs were using their fists on him as they led him away.

ticed Peter warming himself at the fire.

She looked at him closely and then announced, "You were with Jesus, the Nazarene."

<sup>66</sup> Peter denied it. "I don't know what you're talking about!" he said, and walked over to the edge of the courtyard.

Just then, a rooster crowed.<sup>j</sup>

A little later others standing around the fire began saying to Peter, "You are, too, one of them, for you are from Galilee!"

<sup>71</sup> He began to curse and swear. "I don't even know this fellow you are talking about," he said.

<sup>72</sup> And immediately the rooster crowed the second time.

Suddenly Jesus' words flashed through Peter's mind: "Before the cock crows twice, you will deny me three times." And he began to cry.

15 EARLY IN THE morning the chief priests, elders and teachers of religion—the entire Supreme Court—met to discuss their next steps. Their decision was to send Jesus under armed guard to Pilate, the Roman governor.<sup>a</sup>

"Yes," Jesus replied, "it is as you say."

<sup>3,4</sup> Then the chief priests accused him of many crimes, and Pilate asked him, "Why don't you say something? What about all these charges against you?"

<sup>5</sup> But Jesus said no more, much to Pilate's amazement.

<sup>8</sup> Now a mob began to crowd in toward Pilate, asking him to release a prisoner as usual.

<sup>9</sup> "How about giving you the 'King of Jews'?" Pilate asked. "Is he the one you want released?"

<sup>11</sup> But at this point the chief priests whipped up the mob to demand the release of Barabbas instead of Jesus.

<sup>12</sup> "But if I release Barabbas," Pilate asked them, "what shall I do with this man you call your king?"

<sup>14</sup> "But why?" Pilate demanded. "What has he done wrong?" They only roared the louder, "Crucify him!"

<sup>15</sup> Then Pilate, afraid of a riot and anxious to please the people, released Barabbas to them. And he ordered Jesus flogged with a leaded whip, and handed him over to be crucified.

and made a crown of long, sharp thorns and put it on his head. <sup>18</sup> Then they saluted, yelling, "Yea! King of the Jews!" <sup>19</sup> And they beat him on the head with a cane, and spit on him and went down on their knees to "worship" him.

<sup>20</sup> When they finally tired of their sport, they took off the purple robe and put his own clothes on him again, and led him away to be crucified.

<sup>21</sup> Simon of Cyrene, who was coming in from the country just then, was pressed into service to carry Jesus' cross. (Simon is the father of Alexander and Rufus.)

<sup>25</sup> It was about nine o'clock in the morning when the crucifixion took place.

<sup>27</sup> Two robbers were also crucified that morning, their crosses on either side of his. <sup>28</sup> And so the Scripture was fulfilled that said, "He was counted among evil men."

<sup>29,30</sup> The people jeered at him as they walked by, and wagged their heads in mockery.

"Ha! Look at you now!" they yelled at him. "Sure, you can destroy the Temple and rebuild it in three days! If you're so wonderful, save yourself and come down from the cross."

<sup>31</sup> The chief priests and religious leaders were also standing around joking about Jesus.

"He's quite clever at 'saving' others," they said, "but he can't save himself!"

<sup>32</sup> "Hey there, Messiah!" they yelled at him. "You 'King of Israel'! Come on down from the cross and we'll believe you!"

And even the two robbers dying with him, cursed him.

<sup>33</sup> About noon, darkness fell across the entire land,<sup>c</sup> lasting until three o'clock that afternoon.

<sup>34</sup> Then Jesus called out with a loud voice, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?"<sup>d</sup> ("My God, my God, why have you deserted me?")

<sup>35</sup> Some of the people standing there thought he was calling for the prophet Elijah. <sup>36</sup> So one man ran and got a sponge and filled it with sour wine and held it up to him on a stick.

"Let's see if Elijah will come and take him down!" he said.

b Verse 28 is omitted in some of the ancient manuscripts. The quotation is from Isaiah 53:12. c Or, "over the entire world." d He spoke here in Aramaic. The onlookers, who spoke

Greek and Latin, misunderstood his first two words ("Eloi, Eloi") and thought he was calling for the prophet Elijah. e A heavy veil hung in front of the room in the Temple called "The Holy of Holies," a place reserved by God for himself; the veil separated him from sinful mankind. Now this veil was split from above, showing that Christ's death, for man's sin, had opened up access to the holy God.

<sup>39</sup> When the Roman officer standing beside his cross saw how he dismissed his spirit, he exclaimed, "Truly, this was the Son of God!"

<sup>40</sup> Some women were there watching from a distance—Mary Magdalene, Mary (the mother of James the Younger and of Joses), Salome, and others. <sup>41</sup> They and many other Galilean women who were his followers had ministered to him when he was up in Galilee, and had come with him to Jerusalem.

<sup>42,43</sup> This all happened the day before the Sabbath. Late that afternoon Joseph from Arimathea, an honored member of the Jewish Supreme Court (who personally was eagerly expecting the arrival of God's Kingdom), gathered his courage and went to Pilate and asked for Jesus' body.

<sup>44</sup> Pilate couldn't believe that Jesus was already dead so he called for the Roman officer in charge and asked him. <sup>45</sup> The officer confirmed the fact, and Pilate told Joseph he could have the body.

<sup>46</sup> Joseph bought a long sheet of linen cloth and, taking Jesus' body down from the cross, wound it in the cloth and laid it in a rock-hewn tomb, and rolled a stone in front of the entrance.

<sup>47</sup> (Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses were watching as Jesus was laid away.)

16 THE NEXT EVENING, when the Sabbath ended, Mary Magdalene and Salome and Mary the mother of James went out and purchased embalming spices.

Early the following morning, just at sunrise, they carried them out to the tomb. <sup>1</sup> On the way they were discussing how they could ever roll aside the huge stone from the entrance.

<sup>4</sup> But when they arrived they looked up and saw that the stone—a very heavy one—was already moved away and the entrance was open! <sup>5</sup> So they entered the tomb—and there on the right sat a young man clothed in white. The women were startled, <sup>6</sup> but the angel said, "Don't be so surprised. Aren't you looking for Jesus, the Nazarene who was crucified? He isn't here! He has come back to life! Look, that's where his body was lying." <sup>7</sup> Now go and give this message to his disciples including Peter:

"'Jesus is going ahead of you to Galilee. You will see him there, just as he told you before he died!'"

<sup>9a</sup> It was early on Sunday morning when Jesus came back to life, and the first person who saw him was Mary Magdalene—the woman from whom he had cast out seven demons. <sup>10,11</sup> She found the disciples wet-eyed with grief and exclaimed that she had seen Jesus, and he was alive! But they didn't believe her!

<sup>12</sup> Later that day<sup>b</sup> he appeared to two who were walking from Jerusalem into the country, but they didn't recognize him at first because a Verses 9 through 20 are not found in the most ancient manuscripts, but may be considered an appendix giving additional facts. b Literally, "after these things."

he had changed his appearance.
<sup>11</sup> When they finally realized who he was, they rushed back to Jerusalem to tell the others, but no one believed them.

<sup>14</sup> Still later he appeared to the eleven disciples as they were eating together. He rebuked them for their unbelief—their stubborn refusal to believe those who had seen him alive from the dead.

<sup>15</sup> And then he told them, "You are to go into all the world and preach the Good News to everyone, everywhere. <sup>16</sup> Those who believe and are baptized will be saved. But those who refuse to believe will be condemned.

<sup>17</sup> "And those who believe shall use my authority to cast out demons, and they shall speak new languages.<sup>c</sup> <sup>18</sup> They will be able even to handle snakes with safety, and if they drink anything poisonous, it won't hurt them; and they will be able to place their hands on the sick and heal them."

<sup>19</sup> When the Lord Jesus had finished talking with them, he was taken up into heaven and sat down at God's right hand.

<sup>20</sup> And the disciples went everywhere preaching, and the Lord was with them and confirmed what they said by the miracles that followed their messages.

LUKE

1 DEAR FRIEND WHO loves God:<sup>a</sup>
<sup>1,2</sup> Several biographies of Christ have already been written using as their source material the reports circulating among us from the early disciples and other eyewitnesses. <sup>3</sup> However, it occurred to me that it would be well to recheck all these accounts from first to last and after thorough investigation to pass this summary on to you,<sup>b</sup> <sup>4</sup> to reassure you of the truth of all you were taught.

<sup>5</sup> My story begins with a Jewish priest, Zacharias, who lived when Herod was king of Judea. Zacharias was a member of the Abijah division of the Temple service corps. (His wife Elizabeth was, like himself, a member of the priest tribe of the Jews, a descendant of Aaron.) <sup>6</sup> Zacharias and Elizabeth were godly folk, careful to obey all of God's laws in spirit as well as in letter. <sup>7</sup> But they had no children, for Elizabeth was barren; and now they were both very old.

<sup>8,9</sup> One day as Zacharias was going about his work in the Temple—for his division was on duty that week—the honor fell to him by lot<sup>c</sup> to enter the inner sanctuary and burn incense before the Lord. <sup>10</sup> Meanwhile, a great crowd stood outside in the Temple court, praying as they always did during that part of the service when the incense was being burned.

<sup>11,12</sup> Zacharias was in the sanctuary when suddenly an angel appeared, standing to the right of the altar of incense! Zacharias was startled and terrified.

<sup>13</sup> But the angel said, "Don't be afraid, Zacharias! For I have come to tell you that God has heard your prayer, and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son! And you are to name him John. <sup>14</sup> You will both have great joy and gladness at his birth, and many will rejoice with you. <sup>15</sup> For he will be one of the Lord's great men. He must never touch wine or hard liquor—and he will be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from before his birth! <sup>16</sup> And he will persuade many a Jew to turn to the Lord his God. <sup>17</sup> He will be a man of rugged<sup>d</sup> spirit and power like Elijah, the prophet of old; and he will precede the coming of the Messiah, preparing the people for his arrival. He will soften adult hearts to become like little children's, and will change disobedient minds to the wisdom of faith."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>18</sup> Zacharias said to the angel, "But this is impossible! I'm an old man now, and my wife is also well along in years."

<sup>19</sup> Then the angel said, "I am Gabriel! I stand in the very presence of God. It was he who sent me to you with this good news! <sup>20</sup> And now, because you haven't believed me, you are to be stricken silent, unable to speak until the child is born. For my words will certainly come true at the proper time."

<sup>21</sup> Meanwhile the crowds outside were waiting for Zacharias to appear and wondered why he was taking so long. <sup>22</sup> When he finally came out, he couldn't speak to them, and they realized from his gestures that he must have seen a vision in the Temple. <sup>23</sup> He stayed on at the Temple for the remaining days of his Temple duties and then returned home.

<sup>24</sup> Soon afterwards Elizabeth his wife became pregnant and went into seclusion for five months.

<sup>30</sup> "Don't be frightened, Mary," the angel told her, "for God has decided to wonderfully bless you!

<sup>31</sup> Very soon now, you will become pregnant and have a baby boy, and you are to name him 'Jesus.' <sup>32</sup> He shall be very great and shall be called the Son of God. And the

<sup>f</sup> Some ancient versions add, "Blessed are you among women," as in verse 42 which appears in all the manuscripts.

Lord God shall give him the throne of his ancestor David. <sup>11</sup> And he shall reign over Israel forever; his Kingdom shall never end!"

<sup>12</sup> Mary asked the angel, "But how can I have a baby? I am a virgin."

<sup>13</sup> The angel replied, "The Holy Spirit shall come upon you, and the power of God shall overshadow you; so the baby born to you will be utterly holy—the Son of God."

<sup>18</sup> Mary said, "I am the Lord's servant, and I am willing to do whatever he wants. May everything you said come true." And then the angel disappeared.

<sup>41</sup> At the sound of Mary's greeting, Elizabeth's child leaped within her and she was filled with the Holy Spirit.

<sup>42</sup> She gave a glad cry and exclaimed to Mary, "You are favored by God above all other women, and your child is destined for God's mightiest praise. <sup>43</sup> What an honor this is, that the mother of my Lord should visit me! <sup>44</sup> When you came in and greeted me, the instant I heard your voice, my baby moved in me for joy! <sup>45</sup> You believed that God would do what he said; that is why he has given you this wonderful blessing."

<sup>57</sup> By now Elizabeth's waiting was over, for the time had come for the baby to be born—and it was a boy. <sup>58</sup> The word spread quickly to her neighbors and relatives of how kind the Lord had been to her, and everyone rejoiced.

<sup>60</sup> But Elizabeth said, "No! He must be named John!"

<sup>61</sup> "What?" they exclaimed. "There is no one in all your family by that name." <sup>62</sup> So they asked the baby's father, talking to him by gestures.<sup>h</sup>

---

<sup>61</sup> He motioned for a piece of paper and to everyone's surprise wrote, "His name is John!" <sup>62</sup> Instantly Zacharias could speak again, and he began praising God.

<sup>63</sup> Wonder fell upon the whole neighborhood, and the news of what had happened spread through the Judean hills. <sup>64</sup> And everyone who heard about it thought long thoughts and asked, "I wonder what this child will turn out to be? For the hand of the Lord is surely upon him in some special way."

<sup>65</sup> Then his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit and gave this prophecy:

<sup>66</sup> "Praise the Lord, the God of Israel, for he has come to visit his people and has redeemed them.

<sup>70,71</sup> "He has been merciful to our ancestors, yes, to Abraham himself, by remembering his sacred promise to him, <sup>72</sup> and by granting us the privilege of serving God fearlessly, freed from our enemies, <sup>73</sup> and by making us holy and acceptable, ready to stand in his presence forever.

<sup>74</sup> "And you, my little son, shall be called the prophet of the glorious God, for you will prepare the way for the Messiah. <sup>75</sup> You will tell his people how to find salvation through forgiveness of their sins. <sup>76</sup> All this will be because the mercy of our God is very tender, and heaven's dawn is about to break upon us, <sup>77</sup> to give light to those who sit in darkness and death's shadow, and to guide us to the path of peace."

<sup>78</sup> The little boy greatly loved God<sup>i</sup> and when he grew up he lived out in the lonely wilderness until he began his public ministry to Israel.

2 ABOUT THIS TIME Caesar Augustus, the Roman Emperor, decreed that a census should be taken throughout the nation. <sup>2</sup> (This census was taken when Quirinius was governor of Syria.)

<sup>6</sup> And while they were there, the time came for her baby to be born; <sup>7</sup> and she gave birth to her first child, a son. She wrapped him in a blanket<sup>a</sup> and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the village inn.

<sup>8</sup> That night some shepherds were in the fields outside the village, guarding their flocks of sheep.

<sup>9</sup> Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord. They were badly frightened, <sup>10</sup> but the angel reassured them.

"Don't be afraid!" he said. "I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone! <sup>11</sup> The Savior—yes, the Messiah, the Lord—has been born tonight in Bethlehem!<sup>b</sup> <sup>12</sup> How will you recognize him? You will find a baby wrapped in a blanket,<sup>c</sup> lying in a manger!"

<sup>13</sup> Suddenly, the angel was joined by a vast host of others—the armies of heaven—praising God:

<sup>14</sup> "Glory to God in the highest heaven," they sang,<sup>d</sup> "and peace on earth for all those pleasing him."

<sup>15</sup> When this great army of angels had returned again to heaven, the shepherds said to each other, "Come on! Let's go to Bethlehem! Let's see this wonderful thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about."

<sup>16</sup> They ran to the village and found their way to Mary and Joseph. And there was the baby, lying in the manger. <sup>17</sup> The shepherds told everyone what had happened and what the angel had said to them about this child.

<sup>18</sup> All who heard the shepherds' story expressed astonishment, <sup>19</sup> but Mary quietly treasured these things in her heart and often thought about them.

<sup>20</sup> Then the shepherds went back again to their fields and flocks, praising God for the visit of the angels, and because they had seen the child, just as the angel had told them.

<sup>21</sup> Eight days later, at the baby's circumcision ceremony, he was named Jesus, the name given him by the angel before he was even conceived.

<sup>22</sup> When the time came for Mary's purification offering at the Temple, as required by the laws of Moses after the birth of a child, his parents took him to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord; <sup>23</sup> for in these laws God had said, "If a woman's first child is a boy, he shall be dedicated to the Lord."

<sup>24</sup> At that time Jesus' parents also offered their sacrifice for purification—"either a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons" was the legal requirement. <sup>25</sup> That day a man named Simeon, a Jerusalem resident, was in the Temple. He was a good man, very devout, filled with the Holy Spirit and constantly expecting the Messiah<sup>e</sup> to come soon.

<sup>26</sup> For the Holy Spirit had revealed to him that he would not die until he had seen him—God's anointed King. <sup>27</sup> The Holy Spirit had impelled him to go to the Temple that day; and so, when Mary and Joseph arrived to present the baby Jesus to the Lord in obedience to the law, <sup>28</sup> Simeon was there and took the child in his arms, praising God.

<sup>29,30,31</sup> "Lord," he said, "now I can die content! For I have seen him as you promised me I would. I have seen the Savior you have given to the world. <sup>32</sup> He is the Light that will shine upon the nations, and he will be the glory of your people Israel!"

there, marveling at what was being said about Jesus.

<sup>34,35</sup> Simeon blessed them but then said to Mary, "A sword shall pierce your soul, for this child shall be rejected by many in Israel, and this to their undoing. But he will be the greatest joy of many others. And the deepest thoughts of many hearts shall be revealed."

<sup>36,37</sup> Anna, a prophetess, was also there in the Temple that day. She was the daughter of Phanuel, of the Jewish tribe of Asher, and was very old, for she had been a widow for eighty-four years following seven years of marriage. She never left the Temple but stayed there night and day, worshiping God by praying and often fasting.

<sup>38</sup> She came along just as Simeon was talking with Mary and Joseph, and she also began thanking God and telling everyone in Jerusalem who had been awaiting the coming of the Savior<sup>f</sup> that the Messiah had finally arrived.

<sup>39</sup> When Jesus' parents had fulfilled all the requirements of the Law of God they returned home to Nazareth in Galilee. <sup>40</sup> There the child became a strong, robust lad, and was known for wisdom beyond his years; and God poured out his blessings on him.

<sup>41,42</sup> When Jesus was twelve years old he accompanied his parents to Jerusalem for the annual Passover Festival, which they attended each year. <sup>43</sup> After the celebration was over they started home to Nazareth, but Jesus stayed behind in Jerusalem. His parents didn't miss him the first day, "for they assumed he was with friends among the other travelers. But when he didn't show up that evening, they started to look for him among their relatives and friends; <sup>45</sup> and when they couldn't find him, they went back to Jerusalem to search for him there.

<sup>46,47</sup> Three days later they finally discovered him. He was in the Temple, sitting among the teachers of Law, discussing deep questions with them and amazing everyone with his understanding and answers.

<sup>48</sup> His parents didn't know what to think. "Son!" his mother said to him. "Why have you done this to us? Your father and I have been frantic, searching for you everywhere."

<sup>49</sup> "But why did you need to search?" he asked. "Didn't you realize that I would be here at the Temple, in my Father's House?"

<sup>51</sup> Then he returned to Nazareth with them and was obedient to them; and his mother stored away all these things in her heart. <sup>52</sup> So Jesus grew both tall and wise, and was loved by God and man.

3 IN THE FIFTEENTH year of the reign of Emperor Tiberius Caesar, a message came from God to John (the son of Zacharias), as he was living out in the deserts. (Pilate was governor over Judea at that time; Herod, over Galilee; his brother Philip, over Iturea and Trachonitis; Lysanias, over Abilene; and Annas and Caiaphas were

High Priests.) <sup>3</sup> Then John went from place to place on both sides of the Jordan River, preaching that people should be baptized to show that they had turned to God and away from their sins, in order to be forgiven.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>7</sup> Here is a sample of John's preaching to the crowds that came for baptism: "You brood of snakes! You are trying to escape hell without truly turning to God! That is why you want to be baptized! <sup>8</sup> First go and prove by the way you live that you really have repented. And don't think you are safe because you are descendants of Abraham. That isn't enough. God can produce children of Abraham from these desert stones! <sup>9</sup> The axe of his judgment is poised over you, ready to sever your roots and cut you down. Yes, every tree that does not produce good fruit will be chopped down and thrown into the fire."

<sup>11</sup> "If you have two coats," he replied, "give one to the poor. If you have extra food, give it away to those who are hungry."

be baptized and asked, "How shall we prove to you that we have abandoned our sins?"

<sup>13</sup> "By your honesty," he replied. "Make sure you collect no more taxes than the Roman<sup>b</sup> government requires you to."

<sup>14</sup> "And us," asked some soldiers, "what about us?"

John replied, "Don't extort money by threats and violence; don't accuse anyone of what you know he didn't do; and be content with your pay!"

<sup>15</sup> Everyone was expecting the Messiah to come soon, and eager to know whether or not John was he. This was the question of the hour, and was being discussed everywhere.

<sup>16</sup> John answered the question by saying, "I baptize only with water; but someone is coming soon who has far higher authority than mine; in fact, I am not even worthy of being his slave.<sup>c</sup> He will baptize you with fire—with the Holy Spirit. <sup>17</sup> He will separate chaff from grain, and burn up the chaff with eternal fire and store away the grain." <sup>18</sup> He used many such warnings as he announced the Good News to the people.

<sup>19,20</sup> (But after John had publicly criticized Herod, governor of Galilee, for marrying Herodias, his brother's wife, and for many other wrongs he had done, Herod put John in prison, thus adding this sin to all his many others.) <sup>21</sup> Then one day, after the crowds had been baptized, Jesus himself was baptized; and as he was praying, the heavens opened,<sup>22</sup> and the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove settled upon him, and a voice from heaven said, "You are my much loved Son, yes, my delight."

4 THEN JESUS, FULL of the Holy Spirit, left the Jordan River, being urged by the Spirit out into the barren wastelands of Judea, where Satan tempted him for forty days. He ate nothing all that time, and was very hungry.

<sup>5</sup> Satan said, "If you are God's Son, tell this stone to become a loaf of bread."

<sup>7</sup> Then Satan took him up and revealed to him all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time; <sup>8,9</sup> and the devil told him, "I will give you all these splendid kingdoms and their glory—for they are mine to give to anyone I wish—if you will only get down on your knees and worship me."

<sup>10</sup> Jesus replied, "We must worship God, and him alone. So it is written in the Scriptures."

Jerusalem to a high roof of the Temple and said, "If you are the Son of God, jump off! For the Scriptures say that God will send his angels to guard you and to keep you from crashing to the pavement below!"

<sup>12</sup> Jesus replied, "The Scriptures also say, 'Do not put the Lord your God to a foolish test.'"

<sup>14</sup> Then Jesus returned to Galilee, full of the Holy Spirit's power. Soon he became well known throughout all that region <sup>15</sup> for his sermons in the synagogues; everyone praised him.

<sup>16</sup> When he came to the village of Nazareth, his boyhood home, he went as usual to the synagogue on Saturday, and stood up to read the Scriptures.

<sup>17</sup> The book of Isaiah the prophet was handed to him, and he opened it to the place where it says:

<sup>18,19</sup> "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me; he has appointed me to preach Good News to the poor; he has sent me to announce that captives shall be released and the blind shall see, that the downtrodden shall be freed from their oppressors, and that God is ready to give blessings to all who come to him."<sup>b</sup>

 proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord."

<sup>22</sup> All who were there spoke well of him and were amazed by the beautiful words that fell from his lips. "How can this be?" they asked. "Isn't this Joseph's son?"

<sup>23</sup> Then he said, "Probably you will quote me that proverb, 'Physician, heal yourself'—meaning, 'Why don't you do miracles here in your home town like those you did in Capernaum?'" <sup>24</sup> But I solemnly declare to you that no prophet is accepted in his own home town!

<sup>25,26</sup> For example, remember how Elijah the prophet used a miracle to help the widow of Zarephath—a foreigner from the land of Sidon. There were many Jewish widows needing help in those days of famine, for there had been no rain for three and one-half years, and hunger stalked the land; yet Elijah was not sent to them. <sup>27</sup> Or think of the prophet Elisha, who healed Naaman, a Syrian, rather than the many Jewish lepers needing help."

<sup>31</sup> Then he returned to Capernaum, a city in Galilee, and preached there in the synagogue every Saturday. <sup>32</sup> Here, too, the people were amazed at the things he said. For he spoke as one who knew the truth, instead of merely quoting the opinions of others as his authority.

<sup>33</sup> Once as he was teaching in the synagogue, a man possessed by a demon began shouting at Jesus, <sup>34</sup> "Go away! We want nothing to do with you, Jesus from Nazareth. You have come to destroy us. I know who you are—the Holy Son of God."

<sup>35</sup> Jesus cut him short. "Be silent!" he told the demon. "Come out!" The demon threw the man to the floor as the crowd watched, and then left him without hurting him further.

<sup>36</sup> Amazed, the people asked, "What is in this man's words that even demons obey him?" <sup>37</sup> The story of what he had done spread like wildfire throughout the whole region.

<sup>38</sup> After leaving the synagogue that day, he went to Simon's home where he found Simon's mother-in-law very sick with a high fever.

"Please heal her," everyone begged.

<sup>39</sup> Standing at her bedside he spoke to the fever, rebuking it, and immediately her temperature returned to normal and she got up and prepared a meal<sup>c</sup> for them!

<sup>40</sup> As the sun went down that evening, all the villagers who had any sick people in their homes, no matter what their diseases were, brought them to Jesus; and the touch of his hands healed every one! <sup>41</sup> Some were possessed by demons; and the demons came out at his command, shouting, "You are the Son of God."

But because they knew he was the Christ, he stopped them and told them to be silent.

went out into the desert. The crowds searched everywhere for him and when they finally found him they begged him not to leave them, but to stay at Capernaum. <sup>4</sup> But he replied, "I must preach the Good News of the Kingdom of God in other places too, for that is why I was sent." <sup>5</sup> So he continued to travel around preaching in synagogues throughout Judea.

5 ONE DAY AS he was preaching on the shore of Lake Gennesaret, great crowds pressed in on him to listen to the Word of God. <sup>2</sup> He noticed two empty boats standing at the water's edge while the fishermen washed their nets. <sup>3</sup> Stepping into one of the boats, Jesus asked Simon, its owner, to push out a little into the water, so that he could sit in the boat and speak to the crowds from there.

<sup>4</sup> When he had finished speaking, he said to Simon, "Now go out where it is deeper and let down your nets and you will catch a lot of fish!"

<sup>5</sup> "Sir," Simon replied, "we worked hard all last night and didn't catch a thing. But if you say so, we'll try again."

<sup>6</sup> And this time their nets were so full that they began to tear! <sup>7</sup> A shout for help brought their partners in the other boat and soon both boats were filled with fish and on the verge of sinking.

<sup>8</sup> When Simon Peter realized what had happened, he fell to his knees before Jesus and said, "Oh, sir, please leave us—I'm too much of a sinner for you to have around."

<sup>9</sup> For he was awestruck by the size of their catch, as were the others with him, <sup>10</sup> and his partners too—James and John, the sons of Zebedee.

Jesus replied, "Don't be afraid! From now on you'll be fishing for the souls of men!"

<sup>12</sup> One day in a certain village he was visiting, there was a man with an advanced case of leprosy. When he saw Jesus he fell to the ground before him, face downward in the dust, begging to be healed.

"Sir," he said, "if you only will, you can clear me of every trace of my disease."

<sup>13</sup> Jesus reached out and touched the man and said, "Of course I will. Be healed." And the leprosy left him instantly! <sup>14</sup> Then Jesus instructed him to go at once without telling anyone what had happened and be examined by the Jewish priest. "Offer the sacrifice Moses' law requires for lepers who are healed," he said. "This will prove to everyone that you are well."

<sup>15</sup> Now the report of his power spread even faster and vast crowds came to hear him preach and to be healed of their diseases. <sup>16</sup> But he often withdrew to the wilderness for prayer.

<sup>17</sup> One day while he was teaching, some Jewish religious leaders<sup>a</sup> and teachers of the Law were sitting nearby. (It seemed that these men showed up from every village in all Galilee and Judea, as well as from Jerusalem.) And the Lord's healing

<sup>18,19</sup> Then—look! Some men came carrying a paralyzed man on a sleeping mat. They tried to push through the crowd to Jesus but couldn't reach him.

So they went up on the roof above him, took off some tiles and lowered the sick man down into the crowd, still on his sleeping mat, right in front of Jesus.

<sup>20</sup> Seeing their faith, Jesus said to the man, "My friend, your sins are forgiven!"

<sup>21</sup> "Who does this fellow think he is?" the Pharisees and teachers of the Law exclaimed among themselves. "This is blasphemy! Who but God can forgive sins?"

<sup>22</sup> Jesus knew what they were thinking, and he replied, "Why is it blasphemy? <sup>23,24</sup> I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> have the authority on earth to forgive sins. But talk is cheap—anybody could say that. So I'll prove it to you by healing this man." Then, turning to the paralyzed man, he commanded, "Pick up your stretcher and go on home, for you are healed!"

<sup>25</sup> And immediately, as everyone watched, the man jumped to his feet, picked up his mat and went home praising God! <sup>26</sup> Everyone present was gripped with awe and fear. And they praised God, remarking over and over again, "We have seen strange things today."

<sup>27</sup> Later on as Jesus left the town he saw a tax collector—with the usual reputation for cheating—sitting at a tax collection booth. The man's name was Levi. Jesus said to him, "Come and be one of my disciples!" <sup>28</sup> So Levi left everything, sprang up and went with him.

<sup>29</sup> Soon Levi held a reception in his home with Jesus as the guest of honor. Many of Levi's fellow tax collectors and other guests were there.

<sup>30</sup> But the Pharisees and teachers of the Law complained bitterly to Jesus' disciples about his eating with such notorious sinners.

<sup>31</sup> Jesus answered them, "It is the sick who need a doctor, not those in good health. <sup>32</sup> My purpose is to invite sinners to turn from their sins, not to spend my time with those who think themselves already good enough."

<sup>33</sup> Their next complaint was that Jesus' disciples were feasting instead of fasting. "John the Baptist's disciples are constantly going without food, and praying," they declared, "and so do the disciples of the Pharisees. Why are yours winning and dining?"

ing the old wine seems to want the fresh and the new. 'The old ways are best,' they say."

6 ONE SABBATH AS Jesus and his disciples were walking through some grainfields, they were breaking off the heads of wheat, rubbing off the husks in their hands and eating the grains.

<sup>2</sup> But some Pharisees said, "That's illegal! Your disciples are harvesting grain, and it's against the Jewish law to work on the Sabbath."

<sup>3</sup> Jesus replied, "Don't you read the Scriptures? Haven't you ever read what King David did when he and his men were hungry? <sup>4</sup> He went into the Temple and took the shewbread, the special bread that was placed before the Lord, and ate it—illegal as this was—and shared it with others." <sup>5</sup> And Jesus added, "I am master even of the Sabbath."

<sup>6</sup> On another Sabbath he was in the synagogue teaching, and a man was present whose right hand was deformed. <sup>7</sup> The teachers of the Law and the Pharisees watched closely to see whether he would heal the man that day, since it was the Sabbath. For they were eager to find some charge to bring against him.

<sup>8</sup> How well he knew their thoughts! But he said to the man with the deformed hand, "Come and stand here where everyone can see." So he did.

<sup>9</sup> Then Jesus said to the Pharisees and teachers of the Law, "I have a question for you. Is it right to do good on the Sabbath day, or to do harm? To save life, or to destroy it?"

<sup>10</sup> He looked around at them one by one and then said to the man, "Reach out your hand." And as he did, it became completely normal again.

<sup>11</sup> At this, the enemies of Jesus were wild with rage, and began to plot his murder.

<sup>12</sup> One day soon afterwards he went out into the mountains to pray, and prayed all night. <sup>13</sup> At daybreak he called together his followers and chose twelve of them to be the inner circle of his disciples. (They were appointed as his "apostles," or "missionaries.") <sup>14,15,16</sup> Here are their names:

Simon (he also called him Peter),
Andrew (Simon's brother),
James,
John,
Philip,
Bartholomew,
Matthew,
Thomas,
James (the son of Alphaeus),
Simon (a member of the Zealots, a subversive political party),
Judas (son of James),
Judas Iscariot (who later betrayed him).

<sup>17,18</sup> When they came down the slopes of the mountain, they stood with Jesus on a large, level area, surrounded by many of his followers who, in turn, were surrounded by the crowds. For people from all over Judea and from Jerusalem and from as far north as the seacoasts of Tyre and Sidon had come to hear him or to be healed. And he cast out many demons.<sup>19</sup> Everyone was trying to touch him, for when they did healing power went out from him and they were cured.

<sup>20</sup> Then he turned to his disciples and said, "What happiness there is for you who are poor, for the Kingdom of God is yours!<sup>a</sup> What happiness there is for you who are now hungry, for you are going to be satisfied! What happiness there is for you who weep, for the time will come when you shall laugh with joy! What happiness it is when others hate you and exclude you and insult you and smear your name because you are mine!<sup>b</sup>

<sup>21</sup> When that happens, rejoice! Yes, leap for joy! For you will have a great reward awaiting you in heaven. And you will be in good company—the ancient prophets were treated that way too!

<sup>24</sup> "But, oh, the sorrows that await the rich. For they have their only happiness down here. <sup>25</sup> They are fat and prosperous now, but a time of awful hunger is before them. Their careless laughter now means sorrow then. <sup>26</sup> And what sadness is ahead for those praised by the crowds—for false prophets have always been praised.

<sup>27</sup> "Listen, all of you. Love your enemies. Do good to those who hate you. <sup>28</sup> Pray for the happiness of those who curse you; implore God's blessing on those who hurt you.

<sup>29</sup> "If someone slaps you on one cheek, let him slap the other too! If someone demands your coat, give him your shirt besides. <sup>30</sup> Give what you have to anyone who asks you for it; and when things are taken away from you, don't worry about getting them back. <sup>31</sup> Treat others as you want them to treat you.

<sup>32</sup> "Do you think you deserve credit for merely loving those who love you? Even the godless do that! <sup>33</sup> And if you do good only to those who do you good—is that so wonderful? Even sinners do that much! <sup>34</sup> And if you lend money only to those who can repay you, what good is that? Even the most wicked will lend to their own kind for full return!

<sup>35</sup> "Love your enemies! Do good to them! Lend to them! And don't be concerned about the fact that they won't repay. Then your reward from heaven will be very great, and you will truly be acting as sons of God: for he is kind to the unthankful and to those who are very wicked.

Figs never grow on thorns, or grapes on bramble bushes. <sup>45</sup> A good man produces good deeds from a good heart. And an evil man produces evil deeds from his hidden wickedness. Whatever is in the heart overflows into speech.

<sup>46</sup> "So why do you call me 'Lord' when you won't obey me? <sup>47,48</sup> But all those who come and listen and obey me are like a man who builds a house on a strong foundation laid upon the underlying rock. When the floodwaters rise and break against the house, it stands firm, for it is strongly built.

<sup>49</sup> "But those who listen and don't obey are like a man who builds a house without a foundation. When the floods sweep down against that house, it crumbles into a heap of ruins."

7 WHEN JESUS HAD finished his sermon he went back into the city of Capernaum.

<sup>2</sup> Just at that time the highly prized slave of a Roman<sup>a</sup> army captain was sick and near death. <sup>3</sup> When the captain heard about Jesus, he sent some respected Jewish elders to ask him to come and heal his slave. <sup>4</sup> So they began pleading earnestly with Jesus to come with them and help the man. They told him what a wonderful person the captain was.

"If anyone deserves your help, it is he," they said, <sup>5</sup> "for he loves the Jews and even paid personally to build us a synagogue!"

<sup>6,7,8</sup> Jesus went with them; but just before arriving at the house, the captain sent some friends to say, "Sir, don't inconvenience yourself by coming to my home, for I am not worthy of any such honor or even to come and meet you. Just speak a word from where you are, and my servant boy will be healed! I know, because I am under the authority of my superior officers, and I have authority over my men. I only need to say 'Go!' and they go; or 'Come!' and they come; and to my slave, 'Do this or that,' and he does it. So just say, 'Be healed!' and my servant will be well again!"

<sup>9</sup> Jesus was amazed. Turning to the crowd he said, "Never among all the Jews in Israel have I met a man with faith like this."

<sup>11</sup> Not long afterwards Jesus went with his disciples to the village of Nain, with the usual great crowd at his heels. <sup>12</sup> A funeral procession was coming out as he approached the village gate. The boy who had died was the only son of his widowed mother, and many mourners from the village were with her.

<sup>13</sup> When the Lord saw her, his heart overflowed with sympathy. "Don't cry!" he said. <sup>14</sup> Then he walked over to the coffin and touched it, and the bearers stopped. "Laddie," he said, "come back to life again."

<sup>15</sup> Then the boy sat up and began to talk to those around him! And Jesus gave him back to his mother.

<sup>16</sup> A great fear swept the crowd, and they exclaimed with praises to God, "A mighty prophet has risen among us," and, "We have seen the hand of God at work today."

<sup>17</sup> The report of what he did that day raced from end to end of Judea and even out across the borders.

<sup>18</sup> The disciples of John the Baptist soon heard of all that Jesus was doing. When they told John about it, <sup>19</sup> he sent two of his disciples to Jesus to ask him, "Are you really the Messiah?"<sup>b</sup> Or shall we keep on looking for him?"

<sup>20, 21, 22</sup> The two disciples found Jesus while he was curing many sick people of their various diseases—healing the lame and the blind and casting out evil spirits. When they asked him John's question, this was his reply: "Go back to John and tell him all you have seen and heard here today: how those who were blind can see. The lame are walking without a limp. The lepers are completely healed. The deaf can hear again. The dead come back to life. And the poor are hearing the Good News." <sup>21</sup> And tell him, 'Blessed is the one who does not lose his faith in me.'"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>24</sup> After they left, Jesus talked to the crowd about John. "Who is this man you went out into the Judean wilderness to see?" he asked. "Did you find him weak as grass, moved by every breath of wind?" <sup>25</sup> Did you find him dressed in expensive clothes? No! Men who live in luxury are found in palaces, not out in the wilderness. <sup>26</sup> But did you find a prophet? Yes! And more than a prophet. <sup>27</sup> He is the one to whom the Scriptures refer when they say, 'Look! I am sending my messenger ahead of you, to prepare the way before you.'"<sup>28</sup> In all humanity there is no one greater than John. And yet the least citizen of the Kingdom of God is greater than he."

<sup>29</sup> And all who heard John preach—even the most wicked of them<sup>d</sup>—agreed that God's requirements were right, and they were baptized by him. <sup>30</sup> All, that is, except the Pharisees and teachers of Moses' Law. They rejected God's plan for them and refused John's baptism.

<sup>31</sup> "What can I say about such men?" Jesus asked. "With what shall I compare them? <sup>32</sup> They are like a group of children who complain to their friends, 'You don't like it if we play "wedding" and you don't like it if we play "funeral" !<sup>e</sup>

 "For John the Baptist used to go without food and never took a drop of liquor all his life, and you said, 'He must be crazy!'<sup>f</sup> "But I eat my food and drink my wine, and you say, 'What a glutton Jesus is! And he drinks! And has the lowest sort of friends!'<sup>g</sup> "But I am sure you can always justify your inconsistencies."<sup>h</sup>

<sup>36</sup> One of the Pharisees asked Jesus to come to his home for lunch and Jesus accepted the invitation. As they sat down to eat, <sup>37</sup> a woman of the streets—a prostitute—heard he was there and brought an exquisite flask filled with expensive perfume.

<sup>39</sup> When Jesus' host, a Pharisee, saw what was happening and who the woman was, he said to himself, "This proves that Jesus is no prophet, for if God had really sent him, he would know what kind of woman this one is!"

<sup>40</sup> Then Jesus spoke up and answered his thoughts. "Simon," he said to the Pharisee, "I have something to say to you."

"All right, Teacher," Simon replied, "go ahead."

<sup>41</sup> Then Jesus told him this story: "A man loaned money to two people—$5,000 to one and $500 to the other. <sup>42</sup> But neither of them could pay him back, so he kindly forgave them both, letting them keep the money! Which do you suppose loved him most after that?"

<sup>43</sup> "I suppose the one who had owed him the most," Simon answered.

"Correct," Jesus agreed.

<sup>44</sup> Then he turned to the woman and said to Simon, "Look! See this woman kneeling here! When I entered your home, you didn't bother to offer me water to wash the dust from my feet, but she has washed them with her tears and wiped them with her hair.

<sup>45</sup> You refused me the customary kiss of greeting, but she has kissed my feet again and again from the time I first came in. <sup>46</sup> You neglected the usual courtesy of olive oil to anoint my head, but she has covered my feet with rare perfume. <sup>47</sup> Therefore her sins—and they are many—are forgiven, for she loved me much; but one who is forgiven little, shows little love."

<sup>49</sup> Then the men at the table said to themselves, "Who does this man think he is, going around forgiving sins?"

<sup>50</sup> And Jesus said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you; go in peace."

8 NOT LONG AFTERWARDS he began a tour of the cities and villages of Galilee<sup>a</sup> to announce the coming of the Kingdom of God, and took his twelve disciples with him. <sup>2</sup> Some women went along, from whom he had cast out demons or whom he had healed; among them were Mary Magdalene (Jesus had cast out seven demons from her), <sup>3</sup> Joanna, Chuza's wife (Chuza was King Herod's business manager and was in charge of his palace and domestic affairs), Susanna, and many others who were contributing from their private means to the support of Jesus and his disciples.

<sup>4</sup> One day he gave this illustration to a large crowd that was gathering to hear him—while many others were still on the way, coming from other towns.

<sup>5</sup> "A farmer went out to his field to sow grain. As he scattered the seed on the ground, some of it fell on a footpath and was trampled on; and the birds came and ate it as it lay exposed. <sup>6</sup> Other seed fell on shallow soil with rock beneath. This seed began to grow, but soon withered and died for lack of moisture. <sup>7</sup> Other seed landed in thistle patches, and the young grain stalks were soon choked out. <sup>8</sup> Still other fell on fertile soil; this seed grew and produced a crop one hundred times as large as he had planted." (As he was giving this illustration he said, "If anyone has listening ears, use them now!")

<sup>10</sup> He replied, "God has granted you to know the meaning of these parables, for they tell a great deal about the Kingdom of God. But these crowds hear the words and do not understand, just as the ancient prophets predicted.

<sup>11</sup> "This is its meaning: The seed is God's message to men. <sup>12</sup> The hard path where some seed fell represents the hard hearts of those who hear the words of God, but then the devil comes and steals the words away and prevents people from believing and being saved. <sup>13</sup> The stony ground represents those who enjoy listening to sermons, but somehow the message never really gets through to them and doesn't take root and grow. They know the message is true, and sort of believe for awhile; but when the hot winds of persecution blow, they lose interest. <sup>14</sup> The seed among the thorns represents those who listen and believe God's words but whose faith afterwards is choked out by worry and riches and the responsibilities and pleasures of life. And so they are never able to help anyone else to believe the Good News.

<sup>15</sup> "But the good soil represents honest, good-hearted people. They listen to God's words and cling to them and steadily spread them to others who also soon believe."

he thinks he has shall be taken away from him."

<sup>19</sup> Once when his mother and brothers came to see him, they couldn't get into the house where he was teaching, because of the crowds. <sup>20</sup> When Jesus heard they were standing outside and wanted to see him, <sup>21</sup> he remarked, "My mother and my brothers are all those who hear the message of God, and obey it."

<sup>22</sup> One day about that time, as he and his disciples were out in a boat, he suggested that they cross to the other side of the lake. <sup>23</sup> On the way across he lay down for a nap, and while he was sleeping the wind began to rise. A fierce storm developed that threatened to swamp them, and they were in real danger.

<sup>24</sup> They rushed over and woke him up. "Master, Master, we are sinking!" they screamed.

So he spoke to the storm: "Quiet down," he said, and the wind and waves subsided and all was calm!

<sup>25</sup> Then he asked them, "Where is your faith?"

And they were filled with awe and fear of him and said to one another, "Who is this man, that even the winds and waves obey him?"

<sup>26</sup> So they arrived at the other side, in the Gerasene country across the lake from Galilee. <sup>27</sup> As he was climbing out of the boat a man from the city of Gadara came to meet him, a man who had been demon-possessed for a long time. Homeless and naked, he lived in a cemetery among the tombs. <sup>28</sup> As soon as he saw Jesus he shrieked and fell to the ground before him, screaming, "What do you want with me, Jesus, Son of God Most High? Please, I beg you, oh, don't torment me!"

<sup>29</sup> For Jesus was already commanding the demon to leave him. This demon had often taken control of the man so that even when shackled with chains he simply broke them and rushed out into the desert, completely under the demon's power. <sup>30</sup> "What is your name?" Jesus asked the demon. "Legion," they replied—for the man was filled with thousands<sup>c</sup> of them! <sup>31</sup> They kept begging him not to order them into the Bottomless Pit.

<sup>32</sup> A herd of pigs was feeding on the mountainside nearby, and the demons pled with him to let them enter into the pigs. And Jesus said they could. <sup>33</sup> So they left the man and went into the pigs, and immediately the whole herd rushed down the mountainside and fell over a cliff into the lake below, where they drowned. <sup>34</sup> The herdsmen rushed away to the nearby city, spreading the news as they ran.

<sup>35</sup> Soon a crowd came out to see for themselves what had happened and saw the man who had been demon-possessed sitting quietly at Jesus' feet, clothed and sane! And the whole crowd was badly frightened. <sup>36</sup> Then those who had seen it happen told how the demon-possessed man had been healed. <sup>37</sup> And everyone begged Jesus to go away and leave them alone (for a deep wave of fear had swept over them).

<sup>c</sup> Implied; a legion consisted of 6,000 troops. Whether the demons were speaking literally is, of course, unknown.

So he returned to the boat and left, crossing back to the other side of the lake.

<sup>38</sup> The man who had been demon-possessed begged to go too, but Jesus said no.

<sup>39</sup> "Go back to your family," he told him, "and tell them what a wonderful thing God has done for you."

So he went all through the city telling everyone about Jesus' mighty miracle.

<sup>40</sup> On the other side of the lake the crowds received him with open arms, for they had been waiting for him.

<sup>41</sup> And now a man named Jairus, a leader of a Jewish synagogue, came and fell down at Jesus' feet and begged him to come home with him, <sup>42</sup> for his only child was dying, a little girl twelve years old. Jesus went with him, pushing through the crowds.

<sup>43,44</sup> As they went a woman who wanted to be healed came up behind and touched him, for she had been slowly bleeding for twelve years, and could find no cure (though she had spent everything she had on doctors<sup>d</sup>). But the instant she touched the edge of his robe, the bleeding stopped.

<sup>45</sup> "Who touched me?" Jesus asked.

Everyone denied it, and Peter said, "Master, so many are crowding against you . . ."

<sup>46</sup> But Jesus told him, "No, it was someone who deliberately touched me, for I felt healing power go out from me."

<sup>47</sup> When the woman realized that Jesus knew, she began to tremble and fell to her knees before him and told why she had touched him and that now she was well.

<sup>48</sup> "Daughter," he said to her, "your faith has healed you. Go in peace."

<sup>49</sup> While he was still speaking to her, a messenger arrived from the Jairus' home with the news that the little girl was dead. "She's gone," he told her father; "there's no use troubling the Teacher now."

<sup>50</sup> But when Jesus heard what had happened, he said to the father, "Don't be afraid! Just trust me, and she'll be all right."

<sup>51</sup> When they arrived at the house Jesus wouldn't let anyone into the room except Peter, James, John, and the little girl's father and mother. <sup>52</sup> The home was filled with mourning people, but he said, "Stop the weeping! She isn't dead; she is only asleep!" <sup>53</sup> This brought scoffing and laughter, for they all knew she was dead.

<sup>54</sup> Then he took her by the hand and called, "Get up, little girl!" <sup>55</sup> And at that moment her life returned and she jumped up! "Give her something to eat!" he said. <sup>56</sup> Her parents were overcome with happiness, but Jesus insisted that they not tell anyone the details of what had happened.

9 ONE DAY JESUS called together his twelve apostles and gave them authority over all demons—power to cast them out—and to heal all diseases. <sup>2</sup> Then he sent them away to tell everyone about the coming of the Kingdom of God

<sup>6</sup> So they began their circuit of the villages, preaching the Good News and healing the sick.

<sup>7</sup> When reports of Jesus' miracles reached Herod, the governor,<sup>b</sup> he was worried and puzzled, for some were saying, "This is John the Baptist come back to life again"; <sup>8</sup> and others, "It is Elijah or some other ancient prophet risen from the dead." These rumors were circulating all over the land.

<sup>9</sup> "I beheaded John," Herod said, "so who is this man about whom I hear such strange stories?" And he tried to see him.

<sup>10</sup> After the apostles returned to Jesus and reported what they had done, he slipped quietly away with them toward the city of Bethsaida.

<sup>11</sup> But the crowds found out where he was going, and followed. And he welcomed them, teaching them again about the Kingdom of God and curing those who were ill.

<sup>12</sup> Late in the afternoon all twelve of the disciples came and urged him to send the people away to the nearby villages and farms, to find food and lodging for the night. "For there is nothing to eat here in this deserted spot," they said.

"Why, we have only five loaves of bread and two fish among the lot of us," they protested; "or are you expecting us to go and buy enough for this whole mob?" <sup>14</sup> For there were about 5,000 men there!

"Just tell them to sit down on the ground in groups of about fifty each," Jesus replied. <sup>15</sup> So they did.

<sup>16</sup> Jesus took the five loaves and two fish and looked up into the sky and gave thanks; then he broke off pieces for his disciples to set before the crowd. <sup>17</sup> And everyone ate and ate; still, twelve basketfuls of scraps were picked up afterwards!

<sup>18</sup> One day as he was alone, praying, with his disciples nearby, he came over and asked them, "Who are the people saying I am?"

<sup>19</sup> "John the Baptist," they told him, "or perhaps Elijah or one of the other ancient prophets risen from the dead."

<sup>20</sup> Then he asked them, "Who do you think I am?"

Peter replied, "The Messiah—the Christ of God!"

<sup>21</sup> He gave them strict orders not to speak of this to anyone. <sup>22</sup> "For I, the Messiah,<sup>c</sup> must suffer much," he said, "and be rejected by the Jewish leaders—the elders, chief priests, and teachers of the Law—and be killed; and three days later I will come back to life again!"

<sup>23</sup> Then he said to all, "Anyone who wants to follow me must put aside his own desires and conveniences and carry his cross with him every day and keep close to me!

<sup>24</sup> Whoever loses his life for my sake will save it, but whoever insists on keeping his life will lose it; <sup>25</sup> and what profit is there in gaining the whole world when it means forfeiting one's self?

<sup>26</sup> "When I, the Messiah,<sup>d</sup> come in my glory and in the glory of the Father and the holy angels, I will be ashamed then of all who are ashamed of me and of my words now. <sup>27</sup> But this is the simple truth—some of you who are standing here right now will not die until you have seen the Kingdom of God."

<sup>28</sup> Eight days later he took Peter, James, and John with him into the hills to pray. <sup>29</sup> And as he was praying, his face began to shine,<sup>e</sup> and his clothes became dazzling white and blazed with light. <sup>30</sup> Then two men appeared and began talking with him—Moses and Elijah! <sup>31</sup> They were splendid in appearance, glorious to see; and they were speaking of his death at Jerusalem, to be carried out in accordance with God's plan.

<sup>32</sup> Peter and the others had been very drowsy and had fallen asleep. Now they woke up and saw Jesus covered with brightness and glory, and the two men standing with him.

<sup>33</sup> As Moses and Elijah were starting to leave, Peter, all confused and not even knowing what he was saying, blurted out, "Master, this is wonderful! We'll put up three shelters—one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah!"

and terror gripped them as it covered them. <sup>35</sup> And a voice from the cloud said, "This is my Son, my Chosen One; listen to him."

<sup>36</sup> Then, as the voice died away, Jesus was there alone with his disciples. They didn't tell anyone what they had seen until long afterwards.

<sup>41</sup> "O you stubborn faithless people," Jesus said [to his disciples], "how long should I put up with you? Bring him here."

<sup>42</sup> As the boy was coming the demon knocked him to the ground and threw him into a violent convulsion. But Jesus ordered the demon to come out, and healed the boy and handed him over to his father.

<sup>43</sup> Awe gripped the people as they saw this display of the power of God.

Meanwhile, as they were exclaiming over all the wonderful things he was doing, Jesus said to his disciples, "Listen to me and remember what I say. I, the Messiah,<sup>d</sup> am going to be betrayed." "But the disciples didn't know what he meant, for their minds had been sealed and they were afraid to ask him.

<sup>46</sup> Now came an argument among them as to which of them would be greatest [in the coming Kingdom!]<sup>47</sup> But Jesus knew their thoughts, so he stood a little child beside him<sup>48</sup> and said to them, "Anyone who takes care of a little child like this is caring for me! And whoever cares for me is caring for God who sent me. Your care for others is the measure of your greatness."<sup>49</sup> His disciple John came to him and said, "Master, we saw someone using your name to cast out demons. And we told him not to: After all, he isn't in our group."

<sup>50</sup> But Jesus said, "You shouldn't have done that! For anyone who is not against you is for you."

<sup>51</sup> As the time drew near for his return to heaven, he moved steadily onward towards Jerusalem with an iron will.

<sup>52</sup> One day he sent messengers ahead to reserve rooms for them in a Samaritan village.<sup>53</sup> But they were turned away! The people of the village refused to have anything to do with them because they were headed for Jerusalem.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>54</sup> When word came back of what had happened, James and John said to Jesus, "Master, shall we order fire down from heaven to burn them up?"<sup>55</sup> But Jesus turned and rebuked them,<sup>i 56</sup> and they went on to another village.

<sup>57</sup> As they were walking along someone said to Jesus, "I will always follow you no matter where you go."

<sup>58</sup> But Jesus replied, "Remember, I don't even own a place to lay my head. Foxes have dens to live in, and birds have nests, but I, the Messiah,<sup>j</sup> have no earthly home at all."

<sup>59</sup> Another time, when he invited a man to come with him and to be his disciple, the man agreed—but wanted to wait until his father's death.<sup>k</sup>

<sup>61</sup> Another said, "Yes, Lord, I will come, but first let me ask permission of those at home."<sup>m</sup>

<sup>62</sup> But Jesus told him, "Anyone who lets himself be distracted from the work I plan for him is not fit for the Kingdom of God."

10 THE LORD NOW chose seventy other disciples and sent them on ahead in pairs to all the towns and villages he planned to visit later.

<sup>2</sup> These were his instructions to them: "Plead with the Lord of the harvest to send out more laborers to help you, for the harvest is so plentiful and the workers so few.<sup>3</sup> Go now, and remember that I am sending you out as lambs among wolves. <sup>4</sup> Don't take any money with you, or a beggar's bag, or even an extra pair of shoes. And don't waste time along the way.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup> "Whenever you enter a home, give it your blessing. <sup>6</sup> If it is worthy of the blessing, the blessing will stand; if not, the blessing will return to you.

<sup>7</sup> "When you enter a village, don't shift around from home to home, but stay in one place, eating and drinking without question whatever is set before you. And don't hesitate to accept hospitality, for the workman is worthy of his wages!

<sup>8,9</sup> "If a town welcomes you, follow these two rules:

(1) Eat whatever is set before you.

(2) Heal the sick; and as you heal them, say, 'The Kingdom of God is very near you now.'

<sup>10</sup> "But if a town refuses you, go out into its streets and say, <sup>11</sup> 'We wipe the dust of your town from our feet as a public announcement of your doom. Never forget how close you were to the Kingdom of God!' <sup>12</sup> Even wicked Sodom will be better off than such a city on the Judgment Day. <sup>13</sup> What horrors await you, you cities of Chorazin and Bethsaida! For if the miracles I did for you had been done in the cities of Tyre and Sidon,<sup>b</sup> their people would have sat in deep repentance long ago, clothed in sackcloth and throwing ashes on their heads to show their remorse. <sup>14</sup> Yes, Tyre and Sidon will receive less punishment on the Judgment Day than you. <sup>15</sup> And you people of Capernaum, what shall I say about you? Will you be exalted to heaven? No, you shall be brought down to hell."

<sup>16</sup> Then he said to the disciples, "Those who welcome you are welcoming me. And those who reject you are rejecting me. And those who reject me are rejecting God who sent me."

<sup>17</sup> When the seventy disciples returned, they joyfully reported to him, "Even the demons obey us when we use your name."

<sup>18</sup> "Yes," he told them, "I saw Satan falling from heaven as a flash of lightning! <sup>19</sup> And I have given you authority over all the power of the Enemy, and to walk among serpents and scorpions and to crush them. Nothing shall injure you! <sup>20</sup> However, the important thing is not that demons obey you, but that your names are registered as citizens of heaven."

<sup>21</sup> Then he was filled with the joy of the Holy Spirit and said, "I praise you, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for hiding these things from the intellectuals and worldly wise and for revealing them to those who are as trusting as little children.<sup>c</sup> Yes, thank you, Father, for that is the way you wanted it. <sup>22</sup> I am the Agent of my Father in everything; and no one really knows the Son except the Father, and no one really knows the Father except the Son and those to whom the Son chooses to reveal him."

<sup>23</sup> Then, turning to the twelve disciples, he said quietly, "How privileged you are to see what you have seen. <sup>24</sup> Many a prophet and king of old has longed for these days, to see and hear what you have seen and heard!"

<sup>25</sup> One day an expert on Moses' laws came to test Jesus' orthodoxy by asking him this question: "Teacher, what does a man need to do to live forever in heaven?"

<sup>27</sup> "It says," he replied, "that you must love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength, and with all your mind. And you must love your neighbor just as much as you love yourself."

<sup>31</sup> "By chance a Jewish priest came along; and when he saw the man lying there, he crossed to the other side of the road and passed him by. <sup>32</sup> A Jewish Temple-assistant<sup>e</sup> walked over and looked at him lying there, but then went on.

<sup>33</sup> "But a despised Samaritan<sup>f</sup> came along, and when he saw him, he felt deep pity. <sup>34</sup> Kneeling beside him the Samaritan soothed his wounds with medicine and bandaged them. Then he put the man on his donkey and walked along beside him till they came to an inn, where he nursed him through the night.<sup>g</sup> <sup>35</sup> The next day he handed the innkeeper two twenty-dollar bills<sup>h</sup> and told him to take care of the man. 'If his bill runs higher than that,' he said, 'I'll pay the difference the next time I am here.'

Then Jesus said, "Yes, now go and do the same."

<sup>40</sup> But Martha was the jittery type, and was worrying over the big dinner she was preparing.

She came to Jesus and said, "Sir, doesn't it seem unfair to you that my sister just sits here while I do all the work? Tell her to come and help me."

<sup>41</sup> But the Lord said to her,

"Martha, dear friend,<sup>j</sup> you are so upset over all these details! <sup>42</sup> There is really only one thing worth being concerned about. Mary has discovered it—and I won't take it away from her!"

11 ONCE WHEN JESUS had been out praying, one of his disciples came to him as he finished and said, "Lord, teach us a prayer to recite<sup>a</sup> just as John taught one to his disciples."

<sup>2</sup> And this is the prayer he taught them: "Father, may your name be honored for its holiness; send your Kingdom soon. <sup>3</sup> Give us our food day by day. <sup>4</sup> And forgive our sins—for we have forgiven those who sinned against us. And don't allow us to be tempted."

<sup>5,6</sup> Then, teaching them more about prayer,<sup>b</sup> he used this illustration: "Suppose you went to a friend's house at midnight, wanting to borrow three loaves of bread. You would shout up to him, 'A friend of mine has just arrived for a visit and I've nothing to give him to eat.' <sup>7</sup> He would call down from his bedroom, 'Please don't ask me to get up. The door is locked for the night and we are all in bed. I just can't help you this time.'

<sup>8</sup> "But I'll tell you this—though he won't do it as a friend, if you keep knocking long enough he will get up and give you everything you want—just because of your persistence. <sup>9</sup> And so it is with prayer—keep on asking and you will keep on getting; keep on looking and you will keep on finding; knock and the door will be opened. <sup>10</sup> Everyone who asks, receives; all who seek, find; and the door is opened to everyone who knocks.

<sup>11</sup> "You men who are fathers—if your boy asks for bread, do you give him a stone? If he asks for fish, do you give him a snake? <sup>12</sup> If he asks for an egg, do you give him a scorpion? [Of course not!]<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup> "And if even sinful persons like yourselves give children what they need, don't you realize that your heavenly Father will do at least as much, and give the Holy Spirit to those who ask for him?"

<sup>17</sup> He knew the thoughts of each of them, so he said, "Any kingdom filled with civil war is doomed; so is a home filled with argument and strife. <sup>18</sup> Therefore, if what you say is true, that Satan is fighting against himself by empowering me to cast out his demons, how can his kingdom survive? <sup>19</sup> And if I am empowered by Satan, what about your own followers? they are possessed by Satan? Ask them if you are right!<sup>20</sup> But if I am casting out demons because of power from God, it proves that the Kingdom of God has arrived.

<sup>23</sup> "Anyone who is not for me is against me; if he isn't helping me, he is hurting my cause.

<sup>27</sup> As he was speaking, a woman in the crowd called out, "God bless your mother—the womb from which you came, and the breasts that gave you suck!"

<sup>28</sup> He replied, "Yes, but even more blessed are all who hear the Word of God and put it into practice."

<sup>29,30</sup> As the crowd pressed in upon him, he preached them this sermon: "These are evil times, with evil people. They keep asking for some strange happening in the skies [to prove I am the Messiah<sup>h</sup>], but the only proof I will give them is a miracle like that of Jonah, whose experiences proved to the people of Nineveh that God had sent him. My similar experience will prove that God has sent me to these people.

<sup>37,38</sup> As he was speaking, one of the Pharisees asked him home for a meal. When Jesus arrived, he sat down to eat without first performing the ceremonial washing required by Jewish custom. This greatly surprised his host.

<sup>39</sup> Then Jesus said to him, "You Pharisees wash the outside, but inside you are still dirty—full of greed and wickedness! <sup>40</sup> Fools! Didn't God make the inside as well as the outside? <sup>41</sup> Purity is best demonstrated by generosity.

<sup>42</sup> "But woe to you Pharisees! For though you are careful to tithe even the smallest part of your income, you completely forget about justice and the love of God. You should tithe, yes, but you should not leave these other things undone.

<sup>45</sup> "Sir," said an expert in religious law who was standing there, "you have insulted my profession, too, in what you just said."

<sup>46</sup> "Yes," said Jesus, "the same horrors await you! For you crush men beneath impossible religious demands—demands that you yourselves would never think of trying to keep. <sup>47</sup> Woe to you! For you are exactly like your ancestors who killed the prophets long ago. <sup>48</sup> Murderers! You agree with your fathers that what they did was right—you would have done the same yourselves.

<sup>49</sup> "This is what God says about you: 'I will send prophets and apostles to you, and you will kill some of them and chase away the others.'

<sup>50</sup> "And you of this generation will be held responsible for the murder of God's servants from the founding of the world—<sup>51</sup> from the murder of Abel to the murder of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the sanctuary. Yes, it will surely be charged against you.

<sup>52</sup> "Woe to you experts in religion! For you hide the truth from the people. You won't accept it for yourselves, and you prevent others from having a chance to believe it."

<sup>53,54</sup> The Pharisees and legal experts were furious; and from that time on they plied him fiercely with a host of questions, trying to trap him into saying something for which they could have him arrested.

12 MEANWHILE THE CROWDS grew until thousands upon thousands were milling about and crushing each other. He turned now to his disciples and warned them, "More than anything else, beware of these Pharisees and the way they pretend to be good when they aren't. But such hypocrisy cannot be hidden forever. <sup>2</sup> It will become as evident as yeast in dough. <sup>3</sup> Whatever they<sup>a</sup> have said in the dark shall be heard in the light, and what you have whispered in the inner rooms shall be broadcast from the housetops for all to hear!

<sup>4</sup> "Dear friends, don't be afraid of these who want to murder you. They can only kill the body; they have no power over your souls. <sup>5</sup> But I'll tell you whom to fear—fear God who has the power to kill and then cast into hell.

<sup>6</sup> "What is the price of five sparrows? A couple of pennies? Not much more than that. Yet God does not forget a single one of them.<sup>7</sup> And he knows the number of hairs on your head! Never fear, you are far more valuable to him than a whole flock of sparrows.

<sup>8</sup> "And I assure you of this: I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> will publicly honor you in the presence of God's angels if you publicly acknowledge me here on earth as your Friend.<sup>9</sup> But I will deny before the angels those who deny me here among men.<sup>10</sup> (Yet those who speak against me<sup>b</sup> may be forgiven—while those who speak against the Holy Spirit shall never be forgiven.)

<sup>11</sup> "And when you are brought to trial before these Jewish rulers and authorities in the synagogues, don't be concerned about what to say in your defense,<sup>12</sup> for the Holy Spirit will give you the right words even as you are standing there."

<sup>13</sup> Then someone called from the crowd, "Sir, please tell my brother to divide my father's estate with me."

<sup>14</sup> But Jesus replied, "Man, who made me a judge over you to decide such things as that? <sup>15</sup> Beware! Don't always be wishing for what you don't have. For real life and real living are not related to how rich we are."

<sup>16</sup> Then he gave an illustration: "A rich man had a fertile farm that produced fine crops.<sup>17</sup> In fact, his barns were full to overflowing—he couldn't get everything in. He thought about his problem,<sup>18</sup> and finally exclaimed, 'I know—I'll tear down my barns and build bigger ones! Then I'll have room enough.<sup>19</sup> And I'll sit back and say to myself, 'Friend, you have enough stored away for years to come. Now take it easy! Wine, women, and song for you!'"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>20</sup> "But God said to him, 'Fool! Tonight you die. Then who will get it all?'

<sup>21</sup> "Yes, every man is a fool who gets rich on earth but not in heaven."

<sup>22</sup> Then turning to his disciples he said, "Don't worry about whether you have enough food to eat or clothes to wear.<sup>23</sup> For life consists of far more than food and clothes.<sup>24</sup> Look at the ravens—they don't plant or harvest or have barns to store away their food, and yet they get along all right—for God feeds them. And you are far more valuable to him than any birds!

<sup>25</sup> "And besides, what's the use of worrying? What good does it do? Will it add a single day to your life? Of course not! <sup>26</sup> And if worry can't even do such little things as that, what's the use of worrying over bigger things?

<sup>27</sup> "Look at the lilies! They don't toil and spin, and yet Solomon in all his glory was not robed as well as they are.<sup>28</sup> And if God provides clothing for the flowers that are here today and gone tomorrow, don't you suppose that he will provide clothing for you, you doubters? <sup>29</sup> And don't worry about food—what to eat and drink; don't worry at all that God will provide it for you.<sup>30</sup> All mankind scratches for its daily bread, but your heavenly Father knows your needs.<sup>31</sup> He will always give you all you need from day to day if you will make the Kingdom of God your primary concern.

<sup>32</sup> "So don't be afraid, little flock. For it gives your Father great happiness to give you the Kingdom. <sup>33</sup> Sell what you have and give to those in need. This will fatten your purses in heaven! And the purses of heaven have no rips or holes in them. Your treasures there will never disappear; no thief can steal them; no moth can destroy them. <sup>34</sup> Wherever your treasure is, there your heart and thoughts will also be.

<sup>35</sup> "Be prepared—all dressed and ready—<sup>36</sup> for your Lord's return from the wedding feast. Then you will be ready to open the door and let him in the moment he arrives and knocks. <sup>37</sup> There will be great joy for those who are ready and waiting for his return. He himself will seat them and put on a waiter's uniform and serve them as they sit and eat! <sup>38</sup> He may come at nine o'clock at night—or even at midnight. But whenever he comes there will be joy for his servants who are ready! <sup>39</sup> Everyone would be ready for him if they knew the exact hour of his return—just as they would be ready for a thief if they knew when he was coming. <sup>40</sup> So be ready all the time. For I, the Messiah,<sup>d</sup> will come when least expected."

<sup>42,43,44</sup> And the Lord replied, "I'm talking to any faithful, sensible man whose master gives him the responsibility of feeding the other servants. If his master returns and finds that he has done a good job, there will be a reward—his master will put him in charge of all he owns.

<sup>45</sup> "But if the man begins to think, 'My Lord won't be back for a long time,' and begins to whip the men and women he is supposed to protect, and to spend his time at drinking parties and in drunkenness—<sup>46</sup> well, his master will return without notice and remove him from his position of trust and assign him to the place of the unfaithful. <sup>47</sup> He will be severely punished, for though he knew his duty he refused to do it.

<sup>48</sup> "But anyone who is not aware that he is doing wrong will be punished only lightly. Much is required from those to whom much is given, for their responsibility is greater.

<sup>49</sup> "I have come to bring fire to the earth, and, oh, that my task were completed! <sup>50</sup> There is a terrible baptism ahead of me, and how I am pent up until it is accomplished!

<sup>51</sup> "Do you think I have come to give peace to the earth? No! Rather, strife and division! <sup>52</sup> From now on families will be split apart, three in favor of me, and two against—or perhaps the other way around. <sup>53</sup> A father will decide one way about me; his son, the other; mother and daughter will disagree; and the decision of an honored<sup>e</sup> mother-in-law will be spurned by her daughter-in-law."

<sup>54</sup> Then he turned to the crowd and said, "When you see clouds beginning to form in the west, you say, 'Here comes a shower.' And you are right.

you say, 'Today will be a scorcher.' And it is. <sup>36</sup> Hypocrites! You interpret the sky well enough, but you refuse to notice the warnings all around you about the crisis ahead. <sup>37</sup> Why do you refuse to see for yourselves what is right?

<sup>38</sup> "If you meet your accuser on the way to court, try to settle the matter before it reaches the judge, lest he sentence you to jail; <sup>39</sup> for if that happens you won't be free again until the last penny is paid in full."

13 ABOUT THIS TIME he was informed that Pilate had butchered some Jews from Galilee as they were sacrificing at the Temple in Jerusalem.

<sup>2</sup> "Do you think they were worse sinners than other men from Galilee?" he asked. "Is that why they suffered?" <sup>3</sup> Not at all! And don't you realize that you also will perish unless you leave your evil ways and turn to God?

<sup>4</sup> "And what about the eighteen men who died when the Tower of Siloam fell on them? Were they the worst sinners in Jerusalem?" <sup>5</sup> Not at all! And you, too, will perish unless you repent."

<sup>6</sup> Then he used this illustration: "A man planted a fig tree in his garden and came again and again to see if he could find any fruit on it, but he was always disappointed. <sup>7</sup> Finally he told his gardener to cut it down. 'I've waited three years and there hasn't been a single fig!' he said. 'Why bother with it any longer? It's taking up space we can use for something else.'

another year, and I'll give it special attention and plenty of fertilizer. <sup>9</sup> If we get figs next year, fine; if not, I'll cut it down.'"

<sup>10</sup> One Sabbath as he was teaching in a synagogue, <sup>11</sup> he saw a seriously handicapped woman who had been bent double for eighteen years and was unable to straighten herself.

<sup>12</sup> Calling her over to him Jesus said, "Woman, you are healed of your sickness!" <sup>13</sup> He touched her, and instantly she could stand straight. How she praised and thanked God!

<sup>14</sup> But the local Jewish leader in charge of the synagogue was very angry about it because Jesus had healed her on the Sabbath day. "There are six days of the week to work," he shouted to the crowd. "Those are the days to come for healing, not on the Sabbath!"

<sup>15</sup> But the Lord replied, "You hypocrite! You work on the Sabbath! Don't you untie your cattle from their stalls on the Sabbath and lead them out for water? <sup>16</sup> And is it wrong for me, just because it is the Sabbath day, to free this Jewish woman from the bondage in which Satan has held her for eighteen years?"

<sup>17</sup> This shamed his enemies. And all the people rejoiced at the wonderful things he did.

<sup>18</sup> Now he began teaching them again about the Kingdom of God: "What is the Kingdom like?" he asked. "How can I illustrate it?" <sup>19</sup> It is like a tiny mustard seed planted in a garden; soon it grows into a tall bush, and the birds live among its branches. <sup>20,21</sup> It is like yeast kneaded into dough, which works unseen until it has risen high and light."

<sup>22</sup> He went from city to city and village to village, teaching as he went, always pressing onward toward Jerusalem.

<sup>23</sup> Someone asked him, "Will only a few be saved?"

And he replied, <sup>24,25</sup> "The door to heaven is narrow. Work hard to get in, for the truth is that many will try to enter but when the head of the house has locked the door, it will be too late. Then if you stand outside knocking, and pleading, 'Lord, open the door for us,' he will reply, 'I do not know you.'"

<sup>26</sup> "But we ate with you, and you taught in our streets," you will say.

<sup>27</sup> "And he will reply, 'I tell you, I don't know you. You can't come in here, guilty as you are. Go away.'"

<sup>28</sup> "And there will be great weeping and gnashing of teeth as you stand outside and see Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and all the prophets within the Kingdom of God—<sup>29</sup> for people will come from all over the world to take their places there."

<sup>30</sup> And note this: some who are despised now will be greatly honored then; and some who are highly thought of now will be least important then."

<sup>31</sup> A few minutes later some Pharisees said to him, "Get out of here if you want to live, for King Herod is after you!"

<sup>32</sup> Jesus replied, "Go tell that fox that I will keep on casting out demons and doing miracles of healing today and tomorrow; and the third day I will reach my destination."

<sup>33</sup> Yes, today, tomorrow, and the next day! For it wouldn't do for a prophet of God to be killed except in Jerusalem!

<sup>34</sup> "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem! The city that murders the prophets. The city that stones those sent to help her. How often I have wanted to gather your children together even as a hen protects her brood under her wings, but you wouldn't let me. <sup>35</sup> And now—now your house is left desolate. And you will never again see me until you say, 'Welcome to him who comes in the name of the Lord.'"

14 ONE SABBATH AS he was in the home of a member of the Jewish Council, the Pharisees were watching him like hawks to see if he would heal a man who was present who was suffering from dropsy.

<sup>1</sup> Jesus said to the Pharisees and legal experts standing around, "Well, is it within the Law to heal a man on the Sabbath day, or not?"

<sup>2</sup> And when they refused to answer, Jesus took the sick man by the hand and healed him and sent him away.

<sup>3</sup> Then he turned to them: "Which of you doesn't work on the Sabbath?" he asked. "If your cow falls into a pit, don't you proceed at once to get it out?"

<sup>5</sup> When he noticed that all who came to the dinner were trying to sit near the head of the table, he gave them this advice: <sup>6</sup> "If you are invited to a wedding feast, don't always head for the best seat. For if someone more respected than you shows up, <sup>7</sup> the host will bring him over to where you are sitting and say, 'Let this man sit here instead.' And you, embarrassed, will have to take whatever seat is left at the foot of the table!

<sup>10</sup> "Do this instead—start at the foot; and when your host sees you he will come and say, 'Friend, we have a better place than this for you!' Thus you will be honored in front of all the other guests. <sup>11</sup> For everyone who tries to honor himself shall be humbled; and he who humbles himself shall be honored."

<sup>12</sup> Then he turned to his host. "When you put on a dinner," he said, "don't invite friends, brothers, relatives, and rich neighbors! For they will return the invitation. <sup>13</sup> Instead, invite the poor, the crippled, the lame, and the blind. <sup>14</sup> Then at the resurrection of the godly, God will reward you for inviting those who can't repay you."

<sup>16</sup> Jesus replied with this illustration: "A man prepared a great feast and sent out many invitations. <sup>17</sup> When all was ready, he sent his servant around to notify the guests that it was time for them to arrive. <sup>18</sup> But they all began making excuses. One said he had just bought a field and wanted to inspect it, and asked to be excused. <sup>19</sup> Another said he had just bought five pair of oxen and wanted to try them out. <sup>20</sup> Another had just been married and for that reason couldn't come.

<sup>21</sup> "The servant returned and reported to his master what they had said. His master was angry and told him to go quickly into the streets and alleys of the city and to invite the beggars, crippled, lame, and blind. <sup>22</sup> But even then, there was still room.

<sup>23</sup> "Well, then," said his master, 'go out into the country lanes and out behind the hedges and urge anyone you find to come, so that the house will be full. <sup>24</sup> For none of those I invited first will get even the smallest taste of what I had prepared for them.' "

<sup>25</sup> Great crowds were following him. He turned around and addressed them as follows: <sup>26</sup> "Anyone who wants to be my follower must love me far more than<sup>a</sup> he does his own father, mother, wife, children, brothers, or sisters—yes, more than his own life—otherwise he cannot be my disciple. <sup>27</sup> And no one can be my disciple who does not carry his own cross and follow me.

<sup>28</sup> "But don't begin until you count the cost.<sup>b</sup> For who would begin construction of a building without first getting estimates and then checking to see if he has enough money to pay the bills? <sup>29</sup> Otherwise he might complete only the foundation before running out of funds. And then how everyone would laugh!

<sup>30</sup> "See that fellow there?" they would mock. 'He started that building and ran out of money before it was finished!'

<sup>22</sup> "If the decision is negative, then while the enemy troops are still far away, he will send a truce team to discuss terms of peace." <sup>23</sup> So no one can become my disciple unless he first sits down and counts his blessings—and then renounces them all for me.

15 DISHONEST TAX COLLECTORS and other notorious sinners often came to listen to Jesus' sermons; <sup>2</sup> but this caused complaints from the Jewish religious leaders and the experts on Jewish law because he was associating with such despicable people—even eating with them! <sup>3,4</sup> So Jesus used this illustration: "If you had a hundred sheep and one of them strayed away and was lost in the wilderness, wouldn't you leave the ninety-nine others to go and search for the lost one until you found it? <sup>5</sup> And then you would joyfully carry it home on your shoulders. <sup>6</sup> When you arrived you would call together your friends and neighbors to rejoice with you because your lost sheep was found.

<sup>7</sup> "Well, in the same way heaven will be happier over one lost sinner who returns to God than over ninety-nine others who haven't strayed away!

<sup>8</sup> "Or take another illustration:

A woman has ten valuable silver coins and loses one. Won't she light a lamp and look in every corner of the house and sweep every nook and cranny until she finds it? <sup>9</sup> And then won't she call in her friends and neighbors to rejoice with her? <sup>10</sup> In the same way there is joy in the presence of the angels of God when one sinner repents."

To further illustrate the point, he told them this story: <sup>11</sup> "A man had two sons. <sup>12</sup> When the younger told his father, 'I want my share of your estate now, instead of waiting until you die!' his father agreed to divide his wealth between his sons.

<sup>13</sup> "A few days later this younger son packed all his belongings and took a trip to a distant land, and there wasted all his money on parties and prostitutes. <sup>14</sup> About the time his money was gone a great famine swept over the land, and he began to starve. <sup>15</sup> He persuaded a local farmer to hire him to feed his pigs. <sup>16</sup> The boy became so hungry that even the pods he was feeding the swine looked good to him. And no one gave him anything.

<sup>17</sup> "When he finally came to his senses, he said to himself, 'At home even the hired men have food enough and to spare, and here I am, dying of hunger! <sup>18</sup> I will go home to my father and say, "Father, I have sinned against both heaven and you, <sup>19</sup> and am no longer worthy of being called your son. Please take me on as a hired man."'

<sup>20,21</sup> "So he returned home to his father. And while he was still a long distance away, his father saw him coming, and was filled with loving pity and ran and embraced him and kissed him.

<sup>21</sup> "His son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and you, and am not worthy of being called your son—'

<sup>22</sup> "But his father said to the slaves, 'Quick! Bring the finest robe in the house and put it on him. And a jeweled ring for his finger; and shoes! <sup>23</sup> And kill the calf we have in the fattening pen. We must celebrate with a feast, <sup>24</sup> for this son of mine was dead and has returned to life. He was lost and is found.' So the party began.

<sup>25</sup> "Meanwhile, the older son was in the fields working; when he returned home, he heard dance music coming from the house, <sup>26</sup> and he asked one of the servants what was going on.

<sup>27</sup> " 'Your brother is back,' he was told, 'and your father has killed the calf we were fattening and has prepared a great feast to celebrate his coming home again unharmed.'

<sup>28</sup> "The older brother was angry and wouldn't go in. His father came out and begged him, <sup>29</sup> but he replied, 'All these years I've worked hard for you and never once refused to do a single thing you told me to; and in all that time you never gave me even one young goat for a feast with my friends.

<sup>30</sup> " 'Yet when this son of yours comes back after spending your money on prostitutes, you celebrate by killing the finest calf we have on the place.'

<sup>31</sup> " 'Look, dear son,' his father said to him, 'you and I are very close, and everything I have is yours. <sup>32</sup> But it is right to celebrate. For he is your brother; and he was dead and has come back to life! He was lost and is found! "

16 JESUS NOW TOLD this story to his disciples: "A rich man hired an accountant to handle his affairs, but soon a rumor went around that the accountant was thoroughly dishonest.

<sup>2</sup> "So his employer called him in and said, 'What's this I hear about your stealing from me? Get your report in order, for you are to be dismissed.'

<sup>3</sup> "The accountant thought to himself, 'Now what? I'm through here, and I haven't the strength to go out and dig ditches, and I'm too proud to beg. 'I know just the thing! And then I'll have plenty of friends to take care of me when I leave!'

<sup>5,6</sup> "So he invited each one who owed money to his employer to come and discuss the situation. He asked the first one, 'How much do you owe him?' 'My debt is 850 gallons of olive oil,' the man replied. 'Yes, here is the contract you signed,' the accountant told him. 'Tear it up and write another one for half that much!'

<sup>7</sup> " 'And how much do you owe him?' he asked the next man. 'A thousand bushels of wheat,' was the reply.

" 'Here,' the accountant said, 'take your note and replace it with one for only 800 bushels!'

<sup>8</sup> "The rich man had to admire the rascal for being so shrewd.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>a</sup> Or, "Do you think the rich man commended the scoundrel for being so shrewd?"

And it is true that the citizens of this world are more clever [in dishonesty<sup>b</sup>] than the godly<sup>c</sup> are. <sup>9</sup> But shall I tell you to act that way, to buy friendship through cheating? Will this ensure your entry into an everlasting home in heaven?<sup>d</sup> <sup>10</sup> No!<sup>b</sup> For unless you are honest in small matters, you won't be in large ones. If you cheat even a little, you won't be honest with greater responsibilities. <sup>11</sup> And if you are untrustworthy about worldly wealth, who will trust you with the true riches of heaven? <sup>12</sup> And if you are not faithful with other people's money, why should you be entrusted with money of your own?

<sup>13</sup> "For neither you nor anyone else can serve two masters. You will hate one and show loyalty to the other, or else the other way around—you will be enthusiastic about one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and money."

<sup>15</sup> Then he said to them, "You wear a noble, pious expression in public, but God knows your evil hearts. Your pretense brings you honor from the people, but it is an abomination in the sight of God. <sup>16</sup> Until John the Baptist began to preach, the laws of Moses and the messages of the prophets were your guides. But John introduced the Good News that the Kingdom of God would come soon. And now eager multitudes are pressing in. <sup>17</sup> But that doesn't mean that the Law has lost its force in even the smallest point. It is as strong and unshakable as heaven and earth.

<sup>18</sup> "So anyone who divorces his wife and marries someone else commits adultery, and anyone who marries a divorced woman commits adultery."

<sup>19</sup> "There was a certain rich man," Jesus said, "who was splendidly clothed and lived each day in mirth and luxury. <sup>20</sup> One day Lazarus, a diseased beggar, was laid at his door. <sup>21</sup> As he lay there longing for scraps from the rich man's table, the dogs would come and lick his open sores. <sup>22</sup> Finally the beggar died and was carried by the angels to be with Abraham in the place of the righteous dead.<sup>e</sup> The rich man also died and was buried, <sup>23</sup> and his soul went into hell.<sup>f</sup> There, in torment, he saw Lazarus in the far distance with Abraham.

<sup>24</sup> "'Father Abraham,' he shouted, 'have some pity! Send Lazarus over here if only to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in anguish in these flames.'

<sup>25</sup> "But Abraham said to him, 'Son, remember that during your lifetime you had everything you wanted, and Lazarus had nothing. So now he is here being comforted and you are in anguish. <sup>26</sup> And besides, there is a great chasm separating us, and anyone wanting to come to you from here is stopped at its edge; and no one over there can cross to us.'

<sup>d</sup> Literally, and probably ironically, "Make to yourselves friends by means of the mammon of unrighteousness; that when it shall fail you, they may receive you into the eternal tabernacles!" Some commentators would interpret this to mean: "Use your money for good, so that it will be waiting to befriend you when you get to heaven." But this would imply the end justifies the means, an unbiblical idea. <sup>e</sup> Literally, "into Abraham's bosom."

<sup>27</sup> "Then the rich man said, 'O Father Abraham, then please send him to my father's home—' <sup>28</sup> for I have five brothers—to warn them about this place of torment lest they come here when they die.'

<sup>29</sup> "But Abraham said, 'The Scriptures have warned them again and again. Your brothers can read them any time they want to.'

<sup>30</sup> "The rich man replied, 'No, Father Abraham, they won't bother to read them. But if someone is sent to them from the dead, then they will turn from their sins.'

<sup>31</sup> "But Abraham said, 'If they won't listen to Moses and the prophets, they won't listen even though someone rises from the dead.'"<sup>g</sup>

17 "THERE WILL ALWAYS be temptations to sin," Jesus said one day to his disciples, "but woe to the man who does the tempting. <sup>2,3</sup> If he were thrown into the sea with a huge rock tied to his neck, he would be far better off than facing the punishment in store for those who harm these little children's souls. I am warning you!

"Rebuke your brother if he sins, and forgive him if he is sorry. <sup>4</sup> Even if he wrongs you seven times a day and each time turns again and asks forgiveness, forgive him."

<sup>5</sup> One day the apostles said to the Lord, "We need more faith; tell us how to get it."

<sup>6</sup> "If your faith were only the size of a mustard seed," Jesus answered, "it would be large enough to uproot that mulberry tree over there and send it hurtling into the sea! Your command would bring immediate results!" <sup>7,8,9</sup> When a servant comes in from plowing or taking care of sheep, he doesn't just sit down and eat, but first prepares his master's meal and serves him his supper before he eats his own. And he is not even thanked, for he is merely doing what he is supposed to do. <sup>10</sup> Just so, if you merely obey me, you should not consider yourselves worthy of praise. For you have simply done your duty!"

<sup>14</sup> He looked at them and said, "Go to the Jewish priest and show him that you are healed!" And as they were going, their leprosy disappeared.

<sup>17</sup> Jesus asked, "Didn't I heal ten men? Where are the nine?" <sup>18</sup> Does only this foreigner return to give glory to God?"

<sup>19</sup> And Jesus said to the man,

<sup>g</sup> Even Christ's resurrection failed to convince the Pharisees, to whom he gave this illustration. <sup>a</sup> Implied. Samaritans were despised by Jews as being only "half-breed" Hebrews.

"Stand up and go; your faith has made you well."

<sup>20</sup> One day the Pharisees asked Jesus, "When will the Kingdom of God begin?" Jesus replied, "The Kingdom of God isn't ushered in with visible signs. <sup>21</sup> You won't be able to say, 'It has begun here in this place or there in that part of the country.' For the Kingdom of God is within you."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Later he talked again about this with his disciples. "The time is coming when you will long for me<sup>c</sup> to be with you even for a single day, but I won't be here," he said. <sup>23</sup> "Reports will reach you that I have returned and that I am in this place or that; don't believe it or go out to look for me. <sup>24</sup> For when I return, you will know it beyond all doubt. It will be as evident as the lightning that flashes across the skies. <sup>25</sup> But first I must suffer terribly and be rejected by this whole nation.

<sup>26</sup> "[When I return<sup>d</sup>] the world will be [as indifferent to the things of God<sup>d</sup>] as the people were in Noah's day. <sup>27</sup> They ate and drank and married—everything just as usual right up to the day when Noah went into the ark and the flood came and destroyed them all.

<sup>28</sup> "And the world will be as it was in the days of Lot: people went about their daily business—eating and drinking, buying and selling, farming and building— <sup>29</sup> until the morning Lot left Sodom. Then fire and brimstone rained down from heaven and destroyed them all.

Jesus replied, "Where the body is, the vultures gather!"<sup>f</sup>

18 ONE DAY JESUS told his disciples a story to illustrate their need for constant prayer and to show them that they must keep praying until the answer comes.

<sup>1</sup> "There was a city judge," he said, "a very godless man who had great contempt for everyone.

<sup>2</sup> "A widow of that city came to him frequently to appeal for justice against a man who had harmed her. <sup>3</sup> The judge ignored her for a while, but eventually she got on his nerves.

"I fear neither God nor man," he said to himself, 'but this woman bothers me. I'm going to see that she gets justice, for she is wearing me out with her constant coming!'" evil judge can be worn down like that,<sup>7</sup> don't you think that God will surely give justice to his people who plead with him day and night?<sup>8</sup> Yes! He will answer them quickly! But the question is: When I, the Messiah,<sup>9</sup> return, how many will I find who have faith [and are praying<sup>b</sup>]?"

<sup>4</sup> Then the Lord said, "If even an

<sup>9</sup> Then he told this story to some who boasted of their virtue and scorned everyone else:

<sup>10</sup> "Two men went to the Temple to pray. One was a proud, self-righteous Pharisee, and the other a cheating tax collector. <sup>11</sup> The proud Pharisee 'prayed' this prayer: 'Thank God, I am not a sinner like everyone else, especially like that tax collector over there! For I never cheat, I don't commit adultery, <sup>12</sup> I go without food twice a week, and I give to God a tenth of everything I earn.'

<sup>13</sup> "But the corrupt tax collector stood at a distance and dared not even lift his eyes to heaven as he prayed, but beat upon his chest in sorrow, exclaiming, 'God, be merciful to me, a sinner.'<sup>14</sup> I tell you, this sinner, not the Pharisee, returned home forgiven! For the proud shall be humbled, but the humble shall be honored."

<sup>16,17</sup> Then Jesus called the children over to him and said to the disciples, "Let the little children come to me! Never send them away! For the Kingdom of God belongs to men who have hearts as trusting as these little children's. And anyone who doesn't have their kind of faith will never get within the Kingdom's gates."

<sup>18</sup> Once a Jewish religious leader asked him this question: "Good sir, what shall I do to get to heaven?"

<sup>19</sup> "Do you realize what you are saying when you call me 'good'?" Jesus asked him. "Only God is truly good, and no one else.

<sup>20</sup> "But as to your question, you know what the ten commandments say—don't commit adultery, don't murder, don't steal, don't lie, honor your parents, and so on." <sup>21</sup> The man replied, "I've obeyed every one of these laws since I was a small child."

<sup>22</sup> "There is still one thing you lack," Jesus said. "Sell all you have and give the money to the poor—it will become treasure for you in heaven—and come, follow me."

<sup>23</sup> But when the man heard this he went sadly away, for he was very rich.

<sup>24</sup> Jesus watched him go and then said to his disciples, "How hard it is for the rich to enter the Kingdom of God! <sup>25</sup> It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God."

<sup>26</sup> Those who heard him say this exclaimed, "If it is that hard, how can anyone be saved?"

<sup>29</sup> "Yes," Jesus replied, "and everyone who has done as you have, leaving home, wife, brothers, parents, or children for the sake of the Kingdom of God, <sup>30</sup> will be repaid many times over now, as well as receiving eternal life in the world to come."

<sup>31</sup> Gathering the Twelve around him he told them, "As you know, we are going to Jerusalem. And when we get there, all the predictions of the ancient prophets concerning me will come true. <sup>32</sup> I will be handed over to the Gentiles to be mocked and treated shamefully and spat upon, <sup>33</sup> and lashed and killed. And the third day I will rise again."

<sup>34</sup> But they didn't understand a thing he said. He seemed to be talking in riddles.

<sup>36</sup> When he heard the noise of a crowd going past, he asked what was happening. <sup>37</sup> He was told that Jesus from Nazareth was going by, <sup>38</sup> so he began shouting, "Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!"

<sup>39</sup> The crowds ahead of Jesus tried to hush the man, but he only yelled the louder, "Son of David, have mercy on me!"

<sup>40</sup> When Jesus arrived at the spot, he stopped. "Bring the blind man over here," he said. <sup>41</sup> Then Jesus asked the man, "What do you want?"

"Lord," he pleaded, "I want to see!"

<sup>42</sup> And Jesus said, "All right, begin seeing! Your faith has healed you."

<sup>43</sup> And instantly the man could see, and followed Jesus, praising

God. And all who saw it happen praised God too.

19 AS JESUS WAS passing through Jericho, a man named Zacchaeus, one of the most influential Jews in the Roman tax-collecting business (and, of course, a very rich man), <sup>1</sup> tried to get a look at Jesus, but he was too short to see over the crowds. <sup>2</sup> So he ran ahead and climbed into a sycamore tree beside the road, to watch from there.

<sup>3</sup> When Jesus came by he looked up at Zacchaeus and called him by name! "Zacchaeus!" he said. "Quick! Come down! For I am going to be a guest in your home today!"

<sup>4</sup> Zacchaeus hurriedly climbed down and took Jesus to his house in great excitement and joy.

<sup>5</sup> But the crowds were displeased. "He has gone to be the guest of a notorious sinner," they grumbled.

<sup>6</sup> Meanwhile, Zacchaeus stood before the Lord and said, "Sir, from now on I will give half my wealth to the poor, and if I find I have overcharged anyone on his taxes, I will penalize myself by giving him back four times as much!"

<sup>7,10</sup> Jesus told him, "This shows<sup>a</sup> that salvation has come to this home today. This man was one of the lost sons of Abraham, and I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> have come to search for and to save such souls as his."

<sup>11</sup> And because Jesus was nearing Jerusalem, he told a story to correct the impression that the Kingdom of God would begin right away.

<sup>12</sup> "A nobleman living in a certain province was called away to the distant capital of the empire to be crowned king of his province.

<sup>13</sup> Before he left he called together ten assistants and gave them each $2,000 to invest while he was gone.

<sup>14</sup> But some of his people hated him and sent him their declaration of independence, stating that they had rebelled and would not acknowledge him as their king.

<sup>15</sup> "Upon his return he called in the men to whom he had given the money, to find out what they had done with it, and what their profits were.

<sup>16</sup> "The first man reported a tremendous gain—ten times as much as the original amount!

<sup>17</sup> "'Fine!' the king exclaimed. 'You are a good man. You have been faithful with the little I entrusted to you, and as your reward, you shall be governor of ten cities.'

<sup>20</sup> "But the third man brought back only the money he had started with. 'I've kept it safe,' he said,

<sup>21</sup> 'because I was afraid [you would demand my profits<sup>c</sup>], for you are a hard man to deal with, taking what isn't yours and even confiscating the crops that others plant.' <sup>22</sup> 'You vile and wicked slave,' the king roared. 'Hard, am I? That's exactly how I'll be toward you! If you knew so much about me and how tough

I am,' then why didn't you deposit the money in the bank so that I could at least get some interest on it?"

<sup>24</sup> "Then turning to the others standing by he ordered, 'Take the money away from him and give it to the man who earned the most.'

<sup>25</sup> "'But, sir,' they said, 'he has enough already!'

<sup>26</sup> "'Yes,' the king replied, 'but it is always true that those who have, get more, and those who have little, soon lose even that. <sup>27</sup> And now about these enemies of mine who revolted—bring them in and execute them before me.'"

<sup>28</sup> After telling this story, Jesus went on towards Jerusalem, walking along ahead of his disciples. <sup>29</sup> As they came to the towns of Bethphage and Bethany, on the Mount of Olives, he sent two disciples ahead, <sup>30</sup> with instructions to go to the next village, and as they entered they were to look for a donkey tied beside the road. It would be a colt, not yet broken for riding.

"Untie him," Jesus said, "and bring him here. <sup>31</sup> And if anyone asks you what you are doing, just say, 'The Lord needs him.'"

<sup>32</sup> They found the colt as Jesus said, <sup>33</sup> and sure enough, as they were untying it, the owners demanded an explanation.

"What are you doing?" they asked. "Why are you untying our colt?"

<sup>34</sup> And the disciples simply replied, "The Lord needs him!" <sup>35</sup> So they brought the colt to Jesus and threw some of their clothing across its back for Jesus to sit on.

<sup>36,37</sup> Then the crowds spread out their robes along the road ahead of him, and as they reached the place where the road started down from the Mount of Olives, the whole procession began to shout and sing as they walked along, praising God for all the wonderful miracles Jesus had done.

<sup>38</sup> "God has given us a King!" they exulted. "Long live the King! Let all heaven rejoice! Glory to God in the highest heavens!"

<sup>39</sup> But some of the Pharisees among the crowd said, "Sir, rebuke your followers for saying things like that!"

<sup>40</sup> He replied, "If they keep quiet, the stones along the road will burst into cheers!"

<sup>41</sup> But as they came closer to Jerusalem and he saw the city ahead, he began to cry. <sup>42</sup> "Eternal peace was within your reach and you turned it down," he wept, "and now it is too late. <sup>43</sup> Your enemies will pile up earth against your walls and encircle you and close in on you, <sup>44</sup> and crush you to the ground, and your children within you; your enemies will not leave one stone upon another—for you have rejected the opportunity God offered you."

<sup>45</sup> Then he entered the Temple and began to drive out the merchants from their stalls, <sup>46</sup> saying to them, "The Scriptures declare, 'My Temple is a place of prayer; but you have turned it into a den of thieves.'" and other religious leaders and the business community<sup>d</sup> were trying to find some way to get rid of him. <sup>48</sup> But they could think of nothing, for he was a hero to the people—they hung on every word he said.

20 ON ONE OF those days when he was teaching and preaching the Good News in the Temple, he was confronted by the chief priests and other religious leaders and councilmen. <sup>2</sup> They demanded to know by what authority he had driven out the merchants from the Temple.

<sup>3</sup> "I'll ask you a question before I answer," he replied. <sup>4</sup> "Was John sent by God, or was he merely acting under his own authority?"

<sup>5</sup> They talked it over among themselves. "If we say his message was from heaven, then we are trapped because he will ask, 'Then why didn't you believe him?'" <sup>6</sup> But if we say John was not sent from God, the people will mob us, for they are convinced that he was a prophet." <sup>7</sup> Finally they replied, "We don't know!"

<sup>9</sup> Now he turned to the people again and told them this story: "A man planted a vineyard and rented it out to some farmers, and went away to a distant land to live for several years. <sup>10</sup> When harvest time came, he sent one of his men to the farm to collect his share of the crops. But the tenants beat him up and sent him back empty-handed. <sup>11</sup> Then he sent another, but the same thing happened; he was beaten up and insulted and sent away without collecting. <sup>12</sup> A third man was sent and the same thing happened. He, too, was wounded and chased away.

<sup>13</sup> "What shall I do?" the owner asked himself. 'I know! I'll send my cherished son. Surely they will show respect for him.'

<sup>14</sup> "But when the tenants saw his son, they said, 'This is our chance! This fellow will inherit all the land when his father dies. Come on. Let's kill him, and then it will be ours.' " So they dragged him out of the vineyard and killed him.

"What do you think the owner will do? <sup>16</sup> I'll tell you—he will come and kill them and rent the vineyard to others."

"But they would never do a thing like that," his listeners protested.

<sup>17</sup> Jesus looked at them and said, "Then what does the Scripture mean where it says, 'The Stone rejected by the builders was made the cornerstone?'" <sup>18</sup> And he added, "Whoever stumbles over that Stone shall be broken; and those on whom it falls will be crushed to dust."

<sup>19</sup> When the chief priests and religious leaders heard about this story he had told, they wanted him arrested immediately, for they realized that he was talking about them. They were the wicked tenants in his illustration. But they were afraid that if they themselves arrested him there would be a riot. So they tried to get him to say something that could be reported to the Roman governor as reason for arrest by him.

to be honest men. <sup>21</sup> They said to Jesus, "Sir, we know what an honest teacher you are. You always tell the truth and don't budge an inch in the face of what others think, but teach the ways of God. <sup>22</sup> Now tell us—is it right to pay taxes to the Roman government or not?"

<sup>23</sup> He saw through their trickery and said, <sup>24</sup> "Show me a coin. Whose portrait is this on it? And whose name?"

They replied, "Caesar's—the Roman emperor's."

<sup>25</sup> He said, "Then give the emperor all that is his—and give to God all that is his!"

<sup>26</sup> Thus their attempt to outwit him before the people failed; and marveling at his answer, they were silent.

<sup>27</sup> Then some Sadducees—men who believed that death is the end of existence, that there is no resurrection—<sup>28</sup> came to Jesus with this:

"The laws of Moses state that if a man dies without children, the man's brother shall marry the widow and their children will legally belong to the dead man, to carry on his name. <sup>29</sup> We know of a family of seven brothers. The oldest married and then died without any children. <sup>30</sup> His brother married the widow and he, too, died. Still no children. <sup>31</sup> And so it went, one after the other, until each of the seven had married her and died, leaving no children. <sup>32</sup> Finally the woman died also. <sup>33</sup> Now here is our question: Whose wife will she be in the resurrection? For all of them were married to her!"

<sup>34,35</sup> Jesus replied, "Marriage is for people here on earth, but when those who are counted worthy of being raised from the dead get to heaven, they do not marry.<sup>36</sup> And they never die again; in these respects they are like angels, and are sons of God, for they are raised up in new life from the dead.

<sup>37,38</sup> "But as to your real question—whether or not there is a resurrection—why, even the writings of Moses himself prove this. For when he describes how God appeared to him in the burning bush, he speaks of God as 'the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.' To say that the Lord is<sup>a</sup> some person's God means that person is alive, not dead! So from God's point of view, all men are living."

<sup>39</sup> "Well said, sir!" remarked some of the experts in the Jewish law who were standing there. <sup>40</sup> And that ended their questions, for they dared ask no more!

"Then he presented them with a question. "Why is it," he asked, "that Christ, the Messiah, is said to be a descendant of King David?" <sup>42,43</sup> For David himself wrote in the book of Psalms: 'God said to my Lord, the Messiah, "Sit at my right hand until I place your enemies beneath your feet."' <sup>44</sup> "How can the Messiah be both David's son and David's God at the same time?"

"Then, with the crowds listening, he turned to his disciples and said, <sup>46</sup> "Beware of these experts in religion, for they love to parade in dignified robes and to be bowed to by the people as they walk along the street. And how they love the seats of honor in the synagogues and at religious festivals! <sup>47</sup> But even while they are praying long prayers with great outward piety, they are planning schemes to cheat widows out of their property. Therefore God's heaviest sentence awaits these men."

21 AS HE STOOD in the Temple, he was watching the rich tossing their gifts into the collection box. <sup>2</sup> Then a poor widow came by and dropped in two small copper coins.

<sup>3</sup> "Really," he remarked, "this poor widow has given more than all the rest of them combined. <sup>4</sup> For they have given a little of what they didn't need, but she, poor as she is, has given everything she has."

<sup>5</sup> Some of his disciples began talking about the beautiful stonework of the Temple and the memorial decorations on the walls.

<sup>6</sup> But Jesus said, "The time is coming when all these things you are admiring will be knocked down, and not one stone will be left on top of another; all will become one vast heap of rubble."

<sup>7</sup> "Master!" they exclaimed. "When? And will there be any warning ahead of time?"

<sup>8</sup> He replied, "Don't let anyone mislead you. For many will come announcing themselves as the Messiah,<sup>a</sup> and saying, 'The time has come.' But don't believe them! <sup>9</sup> And when you hear of wars and insurrections beginning, don't panic. True, wars must come, but the end won't follow immediately—<sup>10</sup> for nation shall rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom,<sup>11</sup> and there will be great earthquakes, and famines in many lands, and epidemics, and terrifying things happening in the heavens.

<sup>12</sup> "But before all this occurs, there will be a time of special persecution, and you will be dragged into synagogues and prisons and before kings and governors for my Name's sake. <sup>13</sup> But as a result, the Messiah will be widely known and honored.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>14</sup> Therefore, don't be concerned about how to answer the charges against you, <sup>15</sup> for I will give you the right words and such logic that none of your opponents will be able to reply! <sup>16</sup> Even those closest to you—your parents, brothers, relatives, and friends will betray you and have you arrested; and some of you will be killed. <sup>17</sup> And everyone will hate you because you are mine and are called by my Name. <sup>18</sup> But not a hair of your head will perish! <sup>19</sup> For if you stand firm, you will win your souls.

<sup>20</sup> "But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then you will know that the time of its destruction has arrived. <sup>21</sup> Then let the people of Judea flee to the hills. Let those in Jerusalem try to escape, and those outside the city must not attempt to return. <sup>22</sup> For those will be days of God's judgment,<sup>c</sup> and the words of the ancient Scriptures written by the prophets will be abundantly fulfilled. <sup>23</sup> Woe to expectant mothers in those days, and those with tiny babies. For there will be great distress upon this nation<sup>d</sup> and wrath upon this people. <sup>24</sup> They will be brutally killed by enemy weapons, or sent away as exiles and captives to all the nations of the world; and Jerusalem shall be conquered and trampled down by the Gentiles until the period of Gentile triumph ends in God's good time.

<sup>25</sup> "Then there will be strange events in the skies—warnings, evil omens and portents in the sun, moon and stars; and down here on earth the nations will be in turmoil, perplexed by the roaring seas and strange tides. <sup>26</sup> The courage of many people will falter because of the fearful fate they see coming upon the earth, for the stability of the very heavens will be broken up. <sup>27</sup> Then the peoples of the earth shall see me,<sup>e</sup> the Messiah, coming in a cloud with power and great glory. <sup>28</sup> So when all these things begin to happen, stand straight and look up! For your salvation is near."

<sup>29</sup> Then he gave them this illustration: "Notice the fig tree, or any other tree, <sup>30</sup> When the leaves come out, you know without being told that summer is near. <sup>31</sup> In the same way, when you see the events taking place that I've described you can be just as sure that the Kingdom of God is near.

<sup>32</sup> "I solemnly declare to you that when these things happen, the end of this age<sup>f</sup> has come. <sup>33</sup> And though all heaven and earth shall pass away, yet my words remain forever true.

<sup>34,35</sup> "Watch out! Don't let my sudden coming catch you unawares; don't let me find you living in careless ease, carousing and drinking, and occupied with the problems of this life, like all the rest of the world. <sup>36</sup> Keep a constant watch. And pray that if possible you may arrive in my presence without having to experience these horrors."<sup>g</sup>

<sup>37,38</sup> Every day Jesus went to the Temple to teach, and the crowds began gathering early in the morning to hear him. And each evening he returned to spend the night on the Mount of Olives.

22 AND NOW THE Passover celebration was drawing near—the Jewish festival when only bread made without yeast was used. <sup>2</sup> The chief priests and other religious leaders were actively plotting Jesus' murder, trying to find a way to kill him without starting a riot—a possibility they greatly feared.

<sup>3</sup> Then Satan entered into Judas Iscariot, who was one of the twelve disciples, <sup>4</sup> and he went over to the chief priests and captains of the Temple guards to discuss the best way to betray Jesus to them. <sup>5</sup> They were, of course, delighted to know that he was ready to help them and promised him a reward. <sup>6</sup> So he began to look for an opportunity for them to arrest Jesus quietly when the crowds weren't around.

Peter and John ahead to find a place to prepare their Passover meal.

<sup>9</sup> "Where do you want us to go?" they asked.

<sup>10</sup> And he replied, "As soon as you enter Jerusalem,<sup>a</sup> you will see a man walking along carrying a pitcher of water. Follow him into the house he enters, <sup>11</sup> and say to the man who lives there, 'Our Teacher says for you to show us the guest room where he can eat the Passover meal with his disciples.' <sup>12</sup> He will take you upstairs to a large room all ready for us. That is the place. Go ahead and prepare the meal there."

<sup>13</sup> They went off to the city and found everything just as Jesus had said, and prepared the Passover supper.

<sup>14</sup> Then Jesus and the others arrived, and at the proper time all sat down together at the table; <sup>15</sup> and he said, "I have looked forward to this hour with deep longing, anxious to eat this Passover meal with you before my suffering begins. <sup>16</sup> For I tell you now that I won't eat it again until what it represents has occurred in the Kingdom of God."

<sup>17</sup> Then he took a glass of wine, and when he had given thanks for it, he said, "Take this and share it among yourselves. <sup>18</sup> For I will not drink wine again until the Kingdom of God has come."

<sup>19</sup> Then he took a loaf of bread; and when he had thanked God for it, he broke it apart and gave it to them, saying, "This is my body, given for you. Eat it in remembrance of me."

<sup>20</sup> After supper he gave them another glass of wine, saying, "This wine is the token of God's new agreement to save you—an agreement sealed with the blood I shall pour out to purchase back your souls.<sup>b</sup> <sup>21</sup> But here at this table, sitting among us as a friend, is the man who will betray me. <sup>22</sup> I must die. It is part of God's plan. But, oh, the horror awaiting that man who betrays me."

<sup>31</sup> "Simon, Simon, Satan has asked to have you, to sift you like wheat, <sup>32</sup> but I have pleaded in prayer for you that your faith should not completely fail.<sup>g</sup> So when you have repented and turned to me again, strengthen and build up the faith of your brothers."

<sup>33</sup> Simon said, "Lord, I am ready to go to jail with you, and even to die with you."

<sup>34</sup> But Jesus said, "Peter, let me tell you something. Between now and tomorrow morning when the rooster crows, you will deny me three times, declaring that you don't even know me."

<sup>35</sup> Then Jesus asked them, "When I sent you out to preach the Good News and you were without money, duffle bag, or extra clothing, how did you get along?"

"Fine," they replied.

<sup>36</sup> "But now," he said, "take a duffle bag if you have one, and your money. And if you don't have a sword, better sell your clothes and buy one! <sup>37</sup> For the time has come for this prophecy about me to come true: 'He will be condemned as a criminal!' Yes, everything written about me by the prophets will come true."

<sup>38</sup> "Master," they replied, "we have two swords among us."

"Enough!" he said.

<sup>41,42</sup> He walked away, perhaps a stone's throw, and knelt down and prayed this prayer: "Father, if you are willing, please take away this cup of horror from me. But I want your will, not mine." <sup>41</sup> Then an angel from heaven appeared and strengthened him, <sup>42</sup> for he was in such agony of spirit that he broke into a sweat of blood, with great drops falling to the ground as he prayed more and more earnestly. <sup>43</sup> At last he stood up again and returned to the disciples—only to find them asleep, exhausted from grief.

<sup>44</sup> "Asleep!" he said. "Get up! Pray God that you will not fall when you are tempted."

<sup>45</sup> But even as he said this, a mob approached, led by Judas, one of his twelve disciples. Judas walked over to Jesus and kissed him on the cheek in friendly greeting.<sup>i</sup>

<sup>46</sup> But Jesus said, "Judas, how can you do this—betray the Messiah with a kiss?"

<sup>49</sup> But Jesus said, "Don't resist any more." And he touched the place where the man's ear had been and restored it. <sup>50</sup> Then Jesus addressed the chief priests and captains of the Temple guards and the religious leaders who headed the mob. "Am I a robber," he asked, "that you have come armed with swords and clubs to get me?" <sup>51</sup> Why didn't you arrest me in the Temple? I was there every day. But this is your moment—the time when Satan's power reigns supreme."

<sup>54</sup> A servant girl noticed him in the firelight and began staring at him. Finally she spoke: "This man was with Jesus!"

<sup>55</sup> Peter denied it. "Woman," he said, "I don't even know the man!"

<sup>56</sup> After a while someone else looked at him and said, "You must be one of them!"

"No sir, I am not!" Peter replied.

<sup>57</sup> About an hour later someone else flatly stated, "I know this fellow is one of Jesus' disciples, for both are from Galilee."

<sup>58</sup> But Peter said, "Man, I don't know what you are talking about." And as he said the words, a rooster crowed.

<sup>59</sup> At that moment Jesus turned and looked at Peter. Then Peter remembered what he had said—"Before the rooster crows tomorrow morning, you will deny me three times." <sup>60</sup> And Peter walked out of the courtyard, crying bitterly.

<sup>61,62</sup> Now the guards in charge of Jesus began mocking him. They blindfolded him and hit him with their fists and asked, "Who hit you that time, prophet?" <sup>63</sup> And they threw all sorts of other insults at him.

<sup>64</sup> Early the next morning at daybreak the Jewish Supreme Court assembled, including the chief priests and all the top religious authorities of the nation. Jesus was led before this Council, <sup>67,68</sup> and instructed to state whether or not he claimed to be the Messiah.

But he replied, "If I tell you, you won't believe me or let me present my case. <sup>69</sup> But the time is soon coming when I, the Messiah, <sup>j</sup> shall be enthroned beside Almighty God."

<sup>70</sup> They all shouted, "Then you claim you are the Son of God?"

And he replied, "Yes, I am."

<sup>71</sup> "What need do we have for other witnesses?" they shouted. "For we ourselves have heard him say it."

23 THEN THE ENTIRE Council took Jesus over to Pilate, the governor. <sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> They began at once accusing him: "This fellow has been leading our people to ruin by telling them not to pay their taxes to the Roman government and by claiming he is our Messiah—a King."

"Yes," Jesus replied, "it is as you say."

<sup>4</sup> Then Pilate turned to the chief priests and to the mob and said, "So? That isn't a crime!"

<sup>5</sup> Then they became desperate. "But he is causing riots against the government everywhere he goes, all over Judea, from Galilee to Jerusalem!"

<sup>6</sup> "Is he then a Galilean?" Pilate asked.

<sup>7</sup> When they told him yes, Pilate said to take him to King Herod, for Galilee was under Herod's jurisdiction; and Herod happened to be in Jerusalem at the time. <sup>8</sup> Herod was delighted at the opportunity to see Jesus, for he had heard a lot about him and had been hoping to see him perform a miracle.

<sup>9</sup> He asked Jesus question after question, but there was no reply.

<sup>10</sup> Meanwhile, the chief priests and the other religious leaders stood there shouting their accusations.

<sup>11</sup> Now Herod and his soldiers began mocking and ridiculing Jesus; and putting a kingly robe on him, they sent him back to Pilate.

<sup>13</sup> Then Pilate called together the chief priests and other Jewish leaders, along with the people, <sup>14</sup> and announced his verdict:

"You brought this man to me, accusing him of leading a revolt against the Roman government. <sup>c</sup> I have examined him thoroughly on this point and find him innocent. <sup>15</sup> Herod came to the same conclusion and sent him back to us—nothing this man has done calls for the death penalty. <sup>16</sup> I will therefore have him scourged with leaded thongs, and release him."

late argued with them, for he wanted to release Jesus. <sup>21</sup> But they shouted, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

<sup>22</sup> Once more, for the third time, he demanded, "Why? What crime has he committed? I have found no reason to sentence him to death. I will therefore scourge him and let him go." <sup>23</sup> But they shouted louder and louder for Jesus' death, and their voices prevailed.

<sup>24</sup> So Pilate sentenced Jesus to die as they demanded. <sup>25</sup> And he released Barabbas, the man in prison for insurrection and murder, at their request. But he delivered Jesus over to them to do with as they would.

<sup>26</sup> As the crowd led Jesus away to his death, Simon of Cyrene, who was just coming into Jerusalem from the country, was forced to follow, carrying Jesus' cross. <sup>27</sup> Great crowds trailed along behind, and many grief-stricken women. <sup>28</sup> But Jesus turned and said to them, "Daughters of Jerusalem, don't weep for me, but for yourselves and for your children. <sup>29</sup> For the days are coming when the women who have no children will be counted fortunate indeed. <sup>30</sup> Mankind will beg the mountains to fall on them and crush them, and the hills to bury them. <sup>31</sup> For if such things as this are done to me, the Living Tree, what will they do to you?"<sup>e</sup>

<sup>32,33</sup> Two others, criminals, were led out to be executed with him at a place called "The Skull." There all three were crucified—Jesus on the center cross, and the two criminals on either side.

<sup>34</sup> "Father, forgive these people," Jesus said, "for they don't know what they are doing."

And the soldiers gambled for his clothing, throwing dice for each piece. <sup>35</sup> The crowd watched. And the Jewish leaders laughed and scoffed. "He was so good at helping others," they said, "let's see him save himself if he is really God's Chosen One, the Messiah."

<sup>40,41</sup> But the other criminal protested. "Don't you even fear God when you are dying? We deserve to die for our evil deeds, but this man hasn't done one thing wrong." <sup>42</sup> Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your Kingdom."

<sup>43</sup> And Jesus replied, "Today you will be with me in Paradise. This is a solemn promise."

<sup>e</sup> Literally, "For if they do this when the tree is green, what will happen when it is dry?"
<sup>f</sup> Or, "the whole world." <sup>g</sup> Implied.

I commit my spirit to you," and with those words he died.<sup>h</sup>

<sup>4</sup> When the captain of the Roman military unit handling the executions saw what had happened, he was stricken with awe before God and said, "Surely this man was innocent."<sup>i</sup>

<sup>4</sup> And when the crowd that came to see the crucifixion saw that Jesus was dead, they went home in deep sorrow. <sup>4</sup> Meanwhile, Jesus' friends, including the women who had followed him down from Galilee, stood in the distance watching.

<sup>50,51,52</sup> Then a man named Joseph, a member of the Jewish Supreme Court, from the city of Arimathea in Judea, went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. He was a godly man who had been expecting the Messiah's coming and had not agreed with the decision and actions of the other Jewish leaders. <sup>51</sup> So he took down Jesus' body and wrapped it in a long linen cloth and laid it in a new, unused tomb hewn into the rock [at the side of a hill]. <sup>54</sup> This was done late on Friday afternoon, the day of preparation for the Sabbath.

<sup>55</sup> As the body was taken away, the women from Galilee followed and saw it carried into the tomb. <sup>56</sup> Then they went home and prepared spices and ointments to embalm him; but by the time they were finished it was the Sabbath; so they rested all that day as required by the Jewish law.

24 BUT VERY EARLY on Sunday morning they took the ointments to the tomb—<sup>2</sup> and found that the huge stone covering the entrance had been rolled aside. <sup>3</sup> So they went in—but the Lord Jesus' body was gone.

<sup>4</sup> They stood there puzzled, trying to think what could have happened to it. Suddenly two men appeared before them, clothed in shining robes so bright their eyes were dazzled. <sup>5</sup> The women were terrified and bowed low before them.

Then the men asked, "Why are you looking in a tomb for someone who is alive? <sup>6,7</sup> He isn't here! He has come back to life again! Don't you remember what he told you back in Galilee—that the Messiah<sup>a</sup> must be betrayed into the power of evil men and be crucified and that he would rise again the third day?"

<sup>8</sup> Then they remembered, <sup>9</sup> and rushed back to Jerusalem<sup>b</sup> to tell his eleven disciples—and everyone else—what had happened. <sup>10</sup> (The women who went to the tomb were Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary the mother of James, and several others.) <sup>11</sup> But the story sounded like a fairy tale to the men—they didn't believe it.

<sup>12</sup> However, Peter ran to the tomb to look. Stooping, he peered in and saw the empty linen wrappings; and then he went back home again, wondering what had happened.

<sup>13</sup> That same day, Sunday, two of Jesus' followers were walking to the village of Emmaus, seven miles out of Jerusalem. <sup>14</sup> As they walked along they were talking of Jesus' death,<sup>15</sup> when suddenly Jesus himself came along and joined them and began walking beside them.<sup>16</sup> But they didn't recognize him, for God kept them from it.

<sup>17</sup> "You seem to be in a deep discussion about something," he said. "What are you so concerned about?" They stopped short, sadness written across their faces.<sup>18</sup> And one of them, Cleopas, replied, "You must be the only person in Jerusalem who hasn't heard about the terrible things that happened there last week."<sup>19</sup>

<sup>19</sup> "What things?" Jesus asked. "The things that happened to Jesus, the Man from Nazareth," they said. "He was a Prophet who did incredible miracles and was a mighty Teacher, highly regarded by both God and man."<sup>20</sup> But the chief priests and our religious leaders arrested him and handed him over to the Roman government to be condemned to death, and they crucified him.<sup>21</sup> We had thought he was the glorious Messiah and that he had come to rescue Israel.

"And now, besides all this—which happened three days ago—<sup>22,23</sup> some women from our group of his followers were at his tomb early this morning and came back with an amazing report that his body was missing, and that they had seen some angels there who told them Jesus is alive!"<sup>24</sup> Some of our men ran out to see, and sure enough, Jesus' body was gone, just as the women had said."

<sup>25</sup> Then Jesus said to them, "You are such foolish, foolish people! You find it so hard to believe all that the prophets wrote in the Scriptures!"<sup>26</sup> Wasn't it clearly predicted by the prophets that the Messiah would have to suffer all these things before entering his time of glory?"

<sup>27</sup> Then Jesus quoted them passage after passage from the writings of the prophets, beginning with the book of Genesis and going right on through the Scriptures, explaining what the passages meant and what they said about himself.

<sup>28</sup> By this time they were nearing Emmaus and the end of their journey. Jesus would have gone on,<sup>29</sup> but they begged him to stay the night with them, as it was getting late. So he went home with them.<sup>30</sup> As they sat down to eat, he asked God's blessing on the food and then took a small loaf of bread and broke it and was passing it over to them,<sup>31</sup> when suddenly—it was as though their eyes were opened—they recognized him! And at that moment he disappeared!

<sup>32</sup> They began telling each other how their hearts had felt strangely warm as he talked with them and explained the Scriptures during the walk down the road.<sup>33,34</sup> Within the hour they were on their way back to Jerusalem, where the eleven disciples and the other followers of Jesus greeted them with these words, "The Lord has really risen! He appeared to Peter!"

<sup>35</sup> Then the two from Emmaus told their story of how Jesus had appeared to them as they were walking along the road and how they had recognized him as he was breaking the bread.<sup>36</sup> And just as they were telling about it, Jesus himself was suddenly standing there among them, and greeted them.<sup>37</sup> But the whole group was terribly frightened, thinking they were seeing a ghost!

<sup>38</sup> "Why are you frightened?" he asked. "Why do you doubt that it is really I?" Look at my hands! Look at my feet! You can see that it is I, myself! Touch me and make sure that I am not a ghost! For ghosts don't have bodies, as you see that I do!"<sup>39</sup> As he spoke, he held out his hands for them to see [the marks of the nails<sup>d</sup>], and showed them [the wounds in<sup>d</sup>] his feet.

"Still they stood there undecided, filled with joy and doubt.

Then he asked them, "Do you have anything here to eat?"

<sup>42</sup> They gave him a piece of broiled fish,<sup>41</sup> and he ate it as they watched!

"Then he said, "When I was with you before, don't you remember my telling you that everything written about me by Moses and the prophets and in the Psalms must all come true?"<sup>43</sup> Then he opened their minds to understand at last these many Scriptures!<sup>46</sup> And he said, "Yes, it was written long ago that the Messiah must suffer and die and rise again from the dead on the third day;<sup>47</sup> and that this message of salvation should be taken from Jerusalem to all the nations: There is forgiveness of sins for all who turn to me."<sup>48</sup> You have seen these prophecies come true.

<sup>49</sup> "And now I will send the Holy Spirit<sup>e</sup> upon you, just as my Father promised. Don't begin telling others<sup>f</sup> yet—stay here in the city until the Holy Spirit comes and fills you with power from heaven."

<sup>50</sup> Then Jesus led them out along the road<sup>g</sup> to Bethany, and lifting his hands to heaven, he blessed them,<sup>51</sup> and then began rising into the sky, and went on to heaven.<sup>52</sup> And they worshiped him, and returned to Jerusalem filled with mighty joy,<sup>53</sup> and were continually in the Temple, praising God.

JOHN

1 BEFORE ANYTHING ELSE existed,<sup>a</sup> there was Christ,<sup>b</sup> with God. He has always<sup>a</sup> been alive and is himself God.<sup>3</sup> He created everything there is—nothing exists that he didn't make.<sup>4</sup> Eternal life is in him, and this life gives light to all mankind.<sup>5</sup> His life is the light that shines through the darkness—and the darkness can never extinguish it.

<sup>g</sup> Implied. Bethany was a mile or so away, across the valley on the Mount of Olives.

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "In the beginning." <sup>b</sup> Literally, "the Word," meaning Christ, the wisdom and power of God and the first cause of all things; God's personal expression of himself to men.

a witness to the fact that Jesus Christ is the true Light.<sup>8</sup> John himself was not the Light; he was only a witness to identify it.<sup>9</sup> Later on, the one who is the true Light arrived to shine on everyone coming into the world.

<sup>10</sup> But although he made the world, the world didn't recognize him when he came.<sup>11,12</sup> Even in his own land and among his own people, the Jews, he was not accepted. Only a few would welcome and receive him. But to all who received him, he gave the right to become children of God. All they needed to do was to trust him to save them.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>15</sup> John pointed him out to the people, telling the crowds, "This is the one I was talking about when I said, 'Someone is coming who is greater by far than I am—for he existed long before I did!'" <sup>16</sup> We have all benefited from the rich blessings he brought to us—blessing upon blessing heaped upon us! <sup>17</sup> For Moses gave us only the Law with its rigid demands and merciless justice, while Jesus Christ brought us loving forgiveness as well. <sup>18</sup> No one has ever actually seen God, but, of course, his only Son has, for he is the companion of the Father and has told us all about him.

<sup>19</sup> The Jewish leaders<sup>i</sup> sent priests and assistant priests from Jerusalem to ask John whether he claimed to be the Messiah.

<sup>20</sup> He denied it flatly. "I am not the Christ," he said.

<sup>21</sup> "Well then, who are you?" they asked. "Are you Elijah?"

"No," he replied.

"Are you the Prophet?"<sup>j</sup>

"No."

<sup>22</sup> "Then who are you? Tell us, so we can give an answer to those who sent us. What do you have to say for yourself?"

<sup>23</sup> He replied, "I am a voice from the barren wilderness, shouting as Isaiah prophesied, 'Get ready for the coming of the Lord!'"

<sup>24,25</sup> Then those who were sent by the Pharisees asked him, "If you aren't the Messiah or Elijah or the Prophet, what right do you have to baptize?"

<sup>28</sup> This incident took place at Bethany, a village on the other side of the Jordan River where John was baptizing.

<sup>29</sup> The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, "Look! There is the Lamb of God who takes away the world's sin!

k Or, "in."

<sup>30</sup> He is the one I was talking about when I said, 'Soon a man far greater than I am is coming, who existed long before me!' <sup>31</sup> I didn't know he was the one, but I am here baptizing with<sup>l</sup> water in order to point him out to the nation of Israel."

<sup>32</sup> Then John told about seeing the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove descending from heaven and resting upon Jesus.

<sup>33</sup> "I didn't know he was the one," John said again, "but at the time God sent me to baptize he told me, 'When you see the Holy Spirit descending and resting upon someone—he is the one you are looking for. He is the one who baptizes with<sup>l</sup> the Holy Spirit.' " I saw it happen to this man, and I therefore testify that he is the Son of God."

<sup>37</sup> Jesus looked around and saw them following. "What do you want?" he asked them.

"Sir," they replied, "where do you live?"

<sup>38</sup> "Come and see," he said. So they went with him to the place where he was staying and were with him from about four o'clock that afternoon until the evening. <sup>39</sup> (One of these men was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother.)

<sup>40</sup> Andrew then went to find his brother Peter and told him, "We have found the Messiah!" <sup>41</sup> And he brought Peter to meet Jesus.

Jesus looked intently at Peter for a moment and then said, "You are Simon, John's son—but you shall be called Peter, the rock!"

<sup>42</sup> The next day Jesus decided to go to Galilee. He found Philip and told him, "Come with me." (Philip was from Bethsaida, Andrew and Peter's home town.)

<sup>43</sup> Philip now went off to look for Nathanael and told him, "We have found the Messiah!—the very person Moses and the prophets told about! His name is Jesus, the son of Joseph from Nazareth!"

<sup>44</sup> "Nazareth!" exclaimed Nathanael. "Can anything good come from there?"

"Just come and see for yourself," Philip declared.

<sup>45</sup> As they approached, Jesus said, "Here comes an honest man—a true son of Israel."

And Jesus replied, "I could see you under the fig tree before Philip found you."

<sup>47</sup> Nathanael replied, "Sir, you are the Son of God—the King of Israel!"

<sup>48</sup> Jesus asked him, "Do you believe all this just because I told you I had seen you under the fig tree? You will see greater proofs than this. <sup>49</sup> You will even see heaven open and the angels of God coming back and forth to me, the Messiah."<sup>m</sup>

2 TWO DAYS LATER Jesus' mother was a guest at a wedding in the village of Cana in Galilee.

lee, <sup>2</sup> and Jesus and his disciples were invited too. <sup>3</sup> The wine supply ran out during the festivities, and Jesus' mother came to him with the problem.

<sup>4</sup> "I can't help you now," he said. <sup>5</sup> "It isn't yet my time for miracles."

<sup>7</sup> Six stone waterpots were standing there; they were used for Jewish ceremonial purposes and held perhaps twenty to thirty gallons each. <sup>8</sup> Then Jesus told the servants to fill them to the brim with water. When this was done he said, "Dip some out and take it to the master of ceremonies."

<sup>9</sup> When the master of ceremonies tasted the water that was now wine, not knowing where it had come from (though, of course, the servants did), he called the bridegroom over.

<sup>10</sup> "This is wonderful stuff!" he said. "You're different from most. Usually a host uses the best wine first, and afterwards, when everyone is full and doesn't care, then he brings out the less expensive brands. But you have kept the best for the last!"

<sup>13</sup> Then it was time for the annual Jewish Passover celebration, and Jesus went to Jerusalem.

<sup>14</sup> In the Temple area he saw merchants selling cattle, sheep, and doves for sacrifices, and money changers behind their counters.

<sup>15</sup> Jesus made a whip from some ropes and chased them all out, and drove out the sheep and oxen, scattering the money changers' coins over the floor and turning over their tables! <sup>16</sup> Then, going over to the men selling doves, he told them, "Get these things out of here. Don't turn my Father's House into a market!"

<sup>19</sup> "All right," Jesus replied, "this is the miracle I will do for you: Destroy this sanctuary and in three days I will raise it up!"

<sup>20</sup> "What!" they exclaimed. "It took forty-six years to build this Temple, and you can do it in three days?" <sup>21</sup> But by "this sanctuary" he meant his body. <sup>22</sup> After he came back to life again, the disciples remembered his saying this and realized that what he had quoted from the Scriptures really did refer to him, and had all come true!

<sup>23</sup> Because of the miracles he did in Jerusalem at the Passover celebration, many people were convinced that he was indeed the Messiah. <sup>24,25</sup> But Jesus didn't trust them, for he knew mankind to the core. No one needed to tell him how changeable human nature is!

3 AFTER DARK ONE night a Jewish religious leader named Nicodemus, a member of the sect of the Pharisees, came for an interview with Jesus. "Sir," he said, "we all know that God has sent you to teach us. Your miracles are proof enough of this."

<sup>1</sup> Jesus replied, "With all the earnestness I possess I tell you this: Unless you are born again, you can never get into the Kingdom of God."

<sup>5</sup> Jesus replied, "What I am telling you so earnestly is this: Unless one is born of water<sup>a</sup> and the Spirit, he cannot enter the Kingdom of God. <sup>6</sup> Men can only reproduce human life, but the Holy Spirit gives new life from heaven; <sup>7</sup> so don't be surprised at my statement that you must be born again! <sup>8</sup> Just as you can hear the wind but can't tell where it comes from or where it will go next, so it is with the Spirit. We do not know on whom he will next bestow this life from heaven."

<sup>10,11</sup> Jesus replied, "You, a respected Jewish teacher, and yet you don't understand these things? I am telling you what I know and have seen—and yet you won't believe me. <sup>12</sup> But if you don't even believe me when I tell you about such things as these that happen here among men, how can you possibly believe if I tell you what is going on in heaven? <sup>13</sup> For only I, the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> have come to earth and will return to heaven again. <sup>14</sup> And as Moses in the wilderness lifted up the bronze image of a serpent on a pole, even so I must be lifted up upon a pole, <sup>15</sup> so that anyone who believes in me will have eternal life. <sup>16</sup> For God loved the world so much that he gave his only<sup>c</sup> Son so that anyone who believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life. <sup>17</sup> God did not send his Son into the world to condemn it, but to save it.

<sup>18</sup> "There is no eternal doom awaiting those who trust him to save them. But those who don't trust him have already been tried and condemned for not believing in the only<sup>c</sup> Son of God. <sup>19</sup> Their sentence is based on this fact: that the Light from heaven came into the world, but they loved the darkness more than the Light, for their deeds were evil. <sup>20</sup> They hated the heavenly Light because they wanted to sin in the darkness. They stayed away from that Light for fear their sins would be exposed and they would be punished. <sup>21</sup> But those doing right come gladly to the Light to let everyone see that they are doing what God wants them to."

<sup>a</sup> Or, "Physical birth is not enough. You must also be born spiritually. . . ." This alternate paraphrase interprets "born of water" as meaning the normal process observed during every human birth. <sup>b</sup> Literally, "the Son of Man." <sup>c</sup> Or, "the unique Son of God."

<sup>23,24</sup> At this time John the Baptist was not yet in prison. He was baptizing at Aenon, near Salim, because there was plenty of water there. <sup>25</sup> One day someone began an argument with John's disciples, telling them that Jesus' baptism was best.<sup>d</sup> <sup>26</sup> So they came to John and said, "Master, the man you met on the other side of the Jordan River—the one you said was the Messiah—he is baptizing too, and everybody is going over there instead of coming here to us."

<sup>27</sup> John replied, "God in heaven appoints each man's work. <sup>28</sup> My work is to prepare the way for that man so that everyone will go to him. You yourselves know how plainly I told you that I am not the Messiah. I am here to prepare the way for him—that is all. <sup>29</sup> The crowds will naturally go to the main attraction<sup>e</sup>—the bride will go where the bridegroom is! A bridegroom's friends rejoice with him. I am the Bridegroom's friend, and I am filled with joy at his success. <sup>30</sup> He must become greater and greater, and I must become less and less.

<sup>31</sup> "He has come from heaven and is greater than anyone else. I am of the earth, and my understanding is limited to the things of earth. <sup>32</sup> He tells what he has seen and heard, but how few believe what he tells them! <sup>33,34</sup> Those who believe him discover that God is a fountain of truth. For this one—sent by God—speaks God's words, for God's Spirit is upon him without measure or limit. <sup>35</sup> The Father loves this man because he is his Son, and God has given him everything there is. <sup>36</sup> And all who trust him—God's Son—to save them have eternal life; those who don't believe and obey him shall never see heaven, but the wrath of God remains upon them."

4 WHEN THE LORD knew that the Pharisees had heard about the greater crowds coming to him than to John to be baptized and to become his disciples—(though Jesus himself didn't baptize them, but his disciples did)—<sup>1</sup> he left Judea and returned to the province of Galilee.

<sup>2</sup> He had to go through Samaria on the way, <sup>3,4</sup> and around noon as he approached the village of Sychar, he came to Jacob's Well, located on the parcel of ground Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Jesus was tired from the long walk in the hot sun and sat wearily beside the well.

<sup>5</sup> Soon a Samaritan woman came to draw water, and Jesus asked her for a drink. <sup>6</sup> He was alone at the time as his disciples had gone into the village to buy some food. <sup>7</sup> The woman was surprised that a Jew would ask a "despised Samaritan" for anything—usually they wouldn't even speak to them!—and she remarked about this to Jesus.

<sup>8</sup> He replied, "If you only knew what a wonderful gift God has for you, and who I am, you would ask me for some living water!"

<sup>9</sup> "But you don't have a rope or a bucket," she said, "and this is a very deep well! Where would you get this living water?" <sup>12</sup> And besides, are you greater than our ancestor Jacob? How can you offer better water than this which he and his sons and cattle enjoyed?"

<sup>13</sup> Jesus replied that people soon became thirsty again after drinking this water. <sup>14</sup> "But the water I give them," he said, "becomes a perpetual spring within them, watering them forever with eternal life."

<sup>15</sup> "Please, sir," the woman said, "give me some of that water! Then I'll never be thirsty again and won't have to make this long trip out here every day."

<sup>17,18</sup> "But I'm not married," the woman replied.

"All too true!" Jesus said. "For you have had five husbands, and you aren't even married to the man you're living with now."

<sup>19</sup> "Sir," the woman said, "you must be a prophet. <sup>20</sup> But say, tell me, why is it that you Jews insist that Jerusalem is the only place of worship, while we Samaritans claim it is here [at Mount Gerazim<sup>a</sup>], where our ancestors worshiped?"

<sup>21-24</sup> Jesus replied, "The time is coming, ma'am, when we will no longer be concerned about whether to worship the Father here or in Jerusalem. For it's not where we worship that counts, but how we worship—is our worship spiritual and real? Do we have the Holy Spirit's help? For God is Spirit, and we must have his help to worship as we should. The Father wants this kind of worship from us. But you Samaritans know so little about him, worshiping blindly, while we Jews know all about him, for salvation comes to the world through the Jews."

<sup>25</sup> The woman said, "Well, at least I know that the Messiah will come—the one they call Christ—and when he does, he will explain everything to us."

<sup>26</sup> Then Jesus told her, "I am the Messiah!"

<sup>27</sup> Just then his disciples arrived. They were surprised to find him talking to a woman, but none of them asked him why, or what they had been discussing.

<sup>28,29</sup> Then the woman left her waterpot beside the well and went back to the village and told everyone, "Come and meet a man who told me everything I ever did! Can this be the Messiah?" <sup>30</sup> So the people came streaming from the village to see him.

<sup>31</sup> Meanwhile, the disciples were urging Jesus to eat. <sup>32</sup> "No," he said, "I have some food you don't know about."

<sup>33</sup> "Who brought it to him?" the disciples asked each other.

<sup>34</sup> Then Jesus explained: "My nourishment comes from doing the will of God who sent me, and from finishing his work. <sup>35</sup> Do you think the work of harvesting will not begin until the summer ends four months from now? Look around you! Vast fields of human souls are ripening all around us, and are ready now for reaping. <sup>36</sup> The reapers will be paid good wages and will be gathering eternal souls into the granaries of heaven! What joys await the sower and the reaper, both together! <sup>37</sup> For it is true that one sows and someone else reaps. <sup>30</sup> I sent you to reap where you didn't sow; others did the work, and you received the harvest."

<sup>31</sup> Many from the Samaritan village believed he was the Messiah because of the woman's report: "He told me everything I ever did!"

<sup>40,41</sup> When they came out to see him at the well, they begged him to stay at their village; and he did, for two days, long enough for many of them to believe in him after hearing him. <sup>42</sup> Then they said to the woman, "Now we believe because we have heard him ourselves, not just because of what you told us. He is indeed the Savior of the world."

<sup>43,44</sup> At the end of the two days' stay he went on into Galilee. Jesus used to say, "A prophet is honored everywhere except in his own country!" <sup>45</sup> But the Galileans welcomed him with open arms, for they had been in Jerusalem at the Passover celebration and had seen some of his miracles.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>46,47</sup> In the course of his journey through Galilee he arrived at the town of Cana, where he had turned the water into wine. While he was there, a man in the city of Capernaum, a government official, whose son was very sick, heard that Jesus had come from Judea and was traveling in Galilee. This man went over to Cana, found Jesus, and begged him to come to Capernaum with him and heal his son, who was now at death's door.

"Jesus asked, "Won't any of you believe in me unless I do more and more miracles?"

<sup>50</sup> Then Jesus told him, "Go back home. Your son is healed!" And the man believed Jesus and started home. <sup>51</sup> While he was on his way, some of his servants met him with the news that all was well—his son had recovered. <sup>52</sup> He asked them when the lad had begun to feel better, and they replied, "Yesterday afternoon at about one o'clock his fever suddenly disappeared!" <sup>53</sup> Then the father realized it was the same moment that Jesus had told him, "Your son is healed." And the officer and his entire household believed that Jesus was the Messiah.

5 AFTERWARDS JESUS RETURNED to Jerusalem for one of the Jewish religious holidays. <sup>2</sup> Inside the city, near the Sheep Gate, was Bethesda Pool, with five covered platforms or porches surrounding it. <sup>3</sup> Crowds of sick folks—lame, blind, or with paralyzed limbs—lay on the platforms (waiting for a certain movement of the water, <sup>4</sup> for an angel of the Lord came from time to time and disturbed the water, and the first person to step down into it afterwards was healed).<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup> One of the men lying there had been sick for thirty-eight years. <sup>6</sup> When Jesus saw him and knew how long he had been ill, he asked him, "Would you like to get well?"

<sup>7</sup> "I can't," the sick man said, "for I have no one to help me into the pool at the movement of the water. While I am trying to get there, someone else always gets in ahead of me."

<sup>4</sup> Jesus told him, "Stand up, roll up your sleeping mat and go on home!"

<sup>5</sup> Instantly, the man was healed! He rolled up the mat and began walking!

But it was on the Sabbath when this miracle was done. <sup>10</sup> So the Jewish leaders objected. They said to the man who was cured, "You can't work on the Sabbath! It's illegal to carry that sleeping mat!"

<sup>11</sup> "The man who healed me told me to," was his reply.

<sup>12</sup> "Who said such a thing as that?" they demanded.

<sup>13</sup> The man didn't know, and Jesus had disappeared into the crowd. <sup>14</sup> But afterwards Jesus found him in the Temple and told him, "Now you are well; don't sin as you did before,<sup>b</sup> or something even worse may happen to you."

<sup>15</sup> Then the man went to find the Jewish leaders and told them it was Jesus who had healed him.

<sup>18</sup> Then the Jewish leaders were all the more eager to kill him because in addition to disobeying their Sabbath laws, he had spoken of God as his Father, thereby making himself equal with God.

<sup>19</sup> Jesus replied, "The Son can do nothing by himself. He does only what he sees the Father doing, and in the same way. <sup>20</sup> For the Father loves the Son, and tells him everything he is doing; and the Son will do far more awesome miracles than this man's healing. <sup>21</sup> He will even raise from the dead anyone he wants to, just as the Father does. <sup>22</sup> And the Father leaves all judgment of sin to his Son, <sup>23</sup> so that everyone will honor the Son, just as they honor the Father. But if you refuse to honor God's Son, whom he sent to you, then you are certainly not honoring the Father.

<sup>24</sup> "I say emphatically that anyone who listens to my message and believes in God who sent me has eternal life, and will never be damned for his sins, but has already passed out of death into life. <sup>25</sup> And I solemnly declare that the time is coming, in fact, it is here, when the dead shall hear my voice—the voice of the Son of God—and those who listen shall live. <sup>26</sup> The Father has life in himself, and has granted his Son to have life in himself, <sup>27</sup> and to judge the sins of all mankind because he is the Son of Man. <sup>28</sup> Don't be so surprised! Indeed the time is coming when all the dead in their graves shall hear the voice of God's Son, <sup>29</sup> and shall rise again—those who have done good, to eternal life; and those who have continued in evil, to judgment.

<sup>30</sup> "But I pass no judgment without consulting the Father. I judge as I am told. And my judgment is absolutely fair and just, for it is according to the will of God who sent me and is not merely my own.

You have gone out to listen to his preaching, and I can assure you that all he says about me is true! <sup>34</sup> But the truest witness I have is not from a man, though I have reminded you about John's witness so that you will believe in me and be saved. <sup>35</sup> John shone brightly for a while, and you benefited and rejoiced, <sup>36</sup> but I have a greater witness than John. I refer to the miracles I do; these have been assigned me by the Father, and they prove that the Father has sent me. <sup>37</sup> And the Father himself has also testified about me, though not appearing to you personally, or speaking to you directly. <sup>38</sup> But you are not listening to him, for you refuse to believe me—the one sent to you with God's message.

<sup>39</sup> "You search the Scriptures, for you believe they give you eternal life. And the Scriptures point to me! <sup>40</sup> Yet you won't come to me so that I can give you this life eternal!

<sup>41,42</sup> "Your approval or disapproval means nothing to me, for as I know so well, you don't have God's love within you. <sup>43</sup> I know, because I have come to you representing my Father and you refuse to welcome me, though you readily enough receive those who aren't sent from him, but represent only themselves! <sup>44</sup> No wonder you can't believe! For you gladly honor each other, but you don't care about the honor that comes from the only God!

<sup>45</sup> "Yet it is not I who will accuse you of this to the Father—Moses will! Moses, on whose laws you set your hopes of heaven. <sup>46</sup> For you have refused to believe Moses. He wrote about me, but you refuse to believe him, so you refuse to believe in me. <sup>47</sup> And since you don't believe what he wrote, no wonder you don't believe me either."

6 AFTER THIS, JESUS crossed over the Sea of Galilee, also known as the Sea of Tiberias. <sup>2-3</sup> And a huge crowd, many of them pilgrims on their way to Jerusalem for the annual Passover celebration<sup>a</sup>, were following him wherever he went, to watch him heal the sick. So when Jesus went up into the hills and sat down with his disciples around him, he soon saw a great multitude of people climbing the hill, looking for him.

Turning to Philip he asked, "Philip, where can we buy bread to feed all these people?" <sup>6</sup> (He was testing Philip, for he already knew what he was going to do.)

<sup>8,9</sup> Then Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, spoke up. "There's a youngster here with five barley loaves and a couple of fish! But what good is that with all this mob?"

<sup>10</sup> "Tell everyone to sit down," Jesus ordered. And all of them—the approximate count of the men only was 5,000—sat down on the grassy slopes. <sup>11</sup> Then Jesus took the loaves and gave thanks to God and passed them out to the people. Afterwards he did the same with the fish. And everyone ate until full!

<sup>12</sup> "Now gather the scraps," Jesus told his disciples, "so that nothing is wasted." <sup>13</sup> And twelve baskets were filled with the leftovers!

<sup>14</sup> When the people realized what a great miracle had happened, they exclaimed, "Surely, he is the Prophet we have been expecting!"

<sup>15</sup> Jesus saw that they were ready to take him by force and make him their king, so he went higher into the mountains alone.

<sup>16</sup> That evening his disciples went down to the shore to wait for him. <sup>17</sup> But as darkness fell and Jesus still hadn't come back, they got into the boat and headed out across the lake toward Capernaum. <sup>18,19</sup> But soon a gale swept down upon them as they rowed, and the sea grew very rough. They were three or four miles out when suddenly they saw Jesus walking toward the boat! They were terrified, <sup>20</sup> but he called out to them and told them not to be afraid. <sup>21</sup> Then they were willing to let him in, and immediately the boat was where they were going!<sup>c</sup>

<sup>22,23</sup> The next morning, back across the lake, crowds began gathering on the shore [waiting to see Jesus<sup>d</sup>]. For they knew that he and his disciples had come over together and that the disciples had gone off in their boat, leaving him behind. Several small boats from Tiberias were nearby, <sup>24</sup> so when the people saw that Jesus wasn't there, nor his disciples, they got into the boats and went across to Capernaum to look for him.

<sup>25</sup> When they arrived and found him, they said, "Sir, how did you get here?" <sup>26</sup> Jesus replied, "The truth of the matter is that you want to be with me because I fed you, not because you believe in me. <sup>27</sup> But you shouldn't be so concerned about perishable things like food. No, spend your energy seeking the eternal life that I, the Messiah,<sup>c</sup> can give you. For God the Father has sent me for this very purpose."

<sup>28</sup> They replied, "What should we do to satisfy God?"

<sup>29</sup> Jesus told them, "This is the will of God, that you believe in the one he has sent."

<sup>30,31</sup> They replied, "You must show us more miracles if you want us to believe you are the Messiah. Give us free bread every day, like our fathers had while they journeyed through the wilderness! As the Scriptures say, 'Moses gave them bread from heaven.'"

<sup>32</sup> Jesus said, "Moses didn't give it to them. My Father did.<sup>d</sup> And now he offers you true Bread from heaven. <sup>33</sup> The true Bread is a Person—the one sent by God from heaven, and he gives life to the world."

<sup>34</sup> "Sir," they said, "give us that bread every day of our lives!"

<sup>35</sup> Jesus replied, "I am the Bread of Life. No one coming to me will ever be hungry again. Those believing in me will never thirst. <sup>36</sup> But the trouble is, as I have told you before, you haven't believed even though you have seen me. <sup>37</sup> But some will come to me—those the Father has given me—and I will never, never reject them. <sup>38</sup> For I have come here from heaven to do the will of God who sent me, not to have my own way. <sup>39</sup> And this is the will of God, that I should not lose even one of all those he has given me, but that I should raise them to eternal life at the Last Day. <sup>40</sup> For it is my Father's will that everyone who sees his Son and believes on him should have eternal life—that I should raise him at the Last Day."

<sup>41</sup> Then the Jews began to murmur against him because he claimed to be the Bread from heaven.

<sup>42</sup> "What?" they exclaimed. "Why, he is merely Jesus the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know. What is this he is saying, that he came down from heaven?"

<sup>43</sup> But Jesus replied, "Don't murmur among yourselves about my saying that. <sup>44</sup> For no one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him to me, and at the Last Day I will cause all such to rise again from the dead. <sup>45</sup> As it is written in the Scriptures, 'They shall all be taught of God.' Those the Father speaks to, who learn the truth from him, will be attracted to me. <sup>46</sup> (Not that anyone actually sees the Father, for only I have seen him.)

<sup>47</sup> "How earnestly I tell you this—anyone who believes in me already has eternal life! <sup>48-51</sup> Yes, I am the Bread of Life! When your fathers in the wilderness ate bread from the skies, they all died. But the Bread from heaven gives eternal life to everyone who eats it. I am that Living Bread that came down out of heaven. Anyone eating this Bread shall live forever; this Bread is my flesh given to redeem humanity."

<sup>52</sup> Then the Jews began arguing with each other about what he meant. "How can this man give us his flesh to eat?" they asked.

<sup>53</sup> So Jesus said it again, "With all the earnestness I possess I tell you this: Unless you eat the flesh of the Messiah<sup>f</sup> and drink his blood, you cannot have eternal life within you. <sup>54</sup> But anyone who does eat my flesh and drink my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him at the Last Day. <sup>55</sup> For my flesh is the true food, and my blood is the true drink. <sup>56</sup> Everyone who eats my flesh and drinks my blood is in me, and I in him. <sup>57</sup> I live by the power of the living Father who sent me, and in the same way those who partake of me shall live because of me! <sup>58</sup> I am the true Bread from heaven; and anyone who eats this Bread shall live forever, and not die as your fathers did—though they ate bread from heaven." <sup>59</sup> (He preached this sermon in the synagogue in Capernaum.)

<sup>60</sup> Even his disciples said, "This is very hard to understand. Who can tell what he means?"

<sup>61</sup> Jesus knew within himself that his disciples were complaining and said to them, "Does this offend you?

<sup>62</sup> Then what will you think if you see me, the Messiah,<sup>g</sup> return to heaven again? <sup>6</sup> Only the Holy Spirit gives eternal life.<sup>h</sup> Those born only once, with physical birth<sup>i</sup>, will never receive this gift. But now I have told you how to get this true spiritual life. <sup>4</sup> But some of you don't believe me." (For Jesus knew from the beginning who didn't believe and knew the one who would betray him.)

<sup>5</sup> And he remarked, "That is what I meant when I said that no one can come to me unless the Father attracts him to me."

<sup>6</sup> At this point many of his disciples turned away and deserted him.

<sup>7</sup> Then Jesus turned to the Twelve and asked, "Are you going too?"

<sup>8</sup> Simon Peter replied, "Master, to whom shall we go? You alone have the words that give eternal life, and we believe them and know you are the holy Son of God."

<sup>9</sup> Then Jesus said, "I chose the twelve of you, and one is a devil."

<sup>10</sup> He was speaking of Judas, son of Simon Iscariot, one of the Twelve, who would betray him.

7 AFTER THIS, JESUS went to Galilee, going from village to village, for he wanted to stay out of Judea where the Jewish leaders were plotting his death. <sup>2</sup> But soon it was time for the Tabernacle Ceremonies, one of the annual Jewish holidays, <sup>3</sup> and Jesus' brothers urged him to go to Judea for the celebration.

"Go where more people can see your miracles!" they scoffed. <sup>4</sup> "You can't be famous when you hide like this! If you're so great, prove it to the world!" <sup>5</sup> For even his brothers didn't believe in him.

<sup>6</sup> Jesus replied, "It is not the right time for me to go now. But you can go anytime and it will make no difference, <sup>7</sup> for the world can't hate you; but it does hate me, because I accuse it of sin and evil. <sup>8</sup> You go on, and I'll come later<sup>a</sup> when it is the right time." <sup>9</sup> So he remained in Galilee.

<sup>10</sup> But after his brothers had left for the celebration, then he went too, though secretly, staying out of the public eye. <sup>11</sup> The Jewish leaders tried to find him at the celebration and kept asking if anyone had seen him. <sup>12</sup> There was a lot of discussion about him among the crowds. Some said, "He's a wonderful man," while others said, "No, he's duping the public." <sup>13</sup> But no one had the courage to speak out for him in public for fear of reprisals from the Jewish leaders.

<sup>14</sup> Then, midway through the festival, Jesus went up to the Temple and preached openly. <sup>15</sup> The Jewish leaders were surprised when they heard him. "How can he know so much when he's never been to our schools?" they asked.

<sup>16</sup> So Jesus told them, "I'm not teaching you my own thoughts, but those of God who sent me. <sup>17</sup> If any of you really determines to do God's will, then you will certainly know whether my teaching is from God or is merely my own. <sup>18</sup> Anyone presenting his own ideas is looking for praise for himself, but anyone seeking to honor the one who sent him is a good and true person. <sup>19</sup> None of you obeys the laws of Moses! So why pick on me for breaking them? Why kill me for this?"

<sup>20</sup> The crowd replied, "You're out of your mind! Who's trying to kill you?"

<sup>21,22,23</sup> Jesus replied, "I worked on the Sabbath by healing a man, and you were surprised. But you work on the Sabbath, too, whenever you obey Moses' law of circumcision (actually, however, this tradition of circumcision is older than the Mosaic law); for if the correct time for circumcising your children falls on the Sabbath, you go ahead and do it, as you should. So why should I be condemned for making a man completely well on the Sabbath? <sup>24</sup> Think this through and you will see that I am right."

<sup>25</sup> Some of the people who lived there in Jerusalem said among themselves, "Isn't this the man they are trying to kill? <sup>26</sup> But here he is preaching in public, and they say nothing to him. Can it be that our leaders have learned, after all, that he really is the Messiah? <sup>27</sup> But how could he be? For we know where this man was born; when Christ comes, he will just appear and no one will know where he comes from."

<sup>28</sup> So Jesus, in a sermon in the Temple, called out, "Yes, you know me and where I was born and raised, but I am the representative of one you don't know, and he is Truth. <sup>29</sup> I know him because I was with him, and he sent me to you."

<sup>30</sup> Then the Jewish leaders sought to arrest him; but no hand was laid on him, for God's time had not yet come.

<sup>31</sup> Many among the crowds at the Temple believed on him. "After all," they said, "what miracles do you expect the Messiah to do that this man hasn't done?"

<sup>32</sup> When the Pharisees heard that the crowds were in this mood, they and the chief priests sent officers to arrest Jesus. <sup>33</sup> But Jesus told them, "[Not yet<sup>b</sup>] I am to be here a little longer. Then I shall return to the one who sent me. <sup>34</sup> You will search for me but not find me. And you won't be able to come where I am!"

<sup>35</sup> The Jewish leaders were puzzled by this statement. "Where is he planning to go?" they asked. "Maybe he is thinking of leaving the country and going as a missionary among the Jews in other lands, or maybe even to the Gentiles! <sup>36</sup> What does he mean about our looking for him and not being able to find him, and, 'You won't be able to come where I am'?"

<sup>37</sup> On the last day, the climax of the holidays, Jesus shouted to the crowds, "If anyone is thirsty, let him come to me and drink. <sup>38</sup> For the Scriptures declare that rivers of living water shall flow from the inmost being of anyone who believes in me."

<sup>39</sup> (He was speaking of the Holy Spirit, who would be given to everyone believing in him; but the Spirit had not yet been given, because Jesus had not yet returned to his glory in heaven.)

<sup>40</sup> When the crowds heard him say this, some of them declared, "This man surely is the prophet who will come just before the Messiah."

<sup>41,42</sup> Others said, "He is the Messiah." Still others, "But he can't be! Will the Messiah come from Galilee? For the Scriptures clearly state that the Messiah will be born of the royal line of David, in Bethlehem, the village where David was born."

<sup>43</sup> So the crowd was divided about him. "And some wanted him arrested, but no one touched him."

<sup>44</sup> The Temple police who had been sent to arrest him returned to the chief priests and Pharisees. "Why didn't you bring him in?" they demanded.

<sup>45</sup> "He says such wonderful things!" they mumbled. "We've never heard anything like it."

<sup>46</sup> "So you also have been led astray?" the Pharisees mocked. <sup>47</sup> "Is there a single one of us Jewish rulers or Pharisees who believes he is the Messiah? <sup>48</sup> These stupid crowds do, yes; but what do they know about it? A curse upon them anyway!"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>49</sup> Then Nicodemus spoke up. (Remember him? He was the Jewish leader who came secretly to interview Jesus.) <sup>51</sup> "Is it legal to convict a man before he is even tried?" he asked.

<sup>52</sup> They replied, "Are you a wretched Galilean too? Search the Scriptures and see for yourself—no prophets will come from Galilee!"

<sup>53d</sup> Then the meeting broke up and everybody went home.

8 JESUS RETURNED TO the Mount of Olives, <sup>2</sup> but early the next morning he was back again at the Temple. A crowd soon gathered, and he sat down and talked to them. <sup>3</sup> As he was speaking, the Jewish leaders and Pharisees brought a woman caught in adultery and placed her out in front of the staring crowd.

<sup>4</sup> "Teacher," they said to Jesus, "this woman was caught in the very act of adultery. <sup>5</sup> Moses' law says to kill her. What about it?"

<sup>6</sup> They were trying to trap him into saying something they could use against him, but Jesus stooped down and wrote in the dust with his finger. <sup>7</sup> They kept demanding an answer, so he stood up again and said, "All right, hurl the stones at her until she dies. But only he who never sinned may throw the first!"

<sup>8</sup> Then he stooped down again and wrote some more in the dust. <sup>9</sup> And the Jewish leaders slipped away one by one, beginning with the eldest, until only Jesus was left in front of the crowd with the woman.

<sup>10</sup> Then Jesus stood up again and said to her, "Where are your accusers? Didn't even one of them condemn you?"

<sup>11</sup> "No, sir," she said.

And Jesus said, "Neither do I. Go and sin no more."

<sup>12</sup> Later, in one of his talks, Jesus said to the people, "I am the Light of the world. So if you follow me, you won't be stumbling through the darkness, for living light will flood your path."

<sup>d</sup> Most ancient manuscripts omit John

<sup>14</sup> Jesus told them, "These claims are true even though I make them concerning myself. For I know where I came from and where I am going, but you don't know this about me. <sup>15</sup> You pass judgment on me without knowing the facts. I am not judging you now; <sup>16</sup> but if I were, it would be an absolutely correct judgment in every respect, for I have with me the Father who sent me. <sup>17</sup> Your laws say that if two men agree on something that has happened, their witness is accepted as fact. <sup>18</sup> Well, I am one witness, and my Father who sent me is the other."

<sup>19</sup> "Where is your father?" they asked.

Jesus answered, "You don't know who I am, so you don't know who my Father is. If you knew me, then you would know him too."

<sup>20</sup> Jesus made these statements while in the section of the Temple known as the Treasury. But he was not arrested, for his time had not yet run out.

<sup>21</sup> Later he said to them again, "I am going away; and you will search for me, and die in your sins. And you cannot come where I am going."

<sup>22</sup> The Jews asked, "Is he planning suicide? What does he mean, 'You cannot come where I am going'?"

<sup>23</sup> Then he said to them, "You are from below; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not.

<sup>24</sup> That is why I said that you will die in your sins; for unless you believe that I am the Messiah, the Son of God, you will die in your sins."

<sup>25</sup> "Tell us who you are," they demanded.

He replied, "I am the one I have always claimed to be. <sup>26</sup> I could condemn you for much and teach you much, but I won't, for I say only what I am told to by the one who sent me; and he is Truth." <sup>27</sup> But they still didn't understand that he was talking to them about God.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>28</sup> So Jesus said, "When you have killed the Messiah,<sup>b</sup> then you will realize that I am he and that I have not been telling you my own ideas, but have spoken what the Father taught me. <sup>29</sup> And he who sent me is with me—he has not deserted me—for I always do those things that are pleasing to him."

<sup>30,31</sup> Then many of the Jewish leaders who heard him say these things began believing him to be the Messiah.

Jesus said to them, "You are truly my disciples if you live as I tell you to, <sup>32</sup> and you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free."

<sup>33</sup> "But we are descendants of Abraham," they said, "and have never been slaves to any man on earth! What do you mean, 'set free'?"

<sup>34</sup> Jesus replied, "You are slaves of sin, every one of you. <sup>35</sup> And slaves don't have rights, but the Son has every right there is! <sup>36</sup> So if the Son sets you free, you will indeed be free— <sup>37</sup> (Yes, I realize that you are descendants of Abraham!) And yet some of you are trying to kill me because my message does not find a home within your hearts. "I am telling you what I saw when I was with my Father. But you are following the advice of your father."

"Our father is Abraham," they declared.

"No!" Jesus replied, "for if he were, you would follow his good example. <sup>40</sup> But instead you are trying to kill me—and all because I told you the truth I heard from God. Abraham wouldn't do a thing like that! "No, you are obeying your real father when you act that way."

They replied, "We were not born out of wedlock—our true Father is God himself."

"Jesus told them, "If that were so, then you would love me, for I have come to you from God. I am not here on my own, but he sent me. "Why can't you understand what I am saying? It is because you are prevented from doing so! "For you are the children of your father the devil and you love to do the evil things he does. He was a murderer from the beginning and a hater of truth—there is not an iota of truth in him. When he lies, it is perfectly normal; for he is the father of liars. "And so when I tell the truth, you just naturally don't believe it!

"Which of you can truthfully accuse me of one single sin? [No one!c] And since I am telling you the truth, why don't you believe me? "Anyone whose Father is God listens gladly to the words of God. Since you don't, it proves you aren't his children."

"You Samaritan! Foreigner!

Devil!" the Jewish leaders snarled. "Didn't we say all along you were possessed by a demon?"

"No," Jesus said, "I have no demon in me. For I honor my Father—and you dishonor me. <sup>50</sup> And though I have no wish to make myself great, God wants this for me and judges [those who reject me<sup>d</sup>].

"With all the earnestness I have I tell you this—no one who obeys me shall ever die!"

"The leaders of the Jews said, "Now we know you are possessed by a demon. Even Abraham and the mightiest prophets died, and yet you say that obeying you will keep a man from dying! <sup>51</sup> So you are greater than our father Abraham, who died? And greater than the prophets, who died? Who do you think you are?"

"Then Jesus told them this: "If I am merely boasting about myself, it doesn't count. But it is my Father—and you claim him as your God—who is saying these glorious things about me. <sup>52</sup> But you do not even know him. I do. If I said otherwise, I would be as great a liar as you! But it is true—I know him and fully obey him. <sup>53</sup> Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day. He knew I was coming and was glad."

"The Jewish leaders: "You aren't even fifty years old—sure, you've seen Abraham!"

"Jesus: "The absolute truth is that I was in existence before Abraham was ever born!"

"At that point the Jewish leaders picked up stones to kill him. But Jesus was hidden from them, and walked past them and left the Temple.

9 AS HE WAS walking along, he saw a man blind from birth.

<sup>2</sup> "Master," his disciples asked him, "why was this man born blind? Was it a result of his own sins or those of his parents?"

<sup>3</sup> "Neither," Jesus answered. "But to demonstrate the power of God. <sup>4</sup> All of us must quickly carry out the tasks assigned us by the one who sent me, for there is little time left before the night falls and all work comes to an end. <sup>5</sup> But while I am still here in the world, I give it my light."

<sup>6</sup> Then he spat on the ground and made mud from the spittle and smoothed the mud over the blind man's eyes, <sup>7</sup> and told him, "Go and wash in the Pool of Siloam" (the word "Siloam" means "Sent"). So the man went where he was sent and washed and came back seeing!

<sup>8</sup> His neighbors and others who knew him as a blind beggar asked each other, "Is this the same fellow—that beggar?"

<sup>9</sup> Some said yes, and some said no. "It can't be the same man," they thought, "but he surely looks like him!"

And the beggar said, "I am the same man!"

<sup>10</sup> Then they asked him how in the world he could see. What had happened?

<sup>11</sup> And he told them, "A man they call Jesus made mud and smoothed it over my eyes and told me to go to the Pool of Siloam and wash off the mud. I did, and I can see!"

<sup>12</sup> "Where is he now?" they asked.

"I don't know," he replied.

<sup>15</sup> Then the Pharisees asked him all about it. So he told them how Jesus had smoothed the mud over his eyes, and when it was washed away, he could see!

<sup>16</sup> Some of them said, "Then this fellow Jesus is not from God, because he is working on the Sabbath."

Others said, "But how could an ordinary sinner do such miracles?" So there was a deep division of opinion among them.

<sup>17</sup> Then the Pharisees turned on the man who had been blind and demanded, "This man who opened your eyes—who do you say he is?"

"I think he must be a prophet sent from God," the man replied.

<sup>18</sup> The Jewish leaders wouldn't believe he had been blind, until they called in his parents <sup>19</sup> and asked them, "Is this your son? Was he born blind? If so, how can he see?"

<sup>20</sup> His parents replied, "We know this is our son and that he was born blind, <sup>21</sup> but we don't know what happened to make him see, or who did it. He is old enough to speak for himself. Ask him."

<sup>22,23</sup> They said this in fear of the Jewish leaders who had announced that anyone saying Jesus was the Messiah would be excommunicated.

<sup>24</sup> So for the second time they called in the man who had been <sup>a</sup> i.e., on Saturday, the weekly Jewish holy day when all work was forbidden.

blind and told him, "Give the glory to God, not to Jesus, for we know Jesus is an evil person."

<sup>23</sup> "I don't know whether he is good or bad," the man replied, "but I know this: I was blind, and now I see!"

<sup>24</sup> "But what did he do?" they asked. "How did he heal you?"

<sup>25</sup> "Look!" the man exclaimed. "I told you once; didn't you listen? Why do you want to hear it again? Do you want to become his disciples too?"

<sup>26</sup> Then they cursed him and said, "You are his disciple, but we are disciples of Moses. <sup>27</sup> We know God has spoken to Moses, but as for this fellow, we don't know anything about him."

<sup>28</sup> "Why, that's very strange!" the man replied. "He can heal blind men, and yet you don't know anything about him! <sup>29</sup> Well, God doesn't listen to evil men, but he has open ears to those who worship him and do his will. <sup>30</sup> Since the world began there has never been anyone who could open the eyes of someone born blind. <sup>31</sup> If this man were not from God, he couldn't do it."

<sup>32</sup> "You illegitimate bastard,<sup>b</sup> you!" they shouted. "Are you trying to teach us?" And they threw him out.

<sup>33</sup> When Jesus heard what had happened, he found the man and said, "Do you believe in the Messiah?"<sup>c</sup>

<sup>34</sup> The man answered, "Who is he, sir, for I want to."

<sup>35</sup> "You have seen him," Jesus said, "and he is speaking to you!"

<sup>36</sup> "Yes, Lord," the man said, "I believe!" And he worshiped Jesus.

<sup>37</sup> Then Jesus told him, "I have come into the world to give sight to those who are spiritually blind and to show those who think they see that they are blind."

<sup>38</sup> The Pharisees who were standing there asked, "Are you saying we are blind?"

<sup>39</sup> "If you were blind, you wouldn't be guilty," Jesus replied. "But your guilt remains because you claim to know what you are doing."

10 "ANYONE REFUSING TO walk through the gate into a sheepfold, who sneaks over the wall, must surely be a thief! <sup>2</sup> For a shepherd comes through the gate. <sup>3</sup> The gatekeeper opens the gate for him, and the sheep hear his voice and come to him; and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out. <sup>4</sup> He walks ahead of them; and they follow him, for they recognize his voice. <sup>5</sup> They won't follow a stranger but will run from him, for they don't recognize his voice."

<sup>6</sup> Those who heard Jesus use this illustration didn't understand what he meant, <sup>7</sup> so he explained it to them.

"I am the Gate for the sheep," he said. <sup>8</sup> "All others who came before me were thieves and robbers. But the true sheep did not listen to them. <sup>9</sup> Yes, I am the Gate. Those who come in by way of the Gate will be saved and will go in and out and find green pastures. <sup>10</sup> The thief's purpose is to steal, kill and destroy. My purpose is to give life in all its fullness."

<sup>11</sup> "I am the Good Shepherd. The Good Shepherd lays down his life for the sheep. <sup>12</sup> A hired man will run when he sees a wolf coming and will leave the sheep, for they aren't his and he isn't their shepherd. And so the wolf leaps on them and scatters the flock. <sup>13</sup> The hired man runs because he is hired and has no real concern for the sheep.

<sup>14</sup> "I am the Good Shepherd and know my own sheep, and they know me, <sup>15</sup> just as my Father knows me and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep. <sup>16</sup> I have other sheep, too, in another fold. I must bring them also, and they will heed my voice; and there will be one flock with one Shepherd.

<sup>17</sup> "The Father loves me because I lay down my life that I may have it back again. <sup>18</sup> No one can kill me without my consent—I lay down my life voluntarily. For I have the right and power to lay it down when I want to and also the right and power to take it again. For the Father has given me this right."

<sup>19</sup> When he said these things, the Jewish leaders were again divided in their opinions about him. <sup>20</sup> Some of them said, "He has a demon or else is crazy. Why listen to a man like that?"

<sup>21</sup> Others said, "This doesn't sound to us like a man possessed by a demon! Can a demon open the eyes of blind men?"

<sup>22,23</sup> It was winter,<sup>a</sup> and Jesus was in Jerusalem at the time of the Dedication Celebration. He was at the Temple, walking through the section known as Solomon's Hall. <sup>24</sup> The Jewish leaders surrounded him and asked, "How long are you going to keep us in suspense? If you are the Messiah, tell us plainly."

<sup>25</sup> "I have already told you,<sup>b</sup> and you don't believe me," Jesus replied. "The proof is in the miracles I do in the name of my Father. <sup>26</sup> But you don't believe me because you are not part of my flock. <sup>27</sup> My sheep recognize my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. <sup>28</sup> I give them eternal life and they shall never perish. No one shall snatch them away from me, <sup>29</sup> for my Father has given them to me, and he is more powerful than anyone else, so no one can kidnap them from me. <sup>30</sup> I and the Father are one."

<sup>31</sup> Then again the Jewish leaders picked up stones to kill him.

<sup>32</sup> Jesus said, "At God's direction I have done many a miracle to help the people. For which one are you killing me?"

<sup>33</sup> They replied, "Not for any good work, but for blasphemy; you, a mere man, have declared yourself to be God."

<sup>34,35,36</sup> "In your own Law it says that men are gods!" he replied. "So if the Scripture, which cannot be untrue, speaks of those as gods to whom the message of God came, do you call it blasphemy when the one sanctified and sent into the world by the Father says, 'I am the Son of God'? <sup>37</sup> Don't believe me unless I do miracles of God. <sup>38</sup> But if I do, believe them even if you don't believe me. Then you will become convinced that the Father is in me, and I in the Father."

<sup>9</sup> Once again they started to arrest him. But he walked away and left them, <sup>10</sup> and went beyond the Jordan River to stay near the place where John was first baptizing.

<sup>11</sup> And many followed him.

"John didn't do miracles," they remarked to one another, "but all his predictions concerning this man have come true." <sup>12</sup> And many came to the decision that he was the Messiah,<sup>c</sup>

11 DO YOU REMEMBER Mary, who poured the costly perfume on Jesus' feet and wiped them with her hair?<sup>a</sup> Well, her brother Lazarus, who lived in Bethany with Mary and her sister Martha, was sick. <sup>1</sup> So the two sisters sent a message to Jesus telling him, "Sir, your good friend is very, very sick."

<sup>2</sup> But when Jesus heard about it he said, "The purpose of his illness is not death, but for the glory of God. I, the Son of God, will receive glory from this situation."

<sup>3</sup> Although Jesus was very fond of Martha, Mary, and Lazarus, <sup>4</sup> he stayed where he was for the next two days and made no move to go to them. <sup>5</sup> Finally, after the two days, he said to his disciples, "Let's go to Judea."

<sup>6</sup> But his disciples objected. "Master," they said, "only a few days ago the Jewish leaders in Judea were trying to kill you. Are you going there again?"

<sup>7</sup> Jesus replied, "There are twelve hours of daylight every day, and during every hour of it a man can walk safely and not stumble.

<sup>10</sup> Only at night is there danger of a wrong step, because of the dark."

<sup>11</sup> Then he said, "Our friend Lazarus has gone to sleep, but now I will go and waken him!"

<sup>12,13</sup> The disciples, thinking Jesus meant Lazarus was having a good night's rest, said, "That means he is getting better!" But Jesus meant Lazarus had died.

<sup>14</sup> Then he told them plainly, "Lazarus is dead. <sup>15</sup> And for your sake, I am glad I wasn't there, for this will give you another opportunity to believe in me. Come, let's go to him."

<sup>16</sup> Thomas, nicknamed "The Twin," said to his fellow disciples, "Let's go too—and die with him."

<sup>17</sup> When they arrived at Bethany, they were told that Lazarus had already been in his tomb for four days. <sup>18</sup> Bethany was only a couple of miles down the road from Jerusalem, <sup>19</sup> and many of the Jewish leaders had come to pay their respects and to console Martha and Mary on their loss. <sup>20</sup> When Martha got word that Jesus was coming, she went to meet him. But Mary stayed at home.

<sup>21</sup> Martha said to Jesus, "Sir, if you had been here, my brother wouldn't have died. <sup>22</sup> And even now it's not too late, for I know that God will bring my brother back to life again, if you will only ask him to."

who raises the dead and gives them life again. Anyone who believes in me, even though he dies like anyone else, shall live again. <sup>26</sup> He is given eternal life for believing in me and shall never perish. Do you believe this, Martha?"

<sup>27</sup> "Yes, Master," she told him. "I believe you are the Messiah, the Son of God, the one we have so long awaited."

<sup>28</sup> Then she left him and returned to Mary and, calling her aside from the mourners, told her, "He is here and wants to see you."

<sup>29</sup> So Mary went to him at once.

<sup>30</sup> Now Jesus had stayed outside the village, at the place where Martha met him. <sup>31</sup> When the Jewish leaders who were at the house trying to console Mary saw her leave so hastily, they assumed she was going to Lazarus' tomb to weep; so they followed her.

<sup>32</sup> When Mary arrived where Jesus was, she fell down at his feet, saying, "Sir, if you had been here, my brother would still be alive."

<sup>33</sup> When Jesus saw her weeping and the Jewish leaders wailing with her, he was moved with indignation and deeply troubled. <sup>34</sup> "Where is he buried?" he asked them.

They told him, "Come and see."

<sup>35</sup> Tears came to Jesus' eyes.

<sup>36</sup> "They were close friends," the Jewish leaders said. "See how much he loved him."

<sup>37,38</sup> But some said, "This fellow healed a blind man—why couldn't he keep Lazarus from dying?" And again Jesus was moved with deep anger. Then they came to the tomb. It was a cave with a heavy stone rolled across its door.

<sup>39</sup> "Roll the stone aside," Jesus told them.

But Martha, the dead man's sister, said, "By now the smell will be terrible, for he has been dead four days."

<sup>40</sup> "But didn't I tell you that you will see a wonderful miracle from God if you believe?" Jesus asked her.

<sup>41</sup> So they rolled the stone aside. Then Jesus looked up to heaven and said, "Father, thank you for hearing me. <sup>42</sup> (You always hear me, of course, but I said it because of all these people standing here, so that they will believe you sent me.)"

<sup>43</sup> Then he shouted, "Lazarus, come out!"

<sup>44</sup> And Lazarus came—bound up in the gravecloth, his face muffled in a head swath. Jesus told them, "Unwrap him and let him go!"

<sup>45</sup> And so at last many of the Jewish leaders who were with Mary and saw it happen, finally believed on him. <sup>46</sup> But some went away to the Pharisees and reported it to them.

<sup>47</sup> Then the chief priests and Pharisees convened a council to discuss the situation.

"What are we going to do?" they asked each other. "For this man certainly does miracles. <sup>48</sup> If we let him alone the whole nation will follow him—and then the Roman army will come and kill us and take over the Jewish government."

<sup>49</sup> And one of them, Caiaphas, who was High Priest that year, said, "You stupid idiots— <sup>50</sup> let this one man die for the people—why should the whole nation perish?"

came from Caiaphas in his position as High Priest—he didn't think of it by himself, but was inspired to say it. <sup>2</sup> It was a prediction that Jesus' death would not be for Israel only, but for all the children of God scattered around the world. <sup>3</sup> So from that time on the Jewish leaders began plotting Jesus' death.

<sup>4</sup> Jesus now stopped his public ministry and left Jerusalem; he went to the edge of the desert, to the village of Ephraim, and stayed there with his disciples.

<sup>5</sup> The Passover, a Jewish holy day, was near, and many country people arrived in Jerusalem several days early so that they could go through the cleansing ceremony before the Passover began. <sup>6</sup> They wanted to see Jesus, and as they gossiped in the Temple, they asked each other, "What do you think? Will he come for the Passover?" <sup>7</sup> Meanwhile the chief priests and Pharisees had publicly announced that anyone seeing Jesus must report him immediately so that they could arrest him.

12 SIX DAYS BEFORE the Passover ceremonies began, Jesus arrived in Bethany where Lazarus was—the man he had brought back to life. <sup>1</sup> A banquet was prepared in Jesus' honor. Martha served, and Lazarus sat at the table with him. <sup>2</sup> Then Mary took a jar of costly perfume made from essence of nard, and anointed Jesus' feet with it and wiped them with her hair. And the house was filled with fragrance.

was worth a fortune. It should have been sold and the money given to the poor." <sup>5</sup> Not that he cared for the poor, but he was in charge of the disciples' funds and often dipped into them for his own use!

<sup>6</sup> Jesus replied, "Let her alone. She did it in preparation for my burial. <sup>7</sup> You can always help the poor, but I won't be with you very long."

<sup>8</sup> When the ordinary people of Jerusalem heard of his arrival, they flocked to see him and also to see Lazarus—the man who had come back to life again. <sup>9</sup> Then the chief priests decided to kill Lazarus too, <sup>10</sup> for it was because of him that many of the Jewish leaders had deserted and believed in Jesus as their Messiah.

<sup>11</sup> The next day, the news that Jesus was on the way to Jerusalem swept through the city, and a huge crowd of Passover visitors <sup>12</sup> took palm branches and went down the road to meet him, shouting, "The Savior! God bless the King of Israel! Hail to God's Ambassador!"

<sup>13</sup> Jesus rode along on a young donkey, fulfilling the prophecy that said: <sup>14</sup> "Don't be afraid of your King, people of Israel, for he will come to you meekly, sitting on a donkey's colt!"

<sup>15</sup> (His disciples didn't realize at the time that this was a fulfillment of prophecy; but after Jesus returned to his glory in heaven, then they noticed how many prophecies of Scripture had come true before their eyes.)

<sup>16</sup> And those in the crowd who had seen Jesus call Lazarus back to life were telling all about it. <sup>17</sup> That was the main reason why so many went out to meet him—because they had heard about this mighty miracle.

<sup>19</sup> Then the Pharisees said to each other, "We've lost. Look—the whole world has gone after him!"

<sup>20</sup> Some Greeks who had come to Jerusalem to attend the Passover <sup>21</sup> paid a visit to Philip,<sup>a</sup> who was from Bethsaida, and said, "Sir, we want to meet Jesus." <sup>22</sup> Philip told Andrew about it, and they went together to ask Jesus.

<sup>23,24</sup> Jesus replied that the time had come for him to return to his glory in heaven, and that "I must fall and die like a kernel of wheat that falls into the furrows of the earth. Unless I die I will be alone—a single seed. But my death will produce many new wheat kernels—a plentiful harvest of new lives. <sup>25</sup> If you love your life down here—you will lose it. If you despise your life down here—you will exchange it for eternal glory.

<sup>26</sup> "If these Greeks<sup>b</sup> want to be my disciples, tell them to come and follow me, for my servants must be where I am. And if they follow me, the Father will honor them. <sup>27</sup> Now my soul is deeply troubled. Shall I pray, 'Father, save me from what lies ahead?' But that is the very reason why I came! <sup>28</sup> Father, bring glory and honor to your name."

Then a voice spoke from heaven saying, "I have already done this, and I will do it again." <sup>29</sup> When the crowd heard the voice, some of them thought it was thunder, while others declared an angel had spoken to him.

<sup>30</sup> Then Jesus told them, "The voice was for your benefit, not mine. <sup>31</sup> The time of judgment for the world has come—and the time when Satan,<sup>c</sup> the prince of this world, shall be cast out. <sup>32</sup> And when I am lifted up [on the cross<sup>d</sup>], I will draw everyone to me." <sup>33</sup> He said this to indicate how he was going to die.

<sup>34</sup> "Die?" asked the crowd. "We understood that the Messiah would live forever and never die. Why are you saying he will die? What Messiah are you talking about?"

<sup>35</sup> Jesus replied, "My light will shine out for you just a little while longer. Walk in it while you can, and go where you want to go before the darkness falls, for then it will be too late for you to find your way. <sup>36</sup> Make use of the Light while there is still time; then you will become light bearers."<sup>e</sup> After saying these things, Jesus went away and was hidden from them.

<sup>37</sup> But despite all the miracles he had done, most of the people would not believe he was the Messiah. <sup>38</sup> This is exactly what Isaiah the prophet had predicted: "Lord, who will believe us? Who will accept God's mighty miracles as proof?"<sup>f</sup> <sup>39</sup> But they couldn't believe, for as Isaiah also said: <sup>40</sup> "God<sup>g</sup> has blinded their eyes and hardened their hearts so that they can neither see nor understand nor turn to me to heal them." <sup>41</sup> Isaiah was referring to Jesus when he made this prediction, for he had seen a vision of the Messiah's glory.

<sup>2</sup> However, even many of the Jewish leaders believed him to be the Messiah but wouldn't admit it to anyone because of their fear that the Pharisees would excommunicate them from the synagogue; <sup>3</sup> for they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God.

"Jesus shouted to the crowds, "If you trust me, you are really trusting God. <sup>4</sup> For when you see me, you are seeing the one who sent me. <sup>5</sup> I have come as a Light to shine in this dark world, so that all who put their trust in me will no longer wander in the darkness. <sup>6</sup> If anyone hears me and doesn't obey me, I am not his judge—for I have come to save the world and not to judge it. <sup>7</sup> But all who reject me and my message will be judged at the Day of Judgment by the truths I have spoken. <sup>8</sup> For these are not my own ideas, but I have told you what the Father said to tell you. <sup>9</sup> And I know his instructions lead to eternal life; so whatever he tells me to say, I say!"

13 JESUS KNEW ON the evening of Passover Day that it would be his last night on earth before returning to his Father. During supper the devil had already suggested to Judas Iscariot, Simon's son, that this was the night to carry out his plan to betray Jesus. Jesus knew that the Father had given him everything and that he had come from God and would return to God. And how he loved his disciples! <sup>4</sup> So he got up from the supper table, took off his robe, wrapped a towel around his loins,<sup>a</sup> poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet and to wipe them with the towel he had around him.

<sup>5</sup> When he came to Simon Peter, Peter said to him, "Master, you shouldn't be washing our feet like this!"

<sup>6</sup> Jesus replied, "You don't understand now why I am doing it; some day you will."

<sup>7</sup> "No," Peter protested, "you shall never wash my feet!"

"But if I don't, you can't be my partner," Jesus replied.

<sup>8</sup> Simon Peter exclaimed, "Then wash my hands and head as well—not just my feet!"

<sup>9</sup> Jesus replied, "One who has bathed all over needs only to have his feet washed to be entirely clean. Now you are clean—but that isn't true of everyone here." <sup>10</sup> For Jesus knew who would betray him. That is what he meant when he said, "Not all of you are clean."

<sup>11</sup> After washing their feet he put on his robe again and sat down and asked, "Do you understand what I was doing?" <sup>12</sup> You call me 'Master' and 'Lord,' and you do well to say it, for it is true. <sup>13</sup> And since I, the Lord and Teacher, have washed your feet, you ought to wash each other's feet. <sup>14</sup> I have given you an example to follow: do as I have done to you. <sup>15</sup> How true it is that a servant is not greater than his master. Nor is the messenger more important than the one who sends him. <sup>16</sup> You know these things—now do them! That is the path of blessing.

<sup>18</sup> "I am not saying these things to all of you; I know so well each one of you I chose. The Scripture declares, 'One who eats supper with me will betray me,' and this will soon come true. <sup>19</sup> I tell you this now so that when it happens, you will believe on me.

<sup>20</sup> "Truly, anyone welcoming my messenger is welcoming me. And to welcome me is to welcome the Father who sent me."

<sup>25</sup> So I turned<sup>d</sup> and asked him, "Lord, who is it?"

<sup>26</sup> He told me, "It is the one I honor by giving the bread dipped in the sauce."<sup>e</sup>

And when he had dipped it, he gave it to Judas, son of Simon Iscariot.

<sup>27</sup> As soon as Judas had eaten it, Satan entered into him. Then Jesus told him, "Hurry—do it now."

<sup>28</sup> None of the others at the table knew what Jesus meant. <sup>29</sup> Some thought that since Judas was their treasurer, Jesus was telling him to go and pay for the food or to give some money to the poor. <sup>30</sup> Judas left at once, going out into the night.

<sup>31</sup> As soon as Judas left the room, Jesus said, "My time has come; the glory of God will soon surround me—and God shall receive great praise because of all that happens to me. <sup>32</sup> And God shall give me his own glory, and this so very soon. <sup>33</sup> Dear, dear children, how brief are these moments before I must go away and leave you! Then, though you search for me, you cannot come to me—just as I told the Jewish leaders.

<sup>34</sup> "And so I am giving a new commandment to you now—love each other just as much as I love you. <sup>35</sup> Your strong love for each other will prove to the world that you are my disciples."

<sup>36</sup> Simon Peter said, "Master, where are you going?"

And Jesus replied, "You can't go with me now; but you will follow me later."

<sup>37</sup> "But why can't I come now?" he asked, "for I am ready to die for you."

<sup>38</sup> Jesus answered, "Die for me? No—three times before the cock crows tomorrow morning, you will deny that you even know me!

14 "LET NOT YOUR heart be troubled. You are trusting God, now trust in me. <sup>25</sup> There are many homes up there where my Father lives, and I am going to prepare them for your coming. When everything is ready, then I will come and get you, so that you can always be with me where I am. If this weren't so, I would tell you plainly. <sup>4</sup> And you know where I am going and how to get there."

<sup>5</sup> "No, we don't," Thomas said. "We haven't any idea where you are going, so how can we know the way?"

<sup>6</sup> Jesus told him, "I am the Way—yes, and the Truth and the Life. No one can get to the Father except by means of me. <sup>7</sup> If you had known who I am, then you would have known who my Father is. From now on you know him—and have seen him!"

<sup>8</sup> Philip said, "Sir, show us the Father and we will be satisfied."

<sup>9</sup> Jesus replied, "Don't you even yet know who I am, Philip, even after all this time I have been with you? Anyone who has seen me has seen the Father! So why are you asking to see him? <sup>10</sup> Don't you believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The words I say are not my own but are from my Father who lives in me. And he does his work through me. <sup>11</sup> Just believe it—that I am in the Father and the Father is in me. Or else believe it because of the mighty miracles you have seen me do.

<sup>12,13</sup> "In solemn truth I tell you, anyone believing in me shall do the same miracles I have done, and even greater ones, because I am going to be with the Father. You can ask him for anything, using my name, and I will do it, for this will bring praise to the Father because of what I, the Son, will do for you.

<sup>14</sup> Yes, ask anything, using my name, and I will do it!

<sup>15,16</sup> "If you love me, obey me; and I will ask the Father and he will give you another Comforter, and he will never leave you. <sup>17</sup> He is the Holy Spirit, the Spirit who leads into all truth. The world at large cannot receive him, for it isn't looking for him and doesn't recognize him. But you do, for he lives with you now and some day shall be in you. <sup>18</sup> No, I will not abandon you or leave you as orphans in the storm—I will come to you. <sup>19</sup> In just a little while I will be gone from the world, but I will still be present with you. For I will live again—and you will too. <sup>20</sup> When I come back to life again, you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you. <sup>21</sup> The one who obeys me is the one who loves me; and because he loves me, my Father will love him; and I will too, and I will reveal myself to him."

<sup>22</sup> Judas (not Judas Iscariot, but his other disciple with that name) said to him, "Sir, why are you going to reveal yourself only to us disciples and not to the world at large?"

<sup>23</sup> Jesus replied, "Because I will only reveal myself to those who love me and obey me. The Father will love them too, and we will come to them and live with them. <sup>24</sup> Anyone who doesn't obey me doesn't love me. And remember, I am not making up this answer to your question! It is the answer given by the Father who sent me. <sup>25</sup> I am telling you these things now while I am still with you. <sup>26</sup> But when the Father sends the Comforter<sup>a</sup> instead of me<sup>b</sup>—and by the Comforter I mean the Holy Spirit—he will teach you much, as well as remind you of everything I myself have told you.

<sup>27</sup> "I am leaving you with a gift—peace of mind and heart! And the peace I give isn't fragile like the peace the world gives. So don't be troubled or afraid.<sup>c</sup> <sup>28</sup> Remember what I told you—I am going away, but I will come back to you again. If you really love me, you will be very happy for me, for now I can go to the Father, who is greater than I am. <sup>29</sup> I have told you these things before they happen so that when they do, you will believe [in me<sup>c</sup>].

<sup>30</sup> "I don't have much more time to talk to you, for the evil prince of this world approaches. He has no power over me, <sup>31</sup> but I will freely do what the Father requires of me so that the world will know that I love the Father. Come, let's be going.

15 "I AM THE true Vine, and my Father is the Gardener. <sup>2</sup> He lops off every branch that doesn't produce. And he prunes those branches that bear fruit for even larger crops. <sup>3</sup> He has already tended you by pruning you back for greater strength and usefulness by means of the commands I gave you. <sup>4</sup> Take care to live in me, and let me live in you. For a branch can't produce fruit when severed from the vine. Nor can you be fruitful apart from me.

<sup>5</sup> "Yes, I am the Vine; you are the branches. Whoever lives in me and I in him shall produce a large crop of fruit. For apart from me you can't do a thing. <sup>6</sup> If anyone separates from me, he is thrown away like a useless branch, withers, and is gathered into a pile with all the others and burned. <sup>7</sup> But if you stay in me and obey my commands, you may ask any request you like, and it will be granted! <sup>8</sup> My true disciples produce bountiful harvests. This brings great glory to my Father.

<sup>9</sup> "I have loved you even as the Father has loved me. Live within my love. <sup>10</sup> When you obey me you are living in my love, just as I obey my Father and live in his love. <sup>11</sup> I have told you this so that you will be filled with my joy. Yes, your cup of joy will overflow! <sup>12</sup> I demand that you love each other as much as I love you. <sup>13</sup> And here is how to measure it—the greatest love is shown when a person lays down his life for his friends; <sup>14</sup> and you are my friends if you obey me. <sup>15</sup> I no longer call you slaves, for a master doesn't confide in his slaves; now you are my friends, proved by the fact that I have told you everything the Father told me.

<sup>16</sup> "You didn't choose me! I chose you! I appointed you to go and produce lovely fruit always, so that no matter what you ask for from the Father, using my name, he will give it to you. <sup>17</sup> I demand that you love each other, <sup>18</sup> for you get enough hate from the world! But then, it hated me before it hated you. <sup>19</sup> The world would love you if you belonged to it; but you don't—for I chose you to come out of the world, and so it hates you. <sup>20</sup> Do you remember what I told you? 'A slave isn't greater than his master!' So since they persecuted me, naturally they will persecute you. And if they had listened to me, they would listen to you!<sup>21</sup> The people of the world will persecute you because you belong to me, for they don't know God who sent me.

<sup>22</sup> "They would not be guilty if I had not come and spoken to them. But now they have no excuse for their sin. <sup>23</sup> Anyone hating me is also hating my Father. <sup>24</sup> If I hadn't done such mighty miracles among them they would not be counted guilty. But as it is, they saw these miracles and yet they hated both of us—me and my Father. <sup>25</sup> This has fulfilled what the prophets said concerning the Messiah, 'They hated me without reason.'

<sup>26</sup> "But I will send you the Comforter—the Holy Spirit, the source of all truth. He will come to you from the Father and will tell you all about me. <sup>27</sup> And you also must tell everyone about me, because you have been with me from the beginning.

16 "I HAVE TOLD you these things so that you won't be staggered [by all that lies ahead.<sup>a</sup>] <sup>2</sup> For you will be excommunicated from the synagogues, and indeed the time is coming when those who kill you will think they are doing God a service. <sup>3</sup> This is because they have never known the Father or me. <sup>4</sup> Yes, I'm telling you these things now so that when they happen you will remember I warned you. I didn't tell you earlier because I was going to be with you for a while longer.

<sup>5</sup> "But now I am going away to the one who sent me; and none of you seems interested in the purpose of my going; none wonders why.<sup>b</sup> <sup>6</sup> Instead you are only filled with sorrow. <sup>7</sup> But the fact of the matter is that it is best for you that I go away, for if I don't, the Comforter won't come. If I do, he will—for I will send him to you.

<sup>8</sup> "And when he has come he will convince the world of its sin, and of the availability of God's goodness, and of deliverance from judgment.<sup>c</sup> <sup>9</sup> The world's sin is unbelief in me; <sup>10</sup> there is righteousness available because I go to the Father and you shall see me no more; <sup>11</sup> there is deliverance from judgment because the prince of this world has already been judged.

<sup>12</sup> "Oh, there is so much more I want to tell you, but you can't understand it now. <sup>13</sup> When the Holy Spirit, who is truth, comes, he shall guide you into all truth, for he will not be presenting his own ideas, but will be passing on to you what he has heard. He will tell you about the future. <sup>14</sup> He shall praise me and bring me great honor by showing you my glory. <sup>15</sup> All the Father's glory is mine; this is what I mean when I say that he will show you my glory. <sup>16</sup> In just a little while I will be gone, and you will see me no more; but just a little while after that, and you will see me again!"

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "none of you is asking me whither I am going." The question had been asked before (John 13:36, 14:5), but apparently not in this deeper sense.

<sup>c</sup> Literally, "he will convict the world of sin and righteousness and judgment."

<sup>17,18</sup> "Whatever is he saying?" some of his disciples asked. "What is this about 'going to the Father'? We don't know what he means."

<sup>19</sup> Jesus realized they wanted to ask him so he said, "Are you asking yourselves what I mean? <sup>20</sup> The world will greatly rejoice over what is going to happen to me, and you will weep. But your weeping shall suddenly be turned to wonderful joy [when you see me again<sup>d</sup>]. <sup>21</sup> It will be the same joy as that of a woman in labor when her child is born—her anguish gives place to rapturous joy and the pain is forgotten. <sup>22</sup> You have sorrow now, but I will see you again and then you will rejoice; and no one can rob you of that joy. <sup>23</sup> At that time you won't need to ask me for anything, for you can go directly to the Father and ask him, and he will give you what you ask for because you use my name. <sup>24</sup> You haven't tried this before, [but begin now<sup>d</sup>]. Ask, using my name, and you will receive, and your cup of joy will overflow."

<sup>25</sup> "I have spoken of these matters very guardedly, but the time will come when this will not be necessary and I will tell you plainly all about the Father. <sup>26</sup> Then you will present your petitions over my signature!<sup>e</sup> And I won't need to ask the Father to grant you these requests, <sup>27</sup> for the Father himself loves you dearly because you love me and believe that I came from the Father. <sup>28</sup> Yes, I came from the Father into the world and will leave the world and return to the Father."

<sup>29</sup> "At last you are speaking plainly," his disciples said, "and not in riddles. <sup>30</sup> Now we understand that you know everything and don't need anyone to tell you anything.<sup>f</sup> From this we believe that you came from God."

<sup>31</sup> "Do you finally believe this?" Jesus asked. <sup>32</sup> "But the time is coming—in fact, it is here—when you will be scattered, each one returning to his own home, leaving me alone. Yet I will not be alone, for the Father is with me. <sup>33</sup> I have told you all this so that you will have peace of heart and mind. Here on earth you will have many trials and sorrows; but cheer up, for I have overcome the world."

17 WHEN JESUS HAD finished saying all these things he looked up to heaven and said, "Father, the time has come. Reveal the glory of your Son so that he can give the glory back to you. <sup>2</sup> For you have given him authority over every man and woman in all the earth. He gives eternal life to each one you have given him. <sup>3</sup> And this is the way to have eternal life—by knowing you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, the one you sent to earth! <sup>4</sup> I brought glory to you here on earth by doing everything you told me to. <sup>5</sup> And now, Father, reveal my glory as I stand in your presence, the glory we shared before the world began.

<sup>6</sup> "I have told these men all about you. They were in the world, but then you gave them to me. Actually, they were always yours, and you gave them to me; and they have obeyed you. <sup>7</sup> Now they know that everything I have is a gift from you, <sup>8</sup> for I have passed on to them the commands you gave me; and they accepted them and know of a certainty that I came down to earth from you, and they believe you sent me.

<sup>9</sup> "My plea is not for the world but for those you have given me because they belong to you. <sup>10</sup> And all of them, since they are mine, belong to you; and you have given them back to me with everything else of yours, and so they are my glory! <sup>11</sup> Now I am leaving the world, and leaving them behind, and coming to you. Holy Father, keep them in your own care—all those you have given me—so that they will be united just as we are, with none missing. <sup>12</sup> During my time here I have kept safe within your family<sup>a</sup> all of these you gave me. I guarded them so that not one perished, except the son of hell, as the Scriptures foretold.

<sup>13</sup> "And now I am coming to you. I have told them many things while I was with them so that they would be filled with my joy. <sup>14</sup> I have given them your commands. And the world hates them because they don't fit in with it, just as I don't. <sup>15</sup> I'm not asking you to take them out of the world, but to keep them safe from Satan's power. <sup>16</sup> They are not part of this world any more than I am. <sup>17</sup> Make them pure and holy through teaching them your words of truth. <sup>18</sup> As you sent me into the world, I am sending them into the world, <sup>19</sup> and I consecrate myself to meet their need for growth in truth and holiness.

<sup>20</sup> "I am not praying for these alone but also for the future believers who will come to me because of the testimony of these. <sup>21</sup> My prayer for all of them is that they will be of one heart and mind, just as you and I are, Father—that just as you are in me and I am in you, so they will be in us, and the world will believe you sent me.

<sup>22</sup> "I have given them the glory you gave me—the glorious unity of being one, as we are— <sup>23</sup> I in them and you in me, all being perfected into one—so that the world will know you sent me and will understand that you love them as much as you love me. <sup>24</sup> Father, I want them with me—these you've given me—so that they can see my glory. You gave me the glory because you loved me before the world began!

<sup>25</sup> "O righteous Father, the world doesn't know you, but I do; and these disciples know you sent me. <sup>26</sup> And I have revealed you to them, and will keep on revealing you so that the mighty love you have for me may be in them, and I in them."

18 AFTER SAYING THESE things Jesus crossed the Kidron ravine with his disciples and entered a grove of olive trees. <sup>2</sup> Judas, the betrayer, knew this place, for Jesus had gone there many times with his disciples.

had given Judas a squad of soldiers and police to accompany him. Now with blazing torches, lanterns, and weapons they arrived at the olive grove.

<sup>4</sup> Jesus fully realized all that was going to happen to him. Stepping forward to meet them he asked, "Whom are you looking for?"

"Jesus of Nazareth," they replied.

"I am he," Jesus said. <sup>6</sup> And as he said it, they all fell backwards to the ground!

<sup>7</sup> Once more he asked them, "Whom are you searching for?"

And again they replied, "Jesus of Nazareth."

<sup>8</sup> "I told you I am he," Jesus said; "and since I am the one you are after, let these others go." <sup>9</sup> He did this to carry out the prophecy he had just made, "I have not lost a single one of those you gave me . . . ."

<sup>10</sup> Then Simon Peter drew a sword and slashed off the right ear of Malchus, the High Priest's servant.

<sup>11</sup> But Jesus said to Peter, "Put your sword away. Shall I not drink from the cup the Father has given me?"

<sup>12</sup> So the Jewish police, with the soldiers and their lieutenant, arrested Jesus and tied him. <sup>13</sup> First they took him to Annas, the father-in-law of Caiaphas, the High Priest that year. <sup>14</sup> Caiaphas was the one who told the other Jewish leaders, "Better that one should die for all."

<sup>15</sup> Simon Peter followed along behind, as did another of the disciples who was acquainted with the High Priest. So that other disciple was permitted into the courtyard along with Jesus, <sup>16</sup> while Peter stood outside the gate. Then the other disciple spoke to the girl watching at the gate, and she let Peter in. <sup>17</sup> The girl asked Peter, "Aren't you one of Jesus' disciples?"

"No," he said, "I am not!"

<sup>18</sup> The police and the household servants were standing around a fire they had made, for it was cold. And Peter stood there with them, warming himself.

<sup>19</sup> Inside, the High Priest began asking Jesus about his followers and what he had been teaching them.

<sup>20</sup> Jesus replied, "What I teach is widely known, for I have preached regularly in the synagogue and Temple; I have been heard by all the Jewish leaders and teach nothing in private that I have not said in public. <sup>21</sup> Why are you asking me this question? Ask those who heard me. You have some of them here. They know what I said."

<sup>22</sup> One of the soldiers standing there struck Jesus with his fist. "Is that the way to answer the High Priest?" he demanded.

<sup>23</sup> "If I lied, prove it," Jesus replied. "Should you hit a man for telling the truth?"

<sup>25</sup> Meanwhile, as Simon Peter was standing by the fire, he was asked again, "Aren't you one of his disciples?"

"Of course not," he replied.

<sup>26</sup> But one of the household slaves of the High Priest—a relative of the man whose ear Peter had cut off—asked, "Didn't I see you out there in the olive grove with Jesus?"

<sup>27</sup> Again Peter denied it. And immediately a rooster crowed.

<sup>28</sup> Jesus' trial before Caiaphas ended in the early hours of the morning. Next he was taken to the palace of the Roman governor. His accusers wouldn't go in themselves for that would "defile"<sup>a</sup> them, they said, and they wouldn't be allowed to eat the Passover lamb. <sup>29</sup> So Pilate, the governor, went out to them and asked, "What is your charge against this man? What are you accusing him of doing?"

<sup>30</sup> "We wouldn't have arrested him if he weren't a criminal!" they retorted.

<sup>31</sup> "Then take him away and judge him yourselves by your own laws," Pilate told them.

"But we want him crucified," they demanded, "and your approval is required."<sup>b</sup> <sup>32</sup> This fulfilled Jesus' prediction concerning the method of his execution.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>33</sup> Then Pilate went back into the palace and called for Jesus to be brought to him. "Are you the King of the Jews?" he asked him.

<sup>34</sup> " 'King' as you use the word or as the Jews use it?" Jesus asked.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>35</sup> "Am I a Jew?" Pilate retorted. "Your own people and their chief priests brought you here. Why? What have you done?"

<sup>36</sup> Then Jesus answered, "I am not an earthly king. If I were, my followers would have fought when I was arrested by the Jewish leaders. But my Kingdom is not of the world."

<sup>37</sup> Pilate replied, "But you are a king then?"

"Yes," Jesus said. "I was born for that purpose. And I came to bring truth to the world. All who love the truth are my followers."

<sup>38</sup> "What is truth?" Pilate exclaimed. Then he went out again to the people and told them, "He is not guilty of any crime." <sup>39</sup> But you have a custom of asking me to release someone from prison each year at Passover. So if you want me to, I'll release the 'King of the Jews.'"

<sup>40</sup> But they screamed back, "No! Not this man, but Barabbas!" Barabbas was a robber.

19 THEN PILATE LAID open Jesus' back with a leaded whip, <sup>2</sup> and the soldiers made a crown of thorns and placed it on his head and robed him in royal purple. <sup>3</sup> "Hail, 'King of the Jews!'" they mocked, and struck him with their fists.

<sup>4</sup> Pilate went outside again and said to the Jews, "I am going to bring him out to you now, but understand clearly that I find him not guilty."

<sup>5</sup> Then Jesus came out wearing

<sup>a</sup> By Jewish law, entering the house of a Gentile was a serious offense.

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "It is not lawful for us to put any man to death."

<sup>c</sup> This prophecy is recorded in Matthew 20:19, which indicates his death by crucifixion, a practice under Roman law.

<sup>d</sup> A paraphrase of this verse—that goes beyond the limits of this book's paraphrasing—would be, "Do you mean their King, or their Messiah?" If Pilate was asking as the Roman governor, he would be inquiring whether Jesus was setting up a rebel government. But the Jews were using the word "King" to mean their religious ruler, the Messiah. Literally this verse reads, "Are you saying this of yourself, or did someone else say it about me?"

the crown of thorns and the purple robe. And Pilate said, "Behold the man!"

<sup>6</sup> At sight of him the chief priests and Jewish officials began yelling, "Crucify! Crucify!"

"You crucify him," Pilate said. "I find him not guilty."

<sup>7</sup> They replied, "By our laws he ought to die because he called himself the Son of God."

<sup>8</sup> When Pilate heard this, he was more frightened than ever. <sup>9</sup> He took Jesus back into the palace again and asked him, "Where are you from?" but Jesus gave no answer.

<sup>10</sup> "You won't talk to me?" Pilate demanded. "Don't you realize that I have the power to release you or to crucify you?"

<sup>11</sup> Then Jesus said, "You would have no power at all over me unless it were given to you from above. So those<sup>a</sup> who brought me to you have the greater sin."

<sup>12</sup> Then Pilate tried to release him, but the Jewish leaders told him, "If you release this man, you are no friend of Caesar's. Anyone who declares himself a king is a rebel against Caesar."

<sup>13</sup> At these words Pilate brought Jesus out to them again and sat down at the judgment bench on the stone-paved platform.<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> It was now about noon of the day before Passover.

And Pilate said to the Jews, "Here is your king!"

<sup>15</sup> "Away with him," they yelled. "Away with him—crucify him!"

"What? Crucify your king?" Pilate asked.

"We have no king but Caesar," the chief priests shouted back.

<sup>16</sup> Then Pilate gave Jesus to them to be crucified.

<sup>17</sup> So they had him at last, and he was taken out of the city, carrying his cross to the place known as "The Skull," in Hebrew, "Golgotha." <sup>18</sup> There they crucified him and two others with him, one on either side, with Jesus between them. <sup>19</sup> And Pilate posted a sign over him reading, "Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews."

<sup>20</sup> The place where Jesus was crucified was near the city; and the sign-board was written in Hebrew, Latin, and Greek, so that many people read it.

<sup>21</sup> Then the chief priests said to Pilate, "Change it from 'The King of the Jews' to 'He said, I am King of the Jews.'"

<sup>22</sup> Pilate replied, "What I have written, I have written. It stays exactly as it is."

<sup>23,24</sup> When the soldiers had crucified Jesus, they put his garments into four piles, one for each of them. But they said, "Let's not tear up his robe," for it was seamless. "Let's throw dice to see who gets it."

This fulfilled the Scripture that says,

"They divided my clothes among them, and cast lots for my robe."<sup>c</sup>

<sup>25</sup> So that is what they did.

Standing near the cross were Jesus' mother, Mary, his aunt, the wife of Cleopas, and Mary Magdalene. <sup>26</sup> When Jesus saw his mother standing there beside me, his close friend,<sup>d</sup> he said to her, "He is your son."

<sup>27</sup> And to me<sup>e</sup> he said, "She is your mother!" And from then on I took her into my home.

<sup>28</sup> Jesus knew that everything was now finished, and to fulfill the Scriptures said, "I'm thirsty." <sup>29</sup> A jar of sour wine was sitting there, so a sponge was soaked in it and put on a hyssop branch and held up to his lips.

<sup>30</sup> When Jesus had tasted<sup>f</sup> it, he said, "It is finished," and bowed his head and dismissed his spirit.

<sup>31</sup> The Jewish leaders didn't want the victims hanging there the next day, which was the Sabbath (and a very special Sabbath at that, for it was the Passover), so they asked Pilate to order the legs of the men broken to hasten death; then their bodies could be taken down.

<sup>32</sup> So the soldiers came and broke the legs of the two men crucified with Jesus; <sup>33</sup> but when they came to him, they saw that he was dead already, so they didn't break his.

<sup>34</sup> However, one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and blood and water flowed out. <sup>35</sup> I saw all this myself and have given an accurate report so that you also can believe.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>36,37</sup> The soldiers did this in fulfillment of the Scripture that says, "Not one of his bones shall be broken," and, "They shall look on him whom they pierced."

<sup>38</sup> Afterwards Joseph of Arimathea, who had been a secret disciple of Jesus for fear of the Jewish leaders, boldly asked Pilate for permission to take Jesus' body down; and Pilate told him to go ahead. So he came and took it away.

<sup>39</sup> Nicodemus, the man who had come to Jesus at night,<sup>h</sup> came too, bringing a hundred pounds of embalming ointment made from myrrh and aloes. <sup>40</sup> Together they wrapped Jesus' body in a long linen cloth saturated with the spices, as is the Jewish custom of burial.

<sup>41</sup> The place of crucifixion was near a grove of trees,<sup>i</sup> where there was a new tomb, never used before.

<sup>42</sup> And so, because of the need for haste before the Sabbath, and because the tomb was close at hand, they laid him there.

20 EARLY SUNDAY<sup>a</sup> MORNING, while it was still dark, Mary Magdalene came to the tomb and found that the stone was rolled aside from the entrance.

<sup>2</sup> She ran and found Simon Peter and me<sup>b</sup> and said, "They have taken the Lord's body out of the tomb, and I don't know where they have put him!"

<sup>3,4</sup> We<sup>c</sup> ran to the tomb to see; I<sup>d</sup> outran Peter and got there first, <sup>5</sup> and stooped and looked in and saw the linen cloth lying there, but I didn't go in. <sup>6</sup> Then Simon Peter arrived and went on inside. He also noticed the cloth lying there, <sup>7</sup> while the swath that had covered Jesus' head was rolled up in a bundle and was lying at the side. <sup>4</sup> Then I went in too, and saw, and believed [that he had risen<sup>c</sup>]<sup>5</sup>—<sup>6</sup> for until then we hadn't realized that the Scriptures said he would come to life again!

<sup>13</sup> "Why are you crying?" the angels asked her.

"Because they have taken away my Lord," she replied, "and I don't know where they have put him."

<sup>14</sup> She glanced over her shoulder and saw someone standing behind her. It was Jesus, but she didn't recognize him!

<sup>15</sup> "Why are you crying?" he asked her. "Whom are you looking for?"

She thought he was the gardener. "Sir," she said, "if you have taken him away, tell me where you have put him, and I will go and get him."

<sup>16</sup> "Mary!" Jesus said. She turned toward him.

"Master!" she exclaimed.

<sup>17</sup> "Don't touch me," he cautioned, "for I haven't yet ascended to the Father. But go find my brothers and tell them that I ascend to my Father and your Father, my God and your God."

<sup>18</sup> Mary Magdalene found the disciples and told them, "I have seen the Lord!" Then she gave them his message.

<sup>19</sup> That evening the disciples were meeting behind locked doors, in fear of the Jewish leaders, when suddenly Jesus was standing there among them! After greeting them, <sup>20</sup> he showed them his hands and side. And how wonderful was their joy as they saw their Lord!

<sup>21</sup> He spoke to them again and said, "As the Father has sent me, even so I am sending you." <sup>22</sup> Then he breathed on them and told them, "Receive the Holy Spirit. <sup>23</sup> If you forgive anyone's sins, they are forgiven. If you refuse to forgive them, they are unforgiven."

<sup>24</sup> One of the disciples, Thomas, "The Twin," was not there at the time with the others. <sup>25</sup> When they kept telling him, "We have seen the Lord," he replied, "I won't believe it unless I see the nail wounds in his hands—and put my fingers into them—and place my hand into his side."

<sup>26</sup> Eight days later the disciples were together again, and this time Thomas was with them. The doors were locked; but suddenly, as before, Jesus was standing among them and greeting them.

<sup>27</sup> Then he said to Thomas, "Put your finger into my hands. Put your hand into my side. Don't be faithless any longer. Believe!"

<sup>28</sup> "My Lord and my God!" Thomas said.

<sup>29</sup> Then Jesus told him, "You believe because you have seen me. But blessed are those who haven't seen me and believe anyway."

<sup>30,31</sup> Jesus' disciples saw him do many other miracles besides the ones told about in this book, but these are recorded so that you will believe that he is the Messiah, the Son of God, and that believing in him you will have life.

21 LATER JESUS APPEARED again to the disciples beside the Lake of Galilee. This is how it happened:

<sup>3</sup> Simon Peter said, "I'm going fishing."

"We'll come too," we all said. We did, but caught nothing all night. <sup>4</sup> At dawn we saw a man standing on the beach but couldn't see who he was.

<sup>5</sup> He called, "Any fish, boys?"<sup>b</sup>

"No," we replied.

<sup>6</sup> Then he said, "Throw out your net on the right-hand side of the boat, and you'll get plenty of them!" So we did, and couldn't draw in the net because of the weight of the fish, there were so many!

<sup>7</sup> Then I<sup>c</sup> said to Peter, "It is the Lord!" At that, Simon Peter put on his tunic (for he was stripped to the waist) and jumped into the water [and swam ashore<sup>d</sup>]. <sup>8</sup> The rest of us stayed in the boat and pulled the loaded net to the beach, about 300 feet away. <sup>9</sup> When we got there, we saw that a fire was kindled and fish were frying over it, and there was bread.

just caught," Jesus said. <sup>11</sup> So Simon Peter went out and dragged the net ashore. By his count there were 153 large fish; and yet the net hadn't torn.

<sup>12</sup> "Now come and have some breakfast!" Jesus said; and none of us dared ask him if he really was the Lord, for we were quite sure of it. <sup>13</sup> Then Jesus went around serving us the bread and fish.

<sup>14</sup> This was the third time Jesus had appeared to us since his return from the dead.

<sup>15</sup> After breakfast Jesus said to Simon Peter, "Simon, son of John, do you love me more than these others?"<sup>e</sup>

"Yes," Peter replied, "You know I am your friend."

"Then feed my lambs," Jesus told him.

<sup>16</sup> Jesus repeated the question: "Simon, son of John, do you really love me?"

"Yes, Lord," Peter said, "you know I am your friend."

"Then take care of my sheep," Jesus said.

<sup>17</sup> Once more he asked him, "Simon, son of John, are you even my friend?"

Peter was grieved at the way Jesus asked the question this third time. "Lord, you know my heart;<sup>f</sup> you know I am," he said.

Jesus said, "Then feed my little sheep. <sup>18</sup> When you were young, you were able to do as you liked and go wherever you wanted to; but when you are old, you will stretch out your hands and others will direct you and take you where you don't want to go."

<sup>19</sup> Jesus said this to let him know what kind of death he would die to glorify God. Then Jesus told him, "Follow me."

<sup>20</sup> Peter turned around and saw the disciple Jesus loved following, the one who had leaned around at supper that time to ask Jesus, "Master, which of us will betray you?" <sup>21</sup> Peter asked Jesus, "What about him, Lord? What sort of death will he die?"<sup>g</sup>

<sup>22</sup> Jesus replied, "If I want him to live<sup>h</sup> until I return, what is that to you? You follow me."

<sup>23</sup> So the rumor spread among the brotherhood that that disciple wouldn't die! But that isn't what Jesus said at all! He only said, "If I want him to live<sup>h</sup> until I come, what is that to you?"

<sup>24</sup> I am that disciple! I saw these events and have recorded them here. And we all know that my account of these things is accurate.

<sup>25</sup> And I suppose that if all the other events in Jesus' life were written, the whole world could hardly contain the books!

ACTS

1 DEAR FRIEND WHO loves God:

In my first letter<sup>a</sup> I told you about Jesus' life and teachings and how he returned to heaven after giving his chosen apostles further instructions from the Holy Spirit.

<sup>3</sup> During the forty days after his crucifixion he appeared to the apostles from time to time, actually alive, and proved to them in many ways that it was really he himself they were seeing. And on these occasions he talked to them about the Kingdom of God.

<sup>4</sup> In one of these meetings he told them not to leave Jerusalem until the Holy Spirit came upon them in fulfillment of the Father's promise, a matter he had previously discussed with them.

<sup>6</sup> And another time when he appeared to them, they asked him, "Lord, are you going to free Israel [from Rome<sup>c</sup>] now and restore us as an independent nation?"

<sup>7</sup> "The Father sets those dates," he replied, "and they are not for you to know."

<sup>8</sup> "But when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, you will receive power to testify about me with great effect, to the people in Jerusalem, throughout Judea, in Samaria, and to the ends of the earth, about my death and resurrection."

<sup>9</sup> It was not long afterwards that he rose into the sky and disappeared into a cloud, leaving them staring after him. <sup>10</sup> As they were straining their eyes for another glimpse, suddenly two white-robed men were standing there among them, <sup>11</sup> and said, "Men of Galilee, why are you standing here staring at the sky? Jesus has gone away to heaven, and some day, just as he went, he will return!"

<sup>12</sup> They were at the Mount of Olives when this happened, so now they walked the half mile back to Jerusalem <sup>13</sup> and held a prayer meeting in an upstairs room of the house where they were staying.

<sup>14</sup> Here is the list of those who were present at the meeting:

Peter,
John,
James,
Andrew,
Philip,
Thomas,
Bartholomew,
Matthew,
James (son of Alphaeus),
Simon (also called "The Zealot"),
Judas (son of James),
And the brothers of Jesus.
Several women, including Jesus' mother, were also there.

<sup>15</sup> This prayer meeting went on for several days.

During this time, on a day when about 120 people were present, Peter stood up and addressed them as follows:

<sup>16</sup> "Brothers, it was necessary for the Scriptures to come true concerning Judas, who betrayed Jesus by guiding the mob to him, for this was predicted long ago by the Holy Spirit, speaking through King David. <sup>17</sup> Judas was one of us, chosen to be an apostle just as we were. <sup>18</sup> He bought a field with the money he received for his treachery and falling headlong there, he burst open, spilling out his bowels. <sup>19</sup> The news of his death spread rapidly among all the people of Jerusalem, and they named the place 'The Field of Blood.' <sup>20</sup> King David's prediction of this appears in the Book of Psalms, where he says, 'Let his home become desolate with no one living in it.'<sup>d</sup> And again, 'Let his work be given to someone else to do.'<sup>e</sup>

<sup>21,22</sup> "So now we must choose someone else to take Judas' place and to join us as witnesses of Jesus' resurrection. Let us select someone who has been with us constantly from our first association with the Lord—from the time he was baptized by John until the day he was taken from us into heaven."

<sup>23</sup> The assembly nominated two men: Joseph Justus (also called Barsabbas) and Matthias. <sup>24,25</sup> Then they all prayed for the right man to be chosen.

"O Lord," they said, "you know every heart; show us which of these men you have chosen as an apostle to replace Judas the traitor, who has gone on to his proper place."

<sup>26</sup> Then they drew straws,<sup>f</sup> and in this manner Matthias was chosen and became an apostle with the other eleven.

2 SEVEN WEEKS HAD gone by since Jesus' death and resurrection, and the Day of Pentecost had now arrived.<sup>a</sup> As the believers met together that day, suddenly there was a sound like the roaring of a mighty windstorm in the skies above them and it filled the house where they were meeting. Then, what looked like flames or tongues of fire appeared and settled on their heads.

And everyone present was filled with the Holy Spirit and began speaking in languages they didn't know,<sup>b</sup> for the Holy Spirit gave them this ability.

Many godly Jews were in Jerusalem that day for the religious celebrations, having arrived from many nations. And when they heard the roaring in the sky above the house, crowds came running to see what it was all about, and were stunned to hear their own languages being spoken by the disciples.

"How can this be?" they exclaimed. "For these men are all from Galilee, and yet we hear them speaking all the native languages of the lands where we were born! Here we are—Parthians, Medes, Elamites, men from Mesopotamia, Judea, Cappadocia, Pontus, Asia,<sup>c</sup> Phrygia, Pamphylia, Egypt, the Cyrene language areas of Libya, visitors from Rome—both Jews and Jewish converts—Cretans, and Arabians. And we all hear these men telling in our own languages about the mighty miracles of God!"

They stood there amazed and perplexed. "What can this mean?" they asked each other.

But others in the crowd were mocking. "They're drunk, that's all!" they said.

Then Peter stepped forward with the eleven apostles, and shouted to the crowd, "Listen, all of you, visitors and residents of Jerusalem alike! Some of you are saying these men are drunk! It isn't true! It's much too early for that! People don't get drunk by 9 A.M.! No! What you see this morning was predicted centuries ago by the prophet Joel—'In the last days,' God said, 'I will pour out my Holy Spirit upon all mankind, and your sons and daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men dream dreams.' Yes, the Holy Spirit shall come upon all my servants, men and women alike, and they shall prophesy. And I will cause strange demonstrations in the heavens and on the earth—blood and fire and clouds of smoke; the sun shall turn black and the moon blood-red before that awesome Day of the Lord arrives. But anyone who asks for mercy from the Lord shall have it and shall be saved."

"O men of Israel, listen! God publicly endorsed Jesus of Nazareth by doing tremendous miracles through him, as you well know.

<sup>21</sup> But God, following his prearranged plan, let you use the Roman <sup>d</sup> government to nail him to the cross and murder him. <sup>24</sup> Then God released him from the horrors of death and brought him back to life again, for death could not keep this man within its grip.

'I know the Lord is always with me. He is helping me. God's mighty power supports me.

<sup>26</sup> 'No wonder my heart is filled with joy and my tongue shouts his praises! For I know all will be well with me in death—

<sup>27</sup> 'You will not leave my soul in hell or let the body of your Holy Son decay.

<sup>28</sup> 'You will give me back my life, and give me wonderful joy in your presence.'

<sup>29</sup> "Dear brothers, think! David wasn't referring to himself when he spoke these words I have quoted,<sup>e</sup> for he died and was buried, and his tomb is still here among us. <sup>30</sup> But he was a prophet, and knew God had promised with an unbreakable oath that one of David's own descendants would [be the Messiah and<sup>e</sup>] sit on David's throne. <sup>31</sup> David was looking far into the future and predicting the Messiah's resurrection, and saying that the Messiah's soul would not be left in hell and his body would not decay. <sup>32</sup> He was speaking of Jesus, and we all are witnesses that Jesus rose from the dead.

<sup>33</sup> "And now he sits on the throne of highest honor in heaven, next to God. And just as promised, the Father gave him the authority to send the Holy Spirit—with the results you are seeing and hearing today.

<sup>34</sup> "[No, David was not speaking of himself in these words of his I have quoted<sup>e</sup>], for he never ascended into the skies. Moreover, he further stated, 'God spoke to my Lord, the Messiah, and said to him, Sit here in honor beside me' <sup>35</sup> until I bring your enemies into complete subjection.'

<sup>36</sup> "Therefore I clearly state to everyone in Israel that God has made this Jesus you crucified to be the Lord, the Messiah!"

<sup>37</sup> These words of Peter's moved them deeply, and they said to him and to the other apostles, "Brothers, what should we do?"

<sup>38</sup> And Peter replied, "Each one of you must turn from sin, return to God, and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; then you also shall receive this gift, the Holy Spirit. <sup>39</sup> For Christ promised him to each one of you who has been called by the Lord our God, and to your children and even to those in distant lands!"

<sup>40</sup> Then Peter preached a long sermon, telling about Jesus and strongly urging all his listeners to save themselves from the evils of their nation. <sup>41</sup> And those who believed Peter were baptized—about 3,000 in all! <sup>42</sup> They joined with the other believers in regular attendance at the apostles' teaching sessions and at the Communion services<sup>f</sup> and prayer meetings.

<sup>4</sup> A deep sense of awe was on them all, and the apostles did many miracles.

3 PETER AND JOHN went to the Temple one afternoon to take part in the three o'clock daily prayer meeting. <sup>1</sup> As they approached the Temple, they saw a man lame from birth carried along the street and laid beside the Temple gate—the one called The Beautiful Gate—as was his custom every day. <sup>2</sup> As Peter and John were passing by, he asked them for some money.

<sup>5</sup> But Peter said, "We don't have any money for you! But I'll give you something else! I command you in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, walk!"

<sup>6</sup> Then Peter took the lame man by the hand and pulled him to his feet. And as he did, the man's feet and ankle-bones were healed and strengthened so that he came up with a leap, stood there a moment and began walking! Then, walking, leaping, and praising God, he went into the Temple with them.

<sup>7</sup> When the people inside saw him walking and heard him praising God, <sup>8</sup> and realized he was the lame beggar they had seen so often at The Beautiful Gate, they were inexpressibly surprised! <sup>9</sup> They all rushed out to Solomon's Hall, where he was holding tightly to Peter and John! Everyone stood there awed by the wonderful thing that had happened.

<sup>10</sup> Peter saw his opportunity and addressed the crowd. "Men of Israel," he said, "what is so surprising about this? And why look at us as though we by our own power and godliness had made this man walk?"

<sup>11</sup> For it is the God of Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and of all our ancestors who has brought glory to his servant Jesus by doing this. I refer to the Jesus whom you rejected before Pilate, despite Pilate's determination to release him. <sup>12</sup> You didn't want him freed—this holy, righteous one. Instead you demanded the release of a murderer. <sup>13</sup> And you killed the Author of Life; but God brought him back to life again. And John and I are witnesses of this fact, for after you killed him we saw him alive!

<sup>14</sup> "Jesus' name has healed this man—and you know how lame he was before. Faith in Jesus' name—faith given us from God—has caused this perfect healing.

<sup>15</sup> "Dear brothers, I realize that what you did to Jesus was done in ignorance; and the same can be said of your leaders. <sup>18</sup> But God was fulfilling the prophecies that the Messiah must suffer all these things. <sup>19</sup> Now change your mind and attitude to God and turn to him so he can cleanse away your sins and send you wonderful times of refreshment from the presence of the Lord <sup>20</sup> and send Jesus your Messiah back to you again. <sup>21,22</sup> For he must remain in heaven until the final recovery of all things from sin, as prophesied from ancient times. Moses, for instance, said long ago, 'The Lord God will raise up a Prophet among you, who will resemble me!<sup>a</sup> Listen carefully to everything he tells you. <sup>21</sup> Anyone who will not listen to him shall be utterly destroyed.'<sup>b</sup>

<sup>24</sup> "Samuel and every prophet since have all spoken about what is going on today. <sup>25</sup> You are the children of those prophets; and you are included in God's promise to your ancestors to bless the entire world through the Jewish race—that is the promise God gave to Abraham. <sup>26</sup> And as soon as God had brought his servant to life again, he sent him first of all to you men of Israel, to bless you by turning you back from your sins."

4 WHILE THEY WERE talking to the people, the chief priests, the captain of the Temple police, and some of the Sadducees<sup>a</sup> came over to them, <sup>2</sup> very disturbed that Peter and John were claiming that Jesus had risen from the dead. <sup>3</sup> They arrested them and since it was already evening, jailed them overnight. <sup>4</sup> But many of the people who heard their message believed it, so that the number of believers now reached a new high of about 5,000 men!

<sup>5</sup> The next day it happened that the Council of all the Jewish leaders was in session in Jerusalem— <sup>6</sup> Annas the High Priest was there, and Caiaphas, John, Alexander, and others of the High Priest's relatives. <sup>7</sup> So the two disciples were brought in before them.

"By what power, or by whose authority have you done this?" the Council demanded.

<sup>8</sup> Then Peter, filled with the Holy Spirit, said to them, "Honorable leaders and elders of our nation, <sup>9</sup> if you mean the good deed done to the cripple, and how he was healed, <sup>10</sup> let me clearly state to you and to all the people of Israel that it was done in the name and power of Jesus from Nazareth, the Messiah, the man you crucified—but God raised back to life again. It is by his authority that this man stands here healed! <sup>11</sup> For Jesus the Messiah is (the one referred to in the Scriptures when they speak of) a 'stone discarded by the builders which became the capstone of the arch.'<sup>b</sup>

<sup>12</sup> There is salvation in no one else! Under all heaven there is no other name for men to call upon to save them."

<sup>13</sup> When the Council saw the boldness of Peter and John, and could see that they were obviously uneducated non-professionals, they were amazed and realized what being with Jesus had done for them! "And the Council could hardly discredit the healing when the man they had healed was standing right there beside them! "So they sent them out of the Council chamber and conferred among themselves.

"What shall we do with these men?" they asked each other. "We can't deny that they have done a tremendous miracle, and everybody in Jerusalem knows about it. "But perhaps we can stop them from spreading their propaganda. We'll tell them that if they do it again we'll really throw the book at them." "So they called them back in, and told them never again to speak about Jesus.

"But Peter and John replied, "You decide whether God wants us to obey you instead of him! "We cannot stop telling about the wonderful things we saw Jesus do and heard him say."

"The Council then threatened them further, and finally let them go because they didn't know how to punish them without starting a riot. For everyone was praising God for this wonderful miracle— "the healing of a man who had been lame for forty years.

"As soon as they were freed, Peter and John found the other disciples and told them what the Council had said.

"Then all the believers united in this prayer:

"O Lord, Creator of heaven and earth and of the sea and everything in them— "you spoke long ago by the Holy Spirit through our ancestor King David, your servant, saying, 'Why do the heathen rage against the Lord, and the foolish nations plan their little plots against Almighty God? The kings of the earth unite to fight against him, and against the anointed Son of God!'

"That is what is happening here in this city today! For Herod the king, and Pontius Pilate the governor, and all the Romans—as well as the people of Israel—are united against Jesus, your anointed Son, your holy servant. "They won't stop at anything that you in your wise power will let them do. "And now, O Lord, hear their threats, and grant to your servants great boldness in their preaching, "and send your healing power, and may miracles and wonders be done by the name of your holy servant Jesus."

"After this prayer, the building where they were meeting shook and they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and boldly preached God's message.

"All the believers were of one heart and mind, and no one felt that what he owned was his own; every one was sharing. "And the apostles preached powerful sermons about the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and there was warm fellowship<sup>c</sup> among all the believers, "and no poverty—for all who owned land or houses sold them and brought the money to the apostles to give to others in need.

"For instance, there was Joseph (the one the apostles nicknamed "Barny the Preacher"! He was of the tribe of Levi, from the island of Cyprus). "He was one of those who sold a field he owned and brought the money to the apostles for distribution to those in need.

5 BUT THERE WAS a man named Ananias (with his wife Sapphira) who sold some property, <sup>2</sup> and brought only part of the money, claiming it was the full price. (His wife had agreed to this deception.)

<sup>3</sup> But Peter said, "Ananias, Satan has filled your heart. When you claimed this was the full price, you were lying to the Holy Spirit. <sup>4</sup> The property was yours to sell or not, as you wished. And after selling it, it was yours to decide how much to give. How could you do a thing like this? You weren't lying to us, but to God."

<sup>5</sup> As soon as Ananias heard these words, he fell to the floor, dead! Everyone was terrified, <sup>6</sup> and the younger men covered him with a sheet and took him out and buried him.

<sup>7</sup> About three hours later his wife came in, not knowing what had happened. <sup>8</sup> Peter asked her, "Did you people sell your land for such and such a price?"

"Yes," she replied, "we did."

<sup>9</sup> And Peter said, "How could you and your husband even think of doing a thing like this—conspiring together to test the Spirit of God's ability to know what is going on?<sup>a</sup> Just outside that door are the young men who buried your husband, and they will carry you out too."

<sup>10</sup> Instantly she fell to the floor, dead, and the young men came in and, seeing that she was dead, carried her out and buried her beside her husband. <sup>11</sup> Terror gripped the entire church and all others who heard what had happened.

<sup>12</sup> Meanwhile, the apostles were meeting regularly at the Temple in the area known as Solomon's Hall, and they did many remarkable miracles among the people. <sup>13</sup> The other believers didn't dare join them, though, but all had the highest regard for them. <sup>14</sup> And more and more believers were added to the Lord, crowds both of men and women. <sup>15</sup> Sick people were brought out into the streets on beds and mats so that at least Peter's shadow would fall across some of them as he went by! <sup>16</sup> And crowds came in from the Jerusalem suburbs, bringing their sick folk and those possessed by demons; and every one of them was healed.

<sup>17</sup> The High Priest and his relatives and friends among the Sadducees reacted with violent jealousy <sup>18</sup> and arrested the apostles, and put them in the public jail.

<sup>19</sup> But an angel of the Lord came at night, opened the gates of the jail and brought them out. Then he told them, <sup>20</sup> "Go over to the Temple and preach about this Life!"

<sup>21</sup> They arrived at the Temple about daybreak, and immediately began preaching! Later that morning<sup>b</sup> the High Priest and his courtiers arrived at the Temple, and, convening the Jewish Council and the entire Senate, they sent for the apostles to be brought for trial.

<sup>22</sup> But when the police arrived at the jail, the men weren't there, so they returned to the Council and reported, <sup>23</sup> "The jail doors were locked, and the guards were standing outside, but when we opened the gates, no one was there!"

<sup>24</sup> When the police captain<sup>c</sup> and the chief priests heard this, they were frantic, wondering what would happen next and where all this would end! <sup>25</sup> Then someone arrived with the news that the men they had jailed were out in the Temple, preaching to the people!

<sup>26,27</sup> The police captain went with his officers and arrested them (without violence, for they were afraid the people would kill them if they roughed up the disciples) and brought them in before the Council.

<sup>28</sup> "Didn't we tell you never again to preach about this Jesus?" the High Priest demanded. "And instead you have filled all Jerusalem with your teaching and intend to bring the blame for this man's death on us!"

<sup>29</sup> But Peter and the apostles replied, "We must obey God rather than men. <sup>30</sup> The God of our ancestors brought Jesus back to life again after you had killed him by hanging him on a cross. <sup>31</sup> Then, with mighty power, God exalted him to be a Prince and Savior, so that the people of Israel would have an opportunity for repentance, and for their sins to be forgiven. <sup>32</sup> And we are witnesses of these things, and so is the Holy Spirit, who is given by God to all who obey him."

<sup>33</sup> At this, the Council was furious, and decided to kill them. <sup>34</sup> But one of their members, a Pharisee named Gamaliel (an expert on religious law and very popular with the people), stood up and requested that the apostles be sent outside the Council chamber while he talked.

<sup>35</sup> Then he addressed his colleagues as follows:

"Men of Israel, take care what you are planning to do to these men! <sup>36</sup> Some time ago there was that fellow Theudas, who pretended to be someone great. About 400 others joined him, but he was killed, and his followers were harmlessly dispersed.

<sup>37</sup> "After him, at the time of the taxation, there was Judas of Galilee. He drew away some people as disciples, but he also died, and his followers scattered.

<sup>38</sup> "And so my advice is, leave these men alone. If what they teach and do is merely on their own, it will soon be overthrown. <sup>39</sup> But if it is of God, you will not be able to stop them, lest you find yourselves fighting even against God."

<sup>40</sup> The Council accepted his advice, called in the apostles, had them beaten, and then told them never again to speak in the name of Jesus, and finally let them go. <sup>41</sup> They left the Council chamber rejoicing that God had counted them worthy to suffer dishonor for his name. <sup>42</sup> And every day, in the Temple and in their home Bible classes, they continued to teach and preach that Jesus is the Messiah.

6 BUT WITH THE believers multiplying rapidly, there were rumblings of discontent. Those who spoke only Greek complained that their widows were being discriminated against, that they were not being given as much food, in the daily distribution, as the widows who spoke Hebrew. <sup>2</sup> So the Twelve called a meeting of all the believers.

"We should spend our time preaching, not administering a feeding program," they said <sup>3</sup> "Now look around among yourselves, dear brothers, and select seven men, wise and full of the Holy Spirit, who are well thought of by everyone; and we will put them in charge of this business. <sup>4</sup> Then we can spend our time in prayer, preaching, and teaching."

<sup>5</sup> This sounded reasonable to the whole assembly, and they elected the following:

Stephen (a man unusually full of faith and the Holy Spirit),

Philip,

Prochorus,

Nicanor,

Timon,

Parnenas,

Nicolaus of Antioch (a Gentile convert to the Jewish faith, who had become a Christian).

<sup>6</sup> These seven were presented to the apostles, who prayed for them and laid their hands on them in blessing.

<sup>7</sup> God's message was preached in ever-widening circles, and the number of disciples increased vastly in Jerusalem; and many of the Jewish priests were converted too. <sup>8</sup> Stephen, the man so full of faith and the Holy Spirit's power, <sup>9</sup> did spectacular miracles among the people.

<sup>10</sup> But one day some of the men from the Jewish cult of "The Freedmen" started an argument with him, and they were soon joined by Jews from Cyrene, Alexandria in Egypt, and the Turkish provinces of Cilicia, and Asia. <sup>11</sup> But none of them were able to stand against Stephen's wisdom and spirit.

<sup>12</sup> So they brought in some men to lie about him, claiming they had heard Stephen curse Moses, and even God.

<sup>13</sup> This accusation roused the crowds to fury against Stephen, and the Jewish leaders <sup>b</sup> arrested him and brought him before the Council. <sup>14</sup> The lying witnesses testified again that Stephen was constantly speaking against the Temple and against the laws of Moses.

<sup>15</sup> They declared, "We have heard him say that this fellow Jesus of Nazareth will destroy the Temple, and throw out all of Moses' laws." <sup>16</sup> At this point everyone in the Council chamber saw Stephen's face become as radiant as an angel's!

7 THEN THE HIGH Priest asked him, "Are these accusations true?"

<sup>2</sup> This was Stephen's lengthy reply: "The glorious God appeared to our ancestor Abraham in Iraq<sup>a</sup> before he moved to Syria,<sup>b</sup> <sup>3</sup> and told him to leave his native land, to say good-bye to his relatives and to start out for a country that God would direct him to. <sup>4</sup> So he left the land of the Chaldeans and lived in Haran, in Syria, until his father died. Then God brought him here to the land of Israel,<sup>3</sup> but gave him no property of his own, not one little tract of land.

"However, God promised that eventually the whole country would belong to him and his descendants—though as yet he had no children!<sup>6</sup> But God also told him that these descendants of his would leave the land and live in a foreign country and there become slaves for 400 years.<sup>7</sup> 'But I will punish the nation that enslaves them,' God told him, 'and afterwards my people will return to this land of Israel and worship me here.'

<sup>8</sup> "God also gave Abraham the ceremony of circumcision at that time, as evidence of the covenant between God and the people of Abraham. And so Isaac, Abraham's son, was circumcised when he was eight days old. Isaac became the father of Jacob, and Jacob was the father of the twelve patriarchs of the Jewish nation.<sup>9</sup> These men were very jealous of Joseph and sold him to be a slave in Egypt. But God was with him,<sup>10</sup> and delivered him out of all of his anguish, and gave him favor before Pharaoh, king of Egypt. God also gave Joseph unusual wisdom, so that Pharaoh appointed him governor over all Egypt, as well as putting him in charge of all the affairs of the palace.

<sup>11</sup> "But a famine developed in Egypt and Canaan and there was great misery for our ancestors. When their food was gone,<sup>12</sup> Jacob heard that there was still grain in Egypt, so he sent his sons<sup>c</sup> to buy some.<sup>13</sup> The second time they went, Joseph revealed his identity to his brothers, and they were introduced to Pharaoh.<sup>14</sup> Then Joseph sent for his father Jacob and all his brothers' families to come to Egypt, seventy-five persons in all.<sup>15</sup> So Jacob came to Egypt, where he died, and all his sons.<sup>16</sup> All of them were taken to Shechem and buried in the tomb Abraham bought from the sons of Hamor, Shechem's father.

<sup>17,18</sup> "As the time drew near when God would fulfill his promise to Abraham to free his descendants from slavery, the Jewish people greatly multiplied in Egypt; but then a king was crowned who had no respect for Joseph's memory.<sup>19</sup> This king plotted against our race, forcing parents to abandon their children in the fields.

<sup>20</sup> "About that time Moses was born—a child of divine beauty. His parents hid him at home for three months,<sup>21</sup> and when at last they could no longer keep him hidden, and had to abandon him, Pharaoh's daughter found him and adopted him as her own son,<sup>22</sup> and taught him all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and he became a mighty prince and orator.

<sup>23</sup> "One day as he was nearing his fortieth birthday, it came into his mind to visit his brothers, the people of Israel.<sup>24</sup> During this visit he saw an Egyptian mistreating a man of Israel. So Moses killed the Egyptian.<sup>25</sup> Moses supposed his brothers would realize that God had sent him to help them, but they didn't.

again and saw two men of Israel fighting. He tried to be a peace-maker. 'Gentlemen,' he said, 'you are brothers and shouldn't be fighting like this! It is wrong!'

"But the man in the wrong told Moses to mind his own business. 'Who made you a ruler and judge over us?' he asked. 'Are you going to kill me as you killed that Egyptian yesterday?'

"At this, Moses fled the country, and lived in the land of Midian, where his two sons were born.

"Forty years later, in the desert near Mount Sinai, an Angel appeared to him in a flame of fire in a bush. "Moses saw it and wondered what it was, and as he ran to see, the voice of the Lord called out to him, "I am the God of your ancestors—of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.' Moses shook with terror and dared not look.

"And the Lord said to him, 'Take off your shoes, for you are standing on holy ground. "I have seen the anguish of my people in Egypt and have heard their cries. I have come down to deliver them. Come, I will send you to Egypt.'

"And so God sent back the same man his people had previously rejected by demanding, 'Who made you a ruler and judge over us?' Moses was sent to be their ruler and savior. "And by means of many remarkable miracles he led them out of Egypt and through the Red Sea, and back and forth through the wilderness for forty years.

"Moses himself told the people of Israel, 'God will raise up a Prophet much like me<sup>d</sup> from among your brothers.' "How true this proved to be, for in the wilderness, Moses was the go-between—the mediator between the people of Israel and the Angel who gave them the Law of God—the Living Word—on Mount Sinai.

"But our fathers rejected Moses and wanted to return to Egypt. "They told Aaron, 'Make idols for us, so that we will have gods to lead us back; for we don't know what has become of this Moses, who brought us out of Egypt.' "So they made a calf-idol and sacrificed to it, and rejoiced in this thing they had made.

"Then God turned away from them and gave them up, and let them serve the sun, moon and stars as their gods! In the book of Amos' prophecies the Lord God asks, 'Was it to me you were sacrificing during those forty years in the desert, Israel?' "No, your real interest was in your heathen gods—Sak-kuth, and the star god Kaiway, and in all the images you made. So I will send you into captivity far away beyond Bábylon.'

"Our ancestors carried along with them a portable Temple, or Tabernacle, through the wilderness. In it they kept the stone tablets with the Ten Commandments written on them. This building was constructed in exact accordance with the plan shown to Moses by the Angel. "Years later, when Joshua led the battles against the Gentile nations, this Tabernacle was taken with them into their new territory, and used until the time of King David.

"God blessed David greatly, and David asked for the privilege of building a permanent Temple for the God of Jacob." But it was Solomon who actually built it. "However, God doesn't live in temples made by human hands. 'The heaven is my throne,' says the Lord through his prophets, 'and earth is my footstool. What kind of home could you build?' asks the Lord. 'Would I stay in it?' Didn't I make both heaven and earth?"

"You stiff-necked heathen! Must you forever resist the Holy Spirit? But your fathers did, and so do you! Name one prophet your ancestors didn't persecute! They even killed the ones who predicted the coming of the Righteous One—the Messiah whom you betrayed and murdered." Yes, and you deliberately destroyed God's Laws, though you received them from the hands of angels."

The Jewish leaders were stung to fury by Stephen's accusation, and ground their teeth in rage. But Stephen, full of the Holy Spirit, gazed steadily upward into heaven and saw the glory of God and Jesus standing at God's right hand. And he told them, "Look, I see the heavens opened and Jesus the Messiah<sup>f</sup> standing beside God, at his right hand!"

Then they mobbed him, putting their hands over their ears, and drowning out his voice with their shouts, and dragged him out of the city to stone him.

The official witnesses—the executioners—took off their coats and laid them at the feet of a young man named Paul.<sup>g</sup>

And as the murderous stones came hurtling at him, Stephen prayed, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." And he fell to his knees, shouting, "Lord, don't charge them with this sin!" and with that, he died.

8 PAUL WAS IN complete agreement with the killing of Stephen. And a great wave of persecution of the believers began that day, sweeping over the church in Jerusalem, and everyone except the apostles fled into Judea and Samaria.<sup>h</sup> (But some godly Jews<sup>a</sup> came and with great sorrow buried Stephen.) Paul was like a wild man, going everywhere to devastate the believers, even entering private homes and dragging out men and women alike and jailing them.

But the believers<sup>b</sup> who had fled Jerusalem went everywhere preaching the Good News about Jesus! Philip, for instance, went to the city of Samaria and told the people there about Christ. Crowds listened intently to what he had to say because of the miracles he did. Many evil spirits were cast out, screaming as they left their victims, and many who were paralyzed or lame were healed, so there was much joy in that city!

formerly been a sorcerer there for many years; he was a very influential, proud man because of the amazing things he could do—in fact, the Samaritan people often spoke of him as the Messiah.<sup>c</sup> <sup>12</sup> But now they believed Philip's message that Jesus was the Messiah, and his words concerning the Kingdom of God; and many men and women were baptized. <sup>13</sup> Then Simon himself believed and was baptized and began following Philip wherever he went, and was amazed by the miracles he did.

<sup>14</sup> When the apostles back in Jerusalem heard that the people of Samaria had accepted God's message, they sent down Peter and John. <sup>15</sup> As soon as they arrived, they began praying for these new Christians to receive the Holy Spirit, <sup>16</sup> for as yet he had not come upon any of them. For they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>17</sup> Then Peter and John laid their hands upon these believers, and they received the Holy Spirit.

<sup>18</sup> When Simon saw this—that the Holy Spirit was given when the apostles placed their hands upon people's heads—he offered money to buy this power.

<sup>19</sup> "Let me have this power too," he exclaimed, "so that when I lay my hands on people, they will receive the Holy Spirit!"

<sup>20</sup> But Peter replied, "Your money perish with you for thinking God's gift can be bought! <sup>21</sup> You can have no part in this, for your heart is not right before God. <sup>22</sup> Turn from this great wickedness and pray. Perhaps God will yet forgive your evil thoughts— <sup>23</sup> for I can see that there is jealousy<sup>d</sup> and sin in your heart."

<sup>24</sup> "Pray for me," Simon exclaimed, "that these terrible things won't happen to me."

<sup>25</sup> After testifying and preaching in Samaria, Peter and John returned to Jerusalem, stopping at several Samaritan villages along the way to preach the Good News to them too.

<sup>26</sup> But as for Philip, an angel of the Lord said to him, "Go over to the road that runs from Jerusalem through the Gaza Desert, arriving around noon." <sup>27</sup> So he did, and who should be coming down the road but the Treasurer of Ethiopia, a eunuch of great authority under Candace the queen. He had gone to Jerusalem to worship at the Temple, <sup>28</sup> and was now returning in his chariot, reading aloud from the book of the prophet Isaiah.

<sup>29</sup> The Holy Spirit said to Philip, "Go over and walk along beside the chariot."

<sup>30</sup> Philip ran over and heard what he was reading and asked, "Do you understand it?"

<sup>31</sup> "Of course not!" the man replied. "How can I when there is no one to instruct me?" And he begged Philip to come up into the chariot and sit with him.

<sup>32</sup> The passage of Scripture he had been reading from was this:

"He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb is silent before the shearers, so c Literally, "this man is that Power of God which is called great." d Literally, "the gall of bitterness."

he opened not his mouth;
<sup>33</sup> in his humiliation, justice was denied him; and who can express the wickedness of the people of his generation?<sup>c</sup>
 For his life is taken from the earth."

<sup>34</sup> The eunuch asked Philip,
 "Was Isaiah talking about himself or someone else?"

<sup>35</sup> So Philip began with this same Scripture and then used many others to tell him about Jesus.

<sup>36</sup> As they rode along, they came to a small body of water, and the eunuch said, "Look! Water! Why can't I be baptized?"

<sup>37</sup> "You can," Philip answered,
 "if you believe with all your heart."

And the eunuch replied, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God."

<sup>38</sup> He stopped the chariot, and they went down into the water and Philip baptized him. <sup>39</sup> And when they came up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away
 Philip, and the eunuch never saw him again, but went on his way rejoicing. <sup>40</sup> Meanwhile, Philip found himself at Azotus! He preached the Good News there and in every city along the way, as he traveled to Caesarea.

9 BUT PAUL, THREATENING with every breath and eager to destroy every Christian, went to the High Priest in Jerusalem. <sup>2</sup> He requested a letter addressed to synagogues in Damascus, requiring their cooperation in the persecution of any believers he found there, both men and women, so that he could bring them in chains to Jerusalem.

<sup>3</sup> As he was nearing Damascus on this mission, suddenly a brilliant light from heaven spotted down upon him! <sup>4</sup> He fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to him,
 "Paul! Paul! Why are you persecuting me?"

<sup>5</sup> "Who is speaking, sir?" Paul asked.

And the voice replied, "I am
 Jesus, the one you are persecuting!
<sup>6</sup> Now get up and go into the city and await my further instructions."

<sup>7</sup> The men with Paul stood speechless with surprise, for they heard the sound of someone's voice but saw no one! <sup>8,9</sup> As Paul picked himself up off the ground, he found that he was blind. He had to be led into Damascus and was there three days, blind, going without food and water all that time.

<sup>10</sup> Now there was in Damascus a believer named Ananias. The Lord spoke to him in a vision, calling, "Ananias!"

"Yes, Lord!" he replied.

<sup>11</sup> And the Lord said, "Go over to Straight Street and find the house of a man named Judas and ask there for Paul of Tarsus. He is praying to me right now, for <sup>12</sup> I have shown him a vision of a man named Ananias coming in and laying his hands on him so that he can see again!"

<sup>13</sup> "But Lord," exclaimed Ananias, "I have heard about the terrible things this man has done to the believers in Jerusalem! <sup>14</sup> And we hear that he has arrest warrants with him from the chief priests, authorizing him to arrest every believer in Damascus!"

<sup>15</sup> But the Lord said, "Go and do what I say. For Paul is my chosen instrument to take my message to the nations and before kings, as well as to the people of Israel. <sup>16</sup> And I will show him how much he must suffer for me."

<sup>17</sup> So Ananias went over and found Paul and laid his hands on him and said, "Brother Paul, the Lord Jesus, who appeared to you on the road, has sent me so that you may be filled with the Holy Spirit and get your sight back."

<sup>18</sup> Instantly (it was as though scales fell from his eyes) Paul could see, and was immediately baptized. <sup>19</sup> Then he ate and was strengthened. He stayed with the believers in Damascus for a few days <sup>20</sup> and went at once to the synagogue to tell everyone there the Good News about Jesus—that he is indeed the Son of God!

<sup>21</sup> All who heard him were amazed. "Isn't this the same man who persecuted Jesus' followers so bitterly in Jerusalem?" they asked. "And we understand that he came here to arrest them all and take them in chains to the chief priests."

<sup>22</sup> Paul became more and more fervent in his preaching, and the Damascus Jews couldn't withstand his proofs that Jesus was indeed the Christ.

Paul was told about their plans, that they were watching the gates of the city day and night prepared to murder him. <sup>25</sup> So during the night some of his converts let him down in a basket through an opening in the city wall!

<sup>26</sup> Upon arrival in Jerusalem he tried to meet with the believers, but they were all afraid of him. They thought he was faking! <sup>27</sup> Then Barnabas brought him to the apostles and told them how Paul had seen the Lord on the way to Damascus, what the Lord had said to him, and all about his powerful preaching in the name of Jesus. <sup>28</sup> Then they accepted him, and after that he was constantly with the believers <sup>29</sup> and preached boldly in the name of the Lord. But then some Greek-speaking Jews with whom he had argued plotted to murder him. <sup>30</sup> However, when the other believers heard about his danger, they took him to Caesarea and then sent him to his home<sup>a</sup> in Tarsus.

<sup>31</sup> Meanwhile, the church had peace throughout Judea, Galilee and Samaria, and grew in strength and numbers. The believers learned how to walk in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit.

<sup>32</sup> Peter traveled from place to place to visit them,<sup>a</sup> and in his travels came to the believers in the town of Lydda. <sup>33</sup> There he met a man named Aeneas, paralyzed and bed-ridden for eight years.

<sup>34</sup> Peter said to him, "Aeneas! Jesus Christ has healed you! Get up and make your bed." And he was healed instantly. <sup>35</sup> Then the whole population of Lydda and Sharon turned to the Lord when they saw Aeneas walking around.

---

<sup>36</sup> In the city of Joppa there was a woman named Dorcas ("Gazelle"), a believer who was always doing kind things for others, especially for the poor. <sup>37</sup> About this time she became ill and died. Her friends prepared her for burial and laid her in an upstairs room. <sup>38</sup> But when they learned that Peter was nearby at Lydda, they sent two men to beg him to return with them to Joppa. <sup>39</sup> This he did; as soon as he arrived, they took him upstairs where Dorcas lay. The room was filled with weeping widows who were showing one another the coats and other garments Dorcas had made for them. <sup>40</sup> But Peter asked them all to leave the room; then he knelt and prayed. Turning to the body he said, "Get up, Dorcas,"<sup>b</sup> and she opened her eyes! And when she saw Peter, she sat up! <sup>41</sup> He gave her his hand and helped her up and called in the believers and widows, presenting her to them.

10 IN CAESAREA THERE lived a Roman army officer, Cornelius, a captain of an Italian regiment. <sup>2</sup> He was a godly man, deeply reverent, as was his entire household. He gave generously to charity and was a man of prayer. <sup>3</sup> While wide awake one afternoon he had a vision—it was about three o'clock—and in this vision he saw an angel of God coming toward him.

"Cornelius!" the angel said.

<sup>4</sup> Cornelius stared at him in terror. "What do you want, sir?" he asked the angel.

And the angel replied, "Your prayers and charities have not gone unnoticed by God! <sup>5,6</sup> Now send some men to Joppa to find a man named Simon Peter, who is staying with Simon, the tanner, down by the shore, and ask him to come and visit you."

<sup>7</sup> As soon as the angel was gone, Cornelius called two of his household servants and a godly soldier, one of his personal bodyguard, <sup>8</sup> and told them what had happened and sent them off to Joppa.

<sup>9,10</sup> The next day, as they were nearing the city, Peter went up on the flat roof of his house to pray. It was noon and he was hungry, but while lunch was being prepared, he fell into a trance. <sup>11</sup> He saw the sky open, and a great canvas<sup>a</sup> sheet, suspended by its four corners, settle to the ground. <sup>12</sup> In the sheet were all sorts of animals, snakes and birds [forbidden to the Jews for food<sup>b</sup>].

<sup>13</sup> Then a voice said to him, "Go kill and eat any of them you wish."

<sup>14</sup> "Never, Lord," Peter declared, "I have never in all my life eaten such creatures, for they are forbidden by our Jewish laws."

<sup>15</sup> The voice spoke again, "Don't contradict God! If he says something is kosher, then it is."

<sup>11</sup> for the forbidden list.

<sup>16</sup> The same vision was repeated three times. Then the sheet was pulled up again to heaven. <sup>17</sup> Peter was very perplexed. What could the vision mean? What was he supposed to do?

Just then the men sent by Cornelius had found the house and were standing outside at the gate, <sup>18</sup> inquiring whether this was the place where Simon Peter lived!

<sup>19</sup> Meanwhile, as Peter was puzzling over the vision, the Holy Spirit said to him, "Three men have come to see you. <sup>20</sup> Go down and meet them and go with them. All is well, I have sent them."

<sup>21</sup> So Peter went down. "I'm the man you're looking for," he said. "Now what is it you want?"

<sup>22</sup> Then they told him about Cornelius the Roman officer, a good and godly man, well thought of by the Jews, and how an angel had instructed him to send for Peter to come and tell him what God wanted him to do.

<sup>23</sup> So Peter invited them in and lodged them overnight. The next day he went with them, accompanied by some other believers from Joppa.

<sup>26</sup> But Peter said, "Stand up! I'm not a god!"

<sup>27</sup> So he got up and they talked together for a while and then went in where the others were assembled.

<sup>28</sup> Peter told them, "You know it is against the Jewish laws for me to come into a Gentile home like this. But God has shown me in a vision that I should never think of anyone as inferior. <sup>29</sup> So I came as soon as I was sent for. Now tell me what you want."

<sup>30</sup> Cornelius replied, "Four days ago I was praying as usual at this time of the afternoon, when suddenly a man was standing before me clothed in a radiant robe! <sup>31</sup> He told me, 'Cornelius, your prayers are heard and your charities have been noticed by God! <sup>32</sup> Now send some men to Joppa and summon Simon Peter, who is staying in the home of Simon, a tanner, down by the shore.' <sup>33</sup> So I sent for you at once, and you have done well to come so soon. Now here we are, waiting before the Lord, anxious to hear what he has told you to tell us!"

<sup>34</sup> Then Peter replied, "I see very clearly that the Jews are not God's only favorites! <sup>35</sup> In every nation he has those who worship him and do good deeds and are acceptable to him. <sup>36,37</sup> I'm sure you have heard about the Good News for the people of Israel—that there is peace with God through Jesus, the Messiah, who is Lord of all creation. This message has spread all through Judea, beginning with John the Baptist in Galilee. <sup>38</sup> And you no doubt know that Jesus of Nazareth was anointed by God with the Holy Spirit and with power, and he went around doing good and healing all who were possessed by demons, for God was with him.

<sup>39</sup> "And we apostles are witnesses of all he did throughout Israel and in Jerusalem, where he was murdered on a cross. <sup>40,41</sup> But God brought him back to life again three days later and showed him to certain witnesses God had selected beforehand—not to the general public, but to us who ate and drank with him after he rose from the dead.<sup>42</sup> And he sent us to preach the Good News everywhere and to testify that Jesus is ordained of God to be the Judge of all—living and dead.<sup>43</sup> And all the prophets have written about him, saying that everyone who believes in him will have their sins forgiven through his name.”

“Even as Peter was saying these things, the Holy Spirit fell upon all those listening!<sup>44</sup> The Jews who came with Peter were amazed that the gift of the Holy Spirit would be given to Gentiles too!<sup>45,46</sup> But there could be no doubt about it,<sup>c</sup> for they heard them speaking in tongues and praising God.

Peter asked, “Can anyone object to my baptizing them, now that they have received the Holy Spirit just as we did?”<sup>47</sup> “So he did, baptizing them in the name of Jesus, the Messiah. Afterwards Cornelius begged him to stay with them for several days.

11 SOON THE NEWS reached the apostles and other brothers in Judea that Gentiles also were being converted!<sup>1</sup> But when Peter arrived back in Jerusalem, the Jewish believers argued with him.

“You fellowshipped with Gentiles and even ate with them,” they accused.

“Then Peter told them the whole story.”<sup>2</sup> “One day in Joppa,” he said, “while I was praying, I saw a vision—a huge sheet, let down by its four corners from the sky.<sup>3</sup> Inside the sheet were all sorts of animals, reptiles and birds [which we are not to eat<sup>a</sup>].<sup>4</sup> And I heard a voice say, ‘Kill and eat whatever you wish.’

“‘Never, Lord,’ I replied. ‘For I have never yet eaten anything forbidden by our Jewish laws!’

“But the voice came again, ‘Don’t say it isn’t right when God declares it is!’

<sup>10</sup> “This happened three times before the sheet and all it contained disappeared into heaven.<sup>11</sup> Just then three men who had come to take me with them to Caesarea arrived at the house where I was staying!<sup>12</sup> The Holy Spirit told me to go with them and not to worry about their being Gentiles! These six brothers here accompanied me, and we soon arrived at the home of the man who had sent the messengers.<sup>13</sup> He told us how an angel had appeared to him and told him to send messengers to Joppa to find Simon Peter!<sup>14</sup> ‘He will tell you how you and all your household can be saved!’ the angel had told him.

<sup>15</sup> “Well, I began telling them the Good News, but just as I was getting started with my sermon, the Holy Spirit fell on them, just as he fell on us at the beginning!<sup>16</sup> Then I thought of the Lord’s words when he said, ‘Yes, John baptized with<sup>b</sup> water, but you shall be baptized with<sup>b</sup> the Holy Spirit.’<sup>17</sup> And since it was God who gave these Gentiles the same gift he gave us when we believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, who was I to argue?"

<sup>18</sup> When the others heard this, all their objections were answered and they began praising God! "Yes," they said, "God has given to the Gentiles, too, the privilege of turning to him and receiving eternal life!"

<sup>19</sup> Meanwhile, the believers who fled from Jerusalem during the persecution after Stephen's death traveled as far as Phoenicia, Cyprus, and Antioch, scattering the Good News, but only to Jews. <sup>20</sup> However, some of the believers who went to Antioch from Cyprus and Cyrene also gave their message about the Lord Jesus to some Greeks. <sup>21</sup> And the Lord honored this effort so that large numbers of these Gentiles became believers.

<sup>22</sup> When the church at Jerusalem heard what had happened, they sent Barnabas to Antioch to help the new converts. <sup>23</sup> When he arrived and saw the wonderful things God was doing, he was filled with excitement and joy, and encouraged the believers to stay close to the Lord, whatever the cost. <sup>24</sup> Barnabas was a kindly person, full of the Holy Spirit and strong in faith. As a result large numbers of people were added to the Lord.

<sup>25</sup> Then Barnabas went on to Tarsus to hunt for Paul. <sup>26</sup> When he found him, he brought him back to Antioch; and both of them stayed there for a full year, teaching the many new converts. (It was there at Antioch that the believers were first called "Christians.")

Antioch, <sup>28</sup> and one of them, named Agabus, stood up in one of the meetings to predict by the Spirit that a great famine was coming upon the land of Israel.<sup>c</sup> (This was fulfilled during the reign of Claudius.) <sup>29</sup> So the believers decided to send relief to the Christians in Judea, each giving as much as he could. <sup>30</sup> This they did, consigning their gifts to Barnabas and Paul to take to the elders of the church in Jerusalem.

<sup>6</sup> The night before he was to be executed, he was asleep, double-chained between two soldiers with others standing guard before the prison gate, <sup>7</sup> when suddenly there was a light in the cell and an angel of the Lord stood beside Peter! The angel slapped him on the side to awaken him and said, "Quick! Get up!" And the chains fell off his wrists! <sup>8</sup> Then the angel told him, "Get dressed and put on your shoes." And he did. "Now put on your coat and follow me!" the angel ordered.

<sup>9</sup> So Peter left the cell, following the angel. But all the time he thought it was a dream or vision, and didn't believe it was really happening. <sup>10</sup> They passed the first and second cell blocks and came to the iron gate to the street, and this opened to them of its own accord! So they passed through and walked along together for a block, and then the angel left him.

<sup>11</sup> Peter finally realized what had happened! "It's really true!" he said to himself. "The Lord has sent his angel and saved me from Herod and from what the Jews were hoping to do to me!" <sup>12</sup> After a little thought he went to the home of Mary, mother of John Mark, where many were gathered for a prayer meeting.

<sup>13</sup> He knocked at the door in the gate, and a girl named Rhoda came to open it. <sup>14</sup> When she recognized Peter's voice, she was so overjoyed that she ran back inside to tell everyone that Peter was standing outside in the street. <sup>15</sup> They didn't believe her. "You're out of your mind," they said. When she insisted they decided, "It must be his angel. [They must have killed him.<sup>b</sup>]"

<sup>16</sup> Meanwhile Peter continued knocking. When they finally went out and opened the door, their surprise knew no bounds. <sup>17</sup> He motioned for them to quiet down and told them what had happened and how the Lord had brought him out of jail. "Tell James and the others what happened," he said—and left for safer quarters.

Peter? <sup>19</sup> When Herod sent for him and found that he wasn't there, he had the sixteen guards arrested, court-martialed and sentenced to death.<sup>b</sup> Afterwards he left to live in Caesarea for a while.

<sup>20</sup> While he was in Caesarea, a delegation from Tyre and Sidon arrived to see him. He was highly displeased with the people of those two cities, but the delegates made friends with Blastus, the royal secretary, and asked for peace, for their cities were economically dependent upon trade with Herod's country. <sup>21</sup> An appointment with Herod was granted, and when the day arrived he put on his royal robes, sat on his throne and made a speech to them. <sup>22</sup> At its conclusion the people gave him a great ovation, shouting, "It is the voice of a god and not of a man!"

<sup>23</sup> Instantly, an angel of the Lord struck Herod with a sickness so that he was filled with maggots and died—because he accepted the people's worship instead of giving the glory to God.

<sup>24</sup> God's Good News was spreading rapidly and there were many new believers.

<sup>25</sup> Barnabas and Paul now visited Jerusalem and, as soon as they had finished their business, returned to Antioch,<sup>b</sup> taking John Mark with them.

13 AMONG THE PROPHETS and teachers of the church at Antioch were Barnabas and Symeon (also called "The Black Man"), Lucius (from Cyrene), Manaen (the foster-brother of King Herod), and Paul. <sup>2</sup> One day as these men were worshipping and fasting the Holy Spirit said, "Dedicate Barnabas and Paul for a special job I have for them." <sup>3</sup> So after more fasting and prayer, the men laid their hands on them—and sent them on their way.

<sup>4</sup> Directed by the Holy Spirit they went to Seleucia and then sailed for Cyprus. <sup>5</sup> There, in the town of Salamis, they went to the Jewish synagogue and preached. (John Mark went with them as their assistant.)

<sup>6,7</sup> Afterwards they preached from town to town across the entire island until finally they reached Paphos where they met a Jewish sorcerer, a fake prophet named Bar-Jesus. He had attached himself to the governor, Sergius Paulus, a man of considerable insight and understanding. The governor invited Barnabas and Paul to visit him, for he wanted to hear their message from God. <sup>8</sup> But the sorcerer, Elymas (his name in Greek), interfered and urged the governor to pay no attention to what Paul and Barnabas said, trying to keep him from trusting the Lord.

<sup>9</sup> Then Paul, filled with the Holy Spirit, glared angrily at the sorcerer and said, <sup>10</sup> "You son of the devil, full of every sort of trickery and villainy, enemy of all that is good, will you never end your opposition to the Lord? <sup>11</sup> And now God has laid his hand of punishment upon you, and you will be stricken awhile with blindness."

Instantly mist and darkness fell upon him, and he began wandering around begging for someone to take his hand and lead him. <sup>12</sup> When the governor saw what happened he believed and was astonished at the power of God's message.

On the Sabbath they went into the synagogue for the services. <sup>15</sup> After the usual readings from the Books of Moses and from the Prophets, those in charge of the service sent them this message: "Brothers, if you have any word of instruction for us come and give it!"

<sup>16</sup> So Paul stood, waved a greeting to them<sup>c</sup> and began. "Men of Israel," he said, "and all others here who reverence God, [let me begin my remarks with a bit of history<sup>d</sup>].

<sup>17</sup> "The God of this nation Israel chose our ancestors and honored them in Egypt by gloriously leading them out of their slavery. <sup>18</sup> And he nursed them through forty years of wandering around in the wilderness. <sup>19,20</sup> Then he destroyed seven nations in Canaan, and gave Israel their land as an inheritance. Judges ruled for about 450 years, and were followed by Samuel the prophet.

<sup>21</sup> "Then the people begged for a king, and God gave them Saul (son of Kish), a man of the tribe of Benjamin, who reigned for forty years. <sup>22</sup> But God removed him and replaced him with David as king, a man about whom God said, 'David (son of Jesse) is a man after my own heart, for he will obey me.' <sup>23</sup> And it is one of King David's descendants, Jesus, who is God's promised Savior of Israel!

<sup>24</sup> "But before he came, John the Baptist preached the need for everyone in Israel to turn from sin to God. <sup>25</sup> As John was finishing his work he asked, 'Do you think I am the Messiah? No! But he is coming soon—and in comparison with him, I am utterly worthless.'

<sup>26</sup> "Brothers—you sons of Abraham, and also all of you Gentiles here who reverence God—this salvation is for all of us! <sup>27</sup> The Jews in Jerusalem and their leaders fulfilled prophecy by killing Jesus; for they didn't recognize him, or realize that he is the one the prophets had written about, though they heard the prophets' words read every Sabbath. <sup>28</sup> They found no just cause to execute him, but asked Pilate to have him killed anyway. <sup>29</sup> When they had fulfilled all the prophecies concerning his death, he was taken from the cross and placed in a tomb.

<sup>30</sup> "But God brought him back to life again! <sup>31</sup> And he was seen many times during the next few days by the men who had accompanied him to Jerusalem from Galilee—these men have constantly testified to this in public witness.

<sup>32,33</sup> "And now Barnabas and I are here to bring you this Good News—that God's promise to our ancestors has come true in our own time, in that God brought Jesus back to life again. This is what the second Psalm is talking about when it says concerning Jesus, 'Today I have honored you as my son.'<sup>e</sup>

<sup>34</sup> "For God had promised to bring him back to life again, no more to die. This is stated in the Scripture that says, 'I will do for you the wonderful thing I promised David.' <sup>35</sup> In another Psalm he explained more fully, saying, 'God will not let his Holy One decay.' <sup>36</sup> This was not a reference to David, for after David had served his generation according to the will of God, he died and was buried, and his body decayed. <sup>37</sup> [No, it was a reference to another<sup>f</sup>—someone God brought back to life, whose body was not touched at all by the ravages of death.<sup>g</sup>

<sup>38</sup> "Brothers! Listen! In this man Jesus, there is forgiveness for your sins! <sup>39</sup> Everyone who trusts in him is freed from all guilt and declared righteous—something the Jewish law could never do. <sup>40</sup> Oh, be careful! Don't let the prophets' words apply to you. For they said, 'Look and perish, you despisers [of the truth<sup>h</sup>], for I am doing something in your day—something that you won't believe when you hear it announced.' "

<sup>41</sup> As the people left the synagogue that day, they asked Paul to return and speak to them again the next week. <sup>42</sup> And many Jews and godly Gentiles who worshiped at the synagogue followed Paul and Barnabas down the street as the two men urged them to accept the mercies God was offering. <sup>43</sup> The following week almost the entire city turned out to hear them preach the Word of God.

<sup>45</sup> But when the Jewish leaders<sup>h</sup> saw the crowds, they were jealous, and cursed<sup>i</sup> and argued against whatever Paul said.

<sup>46</sup> Then Paul and Barnabas spoke out boldly and declared, "It ~~was~~ necessary that this Good News from God should be given first to you Jews. But since you have rejected it, and shown yourselves unworthy of eternal life—well, we will offer it to Gentiles. <sup>47</sup> For this is as the Lord commanded when he said, 'I have made you a light to the Gentiles, to lead them from the farthest corners of the earth to my salvation.'"

<sup>48</sup> When the Gentiles heard this, they were very glad and rejoiced in Paul's message; and as many as wanted<sup>j</sup> eternal life, believed. <sup>49</sup> So God's message spread all through that region.

<sup>50</sup> Then the Jewish leaders stirred up both the godly women and the civic leaders of the city and incited a mob against Paul and Barnabas, and ran them out of town.

<sup>51</sup> But they shook off the dust of their feet against the town and went on to the city of Iconium. <sup>52</sup> And their converts<sup>k</sup> were filled with joy and with the Holy Spirit.

14 AT ICONIUM, PAUL and Barnabas went together to the synagogue and preached with such power that many—both Jews and Gentiles—believed.

among the Gentiles against Paul and Barnabas, saying all sorts of evil things about them. <sup>3</sup> Nevertheless, they stayed there a long time, preaching boldly, and the Lord proved their message was from him by giving them power to do great miracles. <sup>4</sup> But the people of the city were divided in their opinion about them. Some agreed with the Jewish leaders, and some backed the apostles.

<sup>5,6</sup> When Paul and Barnabas learned of a plot to incite a mob of Gentiles, Jews, and Jewish leaders to attack and stone them, they fled for their lives, going to the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra, Derbe, and the surrounding area, <sup>7</sup> and preaching the Good News there.

<sup>8</sup> While they were at Lystra, they came upon a man with crippled feet who had been that way from birth, so he had never walked. <sup>9</sup> He was listening as Paul preached, and Paul noticed him and realized he had faith to be healed. <sup>10</sup> So Paul called to him, "Stand up!" and the man leaped to his feet and started walking!

<sup>11</sup> When the listening crowd saw what Paul had done, they shouted (in their local dialect, of course), "These men are gods in human bodies!" <sup>12</sup> They decided that Barnabas was the Greek god Jupiter, and that Paul, because he was the chief speaker, was Mercury! <sup>13</sup> The local priest of the Temple of Jupiter, located on the outskirts of the city, brought them cartloads of flowers and prepared to sacrifice oxen to them at the city gates before the crowds.

<sup>14</sup> But when Barnabas and Paul saw what was happening they ripped at their clothing in dismay and ran out among the people, shouting. <sup>15</sup> "Men! What are you doing? We are merely human beings like yourselves! We have come to bring you the Good News that you are invited to turn from the worship of these foolish things and to pray instead to the living God who made heaven and earth and sea and everything in them. <sup>16</sup> In bygone days he permitted the nations to go their own ways, <sup>17</sup> but he never left himself without a witness; there were always his reminders—the kind things he did such as sending you rain and good crops and giving you food and gladness."

<sup>18</sup> But even so, Paul and Barnabas could scarcely restrain the people from sacrificing to them!

<sup>19</sup> Yet only a few days later, some Jews arrived from Antioch and Iconium and turned the crowds into a murderous mob that stoned Paul and dragged him out of the city, apparently dead. <sup>20</sup> But as the believers stood around him, he got up and went back into the city!

The next day he left with Barnabas for Derbe. <sup>21</sup> After preaching the Good News there and making many disciples, they returned again to Lystra, Iconium and Antioch, <sup>22</sup> where they helped the believers to grow in love for God and each other. They encouraged them to continue in the faith in spite of all the persecution, reminding them that they must enter into the Kingdom of God through many tribulations. <sup>23</sup> Paul and Barnabas also appointed elders in every church and prayed for them with fasting, turning them over to the care of the Lord in whom they trusted.

<sup>26</sup> Finally they returned by ship to Antioch, where their journey had begun, and where they had been committed to God for the work now completed.

<sup>27</sup> Upon arrival they called together the believers and reported on their trip, telling how God had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles too. <sup>28</sup> And they stayed there with the believers at Antioch for a long while.

15 WHILE PAUL AND Barnabas were at Antioch, some men from Judea arrived and began to teach the believers that unless they adhered to the ancient Jewish custom of circumcision, they could not be saved. <sup>2</sup> Paul and Barnabas argued and discussed this with them at length, and finally the believers sent them to Jerusalem, accompanied by some local men, to talk to the apostles and elders there about this question. <sup>3</sup> After the entire congregation had escorted them out of the city the delegates went on to Jerusalem, stopping along the way in the cities of Phoenicia and Samaria to visit the believers, telling them—much to everyone's joy—that the Gentiles, too, were being converted.

<sup>4</sup> Arriving in Jerusalem, they met with the church leaders—all the apostles and elders were present—and Paul and Barnabas reported on what God had been doing through their ministry. <sup>3</sup> But then some of the men who had been Pharisees before their conversion stood to their feet and declared that all Gentile converts must be circumcised and required to follow all the Jewish customs and ceremonies. <sup>4</sup> So the apostles and church elders met a further meeting to decide this question.

<sup>7</sup> At the meeting, after long discussion, Peter stood and addressed them as follows: "Brothers, you all know that God chose me from among you long ago to preach the Good News to the Gentiles, so that they also could believe. <sup>8</sup> God, who knows men's hearts, confirmed the fact that he accepts Gentiles by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as he gave him to us. <sup>9</sup> He made no distinction between them and us, for he cleansed their lives through faith, just as he did ours. <sup>10</sup> And now are you going to correct God by burdening the Gentiles with a yoke that neither we nor our fathers were able to bear? <sup>11</sup> Don't you believe that all are saved the same way, by the free gift of the Lord Jesus?"

<sup>12</sup> There was no further discussion, and everyone now listened as Barnabas and Paul told about the miracles God had done through them among the Gentiles.

<sup>13</sup> When they had finished, James took the floor. "Brothers," he said, "listen to me. <sup>14</sup> Peter has told you about the time God first visited the Gentiles to take from them a people to bring honor to his name. <sup>15</sup> And this fact of Gentile conversion agrees with what the prophets predicted. For instance, listen to this passage from the prophet Amos<sup>a</sup>:

<sup>18</sup> That is what the Lord says, who reveals his plans made from the beginning.

<sup>19</sup> "And so my judgment is that we should not insist that the Gentiles who turn to God must obey our Jewish laws, <sup>20</sup> except that we should write to them to refrain from eating meat sacrificed to idols, from all fornication, and also from eating unbled meat of strangled animals. <sup>21</sup> For these things have been preached against in Jewish synagogues in every city on every Sabbath for many generations."

<sup>22</sup> Then the apostles and elders and the whole congregation voted to send delegates to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas, to report on this decision. The men chosen were two of the church leaders—Judas (also called Barsabbas) and Silas.

<sup>23</sup> This is the letter they took along with them:

"From: The apostles, elders and brothers at Jerusalem.

"To: The Gentile brothers in Antioch, Syria and Cilicia. Greetings!

<sup>24</sup> "We understand that some believers from here have upset you and questioned your salvation,<sup>c</sup> but they had no such instructions from us.<sup>25</sup> So it seemed wise to us, having unanimously agreed on our decision, to send to you these two official representatives, along with our beloved Barnabas and Paul.<sup>26</sup> These men—Judas and Silas, who have risked their lives for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ—will confirm orally what we have decided concerning your question.

<sup>27,28,29</sup> "For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay no greater burden of Jewish laws on you than to abstain from eating food offered to idols and from unbled meat of strangled animals,<sup>d</sup> and, of course, from fornication. If you do this, it is enough. Farewell."

<sup>30</sup> The four messengers went at once to Antioch, where they called a general meeting of the Christians and gave them the letter.<sup>31</sup> And there was great joy throughout the church that day as they read it.

<sup>36</sup> Several days later Paul suggested to Barnabas that they return again to Turkey, and visit each city where they had preached before,<sup>g</sup> to see how the new converts were getting along.<sup>37</sup> Barnabas agreed, and wanted to take along John Mark.<sup>38</sup> But Paul didn't like that idea at all, since John had deserted them in Pamphylia.<sup>39</sup> Their disagreement over this was so sharp that they separated. Barnabas took Mark with him and sailed for Cyprus,<sup>40,41</sup> while Paul chose Silas and, with the blessing of the believers, left for Syria and Cilicia, to encourage the churches there.

16 PAUL AND SILAS went first to Derbe and then on to Lystra where they met Timothy, a believer whose mother was a Christian Jewess but his father a Greek.<sup>1</sup> Timothy was well thought of by the brothers in Lystra and Iconium,<sup>2</sup> so Paul asked him to join them on their journey. In deference to the Jews of the area, he circumcised Timothy before they left, for everyone knew that his father was a Greek [and hadn't permitted this before<sup>3</sup>].<sup>4</sup> Then they went from city to city, making known the decision concerning the Gentiles, as decided by the apostles and elders in Jerusalem.<sup>5</sup> So the church grew daily in faith and numbers.

<sup>6</sup> Next they traveled through Phrygia and Galatia, because the Holy Spirit had told them not to go into the Turkish province of Asia at that time.<sup>7</sup> Then going along the borders of Mysia they headed north for the province of Bithynia, but again the Spirit of Jesus said no.<sup>8</sup> So instead they went on through Mysia province to the city of Troas.

In his dream he saw a man over in Macedonia, Greece, pleading with him, "Come over here and help us."<sup>10</sup> Well, that settled it. We<sup>c</sup> would go to Macedonia, for we could only conclude that God was sending us to preach the Good News there.

<sup>11</sup> We went aboard a boat at Troas, and sailed straight across to Samothrace, and the next day on to Neapolis,<sup>12</sup> and finally reached Philippi, a Roman<sup>d</sup> colony just inside the Macedonian border, and stayed there several days.

<sup>13</sup> On the Sabbath, we went a little way outside the city to a river bank where we understood some people met for prayer; and we taught the Scriptures to some women who came. <sup>14</sup> One of them was Lydia, a saleswoman from Thyatira, a merchant of purple cloth. She was already a worshiper of God and, as she listened to us, the Lord opened her heart and she accepted all that Paul was saying. <sup>15</sup> She was baptized along with all her household and asked us to be her guests. "If you agree that I am faithful to the Lord," she said, "come and stay at my home." And she urged us until we did.

<sup>16</sup> One day as we were going down to the place of prayer beside the river, we met a demon-possessed slave girl who was a fortune-teller, and earned much money for her masters. <sup>17</sup> She followed along behind us shouting, "These men are servants of God and they have come to tell you how to have your sins forgiven."

and spoke to the demon within her. "I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her," he said. And instantly it left her.

<sup>19</sup> Her masters' hopes of wealth were now shattered; they grabbed Paul and Silas and dragged them before the judges at the marketplace.

<sup>20,21</sup> "These Jews are corrupting our city," they shouted. "They are teaching the people to do things that are against the Roman laws."

<sup>22</sup> A mob was quickly formed against Paul and Silas, and the judges ordered them stripped and beaten with wooden whips. <sup>23</sup> Again and again the rods slashed down across their bared backs; and afterwards they were thrown into prison. The jailer was threatened with death if they escaped, <sup>24</sup> so he took no chances, but put them into the inner dungeon and clamped their feet into the stocks.

<sup>25</sup> Around midnight, as Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to the Lord—and the other prisoners were listening—<sup>26</sup> suddenly there was a great earthquake; the prison was shaken to its foundations, all the doors flew open—and the chains of every prisoner fell off! <sup>27</sup> The jailer awakened to see the prison doors wide open, and assuming the prisoners had escaped, he drew his sword to kill himself.

<sup>28</sup> But Paul yelled to him, "Don't do it! We are all here!"

<sup>29</sup> Trembling with fear, the jailer called for lights and ran to the dungeon and fell down before Paul and Silas. <sup>30</sup> He brought them out and begged them, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?"

<sup>31</sup> They replied, "Believe on the Lord Jesus and you will be saved, and your entire household."

<sup>32</sup> Then they told him and all his household the Good News from the Lord. <sup>33</sup> That same hour he washed their stripes and he and all his family were baptized. <sup>34</sup> Then he brought them up into his house and set a meal before them. How he and his household rejoiced because all were now believers! <sup>35</sup> The next morning the judges sent police officers over to tell the jailer, "Let those men go!" <sup>36</sup> So the jailer told Paul they were free to leave.

<sup>37</sup> But Paul replied, "Oh, no they don't! They have publicly beaten us without trial and jailed us—and we are Roman citizens! So now they want us to leave secretly? Never! Let them come themselves and release us!"

<sup>38</sup> The police officers reported to the judges, who feared for their lives when they heard Paul and Silas were Roman citizens. <sup>39</sup> So they came to the jail and begged them to go, and brought them out and pled with them to leave the city. <sup>40</sup> Paul and Silas then returned to the home of Lydia where they met with the believers and preached to them once more before leaving town.

17 NOW THEY TRAVELED through the cities of Amphipolis and Apollonia and came to Thessalonica, where there was a Jewish synagogue. <sup>2</sup> As was Paul's custom, he went there to preach, and for three Sabbaths in a row he opened the Scriptures to the people, <sup>3</sup> explaining the prophecies about the sufferings of the Messiah and his coming back to life, and proving that Jesus is the Messiah. <sup>4</sup> Some who listened were persuaded and became converts—including a large number of godly Greek men, and also many important women of the city.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup> But the Jewish leaders were jealous and incited some worthless fellows from the streets to form a mob and start a riot. They attacked the home of Jason, planning to take Paul and Silas to the City Council for punishment.

<sup>6</sup> Not finding them there, they dragged out Jason and some of the other believers, and took them before the Council instead. "Paul and Silas have turned the rest of the world upside down, and now they are here disturbing our city," they shouted, <sup>7</sup> "and Jason has let them into his home. They are all guilty of treason, for they claim another king, Jesus, instead of Caesar."

<sup>8,9</sup> The people of the city, as well as the judges, were concerned at these reports and let them go only after they had posted bail.

<sup>10</sup> That night the Christians hurried Paul and Silas to Beroea, and, as usual,<sup>b</sup> they went to the synagogue to preach. <sup>11</sup> But the people of Beroea were more open minded than those in Thessalonica, and gladly listened to the message. They searched the Scriptures day by day to check up on Paul and Silas' statements to see if they were really so. <sup>12</sup> As a result, many of them believed, including several prominent Greek women and many men also.

<sup>11</sup> But when the Jews in Thessalonica learned that Paul was preaching in Beroea, they went over and stirred up trouble. <sup>12</sup> The believers acted at once, sending Paul on to the coast, while Silas and Timothy remained behind. <sup>13</sup> Those accompanying Paul went on with him to Athens, and then returned to Beroea with a message for Silas and Timothy to hurry and join him.

<sup>14</sup> While Paul was waiting for them in Athens, he was deeply troubled by all the idols he saw everywhere throughout the city. <sup>15</sup> He went to the synagogue for discussions with the Jews and the devout Gentiles, and spoke daily in the public square to all who happened to be there.

<sup>16</sup> He also had an encounter with some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers. Their reaction, when he told them about Jesus and his resurrection, was, "He's a dreamer," or, "He's pushing some foreign religion."

<sup>17</sup> But they invited him to the forum at Mars Hill. "Come and tell us more about this new religion," they said, <sup>18</sup> "for you are saying some rather startling things and we want to hear more." <sup>19</sup> (I should explain that all the Athenians as well as the foreigners in Athens seemed to spend all their time discussing the latest new ideas!)

"Men of Athens, I notice that you are very religious, <sup>21</sup> for as I was out walking I saw your many altars, and one of them had this inscription on it—'To the Unknown God.' You have been worshiping him without knowing who he is, and now I wish to tell you about him.

<sup>22</sup> "He made the world and everything in it, and since he is Lord of heaven and earth, he doesn't live in man-made temples; <sup>23</sup> and human hands can't minister to his needs—for he has no needs! He himself gives life and breath to everything, and satisfies every need there is. <sup>24</sup> He created all the people of the world from one man, Adam,<sup>c</sup> and scattered the nations across the face of the earth. He decided beforehand which should rise and fall, and when. He determined their boundaries.

<sup>25</sup> "His purpose in all of this is that they should seek after God, and perhaps feel their way toward him and find him—though he is not far from any one of us. <sup>26</sup> For in him we live and move and are! As one of your own poets says it, 'We are the sons of God.' <sup>27</sup> If this is true, we shouldn't think of God as an idol made by men from gold or silver or chipped from stone. <sup>28</sup> God tolerated man's past ignorance about these things, but now he commands everyone to put away idols and worship only him. <sup>29</sup> For he has set a day for justly judging the world by the man he has appointed, and has pointed him out by bringing him back to life again."

<sup>30</sup> When they heard Paul speak of the resurrection of a person who had been dead, some laughed, but others said, "We want to hear more about this later." <sup>31</sup> That ended

Paul's discussion with them, <sup>14</sup> but a few joined him and became believers. Among them was Dionysius, a member of the City Council, and a woman named Damaris, and others.

18 THEN PAUL LEFT Athens and went to Corinth. <sup>21</sup> There he became acquainted with a Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, who had recently arrived from Italy with his wife, Priscilla. They had been expelled from Italy as a result of Claudius Caesar's order to deport all Jews from Rome. Paul lived and worked with them, for they were tentmakers just as he was.

<sup>7</sup> After that he stayed with Titus Justus, a Gentile<sup>a</sup> who worshiped God and lived next door to the synagogue. <sup>8</sup> However, Crispus, the leader of the synagogue, and all his household believed in the Lord and were baptized—as were many others in Corinth.

<sup>9</sup> One night the Lord spoke to Paul in a vision and told him,

"Don't be afraid! Speak out! Don't quit! <sup>10</sup> For I am with you and no one can harm you. Many people here in this city belong to me." <sup>11</sup> So Paul stayed there the next year and a half, teaching the truths of God.

<sup>17</sup> Then the mob<sup>a</sup> grabbed Sosthenes, the new leader of the synagogue, and beat him outside the courtroom. But Gallio couldn't have cared less.

<sup>18</sup> Paul stayed in the city several days after that and then said goodbye to the Christians and sailed for the coast of Syria, taking Priscilla and Aquila with him. At Cenchreae, Paul had his head shaved according to Jewish custom, for he had taken a vow.<sup>b</sup> <sup>19</sup> Arriving at the port of Ephesus, he left us aboard ship while he went over to the synagogue for a discussion with the Jews. <sup>20</sup> They asked him to stay for a few days, but he felt that he had no time to lose.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>21</sup> "I must by all means be at Jerusalem for the holiday,"<sup>d</sup> he said. But he promised to return to Ephesus later if God permitted; and so we set sail again.

<sup>24</sup> As it happened, a Jew named Apollos, a wonderful Bible teacher and preacher, had just arrived in Ephesus from Alexandria in Egypt.

<sup>25,26</sup> While he was in Egypt, someone had told him about John the Baptist and what John had said about Jesus, but that is all he knew. He had never heard the rest of the story! So he was preaching boldly and enthusiastically in the synagogue, "The Messiah is coming! Get ready to receive him!" Priscilla and Aquila were there and heard him—and it was a powerful sermon. Afterwards they met with him and explained what had happened to Jesus since the time of John, and all that it meant!<sup>f</sup>

<sup>27</sup> Apollos had been thinking about going to Greece, and the believers encouraged him in this. They wrote to their fellow-believers there, telling them to welcome him.

And upon his arrival in Greece, he was greatly used of God to strengthen the church, <sup>28</sup> for he powerfully refuted all the Jewish arguments in public debate, showing by the Scriptures that Jesus is indeed the Messiah.

19 WHILE APOLLOS WAS in Corinth, Paul traveled through Turkey and arrived in Ephesus, where he found several disciples. <sup>2</sup> "Did you receive the Holy Spirit when you believed?" he asked them.

"No," they replied, "we don't know what you mean. What is the Holy Spirit?"

<sup>3</sup> "Then what beliefs did you acknowledge at your baptism?" he asked.

And they replied, "What John the Baptist taught."

<sup>4</sup> Then Paul pointed out to them that John's baptism was to demonstrate a desire to turn from sin to God and that those receiving his baptism must then go on to believe in Jesus, the one John said would come later.

<sup>5</sup> As soon as they heard this, they were baptized in<sup>a</sup> the name of the Lord Jesus. <sup>6</sup> Then, when Paul laid his hands upon their heads, the Holy Spirit came on them, and they spoke in other languages and prophesied. <sup>7</sup> The men involved were about twelve in number.

<sup>8</sup> Then Paul went to the synagogue and preached boldly each Sabbath day<sup>b</sup> for three months, telling what<sup>c</sup> he believed and why, and persuading many to believe in Jesus.<sup>9</sup> But some rejected his message and publicly spoke against Christ, so he left, refusing to preach to them again. Pulling out the believers, he began a separate meeting at the lecture hall of Tyrannus and preached there daily.<sup>10</sup> This went on for the next two years, so that everyone in the Turkish province of Asia—both Jews and Greeks—heard the Lord's message.<sup>11</sup> And God gave Paul the power to do unusual miracles,<sup>12</sup> so that even when his handkerchiefs or parts of his clothing were placed upon sick people, they were healed, and any demons within them came out.

<sup>13</sup> A team of itinerant Jews who were traveling from town to town casting out demons planned to experiment by using the name of the Lord Jesus. The incantation they decided on was this: "I adjure you by Jesus, whom Paul preaches, to come out!"<sup>14</sup> Seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish priest, were doing this.<sup>15</sup> But when they tried it on a man possessed by a demon, the demon replied, "I know Jesus and I know Paul, but who are you?"<sup>16</sup> And he leaped on two of them and beat them up, so that they fled out of his house naked and badly injured.

<sup>17</sup> The story of what happened spread quickly all through Ephesus, to Jews and Greeks alike; and a solemn fear descended on the city, and the name of the Lord Jesus was greatly honored.<sup>18,19</sup> Many of the believers who had been practicing black magic confessed their deeds and brought their incantation books and charms and burned them at a public bonfire. (Someone estimated the value of the books at $10,000.<sup>d</sup>)<sup>20</sup> This indicates how deeply the whole area was stirred by God's message.

<sup>21</sup> Afterwards, Paul felt impelled by the Holy Spirit<sup>e</sup> to go across to Greece before returning to Jerusalem. "And after that," he said, "I must go on to Rome!"<sup>22</sup> He sent his two assistants, Timothy and Erastus, on ahead to Greece while he stayed awhile longer in Turkey.

"Gentlemen, this business is our income.<sup>26</sup> As you know so well from what you've seen and heard, this man Paul has persuaded many, many people that handmade gods aren't gods at all. As a result, our sales volume is going down! And this trend is evident not only here in Ephesus, but throughout the entire province!<sup>27</sup> Of course, I am not only talking about the business aspects of this situation and our loss of income, but also of the possibility that the temple of the great goddess Diana will lose its influence, and that Diana—this magnificent goddess worshiped not only throughout this part of Turkey but all around the world—will be forgotten!"

<sup>28</sup> At this their anger boiled and they began shouting, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

<sup>29</sup> A crowd began to gather and soon the city was filled with confusion. Everyone rushed to the amphitheater, dragging along Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's traveling companions, for trial. <sup>30</sup> Paul wanted to go in, but the disciples wouldn't let him. <sup>31</sup> Some of the Roman officers of the province, friends of Paul, also sent a message to him, begging him not to risk his life by entering.

<sup>32</sup> Inside, the people were all shouting, some one thing and some another—everything was in confusion. In fact, most of them didn't even know why they were there.

<sup>33</sup> Alexander was spotted among the crowd by some of the Jews and dragged forward. He motioned for silence and tried to speak.

<sup>34</sup> But when the crowd realized he was a Jew, they started shouting again and kept it up for two hours: "Great is Diana of the Ephesians! Great is Diana of the Ephesians!"

<sup>35</sup> At last the mayor was able to quiet them down enough to speak. "Men of Ephesus," he said, "everyone knows that Ephesus is the center<sup>f</sup> of the religion of the great Diana, whose image fell down to us from heaven. <sup>36</sup> Since this is an indisputable fact, you shouldn't be disturbed no matter what is said, and should do nothing rash. <sup>37</sup> Yet you have brought these men here who have stolen nothing from her temple and have not defamed her. <sup>38</sup> If Demetrius and the craftsmen have a case against them, the courts are currently in session and the judges can take the case at once. Let them go through legal channels. <sup>39</sup> And if there are complaints about other matters, they can be settled at the regular City Council meetings; <sup>40</sup> for we are in danger of being called to account by the Roman government for today's riot, since there is no cause for it. And if Rome demands an explanation, I won't know what to say."

<sup>41</sup> Then he dismissed them, and they dispersed.

20 WHEN IT WAS all over, Paul sent for the disciples, preached a farewell message to them, said good-bye and left for Greece. <sup>2</sup> preaching to the believers along the way, in all the cities he passed through. <sup>3</sup> He was in Greece three months and was preparing to sail for Syria when he discovered a plot by the Jews against his life, so he decided to go north to Macedonia first.

<sup>4</sup> Several men were traveling with him, going as far as Turkey;<sup>a</sup> they were Sopater of Beroea, the son of Pyrrhus; Aristarchus and Secundus, from Thessalonica; Gaius, from Derbe; and Timothy; and Tychicus and Trophimus, who were returning to their homes in Turkey, <sup>5</sup> and had gone on ahead and were waiting for us at Troas. <sup>6</sup> As soon as the Passover ceremonies ended, we boarded ship at Philippi in northern Greece and five days later arrived in Troas, Turkey, where we stayed a week.

<sup>7</sup> On Sunday,<sup>b</sup> we gathered for a communion service, with Paul preaching. And since he was leaving the next day, he talked until midnight! <sup>8</sup> The upstairs room where we met was lighted with many flickering lamps; <sup>9</sup> and as Paul spoke on and on, a young man named Eutychus, sitting on the window sill, went fast asleep and fell three stories to his death below.

<sup>10,11,12</sup> Paul went down and took him into his arms. "Don't worry," he said, "he's all right!" And he was! What a wave of awesome joy swept through the crowd! They all went back upstairs and ate the Lord's Supper together; then Paul preached another long sermon—so it was dawn when he finally left them!

<sup>13</sup> Paul was going by land to Assos, and we went on ahead by ship.

<sup>14</sup> He joined us there and we sailed together to Mitylene; <sup>15</sup> the next day we passed Chios; the next, we touched at Samos; and a day later we arrived at Miletus.

<sup>16</sup> Paul had decided against stopping at Ephesus this time, as he was hurrying to get to Jerusalem, if possible, for the celebration of Pentecost. <sup>17</sup> But when we landed at Miletus, he sent a message to the elders of the church at Ephesus asking them to come down to the boat to meet him.

<sup>18</sup> When they arrived he told them, "You men know that from the day I set foot in Turkey until now <sup>19</sup> I have done the Lord's work humbly—yes, and with tears—and have faced grave danger from the plots of the Jews against my life. <sup>20</sup> Yet I never shrank from telling you the truth, either publicly or in your homes. <sup>21</sup> I have had one message for Jews and Gentiles alike—the necessity of turning from sin to God through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>22</sup> "And now I am going to Jerusalem, drawn there irresistibly by the Holy Spirit,<sup>c</sup> not knowing what awaits me, <sup>23</sup> except that the Holy Spirit has told me in city after city that jail and suffering lie ahead. <sup>24</sup> But life is worth nothing unless I use it for doing the work assigned me by the Lord Jesus—the work of telling others the Good News about God's mighty kindness and love.

<sup>25</sup> "And now I know that none of you among whom I went about teaching the Kingdom will ever see me again. <sup>26</sup> Let me say plainly that no man's blood can be laid at my door, <sup>27</sup> for I didn't shrink from declaring all God's message to you.

<sup>28</sup> "And now beware! Be sure that you feed and shepherd God's flock—his church, purchased with his blood—for the Holy Spirit is holding you responsible as overseers. <sup>29</sup> I know full well that after I leave you, false teachers, like vicious wolves, will appear among you, not sparing the flock. <sup>30</sup> Some of you yourselves will distort the truth in order to draw a following. <sup>31</sup> Watch out! Remember the three years I was with you—my constant watchcare over you night and day and my many tears for you.

God and his care and to his wonderful words which are able to build your faith and give you all the inheritance of those who are set apart for himself.

"I have never been hungry for money or fine clothing—" you know that these hands of mine worked to pay my own way and even to supply the needs of those who were with me. "And I was a constant example to you in helping the poor; for I remembered the words of the Lord Jesus, 'It is more blessed to give than to receive.'"

"When he had finished speaking, he knelt and prayed with them, "and they wept aloud as they embraced him in farewell, "sorrowing most of all because he said that he would never see them again. Then they accompanied him down to the ship.

21 AFTER PARTING FROM the Ephesian elders, we sailed straight to Cos. The next day we reached Rhodes and then went to Patara. <sup>2</sup> There we boarded a ship sailing for the Syrian province of Phoenicia. <sup>3</sup> We sighted the island of Cyprus, passed it on our left and landed at the harbor of Tyre, in Syria, where the ship unloaded. <sup>4</sup> We went ashore, found the local believers and stayed with them a week. These disciples warned Paul—the Holy Spirit prophesying through them—not to go on to Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup> At the end of the week when we returned to the ship, the entire congregation including wives and children walked down to the beach with us where we prayed and said our farewells. <sup>6</sup> Then we went aboard and they returned home.

<sup>10</sup> During our stay of several days, a man named Agabus, who also had the gift of prophecy, arrived from Judea <sup>11</sup> and visited us. He took Paul's belt, bound his own feet and hands with it and said, "The Holy Spirit declares, 'So shall the owner of this belt be bound by the Jews in Jerusalem and turned over to the Romans.'"<sup>12</sup> Hearing this, all of us—the local believers and his traveling companions—begged Paul not to go on to Jerusalem.

<sup>13</sup> But he said, "Why all this weeping? You are breaking my heart! For I am ready not only to be jailed at Jerusalem, but also to die for the sake of the Lord Jesus."<sup>14</sup> When it was clear that he wouldn't be dissuaded, we gave up and said, "The will of the Lord be done."

with him to meet with James and the elders of the Jerusalem church.<sup>19</sup> After greetings were exchanged, Paul recounted the many things God had accomplished among the Gentiles through his work.

<sup>20</sup> They praised God but then said, "You know, dear brother, how many thousands of Jews have also believed, and they are all very insistent that Jewish believers must continue to follow the Jewish traditions and customs.<sup>c</sup> <sup>21</sup> Our Jewish Christians here at Jerusalem have been told that you are against the laws of Moses, against our Jewish customs, and that you forbid the circumcision of their children.<sup>22</sup> Now what can be done? For they will certainly hear that you have come.

<sup>23</sup> "We suggest this: We have four men here who are preparing to shave their heads and take some vows. <sup>24</sup> Go with them to the Temple and have your head shaved too—and pay for theirs to be shaved.

"Then everyone will know that you approve of this custom for the Hebrew Christians and that you yourself obey the Jewish laws and are in line with our thinking in these matters.

<sup>25</sup> "As for the Gentile Christians, we aren't asking them to follow these Jewish customs at all—except for the ones we wrote to them about: not to eat food offered to idols, not to eat unbled meat from strangled animals, and not to commit fornication."

quest and the next day went with the men to the Temple for the ceremony, thus publicizing his vow to offer a sacrifice seven<sup>d</sup> days later with the others.

The seven days were almost ended when some Jews from Turkey saw him in the Temple and roused a mob against him. They grabbed him,<sup>28</sup> yelling, "Men of Israel! Help! Help! This is the man who preaches against our people and tells everybody to disobey the Jewish laws. He even talks against the Temple and defiles it by bringing Gentiles in!"<sup>29</sup> (For down in the city earlier that day, they had seen him with Trophimus, a Gentile<sup>e</sup> from Ephesus in Turkey, and assumed that Paul had taken him into the Temple.)

<sup>30</sup> The whole population of the city was electrified by these accusations and a great riot followed. Paul was dragged out of the Temple, and immediately the gates were closed behind him. <sup>31</sup> As they were killing him, word reached the commander of the Roman garrison that all Jerusalem was in an uproar. <sup>32</sup> He quickly ordered out his soldiers and officers and ran down among the crowd. When the mob saw the troops coming, they quit beating Paul. <sup>33</sup> The commander arrested him and ordered him bound with double chains. Then he asked the crowd who he was and what he had done. <sup>34</sup> Some shouted one thing and some another. When he couldn't find out anything in all the uproar and confusion, he ordered Paul to be taken to the armory.<sup>f</sup>

"As they reached the stairs, the mob grew so violent that the soldiers lifted Paul to their shoulders to protect him,<sup>16</sup> and the crowd surged behind shouting, "Away with him, away with him!"

<sup>17,18</sup> As Paul was about to be taken inside, he said to the commander, "May I have a word with you?"

"Do you know Greek?" the commander asked, surprised. "Aren't you that Egyptian who led a rebellion a few years ago<sup>8</sup> and took 4,000 members of the Assassins with him into the desert?"

"No," Paul replied, "I am a Jew from Tarsus in Cilicia which is no small town. I request permission to talk to these people."<sup>19</sup>

<sup>20</sup> The commander agreed, so Paul stood on the stairs and motioned to the people to be quiet; soon a deep silence enveloped the crowd, and he addressed them in Hebrew as follows:

22 "BROTHERS AND FATHERS, listen to me as I offer my defense." <sup>1</sup> (When they heard him speaking in Hebrew, the silence was even greater.) <sup>2</sup> "I am a Jew," he said, "born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, but educated here in Jerusalem under Gamaliel, at whose feet I learned to follow our Jewish laws and customs very carefully. I became very anxious to honor God in everything I did, just as you have tried to do today. 'And I persecuted the Christians, hounding them to death, binding and delivering both men and women to prison.

the Council can testify that this is so. For I asked them for letters to the Jewish leaders in Damascus, with instructions to let me bring any Christians I found to Jerusalem in chains to be punished.

<sup>4</sup> "As I was on the road, nearing Damascus, suddenly about noon a very bright light from heaven shone around me. <sup>5</sup> And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me?'

<sup>6</sup> "Who is it speaking to me, sir?" I asked. And he replied, 'I am Jesus of Nazareth, the one you are persecuting.' <sup>7</sup> The men with me saw the light but didn't understand what was said.

<sup>10</sup> "And I said, 'What shall I do, Lord?'

"And the Lord told me, 'Get up and go into Damascus, and there you will be told what awaits you in the years ahead.'

<sup>11</sup> "I was blinded by the intense light, and had to be led into Damascus by my companions. <sup>12</sup> There a man named Ananias, as godly a man as you could find for obeying the law, and well thought of by all the Jews of Damascus, <sup>13</sup> came to me, and standing beside me said, 'Brother Saul, receive your sight!' And that very hour I could see him!

<sup>14</sup> "Then he told me, 'The God of our fathers has chosen you to know his will and to see the Messiah<sup>a</sup> and hear him speak. <sup>15</sup> You are to take his message everywhere, telling what you have seen and heard. <sup>16</sup> And now, why delay? Go and be baptized, and be cleansed from your sins, calling on the name of the Lord.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>17,18</sup> "One day after my return to Jerusalem, while I was praying in the Temple, I fell into a trance and saw a vision of God saying to me, 'Hurry! Leave Jerusalem, for the people here won't believe you when you give them my message.'

<sup>19</sup> "But Lord,' I argued, 'they certainly know that I imprisoned and beat those in every synagogue who believed on you. <sup>20</sup> And when your witness Stephen was killed, I was standing there agreeing—keeping the coats they laid aside as they stoned him.'

<sup>21</sup> "But God said to me, 'Leave Jerusalem, for I will send you far away to the Gentiles!' "

<sup>22</sup> The crowd listened until Paul came to that word, then with one voice they shouted, "Away with such a fellow! Kill him! He isn't fit to live!" <sup>23</sup> They yelled and threw their coats in the air and tossed up handfuls of dust.

<sup>24</sup> So the commander brought him inside and ordered him lashed with whips to make him confess his crime. He wanted to find out why the crowd had become so furious!

<sup>25</sup> As they tied Paul down to lash him, Paul said to an officer standing there, "Is it legal for you to whip a Roman citizen who hasn't even been tried?"

<sup>26</sup> The officer went to the commander and asked, "What are you doing? This man is a Roman citizen!"

<sup>27</sup> So the commander went over and asked Paul, "Tell me, are you a Roman citizen?"

"Yes, I certainly am."

<sup>28</sup> "I am too," the commander muttered, "and it cost me plenty!"

"But I am a citizen by birth!"

<sup>29</sup> The soldiers standing ready to lash him, quickly disappeared when they heard Paul was a Roman citizen, and the commander was frightened because he had ordered him bound and whipped.

<sup>30</sup> The next day the commander freed him from his chains and ordered the chief priests into session with the Jewish Council. He had Paul brought in before them to try to find out what the trouble was all about.

23 GAZING INTENTLY AT the Council, Paul began:

"Brothers, I have always lived before God in all good conscience!"

<sup>2</sup> Instantly Ananias the High Priest commanded those close to Paul to slap him on the mouth.

<sup>3</sup> Paul said to him, "God shall slap you, you whitewashed pigpen.<sup>a</sup> What kind of judge are you to break the law yourself by ordering me struck like that?"

<sup>4</sup> Those standing near Paul said to him, "Is that the way to talk to God's High Priest?"

<sup>5</sup> "I didn't realize he was the High Priest, brothers," Paul replied, "for the Scriptures say, 'Never speak evil of any of your rulers.' "

<sup>6</sup> Then Paul thought of something! Part of the Council were Sadducees, and part were Pharisees! So he shouted, "Brothers, I am a Pharisee, as were all my ancestors! And I am being tried here today because I believe in the resurrection of the dead!"

<sup>7</sup> This divided the Council right down the middle—the Pharisees against the Sadducees—<sup>a</sup> for the Sadducees say there is no resurrection or angels or even eternal spirit within us,<sup>b</sup> but the Pharisees believe in all of these.

<sup>9</sup> So a great clamor arose. Some of the Jewish leaders<sup>c</sup> jumped up to argue that Paul was all right. "We see nothing wrong with him," they shouted. "Perhaps a spirit or angel spoke to him [there on the Damascus road]."

<sup>10</sup> The shouting grew louder and louder, and the men were tugging at Paul from both sides, pulling him this way and that. Finally the commander, fearing they would tear him apart, ordered his soldiers to take him away from them by force and bring him back to the armory.

<sup>11</sup> That night the Lord stood beside Paul and said, "Don't worry, Paul; just as you have told the people about me here in Jerusalem, so you must also in Rome."

<sup>12,13</sup> The next morning some forty or more of the Jews got together and bound themselves by a curse neither to eat nor drink until they had killed Paul! <sup>14</sup> Then they went to the chief priests and elders and told them what they had done. <sup>15</sup> "Ask the commander to bring Paul back to the Council again," they requested. "Pretend you want to ask a few more questions. We will kill him on the way."

<sup>16</sup> But Paul's nephew got wind of their plan and came to the armory and told Paul.

and said, "Take this boy to the commander. He has something important to tell him."

<sup>18</sup> So the officer did, explaining, "Paul, the prisoner, called me over and asked me to bring this young man to you to tell you something."

<sup>19</sup> The commander took the boy by the hand, and leading him aside asked, "What is it you want to tell me, lad?"

<sup>20</sup> "Tomorrow," he told him, "the Jews are going to ask you to bring Paul before the Council again, pretending they want to get some more information. <sup>21</sup> But don't do it! There are more than forty men hiding along the road ready to jump him and kill him. They have bound themselves under a curse to neither eat nor drink till he is dead. They are out there now, expecting you to agree to their request."

<sup>26</sup> "From: Claudius Lysias "To: His Excellency, Governor Felix.

"Greetings!

<sup>27</sup> "This man was seized by the Jews and they were killing him when I sent the soldiers to rescue him, for I learned that he was a Roman citizen. <sup>28</sup> Then I took him to their Council to try to find out what he had done. <sup>29</sup> I soon discovered it was something about their Jewish beliefs, certainly nothing worthy of imprisonment or death.

<sup>30</sup> "But when I was informed of a plot to kill him, I decided to send him on to you and will tell his accusers to bring their charges before you."

<sup>31</sup> So that night, as ordered, the soldiers took Paul to Antipatris.

<sup>32</sup> They returned to the armory the next morning, leaving him with the cavalry to take him on to Caesarea.

<sup>33</sup> When they arrived in Caesarea, they presented Paul and the letter to the governor. <sup>34</sup> He read it and then asked Paul where he was from.

"Cilicia," Paul answered.

<sup>35</sup> "I will hear your case fully when your accusers arrive," the governor told him, and ordered him kept in the prison at King Herod's palace.

24 FIVE DAYS LATER Ananias the High Priest arrived with some of the Jewish leaders<sup>a</sup> and the lawyer<sup>b</sup> Tertullus, to make their accusations against Paul. <sup>2</sup> When Tertullus was called forward, he laid charges against Paul in the following address to the governor:

"Your Excellency, you have given quietness and peace to us Jews and have greatly reduced the discrimination against us. <sup>3</sup> And for this we are very, very grateful to you. <sup>4</sup> But lest I bore you, kindly give me your attention for only a moment as I briefly outline our case against this man. <sup>5</sup> For we have found him to be a troublemaker, a man who is constantly inciting the Jews throughout the entire world to riots and rebellions against the Roman government.

"He is a ringleader of the sect known as the Nazarenes. <sup>6</sup> Moreover, he was trying to defile the Temple when we arrested him.

"We would have given him what he justly deserves,"<sup>7</sup> but Lysias, the commander of the garrison, came and took him violently away from us,<sup>8</sup> demanding that he be tried by Roman law. You can find out the truth of our accusations by examining him yourself."

<sup>9</sup> Then all the other Jews chimed in, declaring that everything Tertullus said was true.

<sup>10</sup> Now it was Paul's turn. The governor motioned for him to rise and speak.

Paul began: "I know, sir, that you have been a judge of Jewish affairs for many years, and this gives me confidence as I make my defense. <sup>11</sup> You can quickly discover that it was no more than twelve days ago that I arrived in Jerusalem to worship at the Temple, <sup>12</sup> and you will discover that I have never incited a riot in any synagogue or on the streets of any city; <sup>13</sup> and these men certainly cannot prove the things they accuse me of doing.

<sup>14</sup> "But one thing I do confess, that I believe in the way of salvation, which they refer to as a sect; I follow that system of serving the God of our ancestors; I firmly believe in the Jewish law and everything written in the books of prophecy; <sup>13</sup> and I believe, just as these men do, that there will be a resurrection of both the righteous and ungodly. <sup>14</sup> Because of this I try with all my strength to always maintain a clear conscience before God and man.

<sup>15</sup> "After several years away, I returned to Jerusalem with money to aid the Jews, and to offer a sacrifice to God. <sup>16</sup> My accusers saw me in the Temple as I was presenting my thank offering. <sup>c</sup> I had shaved my head as their laws required, and there was no crowd around me, and no rioting! But some Jews from Turkey were there <sup>17</sup> (who ought to be here if they have anything against me)—<sup>20</sup> but look! Ask these men right here what wrongdoing their Council found in me, <sup>21</sup> except that I said one thing I shouldn't<sup>d</sup> when I shouted out, 'I am here before the Council to defend myself for believing that the dead will rise again!'"

<sup>24</sup> A few days later Felix came with Drusilla, his legal<sup>f</sup> wife, a Jewess. Sending for Paul, they listened as he told them about faith in Christ Jesus. <sup>25</sup> And as he reasoned with them about righteousness and self-control and the judgment to come, Felix was terrified.

"Go away for now," he replied, "and when I have a more convenient time, I'll call for you again."

<sup>26</sup> He also hoped that Paul would bribe him, so he sent for him from time to time and talked with him. <sup>27</sup> Two years went by in this way; then Felix was succeeded by Porcius Festus. And because Felix wanted to gain favor with the Jews, he left Paul in chains.

25 THREE DAYS AFTER Festus arrived in Caesarea to take over his new responsibilities, he left for Jerusalem, <sup>2</sup> where the chief priests and other Jewish leaders got hold of him and gave him their story about Paul. <sup>3</sup> They begged him to bring Paul to Jerusalem at once. (Their plan was to waylay and kill him.) <sup>4</sup> But Festus replied that since Paul was at Caesarea and he himself was returning there soon, <sup>5</sup> those with authority in this affair should return with him for the trial.

<sup>6</sup> Eight, or ten days later he returned to Caesarea and the following day opened Paul's trial.

<sup>7</sup> On Paul's arrival in court the Jews from Jerusalem gathered around, hurling many serious accusations which they couldn't prove. <sup>8</sup> Paul denied the charges: "I am not guilty," he said. "I have not opposed the Jewish laws or desecrated the Temple or rebelled against the Roman government."

<sup>9</sup> Then Festus, anxious to please the Jews, asked him, "Are you willing to go to Jerusalem and stand trial before me?"

<sup>10,11</sup> But Paul replied, "No! I demand my privilege of a hearing before the Emperor himself. You know very well I am not guilty. If I have done something worthy of death, I don't refuse to die! But if I am innocent, neither you nor anyone else has a right to turn me over to these men to kill me. I appeal to Caesar."

<sup>12</sup> Festus conferred with his advisors and then replied, "Very well! You have appealed to Caesar, and to Caesar you shall go!"

<sup>17</sup> "When they came here for the trial, I called the case the very next day and ordered Paul brought in. <sup>18</sup> But the accusations made against him weren't at all what I supposed they would be. <sup>19</sup> It was something about their religion, and about someone called Jesus who died, but Paul insists he is alive! <sup>20</sup> I was perplexed as to how to decide a case of this kind and asked him whether he would be willing to stand trial on these charges in Jerusalem. <sup>21</sup> But Paul appealed to Caesar! So I ordered him back to jail until I could arrange to get him to the Emperor."

<sup>22</sup> "I'd like to hear the man myself," Agrippa said.

And Festus replied, "You shall—tomorrow!"

<sup>23</sup> So the next day, after the king and Bernice had arrived at the courtroom with great pomp, accompanied by military officers and prominent men of the city, Festus ordered Paul brought in.

<sup>24</sup> Then Festus addressed the audience: "King Agrippa and all present," he said, "this is the man whose death is demanded both by the local Jews and by those in Jerusalem! <sup>25</sup> But in my opinion he has done nothing worthy of death. However, he appealed his case to Caesar, and I have no alternative but to send him. <sup>26</sup> But what shall I write the Emperor? For there is no real charge against him! So I have brought him before you all, and especially you, King Agrippa, to examine him and then tell me what to write. <sup>27</sup> For it doesn't seem reasonable to send a prisoner to the Emperor without any charges against him!"

26 THEN AGRIPPA SAID to Paul, "Go ahead. Tell us your story."

So Paul, with many gestures,<sup>a</sup> presented his defense:

<sup>2</sup> "I am fortunate, King Agrippa," he began, "to be able to present my answer before you, <sup>3</sup> for I know you are an expert on Jewish laws and customs. Now please listen patiently!

<sup>4</sup> "As the Jews are well aware, I was given a thorough Jewish training from my earliest childhood in Tarsus<sup>b</sup> and later at Jerusalem, and I lived accordingly. <sup>5</sup> If they would admit it, they know that I have always been the strictest of Pharisees when it comes to obedience to Jewish laws and customs. <sup>6</sup> But the real reason behind their accusations is something else—it is because I am looking forward to the fulfillment of God's promise made to our ancestors. <sup>7</sup> The twelve tribes of Israel strive night and day to attain this same hope I have! Yet, O King, for me it is a crime, they say! <sup>8</sup> But is it a crime to believe in the resurrection of the dead? Does it seem incredible to you that God can bring men back to life again?

<sup>9</sup> "I used to believe that I ought to do many horrible things to the followers<sup>c</sup> of Jesus of Nazareth. <sup>10</sup> I imprisoned many of the saints in Jerusalem, as authorized by the High Priests; and when they were condemned to death, I cast my vote against them. <sup>11</sup> I used torture to try to make Christians everywhere curse Christ. I was so violently opposed to them that I even hounded them in distant cities in foreign lands.

<sup>12</sup> "I was on such a mission to Damascus, armed with the authority and commission of the chief priests, <sup>13</sup> when one day about noon, sir, a light from heaven brighter than the sun shone down on me and my companions. <sup>14</sup> We all fell down, and I heard a voice speaking to me in Hebrew, 'Saul, Saul, why are you persecuting me? You are only hurting yourself.'<sup>d</sup> <sup>15</sup> " 'Who are you, sir?' I asked.

"And the Lord replied, 'I am Jesus, the one you are persecuting. <sup>16</sup> Now stand up! For I have appeared to you to appoint you as my servant and my witness. You are to tell the world about this experience and about the many other occasions when I shall appear to you. <sup>17</sup> And I will protect you from both your own people and the Gentiles. Yes, I am going to send you to the Gentiles <sup>18</sup> to open their eyes to their true condition so that they may repent and live in the light of God instead of in Satan's darkness, so that they may receive forgiveness for their sins and God's inheritance along with all people everywhere whose sins are cleansed away, who are set apart by faith in me.'

<sup>19</sup> "And so, O King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to that vision from heaven! <sup>20</sup> I preached first to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem and through Judea, and also to the Gentiles that all must forsake their sins and turn to God—and prove their repentance by doing good deeds. <sup>21</sup> The Jews arrested me in the Temple for preaching this, and tried to kill me, <sup>22</sup> but God protected me so that I am still alive today to tell these facts to everyone, both great and small. I teach nothing except what the prophets and Moses said— <sup>23</sup> that the Messiah would suffer, and be the First to rise from the dead, to bring light to Jews and Gentiles alike."

<sup>25</sup> But Paul replied, "I am not insane, Most Excellent Festus. I speak words of sober truth. <sup>26</sup> And King Agrippa knows about these things. I speak frankly for I am sure these events are all familiar to him, for they were not done in a corner! <sup>27</sup> King Agrippa, do you believe the prophets? But I know you do—"

<sup>29</sup> And Paul replied, "Would to God that whether my arguments are trivial or strong, both you and everyone here in this audience might become the same as I am, except for these chains."

<sup>30</sup> Then the king, the governor, Bernice, and all the others stood and left. <sup>31</sup> As they talked it over afterwards they agreed, "This man hasn't done anything worthy of death or imprisonment."

<sup>32</sup> And Agrippa said to Festus, "He could be set free if he hadn't appealed to Caesar!"

27 ARRANGEMENTS WERE FINALLY made to start us on our way to Rome by ship; so Paul and several other prisoners were placed in the custody of an officer named Julius, a member of the imperial guard. <sup>2</sup> We left on a boat<sup>a</sup> which was scheduled to make several stops along the Turkish coast.<sup>b</sup> I should add that Aristarchus,<sup>c</sup> a Greek from Thessalonica, was with us.

<sup>3</sup> The next day when we docked at Sidon, Julius was very kind to Paul and let him go ashore to visit with friends and receive their hospitality. <sup>4</sup> Putting to sea from there, we encountered headwinds that made it difficult to keep the ship on course, so we sailed north of Cyprus between the island and the mainland,<sup>d</sup> <sup>5</sup> and passed along the coast of the provinces of Cilicia and Pamphylia, landing at Myra, in the province of Lycia. <sup>6</sup> There our officer found an Egyptian ship from Alexandria, bound for Italy, and put us aboard:

<sup>7</sup> We had several days of rough sailing, and finally neared Cnidus;<sup>e</sup> but the winds had become too strong, so we ran across to Crete, passing the port of Salmone. Beating into the wind with great difficulty and moving slowly along the southern coast, we arrived at Fair Havens, near the city of Lasea. <sup>8</sup> There we stayed for several days. The weather was becoming dangerous for long voyages by then, because it was late in the year,<sup>f</sup> and Paul spoke to the ship's officers about it.

<sup>9</sup> "Sirs," he said, "I believe there is trouble ahead if we go on—perhaps shipwreck, loss of cargo, injuries, and death." <sup>10</sup> But the officers in charge of the prisoners listened more to the ship's captain and the owner than to Paul.<sup>12</sup> And since Fair Havens was an exposed<sup>g</sup> harbor—a poor place to spend the winter—most of the crew advised trying to go further up the coast to Phoenix, in order to winter there; Phoenix was a good harbor with only a northwest and southwest exposure.

<sup>13</sup> Just then a light wind began blowing from the south, and it looked like a perfect day for the trip; so they pulled up anchor and sailed along close to shore.

<sup>14,15</sup> But shortly afterwards, the weather changed abruptly and a heavy wind of typhoon strength (a "northeaster," they called it) caught the ship and blew it out to sea. They tried at first to face back to shore but couldn't, so they gave up and let the ship run before the gale.

<sup>16</sup> We finally sailed behind a small island named Clauda, where with great difficulty we hoisted aboard the lifeboat that was being towed behind us,<sup>17</sup> and then banded the ship with ropes to strengthen the hull. The sailors were afraid of being driven across to the quicksands of the African coast,<sup>h</sup> so they lowered the topsails and were thus driven before the wind.

<sup>18</sup> The next day as the seas grew higher, the crew began throwing the cargo overboard.<sup>19</sup> The following day they threw out the tackle and anything else they could lay their hands on.<sup>20</sup> The terrible storm raged unabated many days,<sup>i</sup> until at last all hope was gone.

<sup>21</sup> No one had eaten for a long time, but finally Paul called the crew together and said, "Men, you should have listened to me in the first place and not left Fair Havens—you would have avoided all this injury and loss!"<sup>22</sup> But cheer up! Not one of us will lose our lives, even though the ship will go down.

<sup>23</sup> "For last night an angel of the God to whom I belong and whom I serve stood beside me,"<sup>24</sup> and said, 'Don't be afraid, Paul—for you will surely stand trial before Caesar! What's more, God has granted your request and will save the lives of all those sailing with you.'<sup>25</sup> So take courage! For I believe God! It will be just as he said!<sup>26</sup> But we will be shipwrecked on an island."

<sup>27</sup> About midnight on the fourteenth night of the storm, as we were being driven to and fro on the Adriatic Sea, the sailors suspected land was near.<sup>28</sup> They sounded, and found 120 feet of water below them. A little later they sounded again, and found only ninety feet.<sup>29</sup> At this rate they knew they would soon be driven ashore; and fearing rocks along the coast, they threw out four anchors from the stern and prayed for daylight.

<sup>30</sup> Some of the sailors planned to abandon the ship, and lowered the emergency boat as though they were going to put out anchors from the prow.<sup>31</sup> But Paul said to the soldiers and commanding officer, "You will all die unless everyone stays aboard."<sup>32</sup> So the soldiers cut the ropes and let the boat fall off.

<sup>33</sup> As the darkness gave way to the early morning light, Paul begged everyone to eat. "You haven't touched food for two weeks," he said. <sup>34</sup> "Please eat something now for your own good! For not a hair of your heads shall perish!"

<sup>35</sup> Then he took some hardtack and gave thanks to God before them all, and broke off a piece and ate it. <sup>36</sup> Suddenly everyone felt better and began eating, <sup>37</sup> all two hundred seventy-six of us—for that is the number we had aboard. <sup>38</sup> After eating, the crew lightened the ship further by throwing all the wheat overboard.

<sup>39</sup> When it was day, they didn't recognize the coastline, but noticed a bay with a beach and wondered whether they could get between the rocks and be driven up onto the beach. <sup>40</sup> They finally decided to try. Cutting off the anchors and leaving them in the sea, they lowered the rudders, raised the foresail and headed ashore. <sup>41</sup> But the ship hit a sandbar<sup>j</sup> and ran aground. The bow of the ship stuck fast, while the stern was exposed to the violence of the waves and began to break apart.

<sup>42</sup> The soldiers advised their commanding officer to let them kill the prisoners lest any of them swim ashore and escape. <sup>43</sup> But Julius<sup>k</sup> wanted to spare Paul, so he told them no. Then he ordered all who could swim to jump overboard and make for land, <sup>44</sup> and the rest to try for it on planks and debris from the broken ship. So everyone escaped safely ashore!

28 WE SOON LEARNED that we were on the island of Malta. The people of the island were very kind to us, building a bonfire on the beach to welcome and warm us in the rain and cold.

<sup>3</sup> As Paul gathered an armful of sticks to lay on the fire, a poisonous snake, driven out by the heat, fastened itself onto his hand! <sup>4</sup> The people of the island saw it hanging there and said to each other, "A murderer, no doubt! Though he escaped the sea, justice will not permit him to live!"

<sup>5</sup> But Paul shook off the snake into the fire and was unharmed. <sup>6</sup> The people waited for him to begin swelling or suddenly fall dead; but when they had waited a long time and no harm came to him, they changed their minds and decided he was a god. <sup>7</sup> Near the shore where we landed was an estate belonging to Publius, the governor of the island. He welcomed us courteously and fed us for three days. <sup>8</sup> As it happened, Publius' father was ill with fever and dysentery. Paul went in and prayed for him, and laying his hands on him, healed him! <sup>9</sup> Then all the other sick people in the island came and were cured. <sup>10</sup> As a result we were showered with gifts,<sup>a</sup> and when the time came to sail, people put on board all sorts of things we would need for the trip.

<sup>11</sup> It was three months after the shipwreck before we set sail again, and this time it was in The Twin Brothers of Alexandria, a ship that had wintered at the island. <sup>12</sup> Our first stop was Syracuse, where we stayed three days. <sup>13</sup> From there we circled around to Rhegium; a day later a south wind began blowing, so the following day we arrived at Puteoli, <sup>14</sup> where we found some believers! They begged us to stay with them seven days. Then we went on to Rome. <sup>15</sup> The brothers in Rome had heard we were coming and came to meet us at the Forum<sup>b</sup> on the Appian Way. Others joined us at The Three Taverns<sup>c</sup>. When Paul saw them, he thanked God and took courage.

<sup>16</sup> When we arrived in Rome, Paul was permitted to live wherever he wanted to, though guarded by a soldier. <sup>17</sup> Three days after his arrival, he called together the local Jewish leaders and spoke to them as follows:

"Brothers, I was arrested by the Jews in Jerusalem and handed over to the Roman government for prosecution, even though I had harmed no one nor violated the customs of our ancestors. <sup>18</sup> The Romans gave me a trial and wanted to release me, for they found no cause for the death sentence demanded by the Jewish leaders. <sup>19</sup> But when the Jews protested the decision, I felt it necessary, with no malice against them, to appeal to Caesar. <sup>20</sup> I asked you to come here today so we could get acquainted and I could tell you that it is because I believe the Messiah<sup>d</sup> has come that I am bound with this chain."

<sup>21</sup> They replied, "We have heard nothing against you! We have had no letters from Judea or reports from those arriving from Jerusalem.<sup>e</sup> <sup>22</sup> But we want to hear what you believe, for the only thing we know about these Christians is that they are denounced everywhere!"

<sup>23</sup> So a time was set and on that day large numbers came to his house. He told them about the Kingdom of God and taught them about Jesus from the Scriptures—from the five books of Moses and the books of prophecy. He began lecturing in the morning and went on into the evening!

<sup>26</sup> "Say to the Jews, 'You will hear and see but not understand, <sup>27</sup> for your hearts are too fat and your ears don't listen and you have closed your eyes against understanding, for you don't want to see and hear and understand and turn to me to heal you.'" <sup>f</sup>

<sup>28,29g</sup> "So I want you to realize that this salvation from God is available to the Gentiles too, and they will accept it."

<sup>30</sup> Paul lived for the next two years in his rented house<sup>h</sup> and welcomed all who visited him, <sup>31</sup> telling them with all boldness about the Kingdom of God and about the Lord Jesus Christ; and no one tried to stop him.

ROMANS

1 DEAR FRIENDS IN Rome: <sup>1</sup> This letter is from Paul, Jesus Christ's slave, chosen to be a missionary, and sent out to preach God's Good News. <sup>2</sup> This Good News was promised long ago by God's prophets in the Old Testament. <sup>3</sup> It is the Good News about his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord, who came as a human baby, born into King David's royal family line; <sup>4</sup> and by being raised from the dead he was proved to be the mighty Son of God, with the holy nature of God himself.

<sup>5</sup> And now, through Christ, all the kindness of God has been poured out upon us undeserving sinners; and now he is sending us out around the world to tell all people everywhere the great things God has done for them, so that they, too, will believe and obey him.

<sup>6,7</sup> And you, dear friends in Rome, are among those he dearly loves; you, too, are invited by Jesus Christ to be God's very own—yes, his holy people. May all God's mercies and peace be yours from God our Father and from Jesus Christ our Lord.

<sup>8</sup> Let me say first of all that wherever I go I hear you being talked about! For your faith in God is becoming known around the world. How I thank God through Jesus Christ for this good report, and for each one of you. <sup>9</sup> God knows how often I pray for you.

Day and night I bring you and your needs in prayer to the one I serve with all my might, telling others the Good News about his Son.

<sup>10</sup> And one of the things I keep on praying for is the opportunity, God willing,<sup>a</sup> to come at last to see you and, if possible, that I will have a safe trip.<sup>b</sup> <sup>11,12</sup> For I long to visit you so that I can impart to you the faith<sup>c</sup> that will help your church grow strong in the Lord. Then, too, I need your help, for I want not only to share my faith with you but to be encouraged by yours: Each of us will be a blessing to the other.

<sup>13</sup> I want you to know, dear brothers, that I planned to come many times before (but was prevented) so that I could work among you and see good results, just as I have among the other Gentile churches.<sup>d</sup> <sup>14</sup> For I owe a great debt to you and to everyone else, both to civilized people and uncivilized alike; yes, to the educated and uneducated alike. <sup>15</sup> So, to the fullest extent of my ability, I am ready to come also to you in Rome to preach God's Good News.

<sup>16</sup> For I am not ashamed of this Good News about Christ. It is God's powerful method of bringing all who believe it to heaven. This message was preached first to the Jews alone, but now everyone is invited to come to God in this same way. <sup>17</sup> This Good News tells us that God makes us ready for heaven—makes us right in God's sight—when we put our faith and trust in Christ to save us. This is accomplished from start to finish by faith.<sup>c</sup> As the Scripture says it, "The man who finds life will find it through trusting God."<sup>f</sup>

<sup>18</sup> But God shows his anger from heaven against all sinful, evil men who push away the truth from them. <sup>19</sup> For the truth about God is known to them instinctively<sup>g</sup>; God has put this knowledge in their hearts. <sup>20</sup> Since earliest times men have seen the earth and sky and all God made, and have known of his existence and great eternal power. So they will have no excuse [when they stand before God at Judgment Day<sup>h</sup>].

<sup>21</sup> Yes, they knew about him all right, but they wouldn't admit it or worship him or even thank him for all his daily care. And after awhile they began to think up silly ideas of what God was like and what he wanted them to do. The result was that their foolish minds became dark and confused. <sup>22</sup> Claiming themselves to be wise without God, they became utter fools instead. <sup>23</sup> And then, instead of worshipping the glorious, ever-living God, they took wood and stone and made idols for themselves, carving them to look like mere birds and animals and snakes and puny<sup>i</sup> men.

<sup>24</sup> So God let them go ahead into every sort of sex sin, and do whatever they wanted to—yes, vile and sinful things with each other's bodies. <sup>25</sup> Instead of believing what they knew was the truth about God, they deliberately chose to believe lies. So they prayed to the things God made, but wouldn't obey the blessed God who made these things.

<sup>26</sup> That is why God let go of them and let them do all these evil things, so that even their women turned against God's natural plan for them and indulged in sex sin with each other. <sup>27</sup> And the men, instead of having a normal sex relationship with women, burned with lust for each other, men doing shameful things with other men and, as a result, getting paid within their own souls with the penalty they so richly deserved.

<sup>28</sup> So it was that when they gave God up and would not even acknowledge him, God gave them up to doing everything their evil minds could think of. <sup>29</sup> Their lives became full of every kind of wickedness and sin, of greed and hate, envy, murder, fighting, lying, bitterness, and gossip. <sup>30</sup> They were backbiters, haters of God, insolent, proud braggarts, always thinking of new ways of sinning and continually being disobedient to their parents. <sup>31</sup> They tried to misunderstand,<sup>j</sup> broke their promises, and were heartless—without pity.

<sup>32</sup> They were fully aware of God's death penalty for these crimes, yet they went right ahead and did them anyway, and encouraged others to do them, too.

<sup>h</sup> Implied. Or, "They have no excuse for saying there is no God."

<sup>i</sup> Literally, "mortal."

2 "WELL," YOU MAY be saying, "what terrible people you have been talking about!" But wait a minute! You are just as bad. When you say they are wicked and should be punished, you are talking about yourselves, for you do these very same things. <sup>2</sup> And we know that God, in justice, will punish anyone who does such things as these. <sup>3</sup> Do you think that God will judge and condemn others for doing them and overlook you when you do them, too? <sup>4</sup> Don't you realize how patient he is being with you? Or don't you care? Can't you see that he has been waiting all this time without punishing you, to give you time to turn from your sin? His kindness is meant to lead you to repentance.

<sup>5</sup> But no, you won't listen; and so you are saving up terrible punishment for yourselves because of your stubbornness in refusing to turn from your sin; for there is going to come a day of wrath when God will be the just Judge of all the world. <sup>6</sup> He will give each one whatever his deeds deserve. <sup>7</sup> He will give eternal life to those who patiently do the will of God,<sup>a</sup> seeking for the unseen<sup>b</sup> glory and honor and eternal life that he offers.<sup>b</sup> <sup>8</sup> But he will terribly punish those who fight against the truth of God and walk in evil ways—God's anger will be poured out upon them. <sup>9</sup> There will be sorrow and suffering for Jews and Gentiles alike who keep on sinning. <sup>10</sup> But there will be glory and honor and peace from God for all who obey him,<sup>c</sup> whether they are Jews or Gentiles. <sup>11</sup> For God treats everyone the same.

<sup>12-13</sup> He will punish sin wherever it is found. He will punish the heathen when they sin, even though they never had God's written laws, for down in their hearts they know right from wrong. God's laws are written within them; their own conscience accuses them, or sometimes excuses them. And God will punish the Jews for sinning because they have his written laws but don't obey them. They know what is right but don't do it. After all, salvation is not given to those who know what to do, unless they do it. <sup>16</sup> The day will surely come when at God's command Jesus Christ will judge the secret lives of everyone, their inmost thoughts and motives; this is all part of God's great plan which I proclaim.

<sup>21</sup> Yes, you teach others—then why don't you teach yourselves? You tell others not to steal—do you

<sup>d</sup> Or, "you rely upon the law for your salvation."

steal? <sup>22</sup> You say it is wrong to commit adultery—do you do it? You say, “Don’t pray to idols,” and then make money your god instead.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>23</sup> You are so proud of knowing God’s laws, but you dishonor him by breaking them. <sup>24</sup> No wonder the Scriptures say that the world speaks evil of God because of you.

<sup>25</sup> Being a Jew is worth something if you obey God’s laws; but if you don’t, then you are no better off than the heathen. <sup>26</sup> And if the heathen obey God’s laws, won’t God give them all the rights and honors he planned to give the Jews? <sup>27</sup> In fact, those heathen will be much better off<sup>f</sup> than you Jews who know so much about God and have his promises but don’t obey his laws.

<sup>28</sup> For you are not real Jews just because you were born of Jewish parents or because you have gone through the Jewish initiation ceremony of circumcision. <sup>29</sup> No, a real Jew is anyone whose heart is right with God. For God is not looking for those who cut their bodies in actual body circumcision, but he is looking for those with changed hearts and minds. Whoever has that kind of change in his life will get his praise from God, even if not from you.

3 THEN WHAT’S THE use of being a Jew? Are there any special benefits for them from God? Is there any value in the Jewish circumcision ceremony? <sup>1</sup> Yes, being a Jew has many advantages.

First of all, God trusted them with his laws [so that they could know and do his will<sup>a</sup>]. <sup>2</sup> True, some of them were unfaithful, but just because they broke their promises to God, does that mean God will break his promises? <sup>3</sup> Of course not! Though everyone else in the world is a liar, God is not. Do you remember what the book of Psalms says about this?<sup>b</sup> That God’s words will always prove true and right, no matter who questions them.

<sup>4</sup> “But,” some say, “our breaking faith with God is good, our sins serve a good purpose, for people will notice how good God is when they see how bad we are. Is it fair, then, for him to punish us when our sins are helping him?” (That is the way some people talk.) <sup>5</sup> God forbid! Then what kind of God would he be, to overlook sin? How could he ever condemn anyone? <sup>6</sup> For he could not judge and condemn me as a sinner if my dishonesty brought him glory by pointing up his honesty in contrast to my lies. <sup>7</sup> If you follow through with that idea you come to this: the worse we are, the better God likes it! But the damnation of those who say such things is just. Yet some claim that this is what I preach!

<sup>8</sup> Well, then, are we Jews better than others? No, not at all, for we have already shown that all men alike are sinners, whether Jews or Gentiles. <sup>9</sup> As the Scriptures say, “No one is good—no one in all the world is innocent.”<sup>c</sup>

<sup>10</sup> No one has ever really followed God’s paths, or even truly wanted to.

<sup>11</sup> Every one has turned away; all e Literally, “do you rob temples?”

a Implied. b Psalm 51:4.

f Literally, “will condemn” you.
c Psalm 14:3.

have gone wrong. No one anywhere has kept on doing what is right; not one.

<sup>13</sup> Their talk is foul and filthy like the stench from an open grave.<sup>d</sup> Their tongues are loaded with lies. Everything they say has in it the sting and poison of deadly snakes.

<sup>16</sup> Wherever they go they leave misery and trouble behind them, <sup>17</sup> and they have never known what it is to feel secure or enjoy God's blessing.

<sup>19</sup> So the judgment of God lies very heavily upon the Jews, for they are responsible to keep God's laws instead of doing all these evil things; not one of them has any excuse; in fact, all the world stands hushed and guilty before Almighty God.

<sup>20</sup> Now do you see it? No one can ever be made right in God's sight by doing what the law commands. For the more we know of God's laws, the clearer it becomes that we aren't obeying them; his laws serve only to make us see that we are sinners.

<sup>21,22</sup> But now God has shown us a different way to heaven<sup>f</sup>—not by "being good enough" and trying to keep his laws, but by a new way (though not new, really, for the Scriptures told about it long ago). Now God says he will accept and acquit us—declare us "not guilty"

—if we trust Jesus Christ to take away our sins. And we all can be saved in this same way, by coming to Christ, no matter who we are or what we have been like. <sup>23</sup> Yes, all have sinned; all fall short of God's glorious ideal; <sup>24</sup> yet now God declares us "not guilty" of offending him if we trust in Jesus Christ, who in his kindness freely takes away our sins.

<sup>25</sup> For God sent Christ Jesus to take the punishment for our sins and to end all God's anger against us. He used Christ's blood and our faith as the means of saving us from his wrath.<sup>g</sup> In this way he was being entirely fair, even though he did not punish those who sinned in former times. For he was looking forward to the time when Christ would come and take away those sins. <sup>26</sup> And now in these days also he can receive sinners in this same way, because Jesus took away their sins.

But isn't this unfair for God to let criminals go free, and say that they are innocent? No, for he does it on the basis of their trust in Jesus who took away their sins.

<sup>27</sup> Then what can we boast about doing, to earn our salvation? Nothing at all. Why? Because our acquittal is not based on our good deeds; it is based on what Christ has done and our faith in him. <sup>28</sup> So it is that we are saved<sup>h</sup> by faith in Christ and not by the good things we do.

same; all, whether Jews or Gentiles, are acquitted if they have faith. <sup>11</sup> Well then, if we are saved by faith, does this mean that we no longer need obey God's laws? Just the opposite! In fact, only when we trust Jesus can we truly obey him.

4 ABRAHAM WAS, HUMANLY speaking, the founder of our Jewish nation. What were his experiences concerning this question of being saved by faith? Was it because of his good deeds that God accepted him? If so, then he would have something to boast about. But from God's point of view Abraham had no basis at all for pride. <sup>3</sup> For the Scriptures tell us Abraham believed God, and that is why God canceled his sins and declared him "not guilty."

<sup>4</sup> But didn't he earn his right to heaven by all the good things he did? No, for being saved is a gift; if a person could earn it by being good, then it wouldn't be free—but it is! It is given to those who do not work for it. For God declares sinners to be good in his sight if they have faith in Christ to save them from God's wrath.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>6</sup> King David spoke of this, describing the happiness of an undeserving sinner who is declared "not guilty"<sup>b</sup> by God. <sup>7</sup> "Blessed, and to be envied," he said, "are those whose sins are forgiven and put out of sight. <sup>8</sup> Yes, what joy there is for anyone whose sins are no longer counted against him by the Lord."<sup>c</sup>

blessing given only to those who have faith in Christ but also keep the Jewish laws, or is the blessing also given to those who do not keep the Jewish rules, but only trust in Christ? Well, what about Abraham? We say that he received these blessings through his faith. Was it by faith alone? Or because he also kept the Jewish rules?

<sup>10</sup> For the answer to that question, answer this one: When did God give this blessing to Abraham? It was before he became a Jew—before he went through the Jewish initiation ceremony of circumcision.

<sup>11</sup> It wasn't until later on, after God had promised to bless him because of his faith, that he was circumcised. The circumcision ceremony was a sign that Abraham already had faith and that God had already accepted him and declared him just and good in his sight—before the ceremony took place. So Abraham is the spiritual father of those who believe and are saved without obeying Jewish laws. We see, then, that those who do not keep these rules are justified by God through faith. <sup>12</sup> And Abraham is also the spiritual father of those Jews who have been circumcised. They can see from his example that it is not this ceremony that saves them, for Abraham found favor with God by faith alone, before he was circumcised.

<sup>13</sup> It is clear, then, that God's promise to give the whole earth to Abraham and his descendants was not because Abraham obeyed

God's laws but because he trusted God to keep his promise. <sup>14</sup> So if you still claim that God's blessings go to those who are "good enough," then you are saying that God's promises to those who have faith are meaningless, and faith is foolish. <sup>15</sup> But the fact of the matter is this: when we try to gain God's blessing and salvation by keeping his laws we always end up under his anger, for we always fail to keep them. The only way we can keep from breaking laws is not to have any to break!

<sup>16</sup> So God's blessings are given to us by faith, as a free gift; we are certain to get them whether or not we follow Jewish customs if we have faith like Abraham's, for Abraham is the father of us all when it comes to these matters of faith. <sup>17</sup> That is what the Scriptures mean when they say that God made Abraham the father of many nations. God will accept all people in every nation who trust God as Abraham did. And this promise is from God himself, who makes the dead live again and speaks of future events with as much certainty as though they were already past.

<sup>18</sup> So, when God told Abraham that he would give him a son who would have many descendants and become a great nation, Abraham believed God even though such a promise just couldn't come to pass! <sup>19</sup> And because his faith was strong, he didn't worry about the fact that he was too old to be a father, at the age of one hundred, and that Sarah his wife, at ninety,<sup>d</sup> was also much too old to have a baby.

He believed God, for his faith and trust grew ever stronger, and he praised God for this blessing even before it happened. <sup>21</sup> He was completely sure that God was well able to do anything he promised. <sup>22</sup> And because of Abraham's faith God forgave his sins and declared him "not guilty."

<sup>23</sup> Now this wonderful statement—that he was accepted and approved through his faith—wasn't just for Abraham's benefit. <sup>24</sup> It was for us, too, assuring us that God will accept us in the same way he accepted Abraham—when we believe the promises of God who brought back Jesus our Lord from the dead. <sup>25</sup> He died for our sins and rose again to make us right with God, filling us with God's goodness.<sup>e</sup>

5 SO NOW, SINCE we have been made right in God's sight by faith in his promises, we can have real peace with him because of what Jesus Christ our Lord has done for us. <sup>2</sup> For because of our faith, he has brought us into this place of highest privilege where we now stand, and we confidently and joyfully look forward to actually becoming all that God has had in mind for us to be.

<sup>3</sup> We can rejoice, too, when we run into problems and trials for we know that they are good for us—they help us learn to be patient. <sup>4</sup> And patience develops strength of character in us and helps us trust God more each time we use it until finally our hope and faith are strong and steady. <sup>5</sup> Then, when that happens, we are able to hold our heads high no matter what happens and know that all is well, for we know how dearly God loves us, and we feel this warm love everywhere within us because God has given us the Holy Spirit to fill our hearts with his love.

<sup>6</sup> When we were utterly helpless with no way of escape, Christ came at just the right time and died for us sinners who had no use for him. <sup>7</sup> Even if we were good, we really wouldn't expect anyone to die for us, though, of course, that might be barely possible. <sup>8</sup> But God showed his great love for us by sending Christ to die for us while we were still sinners. <sup>9</sup> And since by his blood he did all this for us as sinners, how much more will he do for us now that he has declared us not guilty? Now he will save us from all of God's wrath to come. <sup>10</sup> And since, when we were his enemies, we were brought back to God by the death of his Son, what blessings he must have for us now that we are his friends, and he is living within us!

<sup>11</sup> Now we rejoice in our wonderful new relationship with God—all because of what our Lord Jesus Christ has done in dying for our sins—making us friends of God.

<sup>12</sup> When Adam sinned, sin entered the entire human race. His sin spread death throughout all the world, so everything began to grow old and die,<sup>a</sup> for all sinned. <sup>13</sup> [We know that it was Adam's sin that caused this<sup>b</sup>] because although, of course, people were sinning from the time of Adam until Moses, God did not in those days judge them guilty of death for breaking his laws—because he had not yet given his laws to them, nor told them what he wanted them to do. <sup>14</sup> So when their bodies died it was not for their own sins<sup>b</sup> since they themselves had never disobeyed God's special law against eating the forbidden fruit, as Adam had.

What a contrast between Adam and Christ who was yet to come! <sup>15</sup> And what a difference between man's sin and God's forgiveness!

For this one man, Adam, brought death to many through his sin. But this one man, Jesus Christ, brought forgiveness to many through God's mercy. <sup>16</sup> Adam's one sin brought the penalty of death to many, while Christ freely takes away many sins and gives glorious life instead. <sup>17</sup> The sin of this one man, Adam, caused death to be king over all, but all who will take God's gift of forgiveness and acquittal are kings of life<sup>c</sup> because of this one man, Jesus Christ. <sup>18</sup> Yes, Adam's sin brought punishment to all, but Christ's righteousness makes men right with God, so that they can live. <sup>19</sup> Adam caused many to be sinners because he disobeyed God, and Christ caused many to be made acceptable to God because he obeyed.

<sup>20</sup> The Ten Commandments were given so that all could see the extent of their failure to obey God's laws. But the more we see our sinfulness, the more we see God's abounding grace forgiving us.

<sup>21</sup> Before, sin ruled over all men and brought them to death, but now God's kindness rules instead, giving us right standing with God and resulting in eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

6 WELL THEN, SHALL we keep on sinning so that God can keep on showing us more and more kindness and forgiveness?

<sup>2,3</sup> Of course not! Should we keep on sinning when we don't have to? For sin's power over us was broken when we became Christians and were baptized to become a part of Jesus Christ; through his death the power of your sinful nature was shattered. <sup>4</sup> Your old sin-loving nature was buried with him by baptism when he died, and when God the Father, with glorious power, brought him back to life again, you were given his wonderful new life to enjoy.

<sup>1</sup> For you have become a part of him, and so you died with him, so to speak, when he died<sup>a</sup>; and now you share his new life, and shall rise as he did. <sup>6</sup> Your old evil desires were nailed to the cross with him; that part of you that loves to sin was crushed and fatally wounded, so that your sin-loving body is no longer under sin's control, no longer needs to be a slave to sin; <sup>7</sup> for when you are deadened to sin you are freed from all its allure and its power over you. <sup>8</sup> And since your old sin-loving nature "died" with Christ, we know that you will share his new life. <sup>9</sup> Christ rose from the dead and will never die again.

Death no longer has any power over him. <sup>10</sup> He died once for all to end sin's power, but now he lives forever in unbroken fellowship with God. <sup>11</sup> So look upon your old sin nature as dead and unresponsive to sin, and instead be alive to God, alert to him, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

<sup>12</sup> Do not let sin control your puny body any longer; do not give in to its sinful desires. <sup>13</sup> Do not let any part of your bodies become tools of wickedness, to be used for sinning; but give yourselves completely to God—every part of you—for you are back from death and you want to be tools in the hands of God, to be used for his good purposes. <sup>14</sup> Sin need<sup>b</sup> never again be your master, for now you are no longer tied to the law where sin enslaves you, but you are free under God's favor and mercy.

<sup>15</sup> Does this mean that now we can go ahead and sin and not worry about it? (For our salvation does not depend on keeping the law, but on receiving God's grace!) Of course not!

<sup>16</sup> Don't you realize that you can choose your own master? You can choose sin (with death) or else obedience (with acquittal). The one to whom you offer yourself—he will take you and be your master and you will be his slave. <sup>17</sup> Thank God that though you once chose to be slaves of sin, now you have obeyed with all your heart the teaching to which God has committed you. <sup>18</sup> And now you are free from your old master, sin; and you have become slaves to your new master, righteousness.

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "united with him in the likeness of his death." again be your master."

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "Sin will never

<sup>19</sup> I speak this way, using the illustration of slaves and masters, because it is easy to understand: just as you used to be slaves to all kinds of sin, so now you must let yourselves be slaves to all that is right and holy.

<sup>20</sup> In those days when you were slaves of sin you didn't bother much with goodness. <sup>21</sup> And what was the result? Evidently not good, since you are ashamed now even to think about those things you used to do, for all of them end in eternal doom. <sup>22</sup> But now you are free from the power of sin and are slaves of God, and his benefits to you include holiness and everlasting life. <sup>23</sup> For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

7 DON'T YOU UNDERSTAND yet, dear Jewish<sup>a</sup> brothers in Christ, that when a person dies the law no longer holds him in its power?

<sup>1</sup> Let me illustrate: when a woman marries, the law binds her to her husband as long as he is alive. But if he dies, she is no longer bound to him; the laws of marriage no longer apply to her. <sup>2</sup> Then she can marry someone else if she wants to. That would be wrong while he was alive, but it is perfectly all right after he dies.

<sup>3</sup> Your "husband," your master, used to be the Jewish law; but you "died," as it were, with Christ on the cross; and since you are "dead," you are no longer "married to the law," and it has no more control over you. Then you came back to life again when Christ did, and are a new person. And now you are "married," so to speak, to the one who rose from the dead, so that you can produce good fruit, that is, good deeds for God. <sup>4</sup> When your old nature was still active, sinful desires were at work within you, making you want to do whatever God said not to, and producing sinful deeds, the rotting fruit of death. <sup>5</sup> But now you need no longer worry about the Jewish laws and customs<sup>b</sup> because you "died" while in their captivity, and now you can really serve God; not in the old way, mechanically obeying a set of rules, but in the new way, [with all of your hearts and minds<sup>c</sup>].

<sup>6</sup> Well then, am I suggesting that these laws of God are evil? Of course not! No, the law is not sinful but it was the law that showed me my sin. I would never have known the sin in my heart—the evil desires that are hidden there—if the law had not said, "You must not have evil desires in your heart." <sup>7</sup> But sin used this law against evil desires by reminding me that such desires are wrong and arousing all kinds of forbidden desires within me! Only if there were no laws to break would there be no sinning.

<sup>8</sup> That is why I felt fine so long as I did not understand what the law really demanded. But when I learned the truth, I realized that I had broken the law and was a sinner, doomed to die. <sup>9</sup> So as far as I was concerned, the good law which was supposed to show me the way of life resulted instead in my being given the death penalty. <sup>11</sup> Sin fooled me by taking the good laws of God and using them to make me guilty of death. <sup>12</sup> But still, you see, the law itself was wholly right and good.

<sup>13</sup> But how can that be? Didn't the law cause my doom? How then can it be good? No, it was sin, devilish stuff that it is, that used what was good to bring about my condemnation. So you can see how cunning and deadly and damnable it is. For it uses God's good laws for its own evil purposes. <sup>14</sup> The law is good, then, and the trouble is not there but with me, because I am sold into slavery with Sin as my owner.

<sup>15</sup> I don't understand myself at all, for I really want to do what is right, but I can't. I do what I don't want to—what I hate. <sup>16</sup> I know perfectly well that what I am doing is wrong, and my bad conscience proves that I agree with these laws I am breaking. <sup>17</sup> But I can't help myself, because I'm no longer doing it. It is sin inside me that is stronger than I am that makes me do these evil things.

<sup>18</sup> I know I am rotten through and through so far as my old sinful nature is concerned. No matter which way I turn I can't make myself do right. I want to but I can't. <sup>19</sup> When I want to do good, I don't; and when I try not to do wrong, I do it anyway. <sup>20</sup> Now if I am doing what I don't want to, it is plain where the trouble is: sin still has me in its evil grasp.

<sup>21</sup> It seems to be a fact of life that when I want to do what is right, I inevitably do what is wrong. <sup>22</sup> I love to do God's will so far as my new nature is concerned; <sup>23,24,25</sup> but there is something else deep within me, in my lower nature, that is at war with my mind and wins the fight and makes me a slave to the sin that is still within me. In my mind I want to be God's willing servant but instead I find myself still enslaved to sin.

So you see how it is: my new life tells me to do right, but the old nature that is still inside me loves to sin. Oh, what a terrible predicament I'm in! Who will free me from my slavery to this deadly lower nature? Thank God! It has been done<sup>d</sup> by Jesus Christ our Lord. He has set me free.

8 SO THERE IS NOW no condemnation awaiting those who belong to Christ Jesus. <sup>2</sup> For the power of the life-giving Spirit—and this power is mine through Christ Jesus—has freed me from the vicious circle of sin and death. <sup>3</sup> We aren't saved from sin's grasp by knowing the commandments of God, because we can't and don't keep them, but God put into effect a different plan to save us. He sent his own Son in a human body like ours—except that ours are sinful—and destroyed sin's control over us by giving himself as a sacrifice for our sins. <sup>4</sup> So now we can obey God's laws if we follow after the Holy Spirit and no longer obey the old evil nature within us.

d Or, "It will be done." Literally, "I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord."

controlled by their lower natures live only to please themselves, but those who follow after the Holy Spirit find themselves doing those things that please God. <sup>6</sup> Following after the Holy Spirit leads to life and peace, but following after the old nature leads to death, <sup>7</sup> because the old sinful nature within us is against God. It never did obey God's laws and it never will. <sup>8</sup> That's why those who are still under the control of their old sinful selves, bent on following their old evil desires, can never please God.

<sup>9</sup> But you are not like that. You are controlled by your new nature if you have the Spirit of God living in you. (And remember that if anyone doesn't have the Spirit of Christ living in him, he is not a Christian at all.) <sup>10</sup> Yet, even though Christ lives within you, your body will die because of sin; but your spirit will live, for Christ has pardoned it.<sup>a</sup> <sup>11</sup> And if the Spirit of God, who raised up Jesus from the dead, lives in you, he will make your dying bodies live again after you die, by means of this same Holy Spirit living within you.

<sup>12</sup> So, dear brothers, you have no obligations whatever to your old sinful nature to do what it begs you to do. <sup>13</sup> For if you keep on following it you are lost and will perish, but if through the power of the Holy Spirit you crush it and its evil deeds, you shall live. <sup>14</sup> For all who are led by the Spirit of God are sons of God.

<sup>15</sup> And so we should not be like cringing, fearful slaves, but we should behave like God's very own children, adopted into the bosom of his family, and calling to him, "Father, Father." <sup>16</sup> For his Holy Spirit speaks to us deep in our hearts, and tells us that we really are God's children. <sup>17</sup> And since we are his children, we will share his treasures—for all God gives to his Son Jesus is now ours too. But if we are to share his glory, we must also share his suffering.

<sup>22</sup> For we know that even the things of nature, like animals and plants, suffer in sickness and death as they await this great event.<sup>d</sup>

<sup>23</sup> And even we Christians, although we have the Holy Spirit within us as a foretaste of future glory, also groan to be released from pain and suffering. We, too, wait anxiously for that day when God will give us our full rights as his children, including the new bodies he has promised us—bodies that will never be sick again and will never die.

<sup>a</sup> Or possibly, "but the Holy Spirit who lives in you will give you life, for he has already given you righteousness." Literally, "but the spirit is life because of righteousness."

<sup>24</sup> We are saved by trusting. And trusting means looking forward to getting something we don't yet have—for a man who already has something doesn't need to hope and trust that he will get it. <sup>25</sup> But if we must keep trusting God for something that hasn't happened yet, it teaches us to wait patiently and confidently.

<sup>26</sup> And in the same way—by our faith<sup>e</sup>—the Holy Spirit helps us with our daily problems and in our praying. For we don't even know what we should pray for, nor how to pray as we should; but the Holy Spirit prays for us with such feeling that it cannot be expressed in words. <sup>27</sup> And the Father who knows all hearts knows, of course, what the Spirit is saying as he pleads for us in harmony with God's own will. <sup>28</sup> And we know that all that happens to us is working for our good if we love God and are fitting into his plans.

<sup>29</sup> For from the very beginning God decided that those who came to him—and all along he knew who would—should become like his Son, so that his Son would be the First, with many brothers. <sup>30</sup> And having chosen us, he called us to come to him; and when we came, he declared us “not guilty,” filled us with Christ's goodness, gave us right standing with himself, and promised us his glory.

<sup>31</sup> What can we ever say to such wonderful things as these? If God is on our side, who can ever be against us? <sup>32</sup> Since he did not spare even his own Son for us but gave him up for us all, won't he also surely give us everything else?

<sup>33</sup> Who dares accuse us whom God has chosen for his own? Will God? No! He is the one who has forgiven us and given us right standing with himself.

<sup>34</sup> Who then will condemn us? Will Christ? No! For he is the one who died for us and came back to life again for us and is sitting at the place of highest honor next to God, pleading for us there in heaven.

<sup>35</sup> Who then can ever keep Christ's love from us? When we have trouble or calamity, when we are hunted down or destroyed, is it because he doesn't love us anymore? And if we are hungry, or penniless, or in danger, or threatened with death, has God deserted us?

<sup>36</sup> No, for the Scriptures tell us that for his sake we must be ready to face death at every moment of the day—we are like sheep awaiting slaughter; <sup>37</sup> but despite all this, overwhelming victory is ours through Christ who loved us enough to die for us. <sup>38</sup> For I am convinced that nothing can ever separate us from his love. Death can't, and life can't. The angels won't, and all the powers of hell itself cannot keep God's love away. Our fears for today, our worries about tomorrow, <sup>39</sup> or where we are—high above the sky, or in the deepest ocean—nothing will ever be able to separate us from the love of God demonstrated by our Lord Jesus Christ when he died for us.

9 OH, ISRAEL, MY people! Oh, my Jewish brothers! How I long for you to come to Christ. My heart is heavy within me and I grieve bitterly day and night because of you. Christ knows and the Holy Spirit knows that it is no mere pretense when I say that I would be willing to be forever damned if that would save you. <sup>4</sup> God has given you so much, but still you will not listen to him. He took you as his own special, chosen people and led you along with a bright cloud of glory and told you how very much he wanted to bless you. He gave you his rules for daily life so you would know what he wanted you to do. He let you worship him, and gave you mighty promises. <sup>5</sup> Great men of God were your fathers, and Christ himself was one of you, a Jew so far as his human nature is concerned, he who now rules over all things. Praise God forever!

<sup>6</sup> Well then, has God failed to fulfill his promises to the Jews? No! [For these promises are only to those who are truly Jews.<sup>a</sup>] And not everyone born into a Jewish family is truly a Jew! <sup>7</sup> Just the fact that they come from Abraham doesn't make them truly Abraham's children. For the Scriptures say that the promises apply only to Abraham's son Isaac and Isaac's descendants, though Abraham had other children too. <sup>8</sup> This means that not all of Abraham's children are children of God, but only those who believe the promise of salvation which he made to Abraham.

<sup>9</sup> For God had promised, "Next year I will give you and Sarah a son." <sup>10-11</sup> And years later, when this son, Isaac, was grown up and married, and Rebecca his wife was about to bear him twin children, God told her that Esau, the child born first, would be a servant to Jacob, his twin brother. In the words of the Scripture, "I chose to bless Jacob, but not Esau." And God said this before the children were even born, before they had done anything either good or bad. This proves that God was doing what he had decided from the beginning; it was not because of what the children did but because of what God wanted and chose.

<sup>14</sup> Was God being unfair? Of course not. <sup>15</sup> For God had said to Moses, "If I want to be kind to someone, I will. And I will take pity on anyone I want to." <sup>16</sup> And so God's blessings are not given just because someone decides to have them or works hard to get them. They are given because God takes pity on those he wants to.

<sup>17</sup> Pharaoh, king of Egypt, was an example of this fact. For God told him he had given him the kingdom of Egypt for the very purpose of displaying the awesome power of God against him: so that all the world would hear about God's glorious name.<sup>b</sup> <sup>18</sup> So you see, God is kind to some just because he wants to be, and he makes some refuse to listen. <sup>19</sup> Well then, why does God blame them for not listening? Haven't they done what he made them do?

<sup>20</sup> No, don't say that. Who are you to criticize God? Should the thing made say to the one who made it, "Why have you made me like this?" <sup>21</sup> When a man makes a jar out of clay, doesn't he have a right to use the same lump of clay to make one jar beautiful, to be used for holding flowers, and another to throw garbage into?

<sup>22</sup> Does not God have a perfect right to show his fury and power against those who are fit only for destruction, those he has been patient with for all this time? <sup>23,24</sup> And he has a right to take others such as ourselves, who have been made for pouring the riches of his glory into, whether we are Jews or Gentiles, and to be kind to us so that everyone can see how very great his glory is.

<sup>25</sup> Remember what the prophecy of Hosea says? There God says that he will find other children for himself (who are not from his Jewish family) and will love them, though no one had ever loved them before. <sup>26</sup> And the heathen, of whom it once was said, "You are not my people," shall be called "sons of the Living God."<sup>c</sup>

<sup>29</sup> And Isaiah says in another place that except for God's mercy all the Jews would be destroyed—all of them—just as everyone in the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah perished.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>30</sup> Well then, what shall we say about these things? Just this, that God has given the Gentiles the opportunity to be acquitted by faith, even though they had not been really seeking God. <sup>31</sup> But the Jews, who tried so hard to get right with God by keeping his laws, never succeeded. <sup>32</sup> Why not? Because they were trying to be saved by keeping the law and being good instead of by depending on faith. They have stumbled over the great stumbling stone. <sup>33</sup> God warned them of this in the Scriptures when he said, "I have put a Rock in the path of the Jews, and many will stumble over him (Jesus). Those who believe in him will never be disappointed."<sup>g</sup>

10 DEAR BROTHERS, THE longing of my heart and my prayer is that the Jewish people might be saved. <sup>1</sup> I know what enthusiasm they have for the honor of God, but it is misdirected zeal. <sup>2</sup> For they don't understand that Christ has died to make them right with God. Instead they are trying to make themselves good enough to gain God's favor by keeping the Jewish laws and customs, but that is not God's way of salvation. <sup>3</sup> They don't understand that Christ gives to those who trust in him everything they are trying to get by keeping his laws. He ends all of that.

<sup>4</sup> For Moses wrote that if a person could be perfectly good and hold out against temptation all his life and never sin once, only then could he be pardoned and saved. <sup>5</sup> But the salvation that comes through faith says, "You don't need to search the heavens to find Christ

and bring him down to help you," and, "You don't need to go among the dead to bring Christ back to life again."

<sup>8</sup> For salvation that comes from trusting Christ—which is what we preach—is already within easy reach of each of us; in fact, it is as near as our own hearts and mouths.

<sup>9</sup> For if you tell others with your own mouth that Jesus Christ is your Lord, and believe in your own heart that God has raised him from the dead, you will be saved. <sup>10</sup> For it is by believing in his heart that a man becomes right with God; and with his mouth he tells others of his faith, confirming his salvation.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>11</sup> For the Scriptures tell us that no one who believes in Christ will ever be disappointed. <sup>12</sup> Jew and Gentile are the same in this respect: they all have the same Lord who generously gives his riches to all those who ask him for them. <sup>13</sup> Anyone who calls upon the name of the Lord will be saved.

<sup>14</sup> But how shall they ask him to save them unless they believe in him? And how can they believe in him if they have never heard about him? And how can they hear about him unless someone tells them? <sup>15</sup> And how will anyone go and tell them unless someone sends him? That is what the Scriptures are talking about when they say, "How beautiful are the feet of those who preach the Gospel of peace with God and bring glad tidings of good things."<sup>b</sup> In other words, how welcome are those who come preaching God's Good News!

<sup>16</sup> But not everyone who hears the Good News has welcomed it, for Isaiah the prophet said, "Lord, who has believed me when I told them?"<sup>c</sup> <sup>17</sup> Yet faith comes from listening to this Good News—the Good News about Christ.

<sup>18</sup> But what about the Jews? Have they heard God's Word? Yes, for it has gone wherever they are; the Good News has been told to the ends of the earth. <sup>19</sup> And did they understand [that God would give his salvation to others if they refused to take it]? Yes, for even back in the time of Moses, God had said that he would make his people jealous and try to wake them up by giving his salvation to the foolish heathen nations. <sup>20</sup> And later on Isaiah said boldly that God would be found by people who weren't even looking for him.<sup>e</sup> <sup>21</sup> In the meantime, he keeps on reaching out his hands to the Jews, but they keep arguing<sup>f</sup> and refusing to come.

11 I ASK THEN, has God rejected and deserted his people the Jews? Oh no, not at all. Remember that I myself am a Jew, a descendant of Abraham and a member of Benjamin's family.

<sup>22</sup> No, God has not discarded his own people whom he chose from the very beginning. Do you remember what the Scriptures say about this? Elijah the prophet was complaining to God about the Jews, telling God how they had killed the prophets and torn down God's altars; Elijah claimed that he was the only one left in all the land who still loved God, and now they were trying to kill him too.

<sup>4</sup> And do you remember how God replied? God said, "No, you are not the only one left. I have seven thousand others besides you who still love me and have not bowed down to idols!"<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup> It is the same today. Not all the Jews have turned away from God; there are a few being saved as a result of God's kindness in choosing them. <sup>6</sup> And if it is by God's kindness, then it is not by their being good enough. For in that case the free gift would no longer be free—it isn't free when it is earned.

<sup>7</sup> So this is the situation: Most of the Jews have not found the favor of God they are looking for. A few have—the ones God has picked out—but the eyes of the others have been blinded. <sup>8</sup> This is what our Scriptures refer to when they say that God has put them to sleep, shutting their eyes and ears so that they do not understand what we are talking about when we tell them of Christ. And so it is to this very day.

<sup>9</sup> King David spoke of this same thing when he said, "Let their good food and other blessings trap them into thinking all is well between themselves and God. Let these good things boomerang on them and fall back upon their heads to justly crush them." <sup>10</sup> Let their eyes be dim," he said, "so that they cannot see, and let them walk bent-backed forever with a heavy load."

<sup>11</sup> Does this mean that God has rejected his Jewish people forever?

Of course not! His purpose was to make his salvation available to the Gentiles, and then the Jews would be jealous and begin to want God's salvation for themselves. <sup>12</sup> Now if the whole world became rich as a result of God's offer of salvation, when the Jews stumbled over it and turned it down, think how much greater a blessing the world will share in later on when the Jews, too, come to Christ.

<sup>13</sup> As you know, God has appointed me as a special messenger to you Gentiles. I lay great stress on this and remind the Jews about it as often as I can, <sup>14</sup> so that if possible I can make them want what you Gentiles have and in that way save some of them. <sup>15</sup> And how wonderful it will be when they become Christians! When God turned away from them it meant that he turned to the rest of the world to offer his salvation; and now it is even more wonderful when the Jews come to Christ. It will be like dead people coming back to life. <sup>16</sup> And since Abraham and the prophets are God's people, their children will be too. For if the roots of the tree are holy, the branches will be too.

<sup>17</sup> But some of these branches from Abraham's tree, some of the Jews, have been broken off. And you Gentiles who were branches from, we might say, a wild olive tree, were grafted in. So now you, too, receive the blessing God has promised Abraham and his children, sharing in God's rich nourishment of his own special olive tree.

<sup>18</sup> But you must be careful not to brag about being put in to replace the branches that were broken off. Remember that you are important only because you are now a part of God's tree; you are just a branch, not a root.

<sup>19</sup> "Well," you may be saying, "those branches were broken off to make room for me so I must be pretty good."

<sup>20</sup> Watch out! Remember that those branches, the Jews, were broken off because they didn't believe God, and you are there only because you do. Do not be proud; be humble and grateful—and careful. <sup>21</sup> For if God did not spare the branches he put there in the first place, he won't spare you either.

<sup>22</sup> Notice how God is both kind and severe. He is very hard on those who disobey, but very good to you if you continue to love and trust him. But if you don't, you too will be cut off. <sup>23</sup> On the other hand, if the Jews leave their unbelief behind them and come back to God, God will graft them back into the tree again. He has the power to do it.

<sup>24</sup> For if God was willing to take you who were so far away from him—being part of a wild olive tree—and graft you into his own good tree—a very unusual thing to do—don't you see that he will be far more ready to put the Jews back again, who were there in the first place?

<sup>25</sup> I want you to know about this truth from God, dear brothers, so that you will not feel proud and start bragging. Yes, it is true that some of the Jews have set themselves against the Gospel now, but this will last only until all of you Gentiles have come to Christ—those of you who will. <sup>26</sup> And then all Israel will be saved.

Do you remember what the prophets said about this? "There shall come out of Zion a Deliverer, and he shall turn the Jews from all ungodliness. <sup>27</sup> At that time I will take away their sins, just as I promised."

<sup>28</sup> Now many of the Jews are enemies of the Gospel. They hate it. But this has been a benefit to you, for it has resulted in God's giving his gifts to you Gentiles. Yet the Jews are still beloved of God because of his promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. <sup>29</sup> For God's gifts and his call can never be withdrawn; he will never go back on his promises. <sup>30</sup> Once you were rebels against God, but when the Jews refused his gifts God was merciful to you instead. <sup>31</sup> And now the Jews are the rebels, but some day they, too, will share in God's mercy upon you. <sup>32</sup> For God has given them all up to sin<sup>b</sup> so that he could have mercy upon all alike.

<sup>33</sup> Oh, what a wonderful God we have! How great are his wisdom and knowledge and riches! How impossible it is for us to understand his decisions and his methods! <sup>34</sup> For who among us can know the mind of the Lord? Who knows enough to be his counselor and guide? <sup>35</sup> And who could ever offer to the Lord enough to induce him to act? <sup>36</sup> For everything comes from God alone. Everything lives by his power, and everything is for his glory. To him be glory evermore.

12 AND SO, DEAR brothers, I plead with you to give your bodies to God. Let them be a living sacrifice, holy—the kind he can accept. When you think of what he has done for you, is this too much to ask? <sup>2</sup> Don't copy the behavior and customs of this world, but be a new and different person with a fresh newness in all you do and think. Then you will learn from your own experience how his ways will really satisfy you.

<sup>3</sup> As God's messenger I give each of you God's warning: Be honest in your estimate of yourselves, measuring your value by how much faith God has given you. <sup>4</sup> Just as there are many parts to our bodies, so it is with Christ's body. We are all parts of it, and it takes every one of us to make it complete, for we each have different work to do. So we belong to each other, and each needs all the others.

<sup>6</sup> God has given each of us the ability to do certain things well. So if God has given you the ability to prophesy, then prophesy whenever you can—as often as your faith is strong enough to receive a message from God. <sup>7</sup> If your gift is that of serving others, serve them well. If you are a teacher, do a good job of teaching. <sup>8</sup> If you are a preacher, see to it that your sermons are strong and helpful. If God has given you money, be generous in helping others with it. If God has given you administrative ability and put you in charge of the work of others, take the responsibility seriously. Those who offer comfort to the sorrowing should do so with Christian cheer.

<sup>9</sup> Don't just pretend that you love others: really love them. Hate what is wrong. Stand on the side of the good. <sup>10</sup> Love each other with brotherly affection and take delight in honoring each other. <sup>11</sup> Never be lazy in your work but serve the Lord enthusiastically.

<sup>12</sup> Be glad for all God is planning for you. Be patient in trouble, and prayerful always. <sup>13</sup> When God's children are in need, you be the one to help them out. And get into the habit of inviting guests home for dinner or, if they need lodging, for the night.

<sup>17</sup> Never pay back evil for evil. Do things in such a way that everyone can see you are honest clear through. <sup>18</sup> Don't quarrel with anyone. Be at peace with everyone, just as much as possible.

<sup>19</sup> Dear friends, never avenge yourselves. Leave that to God, for he has said that he will repay those who deserve it. [Don't take the law into your own hands.<sup>a</sup>] <sup>20</sup> Instead, feed your enemy if he is hungry. If he is thirsty give him something to drink and you will be "heaping coals of fire on his head." In other words, he will feel ashamed of himself for what he has done to you.

13 OBEY THE GOVERNMENT, for God is the one who has put it there. There is no government anywhere that God has not placed in power. <sup>2</sup> So those who refuse to obey the laws of the land are refusing to obey God, and punishment will follow. <sup>3</sup> For the policeman does not frighten people who are doing right; but those doing evil will always fear him. So if you don't want to be afraid, keep the laws and you will get along well. <sup>4</sup> The policeman is sent by God to help you. But if you are doing something wrong, of course you should be afraid, for he will have you punished. He is sent by God for that very purpose. <sup>5</sup> Obey the laws, then, for two reasons: first, to keep from being punished, and second, just because you know you should.

<sup>6</sup> Pay your taxes too, for these same two reasons. For government workers need to be paid so that they can keep on doing God's work, serving you. <sup>7</sup> Pay everyone whatever he ought to have: pay your taxes and import duties gladly, obey those over you, and give honor and respect to all those to whom it is due. <sup>8</sup> Pay all your debts except the debt of love for others—never finish paying that! For if you love them, you will be obeying all of God's laws, fulfilling all his requirements. <sup>9</sup> If you love your neighbor as much as you love yourself you will not want to harm or cheat him, or kill him or steal from him. And you won't sin with his wife or want what is his, or do anything else the Ten Commandments say is wrong. All ten are wrapped up in this one, to love your neighbor as you love yourself. <sup>10</sup> Love does no wrong to anyone. That's why it fully satisfies all of God's requirements. It is the only law you need.

14 GIVE A WARM welcome to any brother who wants to join you, even though his faith is weak. Don't criticize him for having different ideas from yours about what is right and wrong.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> For instance; don't argue with him about whether or not to eat meat that has been offered to idols. You may believe there is no harm in this, but the faith of others is weaker; they think it is wrong, and will go without any meat at all and eat vegetables rather than eat that kind of meat. <sup>3</sup> Those who think it is all right to eat such meat must not look down on those who won't. And if you are one of those who won't, don't find fault with those who do. For God has accepted them to be his children. <sup>4</sup> They are God's servants, not yours. They are responsible to him, not to you. Let him tell them whether they are right or wrong. And God is able to make them do as they should.

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "Receive him that is weak in faith, not for decisions of scruples." Perhaps the meaning is, "Receive those whose consciences hurt them when they do things others have no doubts about." Accepting them might cause discord in the church, but Paul says to welcome them anyway.

<sup>5</sup> Some think that Christians should observe the Jewish holidays as special days to worship God, but others say it is wrong and foolish to go to all that trouble, for every day alike belongs to God. On questions of this kind everyone must decide for himself. <sup>6</sup> If you have special days for worshiping the Lord, you are trying to honor him; you are doing a good thing. So is the person who eats meat that has been offered to idols; he is thankful to the Lord for it; he is doing right. And the person who won't touch such meat, he, too, is anxious to please the Lord, and is thankful. <sup>7</sup> We are not our own bosses to live or die as we ourselves might choose. <sup>8</sup> Living or dying we follow the Lord. Either way we are his. <sup>9</sup> Christ died and rose again for this very purpose, so that he can be our Lord both while we live and when we die.

<sup>10</sup> You have no right to criticize your brother or look down on him. Remember, each of us will stand personally before the Judgment Seat of God. <sup>11</sup> For it is written, "As I live," says the Lord, "every knee shall bow to me and every tongue confess to God." <sup>12</sup> Yes, each of us will give an account of himself to God. <sup>13</sup> So don't criticize each other any more. Try instead to live in such a way that you will never make your brother stumble by letting him see you doing something he thinks is wrong.

<sup>14</sup> As for myself, I am perfectly sure on the authority of the Lord Jesus that there is nothing really wrong with eating meat that has been offered to idols. But if someone believes it is wrong, then he shouldn't do it because for him it is wrong. <sup>15</sup> And if your brother is bothered by what you eat, you are not acting in love if you go ahead and eat it. Don't let your eating ruin someone for whom Christ died. <sup>16</sup> Don't do anything that will cause criticism against yourself even though you know that what you do is right. <sup>17</sup> For, after all, the important thing for us as Christians is not what we eat or drink but stirring up goodness and peace and joy from the Holy Spirit. <sup>18</sup> If you let Christ be Lord in these affairs, God will be glad; and so will others. <sup>19</sup> In this way aim for harmony in the church and try to build each other up.

<sup>20</sup> Don't undo the work of God for a chunk of meat. Remember, there is nothing wrong with the meat, but it is wrong to eat it if it makes another stumble. <sup>21</sup> The right thing to do is to quit eating meat or drinking wine or doing anything else that offends your brother or makes him sin. <sup>22</sup> You may know that there is nothing wrong with what you do, even from God's point of view, but keep it to yourself; don't flaunt your faith in front of others who might be hurt by it. In this situation, happy is the man who does not sin by doing what he knows is right.<sup>21</sup> But anyone who believes that something he wants to do is wrong shouldn't do it. He sins if he does, for he thinks it is wrong, and so for him it is wrong. Anything that is done apart from what he feels is right is sin.

15 EVEN IF WE believe that it makes no difference to the Lord whether we do these things, still we cannot just go ahead and do them to please ourselves; for we must bear the "burden" of being considerate of the doubts and fears of others—of those who feel these things are wrong. Let's please the other fellow, not ourselves, and do what is for his good and thus build him up in the Lord.<sup>3</sup> Christ didn't please himself. As the Psalmist said, "He came for the very purpose of suffering under the insults of those who were against the Lord."<sup>4</sup> These things that were written in the Scriptures so long ago are to teach us patience and to encourage us, so that we will look forward expectantly to the time when God will conquer sin and death.

<sup>5</sup> May God who gives patience, steadiness, and encouragement help you to live in complete harmony with each other—each with the attitude of Christ toward the other.<sup>6</sup> And then all of us can praise the Lord together with one voice, giving glory to God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>7</sup> So, warmly welcome each other into the church, just as Christ has warmly welcomed you; then God will be glorified.<sup>8</sup> Remember that Jesus Christ came to show that God is true to his promises and to help the Jews.<sup>9</sup> And remember that he came also that the Gentiles might be saved and give glory to God for his mercies to them. That is what the Psalmist meant when he wrote: "I will praise you among the Gentiles, and sing to your name."

<sup>10</sup> And in another place, "Be glad, O you Gentiles, along with his people the Jews."

<sup>11</sup> And yet again, "Praise the Lord, O you Gentiles, let everyone praise him."

<sup>12</sup> And the prophet Isaiah said, "There shall be an Heir in the house of Jesse, and he will be King over the Gentiles; they will pin their hopes on him alone."

<sup>13</sup> So I pray for you Gentiles that God who gives you hope will keep you happy and full of peace as you believe in him. I pray that God will help you overflow with hope in him through the Holy Spirit's power within you.

<sup>14</sup> I know that you are wise and good, my brothers, and that you know these things so well that you are able to teach others all about them.<sup>15,16</sup> But even so I have been bold enough to emphasize some of these points, knowing that all you need is this reminder from me; for I am, by God's grace, a special messenger from Jesus Christ to you Gentiles, bringing you the Gospel and offering you up as a fragrant sacrifice to God; for you have been made pure and pleasing to him by the Holy Spirit.<sup>17</sup> So it is right for me to be a little proud of all Christ Jesus has done through me.<sup>18</sup> I dare not judge how effectively he has used others, but I know this: he has used me to win the Gentiles to God.<sup>19</sup> I have won them by my message and by the good way I have lived before them, and by the miracles done through me as signs from God—all by the Holy Spirit's power. In this way I have preached the full<sup>a</sup> Gospel of Christ all the way from Jerusalem clear over into Illyricum.

<sup>20</sup> But all the while my ambition has been to go still farther, preaching where the name of Christ has never yet been heard, rather than where a church has already been started by someone else. <sup>21</sup> I have been following the plan spoken of in the Scriptures where Isaiah says that those who have never heard the name of Christ before will see and understand. <sup>22</sup> In fact that is the very reason I have been so long in coming to visit you.

<sup>23</sup> But now at last I am through with my work here, and I am ready to come after all these long years of waiting. <sup>24</sup> For I am planning to take a trip to Spain, and when I do, I will stop off there in Rome; and after we have had a good time together for a little while, you can send me on my way again.

<sup>25</sup> But before I come, I must go down to Jerusalem to take a gift to the Jewish Christians there. <sup>26</sup> For you see, the Christians in Macedonia and Achaia have taken up an offering for those in Jerusalem who are going through such hard times. <sup>27</sup> They were very glad to do this, for they feel that they owe a real debt to the Jerusalem Christians.

Why? Because the news about Christ came to these Gentiles from the church in Jerusalem. And since they received this wonderful spiritual gift of the Gospel from there, they feel that the least they can do in return is to give some material aid.<sup>b</sup> <sup>28</sup> As soon as I have delivered this money and completed this good deed of theirs, I will come to see you on my way to Spain. <sup>29</sup> And I am sure that when I come the Lord will give me a great blessing for you.

<sup>30</sup> Will you be my prayer partners? For the Lord Jesus Christ's sake, and because of your love for me—given to you by the Holy Spirit—pray much with me for my work. <sup>31</sup> Pray that I will be protected in Jerusalem from those who are not Christians. Pray also that the Christians there will be willing to accept the money I am bringing them. <sup>32</sup> Then I will be able to come to you with a happy heart by the will of God, and we can refresh each other.

<sup>33</sup> And now may our God, who gives peace, be with you all. Amen.

Help her in every way you can, for she has helped many in their needs, including me. <sup>1</sup> Tell Priscilla and Aquila "hello." They have been my fellow workers in the affairs of Christ Jesus. <sup>4</sup> In fact, they risked their lives for me; and I am not the only one who is thankful to them: so are all the Gentile churches.

<sup>5</sup> Please give my greetings to all those who meet to worship in their home. Greet my good friend Epaphroditus. He was the very first person to become a Christian in Asia.

<sup>6</sup> Remember me to Mary, too, who has worked so hard to help us.

<sup>7</sup> Then there are Andronicus and Junias, my relatives who were in prison with me. They are respected by the apostles, and became Christians before I did. Please give them my greetings. <sup>8</sup> Say "hello" to Ampliatus, whom I love as one of God's own children, <sup>9</sup> and Urbanus, our fellow worker, and beloved Stachys.

<sup>10</sup> Then there is Apelles, a good man whom the Lord approves; greet him for me. And give my best regards to those working at the house of Aristobulus. <sup>11</sup> Remember me to Herodion my relative. Remember me to the Christian slaves over at Narcissus House.

<sup>12</sup> Say "hello" to Tryphaena and Tryphosa, the Lord's workers, and to dear Persis, who has worked so hard for the Lord. <sup>13</sup> Greet Rufus for me, whom the Lord picked out to be his very own; and also his dear mother who has been such a mother to me. <sup>14</sup> And please give my greetings to Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermes, Patrobas, Hermas, and the other brothers who are with them.

here send you their greetings.

<sup>17</sup> And now there is one more thing to say before I end this letter. Stay away from those who cause divisions and are upsetting people's faith, teaching things about Christ that are contrary to what you have been taught. <sup>18</sup> Such teachers are not working for our Lord Jesus, but only want gain for themselves. They are good speakers, and simple-minded people are often fooled by them. <sup>19</sup> But everyone knows that you stand loyal and true. This makes me very happy. I want you always to remain very clear about what is right, and to stay innocent of any wrong. <sup>20</sup> The God of peace will soon crush Satan under your feet. The blessings from our Lord Jesus Christ be upon you.

<sup>21</sup> Timothy my fellow-worker, and Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my relatives, send you their good wishes. <sup>22</sup> I, Tertius, the one who is writing this letter for Paul, send my greetings too, as a Christian brother. <sup>23</sup> Gaius says to say "hello" to you for him. I am his guest, and the church meets here in his home. Erastus, the city treasurer, sends you his greetings and so does Quartus, a Christian brother. <sup>24</sup> Good-bye. May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

<sup>25,26,27</sup> I commit you to God, who is able to make you strong and steady in the Lord, just as the Gospel says, and just as I have told you. This is God's plan of salvation for you Gentiles, kept secret from the beginning of time. But now as the prophets foretold and as God commands, this message is being preached everywhere, so that people all around the world will have faith in Christ and obey him. To God, who alone is wise, be the glory forever through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Sincerely,
Paul

1 CORINTHIANS

1. FROM: PAUL, CHOSEN by God to be Jesus Christ's missionary, and from brother Sosthenes.

<sup>2</sup> To: The Christians in Corinth, invited by God to be his people and made acceptable<sup>a</sup> to him by Christ Jesus. And to: All Christians everywhere—whoever calls upon the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and theirs.

<sup>3</sup> May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you all of his blessings, and great peace of heart and mind.

<sup>4</sup> I can never stop thanking God for all the wonderful gifts he has given you, now that you are Christ's: <sup>5</sup> he has enriched your whole life. He has helped you speak out for him and has given you a full understanding of the truth; <sup>6</sup> what I told you Christ could do for you has happened! <sup>7</sup> Now you have every grace and blessing; every spiritual gift and power for doing his will are yours during this time of waiting for the return of our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>8</sup> And he guarantees right up to the end that you will be counted free from all sin and guilt on that day when he returns. <sup>9</sup> God will surely do this for you, for he always does just what he says, and he is the one who invited you into this wonderful friendship with his Son, even Christ our Lord.

<sup>10</sup> But, dear brothers, I beg you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ to stop arguing among yourselves. Let there be real harmony so that there won't be splits in the church. I plead with you to be of one mind, united in thought and purpose. <sup>11</sup> For some of those who live at Chloe's house have told me of your arguments and quarrels, dear brothers.

<sup>12</sup> Some of you are saying, "I am a follower of Paul"; and others say that they are for Apollos or for Peter; and some that they alone are the true followers of Christ. <sup>13</sup> And so, in effect, you have broken Christ into many pieces.

But did I, Paul, die for your sins? Were any of you baptized in my name? <sup>14</sup> I am so thankful now that I didn't baptize any of you except Crispus and Gaius. <sup>15</sup> For now no one can think that I have been trying to start something new, beginning a "Church of Paul." <sup>16</sup> Oh, yes, and I baptized the family of Stephanas. I don't remember ever baptizing anyone else. <sup>17</sup> For Christ didn't send me to baptize, but to preach the Gospel; and even my preaching sounds poor, for I do not fill my sermons with profound a Or, "chosen by Christ Jesus." Literally, "sanctified in Christ Jesus."

words and high sounding ideas, for fear of diluting the mighty power there is in the simple message of the cross of Christ.

<sup>18</sup> I know very well how foolish it sounds to those who are<sup>b</sup> lost, when they hear that Jesus died to save them. But we who are<sup>b</sup> saved recognize this message as the very power of God. <sup>19</sup> For God says, "I will destroy all human plans of salvation no matter how wise they seem to be, and ignore the best ideas of men, even the most brilliant of them."

<sup>20</sup> So what about these wise men, these scholars, these brilliant debaters of this world's great affairs? God has made them all look foolish, and shown their wisdom to be useless nonsense. <sup>21</sup> For God in his wisdom saw to it that the world would never find God through human brilliance, and then he stepped in and saved all those who believed his message, which the world calls foolish and silly. <sup>22</sup> It seems foolish to the Jews because they want a sign from heaven as proof that what is preached is true; and it is foolish to the Gentiles because they believe only what agrees with their philosophy and seems wise to them. <sup>23</sup> So when we preach about Christ dying to save them, the Jews are offended and the Gentiles say it's all nonsense. <sup>24</sup> But God has opened the eyes of those called to salvation, both Jews and Gentiles, to see that Christ is the mighty power of God to save them; Christ himself is the center of God's wise plan for their salvation. <sup>25</sup> This so-called "foolish" plan of God is far wiser than the wisest plan of the wisest man, and God in his weakness— Christ dying on the cross—is far stronger than any man.

<sup>26</sup> Notice among yourselves, dear brothers, that few of you who follow Christ have big names or power or wealth. <sup>27</sup> Instead, God has deliberately chosen to use ideas the world considers foolish and of little worth in order to shame those people considered by the world as wise and great. <sup>28</sup> He has chosen a plan despised by the world, counted as nothing at all, and used it to bring down to nothing those the world considers great, <sup>29</sup> so that no one anywhere can ever brag in the presence of God.

<sup>30</sup> For it is from God alone that you have your life through Christ Jesus. He showed us God's plan of salvation; he was the one who made us acceptable to God; he made us pure and holy<sup>c</sup> and gave himself to purchase our salvation.<sup>d</sup> <sup>31</sup> As it says in the Scriptures, "If anyone is going to boast, let him boast only of what the Lord has done."

2 DEAR BROTHERS, EVEN when I first came to you I didn't use lofty words and brilliant ideas to tell you God's message. <sup>2</sup> For I decided that I would speak only of Jesus Christ and his death on the cross. <sup>3</sup> I came to you in weakness—timid and trembling. <sup>4</sup> And my preaching was very plain, not with a lot of oratory and human wisdom, but the Holy Spirit's power was in my words, proving to those who

b Or, "are being . . ."
from slavery to sin."

c Or, "he brought us near to God."

d Or, "to free us heard them that the message was from God. <sup>5</sup> I did this because I wanted your faith to stand firmly upon God, not on man's great ideas.

<sup>6</sup> Yet when I am among mature Christians I do speak with words of great wisdom, but not the kind that comes from here on earth, and not the kind that appeals to the great men of this world, who are doomed to fall. <sup>7</sup> Our words are wise because they are from God, telling of God's wise plan to bring us into the glories of heaven. This plan was hidden in former times, though it was made for our benefit before the world began. <sup>8</sup> But the great men of the world have not understood it; if they had, they never would have crucified the Lord of Glory.

<sup>9</sup> That is what is meant by the Scriptures which say that no mere man has ever seen, heard or even imagined what wonderful things God has ready for those who love the Lord. <sup>10</sup> But we know about these things because God has sent his Spirit to tell us, and his Spirit searches out and shows us all of God's deepest secrets. <sup>11</sup> No one can really know what anyone else is thinking, or what he is really like, except that person himself. And no one can know God's thoughts except God's own Spirit. <sup>12</sup> And God has actually given us his Spirit (not the world's spirit) to tell us about the wonderful free gifts of grace and blessing that God has given us. <sup>13</sup> In telling you about these gifts we have even used the very words given to us by the Holy Spirit, not words that we as men might choose. So we use the Holy Spirit's words to explain the Holy Spirit's facts.<sup>a</sup> <sup>14</sup> But the man who isn't a Christian can't understand and can't accept these thoughts from God, which the Holy Spirit teaches us. They sound foolish to him, because only those who have the Holy Spirit within them can understand what the Holy Spirit means. Others just can't take it in. <sup>15</sup> But the spiritual man has insight into everything, and that bothers and baffles the man of the world, who can't understand him at all. <sup>16</sup> How could he? For certainly he has never been one to know the Lord's thoughts, or to discuss them with him, or to move the hands of God by prayer.<sup>b</sup> But, strange as it seems, we Christians actually do have within us a portion of the very thoughts and mind of Christ.

3 DEAR BROTHERS, I have been talking to you as though you were still just babies in the Christian life, who are not following the Lord, but your own desires; I cannot talk to you as I would to healthy Christians, who are filled with the Spirit. <sup>2</sup> I have had to feed you with milk and not with solid food, because you couldn't digest anything stronger. And even now you still have to be fed on milk. <sup>3</sup> For you are still only baby Christians, controlled by your own desires, not God's. When you are jealous of one another and divide up into quarrelling groups, doesn't that prove you are still babies, wanting your own way? In fact, you are acting like people who don't belong to the Lord at all. <sup>4</sup> There you are, quar-

a Or, "interpreting spiritual truth in spiritual language."

b Or, "who can advise him?"

relying about whether I am greater than Apollos, and dividing the church. Doesn't this show how little you have grown in the Lord?<sup>a</sup>

<sup>5</sup> Who am I, and who is Apollos, that we should be the cause of a quarrel? Why, we're just God's servants, each of us with certain special abilities, and with our help you believed. <sup>6</sup> My work was to plant the seed in your hearts, and Apollos' work was to water it, but it was God, not we, who made the garden grow in your hearts. <sup>7</sup> The person who does the planting or watering isn't very important, but God is important because he is the one who makes things grow. <sup>8</sup> Apollos and I are working as a team, with the same aim, though each of us will be rewarded for his own hard work. <sup>9</sup> We are only God's co-workers. You are God's garden, not ours; you are God's building, not ours.

<sup>10</sup> God, in his kindness, has taught me how to be an expert builder. I have laid the foundation and Apollos has built on it. But he who builds on the foundation must be very careful. <sup>11</sup> And no one can ever lay any other real foundation than that one we already have—Jesus Christ. <sup>12</sup> But there are various kinds of materials that can be used to build on that foundation. Some use gold and silver and jewels; and some build with sticks, and hay, or even straw! <sup>13</sup> There is going to come a time of testing at Christ's Judgment Day to see what kind of material each builder has used. Everyone's work will be put through the fire so that all can see whether or not it keeps its value, and what was really accomplished. <sup>14</sup> Then every workman who has built on the foundation with the right materials, and whose work still stands, will get his pay. <sup>15</sup> But if the house he has built burns up, he will have a great loss. He himself will be saved, but like a man escaping through a wall of flames.

<sup>16</sup> Don't you realize that all of you together are the house of God, and that the Spirit of God lives among you in his house? <sup>17</sup> If anyone defiles and spoils God's home, God will destroy him. For God's home is holy and clean, and you are that home.

<sup>18</sup> Stop fooling yourselves. If you count yourself above average in intelligence, as judged by this world's standards, you had better put this all aside and be a fool rather than let it hold you back from the true wisdom from above. <sup>19</sup> For the wisdom of this world is foolishness to God. As it says in the book of Job, God uses man's own brilliance to trap him; he stumbles over his own "wisdom" and falls. <sup>20</sup> And again, in the book of Psalms, we are told that the Lord knows full well how the human mind reasons, and how foolish and futile it is.

<sup>21</sup> So don't be proud of following the wise men of this world.<sup>b</sup> For God has already given you everything you need. <sup>22</sup> He has given you Paul and Apollos and Peter as your helpers. He has given you the whole world to use, and life and even death are your servants. He has given you all of the present and all of the future. All are yours, <sup>23</sup> and you belong to Christ, and Christ is God's.

4 SO APOLLOS AND I should be looked upon as Christ's servants who distribute God's blessings by explaining God's secrets. <sup>2</sup> Now the most important thing about a servant is that he does just what his master tells him to. <sup>3</sup> What about me? Have I been a good servant? Well, I don't worry over what you think about this, or what anyone else thinks. I don't even trust my own judgment on this point. <sup>4</sup> My conscience is clear, but even that isn't final proof. It is the Lord himself who must examine me and decide.

<sup>5</sup> So be careful not to jump to conclusions before the Lord returns as to whether someone is a good servant or not. When the Lord comes, he will turn on the light so that everyone can see exactly what each one of us is really like, deep down in our hearts. Then everyone will know why we have been doing the Lord's work. At that time God will give to each one whatever praise is coming to him.

<sup>6</sup> I have used Apollos and myself as examples to illustrate what I have been saying: that you must not have favorites. You must not be proud of one of God's teachers more than another. <sup>7</sup> What are you so puffed up about? What do you have that God hasn't given you? And if all you have is from God, why act as though you are so great, and as though you have accomplished something on your own?

<sup>8</sup> You seem to think you already have all the spiritual food you need. You are full and spiritually contented, rich kings on your thrones, leaving us far behind! I wish you really were already on your thrones, for when that time comes you can be sure that we will be there, too, reigning with you. <sup>9</sup> Sometimes I think God has put us apostles at the very end of the line, like prisoners soon to be killed, put on display at the end of a victor's parade, to be stared at by men and angels alike.

<sup>10</sup> Religion has made us foolish, you say, but of course you are all such wise and sensible Christians! We are weak, but not you! You are well thought of, while we are laughed at. <sup>11</sup> To this very hour we have gone hungry and thirsty, without even enough clothes to keep us warm. We have been kicked around without homes of our own. <sup>12</sup> We have worked wearily with our hands to earn our living. We have blessed those who cursed us. We have been patient with those who injured us. <sup>13</sup> We have replied quietly when evil things have been said about us. Yet right up to the present moment we are like dirt under foot, like garbage.

<sup>14</sup> I am not writing about these things to make you ashamed, but to warn and counsel you as beloved children. <sup>15</sup> For although you may have ten thousand others to teach you about Christ, remember that you have only me as your father. For I was the one who brought you to Christ when I preached the Gospel to you. <sup>16</sup> So I beg you to follow my example, and do as I do.

<sup>17</sup> That is the very reason why I am sending Timothy—to help you do this. For he is one of those I won to Christ, a beloved and trust-worthy child in the Lord. He will remind you of what I teach in all the churches wherever I go.

<sup>18</sup> I know that some of you will have become proud, thinking that I am afraid to come to deal with you. <sup>19</sup> But I will come, and soon, if the Lord will let me, and then I'll find out whether these proud men are just big talkers or whether they really have God's power. <sup>20</sup> The Kingdom of God is not just talking; it is living by God's power. <sup>21</sup> Which do you choose? Shall I come with punishment and scolding, or shall I come with quiet love and gentleness?

5 EVERYONE IS TALKING about the terrible thing that has happened there among you, something so evil that even the heathen don't do it: you have a man in your church who is living in sin with his father's wife.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> And are you still so conceited, so "spiritual"? Why aren't you mourning in sorrow and shame, and seeing to it that this man is removed from your membership?

<sup>3</sup> Although I am not there with you, I have been thinking a lot about this, and in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ I have already decided what to do, just as though I were there. You are to call a meeting of the church—and the power of the Lord Jesus will be with you as you meet, and I will be there in spirit—<sup>4</sup> and cast out this man from the fellowship of the church and into Satan's hands, to punish him,<sup>b</sup> in the hope that his soul will be saved when our Lord Jesus Christ returns.

<sup>6</sup> What a terrible thing it is that you are boasting about your purity, and yet you let this sort of thing go on. Don't you realize that if even one person is allowed to go on sinning, soon all will be affected? <sup>7</sup> Remove this evil cancer—this wicked person—from among you, so that you can stay pure. Christ, God's Lamb, has been slain for us. <sup>8</sup> So let us feast upon him and grow strong in the Christian life, leaving entirely behind us the cancerous old life with all its hatreds and wickedness. Let us feast instead upon the pure bread of honor and sincerity and truth.

<sup>9</sup> When I wrote to you before I said not to mix with evil people. <sup>10</sup> But when I said that I wasn't talking about unbelievers who live in sexual sin, or are greedy cheats and thieves and idol worshippers. For you can't live in this world without being with people like that. <sup>11</sup> What I meant was that you are not to keep company with anyone who claims to be a brother Christian but indulges in sexual sins, or is greedy, or is a swindler, or worships idols, or is a drunkard, or abusive. Don't even eat lunch with such a person.

<sup>12</sup> It isn't our job to judge outsiders. But it certainly is our job to judge and deal strongly with those who are members of the church, and who are sinning in these ways. <sup>13</sup> God alone is the Judge of those on the outside. But you yourselves must deal with this man and put him out of your church.

6 HOW IS IT that when you have something against another

Christian, you "go to law" and ask a heathen court to decide the matter instead of taking it to other Christians to decide which of you is right? <sup>2</sup> Don't you know that some day we Christians are going to judge and govern the world? So why can't you decide even these little things among yourselves? <sup>3</sup> Don't you realize that we Christians will judge and reward the very angels in heaven? So you should be able to decide your problems down here on earth easily enough. <sup>4</sup> Why then go to outside judges who are not even Christians?<sup>a</sup> <sup>5</sup> I am trying to make you ashamed. Isn't there anyone in all the church who is wise enough to decide these arguments? <sup>6</sup> But, instead, one Christian sues another and accuses his Christian brother in front of unbelievers.

<sup>7</sup> To have such lawsuits at all is a real defeat for you as Christians. Why not just accept mistreatment and leave it at that? It would be far more honoring to the Lord to let yourselves be cheated. <sup>8</sup> But, instead, you yourselves are the ones who do wrong, cheating others, even your own brothers.

<sup>9,10</sup> Don't you know that those doing such things have no share in the Kingdom of God? Don't fool yourselves. Those who live immoral lives, who are idol worshippers, adulterers or homosexuals—will have no share in his kingdom. Neither will thieves or greedy people, drunkards, slanderers, or robbers. <sup>11</sup> There was a time when some of you were just like that but now your sins are washed away, and you are set apart for God, and he has accepted you because of what the Lord Jesus Christ and the Spirit of our God have done for you. <sup>12</sup> I can do anything I want to if Christ has not said no,<sup>b</sup> but some of these things aren't good for me. Even if I am allowed to do them, I'll refuse to if I think they might get such a grip on me that I can't easily stop when I want to. <sup>13</sup> For instance, take the matter of eating. God has given us an appetite for food and stomachs to digest it. But that doesn't mean we should eat more than we need. Don't think of eating as important, because some day God will do away with both stomachs and food.

But sexual sin is never right: our bodies were not made for that, but for the Lord, and the Lord wants to fill our bodies with himself. <sup>14</sup> And God is going to raise our bodies from the dead by his power just as he raised up the Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>15</sup> Don't you realize that your bodies are actually parts and members of Christ? So should I take part of Christ and join him to a prostitute? Never! <sup>16</sup> And don't you know that if a man joins himself to a prostitute she becomes a part of him and he becomes a part of her? For God tells us in the Scripture that in his sight the two become one person. <sup>17</sup> But if you give yourself to the Lord, you and Christ are joined together as one a Or, "Even the least capable people in the church should be able to decide these things for you." Both interpretations are possible. b Literally, "All things are lawful for me."

Obviously, Paul is not here permitting sins such as have just been expressly prohibited in verses 8 and 9. He is apparently quoting some in the church of lustful Corinth who were excusing their sins.

person.

<sup>14</sup> That is why I say to run from sex sin. No other sin affects the body as this one does. When you sin this sin it is against your own body.

<sup>19</sup> Haven't you yet learned that your body is the home of the Holy Spirit God gave you, and that he lives within you? Your own body does not belong to you. <sup>20</sup> For God has bought you with a great price. So use every part of your body to give glory back to God, because he owns it.

7 NOW ABOUT THOSE questions you asked in your last letter: my answer is that if you do not marry, it is good. <sup>2</sup> But usually it is best to be married, each man having his own wife, and each woman having her own husband, because otherwise you might fall back into sin.

<sup>1</sup> The man should give his wife all that is her right as a married woman, and the wife should do the same for her husband: <sup>4</sup> for a girl who marries no longer has full right to her own body, for her husband then has his rights to it, too; and in the same way the husband no longer has full right to his own body, for it belongs also to his wife. <sup>5</sup> So do not refuse these rights to each other. The only exception to this rule would be the agreement of both husband and wife to refrain from the rights of marriage for a limited time, so that they can give themselves more completely to prayer. Afterwards, they should come together again so that Satan won't be able to tempt them because of their lack of self-control.

<sup>6</sup> I'm not saying you must marry; but you certainly may if you wish. <sup>7</sup> I wish everyone could get along without marrying, just as I do. But we are not all the same. God gives some the gift of a husband or wife, and others he gives the gift of being able to stay happily unmarried. <sup>8</sup> So I say to those who aren't married, and to widows—better to stay unmarried if you can, just as I am. <sup>9</sup> But if you can't control yourselves, go ahead and marry. It is better to marry than to burn with lust.

<sup>10</sup> Now, for those who are married I have a command, not just a suggestion. And it is not a command from me, for this is what the Lord himself has said: A wife must not leave her husband. <sup>11</sup> But if she is separated from him, let her remain single or else go back to him. And the husband must not divorce his wife.

<sup>12</sup> Here I want to add some suggestions of my own. These are not direct commands from the Lord, but they seem right to me: If a Christian has a wife who is not a Christian, but she wants to stay with him anyway, he must not leave her or divorce her. <sup>13</sup> And if a Christian woman has a husband who isn't a Christian, and he wants her to stay with him, she must not leave him. <sup>14</sup> For perhaps the husband who isn't a Christian may become a Christian with the help of his Christian wife. And the wife who isn't a Christian may become a Christian with the help of her Christian husband. Otherwise, if the family separates, the children might never come to know the Lord; whereas a united family may, in God's plan, result in the children's salvation.

<sup>13</sup> But if the husband or wife who isn't a Christian is eager to leave, it is permitted. In such cases the Christian husband or wife should not insist that the other stay, for God wants his children to live in peace and harmony. <sup>14</sup> For, after all, there is no assurance to you wives that your husbands will be converted if they stay; and the same may be said to you husbands concerning your wives.

<sup>17</sup> But be sure in deciding these matters that you are living as God intended, marrying or not marrying in accordance with God's direction and help, and accepting whatever situation God has put you into. This is my rule for all the churches.

<sup>18</sup> For instance, a man who already has gone through the Jewish ceremony of circumcision before he became a Christian shouldn't worry about it; and if he hasn't been circumcised, he shouldn't do it now. <sup>19</sup> For it doesn't make any difference at all whether a Christian has gone through this ceremony or not. But it makes a lot of difference whether he is pleasing God and keeping God's commandments. That is the important thing.

<sup>20</sup> Usually a person should keep on with the work he was doing when God called him. <sup>21</sup> Are you a slave? Don't let that worry you—but of course, if you get a chance to be free, take it. <sup>22</sup> If the Lord calls you, and you are a slave, remember that Christ has set you free from the awful power of sin; and if he has called you and you are free, remember that you are now a slave of Christ. <sup>23</sup> You have been bought and paid for by Christ, so you belong to him—be free now from all these earthly prides and fears.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>24</sup> So, dear brothers, whatever situation a person is in when he becomes a Christian, let him stay there, for now the Lord is there to help him.

<sup>25</sup> Now I will try to answer your other question. What about girls who are not yet married? Should they be permitted to do so? In answer to this question, I have no special command for them from the Lord. But the Lord in his kindness has given me wisdom that can be trusted, and I will be glad to tell you what I think.

<sup>26</sup> Here is the problem: We Christians are facing great dangers to our lives at present. In times like these I think it is best for a person to remain unmarried. <sup>27</sup> Of course, if you already are married, don't separate because of this. But if you aren't, don't rush into it at this time. <sup>28</sup> But if you men decide to go ahead anyway and get married now, it is all right; and if a girl gets married in times like these, it is no sin. However, marriage will bring extra problems that I wish you didn't have to face right now.

<sup>29</sup> The important thing to remember is that our remaining time is very short, [and so are our opportunities for doing the Lord's work<sup>b</sup>]. For that reason those who have wives should stay as free as possible for the Lord;<sup>c</sup> <sup>30</sup> happiness or sadness or wealth should not keep anyone from doing God's work. <sup>31</sup> Those in frequent contact a Literally, "Become not bondservants of men." those who have wives may be as though they didn't."

b Implied.

c Literally, "(that) with the exciting things the world offers should make good use of their opportunities without stopping to enjoy them; for the world in its present form will soon be gone.

<sup>22</sup> In all you do, I want you to be free from worry. An unmarried man can spend his time doing the Lord's work and thinking how to please him. <sup>23</sup> But a married man can't do that so well; he has to think about his earthly responsibilities and how to please his wife. <sup>24</sup> His interests are divided. It is the same with a girl who marries. She faces the same problem. A girl who is not married is anxious to please the Lord in all she is and does.<sup>d</sup> But a married woman must consider other things such as housekeeping and the likes and dislikes of her husband.

<sup>25</sup> I am saying this to help you, not to try to keep you from marrying. I want you to do whatever will help you serve the Lord best, with as few other things as possible to distract your attention from him.

<sup>26</sup> But if anyone feels he ought to marry because he has trouble controlling his passions, it is all right, it is not a sin; let him marry. <sup>27</sup> But if a man has the willpower not to marry and decides that he doesn't need to and won't, he has made a wise decision. <sup>28</sup> So the person who marries does well, and the person who doesn't marry does even better.

<sup>29</sup> The wife is part of her husband as long as he lives; if her husband dies, then she may marry again, but only if she marries a Christian. <sup>30</sup> But in my opinion she will be happier if she doesn't marry again; and I think I am giving you counsel from God's Spirit when I say this.

8 NEXT IS YOUR question about eating food that has been sacrificed to idols. On this question everyone feels that only his answer is the right one! But although being a "know-it-all" makes us feel important, what is really needed to build the church is love. <sup>2</sup> If anyone thinks he knows all the answers, he is just showing his ignorance. <sup>3</sup> But the person who truly loves God is the one who is open to God's knowledge.

<sup>4</sup> So now, what about it? Should we eat meat that has been sacrificed to idols? Well, we all know that an idol is not really a god, and that there is only one God, and no other.

<sup>5</sup> According to some people, there are a great many gods, both in heaven and on earth. <sup>6</sup> But we know that there is only one God, the Father, who created all things<sup>a</sup> and made us to be his own; and one Lord Jesus Christ, who made everything and gives us life.

<sup>7</sup> However, some Christians don't realize this. All their lives they have been used to thinking of idols as alive, and have believed that food offered to the idols is really being offered to actual gods. So when they eat such food it bothers them and hurts their tender consciences. <sup>8</sup> Just remember that God doesn't care whether we eat it or not. We are no worse off if we don't eat it, and no better off if we do. <sup>9</sup> But be careful not to use your freedom to eat it, lest you cause some

Christian brother to sin whose conscience<sup>b</sup> is weaker than yours.

<sup>10</sup> You see, this is what may happen: Someone who thinks it is wrong to eat this food will see you eating at a temple restaurant, for you know there is no harm in it. Then he will become bold enough to do it too, although all the time he still feels it is wrong. <sup>11</sup> So because you "know it is all right to do it," you will be responsible for causing great spiritual damage to a brother with a tender conscience for whom Christ died. <sup>12</sup> And it is a sin against Christ to sin against your brother by encouraging him to do something he thinks is wrong. <sup>13</sup> So if eating meat offered to idols is going to make my brother sin, I'll not eat any of it as long as I live, because I don't want to do this to him.

9 I AM AN apostle, God's messenger, responsible to no mere man. I am one who has actually seen Jesus our Lord with my own eyes. And your changed lives are the result of my hard work for him. <sup>2</sup> If in the opinion of others, I am not an apostle, I certainly am to you, for you have been won to Christ through me. <sup>3</sup> This is my answer to those who question my rights.

<sup>4</sup> Or don't I have any rights at all? Can't I claim the same privilege the other apostles have of being a guest in your homes? <sup>5</sup> If<sup>a</sup> I had a wife, and if<sup>a</sup> she were a believer, couldn't I bring her along on these trips just as the other disciples do, and as the Lord's brothers do, and as Peter does? <sup>6</sup> And must Barnabas and I alone keep working for our living, while you supply these others? <sup>7</sup> What soldier in the army has to pay his own expenses? And have you ever heard of a farmer who harvests his crop and doesn't have the right to eat some of it? What shepherd takes care of a flock of sheep and goats and isn't allowed to drink some of the milk? <sup>8</sup> And I'm not merely quoting the opinions of men as to what is right. I'm telling you what God's law says. <sup>9</sup> For in the law God gave to Moses he said that you must not put a muzzle on an ox to keep it from eating when it is treading out the wheat. Do you suppose God was thinking only about oxen when he said this? <sup>10</sup> Wasn't he also thinking about us? Of course he was. He said this to show us that Christian workers should be paid by those they help. Those who do the plowing and threshing should expect some share of the harvest.

<sup>11</sup> We have planted good spiritual seed in your souls. Is it too much to ask, in return, for mere food and clothing? <sup>12</sup> You give them to others who preach to you, and you should. But shouldn't we have an even greater right to them? Yet we have never used this right, but supply our own needs without your help. We have never demanded payment of any kind for fear that, if we did, you might be less interested in our message to you from Christ.

<sup>13</sup> Don't you realize that God told those working in his temple to take for their own needs some of the wife that is a believer?"

food brought there as gifts to him? And those who work at the altar of God get a share of the food that is brought by those offering it to the Lord. <sup>14</sup> In the same way the Lord has given orders that those who preach the Gospel should be supported by those who accept it. <sup>15</sup> Yet I have never asked you for one penny. And I am not writing this to hint that I would like to start now. In fact, I would rather die of hunger than lose the satisfaction I get from preaching to you without charge. <sup>16</sup> For just preaching the Gospel isn't any special credit to me—I couldn't keep from preaching it if I wanted to. I would be utterly miserable. Woe unto me if I don't.

<sup>17</sup> If I were volunteering my services of my own free will, then the Lord would give me a special reward; but that is not the situation, for God has picked me out and given me this sacred trust and I have no choice. <sup>18</sup> Under this circumstance, what is my pay? It is the special joy I get from preaching the Good News without expense to anyone, never demanding my rights.

<sup>19</sup> And this has a real advantage: I am not bound to obey anyone just because he pays my salary; yet I have freely and happily become a servant of any and all so that I can win them to Christ.

<sup>20</sup> When I am with the Jews I seem as one of them so that they will listen to the Gospel and I can win them to Christ. When I am with Gentiles who follow Jewish customs and ceremonies I don't argue, even though I don't agree, because I want to help them. <sup>21</sup> When with the heathen I agree with them as much as I can, except of course that I must always do what is right as a Christian. And so, by agreeing, I can win their confidence<sup>b</sup> and help them too.

<sup>22</sup> When I am with those whose consciences bother them easily, I don't act as though I know it all and don't say they are foolish; the result is that they are willing to let me help them. Yes, whatever a person is like, I try to find common ground with him so that he will let me tell him about Christ and let Christ save him. <sup>23</sup> I do this to get the Gospel to them and also for the blessing I myself receive when I see them come to Christ.

<sup>27</sup> Like an athlete I punish my body, treating it roughly, training it to do what it should, not what it wants to. Otherwise I fear that after enlisting others for the race, I myself might be declared unfit and ordered to stand aside.

10 FOR WE MUST never forget, dear brothers, what happened to our people in the wilderness long ago. God guided them by sending a cloud that moved along ahead of them; and he brought them all safely through the waters of the Red Sea. <sup>2</sup>This might be called their "baptism"—baptized both in sea and cloud!—as followers of Moses—their commitment to him as their leader.

<sup>3,4</sup> And by a miracle<sup>a</sup> God sent them food to eat and water to drink there in the desert; they drank the water that Christ gave them.<sup>b</sup> He was there with them as a mighty Rock of spiritual refreshment. <sup>5</sup>Yet after all this most of them did not obey God, and he destroyed them in the wilderness.

<sup>6</sup>From this lesson we are warned that we must not desire evil things as they did, <sup>7</sup>nor worship idols as they did. (The Scriptures tell us, "The people sat down to eat and drink and then got up to dance" in worship of the golden calf.)

<sup>8</sup>Another lesson for us is what happened when some of them sinned with other men's wives, and 23,000 fell dead in one day. <sup>9</sup>And don't try the Lord's patience—they did, and died from snake bites. <sup>10</sup>And don't murmur against God and his dealings with you, as some of them did, for that is why God sent his Angel to destroy them.

<sup>11</sup>All these things happened to them as examples—as object lessons to us—to warn us against doing the same things; they were written down so that we could read about them and learn from them in these last days as the world nears its end.

<sup>12</sup>So be careful. If you are thinking, "Oh, I would never behave like that"—let this be a warning to you. For you too may fall into sin. <sup>13</sup>But remember this—the wrong desires that come into your life aren't anything new and different. Many others have faced exactly the same problems before you. And no temptation is irresistible. You can trust God to keep the temptation from becoming so strong that you can't stand up against it, for he has promised this and will do what he says. He will show you how to escape temptation's power so that you can bear up patiently against it. <sup>14</sup>So, dear friends, carefully avoid idol-worship of every kind.

<sup>15</sup>You are intelligent people. Look now and see for yourselves whether what I am about to say is true. <sup>16</sup>When we ask the Lord's blessing upon our drinking from the cup of wine at the Lord's Table, this means, doesn't it, that all who drink it are sharing together the blessing of Christ's blood? And when we break off pieces of the bread from the loaf to eat there together, this shows that we are sharing together in the benefits of his body. <sup>17</sup>No matter how many of us there are, we all eat from the same loaf, showing that we are all parts of the one body of Christ. <sup>18</sup>And the Jewish people, all who eat the sacrifices, are united by that act.

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "For they drank of a spiritual Rock that followed them, and the Rock was Christ."

I saying that the idols to whom the heathen bring sacrifices are really alive and are real gods, and that these sacrifices are of some value? No, not at all. <sup>20</sup> What I am saying is that those who offer food to these idols are united together in sacrificing to demons, certainly not to God. And I don't want any of you to be partners with demons when you eat the same food, along with the heathen, that has been offered to these idols.

<sup>21</sup> You cannot drink from the cup at the Lord's Table and at Satan's table, too. You cannot eat bread both at the Lord's Table and at Satan's table.

<sup>22</sup> What? Are you tempting the Lord to be angry with you? Are you stronger than he is? <sup>23</sup> You are certainly free to eat food offered to idols if you want to; it's not against God's laws to eat such meat, but that doesn't mean that you should go ahead and do it. It may be perfectly legal, but it may not be best and helpful. <sup>24</sup> Don't think only of yourself. Try to think of the other fellow, too, and what is best for him.

<sup>25</sup> Here's what you should do. Take any meat you want that is sold at the market. Don't ask whether or not it was offered to idols, lest the answer hurt your conscience. <sup>26</sup> For the earth and every good thing in it belongs to the Lord and is yours to enjoy.

<sup>27</sup> If someone who isn't a Christian asks you out to dinner, go ahead; accept the invitation if you want to. Eat whatever is on the table and don't ask any questions about it. Then you won't know whether or not it has been used as a sacrifice to idols, and you won't risk having a bad conscience over eating it. <sup>28</sup> But if someone warns you that this meat has been offered to idols, then don't eat it for the sake of the man who told you, and of his conscience. <sup>29</sup> In this case his feeling about it is the important thing, not yours.

But why, you may ask, must I be guided and limited by what someone else thinks? <sup>30</sup> If I can thank God for the food and enjoy it, why let someone spoil everything just because he thinks I am wrong? <sup>31</sup> Well, I'll tell you why. It is because you must do everything for the glory of God, even your eating and drinking.

<sup>32</sup> So don't be a stumbling block to anyone, whether they are Jews or Gentiles or Christians. <sup>33</sup> That is the plan I follow, too. I try to please everyone in everything I do, not doing what I like or what is best for me, but what is best for them, so that they may be saved.

11 AND YOU SHOULD follow my example, just as I follow Christ's. <sup>2</sup> I am so glad, dear brothers, that you have been remembering and doing everything I taught you.

<sup>3</sup> But there is one matter I want to remind you about: that a wife is responsible to her husband, her husband is responsible to Christ, and Christ is responsible to God. <sup>4</sup> That is why, if a man refuses to remove his hat while praying or preaching, he dishonors Christ. <sup>5</sup> And that is why a woman who publicly prays or prophesies without a covering on her head dishonors her husband [for her covering is a sign of her subjection to him<sup>a</sup>].

<sup>6</sup> Yes, if she refuses to wear a head covering, then she should cut off all her hair. And if it is shameful for a woman to have her head shaved, then she should wear a covering.

<sup>7</sup> But a man should not wear anything on his head [when worshipping, for his hat is a sign of subjection to men<sup>b</sup>].

God's glory is man made in his image, and man's glory is the woman. <sup>8</sup> The first man didn't come from woman, but the first woman came out of man.<sup>c</sup> <sup>9</sup> And Adam, the first man, was not made for Eve's benefit, but Eve was made for Adam. <sup>10</sup> So a woman should wear a covering on her head as a sign that she is under man's authority,<sup>d</sup> a fact for all the angels to notice and rejoice in.<sup>e</sup>

<sup>11</sup> But remember that in God's plan men and women need each other. <sup>12</sup> For although the first woman came out of man, all men have been born from women ever since, and both men and women come from God their Creator.

<sup>13</sup> What do you yourselves really think about this? Is it right for a woman to pray in public without covering her head? <sup>14,15</sup> Doesn't even instinct itself teach us that women's heads should be covered? For women are proud of their long hair, while a man with long hair tends to be ashamed. <sup>16</sup> But if anyone wants to argue about this, all I can say is that we never teach anything else than this—that a woman should wear a covering when prophesying or praying publicly in the church, and all the churches feel the same way about it.

<sup>17</sup> Next on my list of items to write you about is something else I cannot agree with. For it sounds as if more harm than good is done when you meet together for your communion services. <sup>18</sup> Everyone keeps telling me about the arguing that goes on in these meetings, and the divisions developing among you, and I can just about believe it. <sup>19</sup> But I suppose you feel this is necessary so that you who are always right will become known and recognized!

<sup>20</sup> When you come together to eat, it isn't the Lord's Supper you are eating, <sup>21</sup> but your own. For I am told that everyone hastily gobbles all the food he can without waiting to share with the others, so that one doesn't get enough and goes hungry while another has too much to drink and gets drunk. <sup>22</sup> What? Is this really true? Can't you do your eating and drinking at home, to avoid disgracing the church and shaming those who are poor and can bring no food? What am I supposed to say about these things? Do you want me to praise you? Well, I certainly do not!

<sup>23</sup> For this is what the Lord himself has said about his Table, and I have passed it on to you before: That on the night when Judas betrayed him, the Lord Jesus took bread, <sup>24</sup> and when he had given thanks to God for it, he broke it and gave it to his disciples and said, a Implied in verses 7, 10.

b Implied.

c Genesis 2:21–22.

d Literally, "For this cause ought the woman to have power on (her) head."

e Literally, "because of the angels."

"Take this and eat it. This is my body, which is given<sup>f</sup> for you. Do this to remember me." <sup>23</sup> In the same way, he took the cup of wine after supper, saying, "This cup is the new agreement between God and you that has been established and set in motion by my blood. Do this in remembrance of me whenever you drink it." <sup>24</sup> For every time you eat this bread and drink this cup you are re-telling the message of the Lord's death, that he has died for you. Do this until he comes again.

<sup>25</sup> So if anyone eats this bread and drinks from this cup of the Lord in an unworthy manner, he is guilty of sin against the body and the blood of the Lord. <sup>26</sup> That is why a man should examine himself carefully before eating the bread and drinking from the cup. <sup>27</sup> For if he eats the bread and drinks from the cup unworthily, not thinking about the body of Christ and what it means, he is eating and drinking God's judgment upon himself; for he is trifling with the death of Christ. <sup>28</sup> That is why many of you are weak and sick, and some have even died.

<sup>29</sup> But if you carefully examine yourselves before eating you will not need to be judged and punished. <sup>30</sup> Yet, when we are judged and punished by the Lord, it is so that we will not be condemned with the rest of the world. <sup>31</sup> So, dear brothers, when you gather for the Lord's Supper—the communion service—wait for each other; <sup>32</sup> if anyone is really hungry he should eat at home so that he won't bring punishment upon himself when you meet together.

I'll talk to you about the other matters after I arrive.

12 AND NOW, BROTHERS, I want to write about the special abilities the Holy Spirit gives to each of you, for I don't want any misunderstanding about them. <sup>1</sup> You will remember that before you became Christians you went around from one idol to another, not one of which could speak a single word. <sup>2</sup> But now you are meeting people who claim to speak messages from the Spirit of God. How can you know whether they are really inspired by God or whether they are fakes? Here is the test: no one speaking by the power of the Spirit of God can curse Jesus, and no one can say, "Jesus is Lord," and really mean it, unless the Holy Spirit is helping him.

<sup>3</sup> Now God gives us many kinds of special abilities, but it is the same Holy Spirit who is the source of them all. <sup>4</sup> There are different kinds of service to God, but it is the same Lord we are serving. <sup>5</sup> There are many ways in which God works in our lives, but it is the same God who does the work in and through all of us who are his. <sup>6</sup> The Holy Spirit displays God's power through each of us as a means of helping the entire church.

and to someone else the power to heal the sick. <sup>10</sup> He gives power for doing miracles to some, and to others power to prophesy and preach. He gives someone else the power to know whether evil spirits are speaking through those who claim to be giving God's messages—or whether it is really the Spirit of God who is speaking. Still another person is able to speak in languages he never learned; and others, who do not know the language either, are given power to understand what he is saying. <sup>11</sup> It is the same and only Holy Spirit who gives all these gifts and powers, deciding which each one of us should have.

<sup>12</sup> Our bodies have many parts, but the many parts make up only one body when they are all put together. So it is with the "body" of Christ. <sup>13</sup> Each of us is a part of the one body of Christ. Some of us are Jews, some are Gentiles, some are slaves and some are free. But the Holy Spirit has fitted us all together into one body. We have been baptized into Christ's body by the one Spirit, and have all been given that same Holy Spirit.

<sup>14</sup> Yes, the body has many parts, not just one part. <sup>15</sup> If the foot says, "I am not a part of the body because I am not a hand," that does not make it any less a part of the body. <sup>16</sup> And what would you think if you heard an ear say, "I am not part of the body because I am only an ear, and not an eye"? Would that make it any less a part of the body? <sup>17</sup> Suppose the whole body were an eye—then how would you hear? Or if your whole body were just one big ear, how could you smell anything?

<sup>18</sup> But that isn't the way God has made us. He has made many parts for our bodies and has put each part just where he wants it. <sup>19</sup> What a strange thing a body would be if it had only one part! <sup>20</sup> So he has made many parts, but still there is only one body.

<sup>21</sup> The eye can never say to the hand, "I don't need you." The head can't say to the feet, "I don't need you."

<sup>22</sup> And some of the parts that seem weakest and least important are really the most necessary.

<sup>23</sup> Yes, we are especially glad to have some parts that seem rather odd! And we carefully protect from the eyes of others those parts that should not be seen, <sup>24</sup> while of course the parts that may be seen do not require this special care. So God has put the body together in such a way that extra honor and care are given to those parts that might otherwise seem less important. <sup>25</sup> This makes for happiness among the parts, so that the parts have the same care for each other that they do for themselves. <sup>26</sup> If one part suffers, all parts suffer with it, and if one part is honored, all the parts are glad.

<sup>27</sup> Now here is what I am trying to say: All of you together are the one body of Christ and each one of you is a separate and necessary part of it. <sup>28</sup> Here is a list of some of the parts he has placed in his church, which is his body:

Apostles,

Prophets—those who preach God's Word,

Teachers,

Those who do miracles,

Those who have the gift of healing,

Those who can help others,
Those who can get others to work together,
Those who speak in languages they have never learned.

<sup>9</sup> Is everyone an apostle? Of course not. Is everyone a preacher? No. Are all teachers? Does everyone have the power to do miracles? <sup>10</sup> Can everyone heal the sick? Of course not. Does God give all of us the ability to speak in languages we've never learned? Can just anyone understand and translate what those are saying who have that gift of foreign speech? <sup>11</sup> No, but try your best to have the more important of these gifts.

First, however, let me tell you about something else that is better than any of them!

13 IF I HAD the gift of being able to speak in other languages without learning them, and could speak in every language there is in all of heaven and earth, but didn't love others, I would only be making noise. <sup>2</sup> If I had the gift of prophecy and knew all about what is going to happen in the future, knew everything about everything, but didn't love others, what good would it do? Even if I had the gift of faith so that I could speak to a mountain and make it move, I would still be worth nothing at all without love. <sup>3</sup> If I gave everything I have to poor people, and if I were burned alive for preaching the Gospel but didn't love others, it would be of no value whatever.

boastful or proud, <sup>5</sup> never haughty or selfish or rude. Love does not demand its own way. It is not irritable or touchy. It does not hold grudges and will hardly even notice when others do it wrong. <sup>6</sup> It is never glad about injustice, but rejoices whenever truth wins out. <sup>7</sup> If you love someone you will be loyal to him no matter what the cost. You will always believe in him, always expect the best of him, and always stand your ground in defending him.

<sup>8</sup> All the special gifts and powers from God will someday come to an end, but love goes on forever. Someday prophecy, and speaking in unknown languages, and special knowledge—these gifts will disappear. <sup>9</sup> Now we know so little, even with our special gifts, and the preaching of those most gifted is still so poor. <sup>10</sup> But when we have been made perfect and complete, then the need for these inadequate special gifts will come to an end, and they will disappear.

<sup>11</sup> It's like this: when I was a child I spoke and thought and reasoned as a child does. But when I became a man my thoughts grew far beyond those of my childhood, and now I have put away the childish things. <sup>12</sup> In the same way, we can see and understand only a little about God now, as if we were peering at his reflection in a poor mirror; but someday we are going to see him in his completeness, face to face. Now all that I know is hazy and blurred, but then I will see everything clearly, just as clearly as God sees into my heart right now.

<sup>13</sup> There are three things that remain—faith, hope, and love—and the greatest of these is love.

14 LET LOVE BE your greatest aim; nevertheless, ask also for the special abilities the Holy Spirit gives, and especially the gift of prophecy, being able to preach the messages of God.

<sup>2</sup> But if your gift is that of being able to "speak in tongues," that is, to speak in languages you haven't learned, you will be talking to God but not to others, since they won't be able to understand you. You will be speaking by the power of the Spirit but it will all be a secret. <sup>3</sup> But one who prophesies, preaching the messages of God, is helping others grow in the Lord, encouraging and comforting them. <sup>4</sup> So a person "speaking in tongues" helps himself grow spiritually, but one who prophesies, preaching messages from God, helps the entire church grow in holiness and happiness.

<sup>5</sup> I wish you all had the gift of "speaking in tongues" but, even more, I wish you were all able to prophesy, preaching God's messages, for that is a greater and more useful power than to speak in unknown languages—unless, of course, you can tell everyone afterwards what you were saying, so that they can get some good out of it too.

<sup>6</sup> Dear friends, even if I myself should come to you talking in some language you don't understand, how would that help you? But if I speak plainly what God has revealed to me, and tell you the things I know, and what is going to happen, and the great truths of God's Word—that is what you need; that is what will help you. <sup>7</sup> Even musical instruments—the flute, for instance, or the harp—are examples of the need for speaking in plain, simple English<sup>a</sup> rather than in unknown languages. For no one will recognize the tune the flute is playing unless each note is sounded clearly. <sup>8</sup> And if the army bugler doesn't play the right notes, how will the soldiers know that they are being called to battle? <sup>9</sup> In the same way, if you talk to a person in some language he doesn't understand, how will he know what you mean? You might as well be talking to an empty room.

<sup>10</sup> I suppose that there are hundreds of different languages in the world, and all are excellent for those who understand them, <sup>11</sup> but to me they mean nothing. A person talking to me in one of these languages will be a stranger to me and I will be a stranger to him. <sup>12</sup> Since you are so anxious to have special gifts from the Holy Spirit, ask him for the very best, for those that will be of real help to the whole church.

<sup>13</sup> If someone is given the gift of speaking in unknown tongues, he should pray also for the gift of knowing what he has said, so that he can tell people afterwards, plainly. <sup>14</sup> For if I pray in a language I don't understand, my spirit is praying but I don't know what I am saying. <sup>15</sup> Well, then, what shall I do? I will do both. I will pray in unknown tongues and also in ordinary language that everyone understands. I will sing in unknown tongues and also in ordinary language, so that I can understand the praise I am giving; <sup>14</sup> for if you praise and thank God with the spirit alone, speaking in another language, how can those who don't understand you be praising God along with you? How can they join you in giving thanks when they don't know what you are saying? <sup>15</sup> You will be giving thanks very nicely, no doubt, but the other people present won't be helped.

<sup>16</sup> I thank God that I "speak in tongues" privately<sup>b</sup> more than any of the rest of you. <sup>17</sup> But in public worship I would much rather speak five words that people can understand and be helped by, than ten thousand words while "speaking in tongues" in an unknown language.

<sup>20</sup> Dear brothers, don't be childish in your understanding of these things. Be innocent babies when it comes to planning evil, but be men of intelligence in understanding matters of this kind. <sup>21</sup> We are told in the ancient Scriptures that God would send men from other lands to speak in foreign languages to his people, but even then they would not listen. <sup>22</sup> So you see that being able to "speak in tongues" is not a sign to God's children concerning his power, but is a sign to the unsaved. However, prophecy (preaching the deep truths of God) is what the Christians need, and unbelievers aren't yet ready for it. <sup>23</sup> Even so, if an unsaved person, or someone who doesn't have these gifts, comes to church and hears you all talking in other languages, he is likely to think you are crazy. <sup>24</sup> But if you prophesy, preaching God's Word, [even though such preaching is mostly for believers<sup>c</sup>] and an unsaved person or a new Christian comes in who does not understand about these things, all these sermons will convince him of the fact that he is a sinner, and his conscience will be pricked by everything he hears. <sup>25</sup> As he listens, his secret thoughts will be laid bare and he will fall down on his knees and worship God, declaring that God is really there among you.

<sup>26</sup> Well, my brothers, let's add up what I am saying. When you meet together some will sing, another will teach, or tell some special information God has given him, or speak in an unknown language, or tell what someone else is saying who is speaking in the unknown language, but everything that is done must be useful to all, and build them up in the Lord. <sup>27</sup> No more than two or three should speak in an unknown language, and they must speak one at a time, and someone must be ready to interpret what they are saying. <sup>28</sup> But if no one is present who can interpret, they must not speak out loud. They must talk silently to themselves and to God in the unknown language but not publicly.

<sup>29,30</sup> Two or three may prophesy, one at a time, if they have the gift, while all the others listen. But if, while someone is prophesying, someone else receives a message or idea from the Lord, the one who is speaking should stop. <sup>31</sup> In this way all who have the gift of prophecy can speak, one after the other, and everyone will learn and be encouraged and helped. <sup>32</sup> Remember that a person who has a message from God has the power to stop himself or wait his turn.<sup>d</sup> <sup>33</sup> God is not one who likes things to be disorderly and upset. He likes harmony, and he finds it in all the other churches.

<sup>34</sup> Women should be silent during the church meetings. They are not to take part in the discussion, for they are subordinate to men<sup>e</sup> as the Scriptures also declare. <sup>35</sup> If they have any questions to ask, let them ask their husbands at home, for it is improper for women to express their opinions in church meetings.

<sup>36</sup> You disagree? And do you think that the knowledge of God's will begins and ends with you Corinthians? Well, you are mistaken! <sup>37</sup> You who claim to have the gift of prophecy or any other special ability from the Holy Spirit should be the first to realize that what I am saying is a commandment from the Lord himself. <sup>38</sup> But if anyone still disagrees—well, we will leave him in his ignorance.<sup>f</sup>

<sup>39</sup> So, my fellow believers, long to be prophets so that you can preach God's message plainly; and never say it is wrong to "speak in tongues"; <sup>40</sup> however, be sure that everything is done properly in a good and orderly way.

15 NOW LET ME remind you, brothers, of what the Gospel really is, for it has not changed—it is the same Good News I preached to you before. You welcomed it then and still do now, for your faith is squarely built upon this wonderful message; <sup>2</sup> and it is this Good News that saves you if you still firmly believe it, unless of course you never really believed it in the first place.

<sup>3</sup> I passed on to you right from the first what had been told to me, that Christ died for our sins just as the Scriptures said he would, <sup>4</sup> and that he was buried, and that three days afterwards he arose from the grave just as the prophets foretold. <sup>5</sup> He was seen by Peter and later by the rest of "the Twelve."<sup>a</sup> <sup>6</sup> After that he was seen by more than five hundred Christian brothers at one time, most of whom are still alive, though some have died by now. <sup>7</sup> Then James saw him and later all the apostles. <sup>8</sup> Last of all I saw him too, long after the others, as though I had been born almost too late for this. <sup>9</sup> For I am the least worthy of all the apostles, and I shouldn't even be called an apostle at all after the way I treated the church of God.

<sup>10</sup> But whatever I am now it is all because God poured out such kindness and grace upon me—and not without results: for I have worked harder than all the other apostles, yet actually I wasn't doing it, but God working in me, to bless me. <sup>11</sup> It makes no difference who worked the hardest, I or they; the important thing is that we preached the Gospel to you, and you believed

<sup>e</sup> Literally, "They are not authorized to speak." They are permitted to pray and prophesy (1 Cor. 11:5), apparently in public meetings, but not to teach men (1 Tim. 2:12).

<sup>a</sup> The name given to Jesus' twelve disciples, and still used after Judas was gone from among them.

<sup>12</sup> But tell me this! Since you believe what we preach, that Christ rose from the dead, why are some of you saying that dead people will never come back to life again? <sup>13</sup> For if there is no resurrection of the dead, then Christ must still be dead.

<sup>14</sup> And if he is still dead, then all our preaching is useless and your trust in God is empty, worthless, hopeless; <sup>15</sup> and we apostles are all liars because we have said that God raised Christ from the grave, and of course that isn't true if the dead do not come back to life again. <sup>16</sup> If they don't, then Christ is still dead, <sup>17</sup> and you are very foolish to keep on trusting God to save you, and you are still under condemnation for your sins; <sup>18</sup> in that case all Christians who have died are lost!

<sup>19</sup> And if being a Christian is of value to us only now in this life, we are the most miserable of creatures.

<sup>20</sup> But the fact is that Christ did actually rise from the dead, and has become the first of millions<sup>b</sup> who will come back to life again some day.

<sup>21</sup> Death came into the world because of what one man (Adam) did, and it is because of what this other man (Christ) has done that now there is the resurrection from the dead. <sup>22</sup> Everyone dies because all of us are related to Adam, being members of his sinful race, and wherever there is sin, death results. But all who are related to Christ will rise again. <sup>23</sup> Each, however, in his own turn: Christ rose first; then when Christ comes back, all his people will become alive again.

<sup>24</sup> After that the end will come when he will turn the kingdom over to God the Father, having put down all enemies of every kind.

<sup>25</sup> For Christ will be King until he has defeated all his enemies, <sup>26</sup> including the last enemy—death. This too must be defeated and ended. <sup>27</sup> For the rule and authority over all things has been given to Christ by his Father; except, of course, Christ does not rule over the Father himself, who gave him this power to rule. <sup>28</sup> When Christ has finally won the battle against all his enemies, then he, the Son of God, will put himself also under his Father's orders, so that God who has given him the victory over everything else will be utterly supreme.

<sup>29</sup> If the dead will not come back to life again, then what point is there in people being baptized for those who are gone? Why do it unless you believe that the dead will some day rise again?

<sup>30</sup> And why should we ourselves be continually risking our lives, facing death hour by hour? <sup>31</sup> For it is a fact that I face death daily; that is as true as my pride in your growth in the Lord. <sup>32</sup> And what value was there in fighting wild beasts—those men of Ephesus—if it was only for what I gain in this life down here? If we will never live again after we die, then we might as well go and have ourselves a good time: let us eat, drink, and be merry. What's the difference? For tomorrow we die, and that ends everything!

say such things. If you listen to them you will start acting like them. <sup>34</sup> Get some sense and quit your sinning. For to your shame I say it, some of you are not even Christians at all and have never really known God.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>35</sup> But someone may ask, "How will the dead be brought back to life again? What kind of bodies will they have?" <sup>36</sup> What a foolish question! You will find the answer in your own garden! When you put a seed into the ground it doesn't grow into a plant unless it "dies" first.

<sup>37</sup> And when the green shoot comes up out of the seed, it is very different from the seed you first planted. For all you put into the ground is a dry little seed of wheat, or whatever it is you are planting, <sup>38</sup> then God gives it a beautiful new body—just the kind he wants it to have; a different kind of plant grows from each kind of seed. <sup>39</sup> And just as there are different kinds of seeds and plants, so also there are different kinds of flesh. Humans, animals, fish, and birds are all different.

<sup>40</sup> The angels<sup>d</sup> in heaven have bodies far different from ours, and the beauty and the glory of their bodies is different from the beauty and the glory of ours. <sup>41</sup> The sun has one kind of glory while the moon and stars have another kind. And the stars differ from each other in their beauty and brightness.

ferent from the bodies we shall have when we come back to life again, for they will never die. <sup>43</sup> The bodies we have now embarrass us for they become sick and die; but they will be full of glory when we come back to life again. Yes, they are weak, dying bodies now, but when we live again they will be full of strength. <sup>44</sup> They are just human bodies at death, but when they come back to life they will be superhuman bodies. For just as there are natural, human bodies, there are also supernatural, spiritual bodies.

<sup>45</sup> The Scriptures tell us that the first man, Adam, was given a natural, human body<sup>e</sup> but Christ<sup>f</sup> is more<sup>g</sup> than that, for he was life-giving Spirit.

<sup>46</sup> First, then, we have these human bodies and later on God gives us spiritual, heavenly bodies.

<sup>47</sup> Adam was made from the dust of the earth, but Christ came from heaven above. <sup>48</sup> Every human being has a body just like Adam's, made of dust, but all who become Christ's will have the same kind of body as his—a body from heaven. <sup>49</sup> Just as each of us now has a body like Adam's, so we shall some day have a body like Christ's.

<sup>50</sup> I tell you this, my brothers: an earthly body made of flesh and blood cannot get into God's kingdom. These perishable bodies of ours are not the right kind to live forever. <sup>51</sup> But I am telling you this strange and wonderful secret: we shall not all die, but we shall all be c Or, "there are some who know nothing of God."

d Literally, "There are celestial bodies." But perhaps this may refer to the sun, moon, planets, and stars.

e Literally, "was made a living soul."

f Literally, "the last Adam."

given new bodies! <sup>22</sup> It will all happen in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, when the last trumpet is blown. For there will be a trumpet blast from the sky<sup>h</sup> and all the Christians who have died will suddenly become alive, with new bodies that will never, never die; and then we who are still alive shall suddenly have new bodies too. <sup>23</sup> For our earthly bodies, the ones we have now that can die, must be transformed into heavenly bodies that cannot perish but will live forever.

<sup>24</sup> When this happens, then at last this Scripture will come true—"Death is swallowed up in victory." <sup>25,26</sup> O death, where then your victory? Where then your sting? For sin—the sting that causes death—will all be gone; and the law, which reveals our sins, will no longer be our judge. <sup>27</sup> How we thank God for all of this! It is he who makes us victorious through Jesus Christ our Lord!

<sup>28</sup> So, my dear brothers, since future victory is sure, be strong and steady, always abounding in the Lord's work, for you know that nothing you do for the Lord is ever wasted as it would be if there were no resurrection.

16 NOW HERE ARE the directions about the money you are collecting to send to the Christians in Jerusalem;<sup>a</sup> (and, by the way, these are the same directions I gave to the churches in Galatia). <sup>2</sup> On every Lord's Day each of you should put aside something from what you have earned during the week, and use it for this offering. The amount depends on how much the Lord has helped you earn. Don't wait until I get there and then try to collect it all at once. <sup>3</sup> When I come I will send your loving gift with a letter to Jerusalem, to be taken there by trustworthy messengers you yourselves will choose. <sup>4</sup> And if it seems wise for me to go along too, then we can travel together.

<sup>5</sup> I am coming to visit you after I have been to Macedonia first, but I will be staying there only for a little while. <sup>6</sup> It could be that I will stay longer with you, perhaps all winter, and then you can send me on to my next destination. <sup>7</sup> This time I don't want to make just a passing visit and then go right on; I want to come and stay awhile, if the Lord will let me. <sup>8</sup> I will be staying here at Ephesus until the holiday of Pentecost, <sup>9</sup> for there is a wide open door for me to preach and teach here. So much is happening, but there are many enemies.

<sup>10</sup> If Timothy comes make him feel at home, for he is doing the Lord's work just as I am. <sup>11</sup> Don't let anyone despise or ignore him [because he is young<sup>b</sup>], but send him back to me happy with his time among you; I am looking forward to seeing him soon, along with the others who are returning. <sup>12</sup> I begged Apollos to visit you along with the others, but he thought that it was not at all God's will for him to go now; he will be seeing you later on when he has the opportunity.

<sup>13</sup> Keep your eyes open for spiritual danger; stand true to the Lord; act like men; be strong; <sup>14</sup> and whatever you do, do it with kindness and love.

<sup>15</sup> Do you remember Stephanas and his family? They were the first to become Christians in Greece and they are spending their lives helping and serving Christians everywhere.

<sup>16</sup> Please follow their instructions and do everything you can to help them as well as all others like them who work hard at your side with such real devotion. <sup>17</sup> I am so glad that Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus have arrived here for a visit. They have been making up for the help you aren't here to give me.

<sup>18</sup> They have cheered me greatly and have been a wonderful encouragement to me, as I am sure they were to you, too. I hope you properly appreciate the work of such men as these.

<sup>19</sup> The churches here in Asia send you their loving greetings. Aquila and Priscilla send you their love and so do all the others who meet in their home for their church service. <sup>20</sup> All the friends here have asked me to say "hello" to you for them. And give each other a loving handshake when you meet.

<sup>21</sup> I will write these final words of this letter with my own hand: <sup>22</sup> if anyone does not love the Lord, that person is cursed. Lord Jesus, come!

<sup>23</sup> May the love and favor of the Lord Jesus Christ rest upon you.

<sup>24</sup> My love to all of you, for we all belong to Christ Jesus.

Sincerely,
Paul

2 CORINTHIANS

1 DEAR FRIENDS,

This letter is from me, Paul, appointed by God to be Jesus Christ's messenger; and from our dear brother Timothy. We are writing to all of you Christians there in Corinth and throughout Greece.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>2</sup> May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ mightily bless each one of you, and give you peace.

<sup>3,4</sup> What a wonderful God we have—he is the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the source of every mercy, and the one who so wonderfully comforts and strengthens us in our hardships and trials. And why does he do this? So that when others are troubled, needing our sympathy and encouragement, we can pass on to them this same help and comfort God has given us. <sup>5</sup> You can be sure that the more we undergo sufferings for Christ, the more he will shower us with his comfort and encouragement. <sup>6,7</sup> We are in deep trouble for bringing you God's comfort and salvation. But in our trouble God had comforted us—and this, too, to help you: to show you from our personal experience how God will tenderly comfort you when you undergo these same sufferings. He will give you the strength to endure.

dear brothers, about the hard time we went through in Asia. We were really crushed and overwhelmed, and feared we would never live through it. <sup>9</sup> We felt we were doomed to die and saw how powerless we were to help ourselves; but that was good, for then we put everything into the hands of God, who alone could save us, for he can even raise the dead. <sup>10</sup> And he did help us, and saved us from a terrible death; yes, and we expect him to do it again and again. <sup>11</sup> But you must help us too, by praying for us. For much thanks and praise will go to God from you who see his wonderful answers to your prayers for our safety!

<sup>12</sup> We are so glad that we can say with utter honesty that in all our dealings we have been pure and sincere, quietly depending upon the Lord for his help, and not on our own skills. And that is even more true, if possible, about the way we have acted toward you. <sup>13,14</sup> My letters have been straightforward and sincere; nothing is written between the lines! And even though you don't know me very well (I hope someday you will), I want you to try to accept me and be proud of me, as you already are to some extent; just as I shall be of you on that day when our Lord Jesus comes back again. <sup>15,16</sup> It was because I was so sure of your understanding and trust that I planned to stop and see you on my way to Macedonia, as well as afterwards when I returned, so that I could be a double blessing to you and so that you could send me on my way to Judea.

<sup>17</sup> Then why, you may be asking, did I change my plan? Hadn't I really made up my mind yet? Or am I like a man of the world who says "yes" when he really means "no"? <sup>18</sup> Never! As surely as God is true, I am not that sort of person. My "yes" means "yes."

<sup>19</sup> Timothy and Silvanus and I have been telling you about Jesus Christ the Son of God. He isn't one to say "yes" when he means "no." He always does exactly what he says. <sup>20</sup> He carries out and fulfills all of God's promises, no matter how many of them there are; and we have told everyone how faithful he is, giving glory to his name. <sup>21</sup> It is this God who has made you and me into faithful Christians and commissioned us apostles to preach the Good News. <sup>22</sup> He has put his brand upon us—his mark of ownership—and given us his Holy Spirit in our hearts as guarantee that we belong to him, and as the first installment of all that he is going to give us.

<sup>23</sup> I call upon this God to witness against me if I am not telling the absolute truth: the reason I haven't come to visit you yet is that I don't want to sadden you with a severe rebuke. <sup>24</sup> When I come, although I can't do much to help your faith, for it is strong already, I want to be able to do something about your joy: I want to make you happy, not sad.

2 "NO," I SAID to myself, "I won't do it. I'll not make them unhappy with another painful visit."

<sup>2</sup> For if I make you sad, who is going to make me happy? You are the ones to do it, and how can you if I cause you pain? <sup>3</sup> That is why I wrote as I did in my last letter, so that you will get things straightened out before I come.<sup>a</sup> Then, when I do come, I will not be made sad by the very ones who ought to give me greatest joy. I felt sure that your happiness was so bound up in mine that you would not be happy either, unless I came with joy.

<sup>4</sup> Oh, how I hated to write that letter! It almost broke my heart and I tell you honestly that I cried over it. I didn't want to hurt you, but I had to show you how very much I loved you and cared about what was happening to you.

<sup>5,6</sup> Remember that the man I wrote about, who caused all the trouble, has not caused sorrow to me as much as to all the rest of you—though I certainly have my share in it too. I don't want to be harder on him than I should. He has been punished enough by your united disapproval. <sup>7</sup> Now it is time to forgive him and comfort him. Otherwise he may become so bitter and discouraged that he won't be able to recover. <sup>8</sup> Please show him now that you still do love him very much.

<sup>9</sup> I wrote to you as I did so that I could find out how far you would go in obeying me. <sup>10</sup> When you forgive anyone, I do too. And whatever I have forgiven (to the extent that this affected me too) has been by Christ's authority, and for your good. <sup>11</sup> A further reason for forgiveness is to keep from being outsmarted by Satan; for we know what he is trying to do.

<sup>12</sup> Well, when I got as far as the city of Troas, the Lord gave me tremendous opportunities to preach the Gospel. <sup>13</sup> But Titus, my dear brother, wasn't there to meet me and I couldn't rest, wondering where he was and what had happened to him. So I said good-bye and went right on to Macedonia to try to find him.

<sup>14</sup> But thanks be to God! For through what Christ has done, he has triumphed over us so that now wherever we go he uses us to tell others about the Lord and to spread the Gospel like a sweet perfume. <sup>15</sup> As far as God is concerned there is a sweet, wholesome fragrance in our lives. It is the fragrance of Christ within us, an aroma to both the saved and the unsaved all around us. <sup>16</sup> To those who are not being saved, we seem a fearful smell of death and doom, while to those who know Christ we are a life-giving perfume. But who is adequate for such a task as this? <sup>17</sup> Only those who, like ourselves, are men of integrity, sent by God, speaking with Christ's power, with God's eye upon us. We are not like those hucksters—and there are many of them—whose idea in getting out the Gospel is to make a good living out of it.

3 ARE WE BEGINNING to be like those false teachers of yours who must tell you all about themselves and bring long letters of recommendation with them? I think you hardly need someone's letter to tell you about us, do you? And we don't need a recommendation from you, either! <sup>2</sup> The only letter I need is you yourselves! By looking at the good change in your hearts, everyone can see that we have done a good work among you. <sup>1</sup> They can see that you are a letter from Christ, written by us. It is not a letter written with pen and ink, but by the Spirit of the living God; not one carved on stone, but in human hearts.

<sup>4</sup> We dare to say these good things about ourselves only because of our great trust in God through Christ, that he will help us to be true to what we say, <sup>5</sup> and not because we think we can do anything of lasting value by ourselves. Our only power and success comes from God. <sup>6</sup> He is the one who has helped us tell others about his new agreement to save them. We do not tell them that they must obey every law of God or die; but we tell them there is life for them from the Holy Spirit. The old way, trying to be saved by keeping the Ten Commandments, ends in death; in the new way, the Holy Spirit gives them life.

<sup>7</sup> Yet that old system of law that led to death began with such glory that people could not bear to look at Moses' face. For as he gave them God's law to obey, his face shone out with the very glory of God—though the brightness was already fading away. <sup>8</sup> Shall we not expect far greater glory in these days when the Holy Spirit is giving life? <sup>9</sup> If the plan that leads to doom was glorious, much more glorious is the plan that makes men right with God.

<sup>10</sup> In fact, that first glory as it shone from Moses' face is worth nothing at all in comparison with the overwhelming glory of the new agreement. <sup>11</sup> So if the old system that faded into nothing was full of heavenly glory, the glory of God's new plan for our salvation<sup>a</sup> is certainly far greater, for it is eternal.

<sup>12</sup> Since we know that this new glory will never go away, we can preach with great boldness, <sup>13</sup> and not as Moses did, who put a veil over his face so that the Israelis could not see the glory fade away.

<sup>14</sup> Not only Moses' face was veiled, but his people's minds and understanding were veiled and blinded too. Even now when the Scripture is read it seems as though Jewish hearts and minds are covered by a thick veil, because they cannot see and understand the real meaning of the Scriptures. For this veil of misunderstanding can be removed only by believing in Christ. <sup>15</sup> Yes, even today when they read Moses' writings their hearts are blind and they think that obeying the Ten Commandments is the way to be saved.

<sup>16</sup> But whenever anyone turns to the Lord from his sins, then the veil is taken away. <sup>17</sup> The Lord is the Spirit who gives them life, and where he is there is freedom [from trying to be saved by keeping the laws of God<sup>a</sup>]. <sup>18</sup> But we Christians have no veil over our faces; we can be mirrors that brightly reflect the glory of the Lord. And as the Spirit of the Lord works within us, we become more and more like him.

4 IT IS GOD himself, in his mercy, who has given us this wonderful work [of telling his Good News to others<sup>a</sup>], and so we never give up.

<sup>1</sup> We do not try to trick people into believing—we are not interested in fooling anyone. We never try to get anyone to believe that the Bible teaches what it doesn't. All such shameful methods we forego. We stand in the presence of God as we speak and so we tell the truth, as all who know us will agree.

<sup>2</sup> If the Good News we preach is hidden to anyone, it is hidden from the one who is on the road to eternal death. <sup>3</sup> Satan, who is the god of this evil world, has made him blind, unable to see the glorious light of the Gospel that is shining upon him, or to understand the amazing message we preach about the glory of Christ, who is God.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>4</sup> We don't go around preaching about ourselves, but about Christ Jesus as Lord. All we say of ourselves is that we are your slaves because of what Jesus has done for us. <sup>5</sup> For God, who said, "Let there be light in the darkness," has made us understand that it is the brightness of his glory that is seen in the face of Jesus Christ.

<sup>6</sup> But this precious treasure—this light and power that now shine within us<sup>c</sup>—is held in a perishable container, that is, in our weak bodies. Everyone can see that the glorious power within must be from God and is not our own.

<sup>7</sup> We are pressed on every side by troubles, but not crushed and broken. We are perplexed because we don't know why things happen as they do, but we don't give up and quit. <sup>8</sup> We are hunted down, but God never abandons us. We get knocked down, but we get up again and keep going. <sup>9</sup> These bodies of ours are constantly facing death just as Jesus did; so it is clear to all that it is only the living Christ within [who keeps us safe].

<sup>10</sup> Yes, we live under constant danger to our lives because we serve the Lord, but this gives us constant opportunities to show forth the power of Jesus Christ within our dying bodies. <sup>11</sup> Because of our preaching we face death, but it has resulted in eternal life for you.

<sup>12</sup> We boldly say what we believe [trusting God to care for us<sup>c</sup>], just as the Psalm writer did when he said, "I believe and therefore I speak." <sup>13</sup> We know that the same God who brought the Lord Jesus back from death will also bring us back to life again with Jesus, and present us to him along with you. <sup>14</sup> These sufferings of ours are for your benefit. And the more of you who are won to Christ, the more there are to thank him for his great kindness, and the more the Lord is glorified.

<sup>15</sup> That is why we never give up. Though our bodies are dying, our inner strength in the Lord is growing every day. <sup>16</sup> These troubles and sufferings of ours are, after all, quite small and won't last very long. Yet this short time of distress will result in God's richest blessing upon us forever and ever!

<sup>17</sup> So we do not look at what we can see right now, the troubles all around us, but we look forward to the joys in heaven which we have not yet seen. The troubles will soon be over, but the joys to come will last forever.

5 FOR WE KNOW that when this tent we live in now is taken down—when we die and leave these bodies—we will have wonderful new bodies in heaven, homes that will be ours forevermore, made for us by God himself, and not by human hands. <sup>2</sup> How weary we grow of our present bodies. That is why we look forward eagerly to the day when we shall have heavenly bodies which we shall put on like new clothes. <sup>3</sup> For we shall not be merely spirits without bodies. <sup>4</sup> These earthly bodies make us groan and sigh, but we wouldn't like to think of dying and having no bodies at all. We want to slip into our new bodies so that these dying bodies will, as it were, be swallowed up by everlasting life. <sup>5</sup> This is what God has prepared for us and, as a guarantee, he has given us his Holy Spirit.

<sup>6</sup> Now we look forward with confidence to our heavenly bodies, realizing that every moment we spend in these earthly bodies is time spent away from our eternal home in heaven with Jesus. <sup>7</sup> We know these things are true by believing, not by seeing. <sup>8</sup> And we are not afraid, but are quite content to die, for then we will be at home with the Lord. <sup>9</sup> So our aim is to please him always in everything we do, whether we are here in this body or away from this body and with him in heaven. <sup>10</sup> For we must all stand before Christ to be judged and have our lives laid bare—before him. Each of us will receive whatever he deserves for the good or bad things he has done in his earthly body.

fear of the Lord, which is ever present in our minds, that we work so hard to win others. God knows our hearts, that they are pure in this matter, and I hope that, deep within, you really know it too.

<sup>12</sup> Are we trying to pat ourselves on the back again? No, I am giving you some good ammunition! You can use this on those preachers of yours who brag about how well they look and preach, but don't have true and honest hearts. You can boast about us that we, at least, are well intentioned and honest. <sup>13,14</sup> Are we insane [to say such things about ourselves<sup>a</sup>]? If so, it is to bring glory to God. And if we are in our right minds, it is for your benefit. Whatever we do, it is certainly not for our own profit, but because Christ's love controls us now. Since we believe that Christ died for all of us, we should also believe that we have died to the old life we used to live. <sup>15</sup> He died for all so that all who live—having received eternal life from him—might live no longer for themselves, to please themselves, but to spend their lives pleasing Christ who died and rose again for them. <sup>16</sup> So stop evaluating Christians by what the world thinks about them or by what they seem to be like on the outside. Once I mistakenly thought of Christ that way, merely as a human being like myself. How differently I feel now! <sup>17</sup> When someone becomes a Christian he becomes a brand new person inside. He is not the same any more. A new life has begun!

<sup>18</sup> All these new things are from God who brought us back to him—self through what Christ Jesus did. And God has given us the privilege of urging everyone to come into his favor and be reconciled to him. <sup>19</sup> For God was in Christ, restoring the world to himself, no longer counting men's sins against them but blotting them out. This is the wonderful message he has given us to tell others. <sup>20</sup> We are Christ's ambassadors. God is using us to speak to you: we beg you, as though Christ himself were here pleading with you, receive the love he offers you—be reconciled to God. <sup>21</sup> For God took the sinless Christ and poured into him our sins. Then, in exchange, he poured God's goodness into us!<sup>b</sup>

6 AS GOD'S PARTNERS we beg you not to toss aside this marvelous message of God's great kindness. <sup>2</sup> For God says, "Your cry came to me at a favorable time, when the doors of welcome were wide open. I helped you on a day when salvation was being offered." Right now God is ready to welcome you. Today he is ready to save you.

<sup>3</sup> We try to live in such a way that no one will ever be offended or kept back from finding the Lord by the way we act, so that no one can find fault with us and blame it on the Lord. <sup>4</sup> In fact, in everything we do we try to show that we are true ministers of God. We patiently endure suffering and hardship and trouble of every kind. <sup>5</sup> We have been beaten, put in jail, faced angry mobs, worked to exhaustion, stayed awake through sleepless nights of watching, and gone without food. <sup>6</sup> We have proved ourselves to be what we claim by our wholesome lives and by our understanding of the Gospel and by our patience. We have been kind and truly loving and filled with the Holy Spirit. <sup>7</sup> We have been truthful, with God's power helping us in all we do. All of the godly man's arsenal—weapons of defense, and weapons of attack—have been ours.

<sup>8</sup> We stand true to the Lord whether others honor us or despise us, whether they criticize us or commend us. We are honest, but they call us liars.

<sup>9</sup> The world ignores us, but we are known to God; we live close to death, but here we are, still very much alive. We have been injured but kept from death. <sup>10</sup> Our hearts ache, but at the same time we have the joy of the Lord. We are poor, but we give rich spiritual gifts to others. We own nothing, and yet we enjoy everything.

<sup>11</sup> Oh, my dear Corinthian friends! I have told you all my feelings; I love you with all my heart.

<sup>12</sup> Any coldness still between us is not because of any lack of love on my part; but because your love is too small and does not reach out to me and draw me in. <sup>13</sup> I am talking to you now as if you truly were my very own children. Open your hearts to us! Return our love!

<sup>14</sup> Don't be teamed with those who do not love the Lord, for what do the people of God have in common with the people of sin? How can light live with darkness? <sup>15</sup> And what harmony can there be between Christ and the devil? How can a Christian be a partner with one who doesn't believe? <sup>14</sup> And what union can there be between God's temple and idols? For you are God's temple, the home of the living God, and God has said of you, "I will live in them and walk among them, and I will be their God and they shall be my people." <sup>17</sup> That is why the Lord has said, "Leave them; separate yourselves from them; don't touch their filthy things, and I will welcome you," and be a Father to you, and you will be my sons and daughters."

7 HAVING SUCH GREAT promises as these, dear friends, let us turn away from everything wrong, whether of body or spirit, and purify ourselves, living in the wholesome fear of God, giving ourselves to him alone. <sup>2</sup> Please open your hearts to us again, for not one of you has suffered any wrong from us. Not one of you was led astray. We have cheated no one nor taken advantage of anyone. <sup>3</sup> I'm not saying this to scold or blame you, for, as I have said before, you are in my heart forever and I live and die with you. <sup>4</sup> I have the highest confidence in you, and my pride in you is great. You have greatly encouraged me; you have made me so happy in spite of all my suffering.

<sup>5</sup> When we arrived in Macedonia there was no rest for us; outside, trouble was on every hand and all around us; within us, our hearts were full of dread and fear. <sup>6</sup> Then God who cheers those who are discouraged refreshed us by the arrival of Titus. <sup>7</sup> Not only was his presence a joy, but also the news that he brought of the wonderful time he had with you. When he told me how much you were looking forward to my visit, and how sorry you were about what had happened, and about your loyalty and warm love for me, well, I overflowed with joy!

<sup>8</sup> I am no longer sorry that I sent that letter to you, though I was very sorry for a time, realizing how painful it would be to you. But it hurt you only for a little while. <sup>9</sup> Now I am glad I sent it, not because it hurt you, but because the pain turned you to God. It was a good kind of sorrow you felt, the kind of sorrow God wants his people to have, so that I need not come to you with harshness. <sup>10</sup> For God sometimes uses sorrow in our lives to help us turn away from sin and seek eternal life. We should never regret his sending it. But the sorrow of the man who is not a Christian is not the sorrow of true repentance and does not prevent eternal death.

<sup>11</sup> Just see how much good this grief from the Lord did for you! You no longer shrugged your shoulders, but became earnest and sincere, and very anxious to get rid of the sin that I wrote you about. You became frightened about what had happened, and longed for me to come and help. You went right to work on the problem and cleared it up [punishing the man who sinned<sup>a</sup>]. You have done everything you could to make it right.

<sup>12</sup> I wrote as I did so the Lord

could show how much you really do care for us. That was my purpose even more than to help the man<sup>b</sup> who sinned, or his father<sup>b</sup> to whom he did the wrong.

<sup>13</sup> In addition to the encouragement you gave us by your love, we were made happier still by Titus' joy when you gave him such a fine welcome and set his mind at ease. <sup>14</sup> I told him how it would be—told him before he left me of my pride in you—and you didn't disappoint me. I have always told you the truth and now my boasting to Titus has also proved true! <sup>15</sup> He loves you more than ever when he remembers the way you listened to him so willingly and received him so anxiously and with such deep concern. <sup>16</sup> How happy this makes me, now that I am sure all is well between us again. Once again I can have perfect confidence in you.

8 NOW I WANT to tell you what God in his grace has done for the churches in Macedonia.

<sup>2</sup> Though they have been going through much trouble and hard times, they have mixed their wonderful joy with their deep poverty, and the result has been an overflow of giving to others. <sup>3</sup> They gave not only what they could afford, but far more; and I can testify that they did it because they wanted to, and not because of nagging on my part. <sup>4</sup> They begged us to take the money so they could share in the joy of helping the Christians in Jerusalem. <sup>5</sup> Best of all, they went beyond our highest hopes, for their first action was to dedicate themselves to the Lord and to us, for whatever directions God might give to them through us. <sup>6</sup> They were so enthusiastic about it that we have urged Titus, who encouraged your giving in the first place, to visit you and encourage you to complete your share in this ministry of giving. <sup>7</sup> You people there are leaders in so many ways—you have so much faith, so many good preachers, so much learning, so much enthusiasm, so much love for us. Now I want you to be leaders also in the spirit of cheerful giving. <sup>8</sup> I am not giving you an order; I am not saying you must do it, but others are eager for it. This is one way to prove that your love is real, that it goes beyond mere words.

<sup>9</sup> You know how full of love and kindness our Lord Jesus was: though he was so very rich, yet to help you he became so very poor, so that by being poor he could make you rich.

<sup>10</sup> I want to suggest that you finish what you started to do a year ago, for you were not only the first to propose this idea, but the first to begin doing something about it. <sup>11</sup> Having started the ball rolling so enthusiastically, you should carry this project through to completion just as gladly, giving whatever you can out of whatever you have. Let your enthusiastic idea at the start be equalled by your realistic action now. <sup>12</sup> If you are really eager to give, then it isn't important how much you have to give. God wants you to give what you have, not what you haven't.

those who receive your gifts should have an easy time of it at your expense, <sup>14</sup> but you should divide with them. Right now you have plenty and can help them; then at some other time they can share with you when you need it. In this way each will have as much as he needs. <sup>15</sup> Do you remember what the Scriptures say about this? "He that gathered much had nothing left over, and he that gathered little had enough." So you also should share with those in need.

<sup>16</sup> I am thankful to God that he has given Titus the same real concern for you that I have. <sup>17</sup> He is glad to follow my suggestion that he visit you again—but I think he would have come anyway, for he is very eager to see you! <sup>18</sup> I am sending another well-known brother with him, who is highly praised as a preacher of the Good News in all the churches. <sup>19</sup> In fact, this man was elected by the churches to travel with me to take the gift to Jerusalem. This will glorify the Lord and show our eagerness to help each other. <sup>20</sup> By traveling together we will guard against any suspicion, for we are anxious that no one should find fault with the way we are handling this large gift. <sup>21</sup> God knows we are honest, but I want everyone else to know it too. That is why we have made this arrangement.

<sup>22</sup> And I am sending you still another brother, whom we know from experience to be an earnest Christian. He is especially interested, as he looks forward to this trip, because I have told him all about your eagerness to help.

say that he is my partner, my helper in helping you, and you can also say that the other two brothers represent the assemblies here and are splendid examples of those who belong to the Lord. <sup>24</sup> Please show your love for me to these men and do for them all that I have publicly boasted you would.

9 I REALIZE THAT I really don't even need to mention this to you, about helping God's people. <sup>2</sup> For I know how eager you are to do it, and I have boasted to the friends in Macedonia that you were ready to send an offering a year ago. In fact, it was this enthusiasm of yours that stirred up many of them to begin helping. <sup>3</sup> But I am sending these men just to be sure that you really are ready, as I told them you would be, with your money all collected; I don't want it to turn out that this time I was wrong in my boasting about you. <sup>4</sup> I would be very much ashamed—and so would you—if some of these Macedonian people come with me, only to find that you still aren't ready after all I have told them!

<sup>5</sup> So I have asked these other brothers to arrive ahead of me to see that the gift you promised is on hand and waiting. I want it to be a real gift and not look as if it were being given under pressure. <sup>6</sup> But remember this—if you give little, you will get little. A farmer who plants just a few seeds will get only a small crop, but if he plants much, he will reap much. <sup>7</sup> Every one must make up his own mind as to how much he should give. Don't force anyone to give more than he really wants to, for cheerful givers are the ones God prizes. <sup>8</sup> God is able to make it up to you by giving you everything you need and more, so that there will not only be enough for your own needs, but plenty left over to give joyfully to others. <sup>9</sup> It is as the Scriptures say: "The godly man gives generously to the poor. His good deeds will be an honor to him forever."

<sup>10</sup> For God, who gives seed to the farmer to plant, and later on, good crops to harvest and eat, will give you more and more seed to plant and will make it grow so that you can give away more and more fruit from your harvest.

<sup>11</sup> Yes, God will give you much so that you can give away much, and when we take your gifts to those who need them they will break out into thanksgiving and praise to God for your help. <sup>12</sup> So, two good things happen as a result of your gifts—those in need are helped, and they overflow with thanks to God. <sup>13</sup> Those you help will be glad not only because of your generous gifts to themselves and to others, but they will praise God for this proof that your deeds are as good as your doctrine. <sup>14</sup> And they will pray for you with deep fervor and feeling because of the wonderful grace of God shown through you. <sup>15</sup> Thank God for his Son—his Gift too wonderful for words.

10 I PLEAD WITH you—yes, I, Paul—and I plead gently, as Christ himself would do. Yet some of you are saying, "Paul's letters are bold enough when he is far away, but when he gets here he will be afraid to raise his voice!"

<sup>2</sup> I hope I won't need to show you when I come how harsh and rough I can be. I don't want to carry out my present plans against some of you who seem to think my deeds and words are merely those of an ordinary man. <sup>3</sup> It is true that I am an ordinary, weak human being, but I don't use human plans and methods to win my battles. <sup>4</sup> I use God's mighty weapons, not those made by men, to knock down the devil's strongholds. <sup>5</sup> These weapons can break down every proud argument against God and every wall that can be built to keep men from finding him. With these weapons I can capture rebels and bring them back to God, and change them into men whose hearts' desire is obedience to Christ. <sup>6</sup> I will use these weapons against every rebel who remains after I have first used them on you yourselves, and you surrender to Christ.

<sup>7</sup> The trouble with you is that you look at me and I seem weak and powerless, but you don't look beneath the surface. Yet if anyone can claim the power and authority of Christ, I certainly can. <sup>8</sup> I may seem to be boasting more than I should about my authority over you—authority to help you, not to hurt you—but I shall make good every claim. <sup>9</sup> I say this so that you will not think I am just blustering when I scold you in my letters.

<sup>10</sup> "Don't bother about his letters," some say. "He sounds big, but it's all noise. When he gets here you will see that there is nothing great about him, and you have never heard a worse preacher!"

<sup>11</sup> This time my personal presence is going to be just as rough on you as my letters are!

<sup>12</sup> Oh, don't worry, I wouldn't dare say that I am as wonderful as these other men who tell you how good they are! Their trouble is that they are only comparing themselves with each other, and measuring themselves against their own little ideas. What stupidity!

<sup>13</sup> But we will not boast of authority we do not have. Our goal is to measure up to God's plan for us, and this plan includes our working there with you. <sup>14</sup> We are not going too far when we claim authority over you, for we were the first to come to you with the Good News concerning Christ. <sup>15</sup> It is not as though we were trying to claim credit for the work someone else has done among you. Instead, we hope that your faith will grow and that, still within the limits set for us, our work among you will be greatly enlarged.

<sup>16</sup> After that, we will be able to preach the Good News to other cities that are far beyond you, where no one else is working; then there will be no question about being in someone else's field. <sup>17</sup> As the Scriptures say, "If anyone is going to boast, let him boast about what the Lord has done and not about himself." <sup>18</sup> When someone boasts about himself and how well he has done, it doesn't count for much. But when the Lord commends him, that's different!

11 I HOPE YOU will be patient with me as I keep on talking like a fool. Do bear with me and let me say what is on my heart. <sup>2</sup> I am anxious for you with the deep concern of God himself—anxious that your love should be for Christ alone, just as a pure maiden saves her love for one man only, for the one who will be her husband. <sup>3</sup> But I am frightened, fearing that in some way you will be led away from your pure and simple devotion to our Lord, just as Eve was deceived by Satan in the Garden of Eden. <sup>4</sup> You seem so gullible: you believe whatever anyone tells you even if he is preaching about another Jesus than the one we preach, or a different spirit than the Holy Spirit you received, or shows you a different way to be saved. You swallow it all.

<sup>5</sup> Yet I don't feel that these marvelous "messengers from God," as they call themselves, are any better than I am. <sup>6</sup> If I am a poor speaker, at least I know what I am talking about, as I think you realize by now, for we have proved it again and again.

<sup>7</sup> Did I do wrong and cheapen myself and make you look down on me because I preached God's Good News to you without charging you anything? <sup>8</sup> Instead I "robbed" other churches by taking what they sent me, and using it up while I was with you, so that I could serve you without cost. And when that was gone<sup>a</sup> and I was getting hungry I still didn't ask you for anything, for the Christians from Macedonia brought me another gift. I have never yet asked you for one cent, and I never will. <sup>10</sup> I promise this with every ounce of truth I possess—that I will tell everyone in Greece about it! <sup>11</sup> Why? Because I don't love you? God knows I do. <sup>12</sup> But I will do it to cut out the ground from under the feet of those who boast that they are doing God's work in just the same way we are.

<sup>13</sup> God never sent those men at all; they are "phonies" who have fooled you into thinking they are Christ's apostles. <sup>14</sup> Yet I am not surprised! Satan can change himself into an angel of light, <sup>15</sup> so is it no wonder his servants can do it too, and seem like godly ministers. In the end they will get every bit of punishment their wicked deeds deserve.

<sup>16</sup> Again I plead, don't think that I have lost my wits to talk like this; but even if you do, listen to me anyway—a witless man, a fool—while I also boast a little as they do. <sup>17</sup> Such bragging isn't something the Lord commanded me to do, for I am acting like a brainless fool. <sup>18</sup> Yet those other men keep telling you how wonderful they are, so here I go: <sup>19,20</sup> (You think you are so wise—yet you listen gladly to those fools; you don't mind at all when they make you their slaves and take everything you have, and take advantage of you, and put on airs, and slap you in the face. <sup>21</sup> I'm ashamed to say that I'm not strong and daring like that! But whatever they can boast about—I'm talking like a fool again—I can boast about it, too.)

<sup>22</sup> They brag that they are Hebrews, do they? Well, so am I. And they say that they are Israelites, God's chosen people? So am I. And they are descendants of Abraham? Well, I am too.

<sup>23</sup> They say they serve Christ? But I have served him far more!

(Have I gone mad to boast like this?) I have worked harder, been put in jail oftener, been whipped times without number, and faced death again and again and again. <sup>24</sup> Five different times the Jews gave me their terrible thirty-nine lashes. <sup>25</sup> Three times I was beaten with rods. Once I was stoned. Three times I was shipwrecked. Once I was in the open sea all night and the whole next day. <sup>26</sup> I have traveled many weary miles and have been often in great danger from flooded rivers, and from robbers, and from my own people, the Jews, as well as from the hands of the Gentiles. I have faced grave dangers from mobs in the cities and from death in the deserts and in the stormy seas and from men who claim to be brothers in Christ but are not. <sup>27</sup> I have lived with weariness and pain and sleepless nights. Often I have been hungry and thirsty and have gone without food; often I have shivered with cold, without enough clothing to keep me warm.

<sup>28</sup> Then, besides all this, I have the constant worry of how the churches are getting along: <sup>29</sup> Who makes a mistake and I do not feel his sadness? Who falls without my longing to help him? Who is spiritually hurt without my fury rising against the one who hurt him?

<sup>30</sup> But if I must brag, I would rather brag about the things that show how weak I am. <sup>31</sup> God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is to be praised forever and ever, knows I tell the truth. <sup>32</sup> For instance, in Damascus the governor under King Aretas kept guards at the city gates to catch me; <sup>33</sup> but I was let down by rope and basket from a hole in the city wall, and so I got away! [What popularity!<sup>b</sup>]

12 THIS BOASTING IS all so foolish, but let me go on. Let me tell about the visions I've had, and revelations from the Lord.

<sup>13</sup> Fourteen years ago I<sup>a</sup> was taken up to heaven<sup>b</sup> for a visit. Don't ask me whether my body was there or just my spirit, for I don't know; only God can answer that. But anyway, there I was in paradise, <sup>4</sup> and heard things so astounding that they are beyond a man's power to describe or put in words (and anyway I am not allowed to tell them to others). <sup>5</sup> That experience is something worth bragging about, but I am not going to do it. I am going to boast only about how weak I am and how great God is to use such weakness for his glory. <sup>6</sup> I have plenty to boast about and would be no fool in doing it, but I don't want anyone to think more highly of me than he should from what he can actually see in my life and my message.

<sup>7</sup> I will say this: because these experiences I had were so tremendous, God was afraid I might be puffed up by them; so I was given a physical condition which has been a thorn in my flesh, a messenger from Satan to hurt and bother me, and prick my pride. <sup>8</sup> Three different times I begged God to make me well again.

<sup>9</sup> Each time he said, "No. But I am with you; that is all you need. My power shows up best in weak people." Now I am glad to boast about how weak I am; I am glad to be a living demonstration of Christ's power, instead of showing off my own power and abilities. <sup>10</sup> Since I know it is all for Christ's good, I am quite happy about "the thorn," and about insults and hardships, persecutions and difficulties; for when I am weak, then I am strong—the less I have, the more I depend on him.

<sup>11</sup> You have made me act like a fool—boasting like this—for you people ought to be writing about me and not making me write about myself. There isn't a single thing these other marvelous fellows have that I don't have too, even though I am really worth nothing at all. <sup>12</sup> When I was there I certainly gave you every proof that I was truly an apostle, sent to you by God himself: for I patiently did many wonders and signs and mighty works among you. <sup>13</sup> The only thing I didn't do for you, that I do everywhere else in all other churches, was to become a burden to you—I didn't ask you to give me food to eat and a place to stay. Please forgive me for this wrong!

<sup>14</sup> Now I am coming to you again, the third time; and it is still not going to cost you anything, for I don't want your money. I want you! And anyway, you are my children, and little children don't pay for their father's and mother's food—it's the other way around; parents supply food for their children. <sup>15</sup> I am glad to give you myself and all I have for your spiritual good, even though it seems that the more I love you, the less you love me.

<sup>16</sup> Some of you are saying, "It's true that his visits didn't seem to cost us anything, but he is a sneaky fellow, that Paul, and he fooled us. As sure as anything he must have made money from us some way."

<sup>17</sup> But how? Did any of the men I sent to you take advantage of you?

<sup>18</sup> When I urged Titus to visit you, and sent our other brother with him, did they make any profit? No, of course not. For we have the same Holy Spirit, and walk in each other's steps, doing things the same way.

<sup>19</sup> I suppose you think I am saying all this to get back into your good graces. That isn't it at all. I tell you, with God listening as I say it, that I have said this to help you, dear friends—to build you up spiritually and not to help myself.

<sup>20</sup> For I am afraid that when I come to visit you I won't like what I find, and then you won't like the way I will have to act. I am afraid that I will find you quarreling, and envying each other, and being angry with each other, and acting big, and saying wicked things about each other and whispering behind each other's backs, filled with conceit and disunity. <sup>21</sup> Yes, I am afraid that when I come God will humble me before you and I will be sad and mourn because many of you who have sinned became sinners and don't even care about the wicked, impure things you have done: your lust and immorality, and the taking of other men's wives.

13 THIS IS THE third time I am coming to visit you. The Scriptures tell us that if two or three have seen a wrong, it must be punished. [Well, this is my third warning, as I come now for this visit.<sup>a</sup>]

<sup>2</sup> I have already warned those who had been sinning when I was there last; now I warn them again, and all others, just as I did then, that this time I come ready to punish severely and I will not spare them.

<sup>3</sup> I will give you all the proof you want that Christ speaks through me. Christ is not weak in his dealings with you, but is a mighty power within you. <sup>4</sup> His weak, human body died on the cross, but now he lives by the mighty power of God. We, too, are weak in our bodies, as he was, but now we live and are strong, as he is, and have all of God's power to use in dealing with you.

<sup>5</sup> Check up on yourselves. Are you really Christians? Do you pass the test? Do you feel Christ's presence and power more and more within you? Or are you just pretending to be Christians when actually you aren't at all? <sup>6</sup> I hope you can agree that I have stood that test and truly belong to the Lord.

<sup>7</sup> I pray that you will live good lives, not because that will be a feather in our caps<sup>b</sup>, proving that what we teach is right; no, for we want you to do right even if we ourselves are despised. <sup>8</sup> Our responsibility is to encourage the right at all times, not to hope for evil.<sup>c</sup> <sup>9</sup> We are glad to be weak and despised if you are really strong. Our greatest wish and prayer is that you will become mature Christians.

<sup>10</sup> I am writing this to you now in the hope that I won't need to scold and punish when I come; for I want to use the Lord's authority which he has given me, not to punish you but to make you strong.

<sup>11</sup> I close my letter with these last words:

Be happy.

Grow in Christ.

Pay attention to what I have said.

Live in harmony and peace. And may the God of love and peace be with you.

<sup>12</sup> Greet each other warmly in the Lord. <sup>13</sup> All the Christians here send you their best regards. <sup>14</sup> May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. May God's love and the Holy Spirit's friendship be yours.

Paul

GALATIANS

1 FROM: PAUL THE missionary and all the other Christians here.

To: The churches of Galatia.<sup>a</sup>

I was not called to be a missionary by any group or agency. My call is from Jesus Christ himself, and from God the Father who raised him from the dead. <sup>1</sup> May peace and blessing be yours from God the Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>2</sup> He died for our sins just as God our Father planned, and rescued us from this evil world in which we live. <sup>3</sup> All glory to God through all the ages of eternity. Amen.

<sup>4</sup> I am amazed that you are turning away so soon from God who, in his love and mercy, invited you to share the eternal life he gives through Christ; you are already following a different "way to heaven," which really doesn't go to heaven at all. <sup>5</sup> For there is no other way than the one we showed you; you are being fooled by those who twist and change the truth concerning Christ.

<sup>6</sup> Let God's curses fall on anyone, including myself, who preaches any other way to be saved than the one we told you about; yes, if an angel comes from heaven and preaches any other message, let him be forever cursed. <sup>7</sup> I will say it again: if anyone preaches any other Gospel than the one you welcomed, let God's curse fall upon him.

<sup>8</sup> You can see that I am not trying to please you by sweet talk and flattery; no, I am trying to please God. If I were still trying to please men I could not be Christ's servant.

<sup>9</sup> Dear friends, I solemnly swear that the way to heaven which I preach is not based on some mere human whim or dream. <sup>10</sup> For my message comes from no less a person than Jesus Christ himself, who told me what to say. No one else has taught me.

<sup>a</sup> Galatia was a province in what is now called Turkey.

<sup>13</sup> You know what I was like when I followed the Jewish religion—how I went after the Christians mercilessly, hunting them down and doing my best to get rid of them all. <sup>14</sup> I was one of the most religious Jews of my own age in the whole country, and tried as hard as I possibly could to follow all the old, traditional rules of my religion.

<sup>15</sup> But then something happened! For even before I was born God had chosen me to be his, and called me—what kindness and grace—<sup>16</sup> to reveal his Son within me so that I could go to the Gentiles and show them the Good News about Jesus.

When all this happened to me I didn't go at once and talk it over with anyone else; <sup>17</sup> I didn't go up to Jerusalem to consult with those who were apostles before I was. No, I went away into the deserts of Arabia, and then came back to the city of Damascus. <sup>18</sup> It was not until three years later that I finally went to Jerusalem for a visit with Peter, and stayed there with him for fifteen days.

<sup>19</sup> And the only other apostle I met at that time was James, our Lord's brother. <sup>20</sup> (Listen to what I am saying, for I am telling you this in the very presence of God. This is exactly what happened—I am not lying to you.) <sup>21</sup> Then after this visit I went to Syria and Cilicia. <sup>22</sup> And still the Christians in Judea didn't even know what I looked like. <sup>23</sup> All they knew was what people were saying, that "our former enemy is now preaching the very faith he tried to wreck." <sup>24</sup> And they gave glory to God because of me.

2 THEN FOURTEEN YEARS later I went back to Jerusalem again, this time with Barnabas; and Titus came along too. <sup>2</sup> I went there with definite orders from God to confer with the brothers there about the message I was preaching to the Gentiles. I talked privately to the leaders of the church so that they would all understand just what I had been teaching and, I hoped, agree that it was right. <sup>3</sup> And they did agree; they did not even demand that Titus, my companion, should be circumcised, though he was a Gentile.

<sup>4</sup> Even that question wouldn't have come up except for some so-called "Christians" there—false ones, really—who came to spy on us and see what freedom we enjoyed in Christ Jesus, as to whether we obeyed the Jewish laws or not. They tried to get us all tied up in their rules, like slaves in chains. <sup>5</sup> But we did not listen to them for a single moment, for we did not want to confuse you into thinking that salvation can be earned by being circumcised and by obeying Jewish laws.

<sup>6</sup> And the great leaders of the church who were there had nothing to add to what I was preaching. (By the way, their being great leaders made no difference to me, for all are the same to God.) <sup>7,8,9</sup> In fact, when Peter, James, and John, who were known as the pillars of the church, saw how greatly God had used me in winning the Gentiles, just as Peter had been blessed so greatly in his preaching to the Jews—for the same God gave us each our special gifts—they shook hands with Barnabas and me and encouraged us to keep right on with our preaching to the Gentiles while they continued their work with the Jews. <sup>10</sup> The only thing they did suggest was that we must always remember to help the poor, and I, too, was eager for that.

<sup>11</sup> But when Peter came to Antioch I had to oppose him publicly, speaking strongly against what he was doing for it was very wrong.

<sup>12</sup> For when he first arrived he ate with the Gentile Christians [who don't bother with circumcision and the many other Jewish laws<sup>a</sup>]. But afterwards when some Jewish friends of James came, he wouldn't eat with the Gentiles anymore because he was afraid of what these Jewish legalists, who insisted that circumcision was necessary for salvation, would say; <sup>13</sup> and then all the other Jewish Christians and even Barnabas became hypocrites too, following Peter's example, though they certainly knew better.

<sup>14</sup> When I saw what was happening and that they weren't being honest about what they really believed, and weren't following the truth of the Gospel, I said to Peter in front of all the others, "Though you are a Jew by birth, you have long since discarded the Jewish laws; so why, all of a sudden, are you trying to make these Gentiles obey them?"

<sup>15</sup> You and I are Jews by birth, not mere Gentile sinners, <sup>16</sup> and yet we Jewish Christians know very well that we cannot become right with God by obeying our Jewish laws, but only by faith in Jesus Christ to take away our sins. And so we, too, have trusted Jesus Christ, that we might be accepted by God because of faith—and not because we have obeyed the Jewish laws. For no one will ever be saved by obeying them."

<sup>17</sup> But what if we trust Christ to save us and then find that we are wrong, and that we cannot be saved without being circumcised and obeying all the other Jewish laws? Wouldn't we need to say that faith in Christ had ruined us? God forbid that anyone should dare to think such things about our Lord.

<sup>18</sup> Rather, we are sinners if we start rebuilding the old systems I have been destroying, of trying to be saved by keeping Jewish laws, <sup>19</sup> for it was through reading the Scripture that I came to realize that I could never find God's favor by trying—and failing—to obey the laws. I came to realize that acceptance with God comes by believing in Christ.<sup>b</sup>

<sup>20</sup> I have been crucified with Christ; and I myself no longer live, but Christ lives in me. And the real life I now have within this body is a result of my trusting in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. <sup>21</sup> I am not one of those who treats Christ's death as meaningless. For if we could be saved by keeping Jewish laws, then there was no need for Christ to die.

3 OH, FOOLISH GALATIANS! What magician has hypnotized you and cast an evil spell upon you? For you used to see the meaning of Jesus Christ's death as clearly as though

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "For I through the law died unto the law, that I might live unto

I had waved a placard before you with a picture on it of Christ dying on the cross.<sup>2</sup> Let me ask you this one question: Did you receive the Holy Spirit by trying to keep the Jewish laws? Of course not, for the Holy Spirit came upon you only after you heard about Christ and trusted him to save you.<sup>3</sup> Then have you gone completely crazy? For if trying to obey the Jewish laws never gave you spiritual life in the first place, why do you think that trying to obey them now will make you stronger Christians?<sup>4</sup> You have suffered so much for the Gospel. Now are you going to just throw it all overboard? I can hardly believe it!

<sup>5</sup> I ask you again, does God give you the power of the Holy Spirit and work miracles among you as a result of your trying to obey the Jewish laws? No, of course not. It is when you believe in Christ and fully trust him.

<sup>6</sup> Abraham had the same experience—God declared him fit for heaven only because he believed God's promises.<sup>7</sup> You can see from this that the real children of Abraham are all the men of faith who truly trust in God.

<sup>8,9</sup> What's more, the Scriptures looked forward to this time when God would save the Gentiles also, through their faith. God told Abraham about this long ago when he said, "I will bless those in every nation who trust in me as you do." And so it is: all who trust in Christ share the same blessing Abraham received.

<sup>10</sup> Yes, and those who depend on the Jewish laws to save them are under God's curse, for the Scriptures point out very clearly, "Cursed is everyone who at any time breaks a single one of these laws that are written in God's Book of the Law."<sup>11</sup> Consequently, it is clear that no one can ever win God's favor by trying to keep the Jewish laws, because God has said that the only way we can be right in his sight is by faith. As the prophet Habakkuk says it, "The man who finds life will find it through trusting God."<sup>12</sup> How different from this way of faith is the way of law which says that a man is saved by obeying every law of God, without one slip.<sup>13</sup> But Christ has bought us out from under the doom of that impossible system by taking the curse for our wrongdoing upon himself. For it is written in the Scripture, "Anyone who is hanged on a tree is cursed" [as Jesus was hung upon a wooden cross<sup>a</sup>].

<sup>14</sup> Now God can bless the Gentiles, too, with this same blessing he promised to Abraham; and all of us as Christians can have the promised Holy Spirit through this faith.<sup>15</sup> Dear brothers, even in everyday life a promise made by one man to another, if it is written down and signed, cannot be changed. He cannot decide afterward to do something else instead.

<sup>16</sup> Now, God gave some promises to Abraham and his Child. And notice that it doesn't say the promises were to his children, as it would if all his sons—all the Jews—were being spoken of, but to his Child—and that, of course, means

Christ. <sup>17</sup> Here's what I am trying to say: God's promise to save through faith—and God wrote this promise down and signed it—could not be canceled or changed four hundred and thirty years later when God gave the Ten Commandments. <sup>18</sup> If obeying those laws could save us, then it is obvious that this would be a different way of gaining God's favor than Abraham's way, for he simply accepted God's promise.

<sup>19</sup> Well then, why were the laws given? They were added after the promise was given, to show men how guilty they are of breaking God's laws. But this system of law was to last only until the coming of Christ, the Child to whom God's promise was made. (And there is this further difference. God gave his laws to angels to give to Moses, who then gave them to the people; <sup>20</sup> but when God gave his promise to Abraham, he did it by himself alone, without angels or Moses as go-betweens.)

<sup>21,22</sup> Well then, are God's laws and God's promises against each other? Of course not! If we could be saved by his laws, then God would not have had to give us a different way to get out of the grip of sin—for the Scriptures insist we are all its prisoners. The only way out is through faith in Jesus Christ; the way of escape is open to all who believe him.

<sup>23</sup> Until Christ came we were guarded by the law, kept in protective custody, so to speak, until we could believe in the coming Savior.

<sup>24</sup> Let me put it another way. The Jewish laws were our teacher and guide until Christ came to give us right standing with God through our faith. <sup>25</sup> But now that Christ has come, we don't need those laws any longer to guard us and lead us to him. <sup>26</sup> For now we are all children of God through faith in Jesus Christ, <sup>27</sup> and we who have been baptized into union with Christ are enveloped by him. <sup>28</sup> We are no longer Jews or Greeks or slaves or free men or even merely men or women, but we are all the same—we are Christians; we are one in Christ Jesus. <sup>29</sup> And now that we are Christ's we are the true descendants of Abraham, and all of God's promises to him belong to us.

4 BUT REMEMBER THIS, that if a father dies and leaves great wealth for his little son, that child is not much better off than a slave until he grows up, even though he actually owns everything his father had. <sup>2</sup> He has to do what his guardians and managers tell him to, until he reaches whatever age his father set.

<sup>3</sup> And that is the way it was with us before Christ came. We were slaves to Jewish laws and rituals for we thought they could save us. <sup>4</sup> But when the right time came, the time God decided on, he sent his Son, born of a woman, born as a Jew, <sup>5</sup> to buy freedom for us who were slaves to the law so that he could adopt us as his very own sons. <sup>6</sup> And because we are his sons God has sent the Spirit of his Son into our hearts, so now we can rightly speak of God as our dear Father. <sup>7</sup> Now we are no longer slaves, but God's own sons. And since we are his sons, everything he has belongs to us, for that is the way God planned.

<sup>8</sup> Before you Gentiles knew God you were slaves to so-called gods that did not even exist. <sup>9</sup> And now that you have found God (or I should say, now that God has found you) how can it be that you want to go back again and become slaves once more to another poor, weak, useless religion of trying to get to heaven by obeying God's laws? <sup>10</sup> You are trying to find favor with God by what you do or don't do on certain days or months or seasons or years. <sup>11</sup> I fear for you. I am afraid that all my hard work for you was worth nothing.

<sup>12</sup> Dear brothers, please feel as I do about these things, for I am as free from these chains as you used to be. You did not despise me then when I first preached to you, <sup>13</sup> even though I was sick when I first brought you the Good News of Christ. <sup>14</sup> But even though my sickness was revolting to you, you didn't reject me and turn me away. No, you took me in and cared for me as though I were an angel from God, or even Jesus Christ himself.

<sup>15</sup> Where is that happy spirit that we felt together then? For in those days I know you would gladly have taken out your own eyes and given them to replace mine<sup>a</sup> if that would have helped me.

<sup>16</sup> And now have I become your enemy because I tell you the truth?

<sup>17</sup> Those false teachers who are so anxious to win your favor are not doing it for your good. What they are trying to do is to shut you off from me so that you will pay more attention to them. <sup>18</sup> It is a fine thing when people are nice to you with good motives and sincere hearts, especially if they aren't doing it just when I am with you! <sup>19</sup> Oh, my children, how you are hurting me! I am once again suffering for you the pains of a mother waiting for her child to be born—longing for the time when you will finally be filled with Christ. <sup>20</sup> How I wish I could be there with you right now and not have to reason with you like this, for at this distance I frankly don't know what to do.

<sup>21</sup> Listen to me, you friends who think you have to obey the Jewish laws to be saved: Why don't you find out what those laws really mean? <sup>22</sup> For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one from his slave-wife and one from his free-born wife. <sup>23</sup> There was nothing unusual about the birth of the slave-wife's baby. But the baby of the freeborn wife was born only after God had especially promised he would come.

<sup>24,25</sup> Now this true story is an illustration of God's two ways of helping people. One way was by giving them his laws to obey. He did this on Mount Sinai, when he gave the Ten Commandments to Moses. Mount Sinai, by the way, is called "Mount Hagar" by the Arabs—and in my illustration Abraham's slave-wife Hagar represents Jerusalem, the mother-city of the Jews, the center of that system of trying to please God by trying to obey the Commandments; and the Jews, who try to follow that system, are her slave children. <sup>26</sup> But our mother-city is the heavenly Jerusalem, and she is not a slave to Jewish

<sup>27</sup> That is what Isaiah meant when he prophesied, "Now you can rejoice, O childless woman; you can shout with joy though you never before had a child. For I am going to give you many children—more children than the slave-wife has."

<sup>28</sup> You and I, dear brothers, are the children that God promised, just as Isaac was. <sup>29</sup> And so we who are born of the Holy Spirit are persecuted now by those who want us to keep the Jewish laws, just as Isaac the child of promise was persecuted by Ishmael the slave-wife's son.

<sup>30</sup> But the Scriptures say that God told Abraham to send away the slave-wife and her son, for the slave-wife's son could not inherit Abraham's home and lands along with the free woman's son. <sup>31</sup> Dear brothers, we are not slave children, obligated to the Jewish laws, but children of the free woman, acceptable to God because of our faith.

5 SO CHRIST HAS made us free.

Now make sure that you stay free and don't get all tied up again in the chains of slavery to Jewish laws and ceremonies. <sup>2</sup> Listen to me, for this is serious: if you are counting on circumcision and keeping the Jewish laws to make you right with God, then Christ cannot save you. <sup>3</sup> I'll say it again. Anyone trying to find favor with God by being circumcised must always obey every other Jewish law or perish. <sup>4</sup> Christ is useless to you if you are counting on clearing your debt to God by keeping those laws; you are lost from God's grace.

<sup>5</sup> But we by the help of the Holy Spirit are counting on Christ's death to clear away our sins and make us right with God. <sup>6</sup> And we to whom Christ has given eternal life don't need to worry about whether we have been circumcised or not, or whether we are obeying the Jewish ceremonies or not; for all we need is faith working through love.

<sup>7</sup> You were getting along so well. Who has interfered with you to hold you back from following the truth? <sup>8</sup> It certainly isn't God who has done it, for he is the one who has called you to freedom in Christ.

<sup>9</sup> But it takes only one wrong person among you to infect all the others.

<sup>10</sup> I am trusting the Lord to bring you back to believing as I do about these things. God will deal with that person, whoever he is, who has been troubling and confusing you.

<sup>11</sup> Some people even say that I myself am preaching that circumcision and Jewish laws are necessary to the plan of salvation. Well, if I preached that, I would be persecuted no more—for that message doesn't offend anyone. The fact that I am still being persecuted proves that I am still preaching salvation through faith in the cross of Christ alone.

<sup>12</sup> I only wish these teachers who want you to cut yourselves by being circumcised would cut themselves off from you and leave you alone!<sup>a</sup>

<sup>13</sup> For, dear brothers, you have been given freedom: not freedom to do wrong, but freedom to love and serve each other. <sup>14</sup> For the whole a Or, "Would that those disturbing you would go and castrate themselves."

Law can be summed up in this one command: "Love others as you love yourself." <sup>15</sup> But if instead of showing love among yourselves you are always critical and catty, watch out! Beware of ruining each other.

<sup>16</sup> I advise you to obey only the Holy Spirit's instructions. He will tell you where to go and what to do, and then you won't always be doing the wrong things your evil nature wants you to. <sup>17</sup> For we naturally love to do evil things that are just the opposite from the things that the Holy Spirit tells us to do; and the good things we want to do when the Spirit has his way with us are just the opposite of our natural desires. These two forces within us are constantly fighting each other to win control over us, and our wishes are never free from their pressures. <sup>18</sup> When you are guided by the Holy Spirit you need no longer force yourself to obey Jewish laws.

<sup>19</sup> But when you follow your own wrong inclinations your lives will produce these evil results: impure thoughts, eagerness for lustful pleasure, <sup>20</sup> idolatry, spiritism (that is, encouraging the activity of demons), hatred and fighting, jealousy and anger, constant effort to get the best for yourself, complaints and criticisms, the feeling that everyone else is wrong except those in your own little group—and there will be wrong doctrine, <sup>21</sup> envy, murder, drunkenness, wild parties, and all that sort of thing. Let me tell you again as I have before, that anyone living that sort of life will not inherit the kingdom of God.

<sup>22</sup> But when the Holy Spirit controls our lives he will produce this kind of fruit in us: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, <sup>23</sup> gentleness and self-control; and here there is no conflict with Jewish laws.

<sup>24</sup> Those who belong to Christ have nailed their natural evil desires to his cross and crucified them there.

<sup>25</sup> If we are living now by the Holy Spirit's power, let us follow the Holy Spirit's leading in every part of our lives. <sup>26</sup> Then we won't need to look for honors and popularity, which lead to jealousy and hard feelings.

6 DEAR BROTHERS, IF a Christian is overcome by some sin, you who are godly should gently and humbly help him back onto the right path, remembering that next time it might be one of you who is in the wrong. <sup>2</sup> Share each other's troubles and problems, and so obey our Lord's command. <sup>3</sup> If anyone thinks he is too great to stoop to this, he is fooling himself. He is really a nobody.

<sup>4</sup> Let everyone be sure that he is doing his very best, for then he will have the personal satisfaction of work well done, and won't need to compare himself with someone else. <sup>5</sup> Each of us must bear some faults and burdens of his own. For none of us is perfect!

<sup>6</sup> Those who are taught the Word of God should help their teachers by paying them.

<sup>7</sup> Don't be misled; remember that you can't ignore God and get away with it: a man will always reap just the kind of crop he sows!

<sup>8</sup> If he sows to please his own wrong desires, he will be planting seeds of evil and he will surely reap a harvest of spiritual decay and death; but if he plants the good things of the Spirit, he will reap the everlasting life which the Holy Spirit gives him. <sup>9</sup> And let us not get tired of doing what is right, for after a while we will reap a harvest of blessing if we don't get discouraged and give up. <sup>10</sup> That's why whenever we can we should always be kind to everyone, and especially to our Christian brothers.

<sup>11</sup> I will write these closing words in my own handwriting. See how large I have to make the letters!

<sup>12</sup> Those teachers of yours who are trying to convince you to be circumcised are doing it for just one reason: so that they can be popular and avoid the persecution they would get if they admitted that the cross of Christ alone can save.

<sup>13</sup> And even those teachers who submit to circumcision don't try to keep the other Jewish laws; but they want you to be circumcised in order that they can boast that you are their disciples.

<sup>14</sup> As for me, God forbid that I should boast about anything except the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. Because of that cross my interest in all the attractive things of the world was killed long ago, and the world's interest in me is also long dead. <sup>15</sup> It doesn't make any difference now whether we have been circumcised or not; what counts is whether we really have been changed into new and different people.

<sup>16</sup> May God's mercy and peace be upon all of you who live by this principle and upon those everywhere who are really God's own.

<sup>17</sup> From now on please don't argue with me about these things, for I carry on my body the scars of the whippings and wounds from Jesus' enemies that mark me as his slave.

<sup>18</sup> Dear brothers, may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all.

Sincerely,
Paul

EPHESIANS

1 DEAR CHRISTIAN FRIENDS at Ephesus, ever loyal to the Lord: This is Paul writing to you, chosen by God to be Jesus Christ's messenger. <sup>2</sup> May his blessings and peace be yours, sent to you from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord. <sup>3</sup> How we praise God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who has blessed us with every blessing in heaven because we belong to Christ.

<sup>4</sup> Long ago, even before he made the world, God chose us to be his very own, through what Christ would do for us; he decided then to make us holy in his eyes, without a single fault—we who stand before him covered with his love. <sup>5</sup> His unchanging plan has always been to adopt us into his own family by sending Jesus Christ to die for us. And he did this because he wanted to!

<sup>6</sup> Now all praise to God for his wonderful kindness to us and his favor that he has poured out upon us, because we belong to his dearly loved Son. <sup>7</sup> So overflowing is his kindness towards us that he took away all our sins through the blood of his Son, by whom we are saved; <sup>8</sup> and he has showered down upon us the richness of his grace—for how well he understands us and knows what is best for us at all times.

<sup>9</sup> God has told us his secret reason for sending Christ, a plan he decided on in mercy long ago; <sup>10</sup> and this was his purpose: that when the time is ripe he will gather us all together from wherever we are—in heaven or on earth—to be with him in Christ, forever. <sup>11</sup> Moreover, because of what Christ has done we have become gifts to God that he delights in, for as part of God's sovereign plan we were chosen from the beginning to be his, and all things happen just as he decided long ago. <sup>12</sup> God's purpose in this was that we should praise God and give glory to him for doing these mighty things for us, who were the first to trust in Christ.

<sup>13</sup> And because of what Christ did, all you others too, who heard the Good News about how to be saved, and trusted Christ, were marked as belonging to Christ by the Holy Spirit, who long ago had been promised to all of us Christians. <sup>14</sup> His presence within us is God's guarantee that he really will give us all that he promised; and the Spirit's seal upon us means that God has already purchased us and that he guarantees to bring us to himself. This is just one more reason for us to praise our glorious God.

<sup>15</sup> That is why, ever since I heard of your strong faith in the Lord Jesus and of the love you have for Christians everywhere, <sup>16,17</sup> I have never stopped thanking God for you. I pray for you constantly, asking God, the glorious Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, to give you wisdom to see clearly and really understand who Christ is and all that he has done for you. <sup>18</sup> I pray that your hearts will be flooded with light so that you can see something of the future he has called you to share. I want you to realize that God has been made rich because we who are Christ's have been given to him! <sup>19</sup> I pray that you will begin to understand how incredibly great his power is to help those who believe him. It is that same mighty power <sup>20</sup> that raised Christ from the dead and seated him in the place of honor at God's right hand in heaven, <sup>21</sup> far, far above any other king or ruler or dictator or leader. Yes, his honor is far more glorious than that of anyone else either in this world or in the world to come. <sup>22</sup> And God has put all things under his feet and made him the supreme Head of the church— <sup>23</sup> which is his body, filled with himself, the Author and Giver of everything everywhere.

2 ONCE YOU WERE under God's curse, doomed forever for your sins. <sup>2</sup> You went along with the crowd and were just like all the others, full of sin, obeying Satan, the mighty prince of the power of the air, who is at work right now in the hearts of those who are against the Lord. <sup>3</sup> All of us used to be just as they are, our lives expressing the evil within us, doing every wicked thing that our passions or our evil thoughts might lead us into. We started out bad, being born with evil natures, and were under God's anger just like everyone else.

<sup>4</sup> But God is so rich in mercy; he loved us so much <sup>a</sup> that even though we were spiritually dead and doomed by our sins, he gave us back our lives again<sup>a</sup> when he raised Christ from the dead—only by his undeserved favor have we ever been saved— <sup>6</sup> and lifted us up from the grave into glory along with Christ, where we sit with him in the heavenly realms—all because of what Christ Jesus did. <sup>7</sup> And now God can always point to us as examples of how very, very rich his kindness is, as shown in all he has done for us through Jesus Christ.

<sup>8</sup> Because of his kindness you have been saved through trusting Christ. And even trusting<sup>b</sup> is not of yourselves; it too is a gift from God. <sup>9</sup> Salvation is not a reward for the good we have done, so none of us can take any credit for it. <sup>10</sup> It is God himself who has made us what we are and given us new lives from Christ Jesus; and long ages ago he planned that we should spend these lives in helping others.

<sup>11</sup> Never forget that once you were heathen, and that you were called godless and "unclean" by the Jews. (But their hearts, too, were still unclean, even though they were going through the ceremonies and rituals of the godly, for they circumcised themselves as a sign of godliness.) <sup>12</sup> Remember that in those days you were living utterly apart from Christ; you were enemies of God's children and he had promised you no help. You were lost, without God, without hope.

<sup>13</sup> But now you belong to Christ Jesus, and though you once were far away from God, now you have been brought very near to him because of what Jesus Christ has done for you with his blood.

<sup>14</sup> For Christ himself is our way of peace. He has made peace between us Jews and you Gentiles by making us all one family,<sup>c</sup> breaking down the wall of contempt<sup>d</sup> that used to separate us. <sup>15</sup> By his death he ended the angry resentment between us, caused by the Jewish laws which favored the Jews and excluded the Gentiles, for he died to annul that whole system of Jewish laws. Then he took the two groups that had been opposed to each other and made them parts of himself; thus he fused us together to become one new person, and at last there was peace. <sup>16</sup> As parts of the same body, our anger against each other has disappeared, for both of us have been reconciled to God. And so the feud ended at last at the cross. <sup>17</sup> And he has brought this Good News of peace to you Gentiles who were very far away from him, and to us Jews who were near. <sup>18</sup> Now all of us, whether Jews or Gentiles, may come to God the Father with the Holy Spirit's help because of what Christ has done for us.

<sup>19</sup> Now you are no longer strangers to God and foreigners to heaven, but you are members of God's very own family, citizens of God's country, and you belong in

God's household with every other Christian.

<sup>20</sup> What a foundation you stand on now: the apostles and the prophets; and the cornerstone of the building is Jesus Christ himself!

<sup>21</sup> We who believe are carefully joined together with Christ as parts of a beautiful, constantly growing temple for God. <sup>22</sup> And you also are joined with him and with each other by the Spirit, and are part of this dwelling place of God.

3 I PAUL, THE servant of Christ, am here in jail because of you—for preaching that you Gentiles are a part of God's house. <sup>23</sup> No doubt you already know that God has given me this special work of showing God's favor to you Gentiles, as I briefly mentioned before in one of my letters. God himself showed me this secret plan of his, that the Gentiles, too, are included in his kindness. <sup>4</sup> I say this to explain to you how I know about these things. <sup>5</sup> In olden times God did not share this plan with his people, but now he has revealed it by the Holy Spirit to his apostles and prophets.

<sup>6</sup> And this is the secret: that the Gentiles will have their full share with the Jews in all the riches inherited by God's sons; both are invited to belong to his church, and all of God's promises of mighty blessings through Christ apply to them both when they accept the Good News about Christ and what he has done for them. <sup>7</sup> God has given me the wonderful privilege of telling everyone about this plan of his; and he has given me his power and special ability to do it well.

ing to deserve it, and though I am the most useless Christian there is, yet I was the one chosen for this special joy of telling the Gentiles the Glad News of the endless treasures available to them in Christ; <sup>9</sup> and to explain to everyone that God is the Savior of the Gentiles too, just as he who made all things had secretly planned from the very beginning.

<sup>10</sup> And his reason? To show to all the rulers in heaven how perfectly wise he is when all of his family—Jews and Gentiles alike—are seen to be joined together in his church, <sup>11</sup> in just the way he had always planned it through Jesus Christ our Lord.

<sup>12</sup> Now we can come fearlessly right into God's presence, assured of his glad welcome when we come with Christ and trust in him.

<sup>13</sup> So please don't lose heart at what they are doing to me here. It is for you I am suffering and you should feel honored and encouraged. <sup>14,15</sup> When I think of the wisdom and scope of his plan I fall down on my knees and pray to the Father of all the great family of God—some of them already in heaven and some down here on earth—<sup>16</sup> that out of his glorious, unlimited resources he will give you the mighty inner strengthening of his Holy Spirit. <sup>17</sup> And I pray that Christ will be more and more at home in your hearts, living within you as you trust in him. May your roots go down deep into the soil of God's marvelous love; <sup>18,19</sup> and may you be able to feel and understand, as all God's children should, how long, how wide, how deep, and how high his love really is; and to experience this love for yourselves, though it is so great that you will never see the end of it or fully know or understand it. And so at last you will be filled up with God himself.

<sup>20</sup> Now glory be to God who by his mighty power at work within us is able to do far more than we would ever dare to ask or even dream of—infinity beyond our highest prayers, desires, thoughts, or hopes. <sup>21</sup> May he be given glory forever and ever through endless ages because of his master plan of salvation for the church through Jesus Christ.

4 I BEG YOU—I, a prisoner here in jail for serving the Lord—to live and act in a way worthy of those who have been chosen for such wonderful blessings as these. <sup>2</sup> Be humble and gentle. Be patient with each other, making allowance for each other's faults because of your love. <sup>3</sup> Try always to be led along together by the Holy Spirit, and so be at peace with one another.

<sup>4</sup> We are all parts of one body, we have the same Spirit, and we have all been called to the same glorious future. <sup>5</sup> For us there is only one Lord, one faith, one baptism, <sup>6</sup> and we all have the same God and Father who is over us all and in us all, and living through every part of us. <sup>7</sup> However, Christ has given each of us special abilities—whatever he wants us to have out of his rich storehouse of gifts.

<sup>8</sup> The Psalmist tells about this, for he says that when Christ returned triumphantly to heaven after his resurrection and victory over Satan, he gave generous gifts to men. <sup>9</sup> Notice that it says he returned to heaven. This means that he had first come down from the heights of heaven, far down to the lowest parts of the earth. <sup>10</sup> The same one who came down is the one who went back up, that he might fill all things everywhere with himself, from the very lowest to the very highest.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Some of us have been given special ability as apostles; to others he has given the gift of being able to preach well; some have special ability in winning people to Christ, helping them to trust him as their Savior; still others have a gift for caring for God's people as a shepherd does his sheep, leading and teaching them in the ways of God.

<sup>12</sup> Why is it that he gives us these special abilities to do certain things best? It is that God's people will be equipped to do better work for him, building up the church, the body of Christ, to a position of strength and maturity; <sup>13</sup> until finally we all believe alike about our salvation and about our Savior, God's Son, and all become full-grown in the Lord—yes, to the point of being filled full with Christ.

<sup>14</sup> Then we will no longer be like children, forever changing our minds about what we believe because someone has told us something different, or has cleverly lied to us and made the lie sound like the truth. <sup>15,16</sup> Instead, we will lovingly follow the truth at all times—speaking truly, dealing truly, living truly<sup>b</sup>—and so become more and more in every way like Christ who is the Head of his body, the church. Under his direction the whole body is fitted together perfectly, and each part in its own special way helps the other parts, so that the whole body is healthy and growing and full of love.

<sup>17,18</sup> Let me say this, then, speaking for the Lord: Live no longer as the unsaved do, for they are blinded and confused. Their closed hearts are full of darkness; they are far away from the life of God because they have shut their minds against him, and they cannot understand his ways. <sup>19</sup> They don't care any more about right and wrong and have given themselves over to impure ways. They stop at nothing, being driven by their evil minds and reckless lusts.

<sup>20</sup> But that isn't the way Christ taught you! <sup>21</sup> If you have really heard his voice and learned from him the truths concerning himself, <sup>22</sup> then throw off your old evil nature—the old you that was a partner in your evil ways—rotten through and through, full of lust and sham.

<sup>23</sup> Now your attitudes and thoughts must all be constantly changing for the better. <sup>24</sup> Yes, you must be a new and different person, holy and good. Clothe yourself with this new nature.

<sup>25</sup> Stop lying to each other; tell the truth, for we are parts of each other and when we lie to each other we are hurting ourselves. <sup>26</sup> If you are angry, don't sin by nursing your grudge. Don't let the sun go down with you still angry—get over it quickly; <sup>27</sup> for when you are angry you give a mighty foothold to the devil.

<sup>28</sup> If anyone is stealing he must stop it and begin using those hands of his for honest work so he can give to others in need. <sup>29</sup> Don't use bad language. Say only what is good and helpful to those you are talking to, and what will give them a blessing.

<sup>30</sup> Don't cause the Holy Spirit sorrow by the way you live. Remember, he is the one who marks you to be present<sup>c</sup> on that day when salvation from sin will be complete.

<sup>31</sup> Stop being mean, bad-tempered and angry. Quarreling, harsh words, and dislike of others should have no place in your lives. <sup>32</sup> Instead, be kind to each other, tender-hearted, forgiving one another, just as God has forgiven you because you belong to Christ.

5 FOLLOW GOD'S EXAMPLE in everything you do just as a much loved child imitates his father. <sup>2</sup> Be full of love for others, following the example of Christ who loved you and gave himself to God as a sacrifice to take away your sins. And God was pleased, for Christ's love for you was like sweet perfume to him.

<sup>3</sup> Let there be no sex sin, impurity or greed among you. Let no one be able to accuse you of any such things. <sup>4</sup> Dirty stories, foul talk and coarse jokes—these are not for you. Instead, remind each other of God's goodness and be thankful.

<sup>5</sup> You can be sure of this: The kingdom of Christ and of God will never belong to anyone who is impure or greedy, for a greedy person is really an idol worshiper—he loves and worships the good things of this life more than God. <sup>6</sup> Don't be fooled by those who try to excuse these sins, for the terrible wrath of God is upon all those who do them. <sup>7</sup> Don't even associate with such people. <sup>8</sup> For though once your heart was full of darkness, now it is full of light from the Lord, and your behavior should show it! <sup>9</sup> Because of this light within you, you should do only what is good and right and true.

<sup>15,16</sup> So be careful how you act; these are difficult days. Don't be fools; be wise: make the most of every opportunity you have for doing good. <sup>17</sup> Don't act thoughtlessly, but try to find out and do whatever the Lord wants you to. <sup>18</sup> Don't drink too much wine, for many evils lie along that path; be filled instead with the Holy Spirit, and controlled by him.

<sup>19</sup> Talk with each other much about the Lord, quoting psalms and hymns and singing sacred songs, making music in your hearts to the Lord. <sup>20</sup> Always give thanks for everything to our God and Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>21</sup> Honor Christ by submitting to each other. <sup>22</sup> You wives must submit to your husbands' leadership in the same way you submit to the Lord. <sup>23</sup> For a husband is in charge of his wife in the same way Christ is in charge of his body the church. (He gave his very life to take care of it and be its Savior!) <sup>24</sup> So you wives must willingly obey your husbands in everything, just as the church obeys Christ.

<sup>25</sup> And you husbands, show the same kind of love to your wives as Christ showed to the church when he died for her, <sup>26</sup> to make her holy and clean, washed by baptism<sup>b</sup> and God's Word; <sup>27</sup> so that he could give her to himself as a glorious church without a single spot or wrinkle or any other blemish, being holy and without a single fault. <sup>28</sup> That is how husbands should treat their wives, loving them as parts of themselves. For since a man and his wife are now one, a man is really doing himself a favor and loving himself when he loves his wife! <sup>29,30</sup> No one hates his own body but lovingly cares for it, just as Christ cares for his body the church, of which we are parts.

<sup>31</sup> (That the husband and wife are one body is proved by the Scripture which says, "A man must leave his father and mother when he marries, so that he can be perfectly joined to his wife, and the two shall be one.") <sup>12</sup> I know this is hard to understand, but it is an illustration of the way we are parts of the body of Christ.

<sup>a</sup> Or, "your lives should be an example," of water with the word."

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "having cleansed it by washing

<sup>13</sup> So again I say, a man must love his wife as a part of himself; and the wife must see to it that she deeply respects her husband—obeying, praising and honoring him.

6 CHILDREN, OBEY YOUR parents; this is the right thing to do because God has placed them in authority over you. <sup>2</sup> Honor your father and mother. This is the first of God's Ten Commandments that ends with a promise. <sup>3</sup> And this is the promise: that if you honor your father and mother, yours will be a long life, full of blessing.

<sup>4</sup> And now a word to you parents. Don't keep on scolding and nagging your children, making them angry and resentful. Rather, bring them up with the loving discipline the Lord himself approves, with suggestions and godly advice.

<sup>5</sup> Slaves, obey your masters; be eager to give them your very best. Serve them as you would Christ.

<sup>6,7</sup> Don't work hard only when your master is watching and then shirk when he isn't looking; work hard and with gladness all the time, as though working for Christ, doing the will of God with all your hearts.

<sup>8</sup> Remember, the Lord will pay you for each good thing you do, whether you are slave or free.

<sup>9</sup> And you slave owners must treat your slaves right, just as I have told them to treat you. Don't keep threatening them; remember, you yourselves are slaves to Christ;

you have the same Master they do, and he has no favorites.

<sup>10</sup> Last of all I want to remind you that your strength must come from the Lord's mighty power within you. <sup>11</sup> Put on all of God's armor so that you will be able to stand safe against all strategies and tricks of Satan. <sup>12</sup> For we are not fighting against people made of flesh and blood, but against persons without bodies—the evil rulers of the unseen world, those mighty satanic beings and great evil princes of darkness who rule this world; and against huge numbers of wicked spirits in the spirit world.

<sup>13</sup> So use every piece of God's armor to resist the enemy whenever he attacks, and when it is all over, you will still be standing up.

<sup>14</sup> But to do this, you will need the strong belt of truth and the breastplate of God's approval.

<sup>15</sup> Wear shoes that are able to speed you on as you preach the Good News of peace with God. <sup>16</sup> In every battle you will need faith as your shield to stop the fiery arrows aimed at you by Satan. <sup>17</sup> And you will need the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit—which is the Word of God.

<sup>18</sup> Pray all the time. Ask God for anything in line with the Holy Spirit's wishes. Plead with him, reminding him of your needs, and keep praying earnestly for all Christians everywhere. <sup>19</sup> Pray for me, too, and ask God to give me the right words as I boldly tell others about the Lord, and as I explain to them that his salvation is for the Gentiles too.

<sup>20</sup> I am in chains now for preaching this message from God. But pray that I will keep on speaking out boldly for him even here in prison, as I should.

<sup>21</sup> Tychicus, who is a much loved brother and faithful helper in the Lord's work, will tell you all about how I am getting along. <sup>22</sup> I am sending him to you for just this purpose, to let you know how we are and be encouraged by his report.

<sup>23</sup> May God give peace to you, my Christian brothers, and love, with faith from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>24</sup> May God's grace and blessing be upon all who sincerely love our Lord Jesus Christ.

Sincerely,
Paul

PHILIPPIANS

1 FROM: PAUL AND Timothy, slaves of Jesus Christ.

To: The pastors and deacons and all the Christians in the city of Philippi.

<sup>2</sup> May God bless you all. Yes, I pray that God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ will give each of you his fullest blessings, and his peace in your hearts and your lives.

<sup>3</sup> All my prayers for you are full of praise to God! <sup>4</sup> When I pray for you, my heart is full of joy, <sup>5</sup> because of all your wonderful help in making known the Good News about Christ from the time you first heard it until now. <sup>6</sup> And I am sure that God who began the good work within you will keep right on helping you grow in his grace until his task within you is finally finished on that day when Jesus Christ returns.

<sup>7</sup> How natural it is that I should feel as I do about you, for you have a very special place in my heart. We have shared together the blessings of God, both when I was in prison and when I was out, defending the truth and telling others about Christ. <sup>8</sup> Only God knows how deep is my love and longing for you—with the tenderness of Jesus Christ.

<sup>9</sup> My prayer for you is that you will overflow more and more with love for others, and at the same time keep on growing in spiritual knowledge and insight, <sup>10</sup> for I want you always to see clearly the difference between right and wrong, and to be inwardly clean, no one being able to criticize you from now until our Lord returns. <sup>11</sup> May you always be doing those good, kind things which show that you are a child of God, for this will bring much praise and glory to the Lord.

<sup>12</sup> And I want you to know this, dear brothers: Everything that has happened to me here has been a great boost in getting out the Good News concerning Christ. <sup>13</sup> For everyone around here, including all the soldiers over at the barracks, knows that I am in chains simply because I am a Christian. <sup>14</sup> And because of my imprisonment many of the Christians here seem to have lost their fear of chains! Somehow my patience has encouraged them and they have become more and more bold in telling others about Christ.

<sup>15</sup> Some, of course, are preaching the Good News because they are jealous of the way God has used me. They want reputations as fearless preachers! But others have purer motives, <sup>16,17</sup> preaching because they love me, for they know that the Lord has brought me here to use me to defend the Truth. And some preach to make me jealous, thinking that their success will add to my sorrows here in jail! <sup>18</sup> But whatever their motive for doing it, the fact remains that the Good News about Christ is being preached and I am glad.

<sup>19</sup> I am going to keep on being glad, for I know that as you pray for me, and as the Holy Spirit helps me, this is all going to turn out for my good. <sup>20</sup> For I live in eager expectation and hope that I will never do anything that will cause me to be ashamed of myself but that I will always be ready to speak out boldly for Christ while I am going through all these trials here, just as I have in the past; and that I will always be an honor to Christ, whether I live or whether I must die. <sup>21</sup> For to me, living means opportunities for Christ, and dying—well, that's better yet! <sup>22</sup> But if living will give me more opportunities to win people to Christ, then I really don't know which is better, to live or die! <sup>23</sup> Sometimes I want to live and at other times I don't, for I long to go and be with Christ. How much happier for me than being here! <sup>24</sup> But the fact is that I can be of more help to you by staying!

<sup>25</sup> Yes, I am still needed down here and so I feel certain I will be staying on earth a little longer, to help you grow and become happy in your faith; <sup>26</sup> my staying will make you glad and give you reason to glorify Christ Jesus for keeping me safe, when I return to visit you again.

<sup>27</sup> But whatever happens to me, remember always to live as Christians should, so that, whether I ever see you again or not, I will keep on hearing good reports that you are standing side by side with one strong purpose—to tell the Good News <sup>28</sup> fearlessly, no matter what your enemies may do. They will see this as a sign of their downfall, but for you it will be a clear sign from God that he is with you, and that he has given you eternal life with him. <sup>29</sup> For to you has been given the privilege not only of trusting him but also of suffering for him. <sup>30</sup> We are in this fight together. You have seen me suffer for him in the past; and I am still in the midst of a great and terrible struggle now, as you know so well.

2 IS THERE ANY such thing as Christians cheering each other up? Do you love me enough to want to help me? Does it mean anything to you that we are brothers in the Lord, sharing the same Spirit? Are your hearts tender and sympathetic at all? <sup>2</sup> Then make me truly happy by loving each other and agreeing wholeheartedly with each other, working together with one heart and mind and purpose.

<sup>3</sup> Don't be selfish; don't live to make a good impression on others. Be humble, thinking of others as better than yourself. <sup>4</sup> Don't just think about your own affairs, but be interested in others, too, and in what they are doing.

<sup>5</sup> Yet it was because of this that God raised him up to the heights of heaven and gave him a name which is above every other name, <sup>10</sup> that at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow in heaven and on earth and under the earth, <sup>11</sup> and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father.

<sup>12</sup> Dearest friends, when I was there with you, you were always so careful to follow my instructions. And now that I am away you must be even more careful to do the good things that result from being saved, obeying God with deep reverence, shrinking back from all that might displease him. <sup>13</sup> For God is at work within you, helping you want to obey him, and then helping you do what he wants.

<sup>14</sup> In everything you do, stay away from complaining and arguing, <sup>15</sup> so that no one can speak a word of blame against you. You are to live clean, innocent lives as children of God in a dark world full of people who are crooked and stubborn. Shine out among them like beacon lights, <sup>16</sup> holding out to them the Word of Life.

Then when Christ returns how glad I will be that my work among you was so worthwhile. <sup>17</sup> And if my lifeblood is, so to speak, to be poured out over your faith which I am offering up to God as a sacrifice—that is, if I am to die for you—even then I will be glad, and will share my joy with each of you. <sup>18</sup> For you should be happy about this, too, and rejoice with me for having this privilege of dying for you.

<sup>19</sup> If the Lord is willing, I will send Timothy to see you soon. Then when he comes back he can cheer me up by telling me all about you and how you are getting along. <sup>20</sup> There is no one like Timothy for having a real interest in you; <sup>21</sup> everyone else seems to be worrying about his own plans and not those of Jesus Christ. <sup>22</sup> But you know Timothy. He has been just like a son to me in helping me preach the Good News. <sup>23</sup> I hope to send him to you just as soon as I find out what is going to happen to me here. <sup>24</sup> And I am trusting the Lord that soon I myself may come to see you.

<sup>25</sup> Meanwhile, I thought I ought to send Epaphroditus back to you. You sent him to help me in my need; well, he and I have been real brothers, working and battling side by side. <sup>26</sup> Now I am sending him home again, for he has been homesick for all of you and upset because you heard that he was ill. <sup>27</sup> And he surely was; in fact, he almost died. But God had mercy on him, and on me too, not allowing me to have this sorrow on top of everything else.

<sup>28</sup> So I am all the more anxious to get him back to you again, for I know how thankful you will be to see him, and that will make me happy and lighten all my cares. <sup>29</sup> Welcome him in the Lord with great joy, and show your appreciation, <sup>30</sup> for he risked his life for the work of Christ and was at the point of death while trying to do for me the things you couldn't do because you were far away.

3 WHATEVER HAPPENS, DEAR friends, be glad in the Lord. I never get tired of telling you this and it is good for you to hear it again and again.

<sup>2</sup> Watch out for those wicked men—dangerous dogs, I call them—who say you must be circumcised to be saved. <sup>3</sup> For it isn't the cutting of our bodies that makes us children of God; it is worshipping him with our spirits. That is the only true "circumcision." We Christians glory in what Christ Jesus has done for us and realize that we are helpless to save ourselves.

<sup>4</sup> Yet if anyone ever had reason to hope that he could save himself, it would be I. If others could be saved by what they are, certainly I could! <sup>5</sup> For I went through the Jewish initiation ceremony when I was eight days old, having been born into a pure-blooded Jewish home that was a branch of the old original Benjamin family. So I was a real Jew if there ever was one! What's more, I was a member of the Pharisees who demand the strictest obedience to every Jewish law and custom. <sup>6</sup> And sincere? Yes, so much so that I greatly persecuted the church; and I tried to obey every Jewish rule and regulation right down to the very last point.

<sup>7</sup> But all these things that I once thought very worthwhile—now I've thrown them all away so that I can put my trust and hope in Christ alone. <sup>8</sup> Yes, everything else is worthless when compared with the priceless gain of knowing Christ Jesus my Lord. I have put aside all else, counting it worth less than nothing, in order that I can have Christ, <sup>9</sup> and become one with him, no longer counting on being saved by being good enough or by obeying God's laws, but by trusting Christ to save me; for God's way of making us right with himself depends on faith—counting on Christ alone. <sup>10</sup> Now I have given up everything else—I have found it to be the only way to really know Christ and to experience the mighty power that brought him back to life again, and to find out what it means to suffer and to die with him. <sup>11</sup> So, whatever it takes, I will be one who lives in the fresh newness of life of those who are alive from the dead.

<sup>12</sup> I don't mean to say I am perfect. I haven't learned all I should even yet, but I keep working toward that day when I will finally be all that Christ saved me for and wants me to be.

<sup>13</sup> No, dear brothers, I am still not all I should be but I am bringing all my energies to bear on this one thing: Forgetting the past and looking forward to what lies ahead, <sup>14</sup> I strain to reach the end of the race and receive the prize for which God is calling us up to heaven because of what Christ Jesus did for us.

<sup>15</sup> I hope all of you who are mature Christians will see eye-to-eye with me on these things, and if you disagree on some point, I believe that God will make it plain to you—<sup>16</sup> if you fully obey the truth you have.

<sup>17</sup> Dear brothers, pattern your lives after mine and notice who else lives up to my example. <sup>18</sup> For I have told you often before, and I say it again now with tears in my eyes, there are many who walk along the Christian road who are really enemies of the cross of Christ. <sup>19</sup> Their future is eternal loss, for their god is their appetite: they are proud of what they should be ashamed of; and all they think about is this life here on earth. <sup>20</sup> But our homeland is in heaven, where our Savior the Lord Jesus Christ is; and we are looking forward to his return from there. <sup>21</sup> When he comes back he will take these dying bodies of ours and change them into glorious bodies like his own, using the same mighty power that he will use to conquer all else everywhere.

4 DEAR BROTHER CHRISTIANS, I love you and long to see you, for you are my joy and my reward for my work. My beloved friends, stay true to the Lord.

<sup>2</sup> And now I want to plead with those two dear women, Euodias and Syntyche. Please, please, with the Lord's help, quarrel no more—be friends again. <sup>3</sup> And I ask you, my true teammate, to help these women, for they worked side by side with me in telling the Good News to others; and they worked with Clement, too, and the rest of my fellow workers whose names are written in the Book of Life.

<sup>4</sup> Always be full of joy in the Lord; I say it again, rejoice! <sup>5</sup> Let everyone see that you are unselfish and considerate in all you do. Remember that the Lord is coming soon. <sup>6</sup> Don't worry about anything; instead, pray about everything; tell God your needs and don't forget to thank him for his answers. <sup>7</sup> If you do this you will experience God's peace, which is far more wonderful than the human mind can understand. His peace will keep your thoughts and your hearts quiet and at rest as you trust in Christ Jesus.

<sup>8</sup> And now, brothers, as I close this letter let me say this one more thing: Fix your thoughts on what is true and good and right. Think about things that are pure and lovely, and dwell on the fine, good things in others. Think about all you can praise God for and be glad about. <sup>9</sup> Keep putting into practice all you learned from me and saw me doing, and the God of peace will be with you.

<sup>10</sup> How grateful I am and how I praise the Lord that you are helping me again. I know you have always been anxious to send what you could, but for a while you didn't have the chance. <sup>11</sup> Not that I was ever in need, for I have learned how to get along happily whether I have much or little. <sup>12</sup> I know how to live on almost nothing or with everything. I have learned the secret of contentment in every situation, whether it be a full stomach or hunger, plenty or want; <sup>13</sup> for I can do everything God asks me to with the help of Christ who gives me the strength and power. <sup>14</sup> But even so, you have done right in helping me in my present difficulty.

<sup>15</sup> As you well know, when I first brought the Gospel to you and then went on my way, leaving Macedonia, only you Philippians became my partners in giving and receiving. No other church did this. <sup>16</sup> Even when I was over in Thessalonica you sent help twice. <sup>17</sup> But though I appreciate your gifts, what makes me happiest is the well-earned reward you will have because of your kindness.

<sup>18</sup> At the moment I have all I need—more than I need! I am generously supplied with the gifts you sent me when Epaphroditus came. They are a sweet-smelling sacrifice that pleases God well. <sup>19</sup> And it is he who will supply all your needs from his riches in glory, because of what Christ Jesus has done for us. <sup>20</sup> Now unto God our Father be glory forever and ever. Amen.

Sincerely,
Paul

P.S.

<sup>21</sup> Say "hello" for me to all the Christians there; the brothers with me send their greetings too. <sup>22</sup> And all the other Christians here want to be remembered to you, especially those who work in Caesar's palace. <sup>23</sup> The blessings of our Lord Jesus Christ be upon your spirits.

COLOSSIANS

1 FROM: PAUL, CHOSEN by God to be Jesus Christ's messenger, and from Brother Timothy.

<sup>2</sup> To: The faithful Christian brothers—God's people—in the city of Colosse.

May God our Father shower you with blessings and fill you with his great peace. <sup>3</sup> Whenever we pray for you we always begin by giving thanks to God the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, <sup>4</sup> for we have heard how much you trust the Lord, and how much you love his people. <sup>5</sup> And you are looking forward to the joys of heaven, and have been ever since the Gospel first was preached to you. <sup>6</sup> The same Good News that came to you is going out all over the world and changing lives everywhere, just as it changed yours that very first day you heard it and understood about God's great kindness to sinners.

<sup>7</sup> Epaphras, our much-loved fellow worker, was the one who brought you this Good News. He is Jesus Christ's faithful slave, here to help us in your place. <sup>8</sup> And he is the one who has told us about the great love for others which the Holy Spirit has given you. <sup>9</sup> So ever since we first heard about you we have kept on praying and asking God to help you understand what he wants you to do; asking him to make you wise about spiritual things; <sup>10</sup> and asking that the way you live will always please the Lord and honor him, so that you will always be doing good, kind things for others, while all the time you are learning to know God better and better.

<sup>11</sup> We are praying, too, that you will be filled with his mighty, glorious strength so that you can keep going no matter what happens—always full of the joy of the Lord,<sup>11</sup> and always thankful to the Father who has made us fit to share all the wonderful things that belong to those who live in the kingdom of light.<sup>12</sup> For he has rescued us out of the darkness and gloom of Satan's kingdom and brought us into the kingdom of his dear Son,<sup>13</sup> who bought our freedom with his blood and forgave us all our sins.

<sup>14</sup> Christ is the exact likeness of the unseen God. He existed before God made anything at all,<sup>a</sup> and, in fact,<sup>16</sup> Christ himself is the Creator who made everything in heaven and earth, the things we can see and the things we can't; the spirit world with its kings and kingdoms, its rulers and authorities; all were made by Christ for his own use and glory.<sup>17</sup> He was before all else began and it is his power that holds everything together.<sup>18</sup> He is the Head of the body made up of his people—that is, his church—which he began; and he is the Leader of all those who arise from the dead,<sup>b</sup> so that he is first in everything;<sup>19</sup> for God wanted all of himself to be in his Son.

<sup>20</sup> It was through what his Son did that God cleared a path for everything to come to him—all things in heaven and on earth—for Christ's death on the cross has made peace with God for all by his blood.<sup>21</sup> This includes you who were once so far away from God. You were his enemies and hated him and were separated from him by your evil thoughts and actions, yet now he has brought you back as his friends.<sup>22</sup> He has done this through the death on the cross of his own human body, and now as a result Christ has brought you into the very presence of God, and you are standing there before him with nothing left against you—nothing left that he could even chide you for;<sup>23</sup> the only condition is that you fully believe the Truth, standing in it steadfast and firm, strong in the Lord, convinced of the Good News that Jesus died for you, and never shifting from trusting him to save you. This is the wonderful news that came to each of you and is now spreading all over the world. And I, Paul, have the joy of telling it to others.

<sup>24</sup> But part of my work is to suffer for you; and I am glad, for I am helping to finish up the remainder of Christ's sufferings for his body, the church.

<sup>25</sup> God has sent me to help his church and to tell his secret plan to you Gentiles.<sup>26,27</sup> He has kept this secret for centuries and generations past, but now at last it has pleased him to tell it to those who love him and live for him, and the riches and glory of his plan are for you Gentiles too. And this is the secret: that Christ in your hearts is your only hope of glory.

<sup>28</sup> So everywhere we go we talk about Christ to all who will listen, warning them and teaching them as well as we know how. We want to be able to present each one to God,

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "he is the firstborn of all creation."
firstborn from the dead."

perfect because of what Christ has done for each of them. <sup>29</sup> This is my work, and I can do it only because Christ's mighty energy is at work within me.

2 I WISH YOU could know how much I have struggled in prayer for you and for the church at Laodicea, and for my many other friends who have never known me personally. <sup>2</sup> This is what I have asked of God for you: that you will be encouraged and knit together by strong ties of love, and that you will have the rich experience of knowing Christ with real certainty and clear understanding. For God's secret plan, now at last made known, is Christ himself. <sup>3</sup> In him lie hidden all the mighty, untapped treasures of wisdom and knowledge.

<sup>4</sup> I am saying this because I am afraid that someone may fool you with smooth talk. <sup>5</sup> For though I am far away from you my heart is with you, happy because you are getting along so well, happy because of your strong faith in Christ. <sup>6</sup> And now just as you trusted Christ to save you, trust him, too, for each day's problems; live in vital union with him. <sup>7</sup> Let your roots grow down into him and draw up nourishment from him. See that you go on growing in the Lord, and become strong and vigorous in the truth you were taught. Let your lives overflow with joy and thanksgiving for all he has done.

<sup>8</sup> Don't let others spoil your faith and joy with their philosophies, their wrong and shallow answers built on men's thoughts and ideas, instead of on what Christ has said. <sup>9</sup> For in Christ there is all of God in a human body; <sup>10</sup> so you have everything when you have Christ, and you are filled with God through your union with Christ. He is the highest Ruler, with authority over every other power.

<sup>11</sup> When you came to Christ he set you free from your evil desires, not by a bodily operation of circumcision but by a spiritual operation, the baptism of your souls. <sup>12</sup> For in baptism you see how your old, evil nature died with him and was buried with him; and then you came up out of death with him into a new life because you trusted the Word of the mighty God who raised Christ from the dead.

<sup>13</sup> You were dead in sins, and your sinful desires were not yet cut away. Then he gave you a share in the very life of Christ, for he forgave all your sins, <sup>14</sup> and blotted out the charges proved against you, the list of his commandments which you had not obeyed. He took this list of sins and destroyed it by nailing it to Christ's cross. <sup>15</sup> In this way God took away Satan's power to accuse you of sin, and God openly displayed to the whole world Christ's triumph at the cross where your sins were all taken away.

<sup>16</sup> So don't let anyone criticize you for what you eat or drink, or for not celebrating Jewish holidays and feasts or new moon ceremonies or Sabbaths. <sup>17</sup> For these were only temporary rules that ended when Christ came. They were only shadows of the real thing—of Christ himself. <sup>18</sup> Don't let anyone declare you lost when you refuse to worship angels, as they say you must. They have seen a vision, they say, and know you should. These proud men (though they claim to be so humble) have a very clever imagination. <sup>19</sup> But they are not connected to Christ, the Head to which all of us who are his body are joined; for we are joined together by his strong sinews and we grow only as we get our nourishment and strength from God.

<sup>20</sup> Since you died, as it were, with Christ and this has set you free from following the world's ideas of how to be saved—by doing good and obeying various rules<sup>a</sup>—why do you keep right on following them anyway, still bound by such rules as <sup>21</sup> not eating, tasting, or even touching certain foods? <sup>22</sup> Such rules are mere human teachings, for food was made to be eaten and used up. <sup>23</sup> These rules may seem good, for rules of this kind require strong devotion and are humiliating and hard on the body, but they have no effect when it comes to conquering a person's evil thoughts and desires. They only make him proud.

3 SINCE YOU BECAME alive again, so to speak, when Christ arose from the dead, now set your sights on the rich treasures and joys of heaven where he sits beside God in the place of honor and power. <sup>2</sup> Let heaven fill your thoughts; don't spend your time worrying about things down here. <sup>3</sup> You should have as little desire for this world as a dead person does. Your real life is in heaven with Christ and God. <sup>4</sup> And when Christ who is our real life comes back again, you will shine with him and share in all his glories.

<sup>5</sup> Away then with sinful, earthly things; deaden the evil desires lurking within you; have nothing to do with sexual sin, impurity, lust and shameful desires; don't worship the good things of life, for that is idolatry. <sup>6</sup> God's terrible anger is upon those who do such things. <sup>7</sup> You used to do them when your life was still part of this world; <sup>8</sup> but now is the time to cast off and throw away all these rotten garments of anger, hatred, cursing, and dirty language.

<sup>9</sup> Don't tell lies to each other; it was your old life with all its wickedness that did that sort of thing; now it is dead and gone. <sup>10</sup> You are living a brand new kind of life that is continually learning more and more of what is right, and trying constantly to be more and more like Christ who created this new life within you. <sup>11</sup> In this new life one's nationality or race or education or social position is unimportant; such things mean nothing. Whether a person has Christ is what matters, and he is equally available to all.

<sup>12</sup> Since you have been chosen by God who has given you this new kind of life, and because of his deep love and concern for you, you should practice tenderhearted mercy and kindness to others. Don't worry about making a good impression on them but be ready to suffer quietly and patiently. <sup>13</sup> Be gentle and ready to forgive; never hold grudges. Remember, the Lord forgave you, so you must forgive others.

<sup>14</sup> Most of all, let love guide your life, for then the whole church will stay together in perfect harmony.

<sup>15</sup> Let the peace of heart which comes from Christ be always present in your hearts and lives, for this is your responsibility and privilege as members of his body. And always be thankful.

<sup>16</sup> Remember what Christ taught and let his words enrich your lives and make you wise; teach them to each other and sing them out in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing to the Lord with thankful hearts. <sup>17</sup> And whatever you do or say, let it be as a representative of the Lord Jesus, and come with him into the presence of God the Father to give him your thanks.

<sup>18</sup> You wives, submit yourselves to your husbands, for that is what the Lord has planned for you.

<sup>19</sup> And you husbands must be loving and kind to your wives and not bitter against them, nor harsh.

<sup>22</sup> You slaves must always obey your earthly masters, not only trying to please them when they are watching you but all the time; obey them willingly because of your love for the Lord and because you want to please him. <sup>23</sup> Work hard and cheerfully at all you do, just as though you were working for the Lord and not merely for your masters, <sup>24</sup> remembering that it is the Lord Christ who is going to pay you, giving you your full portion of all he owns. He is the one you are really working for. <sup>25</sup> And if you don't do your best for him, he will pay you in a way that you won't like—for he has no special favorites who can get away with shirking.

4 YOU SLAVE OWNERS must be just and fair to all your slaves. Always remember that you, too, have a Master in heaven who is closely watching you.

<sup>2</sup> Don't be weary in prayer; keep at it; watch for God's answers and remember to be thankful when they come. <sup>3</sup> Don't forget to pray for us too, that God will give us many chances to preach the Good News of Christ for which I am here in jail. <sup>4</sup> Pray that I will be bold enough to tell it freely and fully, and make it plain, as, of course, I should.

<sup>5</sup> Make the most of your chances to tell others the Good News. Be wise in all your contacts with them.

<sup>6</sup> Let your conversation be gracious as well as sensible, for then you will have the right answer for everyone.

<sup>7</sup> Tychicus, our much loved brother, will tell you how I am getting along. He is a hard worker and serves the Lord with me. <sup>8</sup> I have sent him on this special trip just to see how you are, and to comfort and encourage you. <sup>9</sup> I am also sending Onesimus, a faithful and much loved brother, one of your own people. He and Tychicus will give you all the latest news.

<sup>10</sup> Aristarchus, who is with me here as a prisoner, sends you his love, and so does Mark, a relative of Barnabas. And as I said before, give Mark a hearty welcome<sup>a</sup> if he comes your way. <sup>11</sup> Jesus Justus also sends his love. These are the only Jewish Christians working with me here, and what a comfort they have been!

<sup>12</sup> Epaphras, from your city, a servant of Christ Jesus, sends you his love. He is always earnestly praying for you, asking God to make you strong and perfect and to help you know his will in everything you do. <sup>13</sup> I can assure you that he has worked hard for you with his prayers, and also for the Christians in Laodicea and Hierapolis.

<sup>15</sup> Please give my greeting to the Christian friends at Laodicea, and to Nymphas, and to those who meet in his home. <sup>16</sup> By the way, after you have read this letter will you pass it on to the church at Laodicea? And read the letter I wrote to them. <sup>17</sup> And say to Archippus, "Be sure that you do all the Lord has told you to."

<sup>18</sup> Here is my own greeting in my own handwriting: Remember me here in jail. May God's blessings surround you.

Sincerely,
Paul

1 THESSALONIANS

1 FROM: PAUL, SILAS and Timothy.

To: The Church at Thessalonica—to you who belong to God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: May blessing and peace of heart be your rich gifts from God our Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord.

<sup>2</sup> We always thank God for you and pray for you constantly. <sup>3</sup> We never forget your loving deeds as we talk to our God and Father about you, and your strong faith and steady looking forward to the return of our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>4</sup> We know that God has chosen you, dear brothers, much beloved of God. <sup>5</sup> For when we brought you the Good News, it was not just meaningless chatter to you; no, you listened with great interest. What we told you produced a powerful effect upon you, for the Holy Spirit gave you great and full assurance that what we said was true. And you know how our very lives were further proof to you of the truth of our message. <sup>6</sup> So you became our followers and the Lord's; for you received our message with joy from the Holy Spirit in spite of the trials and sorrows it brought you.

<sup>7</sup> Then you yourselves became an example to all the other Christians in Greece, <sup>8</sup> And now the Word of the Lord has spread out from you to others everywhere, far beyond your boundaries, for wherever we go we find people telling us about your remarkable faith in God. We don't need to tell them about it, <sup>9</sup> for they keep telling us about the wonderful welcome you gave us, and how you turned away from your idols to God so that now the living and true God only is your Master. <sup>10</sup> And they speak of how you are looking forward to the return of God's Son from heaven—Jesus, whom God brought back to life—and he is our only Savior from God's terrible anger against sin.

2 YOU YOURSELVES KNOW, dear brothers, how worthwhile that visit was. <sup>2</sup> You know how badly we had been treated at Philippi just before we came to you, and how much we suffered there. Yet God gave us the courage to boldly repeat the same message to you, even though we were surrounded by enemies. <sup>3</sup> So you can see that we were not preaching with any false motives or evil purposes in mind; we were perfectly straightforward and sincere.

<sup>4</sup> For we speak as messengers from God, trusted by him to tell the truth; we change his message not one bit to suit the taste of those who hear it; for we serve God alone, who examines our hearts' deepest thoughts. <sup>5</sup> Never once did we try to win you with flattery, as you very well know, and God knows we were not just pretending to be your friends so that you would give us money! <sup>6</sup> As for praise, we have never asked for it from you or anyone else, although as apostles of Christ we certainly had a right to some honor from you. <sup>7</sup> But we were as gentle among you as a mother feeding and caring for her own children. <sup>8</sup> We loved you dearly—so dearly that we gave you not only God's message, but our own lives too.

<sup>9</sup> Don't you remember, dear brothers, how hard we worked among you? Night and day we toiled and sweated to earn enough to live on so that our expenses would not be a burden to anyone there, as we preached God's Good News among you. <sup>10</sup> You yourselves are our witnesses—as is God—that we have been pure and honest and faultless toward every one of you.

<sup>11</sup> We talked to you as a father to his own children—don't you remember?—pleading with you, encouraging you and even demanding <sup>12</sup> that your daily lives should not embarrass God, but bring joy to him who invited you into his kingdom to share his glory.

<sup>13</sup> And we will never stop thanking God for this: that when we preached to you, you didn't think of the words we spoke as being just our own, but you accepted what we said as the very Word of God—which, of course, it was—and it changed your lives when you believed it.

<sup>14</sup> And then, dear brothers, you suffered what the churches in Judea did, persecution from your own countrymen, just as they suffered from their own people the Jews. <sup>15</sup> After they had killed their own prophets, they even executed the Lord Jesus; and now they have brutally persecuted us and driven us out. They are against both God and man, <sup>16</sup> trying to keep us from preaching to the Gentiles for fear some might be saved; and so their sins continue to grow. But the anger of God has caught up with them at last.

<sup>17</sup> Dear brothers, after we left you and had been away from you but a very little while (though our hearts never left you), we tried hard to come back to see you once more. <sup>18</sup> We wanted very much to come and I, Paul, tried again and again, but Satan stopped us. <sup>19</sup> For what is it we live for, that gives us hope and joy and is our proud reward and crown? It is you! Yes, you will bring us much joy as we stand together before our Lord Jesus Christ when he comes back again. <sup>20</sup> For you are our trophy and joy.

3 FINALLY, WHEN I could stand it no longer, I decided to stay alone in Athens <sup>21</sup> and send Timothy, our brother and fellow worker, God's minister, to visit you to strengthen your faith and encourage you, and to keep you from becoming fainthearted in all the troubles you were going through. (But of course you know that such troubles are a part of God's plan for us Christians. <sup>4</sup> Even while we were still with you we warned you ahead of time that suffering would soon come—and it did.)

<sup>5</sup> As I was saying, when I could bear the suspense no longer I sent Timothy to find out whether your faith was still strong. I was afraid that perhaps Satan had gotten the best of you and that all our work had been useless. <sup>6</sup> And now Timothy has just returned and brings the welcome news that your faith and love are as strong as ever, and that you remember our visit with joy and want to see us just as much as we want to see you. <sup>7</sup> So we are greatly comforted, dear brothers, in all of our own crushing troubles and suffering here, now that we know you are standing true to the Lord. <sup>8</sup> We can bear anything as long as we know that you remain strong in him.

<sup>9</sup> How can we thank God enough for you and for the joy and delight you have given us in our praying for you? <sup>10</sup> For night and day we pray on and on for you, asking God to let us see you again, to fill up any little cracks there may yet be in your faith. <sup>11</sup> May God our Father himself and our Lord Jesus send us back to you again. <sup>12</sup> And may the Lord make your love to grow and overflow to each other and to everyone else, just as our love does toward you. <sup>13</sup> This will result in your hearts being made strong, sinless and holy by God our Father, so that you may stand before him guiltless on that day when our Lord Jesus Christ returns with all those who belong to him.<sup>a</sup>

4 LET ME ADD this, dear brothers: You already know how to please God in your daily living, for you know the commands we gave you from the Lord Jesus himself. Now we beg you—yes, we demand of you in the name of the Lord Jesus—that you live more and more closely to that ideal. <sup>2</sup> For God wants you to be holy and pure, and to keep clear of all sexual sin so that each of you will marry in holiness and honor—<sup>3</sup> not in lustful passion as the heathen do, in their ignorance of God and his ways.

<sup>4</sup> And this also is God's will: that you never cheat in this matter by taking another man's wife, because the Lord will punish you terribly for this, as we have solemnly told you before. <sup>7</sup> For God has not called us to be dirty-minded and full of lust, but to be holy and clean. <sup>8</sup> If anyone refuses to live by these rules he is not disobeying the rules of men but of God who gives his Holy Spirit to you.

<sup>9</sup> But concerning the pure brotherly love that there should be among God's people, I don't need to say very much, I'm sure! For God himself is teaching you to love one another. <sup>10</sup> Indeed, your love is already strong toward all the Christian brothers throughout your whole nation. Even so, dear friends, we beg you to love them more and more. <sup>11</sup> This should be your ambition: to live a quiet life, minding your own business and doing your own work, just as we told you before. <sup>12</sup> As a result, people who are not Christians will trust and respect you, and you will not need to depend on others for enough money to pay your bills.

<sup>13</sup> And now, dear brothers, I want you to know what happens to a Christian when he dies so that when it happens, you will not be full of sorrow, as those are who have no hope. <sup>14</sup> For since we believe that Jesus died and then came back to life again, we can also believe that when Jesus returns, God will bring back with him all the Christians who have died.

<sup>15</sup> I can tell you this directly from the Lord: that we who are still living when the Lord returns will not rise to meet him ahead of those who are in their graves. <sup>16</sup> For the Lord himself will come down from heaven with a mighty shout and with the soul-stirring cry of the archangel and the great trumpet-call of God. And the believers who are dead will be the first to rise to meet the Lord. <sup>17</sup> Then we who are still alive and remain on the earth will be caught up with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air and remain with him forever. <sup>18</sup> So comfort and encourage each other with this news.

5 WHEN IS ALL this going to happen?

I really don't need to say anything about that, dear brothers, <sup>2</sup> for you know perfectly well that no one knows. That day of the Lord will come unexpectedly like a thief in the night. <sup>3</sup> When people are saying, "All is well, everything is quiet and peaceful"—then, all of a sudden, disaster will fall upon them as suddenly as a woman's birth pains begin when her child is born. And these people will not be able to get away anywhere—there will be no place to hide.

<sup>4</sup> But, dear brothers, you are not in the dark about these things, and you won't be surprised as by a thief when that day of the Lord comes. <sup>5</sup> For you are all children of the light and of the day, and do not belong to darkness and night. <sup>6</sup> So be on your guard, not asleep like the others. Watch for his return and stay sober. <sup>7</sup> Night is the time for sleep and the time when people get drunk. <sup>8</sup> But let us who live in the light keep sober, protected by the armor of faith and love, and wearing as our helmet the happy hope of salvation.

<sup>9</sup> For God has not chosen to pour out his anger upon us, but to save us through our Lord Jesus Christ; <sup>10</sup> he died for us so that we can live with him forever, whether we are dead or alive at the time of his return. <sup>11</sup> So encourage each other to build each other up, just as you are already doing.

<sup>12</sup> Dear brothers, honor the officers of your church who work hard among you and warn you against all that is wrong. <sup>13</sup> Think highly of them and give them your wholehearted love because they are straining to help you. And remember, no quarreling among yourselves.

<sup>14</sup> Dear brothers, warn those who are lazy; comfort those who are frightened; take tender care of those who are weak; and be patient with everyone. <sup>15</sup> See that no one pays back evil for evil, but always try to do good to each other and to everyone else. <sup>16</sup> Always be joyful. <sup>17</sup> Always keep on praying. <sup>18</sup> No matter what happens, always be thankful, for this is God's will for you who belong to Christ Jesus.

<sup>19</sup> Do not smother the Holy Spirit. <sup>20</sup> Do not scoff at those who prophesy, <sup>21</sup> but test everything that is said to be sure it is true, and if it is, then accept it. <sup>22</sup> Keep away from every kind of evil. <sup>23</sup> May the God of peace himself make you entirely pure and devoted to God; and may your spirit and soul and body be kept strong and blameless until that day when our Lord Jesus Christ comes back again. <sup>24</sup> God, who called you to become his child, will do all this for you, just as he promised. <sup>25</sup> Dear brothers, pray for us. <sup>26</sup> Shake hands for me with all the brothers there. <sup>27</sup> I command you in the name of the Lord to read this letter to all the Christians. <sup>28</sup> And may rich blessings from our Lord Jesus Christ be with you, every one.

Sincerely,
Paul

2 THESSALONIANS

1 FROM: PAUL, SILAS and Timothy.

To: The church of Thessalonica—kept safe in God our Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>2</sup> May God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you rich blessings and peace-filled hearts and minds.

<sup>3</sup> Dear brothers, giving thanks to God for you is not only the right thing to do, but it is our duty to God, because of the really wonderful way your faith has grown, and because of your growing love for each other. <sup>4</sup> We are happy to tell other churches about your patience and complete faith in God, in spite of all the crushing troubles and hardships you are going through. <sup>5</sup> This is only one example of the fair, just way God does things, for he is using your sufferings to make you ready for his kingdom, <sup>6</sup> while at the same time he is preparing judgment and punishment for those who are hurting you.

<sup>7</sup> And so I would say to you who are suffering, God will give you rest along with us when the Lord Jesus appears suddenly from heaven in flaming fire with his mighty angels, <sup>8</sup> bringing judgment on those who do not wish to know God, and who refuse to accept his plan to save them through our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>9</sup> They will be punished in everlasting hell, forever separated from the Lord, never to see the glory of his power, <sup>10</sup> when he comes to receive praise and admiration because of all he has done for his people, his saints. And you will be among those praising him, because you have believed what we told you about him.

<sup>11</sup> And so we keep on praying for you that our God will make you the kind of children he wants to have—will make you as good as you wish you could be!—rewarding your faith with his power. <sup>12</sup> Then everyone will be praising the name of the Lord Jesus Christ because of the results they see in you; and your greatest glory will be that you belong to him. The tender mercy of our God and of the Lord Jesus Christ has made all this possible for you.

2 AND NOW, WHAT about the coming again of our Lord Jesus Christ, and our being gathered together to meet him? Please don't be upset and excited, dear brothers, by the rumor that this day of the Lord has already begun. If you hear of people having visions and special messages from God about this, or letters that are supposed to have come from me, don't believe them.

For that day will not come until two things happen: first, there will be a time of great rebellion against God, and then the man of rebellion will come—the son of hell. <sup>4</sup> He will defy every god there is, and tear down every other object of adoration and worship. He will go in and sit as God in the temple of God, claiming that he himself is God. <sup>5</sup> Don't you remember that I told you this when I was with you? <sup>6</sup> And you know what is keeping him from being here already; for he can come only when his time is ready.

<sup>7</sup> As for the work this man of rebellion and hell will do when he comes, it is already going on,<sup>a</sup> but he himself will not come until the one who is holding him back steps out of the way. <sup>8</sup> Then this wicked one will appear, whom the Lord Jesus will burn up with the breath of his mouth and destroy by his presence when he returns. <sup>9</sup> This man of sin will come as Satan's tool, full of satanic power, and will trick everyone with strange demonstrations, and will do great miracles.

<sup>10</sup> He will completely fool those who are on their way to hell because they have said "no" to the Truth; they have refused to believe it and love it, and let it save them, <sup>11</sup> so God will allow them to believe lies with all their hearts, <sup>12</sup> and all of them will be justly judged for believing falsehood, refusing the Truth, and enjoying their sins. <sup>13</sup> But we must forever give thanks to God for you, our brothers loved by the Lord, because God chose from the very first to give you salvation,<sup>b</sup> cleansing you by the work of the Holy Spirit and by your trusting in the Truth. <sup>14</sup> Through us he told you the Good News. Through us he called you to share in the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

<sup>15</sup> With all these things in mind, dear brothers, stand firm and keep a strong grip on the truth that we taught you in our letters and during the time we were with you.

<sup>16</sup> May our Lord Jesus Christ himself and God our Father, who has loved us and given us everlasting comfort and hope which we don't deserve, <sup>17</sup> comfort your hearts with all comfort, and help you in every good thing you say and do.

3 FINALLY, DEAR BROTHERS, as I come to the end of this letter I ask you to pray for us. Pray first that the Lord's message will spread rapidly and triumph wherever it goes, winning converts everywhere as it did when it came to you. <sup>2</sup> Pray too that we will be saved out of the clutches of evil men, for not everyone loves the Lord. <sup>3</sup> But the Lord is faithful; he will make you strong and guard you from satanic attacks of every kind. <sup>4</sup> And we trust the Lord that you are putting into practice the things we taught you, and that you always will. <sup>5</sup> May the Lord bring you into an ever deeper understanding of the love of God and of the patience that comes from Christ.

Lord Jesus Christ by his authority: Stay away from any Christian who spends his days in laziness and does not follow the ideal of hard work we set up for you. <sup>7</sup> For you well know that you ought to follow our example: you never saw us loafing; <sup>8</sup> we never accepted food from anyone without buying it; we worked hard day and night for the money we needed to live on, in order that we would not be a burden to any of you. <sup>9</sup> It wasn't that we didn't have the right to ask you to feed us, but we wanted to show you, firsthand, how you should work for your living.

<sup>10</sup> Even while we were still there with you we gave you this rule: "He who does not work shall not eat."

<sup>11</sup> Yet we hear that some of you are living in laziness, refusing to work, and wasting your time in gossiping. <sup>12</sup> In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ we appeal to such people—we command them—to quiet down, get to work, and earn their own living. <sup>13</sup> And to the rest of you I say, dear brothers, never be tired of doing right.

<sup>14</sup> If anyone refuses to obey what we say in this letter, notice who he is and stay away from him, that he may be ashamed of himself. <sup>15</sup> Don't think of him as an enemy, but speak to him as you would to a brother who needs to be warned. <sup>16</sup> May the Lord of peace himself give you his peace no matter what happens. The Lord be with you all.

<sup>17</sup> Now here is my greeting which I am writing with my own hand, as I do at the end of all my letters, for proof that it really is from me. This is in my own handwriting. <sup>16</sup> May the blessing of our Lord Jesus Christ be upon you all.

Sincerely,
Paul

1 TIMOTHY

1 FROM: PAUL, A missionary of Jesus Christ, sent out by the direct command of God our Savior and by Jesus Christ our Lord—our only hope.

Timothy, you are like a son to me in the things of the Lord. May God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord show you his kindness and mercy and give you great peace of heart and mind.

<sup>3,4</sup> As I said when I left for Macedonia, please stay there in Ephesus and try to stop the men who are teaching such wrong doctrine. Put an end to their myths and fables, and their idea of being saved by finding favor with an endless chain of angels leading up to God—wild ideas that stir up questions and arguments instead of helping people accept God's plan of faith. <sup>5</sup> What I am eager for is that all the Christians there will be filled with love that comes from pure hearts, and that their minds will be clean and their faith strong.

<sup>6</sup> But these teachers have missed this whole idea and spend their time arguing and talking foolishness. <sup>7</sup> They want to become famous as teachers of the laws of Moses when they haven't the slightest idea what those laws really show us. <sup>8</sup> Those laws are good when used as God intended. <sup>9</sup> But they were not made for us, whom God has saved; they are for sinners who hate God, have rebellious hearts, curse and swear, attack their fathers and mothers, and murder. <sup>10,11</sup> Yes, these laws are made to identify as sinners all who are immoral and impure: homosexuals, kidnappers, liars, and all others who do things that contradict the glorious Good News of our blessed God, whose messenger I am.

<sup>12</sup> How thankful I am to Christ Jesus our Lord for choosing me as one of his messengers, and giving me the strength to be faithful to him, <sup>13</sup> even though I used to scoff at the name of Christ. I hunted down his people, harming them in every way I could. But God had mercy on me because I didn't know what I was doing, for I didn't know Christ at that time. <sup>14</sup> Oh, how kind our Lord was, for he showed me how to trust him and become full of the love of Christ Jesus.

<sup>15</sup> How true it is, and how I long that everyone should know it, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners—and I was the greatest of them all. <sup>16</sup> But God had mercy on me so that Christ Jesus could use me as an example to show everyone how patient he is with even the worst sinners, so that others will realize that they, too, can have everlasting life. <sup>17</sup> Glory and honor to God forever and ever. He is the King of the ages, the unseen one who never dies; he alone is God, and full of wisdom. Amen.

<sup>14</sup> Now, Timothy, my son, here is my command to you: Fight well in the Lord's battles, just as the Lord told us through his prophets that you would. <sup>15</sup> Cling tightly to your faith in Christ and always keep your conscience clear, doing what you know is right. For some people have disobeyed their consciences and have deliberately done what they knew was wrong. It isn't surprising that soon they lost their faith in Christ after defying God like that. <sup>20</sup> Hymenaeus and Alexander are two examples of this. I had to give them over to Satan to punish them until they could learn not to bring shame to the name of Christ.

2 HERE ARE MY directions: Pray much for others; plead for God's mercy upon them; give thanks for all he is going to do for them.

<sup>2</sup> Pray in this way for kings and all others who are in authority over us, or are in places of high responsibility, so that we can live in peace and quietness, spending our time in godly living and thinking much about the Lord.<sup>a</sup> <sup>3</sup> This is good and pleases God our Savior, <sup>4</sup> for he longs for all to be saved and to understand this truth: <sup>5</sup> That God is on one side and all the people on the other side, and Christ Jesus, himself man, is between them to bring them together, <sup>6</sup> by giving his life for all mankind.

This is the message which at the proper time God gave to the world. <sup>7</sup> And I have been chosen—this is the absolute truth—as God's minister and missionary to teach this truth to the Gentiles, and to show them God's plan of salvation through faith. <sup>8</sup> So I want men everywhere to pray with holy hands lifted up to God, free from sin and anger and resentment. <sup>9,10</sup> And the women should be the same way, quiet and sensible in manner and clothing. Christian women should be noticed for being kind and good, not for the way they fix their hair or because of their jewels or fancy clothes. <sup>11</sup> Women should listen and learn quietly and humbly.

<sup>12</sup> I never let women teach men or lord it over them. Let them be silent in your church meetings. <sup>13</sup> Why? Because God made Adam first, and afterwards he made Eve. <sup>14</sup> And it was not Adam who was fooled by Satan, but Eve, and sin was the result. <sup>15</sup> So God sent pain and suffering to women when their children are born, but he will save their souls if they trust in him, living quiet, good, and loving lives.

3 IT IS A true saying that if a man wants to be a pastor<sup>a</sup> he has a good ambition. <sup>2</sup> For a pastor must be a good man whose life cannot be spoken against. He must have only one wife, and he must be hard working and thoughtful, orderly, and full of good deeds. He must enjoy having guests in his home, and must be a good Bible teacher. <sup>3</sup> He must not be a drinker or quarrelsome, but he must be gentle and a Literally, "in gravity."

a More literally, "church leader" or "presiding elder."

kind, and not be one who loves money. <sup>4</sup>He must have a well-behaved family, with children who obey quickly and quietly. <sup>5</sup>For if a man can't make his own little family behave, how can he help the whole church?

<sup>6</sup>The pastor must not be a new Christian, because he might be proud of being chosen so soon, and pride comes before a fall. (Satan's downfall is an example.) <sup>7</sup>Also, he must be well spoken of by people outside the church—those who aren't Christians—so that Satan can't trap him with many accusations, and leave him without freedom to lead his flock.

<sup>8</sup>The deacons must be the same sort of good, steady men as the pastors. They must not be heavy drinkers and must not be greedy for money. <sup>9</sup>They must be earnest, wholehearted followers of Christ who is the hidden Source of their faith. <sup>10</sup>Before they are asked to be deacons they should be given other jobs in the church as a test of their character and ability, and if they do well, then they may be chosen as deacons.

<sup>11</sup>Their wives must be thoughtful, not heavy drinkers, not gossipers, but faithful in everything they do. <sup>12</sup>Deacons should have only one wife and they should have happy, obedient families. <sup>13</sup>Those who do well as deacons will be well rewarded both by respect from others and also by developing their own confidence and bold trust in the Lord.

<sup>14</sup>I am writing these things to you now, even though I hope to be with you soon, <sup>15</sup>so that if I don't come for awhile you will know what kind of men you should choose as officers for the church of the living God, which contains and holds high the truth of God.

<sup>16</sup>It is quite true that the way to live a godly life is not an easy matter. But the answer lies in Christ, who came to earth as a man, was proved spotless and pure in his Spirit, was served by angels, was preached among the nations, was accepted by men everywhere and was received up again to his glory in heaven.

4 BUT THE HOLY Spirit tells us clearly that in the last times some in the church will turn away from Christ and become eager followers of teachers with devil-inspired ideas. <sup>2</sup>These teachers will tell lies with straight faces and do it so often that their consciences won't even bother them. <sup>3</sup>They will say it is wrong to be married and wrong to eat meat, even though God gave these things to well-taught Christians to enjoy and be thankful for. <sup>4</sup>For everything God made is good, and we may eat it gladly if we are thankful for it, <sup>5</sup>and if we ask God to bless it, for it is made good by the Word of God and prayer.

<sup>6</sup>If you explain this to the others you will be doing your duty as a worthy pastor who is fed by faith and by the true teaching you have followed.

<sup>7</sup>Don't waste time arguing over foolish ideas and silly myths and legends. Spend your time and energy in the exercise of keeping spiritually fit. <sup>8</sup>Bodily exercise is all right, but spiritual exercise is much more important and is a tonic for all you do. So exercise yourself spiritually and practice being a better Christian, because that will help you not only now in this life, but in the next life too. <sup>9,10</sup> This is the truth and everyone should accept it. We work hard and suffer much in order that people will believe it, for our hope is in the living God who died for all, and particularly for those who have accepted his salvation.

<sup>11</sup> Teach these things and make sure everyone learns them well. <sup>12</sup> Don't let anyone think little of you because you are young. Be their ideal; let them follow the way you teach and live; be a pattern for them in your love, your faith, and your clean thoughts. <sup>13</sup> Until I get there, read and explain the Scriptures to the church; preach God's Word.

<sup>14</sup> Be sure to use the abilities God has given you through his prophets when the elders of the church laid their hands upon your head. <sup>15</sup> Put these abilities to work; throw yourself into your tasks so that everyone may notice your improvement and progress. <sup>16</sup> Keep a close watch on all you do and think. Stay true to what is right and God will bless you and use you to help others.

5 NEVER SPEAK SHARPLY to an older man, but plead with him respectfully just as though he were your own father. Talk to the younger men as you would to much loved brothers. <sup>2</sup> Treat the older women as mothers, and the girls as your sisters, thinking only pure thoughts about them.

have died, if they don't have anyone else to help them. <sup>4</sup> But if they have children or grandchildren, these are the ones who should take the responsibility, for kindness should begin at home, supporting needy parents. This is something that pleases God very much.

<sup>5</sup> The church should care for widows who are poor and alone in the world, if they are looking to God for his help and spending much time in prayer; <sup>6</sup> but not if they are spending their time running around gossiping, seeking only pleasure and thus ruining their souls. <sup>7</sup> This should be your church rule so that the Christians will know and do what is right.

<sup>8</sup> But anyone who won't care for his own relatives when they need help, especially those living in his own family, has no right to say he is a Christian. Such a person is worse than the heathen.

<sup>9</sup> A widow who wants to become one of the special church workers<sup>a</sup> should be at least sixty years old and have been married only once. <sup>10</sup> She must be well thought of by everyone because of the good she has done. Has she brought up her children well? Has she been kind to strangers as well as to other Christians? Has she helped those who are sick and hurt? Is she always ready to show kindness?

<sup>11</sup> The younger widows should not become members of this special group because after awhile they are likely to disregard their vow to Christ and marry again. <sup>12</sup> And so they will stand condemned because they broke their first promise. <sup>13</sup> Besides, they are likely to be lazy and spend their time gossiping around from house to house, getting into other people's business. <sup>14</sup> So I think it is better for these younger widows to marry again and have children, and take care of their own homes; then no one will be able to say anything against them. <sup>15</sup> For I am afraid that some of them have already turned away from the church and been led astray by Satan.

<sup>16</sup> Let me remind you again that a widow's relatives must take care of her, and not leave this to the church to do. Then the church can spend its money for the care of widows who are all alone and have nowhere else to turn.

<sup>17</sup> Pastors who do their work well should be paid well and should be highly appreciated, especially those who work hard at both preaching and teaching. <sup>18</sup> For the Scriptures say, "Never tie up the mouth of an ox when it is treading out the grain—let him eat as he goes along!" And in another place, "Those who work deserve their pay!"

<sup>19</sup> Don't listen to complaints against the pastor unless there are two or three witnesses to accuse him. <sup>20</sup> If he has really sinned, then he should be rebuked in front of the whole church so that no one else will follow his example.

<sup>21</sup> I solemnly command you in the presence of God and the Lord Jesus Christ and of the holy angels to do this whether the pastor is a special friend of yours or not. All must be treated exactly the same. <sup>22</sup> Never be in a hurry about choosing a pastor; you may overlook his sins and it will look as if you approve of them. Be sure that you yourself stay away from all sin. <sup>23</sup> (By the way, this doesn't mean you should completely give up drinking wine. You ought to take a little sometimes as medicine for your stomach because you are sick so often.)

<sup>24</sup> Remember that some men, even pastors, lead sinful lives and everyone knows it. In such situations you can do something about it. But in other cases only the judgment day will reveal the terrible truth. <sup>25</sup> In the same way, everyone knows how much good some pastors do, but sometimes their good deeds aren't known until long afterward.

6 CHRISTIAN SLAVES SHOULD work hard for their owners and respect them; never let it be said that Christ's people are poor workers. Don't let the name of God or his teaching be laughed at because of this. <sup>2</sup> If their owner is a Christian, that is no excuse for slowing down; rather they should work all the harder because a brother in the faith is being helped by their efforts.

Teach these truths, Timothy, and encourage all to obey them. <sup>3</sup> Some may deny these things, but they are the sound, wholesome teachings of the Lord Jesus Christ and are the foundation for a godly life. <sup>4</sup> Anyone who says anything different is both proud and stupid. He is quibbling over the meaning of Christ's words and stirring up arguments ending in jealousy and anger, which only lead to name-calling, accusations, and evil suspicions. <sup>5</sup> These arguers—their minds warped by sin—don't know how to tell the truth; to them the Good News is just a means of making money. Keep away from them.

<sup>6</sup> Do you want to be truly rich? You already are if you are happy and good. <sup>7</sup> After all, we didn't bring any money with us when we came into the world, and we can't carry away a single penny when we die. <sup>8</sup> So we should be well satisfied without money if we have enough food and clothing. <sup>9</sup> But people who long to be rich soon begin to do all kinds of wrong things to get money, things that hurt them and make them evil-minded and finally send them to hell itself. <sup>10</sup> For the love of money is the first step toward all kinds of sin. Some people have even turned away from God because of their love for it, and as a result have pierced themselves with many sorrows.

<sup>11</sup> Oh, Timothy, you are God's man. Run from all these evil things and work instead at what is right and good, learning to trust him and love others, and to be patient and gentle. <sup>12</sup> Fight on for God. Hold tightly to the eternal life which God has given you, and which you have confessed with such a ringing confession before many witnesses.

<sup>13</sup> I command you before God who gives life to all, and before Christ Jesus who gave a fearless testimony before Pontius Pilate, <sup>14</sup> that you fulfill all he has told you to do, so that no one can find fault with you from now until our Lord Jesus Christ returns. <sup>15</sup> For in due season Christ will be revealed from heaven by the blessed and only Almighty God, the King of kings and Lord of lords, <sup>16</sup> who alone can never die, who lives in light so terrible that no human being can approach him. No mere man has ever seen him, nor ever will. Unto him be honor and everlasting power and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

<sup>17</sup> Tell those who are rich not to be proud and not to trust in their money, which will soon be gone, but their pride and trust should be in the living God who always richly gives us all we need for our enjoyment. <sup>18</sup> Tell them to use their money to do good. They should be rich in good works and should give happily to those in need, always being ready to share with others whatever God has given them. <sup>19</sup> By doing this they will be storing up real treasure for themselves in heaven—it is the only safe investment for eternity! And they will be living a fruitful Christian life down here as well.

<sup>20</sup> Oh, Timothy, don't fail to do these things that God entrusted to you. Keep out of foolish arguments with those who boast of their "knowledge" and thus prove their lack of it. <sup>21</sup> Some of these people have missed the most important thing in life—they don't know God. May God's mercy be upon you.

Sincerely,
Paul

2 TIMOTHY

1 FROM: PAUL, JESUS Christ's missionary, sent out by God to tell men and women everywhere about the eternal life he has promised them through faith in Jesus Christ.

<sup>2</sup> To: Timothy, my dear son. May God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord shower you with his kindness, mercy and peace.

<sup>3</sup> How I thank God for you, Timothy. I pray for you every day, and many times during the long nights I beg my God to bless you richly. He is my fathers' God, and mine, and my only purpose in life is to please him.

<sup>4</sup> How I long to see you again. How happy I would be, for I remember your tears as we left each other.

<sup>5</sup> I know how much you trust the Lord, just as your mother Eunice and your grandmother Lois do; and I feel sure you are still trusting him as much as ever.

<sup>6</sup> This being so, I want to remind you to stir into flame the strength and boldness<sup>a</sup> that is in you, that entered into you when I laid my hands upon your head and blessed you. <sup>7</sup> For the Holy Spirit, God's gift, does not want you to be afraid of people, but to be wise and strong, and to love them and enjoy being with them. <sup>8</sup> If you will stir up this inner power, you will never be afraid to tell others about our Lord, or to let them know that I am your friend even though I am here in jail for Christ's sake. You will be ready to suffer with me for the Lord, for he will give you strength in suffering.

<sup>9</sup> It is he who saved us and chose us for his holy work, not because we deserved it but because that was his plan long before the world began—to show his love and kindness to us through Christ. <sup>10</sup> And now he has made all of this plain to us by the coming of our Savior Jesus Christ, who broke the power of death and showed us the way of everlasting life through trusting him. <sup>11</sup> And God has chosen me to be his missionary, to preach to the Gentiles and teach them.

<sup>12</sup> That is why I am suffering here in jail and I am certainly not ashamed of it, for I know the one in whom I trust, and I am sure that he is able to safely guard all that I have given him until the day of his return.

<sup>13</sup> Hold tightly to the pattern of truth I taught you, especially concerning the faith and love Christ Jesus offers you.<sup>b</sup> <sup>14</sup> Guard well the splendid, God-given ability you received as a gift from the Holy Spirit who lives within you.

<sup>15</sup> As you know, all the Christians who came here from Asia have deserted me; even Phygellus and Hermogenes are gone. <sup>16</sup> May the Lord bless Onesiphorus and all his family, because he visited me and encouraged me often. His visits revived me like a breath of fresh air, and he was never ashamed of my being in jail. <sup>17</sup> In fact, when he came to Rome he searched everywhere trying to find me, and finally did. <sup>18</sup> May the Lord give him a special blessing at the day of Christ's return. And you know better than I can tell you how much he helped me at Ephesus.

<sup>b</sup> Literally, "and love that is in Christ

2 OH, TIMOTHY, MY son, be strong with the strength Christ Jesus gives you. <sup>2</sup> For you must teach others those things you and many others have heard me speak about. Teach these great truths to trustworthy men who will, in turn, pass them on to others.

<sup>3</sup> Take your share of suffering as a good soldier of Jesus Christ, just as I do, <sup>4</sup> and as Christ's soldier do not let yourself become tied up in worldly affairs, for then you cannot satisfy the one who has enlisted you in his army. <sup>5</sup> Follow the Lord's rules for doing his work, just as an athlete either follows the rules or is disqualified and wins no prize. <sup>6</sup> Work hard, like a farmer who gets paid well if he raises a large crop. <sup>7</sup> Think over these three illustrations, and may the Lord help you to understand how they apply to you.

<sup>8</sup> Don't ever forget the wonderful fact that Jesus Christ was a Man, born into King David's family; and that he was God, as shown by the fact that he rose again from the dead.

<sup>9</sup> It is because I have preached these great truths that I am in trouble here and have been put in jail like a criminal. But the Word of God is not chained, even though I am. <sup>10</sup> I am more than willing to suffer if that will bring salvation and eternal glory in Christ Jesus to those God has chosen.

<sup>11</sup> I am comforted by this truth, that when we suffer and die for Christ it only means that we will begin living with him in heaven. <sup>12</sup> And if we think that our present service for him is hard, just remember that some day we are going to sit with him and rule with him. But if we give up when we suffer, and turn against Christ, then he must turn against us.

<sup>13</sup> Even when we are too weak to have any faith left, he remains faithful to us and will help us, for he cannot disown us who are part of himself, and he will always carry out his promises to us.

<sup>14</sup> Remind your people of these great facts, and command them in the name of the Lord not to argue over unimportant things. Such arguments are confusing and useless, and even harmful. <sup>15</sup> Work hard so God can say to you, "Well done." Be a good workman, one who does not need to be ashamed when God examines your work. Know what his Word says and means. <sup>16</sup> Steer clear of foolish discussions which lead people into the sin of anger with each other. <sup>17</sup> Things will be said that will burn and hurt for a long time to come. Hymenaeus and Philetus, in their love of argument, are men like that. <sup>18</sup> They have left the path of truth, preaching the lie that the resurrection of the dead has already occurred; and they have weakened the faith of some who believe them.

<sup>19</sup> But God's truth stands firm like a great rock, and nothing can shake it. It is a foundation stone with these words written on it: "The Lord knows those who are really his," and "A person who calls himself a Christian should not be doing things that are wrong."

<sup>20</sup> In a wealthy home there are dishes made of gold and silver as well as some made from wood and clay. The expensive dishes are used for guests, and the cheap ones are used in the kitchen or to put garbage in. <sup>21</sup> If you stay away from sin you will be like one of these dishes made of purest gold—the very best in the house—so that Christ himself can use you for his highest purposes.

<sup>22</sup> Run from anything that gives you the evil thoughts that young men often have, but stay close to anything that makes you want to do right. Have faith and love, and enjoy the companionship of those who love the Lord and have pure hearts.

<sup>23</sup> Again I say, don't get involved in foolish arguments which only upset people and make them angry.

<sup>24</sup> God's people must not be quarrelsome; they must be gentle, patient teachers of those who are wrong.

<sup>25</sup> Be humble when you are trying to teach those who are mixed up concerning the truth. For if you talk meekly and courteously to them they are more likely, with God's help, to turn away from their wrong ideas and believe what is true. <sup>26</sup> Then they will come to their senses and escape from Satan's trap of slavery to sin which he uses to catch them whenever he likes, and then they can begin doing the will of God.

3 YOU MAY AS well know this too, Timothy, that in the last days it is going to be very difficult to be a Christian. <sup>2</sup> For people will love only themselves and their money; they will be proud and boastful, sneering at God, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful to them, and thoroughly bad. <sup>3</sup> They will be hardheaded and never give in to others; they will be constant liars and troublemakers and will think nothing of immorality. They will be rough and cruel, and sneer at those who try to be good. <sup>4</sup> They will betray their friends; they will be hot-headed, puffed up with pride, and prefer good times to worshiping God. <sup>5</sup> They will go to church,<sup>a</sup> yes, but they won't really believe anything they hear. Don't be taken in by people like that.

<sup>6</sup> They are the kind who craftily sneak into other people's homes and make friendships with silly, sin-burdened women and teach them their new doctrines. <sup>7</sup> Women of that kind are forever following new teachers, but they never understand the truth. <sup>8</sup> And these teachers fight truth just as Jannes and Jambres fought against Moses. They have dirty minds, warped and twisted, and have turned against the Christian faith.

<sup>9</sup> But they won't get away with all this forever. Some day their deceit will be well known to everyone, as was the sin of Jannes and Jambres.

<sup>10</sup> But you know from watching me that I am not that kind of person. You know what I believe and the way I live and what I want. You know my faith in Christ and how I have suffered. You know my love for you, and my patience. <sup>11</sup> You know how many troubles I have had as a result of my preaching the Good News. You know about all that was done to me while I was visiting in Antioch, Iconium and Lystra, but the Lord delivered me. <sup>12</sup> Yes, and those who decide to please Christ Jesus by living godly lives will suffer at the hands of those who hate him. <sup>13</sup> In fact, evil men and false teachers will become worse and worse, deceiving many, they themselves having been deceived by Satan.

<sup>14</sup> But you must keep on believing the things you have been taught. You know they are true for you know that you can trust those of us who have taught you. <sup>15</sup> You know how, when you were a small child, you were taught the holy Scriptures; and it is these that make you wise to accept God's salvation by trusting in Christ Jesus. <sup>16</sup> The whole Bible<sup>b</sup> was given to us by inspiration from God and is useful to teach us what is true and to make us realize what is wrong in our lives; it straightens us out and helps us do what is right. <sup>17</sup> It is God's way of making us well prepared at every point, fully equipped to do good to everyone.

4 AND SO I solemnly urge you before God and before Christ Jesus—who will some day judge the living and the dead when he appears to set up his kingdom—<sup>2</sup> to preach the Word of God urgently at all times, whenever you get the chance, in season and out, when it is convenient and when it is not. Correct and rebuke your people when they need it, encourage them to do right, and all the time be feeding them patiently with God's Word.

<sup>3</sup> For there is going to come a time when people won't listen to the truth, but will go around looking for teachers who will tell them just what they want to hear. <sup>4</sup> They won't listen to what the Bible says but will blithely follow their own misguided ideas.

<sup>5</sup> Stand steady, and don't be afraid of suffering for the Lord. Bring others to Christ. Leave nothing undone that you ought to do.

<sup>6</sup> I say this because I won't be around to help you very much longer. My time has almost run out. Very soon now I will be on my way to heaven. <sup>7</sup> I have fought long and hard for my Lord, and through it all I have kept true to him. And now the time has come for me to stop fighting and rest. <sup>8</sup> In heaven a crown is waiting for me which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give me on that great day of his return. And not just to me, but to all those whose lives show that they are eagerly looking forward to his coming back again.

<sup>9</sup> Please come as soon as you can, <sup>10</sup> for Demas has left me. He loved the good things of this life and went to Thessalonica. Crescens has gone to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia. <sup>11</sup> Only Luke is with me. Bring Mark with you when you come, for I need him. <sup>12</sup> (Tychicus is gone too, as I sent him to Ephesus.) <sup>13</sup> When you come, be sure to bring the coat I left at Troas with Brother Carpus, and also the books, but especially the parchments.

<sup>14</sup> Alexander the coppersmith has done me much harm. The Lord will punish him, <sup>15</sup> but be careful of him, for he fought against everything we said.

<sup>16</sup> The first time I was brought before the judge no one was here to help me. Everyone had run away. I hope that they will not be blamed for it. <sup>17</sup> But the Lord stood with me and gave me the opportunity to boldly preach a whole sermon for all the world to hear. And he saved me from being thrown to the lions.<sup>a</sup> <sup>18</sup> Yes, and the Lord will always deliver me from all evil and will bring me into his heavenly kingdom. To God be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

Farewell,
Paul

TITUS

1 FROM: PAUL, THE slave of God and the messenger of Jesus Christ.

I have been sent to bring faith to those God has chosen and to teach them to know God's truth—the kind of truth that changes lives—so that they can have eternal life, which God promised them before the world began—and he cannot lie. <sup>3</sup> And now in his own good time he has revealed this Good News and permits me to tell it to everyone. By command of God our Savior I have been trusted to do this work for him.

<sup>4</sup> To: Titus, who is truly my son in the affairs of the Lord.

May God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior give you his blessings and his peace.

<sup>5</sup> I left you there on the island of Crete so that you could do whatever was needed to help strengthen each of its churches, and I asked you to appoint pastors<sup>a</sup> in every city who would follow the instructions I gave you.

<sup>6</sup> The men you choose must be well thought of for their good lives; they must have only one wife and their children must love the Lord and not have a reputation for being wild or disobedient to their parents.

<sup>7</sup> These pastors<sup>a</sup> must be men of blameless lives because they are God's ministers. They must not be proud or impatient; they must not be drunkards or fighters or greedy for money. <sup>8</sup> They must enjoy having guests in their homes and must love all that is good. They must be sensible men, and fair. They must be clean minded and level headed. <sup>9</sup> Their belief in the truth which they have been taught must be strong and steadfast, so that they will be able to teach it to others and show those who disagree with them where they are wrong.

<sup>10</sup> For there are many who refuse to obey; this is especially true among those who say that all Christians must obey the Jewish laws. But this is foolish talk; it blinds people to the truth, <sup>11</sup> and it must be stopped. Already whole families have been turned away from the grace of God. Such teachers are only after your money. <sup>12</sup> One of their own men, a prophet from Crete, has said about them, "These men of Crete are all liars; they are like lazy animals, living only to satisfy their stomachs." <sup>13</sup> And this is true. So speak to the Christians there as sternly as necessary to make them strong in the faith, <sup>14</sup> and to stop them from listening to Jewish folk tales and the demands of men who have turned their backs on the truth.

<sup>15</sup> A person who is pure of heart sees goodness and purity in everything; but a person whose own heart is evil and untrusting finds evil in everything, for his dirty mind and rebellious heart color all he sees and hears.

<sup>16</sup> Such persons claim they know God, but from seeing the way they act, one knows they don't. They are rotten and disobedient, worthless so far as doing anything good is concerned.

2 BUT AS FOR you, speak up for the right living that goes along with true Christianity. <sup>1</sup> Teach the older men to be serious and unruffled; they must be sensible, knowing and believing the truth and doing everything with love and patience.

<sup>2</sup> Teach the older women to be quiet and respectful in everything they do. They must not go around speaking evil of others and must not be heavy drinkers, but they should be teachers of goodness. <sup>3</sup> These older women must train the younger women to live quietly, to love their husbands and their children, <sup>4</sup> and to be sensible and clean minded, spending their time in their own homes, being kind and obedient to their husbands, so that the Christian faith can't be spoken against by those who know them.

<sup>5</sup> In the same way, urge the young men to behave carefully, taking life seriously. <sup>6</sup> And here you yourself must be an example to them of good deeds of every kind. Let everything you do reflect your love of the truth and the fact that you are in dead earnest about it. <sup>7</sup> Your conversation should be so sensible and logical that anyone who wants to argue will be ashamed of himself because there won't be anything to criticize in anything you say!

<sup>8</sup> Urge slaves to obey their masters and to try their best to satisfy them. They must not talk back, <sup>9</sup> nor steal, but must show themselves to be entirely trustworthy. In this way they will make people want to believe in our Savior and God.

<sup>10</sup> For the free gift of eternal salvation is now being offered to everyone; <sup>12</sup> and along with this gift comes the realization that God wants us to turn from godless living and sinful pleasures and to live good, God-fearing lives day after day, <sup>13</sup> looking forward to that wonderful time we've been expecting, when his glory shall be seen—the glory of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ. <sup>14</sup> He died under God's judgment against our sins, so that he could rescue us from constant falling into sin and make us his very own people, with cleansed hearts and real enthusiasm for doing kind things for others. <sup>15</sup> You must teach these things and encourage your people to do them, correcting them when necessary as one who has every right to do so. Don't let anyone think that what you say is not important.

3 REMIND YOUR PEOPLE to obey the government and its officers, and always to be obedient and ready for any honest work. <sup>2</sup> They must not speak evil of anyone, nor quarrel, but be gentle and truly courteous to all.

<sup>3</sup> Once we, too, were foolish and disobedient; we were misled by others and became slaves to many evil pleasures and wicked desires. Our lives were full of resentment and envy. We hated others and they hated us.

<sup>4</sup> But when the time came for the kindness and love of God our Savior to appear, <sup>5</sup> then he saved us—not because we were good enough to be saved, but because of his kindness and pity—by washing away our sins and giving us the new joy of the indwelling Holy Spirit <sup>6</sup> whom he poured out upon us with wonderful fullness—and all because of what Jesus Christ our Savior did <sup>7</sup> so that he could declare us good in God's eyes—all because of his great kindness; and now we can share in the wealth of the eternal life he gives us, and we are eagerly looking forward to receiving it. <sup>8</sup> These things I have told you are all true. Insist on them so that Christians will be careful to do good deeds all the time, for this is not only right, but it brings results.

<sup>9</sup> Don't get involved in arguing over unanswerable questions and controversial theological ideas; keep out of arguments and quarrels about obedience to Jewish laws, for this kind of thing isn't worthwhile; it only does harm. <sup>10</sup> If anyone is causing divisions among you, he should be given a first and second warning. After that have nothing more to do with him, <sup>11</sup> for such a person has a wrong sense of values. He is sinning, and he knows it.

<sup>12</sup> I am planning to send either Artemas or Tychicus to you. As soon as one of them arrives, please try to meet me at Nicopolis as quickly as you can, for I have decided to stay there for the winter. <sup>13</sup> Do everything you can to help Zenas the lawyer and Apollos with their trip; see that they are given everything they need. <sup>14</sup> For our people must learn to help all who need their assistance, that their lives will be fruitful.

<sup>15</sup> Everybody here sends greetings. Please say "hello" to all of the Christian friends there. May God's blessings be with you all.

Sincerely,
Paul

PHILEMON

1 FROM: PAUL, IN jail for preaching the Good News about Jesus Christ, and from Brother Timothy.

To: Philemon, our much loved fellow worker, and to the church that meets in your home, and to Apphia our sister, and to Archippus who like myself is a soldier of the cross.

<sup>1</sup> May God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ give you his blessings and his peace.

<sup>2</sup> I always thank God when I am praying for you, dear Philemon, <sup>3</sup> because I keep hearing of your love and trust in the Lord Jesus and in his people. <sup>4</sup> And I pray that as you share your faith with others it will grip their lives too, as they see the wealth of good things in you that come from Christ Jesus. <sup>5</sup> I myself have gained much joy and comfort from your love, my brother, because your kindness has so often refreshed the hearts of God's people.

<sup>6,9</sup> Now I want to ask a favor of you. I could demand it of you in the name of Christ because it is the right thing for you to do, but I love you and prefer just to ask you—I, Paul, an old man now, here in jail for the sake of Jesus Christ.

<sup>10</sup> My plea is that you show kindness to my child Onesimus, whom I won to the Lord while here in my chains. <sup>11</sup> Onesimus (whose name means "Useful") hasn't been of much use to you in the past, but now he is going to be of real use to both of us. <sup>12</sup> I am sending him back to you, and with him comes my own heart.

<sup>13</sup> I really wanted to keep him here with me while I am in these chains for preaching the Good News, and you would have been helping me through him, <sup>14</sup> but I didn't want to do it without your consent. I didn't want you to be kind because you had to but because you wanted to. <sup>15</sup> Perhaps you could think of it this way: that he ran away from you for a little while so that now he can be yours forever, <sup>16</sup> no longer only a slave, but something much better—a beloved brother, especially to me. Now he will mean much more to you too, because he is not only a servant but also your brother in Christ.

<sup>17</sup> If I am really your friend, give him the same welcome you would give to me if I were the one who was coming. <sup>18</sup> If he has harmed you in any way or stolen anything from you, charge me for it. <sup>19</sup> I will pay it back (I, Paul, personally guarantee this by writing it here with my own hand) but I won't mention how much you owe me! The fact is, you even owe me your very soul! <sup>20</sup> Yes, dear brother, give me joy with this loving act and my weary heart will praise the Lord.

<sup>21</sup> I've written you this letter because I am positive that you will do what I ask and even more!

<sup>22</sup> Please keep a guest room ready for me, for I am hoping that God will answer your prayers and let me come to you soon.

<sup>23</sup> Epaphras my fellow prisoner, who is also here for preaching Christ Jesus, sends you his greetings. <sup>24</sup> So do Mark, Aristarchus, Demas and Luke, my fellow workers. <sup>2</sup> The blessings of our Lord Jesus Christ be upon your spirit.

Paul

HEBREWS

1 LONG AGO GOD spoke in many different ways to our fathers through the prophets [in visions, dreams, and even face to face<sup>a</sup>], telling them little by little about his plans.

<sup>2</sup> But now in these days he has spoken to us through his Son to whom he has given everything, and through whom he made the world and everything there is.

<sup>3</sup> God's Son shines out with God's glory, and all that God's Son is and does marks him as God. He regulates the universe by the mighty power of his command. He is the one who died to cleanse us and clear our record of all sin, and then sat down in highest honor beside the great God of heaven.

<sup>4</sup> Thus he became far greater than the angels, as proved by the fact that his name "Son of God," which was passed on to him from his Father, is far greater than the names and titles of the angels. <sup>5</sup> For God never said to any angel, "You are my Son, and today I have given you the honor that goes with that name."<sup>b</sup> But God said it about Jesus. Another time he said, "I am his Father and he is my Son." And still another time—when his first-born Son came to earth—God said, "Let all the angels of God worship him."

<sup>7</sup> God speaks of his angels as messengers swift as the wind and as servants made of flaming fire; <sup>8</sup> but of his Son he says, "Your kingdom, O God, will last forever and ever; its commands are always just and right. <sup>9</sup> You love right and hate wrong; so God, even your God, has poured out more gladness upon you than on anyone else."

<sup>10</sup> God also called him "Lord" when he said, "Lord, in the beginning you made the earth, and the heavens are the work of your hands. <sup>11</sup> They will disappear into nothingness, but you will remain forever. They will become worn out like old clothes, <sup>12</sup> and some day you will fold them up and replace them. But you yourself will never change, and your years will never end."

<sup>13</sup> And did God ever say to an angel, as he does to his Son, "Sit here beside me in honor until I crush all your enemies beneath your feet"?

<sup>14</sup> No, for the angels are only spirit-messengers sent out to help and care for those who are to receive his salvation.

2 SO WE MUST listen very carefully to the truths we have heard, or we may drift away from them. <sup>2</sup> For since the messages from angels have always proved true and people have always been punished for disobeying them, <sup>9</sup> what makes us think that we can escape if we are indifferent to this great salvation announced by the Lord Jesus himself, and passed on to us by those who heard him speak?

<sup>4</sup> God always has shown us that these messages are true by signs and wonders and various miracles and by giving certain special abilities from the Holy Spirit to those who believe; yes, God has assigned such gifts to each of us.

<sup>5</sup> And the future world we are talking about will not be controlled by angels. <sup>6</sup> No, for in the book of Psalms David says to God, "What is mere man that you are so concerned about him? And who is this Son of Man you honor so highly? <sup>7</sup> For though you made him lower than the angels for a little while, now you have crowned him with glory and honor. <sup>8</sup> And you have put him in complete charge of everything there is. Nothing is left out."

We have not yet seen all of this take place, <sup>9</sup> but we do see Jesus—who for awhile was a little lower than the angels—crowned now by God with glory and honor because he suffered death for us. Yes, because of God's great kindness, Jesus tasted death for everyone in all the world. <sup>10</sup> And it was right and proper that God, who made everything for his own glory, should allow Jesus to suffer, for in doing this he was bringing vast multitudes of God's people to heaven; for his suffering made Jesus a perfect Leader, one fit to bring them into their salvation.

<sup>11</sup> We who have been made holy by Jesus, now have the same Father he has. That is why Jesus is not ashamed to call us his brothers. <sup>12</sup> For he says in the book of Psalms, "I will talk to my brothers about God my Father, and together we will sing his praises." <sup>13</sup> At another time he said, "I will put my trust in God along with my brothers." And at still another time, "See, here am I and the children God gave me."

<sup>14</sup> Since we, God's children, are human beings—made of flesh and blood—he became flesh and blood too by being born in human form; for only as a human being could he die and in dying break the power of the devil who had the power of death. <sup>15</sup> Only in that way could he deliver those who through fear of death have been living all their lives as slaves to constant dread.

<sup>16</sup> We all know he did not come as an angel but as a human being—yes, a Jew. <sup>17</sup> And it was necessary for Jesus to be like us, his brothers, so that he could be our merciful and faithful High Priest before God, a Priest who would be both merciful to us and faithful to God in dealing with the sins of the people. <sup>18</sup> For since he himself has now been through suffering and temptation, he knows what it is like when we suffer and are tempted, and he is wonderfully able to help us.

3 THEREFORE, DEAR BROTHERS whom God has set apart for himself—you who are chosen for heaven—I want you to think now about this Jesus who is God's Messenger and the High Priest of our faith.

<sup>2</sup> For Jesus was faithful to God who appointed him High Priest, just as Moses also faithfully served in God's house. <sup>3</sup> But Jesus has far more glory than Moses, just as a man who builds a fine house gets more praise than his house does. <sup>4</sup> And many people can build houses, but only God made everything.

<sup>5</sup> Well, Moses did a fine job working in God's house, but he was only a servant; and his work was mostly to illustrate and suggest those things that would happen later on. <sup>6</sup> But Christ, God's faithful Son, is in complete charge of God's house. And we Christians are God's house—he lives in us!—if we keep up our courage firm to the end, and our joy and our trust in the Lord.

<sup>7,8</sup> And since Christ is so much superior, the Holy Spirit warns us to listen to him, to be careful to hear his voice today and not let our hearts become set against him, as the people of Israel did. They steeled themselves against his love and complained against him in the desert while he was testing them. <sup>9</sup> But God was patient with them forty years, though they tried his patience sorely; he kept right on doing his mighty miracles for them to see. <sup>10</sup> "But," God says, "I was very angry with them, for their hearts were always looking somewhere else instead of up to me, and they never found the paths I wanted them to follow."

<sup>11</sup> Then God, full of this anger against them, bound himself with an oath that he would never let them come to his place of rest.

<sup>12</sup> Beware then of your own hearts, dear brothers, lest you find that they, too, are evil and unbelieving and are leading you away from the living God. <sup>13</sup> Speak to each other about these things every day while there is still time, so that none of you will become hardened against God, being blinded by the glamor<sup>a</sup> of sin. <sup>14</sup> For if we are faithful to the end, trusting God just as we did when we first became Christians, we will share in all that belongs to Christ.

<sup>15</sup> But now is the time. Never forget the warning, "Today if you hear God's voice speaking to you, do not harden your hearts against him, as the people of Israel did when they rebelled against him in the desert."

<sup>16</sup> And who were those people I speak of, who heard God's voice speaking to them but then rebelled against him? They were the ones who came out of Egypt with Moses their leader. <sup>17</sup> And who was it who made God angry for all those forty years? These same people who sinned and as a result died in the wilderness. <sup>18</sup> And to whom was God speaking when he swore with an oath that they could never go into the land he had promised his people? He was speaking to all those who disobeyed him. <sup>19</sup> And why couldn't they go in? Because they didn't trust him.

4 ALTHOUGH GOD'S PROMISE still stands—his promise that all may enter his place of rest—we ought to tremble with fear because some of you may be on the verge of failing to get there after all. <sup>2</sup> For this wonderful news—the message that God wants to save us—has been given to us just as it was to those who lived in the time of Moses. But it didn't do them any good because they didn't believe it. They didn't mix it with faith. <sup>1</sup> For only we who believe God can enter into his place of rest. He has said, "I have sworn in my anger that those who don't believe me will never get in," even though he has been ready and waiting for them since the world began.

<sup>4</sup> We know he is ready and waiting because it is written that God rested on the seventh day of creation, having finished all that he had planned to make.

<sup>5</sup> Even so they didn't get in, for God finally said, "They shall never enter my rest." <sup>6</sup> Yet the promise remains and some get in—but not those who had the first chance, for they disobeyed God and failed to enter.

<sup>7</sup> But he has set another time for coming in, and that time is now. He announced this through King David long years after man's first failure to enter, saying in the words already quoted, "Today when you hear him calling, do not harden your hearts against him."

<sup>8</sup> This new place of rest he is talking about does not mean the land of Israel that Joshua led them into. If that were what God meant, he would not have spoken long afterwards about "today" being the time to get in. <sup>9</sup> So there is a full complete rest still waiting for the people of God. <sup>10</sup> Christ has already entered there. He is resting from his work, just as God did after the creation. <sup>11</sup> Let us do our best to go into that place of rest, too, being careful not to disobey God as the children of Israel did, thus failing to get in.

<sup>12</sup> For whatever God says to us is full of living power: it is sharper than the sharpest dagger, cutting swift and deep into our innermost thoughts and desires with all their parts, exposing us for what we really are. <sup>13</sup> He knows about everyone, everywhere. Everything about us is bare and wide open to the all-seeing eyes of our living God; nothing can be hidden from him to whom we must explain all that we have done.

<sup>14</sup> But Jesus the Son of God is our great High Priest who has gone to heaven itself to help us; therefore let us never stop trusting him. <sup>15</sup> This High Priest of ours understands our weaknesses, since he had the same temptations we do, though he never once gave way to them and sinned. <sup>16</sup> So let us come boldly to the very throne of God and stay there to receive his mercy and to find grace to help us in our times of need.

5 THE JEWISH High priest is merely a man like anyone else, but he is chosen to speak for all other men in their dealings with God. He presents their gifts to God and offers to him the blood of animals that are sacrificed to cover the sins of the people and his own sins too. And because he is a man he can deal gently with other men, though they are foolish and ignorant, for he, too, is surrounded with the same temptations and understands their problems very well.

<sup>4</sup> Another thing to remember is that no one can be a high priest just because he wants to be. He has to be called by God for this work in the same way God chose Aaron.

<sup>7</sup> That is why Christ did not elect himself to the honor of being High Priest; no, he was chosen by God. God said to him, "My Son, today I have honored<sup>a</sup> you." <sup>8</sup> And another time God said to him, "You have been chosen to be a priest forever, with the same rank as Melchizedek."

<sup>9</sup> Yet while Christ was here on earth he pleaded with God, praying with tears and agony of soul to the only one who would save him from [premature<sup>b</sup>] death. And God heard his prayers because of his strong desire to obey God at all times.

<sup>10</sup> And even though Jesus was God's Son, he had to learn from experience what it was like to obey, when obeying meant suffering. <sup>11</sup> It was after he had proved himself perfect in this experience that Jesus became the Giver of eternal salvation to all those who obey him. <sup>12</sup> For remember that God has chosen him to be a High Priest with the same rank as Melchizedek.

<sup>13</sup> There is much more I would like to say along these lines, but you don't seem to listen, so it's hard to make you understand.

<sup>12,13</sup> You have been Christians a long time now, and you ought to be teaching others, but instead you have dropped back to the place where you need someone to teach you all over again the very first principles in God's Word. You are like babies who can drink only milk, not old enough for solid food. And when a person is still living on milk it shows he isn't very far along in the Christian life, and doesn't know much about the difference between right and wrong. He is still a baby-Christian! <sup>14</sup> You will never be able to eat solid spiritual food and understand the deeper things of God's Word until you become better Christians and learn right from wrong by practicing doing right.

6 LET US STOP going over the same old ground again and again, always teaching those first lessons about Christ. Let us go on instead to other things and become mature in our understanding, as strong Christians ought to be. Surely we don't need to speak further about the foolishness of trying to be saved by being good, or about the necessity of faith in God; <sup>2</sup> you don't need further instruction about a Literally, "begotten you." Probably the reference is to the day of Christ's resurrection.

b Implied. Christ's longing was to live until he could die on the cross for all mankind. There is a strong case to be made that Satan's great desire was that Christ should die prematurely, before the mighty work at the cross could be performed. Christ's body, being human, was frail and weak like ours (except that his was sinless). He had said just a few moments before, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful unto death." And can a human body live long under such pressure of spirit as he underwent in the Garden, that caused sweating of great drops of blood? But God graciously heard and answered his anguished cry in Gethsemane ("Let this cup pass from me") and preserved him from seemingly imminent and premature death: for an angel was sent to strengthen him so that he could live to accomplish God's perfect will at the cross. . . . But some readers may prefer the explanation that Christ's plea was that he be saved out from death, at the Resurrection.

baptism and spiritual gifts<sup>a</sup> and the resurrection of the dead and eternal judgment.

<sup>4</sup> There is no use trying to bring you back to the Lord again if you have once understood the Good News and tasted for yourself the good things of heaven and shared in the Holy Spirit,<sup>3</sup> and know how good the Word of God is, and felt the mighty powers of the world to come,<sup>6</sup> and then have turned against God. You cannot bring yourself to repent again if you have nailed the Son of God to the cross again by rejecting him, holding him up to mocking and to public shame.

<sup>7</sup> When a farmer's land has had many showers upon it and good crops come up, that land has experienced God's blessing upon it. <sup>8</sup> But if it keeps on having crops of thistles and thorns, the land is considered no good and is ready for condemnation and burning off.

<sup>9</sup> Dear friends, even though I am talking like this I really don't believe that what I am saying applies to you. I am confident you are producing the good fruit that comes along with your salvation. <sup>10</sup> For God is not unfair. How can he forget your hard work for him, or forget the way you used to show your love for him—and still do—by helping his children? <sup>11</sup> And we are anxious that you keep right on loving others as long as life lasts, so that you will get your full reward.

<sup>12</sup> Then, knowing what lies ahead for you, you won't become bored with being a Christian, nor become spiritually dull and indifferent, but you will be anxious to follow the example of those who receive all that God has promised them because of their strong faith and patience.

<sup>13</sup> For instance, there was God's promise to Abraham: God took an oath in his own name, since there was no one greater to swear by, <sup>14</sup> that he would bless Abraham again and again, and give him a son and make him the father of a great nation of people. <sup>15</sup> Then Abraham waited patiently until finally God gave him a son, Isaac, just as he had promised.

<sup>16</sup> When a man takes an oath, he is calling upon someone greater than himself to force him to do what he has promised, or to punish him if he later refuses to do it; the oath ends all argument about it. <sup>17</sup> God also bound himself with an oath, so that those he promised to help would be perfectly sure and never need to wonder whether he might change his plans.

<sup>18</sup> He has given us both his promise and his oath, two things we can completely count on, for it is impossible for God to tell a lie. Now all those who flee to him to save them can take new courage when they hear such assurances from God; now they can know without doubt that he will give them the salvation he has promised them.

<sup>19</sup> This certain hope of being saved is a strong and trustworthy anchor for our souls, connecting us with God himself behind the sacred curtains of heaven, <sup>20</sup> where Christ has gone ahead to plead for us from his position as<sup>b</sup> our High Priest, with the honor and rank of Melchizedek.

7 THIS MELCHIZEDEK WAS king of the city of Salem, and also a priest of the Most High God. When Abraham was returning home after winning a great battle against many kings, Melchizedek met him and blessed him; <sup>2</sup> then Abraham took a tenth of all he had won in the battle and gave it to Melchizedek.

Melchizedek's name means "Justice," so he is the King of Justice; and he is also the King of Peace because of the name of his city, Salem, which means "Peace." <sup>3</sup> Melchizedek had no father or mother<sup>a</sup> and there is no record of any of his ancestors. He was never born and he never died but his life is like that of the Son of God—a priest forever.

(a) Even Abraham, the first and most honored of all God's chosen people, gave Melchizedek a tenth of the spoils he took from the kings he had been fighting. <sup>5</sup> One could understand why Abraham would do this if Melchizedek had been a Jewish priest, for later on God's people were required by law to give gifts to help their priests because the priests were their relatives. <sup>6</sup> But Melchizedek was not a relative, and yet Abraham paid him.

(b) Melchizedek placed a blessing upon mighty Abraham, <sup>7</sup> and as everyone knows, a person who has the power to bless is always greater than the person he blesses.

<sup>8</sup> (c) The Jewish priests, though mortal, received tithes; but we are told that Melchizedek lives on.

<sup>9</sup> (d) One might even say that Levi himself (the ancestor of all Jewish priests, of all who receive tithes), paid tithes to Melchizedek through Abraham. <sup>10</sup> For although Levi wasn't born yet, the seed from which he came was in Abraham when Abraham paid the tithes to Melchizedek.

<sup>11</sup> (e) If the Jewish priests and their laws had been able to save us, why then did God need to send Christ as a priest with the rank of Melchizedek, instead of sending someone with the rank of Aaron—the same rank all other priests had?

<sup>12,13,14</sup> And when God sends a new kind of priest, his law must be changed to permit it. As we all know, Christ did not belong to the priest-tribe of Levi, but came from the tribe of Judah, which had not been chosen for priesthood; Moses had never given them that work. <sup>15</sup> So we can plainly see that God's method changed, for Christ, the new High Priest who came with the rank of Melchizedek, <sup>16</sup> did not become a priest by meeting the old requirement of belonging to the tribe of Levi, but on the basis of power flowing from a life that cannot end. <sup>17</sup> And the Psalmist points this out when he says of Christ, "You are a priest forever with the rank of Melchizedek."

<sup>a</sup> No one can be sure whether this means that Melchizedek was Christ appearing to Abraham in human form, or simply that there is no record of who Melchizedek's father or mother were, no record of his birth or death.

<sup>18</sup> Yes, the old system of priesthood based on family lines was canceled because it didn't work. It was weak and useless for saving people. <sup>19</sup> It never made anyone really right with God. But now we have a far better hope, for Christ makes us acceptable to God, and now we may draw near to him.

<sup>20</sup> God took an oath that Christ would always be a Priest, <sup>21</sup> although he never said that of other priests. Only to Christ he said, "The Lord has sworn and will never change his mind: You are a Priest forever, with the rank of Melchizedek." <sup>22</sup> Because of God's oath, Christ can guarantee forever the success of this new and better arrangement.

<sup>23</sup> Under the old arrangement there had to be many priests, so that when the older ones died off, the system could still be carried on by others who took their places.

<sup>24</sup> But Jesus lives forever and continues to be a Priest so that no one else is needed. <sup>25</sup> He is able to save completely all who come to God through him. Since he will live forever, he will always be there to remind God that he has paid for their sins with his blood.

<sup>26</sup> He is, therefore, exactly the kind of High Priest we need; for he is holy and blameless, unstained by sin, undefiled by sinners, and to him has been given the place of honor in heaven. <sup>27</sup> He never needs the daily blood of animal sacrifices, as other priests did, to cover over first their own sins and then the sins of the people; for he finished all sacrifices, once and for all, when he sacrificed himself on the cross.

<sup>28</sup> Under the old system, even the high priests were weak and sinful men who could not keep from doing wrong, but later God appointed by his oath his Son who is perfect forever.

8 WHAT WE ARE saying is this: Christ, whose priesthood we have just described, is our High Priest, and is in heaven at the place of greatest honor next to God himself. <sup>2</sup> He ministers in the temple in heaven, the true place of worship built by the Lord and not by human hands.

<sup>3</sup> And since every high priest is appointed to offer gifts and sacrifices, Christ must make an offering too. <sup>4</sup> The sacrifice he offers is far better than those offered by the earthly priests. (But even so, if he were here on earth he wouldn't even be permitted to be a priest, because down here the priests still follow the old Jewish system of sacrifices.) <sup>5</sup> Their work is connected with a mere earthly model of the real tabernacle in heaven; for when Moses was getting ready to build the tabernacle, God warned him to follow exactly the pattern of the heavenly tabernacle as shown to him on Mount Sinai. <sup>6</sup> But Christ, as a Minister in heaven, has been rewarded with a far more important work than those who serve under the old laws, because the new agreement which he passes on to us from God contains far more wonderful promises.

<sup>7</sup> The old agreement didn't even work. If it had, there would have been no need for another to replace it. <sup>8</sup> But God himself found fault with the old one, for he said, "The day will come when I will make a new agreement with the people of Israel and the people of Judah. <sup>9</sup> This new agreement will not be like the old one I gave to their fathers on the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; they did not keep their part in that agreement, so I had to cancel it. <sup>10</sup> But this is the new agreement I will make with the people of Israel, says the Lord: I will write my laws in their minds so that they will know what I want them to do without my even telling them, and these laws will be in their hearts so that they will want to obey them, and I will be their God and they shall be my people. <sup>11</sup> And no one then will need to speak to his friend or neighbor or brother, saying, 'You, too, should know the Lord,' because everyone, great and small, will know me already. <sup>12</sup> And I will be merciful to them in their wrongdoings, and I will remember their sins no more."

<sup>13</sup> God speaks of these new promises, of this new agreement, as taking the place of the old one; for the old one is out of date now and has been put aside forever.

9 NOW IN THAT first agreement between God and his people there were rules for worship and there was a sacred tent down here on earth. Inside this place of worship there were two rooms. The first one contained the golden candlestick and a table with special loaves of holy bread upon it; this part was called the Holy Place. <sup>3</sup> Then there was a curtain and behind the curtain was a room called the Holy of Holies. <sup>4</sup> In that room there were a golden incense-altar and the golden chest, called the ark of the covenant, completely covered on all sides with pure gold. Inside the ark were the tablets of stone with the Ten Commandments written on them, and a golden jar with some manna in it, and Aaron's wooden cane that budded. <sup>5</sup> Above the golden chest were statues of angels called the cherubim—the guardians of God's glory—with their wings stretched out over the ark's golden cover, called the mercy seat. But enough of such details.

<sup>6</sup> Well, when all was ready the priests went in and out of the first room whenever they wanted to, doing their work. <sup>7</sup> But only the high priest went into the inner room, and then only once a year, all alone, and always with blood which he sprinkled on the mercy seat as an offering to God to cover his own mistakes and sins, and the mistakes and sins of all the people.

<sup>8</sup> And the Holy Spirit uses all this to point out to us that under the old system the common people could not go into the Holy of Holies as long as the outer room and the entire system it represents were still in use.

<sup>9</sup> This has an important lesson for us today. For under the old system, gifts and sacrifices were offered, but these failed to cleanse the hearts of the people who brought them. <sup>10</sup> For the old system dealt only with certain rituals—what foods to eat and drink, rules for washing themselves, and rules about this and that. The people had to keep these rules to tide them over until Christ came with God's new and better way.

<sup>11</sup> He came as High Priest of this better system which we now have. He went into that greater, perfect tabernacle in heaven, not made by men nor part of this world, <sup>12</sup> and once for all took blood into that inner room, the Holy of Holies, and sprinkled it on the mercy seat; but it was not the blood of goats and calves. No, he took his own blood, and with it he, by himself, made sure of our eternal salvation.

<sup>13</sup> And if under the old system the blood of bulls and goats and the ashes of young cows could cleanse men's bodies from sin, <sup>14</sup> just think how much more surely the blood of Christ will transform our lives and hearts. His sacrifice frees us from the worry of having to obey the old rules, and makes us want to serve the living God. For by the help of the eternal Holy Spirit, Christ willingly gave himself to God to die for our sins—he being perfect, without a single sin or fault. <sup>15</sup> Christ came with this new agreement so that all who are invited may come and have forever all the wonders God has promised them. For Christ died to rescue them from the penalty of the sins they had committed while still under that old system.

<sup>16</sup> Now, if someone dies and leaves a will—a list of things to be given away to certain people when he dies—no one gets anything until it is proved that the person who wrote the will is dead. <sup>17</sup> The will goes into effect only after the death of the person who wrote it. While he is still alive no one can use it to get any of those things he has promised them.

<sup>18</sup> That is why blood was sprinkled [as proof of Christ's death<sup>19</sup>] before even the first agreement could go into effect. <sup>19</sup> For after Moses had given the people all of God's laws, he took the blood of calves and goats, along with water, and sprinkled the blood over the book of God's laws and over all the people, using branches of hyssop bushes and scarlet wool to sprinkle with. <sup>20</sup> Then he said, "This is the blood that marks the beginning of the agreement between you and God, the agreement God commanded me to make with you." <sup>21</sup> And in the same way he sprinkled blood on the sacred tent and on whatever instruments were used for worship. <sup>22</sup> In fact we can say that under the old agreement almost everything was cleansed by sprinkling it with blood, and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sins.

<sup>23</sup> That is why the sacred tent down here on earth, and everything in it—all copied from things in heaven—all had to be made pure by Moses in this way, by being sprinkled with the blood of animals. But the real things in heaven, of which these down here are copies, were made pure with far more precious offerings.

<sup>24</sup> For Christ has entered into heaven itself, to appear now before God as our Friend. It was not in the earthly place of worship that he did this, for that was merely a copy of the real temple in heaven. <sup>25</sup> Nor has he offered himself again and again, as the high priest down here on earth offers animal blood in the a Implied.

Holy of Holies each year. <sup>26</sup> If that had been necessary, then he would have had to die again and again, ever since the world began. But no! He came once for all, at the end of the age, to put away the power of sin forever by dying for us.

<sup>27</sup> And just as it is destined that men die only once, and after that comes judgment, <sup>28</sup> so also Christ died only once as an offering for the sins of many people; and he will come again, but not to deal again with our sins.

This time he will come bringing salvation to all those who are eagerly and patiently waiting for him.

10 THE OLD SYSTEM of Jewish laws gave only a dim foretaste of the good things Christ would do for us. The sacrifices under the old system were repeated again and again, year after year, but even so they could never save those who lived under their rules. <sup>2</sup> If they could have, one offering would have been enough; the worshipers would have been cleansed once for all, and their feeling of guilt would be done.

<sup>5</sup> That is why Christ said, as he came into the world, "O God, the blood of bulls and goats cannot satisfy you, so you have made ready this body of mine for me to lay as a sacrifice upon your altar. <sup>6</sup> You were not satisfied with the animal sacrifices, slain and burnt before you as offerings for sin. <sup>7</sup> Then I said, 'See, I have come to do your will, to lay down my life, just as the Scriptures said that I would.' "

<sup>8</sup> After Christ said this, about not being satisfied with the various sacrifices and offerings required under the old system, <sup>9</sup> he then added, "Here I am. I have come to give my life."

He cancels the first system in favor of a far better one. <sup>10</sup> Under this new plan we have been forgiven and made clean by Christ's dying for us once and for all. <sup>11</sup> Under the old agreement the priests stood before the altar day after day offering sacrifices that could never take away our sins. <sup>12</sup> But Christ gave himself to God for our sins as one sacrifice for all time, and then sat down in the place of highest honor at God's right hand, <sup>13</sup> waiting for his enemies to be laid under his feet. <sup>14</sup> For by that one offering he made forever perfect in the sight of God all those whom he is making holy.

<sup>15</sup> And the Holy Spirit testifies that this is so, for he has said, <sup>16</sup> "This is the agreement I will make with the people of Israel, though they broke their first agreement: I will write my laws into their minds so that they will always know my will, and I will put my laws in their hearts so that they will want to obey them." <sup>17</sup> And then he adds, "I will never again remember their sins and lawless deeds."

<sup>a</sup> The blood of bulls and goats merely covered over the sins, taking them out of sight for hundreds of years until Jesus Christ came to die on the cross. There he gave his own blood which forever took those sins away.

<sup>18</sup> Now, when sins have once been forever forgiven and forgotten, there is no need to offer more sacrifices to get rid of them. <sup>19</sup> And so, dear brothers, now we may walk right into the very Holy of Holies where God is, because of the blood of Jesus. <sup>20</sup> This is the fresh, new, life-giving way which Christ has opened up for us by tearing the curtain—his human body—to let us into the holy presence of God.

<sup>21</sup> And since this great High Priest of ours rules over God's household, <sup>22</sup> let us go right in, to God himself, with true hearts fully trusting him to receive us, because we have been sprinkled with Christ's blood to make us clean, and because our bodies have been washed with pure water.

<sup>23</sup> Now we can look forward to the salvation God has promised us. There is no longer any room for doubt, and we can tell others that salvation is ours, for there is no question that he will do what he says.

<sup>24</sup> In response to all he has done for us, let us outdo each other in being helpful and kind to each other and in doing good.

<sup>25</sup> Let us not neglect our church meetings, as some people do, but encourage and warn each other, especially now that the day of his coming back again is drawing near.

<sup>26</sup> If anyone sins deliberately by rejecting the Savior after knowing the truth of forgiveness, this sin is not covered by Christ's death; there is no way to get rid of it. <sup>27</sup> There will be nothing to look forward to but the terrible punishment of God's awful anger which will consume all his enemies. <sup>28</sup> A man who refused to obey the laws given by Moses was killed without mercy if there were two or three witnesses to his sin. <sup>29</sup> Think how much more terrible the punishment will be for those who have trampled underfoot the Son of God and treated his cleansing blood as though it were common and unhallowed, and insulted and outraged the Holy Spirit who brings God's mercy to his people.

<sup>30</sup> For we know him who said, "Justice belongs to me; I will repay them"; who also said, "The Lord himself will handle these cases."

<sup>31</sup> It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.

<sup>32</sup> Don't ever forget those wonderful days when you first learned about Christ. Remember how you kept right on with the Lord even though it meant terrible suffering. <sup>33</sup> Sometimes you were laughed at and beaten, and sometimes you watched and sympathized with others suffering the same things. <sup>34</sup> You suffered with those thrown into jail, and you were actually joyful when all you owned was taken from you, knowing that better things were awaiting you in heaven, things that would be yours forever.

<sup>35</sup> Do not let this happy trust in the Lord die away, no matter what happens. Remember your reward!

<sup>36</sup> You need to keep on patiently doing God's will if you want him to do for you all that he has promised.

<sup>37</sup> His coming will not be delayed much longer. <sup>38</sup> And those whose faith has made them good in God's sight must live by faith, trusting him in everything. Otherwise, if they shrink back, God will have no pleasure in them.

<sup>9</sup> But we have never turned our backs on God and sealed our fate. No, our faith in him assures our souls' salvation.

11 WHAT IS FAITH? It is the confident assurance that something we want is going to happen. It is the certainty that what we hope for is waiting for us, even though we cannot see it up ahead. <sup>2</sup> Men of God in days of old were famous for their faith.

<sup>3</sup> By faith—by believing God—we know that the world and the stars—in fact, all things—were made at God's command; and that they were all made from things that can't be seen.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>4</sup> It was by faith that Abel obeyed God and brought an offering that pleased God more than Cain's offering did. God accepted Abel and proved it by accepting his gift; and though Abel is long dead, we can still learn lessons from him about trusting God.

<sup>5</sup> Enoch trusted God too, and that is why God took him away to heaven without dying; suddenly he was gone because God took him. Before this happened God had said<sup>b</sup> how pleased he was with Enoch. <sup>6</sup> You can never please God without faith, without depending on him. Anyone who wants to come to God must believe that there is a God and that he rewards those who sincerely look for him.

<sup>7</sup> Noah was another who trusted God. When he heard God's warning about the future, Noah believed him even though there was then no sign of a flood, and wasting no time, he built the ark and saved his family. Noah's belief in God was in direct contrast to the sin and disbelief of the rest of the world—which refused to obey—and because of his faith he became one of those whom God has accepted.

<sup>8</sup> Abraham trusted God, and when God told him to leave home and go far away to another land which he promised to give him, Abraham obeyed. Away he went, not even knowing where he was going. <sup>9</sup> And even when he reached God's promised land, he lived in tents like a mere visitor, as did Isaac and Jacob, to whom God gave the same promise. <sup>10</sup> Abraham did this because he was confidently waiting for God to bring him to that strong heavenly city whose designer and builder is God.

<sup>11</sup> Sarah, too, had faith, and because of this she was able to become a mother in spite of her old age, for she realized that God, who gave her his promise, would certainly do what he said. <sup>12</sup> And so a whole nation came from Abraham, who was too old to have even one child—a nation with so many millions of people that, like the stars of the sky and the sand on the ocean shores, there is no way to count them.

<sup>13</sup> These men of faith I have mentioned died without ever receiving all that God had promised them; but they saw it all awaiting them on ahead and were glad, for they agreed that this earth was not their real home but that they were just strangers visiting down here. <sup>14</sup> And quite obviously when they talked like that, they were looking

<sup>15</sup> If they had wanted to, they could have gone back to the good things of this world. <sup>16</sup> But they didn't want to. They were living for heaven. And now God is not ashamed to be called their God, for he has made a heavenly city for them.

<sup>17</sup> While God was testing him, Abraham still trusted in God and his promises, and so he offered up his son Isaac, and was ready to slay him on the altar of sacrifice; <sup>18</sup> yes, to slay even Isaac, through whom God had promised to give Abraham a whole nation of descendants! <sup>19</sup> He believed that if Isaac died God would bring him back to life again; and that is just about what happened, for as far as Abraham was concerned, Isaac was doomed to death, but he came back again alive! <sup>20</sup> It was by faith that Isaac knew God would give future blessings to his two sons, Jacob and Esau.

<sup>21</sup> By faith Jacob, when he was old and dying, blessed each of Joseph's two sons as he stood and prayed, leaning on the top of his cane.

<sup>22</sup> And it was by faith that Joseph, as he neared the end of his life, confidently spoke of God bringing the people of Israel out of Egypt; and he was so sure of it that he made them promise to carry his bones with them when they left!

<sup>23</sup> Moses' parents had faith too. When they saw that God had given them an unusual child, they trusted that God would save him from the death the king commanded, and they hid him for three months, and were not afraid.

<sup>24,25</sup> It was by faith that Moses, when he grew up, refused to be treated as the grandson of the king, but chose to share ill-treatment with God's people instead of enjoying the fleeting pleasures of sin. <sup>26</sup> He thought that it was better to suffer for the promised Christ than to own all the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking forward to the great reward that God would give him. <sup>27</sup> And it was because he trusted God that he left the land of Egypt and wasn't afraid of the king's anger. Moses kept right on going; it seemed as though he could see God right there with him. <sup>28</sup> And it was because he believed God would save his people that he commanded them to kill a lamb as God had told them to and sprinkle the blood on the doorposts of their homes, so that God's terrible Angel of Death could not touch the oldest child in those homes, as he did among the Egyptians.

<sup>29</sup> The people of Israel trusted God and went right through the Red Sea as though they were on dry ground. But when the Egyptians chasing them tried it, they all were drowned.

<sup>30</sup> It was faith that brought the walls of Jericho tumbling down after the people of Israel had walked around them seven days, as God had commanded them. <sup>31</sup> By faith—because she believed in God and his power—Rahab the harlot did not die with all the others in her city when they refused to obey God, for she gave a friendly welcome to the spies.

<sup>32</sup> Well, how much more do I need to say? It would take too long to recount the stories of the faith of Gideon and Barak and Samson and Jephthah and David and Samuel and all the other prophets. <sup>33</sup> These people all trusted God and as a result won battles, overthrew kingdoms, ruled their people well, and received what God had promised them; they were kept from harm in a den of lions, <sup>34</sup> and in a fiery furnace. Some, through their faith, escaped death by the sword. Some were made strong again after they had been weak or sick. Others were given great power in battle; they made whole armies turn and run away.

<sup>35</sup> And some women, through faith, received their loved ones back again from death. But others trusted God and were beaten to death, preferring to die rather than turn from God and be free—trusting that they would rise to a better life afterwards.

<sup>36</sup> Some were laughed at and their backs cut open with whips, and others were chained in dungeons. <sup>37,38</sup> Some died by stoning and some by being sawed in two; others were promised freedom if they would renounce their faith, then were killed with the sword. Some went about in skins of sheep and goats, wandering over deserts and mountains, hiding in dens and caves. They were hungry and sick and ill-treated—too good for this world.

<sup>39</sup> And these men of faith, though they trusted God and won his approval, none of them received all that God had promised them; <sup>40</sup> for God wanted them to wait and share the even better rewards that were prepared for us.

12 SINCE WE HAVE such a huge crowd of men of faith watching us from the grandstands, let us strip off anything that slows us down or holds us back, and especially those sins that wrap themselves so tightly around our feet and trip us up; and let us run with patience the particular race that God has set before us.

<sup>2</sup> Keep your eyes on Jesus, our leader and instructor. He was willing to die a shameful death on the cross because of the joy he knew would be his afterwards; and now he sits in the place of honor by the throne of God. <sup>3</sup> If you want to keep from becoming fainthearted and weary, think about his patience as sinful men did such terrible things to him. <sup>4</sup> After all, you have never yet struggled against sin and temptation until you sweat great drops of blood.

<sup>5</sup> And have you quite forgotten the encouraging words God spoke to you, his child? He said, "My son, don't be angry when the Lord punishes you. Don't be discouraged when he has to show you where you are wrong. <sup>6</sup> For when he punishes you, it proves that he loves you. When he whips you it proves you are really his child."

<sup>7</sup> Let God train you, for he is doing what any loving father does for his children. Whoever heard of a son who was never corrected? <sup>8</sup> If God doesn't punish you when you need it, as other fathers punish their sons, then it means that you aren't really God's son at all—that you don't really belong in his family. <sup>9</sup> Since we respect our fathers here on earth, though they punish us, should we not all the more cheerfully submit to God's training so that we can begin really to live?

<sup>10</sup> Our earthly fathers trained us for a few brief years, doing the best for us that they knew how, but God's correction is always right and for our best good, that we may share his holiness. <sup>11</sup> Being punished isn't enjoyable while it is happening—it hurts! But afterwards we can see the result, a quiet growth in grace and character.

<sup>12</sup> So take a new grip with your tired hands, stand firm on your shaky legs, <sup>13</sup> and mark out a straight, smooth path for your feet so that those who follow you, though weak and lame, will not fall and hurt themselves, but become strong.

<sup>14</sup> Try to stay out of all quarrels and seek to live a clean and holy life, for one who is not holy will not see the Lord. <sup>15</sup> Look after each other so that not one of you will fail to find God's best blessings. Watch out that no bitterness takes root among you, for as it springs up it causes deep trouble, hurting many in their spiritual lives. <sup>16</sup> Watch out that no one becomes involved in sexual sin or becomes careless about God as Esau did: he traded his rights as the oldest son for a single meal. <sup>17</sup> And afterwards, when he wanted those rights back again, it was too late, even though he wept bitter tears of repentance. So remember, and be careful.

<sup>18</sup> You have not had to stand face to face with terror, flaming fire, gloom, darkness and a terrible storm, as the Israelites did at Mount Sinai when God gave them his laws. <sup>19</sup> For there was an awesome trumpet blast, and a voice with a message so terrible that the people begged God to stop speaking. <sup>20</sup> They staggered back under God's command that if even an animal touched the mountain it must die. <sup>21</sup> Moses himself was so frightened at the sight that he shook with terrible fear.

<sup>22</sup> But you have come right up into Mount Zion, to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to the gathering of countless happy angels; <sup>23</sup> and to the church, composed of all those registered in heaven; and to God who is Judge of all; and to the spirits of the redeemed in heaven, already made perfect; <sup>24</sup> and to Jesus himself, who has brought us his wonderful new agreement; and to the sprinkled blood which graciously forgives instead of crying out for vengeance as the blood of Abel did.

<sup>25</sup> So see to it that you obey him who is speaking to you. For if the people of Israel did not escape when they refused to listen to Moses, the earthly messenger, how terrible our danger if we refuse to listen to God who speaks to us from heaven! <sup>26</sup> When he spoke from Mount Sinai his voice shook the earth, but, "Next time," he says, "I will not only shake the earth, but the heavens too." <sup>27</sup> By this he means that he will sift out everything without solid foundations, so that only unshakable things will be left.

<sup>28</sup> Since we have a kingdom nothing can destroy, let us please God by serving him with thankful hearts, and with holy fear and awe. <sup>29</sup> For our God is a consuming fire.

13 CONTINUE TO LOVE each other with true brotherly love. <sup>2</sup> Don't forget to be kind to strangers, for some who have done this have entertained angels without realizing it! <sup>3</sup> Don't forget about those in jail. Suffer with them as though you were there yourself. Share the sorrow of those being mistreated, for you know what they are going through.

<sup>4</sup> Honor your marriage and its vows, and be pure; for God will surely punish all those who are immoral or commit adultery.

<sup>5</sup> Stay away from the love of money; be satisfied with what you have. For God has said, "I will never, never fail you nor forsake you." <sup>6</sup> That is why we can say without any doubt or fear, "The Lord is my Helper and I am not afraid of anything that mere man can do to me."

<sup>7</sup> Remember your leaders who have taught you the Word of God. Think of all the good that has come from their lives, and try to trust the Lord as they do.

<sup>8</sup> Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever. <sup>9</sup> So do not be attracted by strange, new ideas. Your spiritual strength comes as a gift from God, not from ceremonial rules about eating certain foods—a method which, by the way, hasn't helped those who have tried it!

<sup>10</sup> We have an altar—the cross where Christ was sacrificed—where those who continue to seek salvation by obeying Jewish laws can never be helped. <sup>11</sup> Under the system of Jewish laws the high priest brought the blood of the slain animals into the sanctuary as a sacrifice for sin, and then the bodies of the animals were burned outside the city. <sup>12</sup> That is why Jesus suffered and died outside the city, where his blood washed our sins away.

<sup>13</sup> So let us go out to him beyond the city walls [that is, outside the interests of this world, being willing to be despised<sup>a</sup>] to suffer with him there, bearing his shame. <sup>14</sup> For this world is not our home; we are looking forward to our everlasting home in heaven.

<sup>15</sup> With Jesus' help we will continually offer our sacrifice of praise to God by telling others of the glory of his name. <sup>16</sup> Don't forget to do good and to share what you have with those in need, for such sacrifices are very pleasing to him. <sup>17</sup> Obey your spiritual leaders and be willing to do what they say. For their work is to watch over your souls, and God will judge them on how well they do this. Give them reason to report joyfully about you to the Lord and not with sorrow, for then you will suffer for it too. <sup>18</sup> Pray for us, for our conscience is clear and we want to keep it that way. <sup>19</sup> I especially need your prayers right now so that I can come back to you sooner.

<sup>20,21</sup> And now may the God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, equip you with all you need for doing his will. May he who became the great Shepherd of the sheep by an everlasting agreement between God and you, signed with his blood, produce in you through the power of Christ all that is pleasing to him. To him be glory forever and ever. Amen.

tiently to what I have said in this letter, for it is a short one. <sup>22</sup> I want you to know that Brother Timothy is now out of jail; if he comes here soon, I will come with him to see you. <sup>24,25</sup> Give my greetings to all your leaders and to the other believers there. The Christians from Italy who are here with me send you their love. God's grace be with you all.

Good-bye.

JAMES

1 FROM: JAMES, A servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ.

To: Jewish Christians scattered everywhere. Greetings!

<sup>1</sup> Dear brothers, is your life full of difficulties and temptations? Then be happy, <sup>1</sup> for when the way is rough, your patience has a chance to grow. <sup>4</sup> So let it grow, and don't try to squirm out of your problems. For when your patience is finally in full bloom, then you will be ready for anything, strong in character, full and complete.

<sup>2</sup> If you want to know what God wants you to do, ask him, and he will gladly tell you, for he is always ready to give a bountiful supply of wisdom to all who ask him; he will not resent it. <sup>6</sup> But when you ask him, be sure that you really expect him to tell you, for a doubtful mind will be as unsettled as a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed by the wind; <sup>7a</sup> and every decision you then make will be uncertain, as you turn first this way, and then that. If you don't ask with faith, don't expect the Lord to give you any solid answer.

should be glad, for he is great in the Lord's sight. <sup>10,11</sup> But a rich man should be glad that his riches mean nothing to the Lord, for he will soon be gone, like a flower that has lost its beauty and fades away, withered—killed by the scorching summer sun. So it is with rich men. They will soon die and leave behind all their busy activities.

<sup>12</sup> Happy is the man who doesn't give in and do wrong when he is tempted, for afterwards he will get as his reward the crown of life that God has promised those who love him. <sup>13</sup> And remember, when someone wants to do wrong it is never God who is tempting him, for God never wants to do wrong and never tempts anyone else to do it. <sup>14</sup> Temptation is the pull of man's own evil thoughts and wishes. <sup>15</sup> These evil thoughts lead to evil actions and afterwards to the death penalty from God. <sup>16</sup> So don't be misled, dear brothers.

<sup>17</sup> But whatever is good and perfect comes to us from God, the Creator of all light, and he shines forever without change or shadow. <sup>18</sup> And it was a happy day for him<sup>a</sup> when he gave us our new lives, through the truth of his Word, and we became, as it were, the first children in his new family.

<sup>19</sup> Dear brothers, don't ever forget that it is best to listen much, speak little, and not become angry; <sup>20</sup> for anger doesn't make us good, as God demands that we must be.

<sup>21</sup> So get rid of all that is wrong in your life, both inside and outside, and humbly be glad for the wonderful message we have received, for it is able to save our souls as it takes hold of our hearts.

<sup>22</sup> And remember, it is a message to obey, not just to listen to. So don't fool yourselves. <sup>23</sup> For if a person just listens and doesn't obey, he is like a man looking at his face in a mirror; <sup>24</sup> as soon as he walks away, he can't see himself anymore or remember what he looks like. <sup>25</sup> But if anyone keeps looking steadily into God's law for free men, he will not only remember it but he will do what it says, and God will greatly bless him in everything he does.

<sup>26</sup> Anyone who says he is a Christian but doesn't control his sharp tongue is just fooling himself, and his religion isn't worth much. <sup>27</sup> The Christian who is pure and without fault, from God the Father's point of view, is the one who takes care of orphans and widows, and who remains true to the Lord—not soiled and dirtied by his contacts with the world.

2 DEAR BROTHERS, HOW can you claim that you belong to the Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, if you show favoritism to rich people and look down on poor people?

<sup>22</sup> If a man comes into your church dressed in expensive clothes and with valuable gold rings on his fingers, and at the same moment another man comes in who is poor and dressed in threadbare clothes, <sup>3</sup> and you make a lot of fuss over the rich man and give him the best seat in the house and say to the poor man, "You can stand over there if you like, or else sit on the floor"—well, <sup>4</sup> judging a man by his wealth shows that you are guided by wrong motives.

<sup>5</sup> Listen to me, dear brothers: God has chosen poor people to be rich in faith, and the Kingdom of Heaven is theirs, for that is the gift God has promised to all those who love him. <sup>6</sup> And yet, of the two strangers, you have despised the poor man. Don't you realize that it is usually the rich men who pick on you and drag you into court? <sup>7</sup> And all too often they are the ones who laugh at Jesus Christ, whose noble name you bear.

<sup>8</sup> Yes indeed, it is good when you truly obey our Lord's command, "You must love and help your neighbors just as much as you love and take care of yourself." <sup>9</sup> But you are breaking this law of our Lord's when you favor the rich and fawn over them; it is sin.

<sup>10</sup> And the person who keeps every law of God, but makes one little slip, is just as guilty as the person who has broken every law there is.

<sup>11</sup> For the God who said you must not marry a woman who already has a husband, also said you must not murder, so even though you have not broken the marriage laws by committing adultery, but have murdered someone, you have entirely broken God's laws and stand utterly guilty before him.

<sup>12</sup> You will be judged on whether or not you are doing what Christ wants you to. So watch what you do and what you think; <sup>13</sup> for there will be no mercy to those who have shown no mercy. But if you have been merciful, then God's mercy toward you will win out over his judgment against you.

<sup>14</sup> Dear brothers, what's the use of saying that you have faith and are Christians if you aren't proving it by helping others? Will that kind of faith save anyone? <sup>15</sup> If you have a friend who is in need of food and clothing, <sup>16</sup> and you say to him, "Well, good-bye and God bless you; stay warm and eat heartily," and then don't give him clothes or food, what good does that do?

<sup>17</sup> So you see, it isn't enough just to have faith. You must also do good to prove that you have it. Faith that doesn't show itself by good works is no faith at all—it is dead and useless.

<sup>18</sup> But someone may well argue, "You say the way to God is by faith alone, plus nothing; well, I say that good works are important too, for without good works you can't prove whether you have faith or not; but anyone can see that I have faith by the way I act."

<sup>19</sup> Are there still some among you who hold that "only believing" is enough? Believing in one God? Well, remember that the demons believe this too—so strongly that they tremble in terror! <sup>20</sup> Fool! When will you ever learn that "believing" is useless without doing what God wants you to? Faith that does not result in good deeds is not real faith.

<sup>21</sup> Don't you remember that even our father Abraham was declared good because of what he did, when he was willing to obey God, even if it meant offering his son Isaac to die on the altar? <sup>22</sup> You see, he was trusting God so much that he was willing to do whatever God told him to; his faith was made complete by what he did, by his actions, his good deeds. <sup>23</sup> And so it happened just as the Scriptures say, that Abraham trusted God, and the Lord declared him good in God's sight, and he was even called "the friend of God." <sup>24</sup> So you see, a man is saved by what he does, as well as by what he believes.

<sup>25</sup> Rahab, the prostitute, is another example of this. She was saved because of what she did when she hid those messengers and sent them safely away by a different road. <sup>26</sup> Just as the body is dead when there is no spirit in it, so faith is dead if it is not the kind that results in good deeds.

3 DEAR BROTHERS, DON'T be too eager to tell others their faults,<sup>a</sup> for we all make many mistakes; and when we teachers of religion, who should know better, do wrong, our punishment will be greater than it would be for others.

If anyone can control his tongue, it proves that he has perfect control over himself in every other way. <sup>3</sup> We can make a large horse turn around and go wherever we want by means of a small bit in his mouth. <sup>4</sup> And a tiny rudder makes a huge ship turn wherever the pilot wants it to go, even though the winds are strong.

<sup>5</sup> So also the tongue is a small thing, but what enormous damage it can do. A great forest can be set on fire by one tiny spark. <sup>6</sup> And the tongue is a flame of fire. It is full of wickedness, and poisons every part of the body. And the tongue is set on fire by hell itself, and can turn our whole lives into a blazing flame of destruction and disaster.

<sup>7</sup> Men have trained, or can train, every kind of animal or bird that lives and every kind of reptile and fish, <sup>8</sup> but no human being can tame the tongue. It is always ready to pour out its deadly poison. <sup>9</sup> Sometimes it praises our heavenly Father, and sometimes it breaks out into curses against men who are made like God. <sup>10</sup> And so blessing and cursing come pouring out of the same mouth. Dear brothers, surely this is not right! <sup>11</sup> Does a spring of water bubble out first with fresh water and then with bitter water? <sup>12</sup> Can you pick olives from a fig tree, or figs from a grape vine? No, and you can't draw fresh water from a salty pool.

<sup>13</sup> If you are wise, live a life of steady goodness, so that only good deeds will pour forth. And if you don't brag about them, then you will be truly wise! <sup>14</sup> And by all means don't brag about being wise and good if you are bitter and jealous and selfish; that is the worst sort of lie. <sup>15</sup> For jealousy and selfishness are not God's kind of wisdom. Such things are earthly, unspiritual, inspired by the devil. <sup>16</sup> For wherever there is jealousy or selfish ambition, there will be disorder and every other kind of evil.

<sup>17</sup> But the wisdom that comes from heaven is first of all pure and full of quiet gentleness. Then it is peace-loving and courteous. It allows discussion and is willing to yield to others; it is full of mercy and good deeds. It is wholehearted and straightforward and sincere. <sup>18</sup> And those who are peacemakers will plant seeds of peace and reap a harvest of goodness.

4 WHAT IS CAUSING the quarrels and fights among you? Isn't it because there is a whole army of evil desires within you? <sup>2</sup> You want what you don't have, so you kill to get it. You long for what others have, and can't afford it, so you start a fight to take it away from them. And yet the reason you don't have what you want is that you don't ask God for it. <sup>3</sup> And even when you do ask you don't get it because your whole aim is wrong—you want only what will give you pleasure.

<sup>4</sup> You are like an unfaithful wife who loves her husband's enemies. Don't you realize that making friends with God's enemies—the evil pleasures of this world—makes you an enemy of God? I say it again, that if your aim is to enjoy the evil pleasure of the unsaved world, you cannot also be a friend of God. <sup>5</sup> Or what do you think the Scripture means when it says that the Holy Spirit, whom God has placed within us, watches over us with tender jealousy? <sup>6</sup> But he gives us more and more strength to stand against all such evil longings. As the Scripture says, God gives strength to the humble, but sets himself against the proud and haughty.

<sup>7</sup> So give yourselves humbly to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you. <sup>8</sup> And when you draw close to God, God will draw close to you. Wash your hands, you sinners, and let your hearts be filled with God alone to make them pure and true to him. <sup>9</sup> Let there be tears for the wrong things you have done. Let there be sorrow and sincere grief. Let there be sadness instead of laughter, and gloom instead of joy. <sup>10</sup> Then when you realize your worthlessness before the Lord, he will lift you up, encourage and help you.

<sup>11</sup> Don't criticize and speak evil about each other, dear brothers. If you do, you will be fighting against God's law of loving one another, declaring it is wrong. But your job is not to decide whether this law is right or wrong, but to obey it.

<sup>12</sup> Only he who made the law can rightly judge among us. He alone decides to save us or destroy. So what right do you have to judge or criticize others?

<sup>13</sup> Look here, you people who say, "Today or tomorrow we are going to such and such a town, stay there a year, and open up a profitable business." <sup>14</sup> How do you know what is going to happen tomorrow? For the length of your lives is as uncertain as the morning fog—now you see it; soon it is gone. <sup>15</sup> What you ought to say is, "If the Lord wants us to, we shall live and do this or that." <sup>16</sup> Otherwise you will be bragging about your own plans, and such self-confidence never pleases God.

<sup>17</sup> Remember, too, that knowing what is right to do and then not doing it is sin.

5 LOOK HERE, YOU rich men, now is the time to cry and groan with anguished grief because of all the terrible troubles ahead of you.

<sup>2</sup> Your wealth is even now rotting away, and your fine clothes are becoming mere moth-eaten rags.

<sup>3</sup> The value of your gold and silver is dropping fast, yet it will stand as evidence against you, and eat your flesh like fire. That is what you have stored up for yourselves, to receive on that coming day of judgment.

<sup>4</sup> For listen! Hear the cries of the field workers whom you have cheated of their pay. Their cries have reached the ears of the Lord of Hosts.

<sup>5</sup> You have spent your years here on earth having fun, satisfying your every whim, and now your fat hearts are ready for the slaughter.

<sup>6</sup> You have condemned and killed good men who had no power to defend themselves against you.

<sup>9</sup> Don't grumble about each other, brothers. Are you yourselves above criticism? For see! The great Judge is coming. He is almost here. [Let him do whatever criticizing must be done<sup>a</sup>.]

<sup>10</sup> For examples of patience in suffering, look at the Lord's prophets. <sup>11</sup> We know how happy they are now because they stayed true to him then, even though they suffered greatly for it. Job is an example of a man who continued to trust the Lord in sorrow; from his experiences we can see how the Lord's plan finally ended in good, for he is full of tenderness and mercy.

<sup>12</sup> But most of all, dear brothers, do not swear either by heaven or earth or anything else; just say a simple yes or no, so that you will not sin and be condemned for it.

<sup>13</sup> Is anyone among you suffering? He should keep on praying about it. And those who have reason to be thankful should continually be singing praises to the Lord.

<sup>14</sup> Is anyone sick? He should call for the elders of the church and they should pray over him and pour a little oil upon him, calling on the Lord to heal him. <sup>15</sup> And their prayer, if offered in faith, will heal him, for the Lord will make him well; and if his sickness was caused by some sin, the Lord will forgive him.

<sup>16</sup> Admit your faults to one another and pray for each other so that you may be healed. The earnest prayer of a righteous man has great power and wonderful results. <sup>17</sup> Elijah was as completely human as we are, and yet when he prayed earnestly that no rain would fall, none fell for the next three and one half years! <sup>18</sup> Then he prayed again, this time that it would rain, and down it poured and the grass turned green and the gardens began to grow again.

<sup>19</sup> Dear brothers, if anyone has slipped away from God and no longer trusts the Lord, and someone helps him understand the Truth again, <sup>20</sup> that person who brings him back to God will have saved a wandering soul from death, bringing about the forgiveness of his many sins.

Sincerely,
James

1 PETER

1 FROM: PETER, JESUS Christ's missionary.

To: The Jewish Christians driven out of Jerusalem and scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia.

<sup>2</sup> Dear friends, God the Father chose you long ago and knew you would become his children. And the Holy Spirit has been at work in your hearts, cleansing you with the blood of Jesus Christ and making you to please him. May God bless you richly and grant you increasing freedom from all anxiety and fear.

<sup>3</sup> All honor to God, the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ; for it is his boundless mercy that has given us the privilege of being born again, so that we are now members of God's own family. Now we live in the hope of eternal life because Christ rose again from the dead.

<sup>4</sup> And God has reserved for his children the priceless gift of eternal life; it is kept in heaven for you, pure and undefiled, beyond the reach of change and decay. <sup>3</sup> And God, in his mighty power, will make sure that you get there safely to receive it, because you are trusting him. It will be yours in that coming last day for all to see. <sup>4</sup> So be truly glad! There is wonderful joy ahead, even though the going is rough for a while down here.

<sup>7</sup> These trials are only to test your faith, to see whether or not it is strong and pure. It is being tested as fire tests gold and purifies it—and your faith is far more precious to God than mere gold; so if your faith remains strong after being tried in the test tube of fiery trials, it will bring you much praise and glory and honor on the day of his return.

<sup>8</sup> You love him even though you have never seen him; though not seeing him, you trust him; and even now you are happy with the inexpressible joy that comes from heaven itself. <sup>9</sup> And your further reward for trusting him will be the salvation of your souls.

<sup>10</sup> This salvation was something the prophets did not fully understand. Though they wrote about it, they had many questions as to what it all could mean. <sup>11</sup> They wondered what the Spirit of Christ within them was talking about, for he told them to write down the events which, since then, have happened to Christ: his suffering, and his great glory afterwards. And they wondered when and to whom all this would happen.

<sup>12</sup> They were finally told that these things would not occur during their lifetime, but long years later, during yours. And now at last this Good News has been plainly announced to all of us. It was preached to us in the power of the same heaven-sent Holy Spirit who spoke to them; and it is all so strange and wonderful that even the angels in heaven would give a great deal to know more about it. <sup>13</sup> So now you can look forward soberly and intelligently to more of God's kindness to you when Jesus Christ returns.

<sup>14</sup> Obey God because you are his children; don't slip back into your old ways—doing evil because you knew no better. <sup>15</sup> But be holy now in everything you do, just as the Lord is holy, who invited you to be his child. <sup>16</sup> He himself has said, "You must be holy, for I am holy."

<sup>17</sup> And remember that your heavenly Father to whom you pray has no favorites when he judges. He will judge you with perfect justice for everything you do; so act in reverent fear of him from now on until you get to heaven. <sup>18</sup> God paid a ransom to save you from the impossible road to heaven which your fathers tried to take, and the ransom he paid was not mere gold or silver, as you very well know. <sup>19</sup> But he paid for you with the precious lifeblood of Christ, the sinless, spotless Lamb of God. <sup>20</sup> God chose him for this purpose long before the world began, but only recently was he brought into public view, in these last days, as a blessing to you.

<sup>21</sup> Because of this, your trust can be in God who raised Christ from the dead and gave him great glory. Now your faith and hope can rest in him alone. <sup>22</sup> Now you can have real love for everyone because your souls have been cleansed from selfishness and hatred when you trusted Christ to save you; so see to it that you really do love each other warmly, with all your hearts.

<sup>21</sup> For you have a new life. It was not passed on to you from your parents, for the life they gave you will fade away. This new one will last forever, for it comes from Christ, God's ever-living Message to men. <sup>22</sup> Yes, our natural lives will fade as grass does when it becomes all brown and dry. All our greatness is like a flower that droops and falls; <sup>23</sup> but the Word of the Lord will last forever. And his message is the Good News that was preached to you.

2 SO GET RID of your feelings of hatred. Don't just pretend to be good! Be done with dishonesty and jealousy and talking about others behind their backs. <sup>2,3a</sup> Now that you realize how kind the Lord has been to you, put away all evil, deception, envy, and fraud. Long to grow up into the fullness of your salvation; cry for this as a baby cries for his milk. <sup>4</sup> Come to Christ, who is the living Foundation of Rock upon which God builds; though men have spurned him, he is very precious to God who has chosen him above all others.

<sup>5</sup> And now you have become living building-stones for God's use in building his house. What's more, you are his holy priests; so come to him—[you who are acceptable to him because of Jesus Christ<sup>b</sup>—and offer to God those things that please him. <sup>6</sup> As the Scriptures express it, "See, I am sending Christ to be the carefully chosen, precious Cornerstone of my church, and I will never disappoint those who trust in him."

<sup>7</sup> Yes, he is very precious to you who believe; and to those who reject him, well—"The same Stone that was rejected by the builders has become the Cornerstone, the most honored and important part of the building." <sup>8</sup> And the Scriptures also say, "He is the Stone that some will stumble over, and the Rock that will make them fall." They will stumble because they will not listen to God's Word, nor obey it, and so this punishment must follow—that they will fall.

<sup>9</sup> But you are not like that, for you have been chosen by God himself—you are priests of the King, you are holy and pure, you are God's very own—all this so that you may show to others how God called you out of the darkness into his wonderful light. <sup>10</sup> Once you were less than nothing; now you are God's own. Once you knew very little of God's kindness; now your very lives have been changed by it.

<sup>11</sup> Dear brothers, you are only visitors here. Since your real home is in heaven I beg you to keep away from the evil pleasures of this world; they are not for you, for they fight against your very souls.

<sup>12</sup> Be careful how you behave among your unsaved neighbors; for then, even if they are suspicious of a An alternative paraphrase of these verses could read: "If you have tasted the Lord's goodness and kindness, cry for more, as a baby cries for milk. Eat God's Word—read it, think about it—and grow strong in the Lord and be saved." b Implied.

you and talk against you, they will end up praising God for your good works when Christ returns. <sup>11</sup> For the Lord's sake, obey every law of your government: those of the king as head of the state, <sup>14</sup> and those of the king's officers, for he has sent them to punish all who do wrong, and to honor those who do right.

<sup>13</sup> It is God's will that your good lives should silence those who foolishly condemn the Gospel without knowing what it can do for them, having never experienced its power.

<sup>16</sup> You are free from the law, but that doesn't mean you are free to do wrong. Live as those who are free to do only God's will at all times.

<sup>17</sup> Show respect for everyone. Love Christians everywhere. Fear God and honor the government.

<sup>18</sup> Servants, you must respect your masters and do whatever they tell you—not only if they are kind and reasonable, but even if they are tough and cruel. <sup>19</sup> Praise the Lord if you are punished for doing right! <sup>20</sup> Of course, you get no credit for being patient if you are beaten for doing wrong; but if you do right and suffer for it, and are patient beneath the blows, God is well pleased.

<sup>21</sup> This suffering is all part of the work God has given you. Christ, who suffered for you, is your example. Follow in his steps: <sup>22</sup> He never sinned, never told a lie, <sup>23</sup> never answered back when insulted; when he suffered he did not threaten to get even; he left his case in the hands of God who always judges fairly. <sup>24</sup> He personally carried the load of our sins in his own body when he died on the cross, so that we can be finished with sin and live a good life from now on. For his wounds have healed ours! <sup>25</sup> Like sheep you wandered away from God, but now you have returned to your Shepherd, the Guardian of your souls who keeps you safe from all attacks.

3 WIVES, FIT IN with your husbands' plans; for then if they refuse to listen when you talk to them about the Lord, they will be won by your respectful, pure behavior. Your godly lives will speak to them better than any words.

<sup>1</sup> Don't be concerned about the outward beauty that depends on jewelry, or beautiful clothes, or hair arrangement. <sup>4</sup> Be beautiful inside, in your hearts, with the lasting charm of a gentle and quiet spirit which is so precious to God. <sup>5</sup> That kind of deep beauty was seen in the saintly women of old, who trusted God and fitted in with their husbands' plans.

<sup>6</sup> Sarah, for instance, obeyed her husband Abraham, honoring him as head of the house. And if you do the same, you will be following in her steps like good daughters and doing what is right; then you will not need to fear [offending your husbands].

<sup>7</sup> You husbands must be careful of your wives, being thoughtful of their needs and honoring them as the weaker sex. Remember that you and your wife are partners in receiving God's blessings, and if you don't treat her as you should, your prayers will not get ready answers.

<sup>8</sup> And now this word to all of you: You should be like one big happy family, full of sympathy toward each other, loving one another with tender hearts and humble minds. <sup>9</sup> Don't repay evil for evil. Don't snap back at those who say unkind things about you. Instead, pray for God's help for them, for we are to be kind to others, and God will bless us for it.

<sup>10</sup> If you want a happy, good life, keep control of your tongue, and guard your lips from telling lies.

<sup>11</sup> Turn away from evil and do good. Try to live in peace even if you must run after it to catch and hold it!

<sup>13</sup> Usually no one will hurt you for wanting to do good. <sup>14</sup> But even if they should, you are to be envied, for God will reward you for it.

<sup>15</sup> Quietly trust yourself to Christ your Lord and if anybody asks why you believe as you do, be ready to tell him, and do it in a gentle and respectful way.

<sup>16</sup> Do what is right; then if men speak against you, calling you evil names, they will become ashamed of themselves for falsely accusing you when you have only done what is good. <sup>17</sup> Remember, if God wants you to suffer, it is better to suffer for doing good than for doing wrong!

<sup>18</sup> Christ also suffered. He died once for the sins of all us guilty sinners, although he himself was innocent of any sin at any time, that he might bring us safely home to God.

But though his body died, his spirit lived on, <sup>19</sup> and it was in the spirit that he visited the spirits in prison, and preached to them—<sup>20</sup> spirits of those who, long before in the days of Noah, had refused to listen to God, though he waited patiently for them while Noah was building the ark. Yet only eight persons were saved from drowning in that terrible flood. <sup>21</sup> (That, by the way, is what baptism pictures for us: In baptism we show that we have been saved from death and doom by the resurrection of Christ;<sup>b</sup> not because our bodies are washed clean by the water, but because in being baptized we are turning to God and asking him to cleanse our hearts from sin.) <sup>22</sup> And now Christ is in heaven, sitting in the place of honor next to God the Father, with all the angels and powers of heaven bowing before him and obeying him.

4 SINCE CHRIST SUFFERED and underwent pain, you must have the same attitude he did; you must be ready to suffer, too. For remember, when your body suffers, sin loses its power, <sup>2</sup> and you won't be spending the rest of your life chasing after evil desires, but will be anxious to do the will of God. <sup>3</sup> You have had enough in the past of the evil things the godless enjoy—sex sin, lust, getting drunk, wild parties, drinking bouts, and the worship of idols, and other terrible sins.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>4</sup> Of course, your former friends will be very surprised when you don't eagerly join them any more in the wicked things they do, and they will laugh at you in contempt and scorn.<sup>3</sup> But just remember that they must face the Judge of all, living and dead; they will be punished for the way they have lived.<sup>4</sup> That is why the Good News was preached even to those who were dead—killed by the flood<sup>b</sup>—so that although their bodies were punished with death, they could still live in their spirits as God lives.

<sup>5</sup> The end of the world is coming soon. Therefore be earnest, thoughtful men of prayer.<sup>6</sup> Most important of all, continue to show deep love for each other, for love makes up for many of your faults.<sup>c</sup>
<sup>7</sup> Cheerfully share your home with those who need a meal or a place to stay for the night.

<sup>8</sup> God has given each of you some special abilities; be sure to use them to help each other, passing on to others God's many kinds of blessings.<sup>9</sup> Are you called to preach? Then preach as though God himself were speaking through you. Are you called to help others? Do it with all the strength and energy that God supplies, so that God will be glorified through Jesus Christ—to him be glory and power forever and ever. Amen.

<sup>10</sup> Dear friends, don't be bewildered or surprised when you go through the fiery trials ahead, for this is no strange, unusual thing that is going to happen to you.<sup>11</sup> Instead, be really glad—because these trials will make you partners with Christ in his suffering, and afterwards you will have the wonderful joy of sharing his glory in that coming day when it will be displayed.

<sup>12</sup> Be happy if you are cursed and insulted for being a Christian, for when that happens the Spirit of God will come upon you with great glory.<sup>d</sup><sup>13</sup> Don't let me hear of your suffering for murdering or stealing or making trouble or being a busybody and prying into other people's affairs.<sup>14</sup> But it is no shame to suffer for being a Christian. Praise God for the privilege of being in Christ's family and being called by his wonderful name!<sup>15</sup> For the time has come for judgment, and it must begin first among God's own children. And if even we who are Christians must be judged, what terrible fate awaits those who have never believed in the Lord?<sup>16</sup> If the righteous are barely saved, what chance will the godless have?

<sup>17</sup> So if you are suffering according to God's will, keep on doing what is right and trust yourself to the God who made you, for he will never fail you.

5 AND NOW, A word to you elders of the church. I, too, am an elder; with my own eyes I saw Christ dying on the cross; and I, too, will share his glory and his honor when he returns. Fellow elders, this is my plea to you:<sup>1</sup> Feed the flock of God; care for it willingly, not grudgingly; not for what you will get out of it, but because you are eager to serve the Lord.<sup>2</sup> Don't be tyrants, but lead them by your good example,<sup>3</sup> and when the Head Shepherd comes, your reward will be a never-ending share in his glory and honor.

<sup>5</sup> You younger men, follow the leadership of those who are older. And all of you serve each other with humble spirits, for God gives special blessings to those who are humble, but sets himself against those who are proud. <sup>6</sup> If you will humble yourselves under the mighty hand of God, in his good time he will lift you up.

<sup>7</sup> Let him have all your worries and cares, for he is always thinking about you and watching everything that concerns you.

<sup>8</sup> Be careful—watch out for attacks from Satan, your great enemy. He prowls around like a hungry, roaring lion, looking for some victim to tear apart. <sup>9</sup> Stand firm when he attacks. Trust the Lord; and remember that other Christians all around the world are going through these sufferings too.

<sup>10</sup> After you have suffered a little while, our God, who is full of kindness through Christ, will give you his eternal glory. He personally will come and pick you up, and set you firmly in place, and make you stronger than ever. <sup>11</sup> To him be all power over all things, forever and ever. Amen.

<sup>12</sup> I am sending this note to you through the courtesy of Silvanus who is, in my opinion, a very faithful brother.

I hope I have encouraged you by this letter for I have given you a true statement of the way God blesses. What I have told you here should help you to stand firmly in his love.

<sup>13</sup> The church here in Rome<sup>a</sup>—she is your sister in the Lord—sends you her greetings; so does my son Mark. <sup>14</sup> Give each other the handshake of Christian love. Peace be to all of you who are in Christ.

2 PETER

1 FROM: SIMON PETER, a servant and missionary of Jesus Christ.

To: All of you who have our kind of faith. The faith I speak of is the kind that Jesus Christ our God and Savior gives to us. How precious it is, and how just and good he is to give this same faith to each of us.

<sup>2</sup> Do you want more and more of God's kindness and peace? Then learn to know him better and better.

<sup>3</sup> For as you know him better, he will give you, through his great power, everything you need for living a truly good life: he even shares his own glory and his own goodness with us! <sup>4</sup> And by that same mighty

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "She who is at Babylon is likewise chosen"; but Babylon was the Christian nickname for Rome, and the "she" is thought by many to be Peter's wife to whom reference is made in Matthew 8:14, 1 Corinthians 9:5, etc. Others believe this should read: "Your sister church here in Babylon salutes you, and so does my son Mark."

power he has given us all the other rich and wonderful blessings he promised; for instance, the promise to save us from the lust and rottenness all around us, and to give us his own character.

<sup>3</sup> But to obtain these gifts, you need more than faith; you must also work hard to be good, and even that is not enough. For then you must learn to know God better and discover what he wants you to do. <sup>4</sup> Next, learn to put aside your own desires so that you will become patient and godly, gladly letting God have his way with you. <sup>5</sup> This will make possible the next step, which is for you to enjoy other people and to like them, and finally you will grow to love them deeply. <sup>6</sup> The more you go on in this way, the more you will grow strong spiritually and become fruitful and useful to our Lord Jesus Christ. <sup>7</sup> But anyone who fails to go after these additions to faith is blind indeed, or at least very shortsighted, and has forgotten that God delivered him from the old life of sin so that now he can live a strong, good life for the Lord.

<sup>10</sup> So, dear brothers, work hard to prove that you really are among those God has called and chosen, and then you will never stumble or fall away. <sup>11</sup> And God will open wide the gates of heaven for you to enter into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

<sup>12</sup> I plan to keep on reminding you of these things even though you already know them and are really getting along quite well! <sup>13,14</sup> But the Lord Jesus Christ has showed me that my days here on earth are numbered, and I am soon to die. As long as I am still here I intend to keep sending these reminders to you, <sup>15</sup> hoping to impress them so clearly upon you that you will remember them long after I have gone.

<sup>16</sup> For we have not been telling you fairy tales when we explained to you the power of our Lord Jesus Christ and his coming again. My own eyes have seen his splendor and his glory: <sup>17,18</sup> I was there on the holy mountain when he shone out with honor given him by God his Father; I heard that glorious, majestic voice calling down from heaven, saying, "This is my much-loved Son; I am well pleased with him."

<sup>19</sup> So we have seen and proved that what the prophets said came true. You will do well to pay close attention to everything they have written, for, like lights shining into dark corners, their words help us to understand many things that otherwise would be dark and difficult. But when you consider the wonderful truth of the prophets' words, then the light will dawn in your souls and Christ the Morning Star will shine in your hearts. <sup>20,21</sup> For no prophecy recorded in Scripture was ever thought up by the prophet himself. It was the Holy Spirit within these godly men who gave them true messages from God.

2 BUT THERE WERE false prophets, too, in those days, just as there will be false teachers among you. They will cleverly tell their lies about God, turning against even their Master who bought them; but theirs will be a swift and terrible end. <sup>2</sup> Many will follow their evil teaching, that there is nothing wrong with sexual sin. And because of them Christ and his way will be scoffed at.

<sup>1</sup> These teachers in their greed will tell you anything to get hold of your money. But God condemned them long ago and their destruction is on the way. <sup>4</sup> For God did not spare even the angels who sinned, but threw them into hell, chained in gloomy caves and darkness until the judgment day. <sup>5</sup> And he did not spare any of the people who lived in ancient times before the flood except Noah, the one man who spoke up for God, and his family of seven. At that time God completely destroyed the whole world of ungodly men with the vast flood. <sup>6</sup> Later, he turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into heaps of ashes and blotted them off the face of the earth, making them an example for all the ungodly in the future to look back upon and fear.

<sup>7,8</sup> But at the same time the Lord rescued Lot out of Sodom because he was a good man, sick of the terrible wickedness he saw everywhere around him day after day. <sup>9</sup> So also the Lord can rescue you and me from the temptations that surround us, and continue to punish the ungodly until the day of final judgment comes.

<sup>10</sup> He is especially hard on those who follow their own evil, lustful thoughts, and those who are proud and willful, daring even to scoff at the Glorious Ones<sup>a</sup> without so much as trembling, <sup>11</sup> although the angels in heaven who stand in the very presence of the Lord, and are far greater in power and strength than these false teachers, never speak out disrespectfully against these evil Mighty Ones.

<sup>12</sup> But false teachers are fools—no better than animals. They do whatever they feel like; born only to be caught and killed, they laugh at the terrifying powers of the underworld<sup>b</sup> which they know so little about; and they will be destroyed along with all the demons and powers of hell.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>13</sup> That is the pay these teachers will have for their sin. For they live in evil pleasures day after day. They are a disgrace and a stain among you, deceiving you by living in foul sin on the side while they join your love feasts as though they were honest men. <sup>14</sup> No woman can escape their sinful stare, and of adultery they never have enough. They make a game of luring unstable women. They train themselves to be greedy; and are doomed and cursed. <sup>15</sup> They have gone off the road and become lost like Balaam, the son of Beor, who fell in love with the money he could make by doing wrong; <sup>16</sup> but Balaam was stopped from his mad course when his donkey spoke to him with a human voice, scolding and rebuking him.

<sup>17</sup> These men are as useless as dried-up springs of water, promising much and delivering nothing; they are as unstable as clouds driven by the storm winds. They are doomed to the eternal pits of darkness.

<sup>18</sup> They proudly boast about their sins and conquests, and, using a Or, "the glories of the unseen world."

stand."

b Literally, "the things they do not understand."
c Implied. Literally, "will be destroyed in the same destruction with them."

lust as their bait, they lure back into sin those who have just escaped from such wicked living.

<sup>19</sup> "You aren't saved by being good," they say, "so you might as well be bad. Do what you like, be free."

But these very teachers who offer this "freedom" from law are themselves slaves to sin and destruction. For a man is a slave to whatever controls him. <sup>20</sup> And when a person has escaped from the wicked ways of the world by learning about our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and then gets tangled up with sin and becomes its slave again, he is worse off than he was before. <sup>21</sup> It would be better if he had never known about Christ at all than to learn of him and then afterwards turn his back on the holy commandments that were given to him. <sup>22</sup> There is an old saying that "A dog comes back to what he has vomited, and a pig is washed only to come back and wallow in the mud again." That is the way it is with those who turn again to their sin.

3 THIS IS MY second letter to you, dear brothers, and in both of them I have tried to remind you—if you will let me—about facts you already know: facts you learned from the holy prophets and from us apostles who brought you the words of our Lord and Savior.

<sup>1</sup> First, I want to remind you that in the last days there will come scoffers who will do every wrong they can think of, and laugh at the truth.

<sup>4</sup> This will be their line of argument: "So Jesus promised to come back, did he? Then where is he? He'll never come! Why, as far back as anyone can remember everything has remained exactly as it was since the first day of creation."

<sup>5</sup> They deliberately forget this fact: that God did destroy the world with a mighty flood, long after he had made the heavens by the word of his command, and had used the waters to form the earth and surround it.

<sup>7</sup> And God has commanded that the earth and the heavens be stored away for a great bonfire at the judgment day, when all ungodly men will perish.

<sup>8</sup> But don't forget this, dear friends, that a day or a thousand years from now is like tomorrow to the Lord. <sup>9</sup> He isn't really being slow about his promised return, even though it sometimes seems that way. But he is waiting, for the good reason that he is not willing that any should perish, and he is giving more time for sinners to repent.

<sup>10</sup> The day of the Lord is surely coming, as unexpectedly as a thief, and then the heavens will pass away with a terrible noise and the heavenly bodies will disappear in fire, and the earth and everything on it will be burned up.

<sup>11</sup> And so since everything around us is going to melt away, what holy, godly lives we should be living! <sup>12</sup> You should look forward to that day and hurry it along—the day when God will set the heavens on fire, and the heavenly bodies will melt and disappear in flames. <sup>13</sup> But we are looking forward to God's promise of new heavens and a new earth afterwards, where there will be only goodness.<sup>a</sup>

<sup>14</sup> Dear friends, while you are waiting for these things to happen and for him to come, try hard to live without sinning; and be at peace with everyone so that he will be pleased with you when he returns.

<sup>15,16</sup> And remember why he is waiting. He is giving us time to get his message of salvation out to others. Our wise and beloved brother Paul has talked about these same things in many of his letters. Some of his comments are not easy to understand, and there are people who are deliberately stupid, and always demand some unusual interpretation—they have twisted his letters around to mean something quite different from what he meant, just as they do the other parts of the Scripture—and the result is disaster for them.

<sup>17</sup> I am warning you ahead of time, dear brothers, so that you can watch out and not be carried away by the mistakes of these wicked men, lest you yourselves become mixed up too. <sup>18</sup> But grow in spiritual strength and become better acquainted with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be all glory and splendid honor, both now and forevermore. Good-bye.

Peter

1 JOHN

1 CHRIST WAS ALIVE when the world began, yet I myself have seen him with my own eyes and listened to him speak. I have touched him with my own hands. He is God's message of Life. <sup>2</sup> This one who is Life from God has been shown to us and we guarantee that we have seen him; I am speaking of Christ, who is eternal Life. He was with the Father and then was shown to us. <sup>3</sup> Again I say, we are telling you about what we ourselves have actually seen and heard, so that you may share the fellowship and the joys we have with the Father and with Jesus Christ his Son. <sup>4</sup> And if you do as I say in this letter, then you, too, will be full of joy, and so will we.

<sup>5</sup> This is the message God has given us to pass on to you: that God is Light and in him is no darkness at all. <sup>6</sup> So if we say we are his friends, but go on living in spiritual darkness and sin, we are lying. <sup>7</sup> But if we are living in the light of God's presence, just as Christ does, then we have wonderful fellowship and joy with each other, and the blood of Jesus his Son cleanses us from every sin.

<sup>8</sup> If we say that we have no sin, we are only fooling ourselves, and refusing to accept the truth. <sup>9</sup> But if we confess our sins to him,<sup>a</sup> he can be depended on to forgive us and to cleanse us from every wrong

<sup>a</sup> Literally, "wherein righteousness dwells." sins."

[And it is perfectly proper for God to do this for us because Christ died to wash away our sins.] <sup>10</sup> If we claim we have not sinned, we are lying and calling God a liar, for he says we have sinned.

2 MY LITTLE CHILDREN, I am telling you this so that you will stay away from sin. But if you sin, there is someone to plead for you before the Father. His name is Jesus Christ, the one who is all that is good and who pleases God completely. <sup>2</sup> He is the one who took God's wrath against our sins upon himself, and brought us into fellowship with God; and he is the forgiveness<sup>a</sup> for our sins, and not only ours but all the world's.

<sup>1</sup> And how can we be sure that we belong to him? By looking within ourselves: are we really trying to do what he wants us to?

<sup>4</sup> Someone may say, "I am a Christian; I am on my way to heaven; I belong to Christ." But if he doesn't do what Christ tells him to, he is a liar. <sup>3</sup> But those who do what Christ tells them to will learn to love God more and more. That is the way to know whether or not you are a Christian. <sup>6</sup> Anyone who says he is a Christian should live as Christ did.

<sup>7</sup> Dear brothers, I am not writing out a new rule for you to obey, for it is an old one you have always had, right from the start. You have heard it all before. <sup>8</sup> Yet it is always new; and works for you just as it did for Christ; and as we obey this commandment, to love one another, the darkness in our lives disappears and the new light of life in Christ shines in.

<sup>9</sup> Anyone who says he is walking in the light of Christ but dislikes his fellow man, is still in darkness.

<sup>10</sup> But whoever loves his fellow man is "walking in the light" and can see his way without stumbling around in darkness and sin. <sup>11</sup> For he who dislikes his brother is wandering in spiritual darkness and doesn't know where he is going, for the darkness had made him blind so that he cannot see the way.

<sup>12</sup> I am writing these things to all of you, my little children, because your sins have been forgiven in the name of Jesus our Savior. <sup>13</sup> I am saying these things to you older men because you really know Christ, the one who has been alive from the beginning. And you young men, I am talking to you because you have won your battle with Satan. And I am writing to you younger boys and girls because you, too, have learned to know God our Father.

<sup>14</sup> And so I say to you fathers who know the eternal God, and to you young men who are strong, with God's Word in your hearts, and have won your struggle against Satan: <sup>15</sup> Stop loving this evil world and all that it offers you, for when you love these things you show that you do not really love God; <sup>16</sup> for all these worldly things, these evil desires—the craze for sex, the ambition to buy everything that appeals to you, and the pride that comes from wealth and importance—these are not from God. They are from this evil world itself. <sup>17</sup> And b Literally, "he is . . . just."

a Or, "atoning sacrifice."

this world is fading away, and these evil, forbidden things will go with it, but whoever keeps doing the will of God will live forever.

<sup>18</sup> Dear children, this world's last hour has come. You have heard about the Antichrist who is coming—the one who is against Christ—and already many such persons have appeared. This makes us all the more certain that the end of the world is near. <sup>19</sup> These “against-Christ” people used to be members of our churches, but they never really belonged with us or else they would have stayed. When they left us it proved that they were not of us at all.

<sup>20</sup> But you are not like that, for the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you know the truth. <sup>21</sup> So I am not writing to you as to those who need to know the truth, but I warn you as those who can discern the difference between true and false.

<sup>22</sup> And who is the greatest liar? The one who says that Jesus is not Christ. Such a person is antichrist, for he does not believe in God the Father and in his Son. <sup>23</sup> For a person who doesn't believe in Christ, God's Son, can't have God the Father either. But he who has Christ, God's Son, has God the Father also.

<sup>24</sup> So keep on believing what you have been taught from the beginning. If you do, you will always be in close fellowship with both God the Father and his Son. <sup>25</sup> And he himself has promised us this: eternal life.

<sup>26</sup> These remarks of mine about the Antichrist are pointed at those who would dearly love to blindfold you and lead you astray. <sup>27</sup> But you have received the Holy Spirit and he lives within you, in your hearts, so that you don't need anyone to teach you what is right. For he teaches you all things, and he is the Truth, and no liar; and so, just as he has said, you must live in Christ, never to depart from him.

<sup>28</sup> And now, my little children, stay in happy fellowship with the Lord so that when he comes you will be sure that all is well, and will not have to be ashamed and shrink back from meeting him. <sup>29</sup> Since we know that God is always good and does only right, we may rightly assume that all those who do right are his children.

3 SEE HOW VERY much our heavenly Father loves us, for he allows us to be called his children—think of it—and we really are! But since most people don't know God, naturally they don't understand that we are his children. <sup>2</sup> Yes, dear friends, we are already God's children, right now, and we can't even imagine what it is going to be like later on. But we do know this, that when he comes we will be like him, as a result of seeing him as he really is. <sup>3</sup> And everyone who really believes this will try to stay pure because Christ is pure.

<sup>4</sup> But those who keep on sinning are against God, for every sin is done against the will of God. <sup>5</sup> And you know that he became a man so that he could take away our sins, and that there is no sin in him, no missing of God's will at any time in any way. <sup>6</sup> So if we stay close to him, obedient to him, we won't be sinning either; but as for those who keep on sinning, they should realize this: They sin because they have never really known him or become his.

<sup>7</sup> Oh, dear children, don't let anyone deceive you about this: if you are constantly doing what is good, it is because you are good, even as he is. <sup>8</sup> But if you keep on sinning, it shows that you belong to Satan, who since he first began to sin has kept steadily at it. But the Son of God came to destroy these works of the devil. <sup>9</sup> The person who has been born into God's family does not make a practice of sinning, because now God's life is in him; so he can't keep on sinning, for this new life has been born into him and controls him—he has been born again.

<sup>10</sup> So now we can tell who is a child of God and who belongs to Satan. Whoever is living a life of sin and doesn't love his brother shows that he is not in God's family; <sup>11</sup> for the message to us from the beginning has been that we should love one another.

<sup>12</sup> We are not to be like Cain, who belonged to Satan and killed his brother. Why did he kill him? Because Cain had been doing wrong and he knew very well that his brother's life was better than his. <sup>13</sup> So don't be surprised, dear friends, if the world hates you.

<sup>14</sup> If we love other Christians it proves that we have been delivered from hell and given eternal life. But a person who doesn't have love for others is headed for eternal death. <sup>15</sup> Anyone who hates his Christian brother is really a murderer at heart; and you know that no one wanting to murder has eternal life within. <sup>16</sup> We know what real love is from Christ's example in dying for us. And so we also ought to lay down our lives for our Christian brothers.

<sup>17</sup> But if someone who is supposed to be a Christian has money enough to live well, and sees a brother in need, and won't help him—how can God's love be within him? <sup>18</sup> Little children, let us stop just saying we love people; let us really love them, and show it by our actions. <sup>19</sup> Then we will know for sure, by our actions, that we are on God's side, and our consciences will be clear, even when we stand before the Lord. <sup>20</sup> But if we have bad consciences and feel that we have done wrong, the Lord will surely feel it even more,<sup>a</sup> for he knows everything we do.

<sup>21</sup> But, dearly loved friends, if our consciences are clear, we can come to the Lord with perfect assurance and trust, <sup>22</sup> and get whatever we ask for because we are obeying him and doing the things that please him. <sup>23</sup> And this is what God says we must do: Believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another. <sup>24</sup> Those who do what God says—they are living with God and he with them. We know this is true because the Holy Spirit he has given us tells us so.

4 DEARLY LOVED FRIENDS, don't always believe everything you hear just because someone says it is a message from God: test it first to see if it really is. For there are many false teachers around,<sup>2</sup> and the way to find out if their message is from the Holy Spirit is to ask: Does it really agree that Jesus Christ, God's Son, actually became man with a human body? If so, then the message is from God.<sup>3</sup> If not, the message is not from God but from one who is against Christ, like the "Antichrist" you have heard about who is going to come, and his attitude of enmity against Christ is already abroad in the world.

<sup>4</sup> Dear young friends, you belong to God and have already won your fight with those who are against Christ, because there is someone in your hearts who is stronger than any evil teacher in this wicked world.<sup>5</sup> These men belong to this world, so, quite naturally, they are concerned about worldly affairs and the world pays attention to them.<sup>6</sup> But we are children of God; that is why only those who have walked and talked with God will listen to us. Others won't. That is another way to know whether a message is really from God; for if it is, the world won't listen to it.

<sup>7</sup> Dear friends, let us practice loving each other, for love comes from God and those who are loving and kind show that they are the children of God, and that they are getting to know him better.<sup>8</sup> But if a person isn't loving and kind, it shows that he doesn't know God—for God is love.

<sup>9</sup> God showed how much he loved us by sending his only Son into this wicked world to bring to us eternal life through his death.

is: it is not our love for God, but his love for us when he sent his Son to satisfy God's anger against our sins.

<sup>11</sup> Dear friends, since God loved us as much as that, we surely ought to love each other too.<sup>12</sup> For though we have never yet seen God, when we love each other God lives in us and his love within us grows ever stronger.<sup>13</sup> And he has put his own Holy Spirit into our hearts as a proof to us that we are living with him and he with us.<sup>14</sup> And furthermore, we have seen with our own eyes and now tell all the world that God sent his Son to be their Savior.<sup>15</sup> Anyone who believes and says that Jesus is the Son of God has God living in him, and he is living with God.

<sup>16</sup> We know how much God loves us because we have felt his love and because we believe him when he tells us that he loves us dearly. God is love, and anyone who lives in love is living with God and God is living in him.<sup>17</sup> And as we live with Christ, our love grows more perfect and complete; so we will not be ashamed and embarrassed at the day of judgment, but can face him with confidence and joy, because he loves us and we love him too.

<sup>18</sup> We need have no fear of someone who loves us perfectly; his perfect love for us eliminates all dread of what he might do to us. If we are afraid, it is for fear of what he might do to us, and shows that we are not fully convinced that he really loves us.<sup>19</sup> So you see, our love for him comes as a result of his loving us first.

is a liar; for if he doesn't love his brother who is right there in front of him, how can he love God whom he has never seen? <sup>7</sup>And God himself has said that one must love not only God, but his brother too.

5 IF YOU BELIEVE that Jesus is the Christ—that he is God's Son and your Savior—then you are a child of God. And all who love the Father love his children too. <sup>2</sup> So you can find out how much you love God's children—your brothers and sisters in the Lord—by how much you love and obey God. <sup>3</sup> Loving God means doing what he tells us to do, and really, that isn't hard at all; <sup>4</sup> for every child of God can obey him, defeating sin and evil pleasure by trusting Christ to help him.

<sup>5</sup> But who could possibly fight and win this battle except by believing that Jesus is truly the Son of God? <sup>6,7</sup> And we know he is, because God said so with a voice from heaven when Jesus was baptized, and again as he was facing death<sup>a</sup>—yes, not only at his baptism but also as he faced death.<sup>b</sup> And the Holy Spirit, forever truthful, says it too. So we have these three witnesses: the voice of the Holy Spirit in our hearts, the voice from heaven at Christ's baptism, and the voice before he died.<sup>c</sup> And they all say the same thing: that Jesus Christ is the Son of God.<sup>d</sup> <sup>9</sup> We believe men who witness in our courts, and so surely we can believe whatever God declares. And God declares that Jesus is his Son. <sup>10</sup> All who believe this know in their hearts that it is true. If anyone doesn't believe this, he is actually calling God a liar, because he doesn't believe what God has said about his Son.

<sup>11</sup> And what is it that God has said? That he has given us eternal life, and that this life is in his Son. <sup>12</sup> So whoever has God's Son has life; whoever does not have his Son, does not have life.

<sup>13</sup> I have written this to you who believe in the Son of God so that you may know you have eternal life. <sup>14</sup> And we are sure of this, that he will listen to us whenever we ask him for anything in line with his will. <sup>15</sup> And if we really know he is listening when we talk to him and make our requests, then we can be sure that he will answer us.

<sup>16</sup> If you see a Christian sinning in a way that does not end in death, you should ask God to forgive him and God will give him life, unless he has sinned that one fatal sin. But there is that one sin which ends in death and if he has done that, there is no use praying for him. <sup>17</sup> Every wrong is a sin, of course. I'm not talking about these ordinary sins; I am speaking of that one that ends in death.<sup>e</sup> a Literally, "This is he who came by water and blood." See Matthew 3:16, 17; Luke 9:31, 35; John 12:27, 28, 32, 33. Other interpretations of this verse are equally possible.

b Literally, "not by water only, but by water and blood." c Literally, "the Spirit, and the water, and the blood." d Implied.

e Commentators differ widely in their thoughts about what sin this is, and whether it causes physical death or spiritual death. Blasphemy against the Holy Spirit results in spiritual death (Mark 3:29) but can a Christian ever sin in such a way? Impenitence at the Communion Table sometimes ends in physical death (1 Cor. 11:30). And Hebrews 6:4-8 speaks of the terrible end of those who fall away:

<sup>18</sup> No one who has become part of God's family makes a practice of sinning, for Christ, God's Son, holds him securely and the devil cannot get his hands on him. <sup>19</sup> We know that we are children of God and that all the rest of the world around us is under Satan's power and control. <sup>20</sup> And we know that Christ, God's Son, has come to help us understand and find the true God. And now we are in God because we are in Jesus Christ his Son, who is the only true God; and he is eternal Life.

<sup>21</sup> Dear children, keep away from anything that might take God's place in your hearts. Amen.

Sincerely,
John

2 JOHN

1 FROM: JOHN, THE old Elder of the church.

To: That dear woman Cyria, one of God's very own, and to her children whom I love so much, as does everyone else in the church. <sup>2</sup> Since the Truth is in our hearts forever, <sup>3</sup> God the Father and Jesus Christ his Son will bless us with great mercy and much peace, and with truth and love.

<sup>4</sup> How happy I am to find some of your children here, and to see that they are living as they should, following the Truth, obeying God's command.

<sup>5</sup> And now I want to urgently remind you, dear friends, of the old rule God gave us right from the beginning, that Christians should love one another. <sup>6</sup> If we love God, we will do whatever he tells us to. And he has told us from the very first to love each other.

<sup>7</sup> Watch out for the false leaders—and there are many of them around—who don't believe that Jesus Christ came to earth as a human being with a body like ours.

Such people are against the truth and against Christ. <sup>8</sup> Beware of being like them, and losing the prize that you and I have been working so hard to get. See to it that you win your full reward from the Lord. <sup>9</sup> For if you wander beyond the teaching of Christ, you will leave God behind; while if you are loyal to Christ's teachings, you will have God too. Then you will have both the Father and the Son.

<sup>10</sup> If anyone comes to teach you, and he doesn't believe what Christ taught, don't even invite him into your home. Don't encourage him in any way. <sup>11</sup> If you do you will be a partner with him in his wickedness.

<sup>12</sup> Well, I would like to say much more, but I don't want to say it in this letter, for I hope to come to see you soon and then we can talk over these things together and have a joyous time.

Sincerely,
John

3 JOHN

1 FROM: JOHN, THE Elder.
To: Dear Gaius, whom I truly love.

<sup>2</sup> Dear friend, I am praying that all is well with you and that your body is as healthy as I know your soul is. <sup>3</sup> Some of the brothers traveling by have made me very happy by telling me that your life stays clean and true, and that you are living by the standards of the Gospel. <sup>4</sup> I could have no greater joy than to hear such things about my children.

<sup>5</sup> Dear friend, you are doing a good work for God in taking care of the traveling teachers and missionaries who are passing through. <sup>6</sup> They have told the church here of your friendship and your loving deeds. I am glad when you send them on their way with a generous gift. <sup>7</sup> For they are traveling for the Lord, and take neither food, clothing, shelter, nor money from those who are not Christians, even though they have preached to them. <sup>8</sup> So we ourselves should take care of them in order that we may become partners with them in the Lord's work.

<sup>9</sup> I sent a brief letter to the church about this, but proud Diotrephes, who loves to push himself forward as the leader of the Christians there, does not admit my authority over him and refuses to listen to me. <sup>10</sup> When I come I will tell you some of the things he is doing and what wicked things he is saying about me and what insulting language he is using. He not only refuses to welcome the missionary travelers himself, but tells others not to, and when they do he tries to put them out of the church.

<sup>11</sup> Dear friend, don't let this bad example influence you. Follow only what is good. Remember that those who do what is right prove that they are God's children; and those who continue in evil prove that they are far from God. <sup>12</sup> But everyone, including Truth itself, speaks highly of Demetrius. I myself can say the same for him, and you know I speak the truth.

<sup>13</sup> I have much to say but I don't want to write it, <sup>14</sup> for I hope to see you soon and then we will have much to talk about together. <sup>15</sup> So good-bye for now. Friends here send their love, and please give each of the folks there a special greeting from me.

Sincerely,
John

JUDE

1 FROM: JUDE, A servant of Jesus Christ, and a brother of James.

To: Christians everywhere—beloved of God and chosen by him.

<sup>2</sup> May you be given more and more of God's kindness, peace, and love.

<sup>3</sup> Dearly loved friends, I had been planning to write you some thoughts about the salvation God has given us, but now I find I must write of something else instead, urging you to stoutly defend the truth which God gave, once for all, to his people to keep without change through the years. <sup>4</sup> I say this because some godless teachers have wormed their way in among you, saying that after we become Christians we can do just as we like without fear of God's punishment. The fate of such people was written long ago, for they have turned against our only Master and Lord, Jesus Christ.

<sup>5</sup> My answer to them is: Remember this fact—which you know already—that the Lord saved a whole nation of people out of the land of Egypt, and then killed every one of them who did not trust and obey him. <sup>6</sup> And I remind you of those angels who were once pure and holy, but turned to a life of sin.<sup>a</sup> Now God has them chained up in prisons of darkness, waiting for the judgment day. <sup>7</sup> And don't forget the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah and their neighboring towns, all full of lust of every kind including lust of men for other men. Those cities were destroyed by fire and continue to be a warning to us that there is a hell in which sinners are punished.

<sup>8</sup> Yet these false teachers carelessly go right on living their evil, immoral lives, degrading their bodies and laughing at those in authority over them, even scoffing at the Glorious Ones. <sup>9</sup> Yet Michael, one of the mightiest of the angels, when he was arguing with Satan about Moses' body, did not dare to accuse even Satan, or jeer at him, but simply said, "The Lord rebuke you." <sup>10</sup> But these men mock and curse at anything they do not understand, and, like animals, they do whatever they feel like, thereby ruining their souls.

<sup>11</sup> Woe upon them! For they follow the example of Cain who killed his brother; and, like Balaam, they will do anything for money; and like Korah, they have disobeyed God and will die under his curse.

<sup>12</sup> When these men join you at the love feasts of the church, they are evil smears among you, laughing and carrying on, gorging and stuffing themselves without a thought for others. They are like clouds blowing over dry land without giving rain, promising much, but producing nothing. They are like fruit trees without any fruit at picking time. They are not only dead, but doubly dead, for they have been pulled out, roots and all, to be burned.

<sup>13</sup> All they leave behind them is shame and disgrace like the dirty

foam left along the beach by the wild waves. They wander around looking as bright as stars, but ahead of them is the everlasting gloom and darkness that God has prepared for them.

<sup>14</sup> Enoch, who lived seven generations after Adam, knew about these men and said this about them: "See, the Lord is coming with millions of his holy ones. <sup>15</sup> He will bring the people of the world before him in judgment, to receive just punishment, and to prove the terrible things they have done in rebellion against God, revealing all they have said against him." <sup>16</sup> These men are constant gripers, never satisfied, doing whatever evil they feel like; they are loud-mouthed "show-offs," and when they show respect for others, it is only to get something from them in return.

<sup>17</sup> Dear friends, remember what the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ told you, <sup>18</sup> that in the last times there would come these scoffers whose whole purpose in life is to enjoy themselves in every evil way imaginable. <sup>19</sup> They stir up arguments; they love the evil things of the world; they do not have the Holy Spirit living in them.

<sup>20</sup> But you, dear friends, must build up your lives ever more strongly upon the foundation of our holy faith, learning to pray in the power and strength of the Holy Spirit.

<sup>21</sup> Stay always within the boundaries where God's love can reach and bless you. Wait patiently for the eternal life that our Lord Jesus Christ in his mercy is going to give you. <sup>22</sup> Try to help those who argue against you. Be merciful to those who doubt. <sup>23</sup> Save some by snatching them as from the very flames of hell itself. And as for others, help them to find the Lord by being kind to them, but be careful that you yourselves aren't pulled along into their sins. Hate every trace of their sin while being merciful to them as sinners.

<sup>24,25</sup> And now—all glory to him who alone is God, who saves us through Jesus Christ our Lord; yes, splendor and majesty, all power and authority are his from the beginning; his they are and his they evermore shall be. And he is able to keep you from slipping and falling away, and to bring you, sinless and perfect, into his glorious presence with mighty shouts of everlasting joy. Amen.

Jude

THE REVELATION

1 THIS BOOK UNVEILS some of the future activities soon to occur in the life of Jesus Christ.<sup>a</sup> God permitted him to reveal these things to his servant John in a vision; and then an angel was sent from heaven to explain the vision's meaning.<sup>2</sup> John wrote it all down—the words of God and Jesus Christ and everything he heard and saw.

<sup>3</sup> If you read this prophecy aloud to the church, you will receive a special blessing from the Lord. Those who listen to it being read and do what it says will also be blessed. For the time is near when these things will all come true.

Dear Friends:

May you have grace and peace from God who is, and was, and is to come! and from the seven-fold Spirit<sup>c</sup> before his throne;<sup>2</sup> and from Jesus Christ who faithfully reveals all truth to us. He was the first to rise from death, to die no more.<sup>d</sup> He is far greater than any king in all the earth. All praise to him who always loves us and who set us free from our sins by pouring out his life blood for us. <sup>e</sup> He has gathered us into his kingdom and made us priests of God his Father. Give to him everlasting glory! He rules forever! Amen!

<sup>7</sup> See! He is arriving, surrounded by clouds; and every eye shall see him—yes, and those who pierced him.<sup>c</sup> And the nations will weep in sorrow and in terror when he comes. Yes! Amen! Let it be so!

<sup>8</sup> "I am the A and the Z,<sup>f</sup> the Beginning and the Ending of all things," says God, who is the Lord, the All Powerful One who is, and was, and is coming again!<sup>g</sup>

<sup>9</sup> It is I, your brother John, a fellow sufferer for the Lord's sake, who is writing this letter to you. I, too, have shared the patience Jesus gives, and we shall share his kingdom!

I was on the island of Patmos, exiled there for preaching the Word of God, and for telling what I knew about Jesus Christ. <sup>10</sup> It was the Lord's Day and I was worshiping, when suddenly I heard a loud voice behind me, a voice that sounded like a trumpet blast, <sup>11</sup> saying, "I am A and Z, the First and Last!" And then I heard him say, "Write down everything you see, and send your letter to the seven churches in Turkey;<sup>h</sup> to the church in Ephesus, the one in Smyrna, and those in a Literally, "the revelation of (concerning, or, from) Jesus Christ." b Literally, "in Asia."

c Literally, "the seven spirits." But see Isaiah 11:2, where various aspects of the Holy Spirit are described, and Zechariah 4:2-6, giving probability to the paraphrase; also see Revelation 2:7.

d Literally, "the First-born from the dead." Others (Lazarus, etc.) rose to die again. As used here the expression therefore implies "to die no more."

e John saw this happen with his own eyes—the piercing of Jesus—and never forgot the horror of it.

f Literally, "I am Alpha and Omega"; these are the first and last letters of the Greek alphabet.

g Literally, "who comes" or "who is to come."

h "The seven churches in Asia."

Pergamos, Thyatira, Sardis, Philadelphia, and Laodicea."

<sup>12</sup> When I turned to see who was speaking, there behind me were seven candlesticks of gold. <sup>13</sup> And standing among them was one who looked like Jesus who called himself the Son of Man,<sup>i</sup> wearing a long robe circled with a golden band across his chest. <sup>14</sup> His hair<sup>j</sup> was white as wool or snow, and his eyes penetrated like flames of fire. <sup>15</sup> His feet gleamed like burnished bronze, and his voice thundered like the waves against the shore. <sup>16</sup> He held seven stars in his right hand and a sharp, double-bladed sword in his mouth,<sup>k</sup> and his face shone like the power of the sun in unclouded brilliance.

<sup>17,18</sup> When I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead; but he laid his right hand on me and said, "Don't be afraid! Though I am the First and Last, the Living One who died, who is now alive forevermore, who has the keys of hell and death—don't be afraid!"

<sup>19</sup> Write down what you have just seen, and what will soon be shown to you. <sup>20</sup> This is the meaning of the seven stars you saw in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks: The seven stars are the leaders<sup>l</sup> of the seven churches, and the seven candlesticks are the churches themselves.

2 "Write a letter to the leader<sup>a</sup> of the church at Ephesus and tell him this:

"I write to inform you of a message from him who walks among the churches<sup>b</sup> and holds their leaders in his right hand.

"He says to you: <sup>2</sup> I know how many good things you are doing. I have watched your hard work and your patience; I know you don't tolerate sin among your members, and you have carefully examined the claims of those who say they are apostles but aren't. You have found out how they lie. <sup>3</sup> You have patiently suffered for me without quitting.

<sup>4</sup> "Yet there is one thing wrong; you don't love me as at first! <sup>5</sup> Think about those times of your first love (how different now!) and turn back to me again and work as you did before; or else I will come and remove your candlestick from its place among the churches.

<sup>6</sup> "But there is this about you that is good: You hate the deeds of the licentious Nicolaitans,<sup>c</sup> just as I do.

<sup>7</sup> "Let this message sink into the ears of anyone who listens to what the Spirit is saying to the churches: To everyone who is victorious, I will give fruit from the Tree of Life in the Paradise of God.

(See Revelation 2:14 and Numbers 31:15, 16.)

in Smyrna write this letter:

"This message is from him who is the First and Last, who was dead and then came back to life.

<sup>9</sup> "I know how much you suffer for the Lord, and I know all about your poverty (but you have heavenly riches!). I know the slander of those opposing you, who say that they are Jews—the children of God—but they aren't, for they support the cause of Satan. <sup>10</sup> Stop being afraid of what you are about to suffer—for the devil will soon throw some of you into prison to test you. You will be persecuted for 'ten days.'

"Remain faithful even when facing death and I will give you the crown of life—an unending, glorious future.<sup>d</sup> <sup>11</sup> Let everyone who can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches: He who is victorious shall not be hurt by the Second Death.

"This message is from him who wields the sharp and double-bladed sword. <sup>13</sup> I am fully aware that you live in the city where Satan's throne is, at the center of satanic worship; and yet you have remained loyal to me, and refused to deny me, even when Antipas, my faithful witness, was martyred among you by Satan's devotees.

<sup>14</sup> "And yet I have a few things against you. You tolerate some among you who do as Balaam did when he taught Balak how to ruin the people of Israel by involving them in sexual sin and encouraging them to go to idol feasts.

<sup>15</sup> "Yes, you have some of these very same followers of Balaam<sup>f</sup> among you!

<sup>16</sup> "Change your mind and attitude, or else I will come to you suddenly and fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

<sup>17</sup> "Let everyone who can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches: Every one who is victorious shall eat of the hidden manna, the secret nourishment from heaven; and I will give to each a white stone, and on the stone will be engraved a new name that no one else knows except the one receiving it.

"This is a message from the Son of God, whose eyes penetrate like flames of fire, whose feet are like glowing brass.

<sup>19</sup> "I am aware of all your good deeds—your kindness to the poor, your gifts and service to them; also I know your love and faith and patience, and I can see your constant improvement in all these things.

<sup>20</sup> "Yet I have this against you: You are permitting that woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach my servants that sex sin is not a serious matter; she urges them to practice immorality and to eat meat that has been sacrificed to idols. <sup>21</sup> I gave her time to change her mind and attitude, but she refused. <sup>22</sup> Pay attention now to what I am saying: I will lay her upon a sickbed of intense affliction, along with all her immoral followers,<sup>8</sup> unless they turn again to me, repenting of their sin with her; <sup>11</sup>and I will strike her children dead. And all the churches shall know that I am he who searches deep within men's hearts, and minds; I will give to each of you whatever you deserve.

<sup>24,25</sup> "As for the rest of you in Thyatira who have not followed this false teaching ('deeper truths,' as they call them—depths of Satan, really), I will ask nothing further of you; only hold tightly to what you have until I come.

<sup>26</sup> "To every one who overcomes—to who to the very end keeps on doing things that please me—I will give power over the nations. <sup>27</sup> You will rule them with a rod of iron just as my Father gave me the authority to rule them; they will be shattered like a pot of clay that is broken into tiny pieces. <sup>28</sup> And I will give you the Morning Star!

<sup>29</sup> "Let all who can hear, listen to what the Spirit says to the churches.

3 "To the leader<sup>a</sup> of the church in Sardis write this letter:

"This message is sent to you by the one who has the seven-fold Spirit<sup>b</sup> of God and the seven stars.

"I know your reputation as a live and active church, but you are dead. <sup>2</sup> Now wake up! Strengthen what little remains—for even what is left is at the point of death. Your deeds are far from right in the sight of God. <sup>3</sup> Go back to what you heard and believed at first; hold to it firmly and turn to me again. Unless you do, I will come suddenly upon you, unexpected as a thief, and punish you.

<sup>4</sup> "Yet even there in Sardis some haven't soiled their garments with the world's filth; they shall walk with me in white, for they are worthy. <sup>5</sup> Everyone who conquers will be clothed in white, and I will not erase his name from the Book of Life, but I will announce before my Father and his angels that he is mine.

"This message is sent to you by the one who is holy and true, and has the key of David to open what no one can shut and to shut what no one can open.

<sup>8</sup> "I know you well; you aren't strong, but you have tried to obey<sup>c</sup> and have not denied my Name. Therefore I have opened a door to you that no one can shut.

<sup>9</sup> "Note this: I will force those supporting the causes of Satan while claiming to be mine<sup>d</sup> (but they aren't—they are lying) to fall at your feet and acknowledge that you are the ones I love.

the time of Great Tribulation and temptation, which will come upon the world to test everyone alive. <sup>11</sup> Look, I am coming soon!<sup>f</sup> Hold tightly to the little strength you have—so that no one will take away your crown.

<sup>12</sup> “As for the one who conquers, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God; he will be secure, and will go out no more; and I will write my God’s Name on him, and he will be a citizen in the city of my God—the New Jerusalem, coming down from heaven from my God; and he will have my new Name inscribed upon him.

“This message is from the one who stands firm,<sup>h</sup> the faithful and true Witness [of all that is or was or evermore shall be], the primeval source of God’s creation:

<sup>15</sup> “I know you well—you are neither hot nor cold; I wish you were one or the other! <sup>16</sup> But since you are merely lukewarm, I will spit you out of my mouth!

<sup>17</sup> “You say, ‘I am rich, with everything I want; I don’t need a thing!’ And you don’t realize that spiritually you are wretched and miserable and poor and blind and naked.

<sup>18</sup> “My advice to you is to buy pure gold from me, gold purified by fire—only then will you truly be rich. And to purchase from me white garments, clean and pure, so you won’t be naked and ashamed; and to get medicine from me to heal your eyes and give you back your sight. <sup>19</sup> I continually discipline and punish everyone I love; so I must punish you, unless you turn from your indifference and become enthusiastic about the things of God.

<sup>20</sup> “Look! I have been standing at the door and I am constantly knocking. If anyone hears me calling him and opens the door, I will come in and fellowship with him and he with me.

<sup>21</sup> “I will let every one who conquers sit beside me on my throne, just as I took my place with my Father on his throne when I had conquered. <sup>22</sup> Let those who can hear, listen to what the Spirit is saying to the churches.”

4 THEN AS I looked, I saw a door standing open in heaven, and the same voice I had heard before, that sounded like a mighty trumpet blast, spoke to me and said, “Come up here and I will show you what must happen in the future!”

<sup>2</sup> And instantly I was, in spirit, there in heaven and saw—oh, the glory of it!—a throne and someone sitting on it! <sup>3</sup> Great bursts of light flashed forth from him as from a glittering diamond, or from a shining ruby, and a rainbow glowing like an emerald encircled his throne.

ning and thunder issued from the throne, and there were voices in the thunder. Directly in front of his throne were seven lighted lamps representing the seven-fold Spirit<sup>a</sup> of God. <sup>6</sup> Spread out before it was a shiny crystal sea. Four Living Beings, dotted front and back with eyes, stood at the throne's four sides. <sup>7</sup> The first of these Living Beings was in the form of a lion; the second looked like an ox; the third had the face of a man; and the fourth, the form of an eagle, with wings spread out as though in flight. <sup>8</sup> Each of these Living Beings had six wings, and the central sections of their wings were covered with eyes. Day after day and night after night they kept on saying, "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty—the one who was, and is, and is to come."

<sup>9</sup> And when the Living Beings gave glory and honor and thanks to the one sitting on the throne, who lives forever and ever, <sup>10</sup> the twenty-four Elders fell down before him and worshiped him, the Eternal Living One, and cast their crowns before the throne, singing, "O Lord, you are worthy to receive the glory and the honor and the power, for you have created all things. They were created and called into being by your act of will."

5 AND I SAW a scroll in the right hand of the one who was sitting on the throne, a scroll with writing on the inside and on the back, and sealed with seven seals. <sup>2</sup> A mighty angel with a loud voice was shouting out this question: "Who is worthy to break the seals on this scroll, and to unroll it?" <sup>3</sup> But no one in all heaven or earth or from among the dead was permitted to open and read it.

<sup>4</sup> Then I wept with disappointment<sup>a</sup> because no one anywhere was worthy; no one could tell us what it said.

<sup>5</sup> But one of the twenty-four Elders said to me, "Stop crying, for look! The Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered, and proved himself worthy to open the scroll and to break its seven seals."

<sup>6</sup> I looked and saw a Lamb standing there before the twenty-four Elders, in front of the throne and the Living Beings, and on the Lamb were wounds that once had caused his death. He had seven horns and seven eyes, which represent the seven-fold Spirit<sup>b</sup> of God, sent out into every part of the world. <sup>7</sup> He stepped forward and took the scroll from the right hand of the one sitting upon the throne. <sup>8</sup> And as he took the scroll, the twenty-four Elders fell down before the Lamb, each with a harp and golden vials filled with incense—the prayers of God's people!

<sup>9</sup> They were singing<sup>c</sup> him a new song with these words: "You are worthy to take the scroll and break its seals and open it; for you were slain, and your blood has bought people from every nation as gifts for God.<sup>10</sup> And you have gathered them into a kingdom and made them priests of our God; they shall reign upon the earth."

<sup>11</sup> Then in my vision I heard the singing<sup>d</sup> of millions of angels surrounding the throne and the Living Beings and the Elders: <sup>12</sup> "The Lamb is worthy" (loudly they sang<sup>d</sup> it!) "—the Lamb who was slain. He is worthy to receive the power, and the riches, and the wisdom, and the strength, and the honor, and the glory, and the blessing."

<sup>13</sup> And then I heard everyone in heaven and earth, and from the dead beneath the earth and in the sea, exclaiming, "The blessing and the honor and the glory and the power belong to the one sitting on the throne, and to the Lamb forever and ever." <sup>14</sup> And the four Living Beings kept saying, "Amen!" And the twenty-four Elders fell down and worshiped him.

6 AS I WATCHED, the Lamb broke the first seal and began to unroll the scroll. Then one of the four Living Beings, with a voice that sounded like thunder, said, "Come!"

<sup>2</sup> I looked, and there in front of me was a white horse. Its rider carried a bow, and a crown was placed upon his head; he rode out to conquer in many battles and win the war.

<sup>3</sup> Then he unrolled the scroll to the second seal, and broke it open too. And I heard the second Living Being say, "Come!"

<sup>4</sup> This time a red horse rode out. Its rider was given a long sword and the authority to banish peace and bring anarchy to the earth; war and killing broke out everywhere.

<sup>5</sup> When he had broken the third seal, I heard the third Living Being say, "Come!" And I saw a black horse, with its rider holding a pair of balances in his hand. <sup>6</sup> And a voice from among the four Living Beings said, "A loaf of bread for $20, or three pounds of barley flour,<sup>a</sup> but there is no olive oil or wine."<sup>b</sup>

<sup>7</sup> And when the fourth seal was broken, I heard the fourth Living Being say, "Come!" <sup>8</sup> And now I saw a pale horse, and its rider's name was Death. And there followed after him another horse whose rider's name was Hell. They were given control of one-fourth of the earth, to kill with war and famine and disease and wild animals.

<sup>9</sup> And when he broke open the fifth seal, I saw an altar, and underneath it all the souls of those who had been martyred for preaching the Word of God and for being faithful in their witnessing. <sup>10</sup> They called loudly to the Lord and said, "O Sovereign Lord, holy and true, how long will it be before you judge the people of the earth for what they've done to us? When will you avenge our blood against those living on the earth?" <sup>11</sup> White robes were given to each of them, and they were told to rest a little longer until their other brothers, fellow servants of Jesus, had been martyred on the earth and joined them.

<sup>12</sup> I watched as he broke the sixth seal, and there was a vast earthquake; and the sun became dark like black cloth, and the moon was blood-red. <sup>13</sup> Then the stars of heaven appeared to be falling to earth<sup>c</sup>—like green fruit from fig trees buffeted by mighty winds. <sup>14</sup> And the starry heavens disappeared<sup>d</sup> as though rolled up like a scroll and taken away; and every mountain and island shook and shifted. <sup>15</sup> The kings of the earth, and world leaders and rich men, and high-ranking military officers, and all men great and small, slave and free, hid themselves in the caves and rocks of the mountains, and cried to the mountains to crush them. “Fall on us,” they pleaded, “and hide us from the face of the one sitting on the throne, and from the anger of the Lamb,” <sup>17</sup> because the great day of their anger has come, and who can survive it?”

7 THEN I SAW four angels standing at the four corners of the earth, holding back the four winds from blowing, so that not a leaf rustled in the trees, and the ocean became as smooth as glass. <sup>2</sup> And I saw another angel coming from the east, carrying the Great Seal of the Living God. And he shouted out to those four angels who had been given power to injure earth and sea, <sup>1</sup> “Wait! Don’t do anything yet—hurt neither earth nor sea nor trees—until we have placed the Seal of God upon the foreheads of his servants.”

<sup>4-7</sup> How many were given this mark? I heard the number—it was 144,000, out of all twelve tribes of Israel, as listed here:

Judah	12,000
Reuben	12,000
Gad	12,000
Asher	12,000

<sup>9</sup> After this I saw a vast crowd, too great to count, from all nations and provinces and languages, standing in front of the throne and before the Lamb, clothed in white, with palm branches in their hands. <sup>10</sup> And they were shouting with a mighty shout, “Salvation comes from our God upon the throne, and from the Lamb.”

<sup>11</sup> And now all the angels were crowding around the throne and around the Elders and the four Living Beings, and falling face down before the throne and worshiping God. <sup>12</sup> “Amen!” they said. “Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honor, and power, and might, be to our God forever and forever. Amen!”

<sup>13</sup> Then one of the twenty-four Elders asked me, “Do you know who these are, who are clothed in white, and where they come from?”

<sup>14</sup> “No, sir,” I replied. “Please tell me.”

"These are the ones coming out of the Great Tribulation," he said; "they washed their robes and whitened them by the blood of the Lamb. <sup>13</sup> That is why they are here before the throne of God, serving him day and night in his temple. The one sitting on the throne will shelter them; <sup>16</sup> they will never be hungry again, nor thirsty, and they will be fully protected from the scorching noontime heat.

<sup>17</sup> For the Lamb standing in front of<sup>a</sup> the throne will feed them and be their Shepherd and lead them to the springs of the Water of Life. And God will wipe their tears away."

8 WHEN THE LAMB had broken the seventh seal, there was silence throughout all heaven for what seemed like half an hour. <sup>2</sup> And I saw the seven angels that stand before God, and they were given seven trumpets.

<sup>3</sup> Then another angel with a golden censer came and stood at the altar; and a great quantity of incense was given to him to mix with the prayers of God's people, to offer upon the golden altar before the throne. <sup>4</sup> And the perfume of the incense mixed with prayers ascended up to God from the altar where the angel had poured them out.

<sup>5</sup> Then the angel filled the censer with fire from the altar and threw it down upon the earth; and thunder crashed and rumbled, lightning flashed, and there was a terrible earthquake.

<sup>6</sup> Then the seven angels with the seven trumpets prepared to blow their mighty blasts.

<sup>7</sup> The first angel blew his trumpet, and hail and fire mixed with blood were thrown down upon the earth. One-third of the earth was set on fire so that one-third of the trees were burned, and all the green grass.

<sup>8,9</sup> Then the second angel blew his trumpet, and what appeared to be a huge burning mountain was thrown into the sea, destroying a third of all the ships; and a third of the sea turned red as<sup>a</sup> blood; and a third of the fish were killed.

<sup>10</sup> The third angel blew, and a great flaming star fell from heaven upon a third of the rivers and springs.

<sup>11</sup> The star was called "Bitterness"<sup>b</sup> because it poisoned a third of all the water on the earth and many people died.

<sup>12</sup> The fourth angel blew his trumpet and immediately a third of the sun was blighted and darkened, and a third of the moon and the stars, so that the daylight was dimmed by a third, and the nighttime darkness deepened. <sup>13</sup> As I watched, I saw a solitary eagle flying through the heavens crying loudly, "Woe, woe, woe to the people of the earth because of the terrible things that will soon happen when the three remaining angels blow their trumpets."

a Literally, "in the center of the throne"; i.e., directly in front, not to one side. An alternate rendering might be, "at the heart of the throne."

b Literally, "Wormwood."

a Literally, "became blood."

9 THEN THE FIFTH angel blew his trumpet and I saw one<sup>a</sup> who was fallen to earth from heaven, and to him was given the key to the bottomless pit.<sup>2</sup> When he opened it, smoke poured out as though from some huge furnace, and the sun and air were darkened by the smoke.

<sup>3</sup> Then locusts came from the smoke and descended onto the earth and were given power to sting like scorpions. <sup>4</sup> They were told not to hurt the grass or plants or trees, but to attack those people who did not have the mark of God on their foreheads. <sup>5</sup> They were not to kill them, but to torture them for five months with agony like the pain of scorpion stings. <sup>6</sup> In those days men will try to kill themselves but won't be able to—death will not come. They will long to die—but death will flee away!

<sup>7</sup> The locusts looked like horses armored for battle. They had what looked like golden crowns on their heads, and their faces looked like men's. <sup>8</sup> Their hair was long like women's, and their teeth were those of lions. <sup>9</sup> They wore breastplates that seemed to be of iron, and their wings roared like an army of chariots rushing into battle. <sup>10</sup> They had stinging tails like scorpions, and their power to hurt, given to them for five months, was in their tails. <sup>11</sup> Their king is the Prince of the bottomless pit whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greek, Apollyon [and in English, the De-

<sup>13</sup> The sixth angel blew his trumpet and I heard a voice speaking from the four horns of the golden altar that stands before the throne of God, <sup>14</sup> saying to the sixth angel, "Release the four mighty demons" held bound at the great River Euphrates." <sup>15</sup> They had been kept in readiness for that year and month and day and hour, and now they were turned loose to kill a third of all mankind. <sup>16</sup> They led an army of 200,000,000<sup>d</sup> warriors<sup>c</sup>—I heard an announcement of how many there were.

<sup>17,18</sup> I saw their horses spread out before me in my vision; their riders wore fiery-red breastplates, though some were sky-blue and others yellow. The horses' heads looked much like lions', and smoke and fire and flaming sulphur billowed from their mouths, killing one-third of all mankind. <sup>19</sup> Their power of death was not only in their mouths, but in their tails as well, for their tails were similar to serpents' heads that struck and bit with fatal wounds.

<sup>20</sup> But the men left alive after these plagues still refused to worship God! They would not renounce their demon-worship, nor their idols made of gold and silver, brass, stone, and wood—which neither see nor hear nor walk! <sup>21</sup> Neither did they change their mind and attitude about all their murders and witchcraft, their immorality and theft.

10 THEN I SAW another mighty angel coming down from heaven, surrounded by a cloud, with a rainbow over his head; his face shone like the sun and his feet flashed with fire.<sup>2</sup> And he held open in his hand a small scroll. He set his right foot on the sea and his left foot on the earth,<sup>3</sup> and gave a great shout—it was like the roar of a lion—and the seven thunders crashed their reply.

<sup>4</sup> I was about to write what the thunders said when a voice from heaven called to me, "Don't do it. Their words are not to be revealed."

<sup>5</sup> Then the mighty angel standing on the sea and land lifted his right hand to heaven,<sup>6</sup> and swore by him who lives forever and ever, who created heaven and everything in it and the earth and all that it contains and the sea and its inhabitants, that there should be no more delay,<sup>7</sup> but that when the seventh angel blew his trumpet, then God's veiled plan—mysterious through the ages ever since it was announced by his servants the prophets—would be fulfilled.

<sup>8</sup> Then the voice from heaven spoke to him again, "Go and get the unrolled scroll from the mighty angel standing there upon the sea and land."

<sup>9</sup> So I approached him and asked him to give me the scroll. "Yes, take it and eat it," he said. "At first it will taste like honey, but when you swallow it, it will make your stomach sour!"

<sup>10</sup> So I took it from his hand, and ate it! And just as he had said, it was sweet in my mouth but it gave me a stomach ache when I swallowed it.

<sup>11</sup> Then he told me, "You must prophesy further about many peoples, nations, tribes, and kings."

11 NOW I WAS given a measuring stick and told to go and measure the temple of God, including the inner court where the altar stands, and to count the number of worshippers.<sup>a 2</sup> "But do not measure the outer court," I was told, "for it has been turned over to the nations. They will trample the Holy City for forty-two months.<sup>b 1</sup> And I will give power to my two witnesses to prophesy 1,260 days<sup>b</sup> clothed in sackcloth."

<sup>4</sup> These two prophets are the two olive trees,<sup>c</sup> and two candlesticks standing before the God of all the earth. <sup>5</sup> Anyone trying to harm them will be killed by bursts of fire shooting from their mouths. <sup>6</sup> They have power to shut the skies so that no rain will fall during the three and a half years they prophesy, and to turn rivers and oceans to blood, and to send every kind of plague upon the earth as often as they wish.

<sup>7</sup> When they complete the three and a half years of their solemn testimony, the tyrant who comes out of the bottomless pit<sup>d</sup> will declare war against them and conquer and kill them;<sup>8,9</sup> and for three and a half days their bodies will be exposed in the streets of Jerusalem (the city fittingly described as "Sodom" or "Egypt")—the very place where their Lord was crucified. No one will be allowed to bury them, and people from many nations will crowd around to gaze at them.

<sup>10</sup> And there will be a worldwide holiday—people everywhere will rejoice and give presents to each other and throw parties to celebrate the death of the two prophets who had tormented them so much!

<sup>11</sup> But after three and a half days, the spirit of life from God will enter them and they will stand up! And great fear will fall on everyone.

<sup>12</sup> Then a loud voice will shout from heaven, "Come up!" And they will rise to heaven in a cloud as their enemies watch.

<sup>13</sup> The same hour there will be a terrible earthquake that levels a tenth of the city, leaving 7,000 dead. Then everyone left will, in their terror, give glory to the God of heaven.

<sup>15</sup> For just then the seventh angel blew his trumpet, and there were loud voices shouting down from heaven, "The kingdom of this world now belongs to our Lord, and to his Christ; and he shall reign forever and ever."<sup>e</sup>

<sup>16</sup> And the twenty-four Elders sitting on their thrones before God threw themselves down in worship, saying, <sup>17</sup> "We give thanks, Lord God Almighty, who is and was, for now you have assumed your great power and have begun to reign.

<sup>18</sup> The nations were angry with you, but now it is your turn to be angry with them. It is time to judge the dead, and reward your servants—prophets and people alike, all who fear your Name, both great and small—and to destroy those who have caused destruction upon the earth."

<sup>19</sup> Then, in heaven, the temple of God was opened and the ark of his covenant could be seen inside. Lightning flashed and thunder crashed and roared, and there was a great hailstorm and the world was shaken by a mighty earthquake.

12 THEN A GREAT pageant appeared in heaven, portraying things to come. I saw a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon beneath her feet, and a crown of twelve stars on her head. <sup>2</sup> She was pregnant and screamed in the pain of her labor, awaiting her delivery.

<sup>3</sup> Suddenly a red Dragon appeared, with seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns on his heads. <sup>4</sup> His tail drew along behind him a third of the stars, which he plunged to the earth. He stood before the woman as she was about to give birth to her child, ready to eat the baby as soon as it was born. <sup>5</sup> She gave birth to a boy who was to rule all nations with a heavy hand, and he was caught up to God and to his throne. <sup>6</sup> The woman fled into the wilderness, where God had prepared a place for her, to take care of her for 1,260 days.

<sup>7</sup> Then there was war in heaven; Michael and the angels under his command fought the Dragon and his hosts of fallen angels.<sup>8</sup> And the Dragon lost the battle and was forced from heaven.<sup>9</sup> This great Dragon—the ancient serpent called the devil, or Satan, the one deceiving the whole world—was thrown down onto the earth with all his army.

<sup>10</sup> Then I heard a loud voice shouting across the heavens, "It has happened at last! God's salvation and the power and the rule, and the authority of his Christ are finally here; for the Accuser of our brothers has been thrown down from heaven onto earth—he accused them day and night before our God.

<sup>11</sup> They defeated him by the blood of the Lamb, and by their testimony; for they did not love their lives but laid them down for him.

<sup>12</sup> Rejoice, O heavens! You citizens of heaven, rejoice! Be glad! But woe to you people of the world, for the devil has come down to you in great anger, knowing that he has little time."

<sup>13</sup> And when the Dragon found himself cast down to earth, he persecuted the woman who had given birth to the child.<sup>14</sup> But she was given two wings like those of a great eagle, to fly into the wilderness to the place prepared for her, where she was cared for and protected from the Serpent, the Dragon, for three and a half years.<sup>15</sup>

<sup>16</sup> And from the Serpent's mouth a vast flood of water gushed out and swept toward the woman in an effort to get rid of her; <sup>17</sup> but the earth helped her by opening its mouth and swallowing the flood! <sup>17</sup> Then the furious Dragon set out to attack the rest of her children—all who were keeping God's commandments and confessing that they belong to Jesus. He stood waiting on an ocean beach.

13 AND NOW, IN my vision, I saw a strange Creature rising up out of the sea. It had seven heads and ten horns, and ten crowns upon its horns. And written on each head were blasphemous names, each one defying and insulting God.<sup>1</sup> This Creature looked like a leopard but had bear's feet and a lion's mouth! And the Dragon gave him his own power and throne and great authority.

<sup>2</sup> I saw that one of his heads seemed wounded beyond recovery—but the fatal wound was healed! All the world marveled at this miracle and followed the Creature in awe.<sup>3</sup> They worshiped the Dragon for giving him such power, and they worshiped the strange Creature. "Where is there anyone as great as he?" they exclaimed. "Who is able to fight against him?"

<sup>4</sup> Then the Dragon encouraged the Creature to speak great blasphemies against the Lord; and gave him authority to control the earth for forty-two months.<sup>5</sup> All that time he blasphemed God's Name and his temple and all those living in heaven.<sup>6</sup> The Dragon gave him power to fight against God's people<sup>7</sup> and to overcome them, and to rule over all nations and language groups throughout the world.<sup>8</sup> And all mankind—whose names a Literally, "a time and times and half a time." against God's people."

a Literally, "It was permitted to fight were not written down before the founding of the world in the slain<sup>b</sup> Lamb's Book of Life—worshipped the evil Creature.

<sup>a</sup> Anyone who can hear, listen carefully: <sup>10</sup> The people of God who are destined for prison will be arrested and taken away; those destined for death will be killed.<sup>c</sup> But do not be dismayed, for here is your opportunity for endurance and confidence.

<sup>11</sup> Then I saw another strange animal, this one coming up out of the earth, with two little horns like those of a lamb but a fearsome voice like the Dragon's. <sup>12</sup> He exercised all the authority of the Creature whose death-wound had been healed, whom he required all the world to worship. <sup>13</sup> He did unbelievable miracles such as making fire flame down to earth from the skies while everyone was watching. <sup>14</sup> By doing these miracles, he was deceiving people everywhere. He could do these marvelous things whenever the first Creature was there to watch him. And he ordered the people of the world to make a great statue of the first Creature, who was fatally wounded and then came back to life. <sup>15</sup> He was permitted to give breath to this statue and even make it speak! Then the statue ordered that anyone refusing to worship it must die!

<sup>16</sup> He required everyone—great and small, rich and poor, slave and free—to be tattooed with a certain mark on the right hand or on the forehead. <sup>17</sup> And no one could get a job or even buy in any store without the permit of that mark, which was either the name of the Creature or the code number of his name. <sup>18</sup> Here is a puzzle that calls for careful thought to solve it. Let those who are able, interpret this code: the numerical values of the letters in his name add to 666!<sup>d</sup>

14 THEN I SAW a Lamb standing on Mount Zion in Jerusalem, and with him were 144,000 who had his Name and his Father's Name written on their foreheads. <sup>2</sup> And I heard a sound from heaven like the roaring of a great waterfall or the rolling of mighty thunder. It was the singing of a choir accompanied by harps.

<sup>3</sup> This tremendous choir—144,000 strong—sang a wonderful new song in front of the throne of God and before the four Living Beings and the twenty-four Elders; and no one could sing this song except those 144,000 who had been redeemed from the earth. <sup>4</sup> For they are spiritually undefiled, pure as virgins,<sup>a</sup> following the Lamb wherever he goes. They have been purchased from among the men on the earth as a consecrated offering to God and the Lamb. <sup>5</sup> No falsehood can be charged against them; they are blameless.

<sup>6</sup> And I saw another angel flying through the heavens, carrying the everlasting Good News to preach to those on earth—to every nation, <sup>b</sup> Or "those whose names were not written in the Book of Life of the Lamb slain before the founding of the world." That is, regarded as slain in the eternal plan and knowledge of God.

<sup>c</sup> Or, "If anyone imprisons you, he will be imprisoned! If anyone kills you, he will be killed!"

<sup>d</sup> Some manuscripts read "616." <sup>a</sup> Literally, "They have not defiled themselves with women, for they are virgins."

tribe, language and people.

<sup>7</sup> "Fear God," he shouted, "and extol his greatness. For the time has come when he will sit as Judge. Worship him who made the heaven and the earth, the sea and all its sources."

<sup>8</sup> Then another angel followed him through the skies, saying, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen—that great city—because she seduced the nations of the world and made them share the wine of her intense impurity and sin."

<sup>9</sup> Then a third angel followed them shouting, "Anyone worshipping the Creature from the sea<sup>b</sup> and his statue and accepting his mark on the forehead or the hand,<sup>10</sup> must drink the wine of the anger of God; it is poured out undiluted into God's cup of wrath. And they will be tormented with fire and burning sulphur in the presence of the holy angels and the Lamb. <sup>11</sup> The smoke of their torture rises forever and ever, and they will have no relief day or night, for they have worshipped the Creature and his statue, and have been tattooed with the code of his name. <sup>12</sup> Let this encourage God's people to endure patiently every trial and persecution, for they are his saints who remain firm to the end in obedience to his commands and trust in Jesus."

<sup>13</sup> And I heard a voice in the heavens above me saying, "Write this down: At last the time has come for his martyrs<sup>c</sup> to enter into their full reward. Yes, says the Spirit, they are blest indeed, for now they shall rest from all their toils and trials; for their good deeds follow them to heaven!" <sup>14</sup> Then the scene changed and I saw a white cloud, and someone sitting on it who looked like Jesus, who was called "The Son of Man,"<sup>d</sup> with a crown of solid gold upon his head and a sharp sickle in his hand.

<sup>15</sup> Then an angel came from the temple and called out to him, "Begin to use the sickle, for the time has come for you to reap; the harvest is ripe on the earth." <sup>16</sup> So the one sitting on the cloud swung his sickle over the earth, and the harvest was gathered in. <sup>17</sup> After that another angel came from the temple in heaven, and he also had a sharp sickle.

<sup>18</sup> Just then the angel who has power to destroy the world with fire,<sup>e</sup> shouted to the angel with the sickle, "Use your sickle now to cut off the clusters of grapes from the vines of the earth, for they are fully ripe for judgment." <sup>19</sup> So the angel swung his sickle on the earth and loaded the grapes into the great winepress of God's wrath. <sup>20</sup> And the grapes were trodden in the winepress outside the city, and blood flowed out in a stream 200 miles long and as high as a horse's bridle.

15 AND I SAW in heaven another mighty pageant showing things to come: Seven angels were assigned to carry down to earth the seven last plagues—and then at last

God's anger will be finished.

<sup>2</sup> Spread out before me was what seemed to be an ocean of fire and glass, and on it stood all those who had been victorious over the Evil Creature and his statue and his mark and number.

All were holding harps of God, <sup>3a</sup> and they were singing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb:

"Great and marvelous
Are your doings,
Lord God Almighty.
Just and true
Are your ways,
O King of Ages.<sup>a</sup>
Who shall not fear,
O Lord,
And glorify your Name?
For you alone are holy.
All nations will come
And worship before you,
For your righteous deeds
Have been disclosed."

<sup>3</sup> Then I looked and saw that the Holy of Holies of the temple in heaven was thrown wide open!

<sup>6</sup> The seven angels who were assigned to pour out the seven plagues then came from the temple, clothed in spotlessly white linen, with golden belts across their chests. <sup>7</sup> And one of the four Living Beings handed each of them a golden flask filled with the terrible wrath of the Living God who lives forever and forever.

<sup>8</sup> The temple was filled with smoke from his glory and power; and no one could enter until the seven angels had completed pouring out the seven plagues.

16 AND I HEARD a mighty voice shouting from the temple to the seven angels, "Now go your ways and empty out the seven flasks of the wrath of God upon the earth."

<sup>2</sup> So the first angel left the temple and poured out his flask over the earth, and horrible, malignant sores broke out on everyone who had the mark of the Creature and was worshipping his statue.

<sup>3</sup> The second angel poured out his flask upon the oceans, and they became like the watery blood of a dead man; and everything in all the oceans died.

<sup>4</sup> The third angel poured out his flask upon the rivers and springs and they became blood: <sup>5</sup> And I heard this angel of the waters declaring, "You are just in sending this judgment, O Holy One, who is and was, <sup>6</sup> for your saints and prophets have been martyred and their blood poured out upon the earth; and now, in turn, you have poured out the blood of those who murdered them; it is their just reward."

<sup>7</sup> And I heard the angel of the altar<sup>a</sup> say, "Yes, Lord God Almighty, your punishments are just and true."

<sup>8</sup> Then the fourth angel poured out his flask upon the sun, causing it to scorch all men with its fire.

<sup>9</sup> Everyone was burned by this blast of heat, and they cursed the name of God who sent the plagues—they did not change their mind and attitude to give him glory.

<sup>10</sup> Then the fifth angel poured

out his flask upon the throne of the Creature from the sea,<sup>b</sup> and his kingdom was plunged into darkness. And his subjects gnawed their tongues in anguish,<sup>11</sup> and cursed the God of heaven for their pains and sores, but they refused to repent of all their evil deeds.

<sup>12</sup> The sixth angel poured out his flask upon the great River Euphrates and it dried up so that the kings from the east could march their armies westward without hindrance. <sup>13</sup> And I saw three evil spirits disguised as frogs leap from the mouth of the Dragon, the Creature, and his False Prophet.<sup>c</sup> <sup>14</sup> These miracle-working demons conferred with all the rulers of the world to gather them for battle against the Lord on that great coming Judgment Day of God Almighty.

<sup>15</sup> "Take note: I will come as unexpectedly as a thief! Blessed are all who are awaiting me, who keep their robes in readiness and will not need to walk naked and ashamed."

<sup>16</sup> And they gathered all the armies of the world near a place called, in Hebrew, Armageddon—the Mountain of Megiddo.

<sup>17</sup> Then the seventh angel poured out his flask into the air; and a mighty shout came from the throne of the temple in heaven, saying, "It is finished!"<sup>d</sup> <sup>18</sup> Then the thunder crashed and rolled, and lightning flashed; and there was a great earthquake of a magnitude unprecedented in human history. <sup>19</sup> The great city of "Babylon" split into three sections, and cities around the world fell in heaps of rubble; and so all of "Babylon's" sins were remembered in God's thoughts, and she was punished to the last drop of anger in the cup of the wine of the fierceness of his wrath. <sup>20</sup> And islands vanished, and mountains flattened out, <sup>21</sup> and there was an incredible hailstorm from heaven; hailstones weighing a hundred pounds fell from the sky onto the people below, and they cursed God because of the terrible hail.

17 ONE OF THE seven angels who had poured out the plagues came over and talked with me. "Come with me," he said, "and I will show you what is going to happen to the Notorious Prostitute, who sits upon the many waters of the world. <sup>2</sup> The kings of the world have had immoral relations with her, and the people of the earth have been made drunk by the wine of her immorality."

<sup>3</sup> So the angel took me in spirit into the wilderness. There I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet animal that had seven heads and ten horns,<sup>a</sup> written all over with blasphemies against God. <sup>4</sup> The woman wore purple and scarlet clothing and beautiful jewelry made of gold and precious gems and pearls, and held in her hand a golden goblet full of obscenities.

<sup>6</sup> I could see that she was drunk—drunk with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus she had killed. I stared at her in horror.

<sup>7</sup> "Why are you so surprised?" the angel asked. "I'll tell you who she is and what the animal she is riding represents. <sup>8</sup> He was alive but isn't now. And yet, soon he will come up out of the bottomless pit and go to eternal destruction;<sup>b</sup> and the people of earth, whose names have not been written in the Book of Life before the world began, will be dumbfounded at his reappearance after being dead.<sup>c</sup>

<sup>9</sup> "And now think hard: his seven heads represent a certain city<sup>d</sup> built on seven hills where this woman has her residence. <sup>10</sup> They also represent seven kings. Five have already fallen, the sixth now reigns, and the seventh is yet to come, but his reign will be brief. <sup>11</sup> The scarlet animal that died is the eighth king, having reigned before as one of the seven; after his second reign, he too, will go to his doom.<sup>b</sup> <sup>12</sup> His ten horns are ten kings who have not yet risen to power; they will be appointed to their kingdoms for one brief moment, to reign with him. <sup>13</sup> They will all sign a treaty giving their power and strength to him. <sup>14</sup> Together they will wage war against the Lamb, and the Lamb will conquer them; for he is Lord over all lords, and King of kings, and his people are the called and chosen and faithful ones.

<sup>15</sup> "The oceans, lakes and rivers that the woman is sitting on represent masses of people of every race and nation.

<sup>16</sup> "The scarlet animal and his ten horns—which represent ten kings who will reign with him—all hate the woman, and will attack her and leave her naked and ravaged by fire. <sup>17</sup> For God will put a plan into their minds, a plan that will carry out his purposes: They will mutually agree to give their authority to the scarlet animal, so that the words of God will be fulfilled. <sup>18</sup> And this woman you saw in your vision represents the great city that rules over the kings of the earth."

18 AFTER ALL THIS I saw another angel come down from heaven with great authority, and the earth grew bright with his splendor.

<sup>1</sup> He gave a mighty shout, "Babylon the Great is fallen, is fallen; she has become a den of demons, a haunt of devils and every kind of evil spirit.<sup>a</sup> <sup>2</sup> For all the nations have drunk the fatal wine of her intense immorality. The rulers of earth have enjoyed themselves<sup>b</sup> with her, and businessmen throughout the world have grown rich from all her luxurious living."

<sup>3</sup> Then I heard another voice calling from heaven, "Come away from her, my people; do not take part in her sins, or you will be punished with her. <sup>4</sup> For her sins are piled as high as heaven and God is ready to judge her for her crimes. <sup>5</sup> Do to her as she has done to you, and more—give double penalty for all her evil deeds. She brewed many a cup of woe for others—give twice as much to her. <sup>7</sup> She has lived in luxury and pleasure—match it now with torments and with sorrows. She boasts, 'I am queen upon my throne. I am no helpless widow. I will not experience sorrow.' <sup>8</sup> Therefore the sorrows of death and mourning and famine shall overtake her in a single day, and she shall be utterly consumed by fire; for mighty is the Lord who judges her."

<sup>9</sup> And the world leaders, who took part in her immoral acts and enjoyed her favors, will mourn for her as they see the smoke rising from her charred remains. <sup>10</sup> They will stand far off, trembling with fear and crying out, "Alas, Babylon, that mighty city! In one moment her judgment fell."

<sup>11</sup> The merchants of the earth will weep and mourn for her, for there is no one left to buy their goods. <sup>12</sup> She was their biggest customer for gold and silver, precious stones, pearls, finest linens, purple silks, and scarlet; and every kind of perfumed wood, and ivory goods and most expensive wooden carvings, and brass and iron and marble; <sup>13</sup> and spices and perfumes and incense, ointment and frankincense, wine, olive oil, and fine flour; wheat, cattle, sheep, horses, chariots, and slaves—and even the souls of men.

"All the fancy things you loved so much are gone," they cry. "The dainty luxuries and splendor that you prized so much will never be yours again. They are gone forever."

<sup>14</sup> And so the merchants who have become wealthy by selling her these things shall stand at a distance, fearing danger to themselves, weeping and crying, <sup>15</sup> "Alas, that great city, so beautiful—like a woman clothed in finest purple and scarlet linens, decked out with gold and precious stones and pearls!" <sup>17</sup> In one moment, all the wealth of the city is gone!"

And all the shipowners and captains of the merchant ships and crews will stand a long way off, <sup>18</sup> crying as they watch the smoke ascend, and saying, "Where in all the world is there another city such as this?" <sup>19</sup> And they will throw dust on their heads in their sorrow and say, "Alas, alas, for that great city! She made us all rich from her great wealth. And now in a single hour all is gone. . . ."

<sup>20</sup> But you, O heaven, rejoice over her fate; and you, O children of God and the prophets and the apostles! For at last God has given judgment against her for you.

<sup>21</sup> Then a mighty angel picked up a boulder shaped like a millstone and threw it into the ocean and shouted, "Babylon, that great city, shall be thrown away as I have thrown away this stone, and she shall disappear forever. <sup>22</sup> Never again will the sound of music be there—no more pianos, saxophones, and trumpets. <sup>c</sup> No industry of any kind will ever again exist there, and there will be no more milling of the grain. <sup>23</sup> Dark, dark will be her nights; not even a lamp in a window will ever be seen again. No more joyous wedding bells and happy voices of the bridegrooms and the brides. Her businessmen were known around the world and she deceived all nations with her sorceries. <sup>24</sup> And she was responsible for the blood of all the martyred prophets and the saints."

19 AFTER THIS I heard the shouting of a vast crowd in heaven, "Hallelujah! Praise the Lord! Salvation is from our God. Honor and authority belong to him alone; <sup>2</sup> for his judgments are just and true. He has punished the Great Prostitute who corrupted the earth with her sin;" and he has avenged the murder of his servants."

<sup>3</sup> Again and again their voices rang, "Praise the Lord! The smoke from her burning ascends forever and forever!"

<sup>4</sup> Then the twenty-four Elders and four Living Beings fell down and worshiped God, who was sitting upon the throne, and said, "Amen! Hallelujah! Praise the Lord!"

<sup>5</sup> And out of the throne came a voice that said, "Praise our God, all you his servants, small and great, who fear him."

<sup>6</sup> Then I heard again what sounded like the shouting of a huge crowd, or like the waves of a hundred oceans crashing on the shore, or like the mighty rolling of great thunder, "Praise the Lord. For the Lord our God, the Almighty, reigns. <sup>7</sup> Let us be glad and rejoice and honor him; for the time has come for the wedding banquet of the Lamb, and his bride has prepared herself. <sup>8</sup> She is permitted to wear the cleanest and whitest and finest of linens." (Fine linen represents the good deeds done by the people of God.)

<sup>9</sup> And the angel<sup>b</sup> dictated this sentence to me: "Blessed are those who are invited to the wedding feast of the Lamb." And he added, "God himself has stated this."<sup>c</sup>

<sup>10</sup> Then I fell down at his feet to worship him, but he said, "No! Don't! For I am a servant of God just as you are, and as your brother Christians are, who testify of their faith in Jesus. The purpose of all prophecy and of all I have shown you is to tell about Jesus."<sup>d</sup>

<sup>11</sup> Then I saw heaven opened and a white horse standing there; and the one sitting on the horse was named "Faithful and True"—the one who justly punishes and makes war. <sup>12</sup> His eyes were like flames, and on his head were many crowns. A name was written on his forehead,<sup>e</sup> and only he knew its meaning. <sup>13</sup> He was clothed with garments dipped in blood, and his title was "The Word of God."<sup>f</sup> <sup>14</sup> The armies of heaven, dressed in finest linen, white and clean, followed him on white horses.

<sup>15</sup> In his mouth he held a sharp sword to strike down the nations; he ruled them with an iron grip; and he trod the winepress of the fierceness of the wrath of Almighty God. <sup>16</sup> On his robe and thigh was written a Literally, "fornication," the word used symbolically through the prophets for the worship of false gods. b Literally, "he"; the exact antecedent is unclear.

c Literally, "These are the true words of God."

d Literally, "The testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy." e Implied.

f Literally, "The Logos," as in John

1:1—the ultimate method of God's revealing himself to man.

this title: "King of Kings and Lord of Lords."

<sup>17</sup> Then I saw an angel standing in the sunshine, shouting loudly to the birds, "Come! Gather together for the supper of the Great God!

<sup>18</sup> Come and eat the flesh of kings, and captains, and great generals; of horses and riders; and of all humanity, both great and small, slave and free."

<sup>19</sup> Then I saw the Evil Creature gathering the governments of the earth and their armies to fight against the one sitting on the horse and his army. <sup>20</sup> And the Evil Creature was captured, and with him the False Prophet,<sup>g</sup> who could do mighty miracles when the Evil Creature was present—miracles that deceived all who had accepted the Evil Creature's mark, and who worshiped his statue. Both of them—the Evil Creature and his False Prophet—were thrown alive into the Lake of Fire that burns with sulphur. <sup>21</sup> And their entire army was killed with the sharp sword in the mouth of the one riding the white horse, and all the birds of heaven were gorged with their flesh.

20 THEN I SAW an angel come down from heaven with the key to the bottomless pit and a heavy chain in his hand. <sup>2</sup> He seized the Dragon—that old Serpent, the devil, Satan—and bound him in chains for 1,000 years, <sup>3</sup> and threw him into the bottomless pit, which he then shut and locked, so that he could not fool the nations any more until the thousand years were finished. Afterwards he would be released again for a little while.

<sup>4</sup> Then I saw thrones, and sitting on them were those who had been given the right to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their testimony about Jesus, for proclaiming the Word of God, and who had not worshiped the Creature or his statue, nor accepted his mark on their foreheads or their hands. They had come to life again and now they reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

<sup>5</sup> This is the First Resurrection. (The rest of the dead did not come back to life until the thousand years had ended.) <sup>6</sup> Blessed and holy are those who share in the First Resurrection. For them the Second Death holds no terrors, for they will be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

<sup>7</sup> When the thousand years end, Satan will be let out of his prison.

<sup>8</sup> He will go out to deceive the nations of the world and gather them together, with Gog and Magog, for battle—a mighty host, numberless as sand along the shore. <sup>9</sup> They will go up across the broad plain of the earth and surround God's people and the beloved city of Jerusalem<sup>a</sup> on every side. But fire from God in heaven will flash down on the attacking armies and consume them.

<sup>10</sup> Then the devil who had betrayed them will again<sup>b</sup> be thrown into the Lake of Fire burning with sulphur where the Creature and False Prophet are, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

<sup>g</sup> See chapter 13, verses 11–16.

"And I saw a great white throne and the one who sat upon it, from whose face the earth and sky fled away, but they found no place to hide.<sup>c</sup> <sup>12</sup> I saw the dead, great and small, standing before God; and The Books were opened, including the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to the things written in The Books, each according to the deeds he had done. <sup>13</sup> The oceans surrendered the bodies buried in them; and the earth and the underworld gave up the dead in them. Each was judged according to his deeds. <sup>14</sup> And Death and Hell were thrown into the Lake of Fire. This is the Second Death—the Lake of Fire. <sup>15</sup> And if anyone's name was not found recorded in the Book of Life, he was thrown into the Lake of Fire.

21 THEN I SAW a new earth (with no oceans!) and a new sky, for the present earth and sky had disappeared. <sup>2</sup> And I, John, saw the Holy City, the new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven. It was a glorious sight, beautiful as a bride at her wedding.

<sup>3</sup> I heard a loud shout from the throne saying, "Look, the home of God is now among men, and he will live with them and they will be his people; yes, God himself will be among them.<sup>a</sup> <sup>4</sup> He will wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying, nor pain. All of that has gone forever."

<sup>5</sup> And the one sitting on the throne said, "See, I am making all things new!" And then he said to me, "Write this down, for what I tell you is trustworthy and true: <sup>6</sup> It is finished! I am the A and the Z—the Beginning and the End. I will give to the thirsty the springs of the Water of Life—as a gift! <sup>7</sup> Everyone who conquers will inherit all these blessings, and I will be his God and he will be my son. <sup>8</sup> But cowards who turn back from following me, and those who are unfaithful to me, and the corrupt, and murderers, and the immoral, and those conversing with demons, and idol worshipers and all liars—their doom is in the Lake that burns with fire and sulphur. This is the Second Death."

<sup>9</sup> Then one of the seven angels, who had emptied the flasks containing the seven last plagues, came and said to me, "Come with me and I will show you the bride, the Lamb's wife."

<sup>10</sup> In a vision he took me to a towering mountain peak and from there I watched that wondrous city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of the skies from God. <sup>11</sup> It was filled with the glory of God, and flashed and glowed like a precious gem, crystal clear like jasper. <sup>12</sup> Its walls were broad and high, with twelve gates guarded by twelve angels. And the names of the twelve tribes of Israel were written on the gates. <sup>13</sup> There were three gates on each side—north, south, east, and west. <sup>14</sup> The walls had twelve foundation stones, and on them were written the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

a Some manuscripts add, "and golden measuring stick to measure the city and its gates and walls. <sup>16</sup> When he measured it, he found it was a square as wide as it was long; in fact it was in the form of a cube, for its height was exactly the same as its other dimensions—1,500 miles each way. <sup>17</sup> Then he measured the thickness of the walls and found them to be 216 feet across (the angel called out these measurements to me, using standard units).<sup>b</sup>

<sup>18,19,20</sup> The city itself was pure, transparent gold like glass! The wall was made of jasper, and was built on twelve layers of foundation stones inlaid with gems:

The first layer<sup>c</sup> with jasper;
The second with sapphire;
The third with chalcodony;
The fourth with emerald;
The fifth with sardonyx;
The sixth layer with sardus;
The seventh with chrysolite;
The eighth with beryl;
The ninth with topaz;
The tenth with chrysoprase;
The eleventh with jacinth;
The twelfth with amethyst.

<sup>21</sup> The twelve gates were made of pearls—each gate from a single pearl! And the main street was pure, transparent gold, like glass.

<sup>22</sup> No temple could be seen in the city, for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are worshiped in it everywhere.<sup>d</sup> <sup>23</sup> And the city has no need of sun or moon to light it, for the glory of God and of the Lamb illuminate it. <sup>24</sup> Its light will light the nations of the earth, and the rulers of the world will come and bring their glory to it. <sup>25</sup> Its gates never close; they stay open all day long—and there is no night! <sup>26</sup> And the glory and honor of all the nations shall be brought into it. <sup>27</sup> Nothing evil will be permitted in it—no one immoral or dishonest—but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

22 AND HE POINTED out to me a river of pure Water of Life, clear as crystal, flowing from the throne of God and the Lamb, <sup>2</sup> coursing down the center of the main street. On each side of the river grew Trees<sup>a</sup> of Life, bearing twelve crops of fruit, with a fresh crop each month; the leaves were used for medicine to heal the nations.

<sup>3</sup> There shall be nothing in the city which is evil; for the throne of God and of the Lamb will be there, and his servants will worship him. <sup>4</sup> And they shall see his face; and his name shall be written on their foreheads. <sup>5</sup> And there will be no night there—no need for lamps or sun—for the Lord God will be their light; and they shall reign forever and ever.

<sup>6,7</sup> Then the angel said to me, "These words are trustworthy and true: 'I am coming soon!'<sup>b</sup> God, who tells his prophets what the future holds, has sent his angel to tell you this will happen soon. Blessed are those who believe it and all else written in the scroll."

<sup>8</sup> I, John, saw and heard all these things, and fell down to worship the angel who showed them to me; <sup>9</sup> but again he said, "No, don't do anything like that. I, too, am a servant of Jesus as you are, and as your brothers the prophets are, as well as all those who heed the truth stated in this Book. Worship God alone."

<sup>10</sup> Then he instructed me, "Do not seal up what you have written, for the time of fulfillment is near."

<sup>11</sup> And when that time comes, all doing wrong will do it more and more; the vile will become more vile; good men will be better; those who are holy will continue on in greater holiness."

<sup>12</sup> "See, I am coming soon,<sup>c</sup> and my reward is with me, to repay everyone according to the deeds he has done. <sup>13</sup> I am the A and the Z, the Beginning and the End, the First and Last. <sup>14</sup> Blessed forever are all who are washing their robes, to have the right to enter in through the gates of the city, and to eat the fruit from the Tree of Life."

<sup>15</sup> "Outside the city are those who have strayed away from God, and the sorcerers and the immoral and murderers and idolaters, and all who love to lie, and do so. <sup>16</sup> I, Jesus, have sent my angel to you to tell the churches all these things. I am both David's Root and his Descendant. I am the bright Morning Star.

<sup>17</sup> "The Spirit and the bride say, 'Come.' Let each one who hears them say the same, 'Come.' Let the thirsty one come—anyone who wants to; let him come and drink the Water of Life without charge."

<sup>18</sup> And I solemnly declare to everyone who reads this book: If anyone adds anything to what is written here, God shall add to him the plagues described in this book.

<sup>19</sup> And if anyone subtracts any part of these prophecies, God shall take away his share in the Tree of Life, and in the Holy City just described.

<sup>20</sup> "He who has said all these things declares: Yes, I am coming soon!"<sup>c</sup>

Amen! Come, Lord Jesus!

<sup>21</sup> The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen!
